  - (a) a *small superannuation account payment;
  - (b) a *superannuation guarantee payment.

307-280 Superannuation benefits from constitutionally protected funds etc.

- (1) The *taxable component of a *superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation fund that is a *constitutionally protected fund consists wholly of an element untaxed in the fund.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), if:
  - (a) the benefit is a *superannuation lump sum; and
  - (b) the benefit is attributable to one or more *roll-over superannuation benefits that consisted of, or included, an *element taxed in the fund;the *taxable component of the benefit has an element taxed in the fund equal to the total of those elements taxed in the fund.
- (3) The *taxable component of a *superannuation income stream benefit consists wholly of an element untaxed in the fund if it is paid from a *superannuation fund that was a *constitutionally protected fund on the first day of the period to which the *superannuation income stream relates.

307-285 Trustee can choose to convert element taxed in the fund to element untaxed in the fund

- (1) If:
  - (a) you receive a *superannuation benefit from a *public sector superannuation scheme; and
  - (b) the trustee of the scheme gives you written notice specifying an amount as the *element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component of the benefit; and
  - (c) the notice is given within the time and in the manner approved by the Commissioner in writing; and
  - (d) the scheme came into operation on or before 5 September 2006;the taxable component consists of an element untaxed in the fund equal to the specified amount.
- (2) The trustee of the scheme can give only one notice under subsection (1) in relation to a particular *superannuation lump sum.

307-290 Taxed and untaxed elements of death benefit superannuation lump sums

- (1) This section applies to a *superannuation death benefit that is a *superannuation lump sum, in relation to which a deduction has been, or is to be, claimed under section 295-465 or 295-470.

Note 1: Those sections allow deductions for insurance premiums that have been paid, and for liability for future benefits.

Note 2: Deductions made under former section 279 or 279B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 are treated for the purposes of this section as having been made under section 295-465 or 295-470 (see section 307-290 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997).

- (2) The *taxable component of the *superannuation lump sum includes an element taxed in the fund worked out as follows:
- (a) first, work out the amount under the formula in subsection (3);
  - (b) next, reduce that amount (but not below zero) by the *tax free component (if any) of the superannuation lump sum.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(a), the formula is:

$$\text{*superannuation lump sum} \times \frac{\text{Service days}}{\text{Service days} + \text{Days to retirement}}$$ days to retirement is the number of days from the day on which the deceased died to the deceased's \*last retirement day.

service days is the number of days in the *service period for the lump sum.

- (4) The element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component is the balance of the taxable component.

307-295 Superannuation benefits from public sector superannuation schemes may include untaxed element

- (1) This section applies to a *superannuation benefit that is paid from a *public sector superannuation scheme that is not a *constitutionally protected fund.

Section 307-295

- (2) If the *superannuation benefit paid is not sourced to any extent from contributions made into a *superannuation fund or earnings on such contributions, the *taxable component of the superannuation benefit consists wholly of an element untaxed in the fund.
- (3) If the benefit is a *superannuation lump sum that is partly sourced from contributions made into a *superannuation fund or earnings on such contributions, the element taxed in the fund and the element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component of the benefit are worked out as follows:

Method statement

- Step 1. Subdivide the *taxable component of the *superannuation lump sum (the original benefit) into 2 notional superannuation lump sums as follows:
  - (a) the amount sourced from contributions made into a *superannuation fund or earnings on such contributions (the fund benefit);
  - (b) the remainder of the taxable component of the lump sum (the non-fund benefit).
- Step 2. The fund benefit consists of an element taxed in the fund, an element untaxed in the fund, or both, as worked out under this Subdivision.
- Step 3. The non-fund benefit consists wholly of an element untaxed in the fund.
- Step 4. The element taxed in the fund of the original benefit equals the element taxed in the fund of the fund benefit.
- Step 5. The element untaxed in the fund of the original benefit is the sum of the elements untaxed in the fund worked out under steps 2 and 3.

307-300 Certain unclaimed money payments

Preliminary

- (1) This section explains how to work out the *element taxed in the fund, and the *element untaxed in the fund, of the *taxable component of a *superannuation benefit that is a payment by the Commissioner under subsection 17(2) or section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

Element taxed in the fund

- (2) Work out the element taxed in the fund as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the amount (the unclaimed amount) (or amounts), set out in column 1 of the table in subsection (3), to which the *taxable component is attributable.

Note: A payment made under subsection 17(2) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 is attributable to a single unclaimed amount set out in item 1 or 2 of the table.

A payment under section 20H of that Act may be attributable to more than one unclaimed amount.

Step 2. Assume that the unclaimed amount (or each unclaimed amount), instead of being paid to the Commissioner, had been paid to the person as the payment (the claimed equivalent) set out in column 2 of the table.

Step 3. The element taxed in the fund of the *taxable component consists of so much of the taxable component as is attributable to the amount set out in column 3 of the table for the claimed equivalent (or as is attributable to the amounts set out in that column for the claimed equivalents).

(3) This is the table mentioned in subsection (2):

Element taxed in the fund
Item	Column 1 Unclaimed amount	Column 2 Claimed equivalent	Column 3 Taxed element of claimed equivalent
1	an amount paid, on or after 1 July 2007, to the Commissioner under subsection 17(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person	a *superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation plan	the *element taxed in the fund of the *taxable component of that superannuation benefit
2	an amount paid, before 1 July 2007, to the Commissioner under subsection 17(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person	an eligible termination payment (within the meaning of subsection 27A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 , as in force just before 1 July 2007)	the taxed element of the post-June 83 component of that eligible termination payment under Subdivision AA of Division 2 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 , as in force just before 1 July 2007
3	an amount paid to the Commissioner under subsection 20F(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person (other than an amount referred to in section 65AA of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 )	a *superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation plan	the *element taxed in the fund of the *taxable component of that superannuation benefit

Note 1: Section 65AA of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 requires certain shortfall components to be treated as amounts paid to the Commissioner under subsection 20F(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

The effect of excluding such shortfall components from item 3 of the table in this subsection is that the element untaxed in the fund includes so much of the superannuation benefit as is attributable to such a shortfall component.

Note 2: The table in this subsection does not cover interest paid by the Commissioner under subsection 20H(2A) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

The effect of this is that the element untaxed in the fund of the taxable component includes so much of the superannuation benefit as is attributable to such interest.

Element untaxed in the fund

- (4) The element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component is so much (if any) of the taxable component as is not the element taxed in the fund.

Subdivision 307-F—Low rate cap and untaxed plan cap amounts

Table of sections

307-345	Low rate cap amount
307-350	Untaxed plan cap amount

307-345 Low rate cap amount

Starting amount

- (1) Your low rate cap amount for the 2007-2008 income year is $140,000.

Note: However, if you became entitled to a rebate under the corresponding provision of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, see section 307-345 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Reductions and increases

- (2) If you receive one or more *superannuation member benefits that are *superannuation lump sums in an income year, reduce your low rate cap amount for the next income year (but not below zero) by the total of the amounts that:
- (a) are included in your assessable income for the first year in respect of those lump sums; and

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), the index amount for the 2007-2008 income year is $140,000. The index amount is then indexed annually.

Note: Subdivision 960-M shows how to index amounts. However, annual indexation does not necessarily increase the index amount: see section 960-285.

307-350 Untaxed plan cap amount

- (1) Your untaxed plan cap amount for a *superannuation plan at the start of the 2007-2008 income year is $1,000,000.

Reductions and increases

- (2) If you receive one or more *superannuation member benefits including an *element untaxed in the fund from a *superannuation plan at a time, reduce your untaxed plan cap amount just after that time:
  - (a) if the total of the elements untaxed in the fund falls short of your *untaxed plan cap amount at that time—by the amount of the benefit or of the total of the benefits; or
  - (b) otherwise—to nil.
- (2A) For the purposes of subsection (2), disregard subsection 307-5(8).
- (2B) For the purposes of the application of this section in relation to *superannuation lump sums paid by the Commissioner under subsection 17(2) and section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999, treat all such lump sums as if they were paid from a single *superannuation plan.
- (3) At the start of each income year after the 2007-2008 income year, increase your untaxed plan cap amount for the *superannuation

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), the index amount for the 2007-2008 income year is $1,000,000. The index amount is then indexed annually.

Note: Subdivision 960-M shows how to index amounts. However, annual indexation does not necessarily increase the index amount: see section 960-285.

Guide to Division 315

315-1 What this Division is about

This Division sets out the taxation consequences of the demutualisation of private health insurers.

Policy holders, demutualising health insurers and certain other entities can disregard capital gains and losses arising under a demutualisation (see Subdivision 315-A).

Shares and rights issued under the demutualisation are given a cost base based on the market value of the demutualising health insurer at the time of issue (see Subdivisions 315-B and 315-D).

Assets held by a lost policy holders trust are given roll-over relief if transferred to the lost policy holder, or if the lost policy holder becomes absolutely entitled to them. Otherwise the trustee of the lost policy holders trust is taxed on any capital gains (see Subdivision 315-C).

A legal personal representative can disregard capital gains and losses made when passing an asset to a beneficiary of a policy holder's estate (see Subdivision 315-E).

Shares, rights or cash received under a demutualisation are not assessable income and not exempt income (see Subdivision 315-F).

Table of sections

315-80	Cost base and acquisition time of demutualisation assets
315-85	Demutualisation asset

315-80 Cost base and acquisition time of demutualisation assets

Cost base adjustment

- (1) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a *CGT asset is its *market value on the day it is issued if:
  - (a) the asset is covered by section 315-85 (a demutualisation asset); and

---

- (b) the asset is issued to an entity (a participating policy holder) covered by section 315-90.

    - (iii) a share in an entity that owns all of the shares in the demutualising health insurer; or
    - (iv) a right to acquire a share in an entity mentioned in subparagraph (iii); and
  - (b) the share or right is issued under a demutualisation to which this Division applies; and
  - (c) the share or right is issued in connection with:
    - (i) the variation or abrogation of rights attaching to or consisting of a *CGT asset covered by section 315-20; or
    - (ii) the conversion, cancellation, extinguishment or redemption of such a CGT asset.

Exclusion for rights with an exercise price

- (2) Despite subsection (1), this section does not cover a right to *acquire a share in an entity if the holder of the right must pay an amount to exercise the right.

---

---

Exclusion where assets not issued simultaneously

- (3) Despite subsection (1), an asset is not covered by this section unless all of the assets covered by subsection (1) for the demutualisation in question are issued:
- (a) at the same time; and
  - (b) to an entity that is either:
    - (i) a participating policy holder (see section 315-90); or

- (2) This section also covers an entity who became entitled to an allocation of demutualisation assets because of the death of an individual mentioned in subsection (1).

Subdivision 315-C—Lost policy holders trust

Table of sections

315-140	Lost policy holders trust
315-145	CGT treatment of demutualisation assets in lost policy holders trust
315-150	Roll-over where assets transferred to lost policy holder

315-160	Subdivision 126-E does not apply to lost policy holders trust

315-140 Lost policy holders trust

This Subdivision covers a trust (a lost policy holders trust) in relation to a demutualisation to which this Division applies if:

---

- (a) the conversion scheme mentioned in paragraph 126-42(2)(b) of the Private Health Insurance Act 2007 for the demutualisation provides for the trust; and
- (b) under the demutualisation, demutualisation assets (see section 315-85) are issued to the trustee of the trust; and
- (c) the trust exists solely for the purpose of holding shares or rights to *acquire shares on behalf of:
  - (i) individuals (lost policy holders) who are, or have been, policy holders (within the meaning of the Private Health Insurance Act 2007) of, or other persons insured through, the demutualising health insurer; or
  - (ii) if the lost policy holder has died—the *legal personal representative of the lost policy holder or a beneficiary in the estate of the lost policy holder.

Example: An example of an individual on whose behalf the trust might hold assets would be an individual who has not completed a formal step required for them to be issued with demutualisation assets directly. Another example might be an individual living overseas.

315-145 CGT treatment of demutualisation assets in lost policy holders trust

Cost base adjustment

- (1) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a demutualisation asset issued to the trustee of a lost policy holders trust is its *market value on the day it is issued.

Note: There is an exception to this rule in Subdivision 315-D where the asset is a share or right in a holding company with other assets.

Acquisition rule

- (2) The trustee is taken to have *acquired the demutualisation asset at the time it is issued.

315-150 Roll-over where assets transferred to lost policy holder

- (1) This section applies in relation to a *CGT event if:

- (a) the CGT event happens in relation to an asset held by the trustee of a lost policy holders trust on behalf of a lost policy holder; and
- (b) the CGT event happens because the lost policy holder (or, if the lost policy holder has died, the *legal personal representative of the lost policy holder or a beneficiary in the estate of the lost policy holder) either:
  - (i) is transferred the asset by the trustee; or
  - (ii) becomes absolutely entitled to the asset.

Note: The asset may be a demutualisation asset, or some other asset.

Consequence for trustee

- (2) Disregard a *capital gain or *capital loss the trustee makes from the *CGT event.

Consequence for lost policy holder

- (3) The *cost base of the asset in the hands of the trustee of the lost policy holders trust just before the *CGT event becomes the first element of the cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset in the hands of the lost policy holder, *legal personal representative or beneficiary.
- (4) The lost policy holder, *legal personal representative or beneficiary is taken to have *acquired the asset when the trustee of the lost policy holders trust acquired it.

315-155 Trustee assessed if assets dealt with not for benefit of lost policy holder

- (1) This section applies in relation to a *capital gain from a *CGT event if:
  - (a) the CGT event happens in relation to an asset held by the trustee of a lost policy holders trust; and
  - (b) section 315-150 does not apply to the CGT event.
- (2) If this section applies:
  - (a) for the purposes of sections 97, 98A and 100 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the share of the net income of the trust that is attributable to the *capital gain is taken not to be included in the assessable income of a beneficiary of the trust; and

- (b) the trustee is not assessed, and is not liable to pay tax, in respect of the share under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Note: Because of these consequences in relation to sections 97 and 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the trustee will be assessed on the beneficiary's share under section 99A of that Act.

315-210 Cost base for shares and rights in certain holding companies

315-210 Cost base for shares and rights in certain holding companies

- (1) This section applies in relation to a *CGT asset that is a demutualisation asset if:
- (a) the demutualisation asset is:
    - (i) a share in an entity mentioned in subparagraph 315-85(1)(a)(iii); or
    - (ii) a right to *acquire a share in an entity mentioned in that subparagraph; and
  - (b) the entity owns other assets in addition to the shares in the demutualising health insurer; and
  - (c) the share or right is issued to a participating policy holder or the trustee of a lost policy holders trust.

This section applies despite sections 315-80 and 315-145.

Cost base adjustment

- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *CGT asset is worked out under the method statement.

Method statement

- Step 1. Start with the *market value of the demutualising health insurer on the day the asset is issued.
- Step 2. Divide the result of step 1 by the sum of:
- (a) the number of shares in the entity that are issued under the demutualisation; and
  - (b) the number of shares in the entity that can be *acquired under rights that are demutualisation assets issued under the demutualisation.
- Step 3. The result of step 2 is the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset, unless the asset is a right.
- Step 4. If the asset is a right, multiply the result of step 2 by the number of shares that can be *acquired under the right. The result is the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset.

Example: Wellbeing Health demutualises on 1 April 2008 and has a market value of $400 million on that day. It distributes its accumulated mutual surplus in the form of rights to acquire shares in its holding company Healthiness Insurance Ltd (Healthiness). The rights do not have an exercise price.

A total of 800 million shares can be acquired in Healthiness under rights issued under the demutualisation. Each right allows the holder to acquire 50 shares. No shares in Healthiness are issued.

Under the method statement, the first element of the cost base and reduced cost base of each right is worked out by dividing the market value of Wellbeing Health (step 1) by the number of shares in Healthiness that can be acquired under the demutualisation (step 2) and multiplying the result by the number of shares that can be acquired under the right (step 4):

$$\frac{$400 \text{ million}}{800 \text{ million}} \times 50 = $25$$

Acquisition rule

Table of sections

315-260 Special CGT rule for legal personal representatives and beneficiaries

315-260 Special CGT rule for legal personal representatives and beneficiaries

- (1) This section sets out what happens if a *CGT asset:
- (a) is a demutualisation asset; and
  - (b) forms part of the estate of a participating policy holder mentioned in subsection 315-90(1) who has died, but was not owned by the policy holder just before dying; and
  - (c) *passes to a beneficiary in the policy holder's estate because the asset is transferred to the beneficiary by the policy holder's *legal personal representative.

Note: Division 128 deals with the effect of death in relation to CGT assets a person owns just before dying.

- (2) Disregard a *capital gain or *capital loss the *legal personal representative makes if the asset *passes to a beneficiary in the policy holder's estate.

Consequence for beneficiary

- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset in the hands of the *legal personal representative just before the asset *passes to the beneficiary becomes the first element of the cost base and reduced cost base of the asset in the hands of the beneficiary.

---

- (4) The beneficiary is taken to have *acquired the asset when the *legal personal representative acquired it.

- (1) An amount of *ordinary income or *statutory income of an entity to which subsection (2) applies is not assessable and not *exempt income if:
- (a) the amount would otherwise be included in the ordinary income or statutory income of the entity only because a demutualisation asset was issued to the entity; or
  - (b) the amount is a payment made to the entity, under a demutualisation to which this Division applies, in connection with:
    - (i) the variation or abrogation of rights attaching to or consisting of a *CGT asset covered by section 315-20; or
    - (ii) the conversion, cancellation, extinguishment or redemption of such a CGT asset.

Part 3-35—Insurance business

Division 320—Life insurance companies

Table of Subdivisions

	Guide to Division 320
320-A	Preliminary
320-B	What is included in a life insurance company's assessable income
320-C	Deductions and capital losses
320-D	Income tax, taxable income and tax loss of life insurance companies
320-E	No-TFN contributions of life insurance companies that are RSA providers
320-F	Complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool
320-H	Segregation of assets to discharge exempt life insurance policy liabilities
320-I	Transfers of business

Guide to Division 320

320-1 What this Division is about

This Division provides for the taxation of life insurance companies in a broadly comparable way to other entities that derive similar kinds of income.

Because of the nature of the business of life insurance companies, the Division contains special rules for working out their taxable income.

---

Those rules:

- include certain amounts in assessable income;
- identify certain amounts of exempt income and non-assessable non-exempt income;
- identify specific deductions.

Life insurance companies can have one or both of these taxable incomes for any income year for the purposes of working out their income tax for that year:

- a taxable income of the complying superannuation/FHSA class, which consists of taxable income that relates to complying superannuation business or FHSAs, and is taxed at the rate of tax that applies to complying superannuation funds;
- a taxable income of the ordinary class, which consists of taxable income that relates to other businesses and is taxed at the corporate tax rate.

Life insurance companies can also have tax losses that correspond to those 2 classes. The Division provides that tax losses of a particular class can be deducted only from incomes in respect of that class.

The Division ensures that the income tax worked out on the basis of these taxable incomes and tax losses is a single amount of income tax on one taxable income.

The Division also contains rules for segregating the assets of life insurance companies into:

- assets that relate to complying superannuation business or FHSAs;
- assets that relate to immediate annuity and other exempt business.

This Division also ensures that life insurance companies that are RSA providers are liable to pay tax on no-TFN contributions income.

Operative provisions

Subdivision 320-A—Preliminary

320-5 Object of Division

- (1) The object of this Division is to provide for the taxation of *life insurance companies in a broadly comparable way to other entities that *derive similar kinds of income.
- (2) To achieve this object, the Division:
  - (a) identifies certain amounts that are included in the assessable income, or are *exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income, of a *life insurance company; and
  - (b) identifies certain amounts that a life insurance company can deduct; and
  - (c) enables a life insurance company to have taxable incomes and *tax losses of the following classes for the purposes of working out its income tax for an income year:
    - (i) the *complying superannuation/FHSA class;
    - (ii) the *ordinary class; and
  - (d) contains other provisions necessary to enable the income tax on the taxable income of a life insurance company to be worked out.

Note: Section 320-5 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 provides that the tax consequences of certain transfers of assets of a life insurance company that is a friendly society to a complying superannuation fund are to be disregarded.

  - (b) the value of the company's liabilities at the end of 30 June 2000 under the *net risk components of its continuous disability policies as calculated under subsection 320-85(4);

- (3) However, if a *life insurance company ceases in a relevant income year to carry on *life insurance business or to have any liabilities under the *net risk components of *continuous disability policies, subsection (2) does not apply for that income year or any future income years but the company's assessable income for that income year includes so much of the excess referred to in subsection (2) as has not been included in the company's assessable income for any previous relevant income years.

320-35 Exempt income

These amounts *derived by a *life insurance company are exempt from income tax:

- (b) amounts of ordinary income and statutory income derived from the *disposal of units in a *pooled superannuation trust;

  - (ii) amounts derived on or after 1 July 2001 but before 1 January 2003, that are attributable to *income bonds, *funeral policies or *sickness policies; and
  - (iii) amounts derived on or after 1 July 2001 but before 1 January 2003, that are attributable to *scholarship plans and would have been exempt from income tax under section 50-1 if they had been received before 1 July 2001; and
  - (iv) amounts derived on or after 1 January 2003 that are attributable to income bonds, funeral policies or *sickness policies, that were issued before 1 January 2003; and

- (i) are attributable to the permanent establishment; and
  - (ii) are held to meet the liabilities under the *life insurance policies issued by the company at or through the permanent establishment.
- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c), the foreign resident proportion of the *foreign establishment amounts is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Foreign establishment amounts} \times \frac{\text{Foreign resident foreign establishment policy liabilities}}{\text{All foreign establishment policy liabilities}}$$

where:

all foreign establishment policy liabilities means the average value for the income year (as calculated by an *actuary) of the policy liabilities (as defined in the *Valuation Standard) for all *life insurance policies that:

- (a) were included in the class of *life insurance business to which the company's *Australian/overseas fund or *overseas fund relates; and
- (b) were issued by the company at or through the *permanent establishment to which the foreign establishment amounts relate.

foreign resident foreign establishment policy liabilities means the average value for the income year (as calculated by an *actuary) of the policy liabilities (as defined in the *Valuation Standard) for all *life insurance policies that:

Note: See Subdivision 295-B of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 for rules about cost base for assets owned by superannuation entities at the end of 30 June 1988.

- (2) Subsection (1) has effect despite anything in Division 230.

Note 1: Where the value at the end of the income year is less than the value at the end of the previous income year, the difference is included in assessable income: see paragraph 320-15(1)(h).

Note 2: Section 320-85 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 makes special provision in respect of the calculation of the value of a life insurance company's liabilities under the net risk components of life insurance policies at the end of the income year immediately preceding the income year in which 1 July 2000 occurs.

- (4) In the case of *life insurance policies other than policies to which subsection (3) applies, the value at a particular time of the liabilities of the *life insurance company under the *net risk components of the policies is the amount calculated by an *actuary to be:
- (a) the sum of the policy liabilities (as defined in the *Valuation Standard) in respect of the net risk components of the policies at that time;

  - (a) *complying superannuation/FHSA assets; or
  - (b) *segregated exempt assets.
- (2) In working out a *life insurance company's *net capital gain or *net capital loss for the income year, *capital losses from ordinary assets can be used only to reduce *capital gains from ordinary assets.

- (4) If the company has 2 or more unapplied *net capital losses from ordinary assets, the company must apply them in the order in which they were made.

Subdivision 320-D—Income tax, taxable income and tax loss of life insurance companies

Guide to Subdivision 320-D

320-130 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision explains how a life insurance company's income tax is worked out.

For that purpose, this Subdivision enables a life insurance company to have taxable incomes and tax losses of the following classes:

- the complying superannuation/FHSA class;
- the ordinary class.

320-131 Overview of Subdivision

Working out the income tax

- (1) In any income year, a life insurance company can have:
- (a) a taxable income of the complying superannuation/FHSA class and/or a taxable income of the ordinary class; or
  - (b) a tax loss of the complying superannuation/FHSA class and/or a tax loss of the ordinary class; or
  - (c) a taxable income of one class and a tax loss of the other class.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: The taxable incomes mentioned in paragraph (a) are taxed at different rates: see section 23A of the Income Tax Rates Act 1986.

- (2) Taxable incomes and tax losses of both classes are taken into account in working out the amount of income tax that the company has to pay for the income year (see section 320-134). That amount is then taken to be the income tax on the company's taxable income for that income year.

Working out taxable income and tax loss of each class

- (3) In general, the rules in this Act about working out a company's taxable income or tax loss, or deducting a company's tax loss, apply to a life insurance company in relation to:
- (a) working out a taxable income or tax loss of a particular class; or
  - (b) deducting a tax loss of a particular class.
- (4) However, that general rule is subject to the following:
- (a) sections 320-137 to 320-143, which allocate amounts of incomes and deductions for the purposes of working out a taxable income or tax loss of a particular class;
  - (b) subsections 320-141(2) and 320-143(2), which provide that tax losses of a particular class can be deducted only from incomes in respect of that class;
  - (c) section 320-149, which sets out the provisions in this Act that have effect only in relation to a taxable income or tax loss of the ordinary class.

General rules

320-133 Object of Subdivision

- (1) The object of this Subdivision is to ensure that:
  - (a) for the purposes of working out the amount of a *life insurance company's income tax for an income year:
    - (i) the company's taxable income or *tax loss of one *class is worked out separately from its taxable income or tax loss of the other class; and
    - (ii) the company's tax losses of a particular class can be deducted only from its incomes in respect of that class; and
  - (b) for the purposes of this Act, that amount of income tax is treated as the company's income tax on its taxable income for that income year.
- (2) In subsection (1), a class means the *complying superannuation/FHSA class or the *ordinary class.

320-134 Income tax of a life insurance company

Working out the income tax

- (1) Work out a *life insurance company's income tax for an income year under section 4-10 as follows:
  - (a) apply steps 1 and 2 of the method statement in subsection 4-10(3) to work out separately the amount that would be the company's basic income tax liability for its taxable income of each *class for that year;
  - (b) treat the sum of these amounts as the company's basic income tax liability for that year and apply step 4 of the method statement to subtract its *tax offsets from that sum.

---

---

- (2) For the purposes of this Act:
- (a) the income tax worked out in accordance with subsection (1) is taken to be the company's income tax on its taxable income for the income year; and
  - (b) except as provided by subsection (1) of this section and sections 320-135 to 320-149, the company's taxable income for that year is taken to be equal to the sum of the company's taxable incomes of the 2 *classes for that year.

Note: This means that there is only one assessment in respect of the company's taxable income for the income year and that the income tax constitutes only one debt to the Commonwealth.

Working out the income tax on certain assumptions

- (3) Subsection (1) also has effect in relation to working out an amount that would be the company's income tax if certain assumptions were made. It has that effect in the same way as it has effect in relation to working out the company's income tax under section 4-10 (except in regard to those assumptions).

Note: This means, for example, subsection (1) also has effect in relation to working out the amount of a life insurance company's income tax on the basis of the tax offset priority rules in Division 63.

320-135 Taxable income and tax loss of each of the 2 classes

- (1) Subject to the other provisions in this Subdivision:
- (a) this Act has effect for a *life insurance company in relation to working out a taxable income of a particular *class in the same way as it has effect in relation to working out a taxable income of any other company; and
  - (b) this Act has effect for a life insurance company in relation to working out or deducting a *tax loss of a particular class in the same way as it has effect in relation to working out or deducting a tax loss of any other company.
- (2) Sections 320-137 to 320-143 have effect in addition to other provisions in this Act that relate to working out a taxable income or *tax loss, or deducting a tax loss (as appropriate).

- (3) Nothing in this Subdivision prevents a *life insurance company from:
- (a) having taxable incomes, or *tax losses, of both *classes for the same income year; or
  - (b) having a taxable income of one class and a tax loss of the other class for the same income year.

Note: In certain circumstances, a life insurance company can have a taxable income and a tax loss of the same class in an income year (see Subdivision 165-B as it has effect under this Subdivision).

Taxable income and tax loss of life insurance companies

320-137 Taxable income—complying superannuation/FHSA class

- (1) A *life insurance company's taxable income of the complying superannuation/FHSA class is a taxable income worked out under this Act on the basis of only:
- (a) assessable income of the company that is covered by subsection (2); and
  - (b) deductions of the company that are covered by subsection (4); and
  - (c) *tax losses of the company that are of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class.

Note: For the usual way of working out a taxable income: see subsection 4-15(1). For other ways of working out a taxable income: see subsection 4-15(2).

Relevant assessable income

- (2) This subsection covers the following assessable income of a *life insurance company:
- (a) assessable income *derived by the company from the investment of its *complying superannuation/FHSA assets in relation to the period during which those assets were complying superannuation/FHSA assets;
  - (b) so much of the amount that is included in the company's assessable income because of paragraph 320-15(1)(a) as is equal to the total *transfer value of assets transferred in the income year by the company to a *complying

- superannuation/FHSA asset pool under subsection 320-185(3);
- (c) if an asset (other than money) is transferred by the company from a complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool under subsection 320-180(1) or 320-195(2) or (3)—amounts that are included in the company's assessable income because of section 320-200;
  - (d) amounts that are included in the company's assessable income because of paragraph 320-15(1)(db), (i) or (j);

    - (i) the total amount credited during that year to the *RSAs provided by the company; less
    - (ii) the total amount debited during that year from the RSAs.

Amounts disregarded for RSAs

- (3) In working out the amount mentioned in paragraph (2)(f), disregard the following amounts:
  - (a) contributions credited to the *RSAs that would not be included in the company's assessable income under Subdivision 295-C if that Subdivision applied to the company;
  - (b) amounts debited from the RSAs that are benefits paid to, or in respect of, the holders of the RSAs;
  - (c) income tax debited from the RSAs;
  - (d) if an *annuity was paid from an RSA in respect of the whole of the income year, or the whole of the part of the income year in which the RSA existed, the total amount credited to the RSA during the income year;
  - (e) if an annuity was paid from an RSA in respect of a part, but not the whole, of the portion of the income year in which the RSA existed, so much of the total amount credited to the RSA during the income year as is equal to the amount worked out using the following formula:

---

$$\text{Total amount credited to the *RSA during the income year} \times \frac{\text{Number of days in the part of the income year in which the *annuity was paid}}{\text{Number of days in the income year in which the RSA existed}}$$

Relevant deductions

- (4) This subsection covers the following deductions of a *life insurance company:
- (a) amounts that the company can deduct under section 320-55;
  - (b) amounts that the company can deduct (other than any *tax losses) in respect of the investment of the company's *complying superannuation/FHSA assets in relation to the period during which those assets were complying superannuation/FHSA assets;
  - (c) amounts that the company can deduct under section 320-87 because of subsection (1) or paragraph (3)(a) of that section;
  - (d) amounts that the company can deduct under subsection 115-280(1);
  - (e) so much of the amounts that the company can deduct under subsection 115-215(6) as are attributable to *capital gains that:
    - (i) the company is taken to have under subsection 115-215(3); and
    - (ii) are in respect of the investment of the company's complying superannuation/FHSA assets; and
    - (iii) are in relation to the period during which those assets were complying superannuation/FHSA assets.

320-143 Tax loss—ordinary class

Working out a tax loss of the ordinary class

- (1) A *life insurance company's *tax loss of the ordinary class is a tax loss worked out under this Act on the basis of only:
- (a) assessable income of the company that is not covered by subsection 320-137(2); and
  - (b) amounts (other than tax losses) that the company can deduct and are not covered by subsection 320-137(4); and

320-149 Provisions that apply only in relation to the ordinary class

- (1) The provisions covered by subsection (2):
  - (a) have effect as provided by section 320-135 in relation to a *life insurance company's taxable income, or *tax loss, of the *ordinary class; but
  - (b) have no effect in relation to the company's taxable income, or tax loss, of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class.
- (2) This subsection covers these provisions:
  - (a) section 36-55;
  - (b) Division 165 (except Subdivision 165-CD).

Example 1: A life insurance company that has an amount of excess franking offsets will need to recalculate its tax loss of the ordinary class under section 36-55. But its tax loss of the complying superannuation/FHSA class is unaffected by that section.

Example 2: A life insurance company that fails to meet the relevant tests of Division 165 will need to recalculate the ordinary class of its taxable income and tax loss under Subdivision 165-B. But the complying superannuation/FHSA class of its taxable income and tax loss are unaffected by that Subdivision.

- (6) The assets from time to time segregated are together to be known as the complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool and each asset from time to time included among those assets is to be known as a complying superannuation/FHSA asset.

320-200 Consequences of transfer of assets to or from complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool

- (1) This section applies if:

- (a) an asset (other than money) is transferred from a *complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool under subsection 320-180(1) or 320-195(2) or (3); or the assessable income of a *life insurance company in respect of the transfer of the asset; or

- (b) for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3:
- (i) whether the company made a *capital gain in respect of the transfer of the asset; or
  - (ii) whether the company made a *capital loss in respect of the transfer of the asset;

the company is taken:

- (c) to have sold, immediately before the transfer, the asset transferred for a consideration equal to its *market value; and
- (d) to have purchased the asset again at the time of the transfer for a consideration equal to its market value.

(2A) Without limiting subsection (2), where the asset transferred is a *depreciating asset, Division 40 has effect for the company as if:

- (a) in relation to the sale of the asset that is taken to have occurred under paragraph (2)(c):
  - (i) the sale were a *balancing adjustment event; and
  - (ii) the *termination value of the asset for that event were equal to the consideration for the sale under that paragraph; and

  - (i) the company had only begun to hold the asset after the purchase; and
  - (ii) the first element of the asset's *cost were equal to the consideration for the purchase under that paragraph; and
  - (iii) the company had acquired the asset from an *associate of the company.

Note: This means that, amongst other things, as a result of the transfer:

- the asset's cost for the purposes of working out a deduction under Division 40 is reset; and
- the company's assessable income might be adjusted under section 40-285.

- (3) If, apart from this subsection and section 320-55, a *life insurance company could deduct an amount or make a *capital loss as a result of a transfer of an asset to or from its *complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool, the deduction or capital loss is disregarded until:
- (a) the asset ceases to exist; or
  - (b) the asset, or a greater than 50% interest in it, is *acquired by an entity other than an entity that is an *associate of the company immediately after the transfer.
- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply in relation to an amount that the company can deduct under a provision in Division 40.

  - (b) to the extent to which the payments do not depend on those returns—the relative sizes of the payments from year to year; and
  - (c) any other relevant factors.

320-247 Policy split into an exempt life insurance policy and another life insurance policy

When is a part of a policy taken to be an exempt life insurance policy?

- (1) A part of a *life insurance policy (the original policy) is taken to be an *exempt life insurance policy for the purposes of this Act if:
  - (a) the part provides solely for the discharge of the liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits that are currently payable by a *complying superannuation fund; and
  - (b) the trustee of the fund holds the original policy.
- (2) A part of a *life insurance policy (the original policy) is taken to be an *exempt life insurance policy for the purposes of this Act if:
  - (a) the part provides solely for the discharge of liabilities that are attributable to the liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits that are currently payable by *complying superannuation funds; and
  - (b) the trustee of a *pooled superannuation trust holds the original policy; and
  - (c) the funds are unit holders of the trust.

What happens to the rest of the policy?

- (3) If a part of a policy (the original policy) is taken to be an *exempt life insurance policy under subsection (1) or (2), the rest of the original policy is taken to be another *life insurance policy for the purposes of this Act.

320-250 Transfer of assets and payment of amounts from segregated exempt assets otherwise than as a result of a valuation under section 320-230

- (1) A *life insurance company can at any time transfer an asset from its *segregated exempt assets in exchange for an amount of money equal to the *transfer value of the asset at the time of the transfer.

- (2) If a *life insurance company:
- (a) imposes any fees or charges in respect of *segregated exempt assets; or
  - (b) imposes any fees or charges in respect of *exempt life insurance policies where the liabilities under the policies are to be discharged out of the company's segregated exempt assets; or
  - (c) determines, at a time other than a *valuation time, that the total *transfer value of the company's segregated exempt assets as at that time exceeds the amount of the company's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities as at that time;
- the company must, when the fees or charges are imposed or the excess is determined, as the case may be, transfer from the segregated exempt assets, assets having a total transfer value equal to the fees, charges or excess, as the case may be.
- (3) If:
- (a) any liabilities arise for the discharge of which a *life insurance company has *segregated exempt assets; or
  - (b) any expenses are incurred by a life insurance company directly in respect of segregated exempt assets in relation to a period during which the assets are segregated exempt assets;
- the life insurance company must pay from the segregated exempt assets any amounts required to discharge the liabilities or amounts equal to the expenses, as the case may be.

320-255 Consequences of transfer of assets to or from segregated exempt assets

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) an asset (other than money) is transferred from the company's *segregated exempt assets under subsection 320-235(1) or 320-250(1) or (2); or
  - (b) an asset (other than money) is transferred to the company's *segregated exempt assets under subsection 320-235(3) or section 320-240.

---

- (2) In determining:
- (a) for the purposes of this Act (other than Division 40 and Parts 3-1 and 3-3) whether an amount is included in, or can be deducted from, the assessable income of a *life insurance company in respect of the transfer of the asset; or
  - (b) for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3:
    - (i) whether the company made a *capital gain in respect of the transfer; or
    - (ii) whether the company made a *capital loss in respect of the transfer;
- the company is taken:
- (c) to have sold, immediately before the transfer, the asset transferred for a consideration equal to its *market value; and
  - (d) to have purchased the asset again at the time of the transfer for a consideration equal to its market value.
- (3) If, apart from this subsection, section 320-60 and subsection 320-105(1), a *life insurance company could deduct an amount or apply a *capital loss as a result of the transfer of an asset to its *segregated exempt assets, the deduction or capital loss is disregarded until:
- (a) the asset ceases to exist; or
  - (b) the asset, or a greater than 50% interest in it, is *acquired by an entity other than an entity that is an *associate of the company, immediately after the acquisition.
- (3A) Subsection (3) does not apply in relation to an amount that the company can deduct under a provision in Division 40.
- (4) A *life insurance company cannot deduct an amount or apply a *capital loss as a result of the transfer of an asset from its *segregated exempt assets.
- (6) If a *depreciating asset is transferred to the *segregated exempt assets of a *life insurance company, then, in determining for the purposes of Division 40 whether an amount is included in, or can be deducted from, the company's assessable income as a result of the transfer, the company is taken:

- (a) to have, at the time immediately before the transfer, sold the asset for a consideration equal to its *market value at that time; and
  - (b) to have, at the time of the transfer, purchased the asset again for a consideration equal to its market value at that time.
- (7) If a *depreciating asset that has been included in the *segregated exempt assets of a *life insurance company since the asset was acquired by the company or the initial segregation of those assets took place is transferred from those assets, then the company must assume for the purposes of Division 40 that:
- (a) if the asset's *market value at the time of the transfer is greater than its *adjustable value at that time, the company:
    - (i) had, at the time immediately before the transfer, sold the asset for a consideration equal to its adjustable value at that time; and
    - (ii) had, at the time of the transfer, purchased the asset again for a consideration equal to its adjustable value at that time; or
  - (b) if the asset's market value at the time of the transfer is equal to or less than its adjustable value at that time, the company:
    - (i) had, at the time immediately before the transfer, sold the asset for a consideration equal to its market value at that time; and
    - (ii) had, at the time of the transfer, purchased the asset again for a consideration equal to its market value at that time.
- (8) If a *depreciating asset that was previously transferred to the *segregated exempt assets of a *life insurance company is transferred from those assets, then, the company must assume, for the purposes of Division 40 that:
- (a) if the asset's *market value at the time of its transfer from those assets is greater than its market value at the time when it was transferred to those assets, the company:
    - (i) had, at the time immediately before the transfer from those assets, sold the asset for a consideration equal to its market value at the time when it was transferred to those assets; and

---

- (ii) had, at the time of the transfer from those assets, purchased the asset again for a consideration equal to its market value at the time when it was transferred to those assets; or
  - (b) if the asset's market value at the time of its transfer from those assets is equal to or less than its market value at the time when it was transferred to those assets, the company:
    - (i) had, at the time immediately before the transfer from those assets, sold the asset for a consideration equal to its market value at that time; and
    - (ii) had, at the time of the transfer from those assets, purchased the asset again for a consideration equal to its market value at that time.
- (9) Division 40 has effect in relation to an asset covered by subsection (6), (7) or (8) as if:
- (a) in relation to the sale of the asset that is taken to have occurred under that subsection:
    - (i) the sale were a *balancing adjustment event; and
    - (ii) the *termination value of the asset for that event were equal to the consideration for the sale under that subsection; and
    - (iii) the company had stopped *holding the asset at the time of the sale; and
  - (b) in relation to the purchase of the asset that is taken to have occurred under that subsection:
    - (i) the company had only begun to hold the asset after the purchase; and
    - (ii) the first element of the asset's *cost were equal to the consideration for the purchase under that subsection; and
    - (iii) the company had acquired the asset from an *associate of the company.

Note: This means that, amongst other things, as a result of the transfer:

- the asset's cost for the purposes of working out a deduction under Division 40 is reset; and
- the company's assessable income might be adjusted under section 40-285 if the transfer is a transfer to the company's segregated exempt assets.

- 328-D Capital allowances for small business entities
- 328-E Trading stock for small business entities

Guide to Division 328

328-5 What this Division is about

This Division explains the meaning of the terms small business entity, annual turnover, aggregated turnover and related concepts (Subdivision 328-C).

If you are a small business entity, this Division allows you to change the way the income tax law applies to you in these ways:

- (b) you can choose not to account for annual changes in trading stock value that are not more than $5,000 (Subdivision 328-E).

In usual circumstances, these changes will simplify the working out of your taxable income, and so reduce your compliance costs.

  - (b) one or both of the following applies:
    - (i) you carried on a business in the income year (the previous year) before the current year and your *aggregated turnover for the previous year was less than $2 million;
    - (ii) your aggregated turnover for the current year is likely to be less than $2 million.

Note: Section 328-110 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 affects the operation of this subsection in relation to the 2007-08 and 2008-09 income years.

- (2) You work out your *aggregated turnover for the current year for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(b)(ii):
- (a) as at the first day of the current year; or
  - (b) if you start to carry on a *business during the current year— as at the day you start to carry on the business.

Note: Subsection 328-120(5) provides for how to work out your annual turnover (which is relevant to working out your aggregated turnover) if you do not carry on a business for the whole of an income year.

Exception: aggregated turnover for 2 previous income years was $2 million or more

- (3) However, you are not a small business entity for an income year (the current year) because of subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) if:
- (a) you carried on a *business in each of the 2 income years before the current year; and
  - (b) your *aggregated turnover for each of those income years was $2 million or more.

Note: Section 328-110 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 affects the operation of this subsection in relation to the 2007-08 and 2008-09 income years.

Additional rule: based on aggregated turnover worked out as at the end of the current income year

- (4) You are also a small business entity for an income year (the current year) if:
- (a) you carry on a *business in the current year; and
  - (b) your *aggregated turnover for the current year, worked out as at the end of that year, is less than $2 million.

Note: If you are a small business entity only because of subsection (4), you cannot choose any of the following concessions:

- (a) paying PAYG instalments based on GDP-adjusted notional tax: see section 45-130 of Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953;
- (b) accounting for GST on a cash basis: see section 29-40 of the GST Act;

- (c) making an annual apportionment of input tax credits for acquisitions and importations that are partly creditable: see section 131-5 of the GST Act;
- (d) paying GST by quarterly instalments: see section 162-5 of the GST Act.

Winding up a business previously carried on

- (5) This Subdivision applies to you as if you carried on a *business in an income year if:
  - (a) in that year you were winding up a business you previously carried on; and
  - (b) you were a *small business entity for the income year in which you stopped carrying on that business.

Note 1: Subsection 328-120(5) provides for how to work out your annual turnover (which is relevant to working out your aggregated turnover) if you do not carry on a business for the whole of an income year.

Note 2: A special rule applies if you were an STS taxpayer under this Division (as in force immediately before the commencement of this section) in the income year in which you stopped carrying on the business: see section 328-111 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Partners in a partnership

- (6) A person who is a partner in a partnership in an income year is not, in his or her capacity as a partner, a small business entity for the income year.

328-115 Meaning of aggregated turnover

- (1) Your aggregated turnover for an income year is the sum of the relevant annual turnovers (see subsection (2)) excluding any amounts covered by subsection (3).

Note: For small business relief purposes, additional entities may be treated as being connected with you or your affiliate under section 152-48.

- (2) The relevant annual turnovers are:
  - (a) your *annual turnover for the income year; and
  - (b) the annual turnover for the income year of any entity (a relevant entity) that is *connected with you at any time during the income year; and

- (c) the annual turnover for the income year of any entity (a relevant entity) that is an *affiliate of yours at any time during the income year.
- (3) Your aggregated turnover for an income year does not include the following amounts:
  - (a) amounts *derived in the income year by you or a relevant entity from dealings between you and the relevant entity while the relevant entity is *connected with you or is your *affiliate;
  - (b) amounts derived in the income year by a relevant entity from dealings between the relevant entity and another relevant entity while each relevant entity is connected with you or is your affiliate;
  - (c) amounts derived in the income year by a relevant entity while the relevant entity is not connected with you and is not your affiliate.

328-120 Meaning of *annual turnover

General rule

- (1) An entity's annual turnover for an income year is the total *ordinary income that the entity *derives in the income year in the ordinary course of carrying on a *business.

Exclusion of amounts relating to GST

- (2) In working out an entity's *annual turnover for an income year, do not include any amount that is *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 17-5 (which is about GST).

Exclusion of amounts derived from sales of retail fuel

- (3) In working out an entity's *annual turnover for an income year, do not include any amounts of *ordinary income the entity *derives from sales of *retail fuel.

---

---

---

Amounts derived from dealings with associates

- (4) In working out an entity's *annual turnover for an income year, the amount of *ordinary income the entity *derives from any dealing with an *associate of the entity is the amount of ordinary income the entity would derive from the dealing if it were at *arm's length.

Note: Amounts derived in an income year from any dealings between an entity and an associate that is a relevant entity within the meaning of section 328-115 are not included in the entity's aggregated turnover for that year: see subsection 328-115(3).

Business carried on for part of income year only

- (5) If an entity does not carry on a *business for the whole of an income year, the entity's *annual turnover for the income year must be worked out using a reasonable estimate of what the entity's annual turnover for the income year would be if the entity carried on a business for the whole of the income year.

Regulations may provide for different calculation of annual turnover

- (6) The regulations may provide that an entity's *annual turnover for an income year is to be calculated in a different way, but only so that it would be less than the amount worked out under this section.

328-125 Meaning of connected with an entity

- (1) An entity is connected with another entity if:
- (a) either entity controls the other entity in a way described in this section; or
  - (b) both entities are controlled in a way described in this section by the same third entity.

Direct control of an entity other than a discretionary trust

- (2) An entity (the first entity) controls another entity if the first entity, its *affiliates, or the first entity together with its affiliates:
- (a) except if the other entity is a discretionary trust—beneficially own, or have the right to acquire the beneficial ownership of, interests in the other entity that carry between them the right to receive a percentage (the control percentage) that is at least 40% of:

- (i) any distribution of income by the other entity; or
  - (ii) if the other entity is a partnership—the net income of the partnership; or
  - (iii) any distribution of capital by the other entity; or
- (b) if the other entity is a company—beneficially own, or have the right to acquire the beneficial ownership of, *equity interests in the company that carry between them the right to exercise, or control the exercise of, a percentage (the control percentage) that is at least 40% of the voting power in the company.

Direct control of a discretionary trust

- (3) An entity (the first entity) controls a discretionary trust if a trustee of the trust acts, or could reasonably be expected to act, in accordance with the directions or wishes of the first entity, its *affiliates, or the first entity together with its affiliates.
- (4) An entity (the first entity) controls a discretionary trust for an income year if, for any of the 4 income years before that year:
- (a) the trustee of the trust paid to, or applied for the benefit of:
    - (i) the first entity; or
    - (ii) any of the first entity's *affiliates; or
    - (iii) the first entity and any of its affiliates;any of the income or capital of the trust; and
  - (b) the percentage (the control percentage) of the income or capital paid or applied is at least 40% of the total amount of income or capital paid or applied by the trustee for that year.

Note: Section 328-112 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 affects the operation of this subsection in relation to the 2007-08, 2008-09, 2009-10 and 2010-11 income years.

- (5) An entity does not control a discretionary trust because of subsection (4) if the entity is:
- (a) an *exempt entity; or
  - (b) a *deductible gift recipient.

Commissioner may determine that an entity does not control another entity

- (6) If the control percentage referred to in subsection (2) or (4) is at least 40%, but less than 50%, the Commissioner may determine that the first entity does not control the other entity if the Commissioner thinks that the other entity is controlled by an entity other than, or by entities that do not include, the first entity or any of its *affiliates.

Indirect control of an entity

- (7) This section applies to an entity (the first entity) that directly controls another entity (the second entity) as if the first entity also controlled any other entity that is directly, or indirectly by any other application or applications of this section, controlled by the second entity.
- (8) However, subsection (7) does not apply if the second entity is an entity of any of the following kinds:
- (a) a company *shares in which (except shares that carry the right to a fixed rate of *dividend) are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange;
  - (b) a *publicly traded unit trust;
  - (c) a *mutual insurance company;
  - (d) a *mutual affiliate company;
  - (e) a company (other than one covered by paragraph (a)) all the shares in which are beneficially owned by one or more of the following:
    - (i) a company covered by paragraph (a);
    - (ii) a publicly traded unit trust;
    - (iii) a mutual insurance company;
    - (iv) a mutual affiliate company.

328-130 Meaning of *affiliate

- (1) An individual or a company is an affiliate of yours if the individual or company acts, or could reasonably be expected to act, in accordance with your directions or wishes, or in concert with you, in relation to the affairs of the *business of the individual or company.

- (2) However, an individual or a company is not your affiliate merely because of the nature of the business relationship you and the individual or company share.

Note: For small business relief purposes, a spouse or a child under 18 years may also be an affiliate under section 152-47.

Example: A partner in a partnership would not be an affiliate of another partner merely because the first partner acts, or could reasonably be expected to act, in accordance with the directions or wishes of the second partner, or in concert with the second partner, in relation to the affairs of the partnership.

Directors of the same company and trustees of the same trust, or the company and a director of that company, would be in a similar position.

Subdivision 328-D—Capital allowances for small business entities

Guide to Subdivision 328-D

328-170 What this Subdivision is about

If you are a small business entity, you can choose to deduct amounts for most of your depreciating assets on a diminishing value basis using a pool that is treated as a single depreciating asset.

Broadly, a pool is made up of the costs of the depreciating assets that are allocated to it or, in some cases, a proportion of those costs.

The pool rate is 30% for most depreciating assets, and 5% for depreciating assets that have an effective life of 25 years or more.

There is an immediate deduction for low-cost assets.

This Subdivision sets out how to calculate the pool deductions, and also sets out the consequences of:

---

- (a) disposal of depreciating assets; and
- (b) not choosing to use this Subdivision for an income year after having chosen to do so for an earlier income year; and
- (c) changing the business use of depreciating assets.

- (1) You can choose to calculate your deductions and some amounts of assessable income under this Subdivision instead of under

---

Division 40 for an income year for all the *depreciating assets that you *hold if:

- (a) you are a *small business entity for the income year; and
- (b) you started to use the assets or have them *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during or before that income year.

This subsection has effect subject to subsections (2) to (10).

Note: If you choose to use this Subdivision for an income year, you continue to use this Subdivision for your small business pools for a later income year even if you are not a small business entity, or do not choose to use this Subdivision, for the later year: see section 328-220.

Exception: assets to which Division 40 does not apply

- (2) This Subdivision does not apply to a *depreciating asset to which Division 40 does not apply because of section 40-45.

Exception: primary production

- (3) If you are a *small business entity for the income year, for each *depreciating asset you use to carry on a *primary production business and for which you could deduct amounts under Subdivision 40-F (about primary production depreciating assets) or Subdivision 40-G (about capital expenditure of primary producers and other landholders) apart from subsection (1), you can choose:
  - (a) to deduct amounts for it under Subdivision 40-F or 40-G; or
  - (b) to calculate your deductions for it under this Subdivision.

Note: A choice made by a transferor under this subsection for an asset applies also to the transferee if roll-over relief under subsection 40-340(1) or (3) is chosen: see section 328-245.

- (4) You must make the choice under subsection (3) for each *depreciating asset of the kind referred to in that subsection for the later of:
  - (a) the first income year for which you are, or last were, a *small business entity; or
  - (b) the income year in which you started to use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose.

Once you have made the choice for an asset, you cannot change it.

---

Exception: horticultural plants

- (5) You cannot deduct amounts for *horticultural plants (including grapevines) under this Subdivision.

Exception: asset let on depreciating asset lease

- (6) You cannot deduct amounts for a *depreciating asset under this Subdivision if the asset is being or might reasonably be expected to be let predominantly on a *depreciating asset lease.

Exception: assets in a low-value or software development pool

- (7) You cannot deduct amounts for a *depreciating asset under this Subdivision if:
- (a) the asset was allocated to your low-value pool under Subdivision 40-E, or to your pool under the former Subdivision 42-L, during an income year for which you were not a *small business entity or had not chosen to use this Subdivision; or
  - (b) the asset is *in-house software and expenditure on the asset is allocated to a software development pool under that Subdivision.

Note: You will have to continue deducting amounts for these assets under Division 40.

- (8) A *depreciating asset referred to in subsection (7) is not allocated to a pool under this Subdivision and does not qualify for a deduction under section 328-180.

Exception: assets previously deductible under research and development provisions

- (9) You cannot deduct amounts for a *depreciating asset for any period under this Subdivision if you can deduct an amount for the asset under section 73BA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (or could so deduct an amount if you had not chosen a tax offset under section 73I of that Act) for the same or an earlier period.

Exception: restriction on choosing to use this Subdivision

(10) If:

- (a) you choose to use this Subdivision to deduct amounts for your *depreciating assets for an income year; and
- (b) you do not choose to use this Subdivision for a later income year for which you satisfy the conditions to make this choice (see subsection (1));

you cannot choose to use this Subdivision until at least 5 years after the first later income year for which you satisfied the conditions to make this choice but did not do so.

Note 1: Your ability to choose to use this Subdivision may also be restricted by section 328-440 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note 2: If you choose to use this Subdivision for an income year, you continue to use it for assets that have been allocated to your small business pools for a later income year even if you are not a small business entity, or do not choose to use this Subdivision, for the later year: see section 328-220.

328-180 Low cost assets

- (1) You deduct the *taxable purpose proportion of the *adjustable value of a *depreciating asset for the income year in which you start to use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose if:
  - (a) you were a *small business entity for that year and the year in which you started to *hold it; and
  - (ab) you chose to use this Subdivision for each of those years; and
  - (b) the asset is a *low-cost asset.
- (2) You can also deduct, for an income year for which you are a *small business entity and you choose to use this Subdivision, the *taxable purpose proportion of an amount included in the second element of the *cost of a *low-cost asset for which you have deducted an amount under subsection (1) if:
  - (a) the amount so included is less than $1,000; and
  - (b) you started to use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an earlier income year.

---

---

- (3) A *low-cost asset for which you have deducted an amount under this section is allocated to your *general small business pool if:
  - (a) an amount of $1,000 or more is included in the second element of the asset's *cost; or
  - (b) any amount is included in the second element of the asset's cost and you have deducted or can deduct an amount under subsection (2) for an amount previously included in the second element of the asset's cost.
- (4) This Division applies to the asset as if its *adjustable value were the amount included in the second element of its *cost as mentioned in subsection (3).
- (5) Subsection (3) applies even if the amount is included in the second element of the asset's *cost during an income year for which you are not a *small business entity or do not choose to use this Subdivision.

328-185 Pooling

- (1) If you are a *small business entity for an income year and you have chosen to use this Subdivision for that year, you deduct amounts for your *depreciating assets (except *low-cost assets for which you have deducted or can deduct an amount under section 328-180) through a pool, which allows you to deduct amounts for them as if they were a single asset, thereby simplifying your calculations. You use one rate for the pool.
- (2) There are 2 kinds of pools:
  - (a) a general small business pool to which *depreciating assets having *effective lives of less than 25 years are allocated; and
  - (b) a long life small business pool to which depreciating assets having effective lives of 25 years or more are allocated.

Allocating assets to a pool

- (3) A *depreciating asset:
  - (a) that you *hold just before, and at the start of, the first income year for which you are, or last were, a *small business entity; and

- (b) for which you calculate your deductions under this Subdivision instead of under Division 40; and
- (c) that has not previously been allocated to your *general small business pool or *long life small business pool; and
- (d) that you have started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose; is automatically allocated to your general small business pool or long life small business pool according to its *effective life.

- (4) A *depreciating asset that you start to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you are a *small business entity and you choose to use this Subdivision is allocated to the appropriate pool at the end of that year.

Note: The allocation happens even if you no longer hold the asset at the end of that income year.

Exception for long life assets

- (5) You can choose not to have a *depreciating asset allocated to a *long life small business pool to which it would otherwise have been allocated if you started to use it, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose before 1 July 2001.

Note: If you make this choice, you would continue to deduct amounts for the asset under Division 40.

- (6) You must make that choice for the first income year for which you are a *small business entity and you choose to use this Subdivision. Once you have made the choice for an asset, you cannot change it.

No re-allocation

- (7) Once a *depreciating asset is allocated to your *general small business pool or *long life small business pool, it is not re-allocated, even if you are not a *small business entity for a later income year or you do not choose to use this Subdivision for that later year.

Note: If you chose to use this Subdivision for an income year, you continue to use it for your small business pools for a later income year even if you are not a small business entity, or do not choose to use this Subdivision, for the later year: see section 328-220.

---

Example: Greg is not a small business entity for the 2008-09 income year. At that time his long life small business pool contains one depreciating asset with an effective life of 26 years. Greg still holds that asset in the 2010-11 income year. Greg is a small business entity for that income year and chooses to use this Subdivision. The asset has remained in the pool since the end of the 2008-09 income year. The asset is not re-allocated when he recommences deducting amounts for depreciating assets under this Subdivision, even though its remaining effective life is now 24 years.

328-190 Calculation

- (1) You calculate your deduction for each pool for an income year using this formula:

*Opening pool balance × Pool rate

where:

pool rate is:

- (a) 30% for a *general small business pool; or
- (b) 5% for a *long life small business pool.

Note: You use section 328-210 instead if the pool has a low pool value.

- (2) Your deduction for each *depreciating asset that you start to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you are a *small business entity and choose to use this Subdivision is:

- (a) 15% of the *taxable purpose proportion of its *adjustable value if its *effective life is less than 25 years; or
- (b) 2.5% of the taxable purpose proportion of its adjustable value if its effective life is 25 years or more.

- (3) You can also deduct for an income year for which you are a *small business entity and choose to use this Subdivision the amount worked out under subsection (4) for an amount (the cost addition amount) included in the second element of the *cost of a *depreciating asset for that year if you started to use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an earlier income year.

Note: The second element of cost is worked out under section 40-190.

- (4) The amount you can deduct is:

- (a) 15% of the *taxable purpose proportion of the cost addition amount if the asset's *effective life is less than 25 years; or
- (b) 2.5% of the taxable purpose proportion of the cost addition amount if the asset's effective life is 25 years or more.

Note: The amounts that a transferor and transferee can deduct under this section are modified if roll-over relief under section 40-340 is chosen: see sections 328-243 and 328-247.

328-195 Opening pool balance

- (1) For the first income year for which you are a *small business entity and choose to use this Subdivision, the opening pool balance of a pool is the sum of the *taxable purpose proportions of the *adjustable values of *depreciating assets allocated to the pool under subsection 328-185(3).
- (2) For a later income year, the opening pool balance of a pool is that pool's *closing pool balance for the previous income year, reduced or increased by any adjustment required under section 328-225 (about change in the business use of an asset).

Note: You continue to deduct amounts using your small business pools even if you are not a small business entity, or do not choose to use this Subdivision, for a later income year: see section 328-220.

- (3) However, if:
  - (a) you are not a *small business entity for an income year or you do not choose to use this Subdivision for that year; but
  - (b) you are a small business entity for a later income year and you choose to use this Subdivision for the later year;the opening pool balance of a pool includes the sum of the *taxable purpose proportions of the *adjustable values of *depreciating assets allocated to the pool under subsection 328-185(3) for that year.

328-200 Closing pool balance

You work out the closing pool balance of a pool for an income year in this way:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Method statement

- Step 1. Add to the *opening pool balance of the pool for the income year:
- (a) the sum of the *taxable purpose proportions of the *adjustable values of *depreciating assets you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during the income year and that are allocated to that pool; and
  - (b) the taxable purpose proportion of any cost addition amounts (see subsection 328-190(3)) for the income year for assets allocated to the pool.
- Step 2. Subtract from the step 1 amount:
- (a) the *taxable purpose proportions of the *termination values of *depreciating assets allocated to the pool and for which a *balancing adjustment event occurred during the income year; and
  - (b) your deduction under subsection 328-190(1) for the pool for the income year; and
  - (c) your deductions under subsection 328-190(2) for *depreciating assets you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during the income year and that are allocated to that pool; and
  - (d) your deductions under subsection 328-190(3) for the income year for cost addition amounts for assets allocated to the pool.
- Step 3. The result is the closing pool balance of the pool for the income year.

Note: A transferor does not subtract anything for certain balancing adjustment events under paragraph (a) of step 2 if roll-over relief under section 40-340 is chosen: see sections 328-243 and 328-245.

328-205 Estimate of taxable use

- (1) You must, for the first income year for which you are, or last were, a *small business entity, make a reasonable estimate for that year of the proportion you will use, or have *installed ready for use, each *depreciating asset that you *held just before, and at the start of, that year for a *taxable purpose if:
  - (a) the asset has not previously been allocated to your *general small business pool or *long life small business pool; and
  - (b) you have started to use it, or have it installed ready for use, for a taxable purpose; and
  - (c) you have chosen to calculate your deductions for it under this Subdivision.
- Note 1: That proportion will be 100% for an asset that you expect to use, or have installed ready for use, solely for a taxable purpose.
- Note 2: Your estimate will be zero for an income year if another provision of this Act denies a deduction for that year: see section 328-230.
- Note 3: This subsection does not apply to a transferee for certain assets if roll-over relief under section 40-340 is chosen: see sections 328-243 and 328-257.
- (2) You must also make this estimate for each *depreciating asset that you *hold and start to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you are a *small business entity and you choose to use this Subdivision. You must make the estimate for the income year in which you start to use it, or have it installed ready for use, for such a purpose.
- (3) The taxable purpose proportion of a *depreciating asset's *adjustable value, or of an amount included in the second element of its *cost, is that part of that amount that represents:
  - (a) the proportion you estimated under subsection (1) or (2); or
  - (b) if you have had to make an adjustment under section 328-225 for the asset—the proportion most recently applicable to the asset under that section.

---

---

Note: An amount included in the second element of the cost of a depreciating asset is referred to in this Division as a cost addition amount: see subsection 328-190(3).

- (4) The taxable purpose proportion of a *depreciating asset's *termination value is that part of that amount that represents:
- (a) if you have not had to make an adjustment under section 328-225 for the asset—the proportion you estimated under subsection (1) or (2); or
  - (b) if you have had to make at least one such adjustment and the asset is allocated to a *general small business pool—the average of:
    - (i) the proportion you estimated under subsection (1) or (2); and
    - (ii) the proportion applicable to the asset for each of the 3 income years you *held the asset after the one in which the asset was allocated to the pool; or
  - (c) if you have had to make at least one such adjustment and the asset is allocated to a long life small business pool—the average of:
    - (i) the proportion you estimated under subsection (1) or (2); and
    - (ii) the proportion applicable to the asset for each of the 20 income years you *held the asset after the one in which the asset was allocated to the pool.

Example: When Bria's van was allocated to her general small business pool for the 2007-08 income year, she estimated that it would be used 50% for deliveries in her florist business. Due to increasing deliveries, Bria estimates the van's business use to be 70% for the 2008-09 year, and 90% for the 2009-10 year. She makes an adjustment under section 328-225 for both those years.

Bria sells the van for $3,000 at the start of the 2011-12 income year. She must now average the business use estimates for the van for the year it was allocated to the pool and the next 3 years to work out the taxable purpose proportion of its termination value. The average is worked out as follows:

- 50% (original estimate); plus
- 70% (2008-09 estimate); plus
- 90% (2009-10 estimate); plus
- 90% (no change on previous year);

$$= 300\% \div 4 = 75\%$$

The taxable purpose proportion of the van's termination value is, therefore:

$$75\% \text{ of } $3,000 = $2,250$$

328-210 Low pool value

- (1) Your deduction for a *general small business pool or *long life small business pool for an income year is the amount worked out under subsection (2) (instead of an amount calculated under section 328-190) if that amount is less than $1,000 but more than zero.

Note: See section 328-215 for the result when the amount is less than zero.

- (2) The amount is the sum of:
- (a) the pool's *opening pool balance for the income year; and
  - (b) the *taxable purpose proportion of the *adjustable value of each *depreciating asset you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during the income year and that is allocated to that pool; and
  - (c) the taxable purpose proportion of any cost addition amounts (see subsection 328-190(3)) for the income year for assets allocated to the pool; less the sum of the taxable purpose proportion of the *termination values of depreciating assets allocated to that pool and for which a *balancing adjustment event occurred during the income year.

- (3) In that case, the *closing pool balance of the pool for that income year then becomes zero.

Example: Amanda's Graphics is a small business entity for the 2008-09 income year and chooses to use this Subdivision for that year. The business has an opening pool balance of $1,200 for its general small business pool for that year.

During that year, Amanda acquired a new computer for $2,000. The taxable purpose proportion of its adjustable value is:

$$$2,000 \times 80\% \text{ business use estimate} = $1,600$$

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 328-215

Amanda also sold her business car for $1,900 during that year. The car was used 100% in the business.

To work out whether she can deduct an amount under this section, Amanda uses this calculation:

$$$1,200 + $1,600 = $2,800 - $1,900 = $900$$

Because the result is less than $1,000, Amanda can deduct the $900 for the income year. The pool's closing balance for the year is zero.

328-215 Disposal etc. of depreciating assets

- (1) This section sets out adjustments you may have to make if a *balancing adjustment event occurs for a *depreciating asset for which you calculate your deductions under this Subdivision.
- (2) If the asset is allocated to a pool and:
  - (a) the *closing pool balance of the pool for the income year in which the event occurred is less than zero; or
  - (b) the amount worked out under subsection 328-210(2) for that income year is less than zero;the amount by which that balance or amount is less than zero is included in your assessable income for that year.
- (3) In that case, the *closing pool balance of the pool for that income year then becomes zero.
- (4) If the asset was one for which you deducted an amount under section 328-180 (about low-cost assets), you include the *taxable purpose proportion of the asset's *termination value in your assessable income.

328-220 What happens if you are not a small business entity or do not choose to use this Subdivision for an income year

- (1) If you are not a *small business entity for an income year or you do not choose to use this Subdivision for that year, this Subdivision continues to apply to your *general small business pool and *long life small business pool for that year and later income years.
- (2) However, *depreciating assets you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you are not a *small business entity or do not choose to use this Subdivision cannot be allocated to a pool under this Subdivision until an income year for which you are a small business entity and you choose to use this Subdivision.

---

- (3) This section applies to a transferee referred to in subsection 328-243(1) or (1A) who:
- (a) was not a *small business entity for the income year in which the relevant *balancing adjustment events occurred; or
  - (b) did not choose to use this Subdivision for that year;
- as if the transferee had been a small business entity for an earlier income year and had chosen to use this Subdivision for the earlier year. This rule applies even if roll-over relief is not chosen.

328-225 Change in business use [see Note 6]

- (1) You must, for each income year (the present year) after the year in which a *depreciating asset is allocated to a pool, make a reasonable estimate of the proportion you use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose in that year.

Note: This section is modified in its application to a transferee for certain assets if roll-over relief under section 40-340 is chosen: see sections 328-243 and 328-257.

- (1A) You must make an adjustment for the present year if your estimate for that year under subsection (1) is different by more than 10 percentage points from:
- (a) your original estimate (see section 328-205); or
  - (b) if you have made an adjustment under this section—the most recent estimate you made under subsection (1) that resulted in an adjustment under this section.
- (2) The adjustment is made to the *opening pool balance of the *general small business pool or *long life small business pool to which the asset was allocated, and it must be made before you calculate your deduction under this Subdivision for the present year.

Note: The opening pool balance will be reduced if the adjustment worked out under subsection (3) is a negative amount. It will be increased if the adjustment is positive.

---

---

(3) The adjustment is:

$$\text{Reduction factor} \times \text{Asset value} \times \left[ \begin{array}{l} \text{Present year} \\ \text{estimate} \end{array} - \text{Last estimate} \right]$$

where:

asset value is:

- (a) for a *depreciating asset you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you were a *small business entity and chose to use this Subdivision—the asset's *adjustable value at that time; or
- (b) for an asset you started to use, or have installed ready for use, for a taxable purpose while you were not an STS taxpayer—its adjustable value at the start of the income year for which it was allocated to a *general small business pool or a *long-life small business pool;

increased by any amounts included in the second element of the asset's *cost from the time mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b) until the beginning of the income year for which you are making the adjustment.

last estimate is:

- (a) your original estimate of the proportion you use, or have *installed ready for use, a *depreciating asset for a *taxable purpose (see section 328-205); or
- (b) if you have made an adjustment under this section—the latest estimate taken into account under this section.

present year estimate is your reasonable estimate of the proportion you use the asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during the present year.

reduction factor is the number worked out under subsection (4).

(4) The reduction factor in the formula in subsection (3) is:

- (a) for a *depreciating asset you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during an income year for which you were a *small business entity and chose to use this Subdivision:

- (b) for an asset you started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a taxable purpose while you were not an STS taxpayer:

$$\left[ 1 - \text{rate} \right]^n$$

where:

n is the number of income years (counting part of an income year as a whole year) before the present year for which you have deducted or can deduct an amount for the *depreciating asset under this Subdivision.

rate is the rate applicable to the pool to which the asset is allocated.

Note: The reduction factor for a depreciating asset in your general small business pool which you started to use, or have installed ready for use, for a taxable purpose during an income year for which you were not a small business entity or did not choose to use this Subdivision is:

- 0.7 for the income year after it is allocated to the pool; and
- 0.49 for the income year after that; and
- 0.343 for the income year after that.

The reduction factor for a depreciating asset in your general small business pool which you started to use, or have installed ready for use, for a taxable purpose during an income year for which you were a small business entity and chose to use this Subdivision is:

- 0.85 for the income year after it is allocated to the pool; and
- 0.595 for the income year after that; and
- 0.417 for the income year after that.

Exceptions

- (5) However:
- (a) you do not need to make an estimate or an adjustment under this section for a *depreciating asset for an income year that is at least:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) for an asset allocated to a *general small business pool—3 income years after the income year in which it was allocated; or
  - (ii) for an asset allocated to a *long life small business pool—20 income years after the income year in which it was allocated; and
- (b) you cannot make an adjustment for a depreciating asset if your reasonable estimate of the proportion you use a depreciating asset, or have it *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose changes in a later income year by the 10 percentage points mentioned in subsection (1) or less.

328-230 Estimate where deduction denied

This Subdivision applies to you as if you had estimated that you will not use, or have *installed ready for use, a *depreciating asset at all for a *taxable purpose during an income year if a provision of this Act outside this Division denies a deduction for the asset for that year.

328-235 Interaction with Divisions 85 and 86

- (1) Despite sections 85-10 and 86-60, if you are a *small business entity for an income year you can deduct amounts for *depreciating assets under this Subdivision.
- (2) However, you cannot deduct an amount for a *car under this Subdivision if, had you not been a *small business entity and chosen to use this Subdivision, sections 86-60 and 86-70 would have prevented you deducting an amount for it.

328-243 Roll-over relief

- (1A) There is roll-over relief under subsection 40-340(1) (as affected by subsection 40-340(2)) if:
- (a) *balancing adjustment events occur for *depreciating assets on a day (the BAE day) because an entity (the transferor) disposes of the assets in an income year to another entity (the transferee); and
  - (b) the disposal involves a *CGT event; and

- (c) the conditions in item 1, 2 or 3 of the table in subsection 40-340(1) are satisfied; and
  - (d) deductions for the assets are calculated under this Subdivision; and
  - (e) the transferor and the transferee jointly choose the roll-over relief; and
  - (f) the condition in subsection (2) is met.
- (1) Roll-over relief can be chosen under subsection 40-340(3) if:
- (a) *balancing adjustment events occur for *depreciating assets on a day (the BAE day) because of subsection 40-295(2); and
  - (b) deductions for the assets are calculated under this Subdivision; and
  - (c) the entity or entities that had an interest in the assets just before the balancing adjustment events occurred (the transferor) and the entity or entities that have an interest in the assets just after the events occurred (the transferee) jointly choose the roll-over relief; and
  - (d) the condition in subsection (2) is met.
- (2) All of the *depreciating assets that, just before the *balancing adjustment events occurred, were:
- (a) *held by the transferor; and
  - (b) allocated to the transferor's *general small business pool or *long life small business pool;
- must be held by the transferee just after those events occurred.

328-245 Consequences of roll-over

- (1) The transferor does not subtract anything for the *balancing adjustment events under:
- (a) paragraph (a) of step 2 in the method statement in section 328-200; or
  - (b) subsection 328-210(2).
- (2) Subsection 328-215(4) does not apply to the *balancing adjustment events for the transferor.

---

---

---

- (3) A choice made by the transferor for a *depreciating asset under subsection 328-175(3) (about primary production assets) applies to the transferee as if it had been made by the transferee.
- (4) Sections 328-247 to 328-257 have effect.

328-247 Pool deductions

- (1) The amount that can be deducted for the transferor's *general small business pool and *long life small business pool for the income year (the BAE year) in which the *balancing adjustment events occurred under subsection 328-190(1) or section 328-210 for the BAE year is split equally between:
  - (a) the transferor and the transferee; or
  - (b) if there are 2 or more occurrences of balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—the entities concerned.

Example: John and Dave operate a dry cleaning business in partnership (the transferor). The transferor is a small business entity for the relevant income year and has chosen to use this Subdivision for that year. On the 90th day of an income year, Jonathan joins the partnership. The new partnership (the transferee) is a small business entity for the income year and chooses to use this Subdivision for that year. Had there been no partnership change, a deduction of $6,600 would have been available for the transferor's general small business pool. The transferor and transferee jointly choose the roll-over.

The deduction available to the transferor and the transferee for the pool under subsection 328-190(1) is $3,300 each.

- (2) The transferor cannot deduct any amount for the transferor's *general small business pool or *long life small business pool for an income year after the BAE year.

328-250 Deductions for assets first used in BAE year

- (1) This section applies in working out the amount that the transferor or transferee can deduct for the BAE year under subsection 328-180(1) (low-cost assets) or subsection 328-190(2) (assets that will be pooled) for a *depreciating asset that the transferor or transferee started to use, or have *installed ready for use, for a *taxable purpose during the BAE year.

---

Asset first used by transferor

- (2) If the asset was first used or *installed ready for use by the transferor, the amount that can be deducted under subsection 328-180(1) or subsection 328-190(2) for the asset for the BAE year is split equally between:
- (a) the transferor and the transferee; or
  - (b) if there are 2 or more occurrences of *balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—the entities concerned.

Asset first used by transferee

- (3) If the asset was first used or *installed ready for use by the transferee:
- (a) the transferor cannot deduct anything for the asset for the BAE year; and
  - (b) the amount that can be deducted under subsection 328-180(1) or 328-190(2) for the asset for the BAE year is:
    - (i) deductible by the transferee; or
    - (ii) if there are 2 or more occurrences of *balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—split equally between the entities concerned (except ones that did not use the asset or have it installed ready for use).

Example: To continue the example from section 328-247, the transferee buys a low-cost asset on the 150th day of the BAE year for $800.

On the 250th day of the year, Evan joins the transferee partnership. The new transferee partnership is a small business entity for the BAE year, and chooses to use this Subdivision for that year, and a further roll-over is chosen.

The original transferor cannot deduct anything for the asset. The original transferee (now a transferor) and the new transferee can deduct $400 each.

Special rule for low-cost assets

- (4) Subsection (5) applies if:
- (a) the transferor started to use, or have *installed ready for use, a *low-cost asset during the BAE year; and

---

- (b) a *balancing adjustment event occurs for that asset before the BAE day.
- (5) The transferee cannot deduct anything for the asset for the BAE year, and subsection 328-215(4) does not apply to the transferee in relation to the asset.

328-253 Deductions for cost addition amounts

- (1) This section applies in working out the amount that the transferor or transferee can deduct for the BAE year under subsection 328-180(2) or 328-190(3) for expenditure incurred by the transferor or transferee during the BAE year that is included in the second element of the *cost of a depreciating asset.

Expenditure incurred by transferor

- (2) If the expenditure was incurred by the transferor, the amount that can be deducted under subsection 328-180(2) or 328-190(3) for the BAE year is split equally between:
  - (a) the transferor and the transferee; or
  - (b) if there are 2 or more occurrences of *balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—the entities concerned.

Expenditure incurred by transferee

- (3) If the expenditure was incurred by the transferee:
  - (a) the transferor cannot deduct anything for the expenditure for the BAE year; and
  - (b) the amount that can be deducted under subsection 328-180(2) or 328-190(3) for the expenditure for the BAE year is:
    - (i) deductible by the transferee; or
    - (ii) if there are 2 or more occurrences of *balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—split equally between the entities concerned.

Special rule for expenditure on low-cost assets

- (4) Subsection (5) applies if:
  - (a) the transferor incurred the expenditure in relation to a *low-cost asset; and
  - (b) a *balancing adjustment event occurs for that asset before the BAE day.
- (5) The transferee cannot deduct anything for the expenditure for the BAE year, and subsection 328-215(4) does not apply to the transferee in relation to the asset.

328-255 Closing pool balance etc. below zero

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) the *closing pool balance of the transferor's *general small business pool or *long life small business pool for the BAE year is less than zero; or
  - (b) the amount worked out under subsection 328-210(2) for that pool for the BAE year is less than zero;because a *balancing adjustment event occurred for an asset allocated to that pool during that year.
- (2) The amount included in assessable income under subsection 328-215(2) is split equally between:
  - (a) the transferor and transferee; or
  - (b) if there are 2 or more occurrences of *balancing adjustment events for relevant entities for the BAE year and a roll-over is chosen for each occurrence—the entities concerned.

328-257 Taxable use

- (1) This section applies to *depreciating assets (the previously held assets) that were *held by the transferor just before the *balancing adjustment events occurred.
- (2) Subsection 328-205(1) (about estimates of taxable use) does not apply to previously held assets in the hands of the transferee for the BAE year. Instead, the transferee uses for the BAE year:

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) the estimate made by the transferor under that subsection for the asset; or
  - (b) if the transferor had made one or more estimates for the asset under subsection 328-225(1) that resulted in an adjustment under section 328-225 (about change in business use)—that estimate or the most recent of those estimates.
- (3) Section 328-225 applies to the transferee for each previously held asset for income years after the BAE year as if:
- (a) the transferee had *held the asset during the period that the transferor held it; and
  - (b) estimates applicable to the transferor for the asset under that section were also applicable to the transferee.

Subdivision 328-E—Trading stock for small business entities

Guide to Subdivision 328-E

328-280 What this Subdivision is about

Small business entities can choose not to account for their trading stock in some circumstances. This Subdivision modifies the rules in Division 70 about trading stock for small business entities.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 328-285 Trading stock for small business entities
- 328-295 Value of trading stock on hand

Operative provisions

328-285 Trading stock for small business entities

You can choose not to account for changes in the *value of your *trading stock for an income year if:

- (a) you are a *small business entity for that year; and

- (b) the difference between the value of all your trading stock on hand at the start of that year and the value you reasonably estimate of all your trading stock on hand at the end of that year is not more than $5,000.

Note 1: As a result, sections 70-35 and 70-45 (about comparing the value of each item of trading stock on hand at the start and end of an income year) will not apply to you for the income year.

Note 2: When making a reasonable estimate of the value of trading stock on hand:

- special valuation rules may be used, for example, obsolete stock, natural increase of livestock, horse breeding stock; and
- the estimated value disregards an amount equal to the amount of input tax credits (if any) to which you would be entitled for an item if the acquisition of the item had been solely for a creditable purpose: see subsection 70-45(1A).

Note 3: If you choose to account for changes in the value of your trading stock for an income year, you will have to do a stocktake and account for the change in the value of all your trading stock: see Subdivision 70-C.

328-295 Value of trading stock on hand

- (1) If you make a choice under section 328-285 for an income year, the *value of all your *trading stock on hand at the start of the income year is:
- (a) the same amount as was taken into account under this Act at the end of the previous income year; or
  - (b) zero if no item of trading stock was taken into account under this Act at the end of the previous income year.

Note: The amount taken into account at the end of the previous income year is worked out under either section 70-45 or subsection (2) of this section.

- (2) If you make a choice under section 328-285 for an income year, this Act applies to you as if the *value of all your *trading stock on hand at the end of the year were equal to the value of all your trading stock on hand at the start of the year.

Note: If you do not make a choice under section 328-285, the value of trading stock on hand at the end of the year is worked out using section 70-45.

Table of Subdivisions

- 375-G Film losses
- 375-H Deductions for shares in a film licensed investment company

Subdivision 375-G—Film losses

Guide to Subdivision 375-G

375-800 What this Subdivision is about

A tax loss may have a film component if you incurred film deductions in the loss year. If so, the film component is regarded as a separate tax loss. You can deduct the film loss from your film income only.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 375-805 Does your tax loss have a film component?
- 375-810 What is a film loss?
- 375-815 Deductibility of film losses
- 375-820 Order in which tax losses are to be deducted

Operative provisions

375-805 Does your tax loss have a film component?

- (1) A *tax loss in an income year has a film component if:
- your *film deductions exceed the sum of:
  - your *assessable film income; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 375-805

- your *net exempt film income.

The amount of the film component is the excess or the tax loss, whichever is less.

- (1A) If an entity's *tax loss is worked out under a provision listed in the table, the film component is what that tax loss would have been if:
- (a) the entity's *film deductions for the *loss year had been its only deductions; and
  - (b) the entity's *assessable film income for the *loss year had been its only assessable income; and
  - (c) the entity's *net exempt film income for the *loss year had been its only *net exempt income.

However, the film component cannot exceed the actual tax loss.

Working out film component of tax loss
Item	Provision	Type of entity
1	165-70	Company—income year when ownership or control changed
2	175-35	Company—deductions that have been used to obtain a tax benefit disallowed

- (3) Your assessable film income for an income year is so much of the amount, or the sum of the amounts, to which section 26AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to you for the income year as is assessable income.

- (4) Your net exempt film income for an income year is your *exempt film income for that year reduced by:
  - (a) any taxes payable in respect of that income in a country or place outside Australia; and
  - (b) any expenses (not of a capital nature) so far as you incurred them during that year in deriving that income.
- (5) Your exempt film income for an income year is so much of the amount, or the sum of the amounts, to which section 26AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to you for the income year as is exempt income.

375-810 What is a film loss?

If a *tax loss has a *film component, it is treated as 2 separate *tax losses: one (the film loss) consisting of the film component and the other consisting of the rest (if any).

375-815 Deductibility of film losses

- (1) You can deduct a *film loss only from your *net exempt film income or your *net assessable film income.

Subdivision 375-H—Deductions for shares in a film licensed investment company

375-850 What this Subdivision is about

You can deduct amounts you have paid for shares issued to you by a film licensed investment company (FLIC). The deduction does not apply to shares issued after 30 June 2007.

Because of these deductions, there are special rules about the tax treatment of a FLIC.

Table of sections

Provisions affecting you if you own shares in a film licensed investment company

- 375-855 What can you deduct?
- 375-860 When can you claim the deduction?
- 375-865 How can you lose your entitlement?

- 375-872 Distribution of FLIC concessional capital is instead taken to be a dividend

Provisions affecting film licensed investment companies

- 375-875 Tax losses cannot be transferred to or from FLICs
- 375-880 FLIC cannot claim deductions for concessional capital

375-855 What can you deduct?

- (1) You can deduct money you pay for *shares in a *film licensed investment company (a FLIC) if the shares are issued to you by the FLIC during the period the FLIC's concessional capital licence is in force.

Note: The period a FLIC's licence is in force is determined under the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005. It cannot be in force after 30 June 2007.

- (2) A film licensed investment company is a company that has been granted a licence to raise concessional capital under the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005 (whether or not the licence has ceased to be in force).

Note: Under the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005 concessional capital is money paid to the FLIC for the issue of shares during the period its concessional capital licence is in force (see section 6 of that Act).

375-860 When can you claim the deduction?

- (1) If you pay for the *shares in an income year and the shares are issued in the same income year, you get the deduction for that income year.
- (2) If you pay for the *shares in an income year but the shares are not issued until a later income year, you get the deduction for the later income year.

Note: A FLIC can only issue fully paid shares (see section 13 of the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005).

375-865 How can you lose your entitlement?

- (1) You lose your entitlement to the deduction if the *Arts Minister decides to remove the concessional status of your shares.

Note: The Arts Minister may do this if the FLIC in which you hold shares breaches certain requirements under the FLIC's Act. See sections 32 and 34 of the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005.

- (2) You also lose your entitlement to the deduction if the Commissioner is satisfied that:
- (a) the *FLIC in which you hold the *shares has breached a condition under Division 7 of Part 2 of the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005, or a requirement under section 34 of that Act; and
  - (b) the Arts Minister has been given notice that the Commissioner is satisfied as mentioned in paragraph (a); and
  - (c) the Arts Minister has not, within 6 months after that notice, notified the Commissioner that the Arts Minister has made a decision about the alleged breach.

---

Note: The Arts Minister's decisions about alleged breaches are made under sections 32 and 34 of the Film Licensed Investment Company Act 2005. Subsection (2) above is only relevant in a situation where the Arts Minister has, as far as the Commissioner knows, made no decision under those sections.

- (3) If the Commissioner is satisfied of the matters set out in subsection (2), the Commissioner must, within 28 days, give written notice to the *Arts Minister about the loss of entitlement that has occurred under subsection (2).

Amendment of assessment

- (4) If you lose your entitlement after you have already got the deduction, your assessment may be amended to disallow the deduction.

375-870 How this Subdivision applies to partners and partnerships

Application

- (1) This section applies to allocate to you, for the purposes of this Subdivision, money paid for *shares issued by a *FLIC during an income year if:
- (a) you are a partner in a partnership; and
  - (b) the shares have been issued to you and your partners jointly; and
  - (c) the partnership has paid for the shares.

Allocation of payments to partners

- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, you are taken to have paid for the shares during that income year:
- (a) the amount of the payment for the *shares that the partners agreed is attributable to you; or
  - (b) if there was no such agreement—the proportion of the payment for the shares that is equal to the proportion of your individual interest in the net income or partnership loss of the partnership for that income year.

This Subdivision does not apply to net income or partnership loss

- (3) Disregard this Subdivision when working out the net income or partnership loss of the partnership under section 90 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

375-872 Distribution of FLIC concessional capital is instead taken to be a dividend

- (1) For the purposes of this Act, an amount that a *FLIC pays to you by way of distribution of *FLIC concessional capital, on a liquidation or a share buy back or other return of capital, is instead taken to be a dividend that the FLIC pays to you out of profits the FLIC *derived from sources in Australia.

Dividend cannot exceed amount of deductions

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to the extent that the total of the payments the *FLIC makes by way of such distribution of *FLIC concessional capital in respect of particular *shares exceeds the total of the deductions under section 375-855 for the shares (whether it was you or a previous owner of the shares who got the deductions).

FLIC must comply with Corporations Act rules about dividends

- (3) Subsection (1) applies only if the requirements of the Corporations Act 2001 (except section 254T) relating to declaring and paying a *dividend are satisfied (as well as any requirements relating to the distribution).

Paragraph 202-45(e) does not apply

- (4) Paragraph 202-45(e) does not apply to a payment that is taken to be a dividend under this section.

Note: Paragraph 202-45(e) provides that a distribution that is sourced, directly or indirectly, from a company's share capital account is unfrankable.

Production expenditure—common rules

376-125 Production expenditure—general test

- (1) A company's production expenditure on a *film is expenditure that the company incurs to the extent to which it:
  - (a) is incurred in, or in relation to, the *making of the film; or
  - (b) is reasonably attributable to:
    - (i) the use of equipment or other facilities for; or
    - (ii) activities undertaken in; the making of the film.
- (2) The making of a *film means the doing of the things necessary for the production of the first copy of the film.
- (3) The making of a *film includes:
  - (a) pre-production activities in relation to the film; and
  - (b) post-production activities in relation to the film; and
  - (c) any other activities undertaken to bring the film up to the state where it could reasonably be regarded as ready to be distributed, broadcast or exhibited to the general public.
- (4) The making of a *film does not include:
  - (a) developing the proposal for the *making of the film; or
  - (b) arranging or obtaining finance for the film; or
  - (c) distributing the film; or
  - (d) promoting the film.
- (5) Without limiting subsection (1), a company's production expenditure on a *film:
  - (a) may be expenditure that is incurred in the income year for which the *tax offset is sought or in an earlier income year;
and
  - (b) may be expenditure of either a capital or a revenue nature;
and
  - (c) may be expenditure that gives rise to a deduction.

---

Paragraph (c) has effect subject to item 10 of the table in section 376-135 (which deals with capital allowances).

(6) If:

(a) a company:

(i) *holds a *depreciating asset; and

(ii) uses the asset, while held, in the *making of a *film; and

(b) deductions in relation to the asset are available under Division 40 (which deals with capital allowances);

the production expenditure of the company on the film includes an amount equal to the decline in the value of the asset to the extent to which that decline is reasonably attributable to the use of the asset in the making of the film (the film proportion). The decline in value of the asset is to be worked out using Division 40.

Note: Under item 10 of the table in section 376-135, expenditure that sets or increases the cost of the asset does not count as production expenditure.

(7) If a *balancing adjustment event occurs for the asset before the film is *completed:

(a) if the asset's *termination value is more than its *adjustable value just before the event occurred—the production expenditure of the company on the film is reduced by the film proportion of the difference; or

(b) if the asset's termination value is less than its adjustable value just before the event occurred—the production expenditure of the company on the film includes the film proportion of the difference.

376-130 Production expenditure—special qualifying Australian production expenditure

Expenditure of a company is also production expenditure of the company on a *film if it is *qualifying Australian production expenditure of the company on the film under section 376-150 or 376-165.

Note: This means that the special qualifying Australian production expenditure in sections 376-150 and 376-165 is taken into account both in working out the total amount of the company's qualifying Australian production expenditure and in working out the total amount of all the company's production expenditure on the film. The total amount of all production expenditure is relevant to a company's eligibility for the location offset: see the test in paragraph 376-20(5)(b).

380-5 Claims by individuals, corporate tax entities and superannuation funds

Entitlement

- (1) An entity is entitled to a *tax offset for an income year if:
  - (a) the entity is an individual, a *corporate tax entity or *superannuation fund; and
  - (b) the *Housing Secretary has issued the entity with a certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008; and
  - (c) the income year begins in the *NRAS year to which the certificate relates.

Amount

- (2) The amount of the entity's *tax offset is the amount stated in the certificate.
- (3) However, if the *Housing Secretary issues the entity with an amended certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008, the amount of the entity's *tax offset is the amount stated in the amended certificate.

380-10 Claims by a party to a non-entity joint venture

- (1) An entity is entitled to a *tax offset for an income year if:
  - (a) the entity has *NRAS rent for a rental dwelling covered by subsection (3) for the income year; and
  - (b) the entity is:
    - (i) a party to a *non-entity joint venture; and
    - (ii) an individual, a *corporate tax entity or *superannuation fund.
- (2) The amount of the entity's *tax offset for an income year is the sum of all amounts worked out under subsection (4) for the income year.

---

- (3) *NRAS rent for a rental dwelling is covered by this subsection if:
- (a) NRAS rent is derived by a party to a *non-entity joint venture in relation to the rental dwelling for an income year; and
  - (b) the *Housing Secretary has issued the non-entity joint venture with a certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 in relation to the rental dwelling; and
  - (c) the income year begins in the *NRAS year to which the certificate relates.
- (4) If an entity has *NRAS rent for a rental dwelling covered by subsection (3), work out an amount for the income year under this subsection using the following formula:

$$\text{Amount stated in certificate for the rental dwelling} \times \frac{\text{*NRAS rent * derived by the entity from the rental dwelling for the income year}}{\text{Total *NRAS rent * derived from the rental dwelling for the income year}}$$

- (5) If a partnership or a trustee of a trust has *NRAS rent covered by subsection (3), for the purpose of applying sections 380-15 and 380-20, assume:
- (a) a certificate was issued by the *Housing Secretary to the partnership or the trustee of the trust for the *NRAS year mentioned in paragraph (3)(c) of this section; and
  - (b) the rental dwellings covered by the certificate are those for which the partnership or the trustee has NRAS rent covered by subsection (3) of this section; and
  - (c) the amount stated in the certificate was the total of all amounts worked out under subsection (4) of this section in relation to those rental dwellings.
- (6) However, if the *Housing Secretary issues an amended certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 in relation to the rental dwelling, the amounts under subsection (4) are to be worked out using the amount or amounts, as the case may be, stated in the amended certificate.

Section 380-15

380-15 Claims by certain entities to whom NRAS rent flows indirectly

- (1) An entity to whom *NRAS rent for a rental dwelling *flows indirectly in an income year is entitled to a *tax offset for that income year that is equal to the amount worked out under subsection (2), if:
- (a) the entity is:
    - (i) an individual; or
    - (ii) a *corporate tax entity when the NRAS rent flows indirectly to it; or
    - (iii) the trustee of a trust that is liable to be assessed on a share of, or all or a part of, the trust's *net income under section 98, 99 or 99A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 for that income year; or
    - (iv) the trustee of an *FHSA; or
    - (v) a *superannuation fund, an *approved deposit fund or a *pooled superannuation trust; and
  - (b) the *Housing Secretary has issued a certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 to a partnership or a trustee of a trust in relation to the rental dwelling; and
  - (c) the income year of the partnership or the trustee of the trust begins in the *NRAS year to which the certificate relates.

Note: The entities covered by this section are the ultimate recipients of the NRAS rent because the NRAS rent does not flow indirectly through them to other entities.

- (2) Work out the amount using the following formula:

$$\text{Amount stated in certificate} \times \frac{\text{The entity's *share of *NRAS rent for the rental dwelling}}{\text{Total *NRAS rent *derived from rental dwellings covered by the certificate for the income year mentioned in paragraph (1)(c)}}$$

- (3) However, if the *Housing Secretary issues an amended certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 in

380-20 Claims by a trustee of a trust that does not have net income for an income year

- (1) An entity is entitled to a *tax offset for an income year if:
  - (a) the entity is a trustee of a trust; and
  - (b) the trust does not have a *net income for the income year; and
  - (c) *NRAS rent for a rental dwelling would otherwise *flow indirectly to the entity in the income year as if:
    - (i) the trust did have a net income for the income year; and
    - (ii) for the purposes of paragraph 380-25(4)(b), the entity has a share amount, being the net income referred to in subparagraph (i) of this paragraph; and
    - (iii) the entity's *share of the NRAS rent under section 380-30 was a positive amount; and
  - (d) the *Housing Secretary has issued a certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 to a partnership or a trustee of a trust in relation to the rental dwelling; and
  - (e) the income year of the partnership or the trustee of the trust begins in the *NRAS year to which the certificate relates.
- (2) The amount of the *tax offset is the amount worked out in accordance with subsection 380-15(2), as if the reference in the formula to paragraph (1)(c) were a reference to paragraph (1)(e) of this section. For the purposes of working out the entity's *share of *NRAS rent for the rental dwelling, assume subparagraphs (1)(c)(i), (ii) and (iii) of this section apply.
- (3) However, if the *Housing Secretary issues an amended certificate under the National Rental Affordability Scheme Act 2008 in relation to the rental dwelling, the amount of the entity's *tax offset is worked out in accordance with subsection 380-15(2) using the amount stated in the amended certificate.

- (4) If the trustee of a trust is entitled to a *tax offset under this section:
- (a) a beneficiary of the trust; or
  - (b) a subsequent entity to whom *NRAS rent for the rental dwelling *flows indirectly;
- is not entitled to a tax offset under this Subdivision in relation to the NRAS rent for the rental dwelling.

380-25 When NRAS rent flows indirectly to or through an entity

- (1) This section sets out the circumstances in which *NRAS rent:
- (a) flows indirectly to an entity (subsection (2), (3) or (4)); or
  - (b) flows indirectly through an entity (subsection (5)).

Partners

- (2) *NRAS rent flows indirectly to a partner in a partnership in an income year if, and only if:
- (a) during that income year, the NRAS rent is *derived by the partnership, or *flows indirectly to the partnership as a beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (3); and
  - (b) the partner has an individual interest:
    - (i) in the partnership's *net income for that income year that is covered by paragraph 92(1)(a) or (b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
    - (ii) in a *partnership loss of the partnership for that income year that is covered by paragraph 92(2)(a) or (b) of that Act;(whether or not that individual interest becomes assessable income in the hands of the partner); and
  - (c) the partner's *share of the NRAS rent under section 380-30 is a positive amount (whether or not the partner actually receives any of that share).

Beneficiaries

- (3) *NRAS rent flows indirectly to a beneficiary of a trust in an income year if, and only if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) during that income year, the NRAS rent is *derived by the trustee of the trust, or *flows indirectly to the trustee as a partner or beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (2) or this subsection; and
- (b) the beneficiary has this amount for that income year (the share amount):
  - (i) a share of the trust's *net income for that income year that is covered by paragraph 97(1)(a) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (ii) an individual interest in the trust's net income for that income year that is covered by section 98A or 100 of that Act;(whether or not the share amount becomes assessable income in the hands of the beneficiary); and
- (c) the beneficiary's *share of the NRAS rent under section 380-30 is a positive amount (whether or not the beneficiary actually receives any of that share).

Trustees

- (4) *NRAS rent flows indirectly to the trustee of a trust in an income year if, and only if:
  - (a) during that income year, the NRAS rent is *derived by the trustee, or *flows indirectly to the trustee as a partner or beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (2) or (3); and
  - (b) the trustee is liable or, but for another provision in this Act, would be liable, to be assessed in respect of an amount (the share amount) that is:
    - (i) a share of the trust's *net income for that income year under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
    - (ii) all or a part of the trust's net income for that income year under section 99 or 99A of that Act;(whether or not the share amount becomes assessable income in the hands of the trustee); and

---

Section 380-30

---

- (c) the trustee's *share of the NRAS rent under section 380-30 is a positive amount (whether or not the trustee actually receives any of that share).

Note: A trustee to whom NRAS rent flows indirectly under this subsection is entitled to a tax offset under section 380-15 and the NRAS rent does not flow indirectly through the trustee to another entity.

- (5) *NRAS rent flows indirectly through an entity (the first entity) to another entity if, and only if:
- (a) the other entity is the focal entity in an item of the table in section 380-30 in relation to the NRAS rent; and
  - (b) that focal entity's *share of the NRAS rent is based on the first entity's share of the NRAS rent as an intermediary entity in that or another item of the table.

380-30 Share of NRAS rent

Object of section

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that:
- (a) *NRAS rent derived by a partnership or the trustee of a trust is allocated notionally amongst entities who *derive benefits from that NRAS rent; and
  - (b) that allocation corresponds with the way in which those benefits were derived.
- (2) An entity's share of *NRAS rent is an amount notionally allocated to the entity as its share of the NRAS rent, whether or not the entity actually receives any of that NRAS rent.
- (3) That amount is equal to the entity's share of the *NRAS rent as the focal entity in column 3 of an item of the table.

Note: An entity's share of the NRAS rent is based on the share of the NRAS rent of each preceding intermediary entity through which the NRAS rent flows, starting from the intermediary entity to whom the NRAS rent is paid.

This means that in some cases (see items 2 and 4 of the table), more than one item of the table will need to be applied to work out the share of the NRAS rent of an ultimate recipient of the NRAS rent.

Subdivision 385-E—Primary producer can elect to spread or defer tax on profit from forced disposal or death of live stock

Guide to Subdivision 385-E

385-90 What this Subdivision is about

You can elect to exclude from your assessable income the profit on a forced disposal or death of live stock that you held as assets of a primary production business you carry on in Australia.

The excluded profit is then brought into your assessable income over a 5 year period in one of 2 ways.

- 385-110 Alternative election to defer tax profit and reduce cost of replacement live stock
- 385-115 Your assessable income includes an amount for replacement live stock you breed
- 385-120 Purchase price of replacement live stock is reduced
- 385-125 Alternative election because of bovine tuberculosis has effect over 10 years not 5

385-95 Basic principles for elections under this Subdivision

(1) You can elect:

- to spread the profit on the disposal or death over the income year of the disposal or death and the next 4 income years (election to spread); or
- to defer including the profit in your assessable income, if you will use the proceeds of the disposal or death mainly to replace the live stock (election to defer).

(2) If you make an election to defer, the profit is “used” over the next 5 income years:

- by reducing the amount for which you are taken to have bought replacement stock (as a result, your tax profit on the disposal of the replacement stock is increased); and
- by including in your assessable income amounts for replacement stock that you breed.

Any unused part of the profit is included in your assessable income for the fifth income year.

Operative provisions

385-100 Cases where you can make an election

(1) You can make an election if:

- (a) you dispose of *live stock, or they die, because:
  - (i) land is compulsorily acquired or resumed under an Act;or

---

---

- (ii) a State or Territory leases land for a cattle tick eradication campaign; or
  - (iii) pasture or fodder is destroyed by fire, drought or flood and you will use the *proceeds of the disposal or death mainly to buy replacement stock or to maintain breeding stock for the purpose of replacing the live stock; or
  - (iv) they are compulsorily destroyed under an *Australian law for the control of a *disease or they die of such a *disease; or
  - (v) you receive an official notification under an *Australian law dealing with contamination of property; and
  - (b) you held the live stock as assets of a *primary production business you carry on in Australia; and
  - (c) apart from this Subdivision, your assessable income for any income year would include the *proceeds of the disposal or death.
- (2) The proceeds of the disposal or death are:
- (a) if you dispose of the *live stock or their carcasses in the ordinary course of *business—the total of:
    - (i) any amount you receive as payment for the live stock or carcasses; and
    - (ii) any compensation you receive for the death or destruction, or a reduction in *market value, of the live stock or their carcasses from an *Australian government agency; or
  - (b) if you dispose of the *live stock or their carcasses outside the ordinary course of *business—the total of:
    - (i) the market value of the live stock or their carcasses, at the time of disposal; and
    - (ii) any compensation you receive for the death or destruction, or a reduction in market value, of the live stock or their carcasses from an *Australian government agency; or
  - (c) if the *live stock die, and you do not dispose of their carcasses to someone else—any compensation you receive for their death or destruction from an *Australian government agency.

Section 385-105

---

385-105 Election to spread tax profit over 5 years

- (1) You can elect:
- (a) to include in your assessable income for the *disposal year the *proceeds of the disposal or death, reduced by the *tax profit on the disposal or death; and
  - (b) to include 20% of the tax profit on the disposal or death in your assessable income for the disposal year; and
  - (c) to include 20% of the tax profit on the disposal or death in your assessable income for each of the next 4 income years.

For rules about the making and effect of an election, see Subdivision 385-H.

- (2) The disposal year is the income year in which you dispose of the *live stock, or they die, as mentioned in subsection 385-100(1).
- (3) The tax profit on the disposal or death is any amount remaining after subtracting from the *proceeds of the disposal or death the sum of:
- (a) the amount paid or payable for the purchase of as many of the *live stock as you purchased during the income year; and
  - (b) the *value of the rest of the live stock as *trading stock on hand at the start of the income year.

385-110 Alternative election to defer tax profit and reduce cost of replacement live stock

- (1) Alternatively, you can elect:
- (a) to include in your assessable income for the *disposal year the *proceeds of the disposal or death, reduced by the *tax profit on the disposal or death; and
  - (b) to reduce the cost of replacement *live stock you buy in the disposal year (or any of the next 5 income years) by amounts totalling not more than the tax profit on the disposal or death; and
  - (c) to include in your assessable income for the last of the 5 income years following the disposal year any *unused tax profit on the disposal or death on the last day of that year.

Note: If the election is made because of bovine tuberculosis, it has effect over 10 income years instead of 5: see section 385-125.

For rules about the making and effect of an election, see Subdivision 385-H

- (2) However, you can only make this election if you will use the *proceeds of the disposal or death mainly to buy replacement *live stock, or to maintain breeding stock for the purpose of replacing the live stock that were disposed of or died.
- (3) The unused tax profit on the disposal or death is the *tax profit on the disposal or death less the total of:
  - (a) the amounts included in your assessable income under section 385-115 for replacement animals you breed; and
  - (b) the amounts by which the amount paid or payable for the purchase of replacement animals is reduced under section 385-120.

385-115 Your assessable income includes an amount for replacement live stock you breed

If you make the election in section 385-110, then for the *disposal year and each of the next 5 income years, your assessable income includes any amount you choose for each replacement animal you breed during that income year. (However, you can choose not to include an amount.)

385-120 Purchase price of replacement live stock is reduced

- (1) If you make the election in section 385-110, then the amount paid or payable for the purchase of each replacement animal you buy in the *disposal year, or in the next 5 income years, is treated as if it were reduced by the *reduction amount.

Meaning of reduction amount

- (2) The reduction amount is:
  - so much of the *tax profit on the disposal or death as is attributable to live stock of the species you are replacing;divided by:
  - the number of animals of that species that you disposed of or that died.

---

---

- (3) However, if:
- (a) you purchase a replacement animal of a different species from the *live stock it replaces; and
  - (b) you pay substantially more for it than you could have paid for a replacement animal of the same species;
- the reduction amount for the animal is any reasonable amount at least equal to the amount worked out under subsection (2).

Exception to avoid reducing unused tax profit to less than nil

- (4) However, if applying subsection (1) to a particular purchase would reduce the *unused tax profit on the disposal or death to less than nil, instead reduce the amount paid or payable for the purchase of each replacement animal in that purchase by:
- the *unused tax profit on the disposal or death; divided by:
  - the number of animals in the purchase.

385-125 Alternative election because of bovine tuberculosis has effect over 10 years not 5

If you can make an election under this Subdivision because:

- (a) *live stock are compulsorily destroyed under an *Australian law for the control of bovine tuberculosis; or
- (b) *live stock die of that *disease;

sections 385-110 to 385-120 apply as if they referred to 10 income years instead of 5 years.

For rules about the making and effect of an election, see Subdivision 385-H.

385-135 Election to defer including profit on second wool clip

385-135 Election to defer including profit on second wool clip

- (1) If your assessable income for an income year would otherwise include the *proceeds of the sale of 2 wool clips because fire, drought or flood causes you to shear your sheep earlier than normal, you can elect to include in your assessable income for the next income year the *profit on the sale of the earlier than normal wool clip.

For rules about the making and effect of an election, see Subdivision 385-H.

- (2) However, at the time the wool was shorn, the sheep must have been assets of a *primary production business you carried on in Australia. Also, the fire, drought or flood must have been in an area of Australia where you carried on that business at that time.
- (3) The proceeds of the sale of 2 wool clips are:
  - (a) the proceeds of the sale of the earlier than normal wool clip; and
  - (b) an amount covered by one or more of the following:
    - (i) proceeds of the sale of another wool clip in the income year;
    - (ii) proceeds of the sale of wool shorn in the previous income year that you hold at the start of the income year and that you took into account at cost in working out the

- (4) The profit on the sale of the earlier than normal wool clip is the proceeds of the sale of the wool clip that would otherwise be included in your assessable income for the income year, less the expenses you incur in the income year that are directly attributable to the earlier shearing and sale.

(c) the *proceeds of the sale of the 2 wool clips.
The Commissioner may allow you further time to make the election.

385-155 Amounts are assessable income from carrying on the primary production business

The following are taken to be assessable income from carrying on a *primary production business in Australia:

- (a) an amount included in your assessable income because of an election under Subdivision 385-E, 385-F or 385-G; or
- (b) an amount included in your assessable income because of section 385-160 (Effect of certain events on election).

385-160 Effect of certain events on election

- (1) You cannot make an election under Subdivision 385-E, 385-F or 385-G after a *disentitling event happens.
- (2) If a *disentitling event happens after you make an election under Subdivision 385-E, 385-F or 385-G, your assessable income for the income year in which the event happens includes:

  - (b) the insurance recovery for the loss of *live stock or trees; or
  - (c) the *proceeds of the sale of 2 wool clips;reduced by each amount that, because of the election, is included in your assessable income for that or an earlier income year.
- (3) However, if a *disentitling event happens after you make an election under section 385-110 (Alternative election to defer tax profit and reduce cost of replacement live stock), your assessable income for the income year in which the event happens includes any *unused tax profit on the disposal or death on the last day of that income year.

  - (b) partners, together entitled to at least 25% of the income of the new partnership, were also partners in the old partnership.

Division 392—Long-term averaging of primary producers' tax liability

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 392

- 392-A Is your income tax affected by averaging?
- 392-B What kind of averaging adjustment must you make?
- 392-C How big is your averaging adjustment?
- 392-D Effect of permanent reduction of your basic taxable income

392-1 What this Division is about

If you are a primary producer for 2 or more years in a row, this Division evens out your income tax liability from year to year. (It does so by reducing the effect that fluctuations in your taxable income have on the marginal rates of tax that apply to you from year to year.)

Table of sections

- 392-5 Overview of averaging process

392-5 Overview of averaging process

How averaging adjustments work

- (1) This Division reduces or increases your income tax liability to bring it closer to what it would have been if worked out using a special rate of income tax. That rate (the comparison rate) is based on the income tax that you would pay for the current year on the average of your taxable income for up to the last 5 income years.

Example: The graph shows how averaging taxable income reduces the effect of variations in taxable income (giving a fairly steady comparison rate from year to year).

Tax offset as averaging adjustment

- (2) You may be entitled to a tax offset if the income tax you would pay on your basic taxable income for the current year at the comparison rate is less than the income tax you would pay on that income (apart from this Division and certain other provisions).

See the examples of years 5, 6, 7 and 9 in the graph in subsection (4).

Extra income tax as averaging adjustment

- (3) You may be liable to extra income tax on some or all of your basic taxable income for the current year if the income tax you would pay on your basic taxable income for the current year at the comparison rate is more than the income tax on that income (apart from this Division and certain other provisions).

See the examples of years 8 and 10 in the graph in subsection (4).

Example of the effect of averaging

- (4) The graph shows an example of the effect of averaging, using the same income figures as the graph in the example in subsection (1).

---

Section 392-5

Note: The example assumes that all the basic taxable income was from a primary production business.

Effect of non-primary production income on averaging adjustment

- (5) Your income from sources other than your primary production business may affect the adjustment of your income tax. If more than $5,000 of your basic taxable income is attributable to those sources, your averaging adjustment will be reduced to reflect the proportion of your basic taxable income attributable to primary production. (There are special shading-out arrangements if your taxable income from other sources is between $5,000 and $10,000.)

No adjustment in certain cases

- (6) Your income tax will not be adjusted under this Division in certain cases. In particular, you can choose not to have your income tax adjusted under this Division for the rest of your life.

---

Subdivision 392-A—Is your income tax affected by averaging?

Table of sections

392-10	Individuals who carry on a primary production business
392-15	Meaning of basic taxable income
392-20	Trust beneficiaries taken to be carrying on primary production business
392-25	Choosing not to have your income tax averaged

392-10 Individuals who carry on a primary production business

- (1) This Division applies to your assessment for the *current year if:
- (a) you are an individual; and
  - (b) you have carried on a *primary production business in Australia for 2 or more income years in a row (the last of which is the current year); and
  - (c) for at least one of those income years your *basic taxable income is less than or equal to your basic taxable income for the next of those income years.

Note 1: It follows that this Division does not apply if your basic taxable income has decreased every income year since you started carrying on a primary production business.

Note 2: In working out whether this Division applies to your assessment for an income year, you may need to take account of income years before the 1998-99 income year: see section 392-1 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Continued application of this Division after you stop carrying on a primary production business

- (2) This Division also applies to your assessment for the *current year if:
- (a) this Division applied to your assessment for an earlier income year during which you carried on a *primary production business in Australia; and
  - (b) you do not carry on that business during the current year; and
  - (c) at least one of the following conditions is met for each income year (including the current year) after the income year in which you stopped carrying on that business:

---

---

- (i) your assessable income for the income year included assessable income that was *derived from, or resulted from, your having carried on that business;
- (ii) you carried on a *primary production business in Australia during the income year.

Note: In working out whether this Division applies to your assessment for an income year, you may need to take account of income years before the 1998-99 income year. See section 392-1 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

392-15 Meaning of *basic taxable income

- (1) Work out your basic taxable income for an income year as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out what would have been your taxable income for the income year if your assessable income for the income year:

- (a) had not included any amount under section 82-65, 82-70 or 302-145 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (certain superannuation benefits and employment termination payments); and

Note: This means that certain deductions will also be excluded.

- (b) had not included any *net capital gain for the income year.

Step 2. Subtract from the Step 1 amount any *above-average special professional income included in your taxable income for the income year under Division 405.

- (2) However, your basic taxable income for an income year is nil if:
- (a) you do not have a taxable income for the income year; or
  - (b) the amount worked out under subsection (1) for the income year is less than nil.

- (1) You are taken to carry on a *primary production business carried on by a trust during an income year if you are a beneficiary presently entitled to all or part of the trust income for the income year.
- (2) However, you are not taken to carry on the *primary production business if you are presently entitled to less than $1,040 of the trust income for the income year, unless the Commissioner is satisfied that your interest in the trust was not acquired or granted wholly or primarily to enable your income tax to be adjusted under this Division.
- (3) You are not taken to carry on a *primary production business carried on by the trustee of:
  - (a) a corporate unit trust (as defined in section 102J of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, which deals with corporate unit trusts); or
  - (b) a public trading trust (as defined in section 102R of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, which deals with public trading trusts).

392-25 Choosing not to have your income tax averaged

- (1) You can choose that this Division (except this section) not apply to your assessment for an income year. If you make this choice, this Division (except this section) does not apply to your assessment for the income year or any later income year.
- (2) You must make your choice in writing and give it to the Commissioner by the time you lodge your *income tax return for the income year to which your choice relates. However, the Commissioner may allow you to give the choice later.
- (3) Your choice cannot be revoked after it is given to the Commissioner.

Subdivision 392-B—What kind of averaging adjustment must you make?

Guide to Subdivision 392-B

392-30 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision explains how to work out whether you are entitled to a tax offset for the current year or whether you must pay extra income tax for the current year.

Table of sections

Tax offset or extra income tax

392-35 Will you get a tax offset or have to pay extra income tax?

How to work out the comparison rate

392-40 Identify income years for averaging your basic taxable income

392-45 Work out your average income for those years

392-50 Work out the income tax on your average income at basic rates

392-55 Work out the comparison rate

Tax offset or extra income tax

392-35 Will you get a tax offset or have to pay extra income tax?

(1) Compare:

(a) the amount (the income tax you would pay at the comparison rate) worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Basic taxable income for *current year}}{\text{*current year}} \times \text{*Comparison rate}$$

(b) the amount of income tax that you would pay on your *basic taxable income for the *current year at *basic rates.

Note: You must disregard some provisions of this Act in working out amounts of income tax for the purposes of this subsection: see subsection (5).

Tax offset

- (2) You are entitled to a *tax offset equal to the *averaging adjustment worked out under Subdivision 392-C if the income tax you would pay at the comparison rate is less than the amount of income tax you would pay at *basic rates.

Extra income tax

- (3) You must pay extra income tax on the *averaging component of your *basic taxable income if the income tax you would pay at the comparison rate is more than the amount of income tax you would pay at *basic rates.

Note 1: Section 12A of the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 sets the rate at which you must pay extra income tax on the averaging component of your basic taxable income.

Note 2: It does so in such a way that, generally, the extra income tax you must pay equals the averaging adjustment worked out under Subdivision 392-C.

Meaning of basic rates

- (4) The basic rates at which you would pay income tax are:
- (a) if you are a resident taxpayer as defined in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986—the rates of income tax in paragraph (1)(b) of Part I of Schedule 7 to that Act, taking into account the way it would apply with any changes to your tax-free threshold under section 20 of that Act; or
  - (b) if you are a non-resident taxpayer as defined in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986—the rates of income tax in paragraph 1(b) of Part II of Schedule 7 to that Act.

Disregard certain provisions in working out amounts

- (5) Work out the amount of income tax mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) as if:
- (a) the following provisions did not apply:
    - (i) this Division;
    - (ii) section 94 (Partner not having control and disposal of share in partnership income) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;

- (iii) Division 6AA (Income of certain children) of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (iv) Part VIIB (Medicare levy) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (b) you were not entitled to any rebate or credit under the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 or to any *tax offset under this Act.

No adjustment

- (6) This Division does not affect your income tax for the *current year if the income tax you would pay at the *comparison rate equals the amount of income tax you would pay at *basic rates.

Note: The 2 amounts will be equal if:

- your basic taxable income and your average income are both below the tax-free threshold; or
- your average income equals your basic taxable income for the current year.

How to work out the comparison rate

392-40 Identify income years for averaging your basic taxable income

The income years over which you must average your *basic taxable income are:

- (a) if this Division has applied to your assessment for at least 4 income years in a row (including the *current year)—the current year and the 4 previous income years; or
- (b) if this Division has applied to your assessment for less than 4 income years in a row (including the *current year)—those income years and the last income year before them.

Note: You may need to average your basic taxable income for one or more income years before the 1998-99 income year. See section 392-1 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

---

392-45 Work out your average income for those years

- (1) Work out your average income in this way:

Method statement

- Step 1. Add up your *basic taxable income for each of the income years over which you must average your basic taxable income.
- Step 2. Divide the sum by the number of those income years.
- Step 3. Round the result down to the nearest whole dollar if the result is not already a number of whole dollars.

- (2) Your basic assessable income for an income year is your assessable income for the income year, less:
- (a) any amount included in your assessable income section 82-65, 82-70 or 302-145 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (certain employment termination payments and superannuation benefits); and
  - (b) any *net capital gain included in your assessable income under Division 102 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

392-50 Work out the income tax on your average income at basic rates

Work out the amount of income tax that you would pay on your *average income for the *current year at *basic rates.

392-55 Work out the comparison rate

Work out the comparison rate using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Income tax on *average income, as worked out under section 392-50}}{\text{*Average income}}$$

Subdivision 392-C—How big is your averaging adjustment?

Guide to Subdivision 392-C

392-60 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision explains how to work out the amount of the averaging adjustment of your income tax for the current year (whether it is a tax offset or is used by the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 to set the rate at which you must pay extra income tax).

Table of sections

392-65 What your averaging adjustment reflects

Your gross averaging amount

392-70 Working out your gross averaging amount

Your averaging adjustment

392-75 Working out your averaging adjustment

How to work out your averaging component

392-80 Work out your taxable primary production income

392-85 Work out your taxable non-primary production income

392-90 Work out your averaging component

392-65 What your averaging adjustment reflects

- (1) Your averaging adjustment is a proportion of your gross averaging amount, taking account of:
  - (a) your taxable primary production income (the part of your basic taxable income from your primary production business); and
  - (b) your taxable non-primary production income (the part of your basic taxable income from other sources).

Your averaging component is the means of taking into account the different parts of your basic taxable income in working out your averaging adjustment.

- (2) If your taxable non-primary production income is less than or equal to $5,000, your averaging component equals the whole of your basic taxable income. (In other words, your averaging component includes all of your taxable primary production income and all of your taxable non-primary production income.)
- (3) If your taxable non-primary production income is between $5,000 and $10,000, a shading-out system applies so that your averaging component includes some of your taxable non-primary production income as well as all of your taxable primary production income.
- (4) If your taxable non-primary production income is $10,000 or more, your averaging component equals your taxable primary production income. Your averaging component does not include any of your taxable non-primary production income.
- (5) The following diagram shows examples of these relationships.

Averaging component as a component of basic taxable income

The second and third columns show that as taxable non-primary production income increases above $5,000 (up to a maximum of $10,000), less of it is counted in the averaging component.

---

Section 392-70

---

Your gross averaging amount

392-70 Working out your gross averaging amount

Your gross averaging amount is the amount of the difference between the following amounts worked out under section 392-35:

- (a) the income tax you would pay at the comparison rate;
- (b) the amount of income tax that you would pay on your *basic taxable income for the *current year at *basic rates.

Your averaging adjustment

392-75 Working out your averaging adjustment

Work out your averaging adjustment for the *current year using the formula:

How to work out your averaging component

392-80 Work out your taxable primary production income

- (1) Work out your taxable primary production income for the *current year in this way:

Method statement

- Step 1. Compare your *assessable primary production income for the *current year with your *primary production deductions for the current year.

---

---

- Step 2. If your assessable primary production income is larger than your primary production deductions, your taxable primary production income is the difference between them.
- Step 3. If your primary production deductions are larger than (or equal to) your assessable primary production income, your taxable primary production income is nil.

Assessable primary production income

- (2) Your assessable primary production income for the *current year is the amount of your *basic assessable income for the current year that was *derived from, or resulted from, your carrying on a *primary production business.

Primary production deductions

- (3) Work out your primary production deductions for the *current year in this way:

Method statement

Step 1. Add any amounts you can deduct (except *apportionable deductions) for the *current year, so far as they reasonably relate to your *assessable primary production income for an income year.

Step 2. Work out the result of applying the formula:

where:

assessable PP income means your *assessable primary production income for the *current year.

---

---

Step 3. Add the sum from Step 1 to the result from Step 2 (which may be negative): the total is your primary production deductions.

392-85 Work out your taxable non-primary production income

- (1) Work out your taxable non-primary production income for the *current year in this way:

Method statement

- Step 1. Compare your *assessable non-primary production income for the *current year with your *non-primary production deductions for the current year.
- Step 2. If your assessable non-primary production income is larger than your non-primary production deductions, your taxable non-primary production income is the difference between them.
- Step 3. If your non-primary production deductions are larger than (or equal to) your assessable non-primary production income, your taxable non-primary production income is nil.

Assessable non-primary production income

- (2) Your assessable non-primary production income for the *current year is the difference between:
- (a) your *basic assessable income for the current year; and
  - (b) your *assessable primary production income for the current year.

Non-primary production deductions

- (3) Your non-primary production deductions for the *current year are the difference between:
- (a) the sum of your deductions for the current year; and
  - (b) your *primary production deductions for the current year.

392-90 Work out your averaging component

- (1) Work out your averaging component for the *current year using the following table, taking into account:
- (a) your *taxable primary production income for the current year; and
  - (b) your *taxable non-primary production income for the current year.

Averaging component
Item	If *taxable non-primary production income:	The averaging component equals:
		for *taxable primary production income &gt; 0	for *taxable primary production income = 0
1	is nil	*Basic taxable income	Nil
2	is more than nil but does not exceed $5,000	*Basic taxable income	*Basic taxable income
3	exceeds $5,000 but does not exceed $10,000	*Taxable primary production income plus *non-primary production shade-out amount	*Non-primary production shade-out amount
4	is $10,000 or more	*Taxable primary production income	Nil

Note: Subsections (2) and (3) explain how to work out your non-primary production shade-out amount if your taxable non-primary production income is between $5,000 and $10,000.

Non-primary production shade-out amount if your taxable primary production income is more than nil

- (2) If your *taxable primary production income is more than nil, your non-primary production shade-out amount is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$$10,000 - \text{Taxable non-PP income}$$

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-45 Rules for particular industries and occupations

Division 392 Long-term averaging of primary producers' tax liability

Section 392-95

Non-primary production shade-out amount if your taxable primary production income is nil

- (3) If your *taxable primary production income is nil, your non-primary production shade-out amount is the amount worked out using the formula:

However, if that amount is less than nil, your non-primary production shade-out amount is nil.

- (4) In this section:

Assessable PP income means your *assessable primary production income for the *current year.

PP deductions means your *primary production deductions for the *current year.

Taxable non-PP income your *taxable non-primary production income for the *current year.

Subdivision 392-D—Effect of permanent reduction of your basic taxable income

Table of sections

392-95 You are treated as if you had not carried on business before

392-95 You are treated as if you had not carried on business before

Choosing to discontinue and restart averaging

- (1) You can choose that this Division not affect your income tax liability for an income year (the reduction year) if you show the Commissioner that, because of retirement from your occupation or from any other cause, your *basic taxable income for the reduction year is permanently reduced during that year to less than two thirds of your *average income for that year.

---

- (1A) You must make the choice by notifying the Commissioner in writing by the day you lodge your *income tax return for the reduction year. However, the Commissioner can allow you to make it later.
- (1B) If you make a choice under subsection (1), this Division applies to assessments for later income years as if you had never carried on a *primary production business before the reduction year.

Working out the extent of the permanent reduction

- (2) In working out the extent of the permanent reduction, you must work out your *average income for the reduction year on the basis that your *basic assessable income for an income year taken into account in working out your average income did not include any assessable income from sources from which you do not usually receive assessable income.
- (3) In working out the extent of the permanent reduction, disregard a reduction in *basic taxable income to the extent that it results from a change of assets from which assessable income was *derived into assets from which you derive income that is not assessable income.

Division 394—Forestry managed investment schemes

Guide to Division 394

394-1 What this Division is about

This Division sets out rules about deductions for contributions to forestry managed investment schemes. It also sets out the tax treatment of proceeds from the sale of interests in such schemes, and of proceeds from harvesting trees under such schemes.

Table of sections

394-5	Object of this Division
394-10	Deduction for amounts paid under forestry managed investment schemes
394-15	Forestry managed investment schemes and related concepts
394-20	Payments on behalf of participant in forestry managed investment scheme
394-25	CGT event in relation to forestry interest in forestry managed investment scheme—initial participant
394-30	CGT event in relation to forestry interest in forestry managed investment scheme—subsequent participant
394-35	70% DFE rule
394-40	Payments under forestry managed investment scheme
394-45	Direct forestry expenditure

394-5 Object of this Division

The object of this Division is to encourage the expansion of commercial plantation forestry in Australia through the establishment and tending of new plantations for felling. This is achieved by:

- (a) permitting investors to deduct amounts paid under a forestry scheme in the year of payment, if certain conditions are met (for example, that it is reasonable to expect that the manager of the scheme will spend at least 70% of investors' contributions, on a market value basis, on activities that establish, tend, fell and harvest trees); and

- (b) allowing secondary market trading of interests in such schemes, while minimising tax arbitrage and providing tax certainty for investors.

394-10 Deduction for amounts paid under forestry managed investment schemes

- (1) You can deduct an amount if:
  - (a) you hold a *forestry interest in a *forestry managed investment scheme; and
  - (b) you pay the amount under the scheme; and
  - (c) the scheme satisfies the *70% DFE rule (see section 394-35) on 30 June in the income year in which a *participant in the scheme first pays an amount under the scheme; and
  - (d) you do not have day to day control over the operation of the scheme (whether or not you have the right to be consulted or give directions); and
  - (e) at least one of these conditions is satisfied:
    - (i) there is more than one participant in the scheme;
    - (ii) the *forestry manager of the scheme, or an *associate of the forestry manager, manages, arranges or promotes similar schemes; and
  - (f) the condition in subsection (4) is satisfied.
- (2) You deduct the amount for the income year in which you pay it.
- (3) For the purposes of this Division, do not treat an amount as being paid under a *forestry managed investment scheme if:
  - (a) you pay the amount in connection with a *CGT event in relation to a *forestry interest in the scheme; and
  - (b) as a result of the CGT event:
    - (i) another *participant in the scheme no longer holds the forestry interest; and
    - (ii) you start to hold the forestry interest.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(f), the condition in this subsection is satisfied unless:

---

- (a) 18 months have elapsed since the end of the income year in which an amount is first paid under the *forestry managed investment scheme by a *participant in the scheme; and
  - (b) the trees intended to be established in accordance with the scheme have not all been established before the end of those 18 months.
- (5) You cannot deduct an amount under subsection (1) if:
- (a) you hold the *forestry interest mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) as an *initial participant; and
  - (b) a *CGT event happens in relation to the forestry interest within 4 years after the end of the income year in which you first pay an amount under the scheme.
- If you have already deducted it, your assessment may be amended to disallow the deduction.
- (6) Despite section 170 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the Commissioner may amend your assessment at any time within 2 years after the *CGT event, for the purpose of giving effect to subsection (5).
- (7) Sections 82KZMD and 82KZMF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 do not affect the timing of a deduction under this section.

394-15 Forestry managed investment schemes and related concepts

- (1) A *scheme is a forestry managed investment scheme if the purpose of the scheme is for establishing and tending trees for felling in Australia.
- (2) The entity that manages, arranges or promotes a *forestry managed investment scheme is the forestry manager of the scheme.
- (3) A forestry interest in a *forestry managed investment scheme is a right to benefits produced by the scheme (whether the right is actual, prospective or contingent and whether it is enforceable or not).
- (4) An entity that holds a *forestry interest in a *forestry managed investment scheme (other than the *forestry manager of the scheme) is a participant in the scheme.

---

- (5) A *participant in a *forestry managed investment scheme holds a *forestry interest in the scheme as an initial participant if:
- (a) the participant obtains the forestry interest from the *forestry manager of the scheme; and
  - (b) the payment by the participant to obtain the forestry interest results in the establishment of trees.

394-20 Payments on behalf of participant in forestry managed investment scheme

For the purposes of this Division, treat a payment to the *forestry manager of a *forestry managed investment on behalf of a *participant in the scheme as a payment by the participant to the forestry manager.

394-25 CGT event in relation to forestry interest in forestry managed investment scheme—initial participant

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) you hold a *forestry interest in a *forestry managed investment scheme as an *initial participant in the scheme; and
  - (b) at least one of these conditions is satisfied:
    - (i) you can deduct or have deducted an amount for an income year under section 394-10 in relation to the forestry interest;
    - (ii) the condition in subparagraph (i) would be satisfied if subsection 394-10(5) were disregarded; and
  - (c) a *CGT event happens in relation to the forestry interest, other than a CGT event that happens in respect of thinning.
- (2) Your assessable income for the income year in which the *CGT event happens includes:
- (a) if, as a result of the CGT event, you no longer hold the *forestry interest—the *market value of the forestry interest (worked out as at the time of the event); or
  - (b) otherwise—the decrease (if any) in the market value of the forestry interest as a result of the CGT event.

Section 394-30

---

- (3) Any amount that you actually receive because of the *CGT event is not included in your assessable income (nor is it *exempt income).

394-30 CGT event in relation to forestry interest in forestry managed investment scheme—subsequent participant

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) you hold a *forestry interest in a *forestry managed investment scheme otherwise than as an *initial participant in the scheme; and
  - (b) at least one of these conditions is satisfied:
    - (i) you can deduct or have deducted an amount for an income year under section 394-10 in relation to the forestry interest;
    - (ii) you could deduct an amount for an income year under section 394-10 if you had paid the amount under the scheme in that year; and
  - (c) a *CGT event happens in relation to the forestry interest, other than a CGT event that happens in respect of thinning.
- (2) Your assessable income for the income year in which the *CGT event happens includes the lesser of the following:
- (a) the *market value of the forestry interest (worked out as at the time of the event);
  - (b) the amount (if any) by which the *total forestry scheme deductions in relation to the forestry interest exceeds the *incidental forestry scheme receipts in relation to the forestry interest.
- (3) The total forestry scheme deductions in relation to the *forestry interest is the total of each amount that you can deduct or have deducted under section 394-10 for each income year in relation to the forestry interest.
- (4) The incidental forestry scheme receipts in relation to the *forestry interest is the total of each amount that you have received under the scheme in each income year in relation to the forestry interest for a reason otherwise than because of the *CGT event.

---

- (5) However, if you still hold the forestry interest despite the *CGT event, work out the amount included in your assessable income under subsection (2) using this formula (instead of using the amount worked out under subsection (2)):

$$\text{Amount worked out under subsection (2)} \times \frac{\text{Decrease (if any) in the *market value of the *forestry interest as a result of the CGT event}}{\text{*Market value of the *forestry interest just before the CGT event}}$$

- (6) If this section has operated previously in relation to the *forestry interest, disregard an amount for the purposes of subsections (3) and (4) to the extent that it has already been reflected in your assessable income under that previous operation in relation to the forestry interest.
- (7) These provisions do not apply to the *CGT event:
- (a) section 6-5 (about *ordinary income);
  - (b) any other provision that includes an amount in assessable income, other than the following:
    - (i) a provision in Part 3-1 or 3-3;
    - (ii) subsection (2) of this section;
  - (c) section 8-1 (about amounts you can deduct);
  - (d) any other provision that allows you to deduct an amount from your assessable income;
  - (e) section 118-20.
- (8) However, the provisions referred to in subsection (7) can apply to the *CGT event if a *capital gain or *capital loss from the event is disregarded because of section 118-25.
- (9) Just before the *CGT event, increase the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *forestry interest by the amount included in your assessable income under subsection (2).

Section 394-35

394-35 70% DFE rule

- (1) A *forestry managed investment scheme satisfies the 70% DFE rule on 30 June in an income year if it is reasonable to expect on that 30 June that the amount of DFE under the scheme (see subsection (2)) is no less than 70% of the amount of the payments under the scheme (see subsection (3)).
- (2) The amount of DFE under the scheme is the amount of the net present value (on that 30 June) of all *direct forestry expenditure under the scheme that the *forestry manager of the scheme has paid or will pay under the scheme.
- (3) The amount of payments under the scheme is the amount of the net present value (on that 30 June) of all amounts that all current and future *participants in the scheme have paid or will pay under the scheme.

Division 396—Land transport facilities borrowings

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 396

- 396-A Key operative provisions
- 396-B What LTF interest is covered?
- 396-C Projects, borrowers and lenders
- 396-D Application, approval and agreement process
- 396-E Miscellaneous

Guide to Division 396

396-5 What this Division is about

A lender can get a tax offset for certain interest it derives on an approved borrowing by another entity for the construction of land transport facilities.

For a borrowing to be approved:

- (a) the borrower must apply to the Commissioner; and
- (b) the Minister for Transport and Regional Development must approve the application; and
- (c) that Minister, the borrower and each of the lenders must enter into an agreement.

The total of tax offsets available under this Division for an income year is subject to a limit.

Where a tax offset is given for interest, the borrower cannot deduct the interest.

Subdivision 396-A—Key operative provisions

Guide to Subdivision 396-A

396-10 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides for:

- (a) the tax offset for the lender; and
- (b) deductions not to be allowed to the borrower.

It also provides for a cap to be set on the amount of tax offsets approved for each income year.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 396-15 Tax offset for LTF interest on land transport facilities borrowings
- 396-20 Maximum cost to Commonwealth
- 396-25 Borrower cannot deduct LTF interest for which lender has tax offset

Operative provisions

396-15 Tax offset for LTF interest on land transport facilities borrowings

- (1) An entity that is a lender under a *land transport facilities borrowings agreement is entitled to a *tax offset for *LTF interest covered by the agreement.

Amount of tax offset

- (2) The amount of the tax offset is worked out using the formula:

*Corporate tax rate × LTF interest covered by agreement

However, the amount cannot exceed any amount specified in the *land transport facilities borrowings agreement as the maximum *tax offset for that lender for the income year for that agreement.

- (3) In subsection (2):

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

LTF interest covered by agreement means the amount of *LTF interest that is covered by the *land transport facilities borrowings agreement and that is *derived by the entity in the income year.

396-20 Maximum cost to Commonwealth

The maximum net cost to the Commonwealth of *tax offsets to be approved under this Division for an income year (after taking into account deductions that are reduced) is the amount determined, by written notice, by the Treasurer.

Note: The maximum amount is taken into account under subsection 396-70(5) in approving projects.

396-25 Borrower cannot deduct LTF interest for which lender has tax offset

- (1) The total of amounts that an entity that is a borrower under a *land transport facilities borrowings agreement can deduct for an income year for *LTF interest covered by the agreement is reduced by:

$$\frac{1}{\text{*Corporate tax rate}} \times \text{Tax offset entitlement}$$

- (2) In subsection (1):

tax offset entitlement is the total of the amounts of *tax offset worked out under subsection 396-15(2) for LTF interest that is covered by the agreement and that is *derived by a lender in the income year.

- (3) If the amount by which deductions for an income year are to be reduced by subsection (1) (or by a previous operation of this subsection) exceeds the total of those deductions:
- (a) the deductions are reduced to nil; and
  - (b) the total amount that the borrower can deduct for the next income year for *LTF interest covered by the agreement is reduced by the total of:
    - (i) that excess; and
    - (ii) the amount worked out for that next income year using the formula in subsection (1).

---

Note: This can happen where interest is incurred by the borrower in an income year after the income year in which it is derived by the lender.

Subdivision 396-B—What LTF interest is covered?

Guide to Division 405

405-1 What this Division is about

Significant fluctuations can occur in the professional incomes of authors, inventors, performing artists, production associates and sportspersons.

To lessen the impact of these fluctuations on your marginal tax rates, special tax rates apply if your professional income is above your average.

This Division explains how the scheme works and sets out the rules for working out your above-average special professional income.

405-5 Special rate of income tax on your above-average special professional income

- (1) If you have above-average special professional income, the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 generally sets a special rate so that the amount of income tax you pay on the top 4/5 of your above-average special professional income is effectively 4 times what you would pay on the bottom 1/5 of that income at basic rates.

Note : Your overall income tax will be less only if 2 marginal rates of income tax would apply to your above-average special professional income if it were treated as the top slice of your taxable income.

- (2) The following diagram illustrates how the special rate works.

405-10 Overview of the Division

For which income years do you have above-average special professional income?

- (1) The first income year for which you have above-average special professional income is the first income year (professional year 1):
  - (a) for which your taxable professional income is more than $2,500; and
  - (b) during all or part of which you are an Australian resident.
- (2) After professional year 1, you have above-average special professional income for any income year for all or part of which you are an Australian resident.

Note: You need not have been an Australian resident for every income year since professional year 1.

What is above-average special professional income?

- (3) Your above-average special professional income for the current year is the amount (if any) by which your taxable professional income exceeds your average taxable professional income.

See Subdivision 405-A.

What is taxable professional income?

- (4) Your taxable professional income depends on your assessable professional income.
- (5) Your assessable professional income is assessable income from your work as an author, inventor, performing artist, production associate or sportsperson.

See section 405-45.

See Subdivision 405-B.

How do you work out your average taxable professional income?

- (6) Generally, your average taxable professional income for the current year is the average of your taxable professional income for the last 4 income years.

---

---

---

See section 405-50.

- (7) However, special phasing-in arrangements apply to work out your average taxable professional income for an income year that is less than 4 income years after professional year 1.

These arrangements favour people who were Australian residents for at least part of the income year before professional year 1.

See section 405-50.

Table of sections

405-45	Working out your taxable professional income
405-50	Working out your average taxable professional income

405-45 Working out your taxable professional income

Your taxable professional income for an income year is the amount (if any) by which your *assessable professional income for that year exceeds the amount of your deductions for that year worked out as follows:

---

---

Method statement

Step 1. Add up any amounts you can deduct for that year (except *apportionable deductions), so far as they reasonably relate to your *assessable professional income for the year.

Step 2. Work out the amount using the formula:

Note: The result may be greater than the apportionable deductions. Also, it may be negative.

Step 3. Add the sum from Step 1 to the result from Step 2. If the result is more than nil, it is the amount of your deductions to be subtracted from your *assessable professional income.

405-50 Working out your average taxable professional income

It is generally a 4-year average

- (1) Work out your average taxable professional income for the *current year by:
  - (a) adding up your *taxable professional income for each of the last 4 income years before the current year; and
  - (b) dividing the total by 4.

Phasing-in arrangements for new professionals

- (2) However, if the *current year is less than 4 income years after *professional year 1, work out your average taxable professional income using the table in subsection (5).

Item	Current year	Average taxable professional income if you were an Australian resident for all or part of the income year immediately before professional year 1	Average taxable professional income if you were a foreign resident for any of the income year immediately before professional year 1
1	Professional year 1	Nil	Your *taxable professional income for *professional year 1
2	Professional year 2	1/3 of your *taxable professional income for *professional year 1	Your *taxable professional income for *professional year 1
3	Professional year 3	1/4 of the sum of your *taxable professional income for each of *professional years 1 and 2	1/2 of the sum of your *taxable professional income for each of *professional years 1 and 2
4	Professional year 4	1/4 of the sum of your *taxable professional income for each of *professional years 1, 2 and 3	1/3 of the sum of your *taxable professional income for each of *professional years 1, 2 and 3

Note: If you were a foreign resident for any part of the income year immediately before professional year 1, the effect of item 1 of the table is that your taxable income for professional year 1 will not include above-average special professional income.

Objects

- 700-10 Objects of this Part

Guide

700-1 What this Part is about

This Part allows certain groups of entities to be treated as single entities for income tax purposes.

Following a choice to consolidate, subsidiary members are treated as part of the head company of the group rather than as separate income tax identities. The head company inherits their income tax history when they become subsidiary members of the group. On ceasing to be subsidiary members, they take with them an income tax history that recognises that they are different from when they became subsidiary members.

This is supported by rules that:

- (a) set the cost for income tax purposes of assets that subsidiary members bring into the group; and

---

Section 700-5

---

- (b) determine the income tax history that is taken into account when entities become, or cease to be, subsidiary members of the group; and
- (c) deal with the transfer of tax attributes such as losses and franking credits to the head company when entities become subsidiary members of the group.

700-5 Overview of this Part

- (1) The single entity rule determines how the income tax liability of a consolidated group will be ascertained. The basic principle is contained in the Core Rules in Division 701.
- (2) Essentially, a consolidated group consists of an Australian resident head company and all of its Australian resident wholly-owned subsidiaries (which may be companies, trusts or partnerships). Special rules apply to foreign-owned groups with no single Australian resident head company.
- (3) An eligible wholly-owned group becomes a consolidated group after notice of a choice to consolidate is given to the Commissioner.
- (4) This Part also contains rules which set the cost for income tax purposes of assets of entities when they become subsidiary members of a consolidated group and of membership interests in those entities when they cease to be subsidiary members of the group.
- (5) Certain tax attributes (such as losses and franking credits) of entities that become subsidiary members of a consolidated group are transferred under this Part to the head company of the group. These tax attributes remain with the group after an entity ceases to be a subsidiary member.

Objects

700-10 Objects of this Part

The objects of this Part are:

- (a) to prevent double taxation of the same economic gain realised by a consolidated group; and
- (b) to prevent a double tax benefit being obtained from an economic loss realised by a consolidated group; and
- (c) to provide a systematic solution to the prevention of such double taxation and double tax benefits that will:
  - (i) reduce the cost of complying with this Act; and
  - (ii) improve business efficiency by removing complexities and promoting simplicity in the taxation of wholly-owned groups.

- 701-85 Other exceptions etc. to the rules

Common rule*701-1 Single entity rule

- (1) If an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group for any period, it and any other subsidiary member of the group are taken for the purposes covered by subsections (2) and (3) to be parts of the *head company of the group, rather than separate entities, during that period.

Head company core purposes

- (2) The purposes covered by this subsection (the head company core purposes) are:
- (a) working out the amount of the *head company's liability (if any) for income tax calculated by reference to any income year in which any of the period occurs or any later income year; and
- (b) working out the amount of the head company's loss (if any) of a particular *sort for any such income year.

Note: The single entity rule would affect the head company's income tax liability calculated by reference to income years after the entity ceased to be a member of the group if, for example, assets that the entity held when it became a subsidiary member remained with the head company after the entity ceased to be a subsidiary member.

---

Entity core purposes

- (3) The purposes covered by this subsection (the entity core purposes) are:
- (a) working out the amount of the entity's liability (if any) for income tax calculated by reference to any income year in which any of the period occurs or any later income year; and
  - (b) working out the amount of the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort for any such income year.

Note: An assessment of the entity's liability calculated by reference to income tax for a period when it was not a subsidiary member of the group may be made, and that tax recovered from it, even while it is a subsidiary member.

What is a sort of loss?

- (4) Each of these paragraphs identifies a sort of loss:
- (a) *tax loss;
  - (b) *film loss;
  - (c) *net capital loss.

This subsection lists all the sorts of loss.

Head company rules

701-5 Entry history rule

For the head company core purposes in relation to the period after the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group, everything that happened in relation to it before it became a subsidiary member is taken to have happened in relation to the *head company.

Note 1: Other provisions of this Part may affect the tax history that is inherited (e.g. asset cost base history is affected by section 701-10 and tax loss history is affected by Division 707).

Note 2: Section 73BAC of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 overrides this rule for the purposes of the research and development incremental expenditure provisions.

Note 3: Section 165-212E overrides this rule for the purposes of the same business test.

701-10 Cost to head company of assets of joining entity

- (1) This section has effect for the head company core purposes when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group.

Assets to which section applies

- (2) This section applies in relation to each asset that would be an asset of the entity at the time it becomes a *subsidiary member of the group, assuming that subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) did not apply.

Note: See subsection 705-35(3) for the treatment of a goodwill asset resulting from the head company's ownership and control of the joining entity.

Object

- (3) The object of this section (and Division 705 which relates to it) is to recognise the cost to the *head company of such assets as an amount reflecting the group's cost of acquiring the entity.

Setting tax cost of assets

- (4) Each asset's *tax cost is set at the time the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Multiple setting of tax cost for same trading stock

- (5) However, if:
- (a) the asset is *trading stock; and
  - (b) the asset's *tax cost is set by this section at more than one time (each of which is a setting time) for the same income year; then, except where subsection (6) applies, only the amount at which the tax cost is set at the last of the setting times is to be taken into account.

- (6) If:
- (a) the *head company's *terminating value for the asset; or
  - (b) the *value of the asset at the start of the income year;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

is required to be worked out for one or more occasions when an entity (whether or not the same entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group in the income year, then the amount at which the asset's *tax cost is set by this section at a particular setting time is only taken into account in working out the head company's terminating value for a particular occasion if:

- (c) the setting time occurs before the occasion; and
- (d) there is no intervening setting time or occasion.

Excluded assets

- (7) If an asset is an excluded asset under subsection 705-35(2), its *tax cost is not set.

Note: Excluded assets are assets such as entitlements to tax deductions.

701-15 Cost to head company of membership interests in entity that leaves group

- (1) If the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the head company core purposes, so far as they relate to the income year in which the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member or any later income year.

Note: This section could have effect, for example, if an entity ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group because:

- (a) it ceases to satisfy the requirements to be a subsidiary member; or
- (b) the head company ceases to satisfy the requirements to be a head company (thereby bringing the group to an end).

Object

- (2) The object of this section is to preserve the alignment of the *head company's costs for *membership interests in each entity and its assets by recognising, when an entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, the cost of those interests as an amount equal to the cost of the entity's assets at that time reduced by the amount of its liabilities.

Note: The head company's costs for membership interests in entities was aligned with the costs of their assets when the entities became subsidiary members of the group.

Setting tax cost of membership interests

- (3) For each *membership interest that the *head company of the group holds in an entity that ceases to be a *subsidiary member, the interest's *tax cost is set just before the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member at the interest's *tax cost setting amount.

Note 1: The membership interests would include those that are actually held by subsidiary members of the group, but which are treated as those of the head company under the single entity rule.

Note 2: If the entity is a partnership, Subdivision 713-E sets the tax cost of interests in partnership assets, rather than membership interests in the partnership.

701-20 Cost to head company of assets consisting of certain liabilities owed by entity that leaves group

- (1) If the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the head company core purposes, so far as they relate to the income year in which the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member or any later income year.

Assets to which section applies

- (2) This section applies in relation to each asset, consisting of a liability owed by the entity, that becomes an asset of the *head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member. This is a liability that, ignoring that subsection, is owed to a *member of the group.

Object

- (3) The object of this section is to set a cost for the asset to enable income tax consequences for the *head company in respect of the asset to be determined.

Setting tax cost of assets

- (4) The asset's *tax cost is set at the time the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

---

---

Note: If the entity is a partnership, Subdivision 713-E sets the tax cost of assets consisting of a partner's share of a liability owed by the partnership to a member of the group.

701-25 Tax-neutral consequence for head company of ceasing to hold assets when entity leaves group

- (1) If the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the head company core purposes, so far as they relate to the income year in which the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member or any later income year.

Assets to which section applies

- (2) This section applies in relation to an asset if:
- (a) the asset is *trading stock of the *head company; and
  - (b) the asset becomes an asset of the entity because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group; and
  - (c) the asset is not again an asset of the head company at or before the end of the income year.

Object

- (3) The object of this section is to ensure that there is no income tax consequence for the *head company in respect of the asset.

Note: In the case of assets other than trading stock, the fact that the head company ceases to hold them when the single entity rules ceases to apply to them would not constitute a disposal or other event having tax consequences for the head company.

Setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount

- (4) The asset is taken to be *trading stock of the *head company at the end of the income year (but not at the start of the next income year) and its *value at that time is taken to be equal to:
- (a) if the asset was trading stock of the head company at the start of the income year (including as a result of its *tax cost being set)—the asset's value at that time; or
  - (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply and the asset is *livestock that was acquired by natural increase—the *cost of the asset; or

- (c) in any other case—the amount of the outgoing incurred by the head company in connection with the acquisition of the asset; increased by the amount of any outgoing forming part of the cost of the asset that was incurred by the head company during its current holding of the asset.

Note: As a consequence of fixing the trading stock's value at the end of the income year under this subsection, no election would be available under section 70-45 to value the trading stock at that time.

Entity rules

701-30 Where entity not subsidiary member for whole of income year

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to provide for a method of working out how the entity core rules apply to the entity for periods in the income year when the entity is not part of the group. The method involves treating each period separately with no netting off between them.

When section has effect

- (2) This section has effect for the entity core purposes if:
- (a) the entity is a *subsidiary member of the group for some but not all of an income year; and
  - (b) there are one or more periods in the income year (each of which is a non-membership period) during which the entity is not a subsidiary member of any *consolidated group.

Tax position of each non-membership period to be worked out

- (3) For every non-membership period, work out the entity's taxable income (if any) for the period, the income tax (if any) payable on that taxable income and the entity's loss (if any) (a non-membership period loss) of each *sort for the period. Work them out:

---

---

Section 701-30

---

- (a) as if the start and end of the period were the start and end of the income year; and
- (b) ignoring the operation of this section in relation to each other non-membership period (if any); and
- (c) so that each relevant item is either:
  - (i) allocated to only one of the non-membership periods or to a period that is all or part of the rest of the income year; or
  - (ii) apportioned among such periods (for example, by Subdivision 716-A (see note to this subsection)).

Note: Other provisions of this Part are to be applied in working out the taxable income or loss, for example:

- section 701-40 (Exit history rule); and
- Subdivision 716-A (about assessable income and deductions spread over several membership or non-membership periods); and
- section 716-850 (about grossing up threshold amounts for periods of less than 365 days).

Subdivision 716 also affects the tax position of the head company of a group of which the entity has been a subsidiary member for some but not all of the income year.

- (3A) For the purposes of working out the entity's taxable income (if any) for the non-membership period, determine:
- (a) whether the entity can *utilise a loss of any *sort transferred to the entity in the period; and
  - (b) if the period started at the start of the income year—whether the entity can utilise a loss of any sort:
    - (i) made by the entity, without a transfer, for an earlier income year; or
    - (ii) transferred to the entity in an earlier income year;
- as if the time just after the end of the period were the end of the income year and the entity carried on at that time the same business that it carried on just before that time. Paragraph (3)(a) has effect subject to this subsection.

Note: This means that things that happen in relation to the entity at the time it becomes a subsidiary member of the group are taken into account in determining whether the entity can utilise such a loss to affect its taxable income for the non-membership period.

---

Income tax for the financial year

- (4) The entity's income tax (if any) for the *financial year concerned is the total of every amount of income tax worked out for the entity under subsection (3).

Taxable income for the income year

- (5) The entity's taxable income for the income year is the total of every amount of taxable income worked out for the entity under subsection (3).
- (6) The entity's income tax worked out under subsection (4) is taken to be payable on the entity's taxable income for the income year worked out under subsection (5), even if the amount of the tax differs from the amount that would be worked out by reference to that taxable income apart from subsection (5).

Loss for the income year

- (7) The entity has a loss of a particular *sort for the income year if and only if it has a non-membership period loss of that sort for the non-membership period (if any) ending at the end of the income year. The amount of the loss for the income year is the amount of the non-membership period loss.

Utilisation and transfer of non-membership period loss

- (8) However, the provisions of this Act relating to transfer or *utilisation of a loss of any *sort have effect in relation to a non-membership period loss of that sort for any non-membership period as if the non-membership period loss were the entity's loss for an income year that:
- (a) started at the start of the period; and
  - (b) ended at the end of the period.
- (9) Subsection (8) has effect not only for the entity core purposes, but also (despite subsection (2)) for other purposes.

---

---

Section 701-35

---

Excess franking deficit tax offset for the income year

- (10) For the purposes of applying section 205-70 in relation to an income year after the income year (the current income year) to which this section applies, the entity has an excess mentioned in paragraph 205-70(1)(c) (about excess franking deficit tax offsets) for the current income year only if it has such an excess for the non-membership period (if any) ending at the end of the current income year. The amount of the excess for the current income year is the amount of the excess for the non-membership period.

701-35 Tax-neutral consequence for entity of ceasing to hold assets when it joins group

- (1) When the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the entity core purposes.

Assets to which section applies

- (2) This section applies in relation to an asset if the asset is *trading stock of the entity just before it becomes a *subsidiary member of the group.

Object

- (3) The object of this section is to ensure that there is no income tax consequence for the entity in respect of the asset.

Note: In the case of assets other than trading stock, the fact that the entity ceases to hold them when the single entity rule begins to apply to them would not constitute a disposal or other event having tax consequences for the entity.

Setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount

- (4) The *value of the *trading stock at the end of the income year that ends, or, if section 701-30 applies, of the income year that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to end, when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member is taken to be equal to:
- (a) if the asset was trading stock of the entity at the start of the income year—the asset's value at that time; or

- (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply and the asset is *livestock that was acquired by natural increase—the *cost of the asset; or
- (c) in any other case—the amount of the outgoing incurred by the entity in connection with the acquisition of the asset; increased by the amount of any outgoing forming part of the cost of the asset that was incurred by the entity during its current holding of the asset.

Note: As a consequence of fixing the trading stock's value at the end of the income year under this subsection, no election would be available under section 70-45 to value the trading stock at that time.

701-40 Exit history rule

- (1) If the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the entity core purposes, so far as they relate to any thing covered by subsection (2) (an eligible asset etc.) after it becomes that of the entity because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity.

Note: Section 73BAD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 overrides this rule for the purposes of the research and development incremental expenditure provisions.

Assets, liabilities and businesses covered

- (2) This subsection covers the following:
  - (a) any asset;
  - (b) any liability or other thing that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, is a liability;
  - (c) any business;
  - (d) any registration under section 39J of the Industry Research and Development Act 1986 for particular research and development activities; that becomes that of the entity because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group.

Section 701-45

Head company history inherited

- (3) Everything that happened in relation to any eligible asset etc. while it was that of the *head company, including because of any application of section 701-5 (the entry history rule), is taken to have happened in relation to it as if it had been an eligible asset etc. of the entity.

Note 1: If the eligible asset etc. was brought into the group when an entity became a subsidiary member, section 701-5 (the entry history rule) would have had the effect that things happening to the eligible asset etc. while it was that of the entity would be taken to have happened as if it was that of the head company. Such things will in turn be taken by this subsection to have happened in relation to the eligible asset etc. as if it were that of the entity that takes the asset out of the group.

Note 2: Other provisions of this Part may affect the tax history that is inherited (e.g. asset cost base history is affected by section 701-45).

701-45 Cost of assets consisting of liabilities owed to entity by members of the group

- (1) If the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, this section has effect for the entity core purposes, so far as they relate to the income year in which the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member or any later income year.

Assets to which section applies

- (2) This section applies in relation to an asset if:
- (a) it becomes an asset of the entity because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group; and
  - (b) the asset consists of a liability owed to the entity by a *member of the group.

Object

- (3) The object of this section is to set the cost of the asset to enable income tax consequences for the entity in respect of the asset to be determined.

Note: In the case of other assets, the fact that the entity inherits their history under section 701-40 when the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group means that the assets would be treated as having the same cost as they would for the head company at that time. However, assets consisting of liabilities do not have such a history because they are only recognised when the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member and the single entity rule ceases to apply.

Setting the asset's tax cost

- (4) The asset's *tax cost is set at the time the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Note 1: If section 701-30 (Where entity not subsidiary member for whole of income year) applies, the time the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member will be treated as the start of an income year.

Note 2: If the entity is a partnership, Subdivision 713-E sets the tax cost of a partner's interest in an asset consisting of a liability that a member of the group owes to the partnership.

701-50 Cost of certain membership interests of which entity becomes holder on leaving group

- (1) If:
- (a) the entity and one or more other entities cease to be *subsidiary members of the group at the same time because of an event happening in relation to one of them; and
  - (b) when the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member, it holds an asset consisting of a *membership interest in any of the other entities;

this section has effect for the entity core purposes.

Object

- (2) The cost of any *membership interest that one of the entities holds in another is to be treated in the same way as membership interests held by the *head company. In both cases the object is to preserve the alignment of costs for membership interests and assets (that was established when each entity became a *subsidiary member) by recognising the cost of those interests, when it ceases to be a subsidiary member, as an amount equal to the cost of the entity's assets at that time reduced by the amount of its liabilities.

---

---

Section 701-55

---

Setting tax cost of membership interests

- (3) The asset's *tax cost is set just before the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Note: If the asset consists of a membership interest in a partnership, Subdivision 713-E sets the tax cost of interests in partnership assets, rather than membership interests in the partnership.

Supporting provisions

701-55 Setting the tax cost of an asset

- (1) This section states the meaning of the expression an asset's tax cost is set at a particular time at the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Depreciating asset provisions

- (2) If any of Subdivisions 40-A to 40-D, sections 40-425 to 40-445 and Subdivision 328-D, and sections 73BA and 73BF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the provisions apply as if:
- (a) the asset were *acquired at the particular time for a payment equal to its *tax cost setting amount; and
  - (b) at that time the same method of working out the decline in value were chosen for the asset as applied to it just before that time; and
  - (c) where just before that time the prime cost method applied for working out the asset's decline in value and the asset's tax cost setting amount does not exceed the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset—at that time an *effective life were chosen for the asset equal to the remainder of the effective life of the asset just before that time; and
  - (d) where just before that time the prime cost method applied for working out the asset's decline in value and the asset's *tax cost setting amount exceeds the joining entity's terminating value for the asset—the *head company were required to choose at that time an effective life for the asset in accordance with subsections 40-95(1) and (3) and any choice of an effective life determined by the Commissioner were limited to one in force at that time; and

---

- (e) where neither paragraph (c) nor (d) applies—at that time an effective life were chosen for the asset equal to the asset's effective life just before that time.

Trading stock provisions

- (3) If Division 70 is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the Division applies as if the asset were *trading stock at the start of the income year in which the particular time occurs and its *value at that time were equal to its *tax cost setting amount.

Qualifying security provisions

- (4) If Division 16E of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the Division applies as if the asset were acquired at the particular time for a payment equal to the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Capital gain and loss provisions

- (5) If Part 3-1 or 3-3 is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the Part applies as if the asset's *cost base or *reduced cost base were increased or reduced so that the cost base or reduced cost base at the particular time equals the asset's *tax cost setting amount.

Division 230 (financial arrangements)

- (5A) If Division 230 is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the Division applies as if the asset were acquired at the particular time for a payment equal to:
- (a) unless paragraph (b) applies—the asset's *tax cost setting amount; or
  - (b) if the asset's tax cost is set because an entity becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, and Subdivision 230-C (fair value method), Subdivision 230-D (foreign exchange retranslation method) or Subdivision 230-F (reliance on financial reports method) is to apply in relation to the asset—the asset’s *Division 230 starting value at the particular time.

- (5B) To avoid doubt, for the purposes of paragraph (5A)(b), determine the asset’s *Division 230 starting value by reference to the relevant standards (as mentioned in section 230-230, 230-280 or 230-420) that apply in relation to the *head company’s financial report for the income year in which the entity becomes a subsidiary member of the group.

Other provisions

- (6) If any provision of this Act that is not mentioned above is to apply in relation to the asset, the expression means that the provision applies as if the asset’s cost at that time were equal to its *tax cost setting amount.

701-58 Effect of setting the tax cost of an asset that the head company does not hold under the single entity rule

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) the *tax cost of an asset was set at the time (the joining time) an entity became a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, at the asset’s *tax cost setting amount; and
  - (b) ignoring the operation of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule), the entity held the asset at the joining time; and
  - (c) taking into account the operation of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule), the *head company of the group did not hold the asset at the joining time.

Example: A debt owed by a member of the group to the joining entity at the joining time.

- (2) To avoid doubt, the asset’s *tax cost setting amount mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) is not to be taken into account in applying the provisions mentioned in subsections 701-55(2), (3), (4), (5), (5A) and (6) in relation to the asset at and after the joining time.

701-60 Tax cost setting amount

The asset's tax cost setting amount is worked out using this table.

Tax cost setting amount
Item	If the asset's tax cost is set by:	The asset's tax cost setting amount is:
1	section 701-10 (Cost to head company of assets of joining entity)	the amount worked out in accordance with Division 705
2	section 701-15 (Cost to head company of membership interests in entity that leaves group)	the amount worked out in accordance with section 711-15 or 711-55
3	section 701-20 (Cost to head company of assets consisting of certain liabilities owed by entity that leaves group) or section 701-45 (Cost of assets consisting of liabilities owed to entity by members of the group)	the *market value of the asset
4	section 701-50 (Cost of certain membership interests of which entity becomes holder on leaving group)	the amount worked out in accordance with section 711-55

Note 1: The tax cost setting amount of certain interests in partnership assets is worked out under Subdivision 713-E.

Note 2: The tax cost setting amount of certain assets of a life insurance company is worked out under Subdivision 713-L.

701-61 Assets in relation to Division 230 financial arrangement— head company's assessable income or deduction

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) paragraph 701-55(5A)(b) applies in relation to one or more assets of the joining entity.
- (2) Work out if the total of the *Division 230 starting values for those assets exceeds or falls short of the total of their *tax cost setting amounts.

---

---

- (3) If there is an excess, an amount equal to 25% of that excess is included in the *head company's assessable income for:
  - (a) the income year in which the particular time mentioned in subsection 701-55(5A) occurs; and
  - (b) each of the 3 subsequent income years.
- (4) If there is a shortfall, the *head company is entitled to a deduction equal to 25% of that shortfall for:
  - (a) the income year in which the particular time mentioned in subsection 701-55(5A) occurs; and
  - (b) each of the 3 subsequent income years.

701-65 Net income and losses for trusts and partnerships

Net income of partnerships and trusts

- (1) If:
  - (a) another provision of this Division applies for the purpose of:
    - (i) working out the amount of the entity's liability (if any) for income tax calculated by reference to an income year; or
    - (ii) working out the amount of the entity's taxable income for an income year; and
  - (b) the entity is a trust or partnership;the provision instead applies in a corresponding way for the purpose of working out the amount of the entity's net income, as defined in the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, (if any) for the income year.

Note: Subsection 701-30(3) requires non-membership periods mentioned in that subsection to be treated as the start and end of an income year. This section would therefore also apply to those periods.

Partnership losses

- (2) If:
  - (a) another provision of this Division applies for the purpose of working out the amount of the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort for an income year; and
  - (b) the entity is a partnership;

the provision instead applies in a corresponding way for the purpose of working out the amount of an entity's partnership loss, as defined in section 90 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, (if any) for the income year.

Note: The provision applies normally to a trust, as it can have a loss of any sort worked out in the same way as a loss of the same sort for an entity of another kind.

Exceptions

701-70 Adjustments to taxable income where identities of parties to arrangement merge on joining group

Section applies to certain arrangements

- (1) This section applies for the head company core purposes and the entity core purposes if, just before the time (the joining time) when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group, an *arrangement is in force under which:
- (a) expenditure is to be, or has been, incurred in return for the doing of some thing; and
  - (b) the persons incurring the expenditure and *deriving the corresponding amount (each of which is a combining entity) are the entity and either:
    - (i) another entity that became a subsidiary member at the same time; or
    - (ii) the *head company.

Note 1: If expenditure incurred under an arrangement consists of a payment of loan interest or a payment of a similar kind, the expenditure would be incurred in return for the making available or continued making available of the loan principal, or other amount of a similar kind, under the arrangement.

Note 2: If expenditure incurred under an arrangement consists of a payment of rent, a lease payment or a payment of a similar kind, the expenditure would be incurred in return for the making available or continued making available of the thing rented or leased, or other thing of a similar kind, under the arrangement.

Note 3: If expenditure incurred under an arrangement consists of a payment of an insurance premium or a payment of a similar kind, the expenditure would be incurred in return for the provision or continued provision of insurance against the risk concerned, or of a thing of a similar kind, under the arrangement.

Object

- (2) The object of this section is to align the income tax position of the combining entities at the joining time, because after that time they lose their separate tax identities under the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1) and this would preserve any imbalance.

Adjustment for disproportionate deductibility

- (3) If the total of a combining entity's deductions that are allowable for:
- (a) the following income year (the joining adjustment year):
    - (i) if the combining entity is the *head company and the joining time occurs at the start of an income year—the income year before that income year;
    - (ii) if the combining entity is the head company and subparagraph (i) does not apply—the income year in which the joining time occurs;
    - (iii) in any other case—the income year that ends, or, if section 701-30 applies, the income year that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to end, at the joining time; and
  - (b) all earlier income years;
- is not equal to the amount worked out under subsection (4), then:
- (c) if the total is less—the entity is entitled to deduct the difference for the joining adjustment year; and
  - (d) if it is more—the entity's assessable income for the joining adjustment year includes the difference.

Pre-joining time proportion of total arrangement deductions

- (4) The amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Pre-joining time services proportion} \times \text{Total arrangement deductions}$$

where:

---

pre-joining time services proportion means the proportion of all things to be done under the arrangement in return for the incurring of the expenditure represented by those things that were done before the joining time.

total arrangement deductions means the total of the deductions that, ignoring this Part (other than subsection (7) of this section), would be allowable for expenditure incurred by the combining entity under the arrangement for all income years.

Adjustment for disproportionate assessability

- (5) If the total of the amounts included in a combining entity's assessable income in respect of amounts *derived under the arrangement for the joining adjustment year and all earlier income years is not equal to the amount worked out under subsection (6):
- (a) if the total is less—the entity's assessable income for the joining adjustment year includes the difference; and
  - (b) if it is more—the entity is entitled to deduct the difference for the joining adjustment year.

Pre-joining time proportion of total arrangement assessable income

- (6) The amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Pre-joining time services proportion} \times \frac{\text{Total arrangement assessable income}}{\text{Total arrangement assessable income}}$$

where:

pre-joining time services proportion has the same meaning as in subsection (4).

total arrangement assessable income means the total of the amounts that, ignoring this Part (other than subsection (7) of this section), would be included in the combining entity's assessable income for amounts *derived by it under the arrangement for all income years.

Section 701-75

---

Modified application of section if combining entities previously members of same group

- (7) If the combining entities were *members of the same *consolidated group (whether or not the group to which this section applies) on one or more previous occasions, this section applies in relation to the entities as if:
- (a) the only things to be done under the arrangement in return for the incurring of the expenditure were those things to be done after the entities ceased to be members of the same group on the previous occasion or the last of the previous occasions; and
  - (b) the only deductions allowable to an entity for expenditure incurred by it under the arrangement, and the only amounts included in an entity's assessable income in respect of amounts *derived under the arrangement, were:
    - (i) if the entity was the *head company of the consolidated group of which the combining entities were members on the previous occasion or last of the previous occasions—those for the income year, in which the previous occasion or the last of the previous occasions occurred, that are attributable to the period after that occasion and those for all later income years; and
    - (ii) in any other case—those for the income year that started, or, if section 701-30 applies, the income year that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to have started, when the entity ceased to be a *subsidiary member of the group on the previous occasion or the last of the previous occasions and those for all later income years.

701-75 Adjustments to taxable income where identities of parties to arrangement re-emerge on leaving group

- (1) This section applies for the head company core purposes and the entity core purposes if the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group and, just before the time (the leaving time) when it does so, an *arrangement is in force under which:

- (a) expenditure is to be, or has been, incurred in return for the doing of some thing; and
- (b) the persons incurring the expenditure and *deriving the corresponding amount (each of which is a separating entity) are the entity and either:
  - (i) another entity that ceases to be a subsidiary member at the same time; or
  - (ii) the *head company.

Note: The notes to subsection 701-70(1) on the application of that subsection to expenditure under certain kinds of arrangements are equally applicable for the purposes of this subsection.

Object

- (2) The object of this section is to align the income tax position of the separating entities at the leaving time, because from that time they have separate tax identities as a result of the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1) ceasing to apply, and this may create an imbalance.

Adjustment for disproportionate deductibility

- (3) If the total of the deductions that are or will be allowable for expenditure incurred by the separating entity under the arrangement for:
  - (a) the following income year (the leaving adjustment year):
    - (i) if the separating entity is the *head company—the income year in which the leaving time occurs;
    - (ii) in any other case—the income year that starts, or, if section 701-30 applies, the income year that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to start, at the leaving time; and
  - (b) all later income years;

is not equal to the amount worked out under subsection (4), the deductions are adjusted so that they do equal the amount.

---

Section 701-75

---

Post-leaving time proportion of total arrangement deductions

- (4) The amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Post-leaving time services proportion} \times \text{Total arrangement deductions}$$

where:

post-leaving time services proportion means the proportion of all things to be done under the arrangement in return for the incurring of the expenditure represented by those things that are to be done after the leaving time.

total arrangement deductions means the total of the deductions that, ignoring this Part, would be allowable for expenditure incurred by the separating entity under the arrangement for all income years.

Adjustment for disproportionate assessability

- (5) If the total of the amounts that are or will be included in its assessable income in respect of amounts *derived under the arrangement for the leaving adjustment year and all later income years is not equal to the amount worked out under subsection (6), the amounts that are or will be included in its assessable income are adjusted so that they do equal the amount worked out under subsection (6).

Post-leaving time proportion of total arrangement assessable income

- (6) The amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Post-leaving time services proportion} \times \text{Total arrangement assessable income}$$

where:

post-leaving time services proportion has the same meaning as in subsection (4).

total arrangement assessable income means the total of the amounts that, ignoring this Part, would be included in the separating entity's assessable income for amounts *derived by it under the arrangement for all income years.

701-80 Accelerated depreciation

- (1) This section has effect for the head company core purposes when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group.

Object

- (2) The object of this section is to preserve any entitlement to accelerated depreciation for assets that become those of the *head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group. This is only to apply where the asset's *tax cost setting amount is not more than the entity's *terminating value for the asset.

Section applies to certain depreciating assets

- (3) This section applies if:
- (a) a *depreciating asset to which Division 40 applies becomes that of the *head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group; and
  - (b) just before the entity became a subsidiary member, subsection 40-10(3) or 40-12(3) of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 applied for the purpose of the entity working out the asset's decline in value under Division 40; and
- Note: The effect of those subsections was to preserve an entitlement to accelerated depreciation.
- (c) the *tax cost setting amount that applies in relation to the asset for the purposes of section 701-10 when it becomes an asset of the head company is not more than the entity's *terminating value for the asset.

---

Section 701-85

---

Preservation of accelerated depreciation

- (4) While the asset is held by the *head company under subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule), the decline in its value under Division 40 is worked out by replacing the component in the formula in subsection 40-70(1) or 40-75(1) that includes the asset's *effective life with the rate that would apply under subsection 42-160(1) or 42-165(1) of this Act if it had not been amended by the New Business Tax System (Capital Allowances) Act 2001.

701-85 Other exceptions etc. to the rules

The operation of each provision of this Division is subject to any provision of this Act that so requires, either expressly or impliedly.

Note: An example of such a provision is Division 707 (about the transfer of certain losses to the head company of a consolidated group). That Division modifies the effect that the inheritance of history rule in section 701-5 would otherwise have.

A consolidatable group becomes consolidated at a time chosen by the company that was the head company at the time.

Basic concepts

703-5 What is a consolidated group?

(1) A consolidated group comes into existence:

- (a) on the day specified in a choice by a company under section 703-50 as the day on and after which a *consolidatable group is taken to be consolidated; or
- (b) as described in section 703-55 (about creating a consolidated group from a *MEC group).

Note: The day specified in a choice under section 703-50 as the day on and after which a consolidatable group is taken to be consolidated may be a day before the choice is made.

(2) The consolidated group continues to exist until the *head company of the group:

- (a) ceases to be a head company; or
- (b) becomes a member of a *MEC group.

The consolidated group ceases to exist when one of those events happens to the head company.

Note: The group does not cease to exist in some cases where a shelf company is interposed between the head company and its former members: see subsection 124-380(5) and section 703-70.

- (3) At any time while it is in existence, the consolidated group consists of the *head company and all of the *subsidiary members (if any) of the group at the time.

Note: A consolidated group continues to exist despite one or more entities ceasing to be subsidiary members of the group or becoming subsidiaries of the group, as long as the events described in subsection (2) do not happen to the head company. Thus a consolidated group may come to consist of a head company alone at various times.

703-10 What is a consolidatable group?

- (1) A consolidatable group consists of:
- (a) a single *head company; and
  - (b) all the *subsidiary members of the group.
- (2) To avoid doubt, a consolidatable group cannot consist of a *head company alone.

703-15 Members of a consolidated group or consolidatable group

- (1) An entity is a member of a *consolidated group or *consolidatable group while the entity is:
- (a) the *head company of the group; or
  - (b) a *subsidiary member of the group.
- (2) At a particular time in an income year, an entity is:
- (a) a head company if all the requirements in item 1 of the table are met in relation to the entity; or
  - (b) a subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *consolidatable group if all the requirements in item 2 of the table are met in relation to the entity:

703-20 Certain entities that cannot be members of a consolidated group or consolidatable group

- (1) The object of this section is to specify certain entities that cannot be *members of a *consolidated group because of the way their income is treated for income tax purposes.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 703-20

- (2) An entity of a kind specified in an item of the table cannot be a *member of a *consolidated group or a *consolidatable group at a time in an income year if the conditions specified in the item exist:

Certain entities that cannot be members of a consolidated or consolidatable group

Item	An entity of this kind:	Cannot be a member of a consolidated group or consolidatable group if:
1	An entity of any kind	At the time, the total *ordinary income and *statutory income of the entity is exempt from income tax under Division 50
2	A company	The company is a recognised medium credit union (as defined in section 6H of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 ) for the income year

6	A company	The company is a *film licensed investment company at the time
7	A trust	The trust is: (a) a *complying superannuation entity for the income year; or (b) a *non-complying approved deposit fund or a *non-complying superannuation fund for the income year

Note: A subsidiary of a life insurance company cannot be a member of a consolidated group or consolidatable group in certain circumstances: see section 713-510.

703-25 Australian residence requirements for trusts

A trust described in an item of the table must meet the requirements specified in the item to be able to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or a *consolidatable group at a time in an income year:

Australian residence requirements for trusts
Item	A trust of this kind:	Can be a member of a consolidated group or consolidatable group only if these requirements are met:
1	A trust (except a unit trust)	The trust must be a resident trust estate for the income year for the purposes of Division 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936
2	A unit trust (except a *corporate unit trust or a *public trading trust for the income year)	The trust must be: (a) a resident trust estate for the income year for the purposes of Division 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 ; and (b) a *resident trust for CGT purposes for the income year
3	A *corporate unit trust or a *public trading trust for the income year	The trust must be a *resident unit trust for the income year

703-30 When is one entity a wholly-owned subsidiary of another?

- (1) One entity (the subsidiary entity) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of another entity (the holding entity) if all the *membership interests in the subsidiary entity are beneficially owned by:
  - (a) the holding entity; or
  - (b) one or more wholly-owned subsidiaries of the holding entity; or
  - (c) the holding entity and one or more wholly-owned subsidiaries of the holding entity.
- (2) An entity (other than the subsidiary entity) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the holding entity if, and only if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 703-33

---

- (a) it is a wholly-owned subsidiary of the holding entity; or
- (b) it is a wholly-owned subsidiary of a wholly-owned subsidiary of the holding entity; because of any other application or applications of this section.

Note: This Part also operates in some cases as if an entity were a wholly-owned subsidiary of another entity, even though the entity is not covered by the definition in this section because of:

- (a) ownership of shares under certain arrangements for employee shareholding (see section 703-35); or
  - (aa) ownership of certain preference shares following an ADI restructure (see section 703-37); or
  - (b) interposed trusts that are not fixed trusts (see section 703-40).
- (3) For the purposes of this section, one entity is not prevented from being the beneficial owner of a *membership interest in another entity merely because the first entity is or becomes:
- (a) an externally-administered body corporate within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001; or
  - (b) an entity with a status under a *foreign law similar to the status of an externally-administered body corporate under the Corporations Act 2001.

703-33 Transfer time for sale of shares in company

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) under a contract:
    - (i) a person (the seller) stops being entitled to be registered as the holder of a *share in a company at a time (the transfer time); and
    - (ii) another person (the buyer) becomes entitled to be registered as the holder of the share in the company at the transfer time; and
  - (b) as a result of the contract, the seller stops being the beneficial owner of the share, and the buyer becomes the beneficial owner of the share; and
  - (c) the seller and the buyer dealt with each other at *arm's length in relation to the contract; and

---

---

- (d) the seller and the buyer were not *associates of one another at any time during the period:
  - (i) starting when the contract was entered into; and
  - (ii) ending at the transfer time.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection 703-30(1):
  - (a) the seller is taken to have stopped being the beneficial owner of the share at the transfer time; and
  - (b) the buyer is taken to have become the beneficial owner of the share at the transfer time.

703-35 Treating entities as wholly-owned subsidiaries by disregarding employee shares

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that an entity (the first entity) is not prevented from being a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *consolidatable group just because there are minor holdings of *membership interests in an entity (the employee share scheme entity) issued under *arrangements for employee shareholdings. (It does not matter whether the employee share scheme entity is the first entity or is interposed between the first entity and a *member of the group.)

Note: A company that is prevented from being a subsidiary member of a consolidated group may be a head company (so there could be 2 consolidated or consolidatable groups, instead of the one that this section ensures exists).

- (2) This Part (except Division 719) operates as if an entity that meets the requirement of subsection (3) at a particular time were a *wholly-owned subsidiary of an entity (the holding entity) at the time.
- (3) The entity must be one that would be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the holding entity at the time if the *membership interests in the entity that are to be disregarded under subsection (4) did not exist.
- (4) Disregard:
  - (a) each of the *shares described in subsection (5) if the total number of those shares is not more than 1% of the number of ordinary shares in the company; and

---

---

Section 703-35

---

- (b) each of the *membership interests in an entity described in subsection (7) if the total number of those membership interests is not more than 1% of the number of membership interests of that kind in the entity.
- (5) A *share in a company that is beneficially owned by an entity may be disregarded under subsection (4) if:
  - (a) the entity acquired (as defined in section 139G of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) the share either:
    - (i) in the circumstances described in subsection 139C(1) or (2) of that Act; or
    - (ii) by exercising a right the entity acquired (as so defined) in those circumstances; and
  - (b) all the shares in the company available for acquisition in those circumstances are ordinary shares and all the rights available for acquisition in those circumstances are rights to acquire ordinary shares; and
  - (c) if the entity acquired the share in those circumstances—at the time of the acquisition, at least 75% of the permanent employees (as defined in section 139GB of that Act) of the employer (as defined in section 139GA of that Act) were or had earlier been entitled to acquire in those circumstances:
    - (i) shares in the company or rights to acquire shares in the company; or
    - (ii) shares in a holding company (as defined in section 139GC of that Act) of the company or rights to acquire such shares; and
  - (d) the conditions in subsections 139CD(6) and (7) of that Act are met in relation to the acquisition of the share by the entity; and
  - (e) the company is not covered by section 139DF of that Act.

Note: Section 139CD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 sets out certain preconditions for shares and rights acquired under employee share schemes to be qualifying shares and qualifying rights. Section 139C of that Act explains when a share or right is acquired under an employee share scheme. Section 139DF prevents shares and rights relating to certain companies from being qualifying shares and rights.

---

---

- (6) The *share may be disregarded under subsection (4) even though the condition in paragraph (5)(c) is not met, if:
- (a) the conditions in paragraphs (5)(a), (b), (d) and (e) are met; and
  - (b) the Commissioner has made a determination under subsection 139CD(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to the share.
- (7) A *membership interest of a particular kind in an entity that is beneficially owned by another entity may be disregarded under subsection (4) if:
- (a) the membership interest forms part of a stapled security (within the meaning of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); and
  - (b) the stapled security is treated as a *qualifying share because of Subdivision DB of that Division.

Note: The kinds of membership interest that form part of a stapled security are an ordinary share and one or more other interests that are either shares or units in a unit trust: see section 139GCD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

703-37 Disregarding certain preference shares following an ADI restructure

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, following an *ADI restructure to which Part 4A of the Financial Sector (Business Transfer and Group Restructure) Act 1999 applies, a body corporate is not prevented from being a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *consolidatable group just because the body (or another body corporate) has issued, or issues, certain preference *shares.
- (2) This Part (except Division 719) operates as if a body corporate that meets the requirement of subsection (3) at a particular time were a *wholly-owned subsidiary of another body corporate (the holding body) at the time.
- (3) The body corporate (the preference-share issuing body) must be one that would be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the holding body at the time if the *shares in the preference share-issuing body that are to be disregarded under subsection (4) did not exist.

Section 703-37

- (4) Disregard a *share in the preference-share issuing body if:
- (a) a restructure instrument under Part 4A of the Financial Sector (Business Transfer and Group Restructure) Act 1999 is in force in relation to a non-operating holding company within the meaning of that Act; and
  - (b) because of the restructure to which the instrument relates, an *ADI becomes a subsidiary (within the meaning of that Act) of the non-operating holding company; and
  - (c) the preference share-issuing body is:
    - (i) the ADI; or
    - (ii) part of an extended licensed entity (within the meaning of the *prudential standards) that includes the ADI; and
  - (d) the shares are covered by subsection (5).
- (5) A *share is covered by this subsection if:
- (a) the share is a preference share; and
  - (b) any *return on the share is fixed at the time of issue by reference to the amount subscribed; and
  - (c) the share is not a *voting share; and
  - (d) either:
    - (i) the share is Tier 1 capital (within the meaning of the *prudential standards); or
    - (ii) the share would be Tier 1 capital (within the meaning of the prudential standards) were it not for a limit, imposed by those standards, on the proportion of Tier 1 capital that can be made up of such shares.
- (6) Paragraph (5)(a) covers a preference share if it is issued:
- (a) by itself; or
  - (b) in combination with one or more *schemes that are *related schemes in relation to a scheme under which a preference share is issued.
- (7) If subsection (5) has covered a *share, but would (apart from this subsection) stop covering the share from a particular time, then for a period of 180 days after that time the subsection is taken to continue to cover the share.

703-40 Treating entities held through non-fixed trusts as wholly-owned subsidiaries

- (1) This section operates to ensure that an entity (the test entity) is not prevented from being a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *consolidatable group just because there is a trust that is not a *fixed trust interposed between the test entity and the *head company of the group.
- (2) This Part (except Division 719) operates as if the test entity were a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *head company if the test entity would have been a wholly-owned subsidiary of the head company had the interposed trust been a *fixed trust and all its objects been beneficiaries.

703-45 Subsidiary members or nominees interposed between the head company and a subsidiary member of a consolidated group or a consolidatable group

- (1) This section describes, for the purposes of item 2, column 4 of the table in subsection 703-15(2), a set of requirements that must be met for an entity (the test entity) to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or a *consolidatable group at a particular time (the test time).
- (2) At the test time, each of the interposed entities must either:
  - (a) be a *subsidiary member of the group; or
  - (b) hold *membership interests in:
    - (i) the test entity; or
    - (ii) a subsidiary member of the group interposed between the *head company of the group and the test entity; only as a nominee of one or more entities each of which is a *member of the group.

Choice to consolidate a consolidatable group

703-50 Choice to consolidate a consolidatable group

- (1) A company may make a choice in the *approved form given to the Commissioner within the period described in subsection (3) that a *consolidatable group is taken to be consolidated on and after a day that is specified in the choice and is after 30 June 2002, if the company was the *head company of the group on the day specified.

Choice is irrevocable

- (2) The choice cannot be revoked, and the specification of the day cannot be amended, after the choice is made under subsection (1).

Period for giving choice to Commissioner

- (3) The period for giving the choice to the Commissioner:
- (a) starts at the start of the day specified in the choice; and
  - (b) ends at the end of:
    - (i) the day on which the company gives the Commissioner its *income tax return for the income year during which the day specified in the choice occurs; or
    - (ii) the last day in the period within which the company would be required to give the Commissioner such a return if it were required to give the Commissioner such a return.

Choice has no effect after consolidated group ceases to exist

- (4) The choice does not have effect after the *consolidated group that came into existence because of the choice ceases to exist. To avoid doubt, this subsection does not prevent the choice from:
- (a) being made by the company at a time when it is not a head company; or
  - (b) having effect in relation to a time before the consolidated group ceased to exist, even if that time is before the choice is made.

---

Choice does not have effect if it contains wrong information

- (5) The choice does not have effect (and is taken not to have had effect) if the Commissioner is satisfied that the choice contains information that is incorrect in a material particular.

Commissioner may give effect to choice despite wrong information

- (6) Subsection (5) does not prevent the choice from having effect (and being taken to have had effect) if the Commissioner gives the company written notice that the choice has effect despite the incorrect information.

Note: Subsection (6) does not let the Commissioner make the choice effective if it did not have effect because it was not made in accordance with subsection (1). This could have happened if:

- (a) the choice was not in the approved form (for example because it did not include information the Commissioner required (whether in the form or otherwise)); or
- (b) the choice was not given to the Commissioner within the period described in subsection (3); or
- (c) the company was not the head company of a consolidatable group on the day specified in the choice.

Choice does not have effect if company is a member of a MEC group

- (7) The choice does not have effect (and is taken not to have had effect) if, on the day specified, the company was a member of a *MEC group.

Consolidated group created when MEC group ceases to exist

703-55 Creating consolidated groups from certain MEC groups

- (1) A *consolidated group comes into existence at the time a *MEC group ceases to exist if:
- (a) the MEC group included only one *eligible tier-1 company just before the time; and
  - (b) the MEC group ceases to exist only because the company ceases to be an eligible tier-1 company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 703-60

---

- (c) the company is a *head company as defined in section 703-15 at the time.
- (2) To avoid doubt, the *consolidated group consists at the time of:
  - (a) the company (as the *head company of the consolidated group); and
  - (b) every entity (if any) that was a *subsidiary member of the *MEC group just before that time (as a subsidiary member of the consolidated group).

Notice of events affecting consolidated group

703-60 Notice of events affecting consolidated group

- (1) Within 28 days of an event described in an item of the table, the entity described in column 3 of the item must give the Commissioner notice in the *approved form of the event.

Notice of events
Column 1	Column 2	Column 3
Item	If this event happens:	Notice must be given by:
1	An entity becomes a *member of a *consolidated group	The *head company of the consolidated group
2	An entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group	The *head company of the group, or the person who was its public officer just before it ceased to exist if the former subsidiary member ceases to be a *member of the group because the head company ceases to exist

- (2) Despite subsection (1), if:
- (a) an event described in subsection (1) happens in relation to a *consolidated group that comes into existence on the day specified in a choice under section 703-50; and
  - (b) the event happens more than 28 days before the choice is made;
- the *head company of the consolidated group must give the Commissioner notice in the *approved form of the event at the same time as the choice is made.
- (3) Despite subsection (1), if:
- (a) an event described in subsection (1) happens in relation to a *consolidated group that comes into existence at a time under subsection 703-55(1) because a *MEC group ceased to exist at that time; and
  - (b) the *MEC group came into existence under paragraph 719-5(1)(a) because a notice of choice under section 719-50 is given after that time; and
  - (c) the event happens more than 28 days before the notice of choice is given;
- the *head company of the consolidated group must give the Commissioner notice in the *approved form of the event at the same time as the notice of choice is given.

Effects of choice to continue group after shelf company becomes new head company

703-65 Application

Sections 703-70 to 703-80 set out the effects if a company (the interposed company) chooses under subsection 124-380(5) that a *consolidated group is to continue in existence at and after the time referred to in that subsection as the completion time.

Note: The choice is one of the conditions for a compulsory roll-over under Subdivision 124-G on an exchange of shares in the head company of a consolidated group for shares in the interposed company.

---

Section 703-70

703-70 Consolidated group continues in existence with interposed company as head company and original company as a subsidiary member

- (1) The *consolidated group is taken not to have ceased to exist under subsection 703-5(2) because the company referred to in subsection 124-380(5) as the original company ceases to be the *head company of the group.
- (2) To avoid doubt, the interposed company is taken to have become the *head company of the *consolidated group at the completion time, and the original company is taken to have ceased to be the head company at that time.

Note: A further result is that the original company is taken to have become a subsidiary member of the group at that time. Section 703-80 deals with the original company's tax position for the income year that includes the completion time.

- (3) A provision of this Part that applies on an entity becoming a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group does not apply to an entity being taken to have become such a member as a result of this section, unless the provision is expressed to apply despite this subsection.

Note: An example of the effect of this subsection is that there is no resetting under section 701-10 of the tax cost of assets of the original company that become assets of the interposed company because of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule).

- (4) To avoid doubt, subsection (3) does not affect the application of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule).

703-75 Interposed company treated as substituted for original company at all times before the completion time

- (1) Everything that happened in relation to the original company before the completion time:
  - (a) is taken to have happened in relation to the interposed company instead of in relation to the original company; and
  - (b) is taken to have happened in relation to the interposed company instead of what would (apart from this section) be taken to have happened in relation to the interposed company before that time;

---

just as if, at all times before the completion time:

- (c) the interposed company had been the original company; and
- (d) the original company had been the interposed company.

Note: This section treats the original company and the interposed company as having in effect exchanged identities throughout the period before the completion time, but without affecting any of the original company's other attributes.

(2) To avoid doubt, subsection (1) also covers everything that, immediately before the completion time, was taken, because of:

- (a) section 701-1 (Single entity rule); or
- (b) section 701-5 (Entry history rule); or
- (c) one or more previous applications of this section; or
- (d) section 719-90 (about the effects of a change of head company of a MEC group); to have happened in relation to the original company.

(3) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect:

- (a) for the head company core purposes in relation to an income year ending after the completion time; and
- (b) for the entity core purposes in relation to an income year ending after the completion time; and
- (c) for the purposes of determining the respective balances of the *franking accounts of the original company and the interposed company at and after the completion time.

(4) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect subject to:

- (a) section 701-40 (Exit history rule); and
- (b) a provision of this Act to which section 701-40 is subject because of section 701-85 (about exceptions to the core rules in Division 701).

Note: An example of provisions covered by paragraph (b) of this subsection is Subdivision 717-E (about transferring to a company leaving a consolidated group various surpluses under the CFC and FIF rules in Parts X and XI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).

703-80 Effects on the original company's tax position

In applying section 701-30 to the original company for the income year that includes the completion time, disregard a non-membership period that starts before the completion time.

Note 1: Section 701-30 is about working out an entity's tax position for a period when it is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group. Its application can also affect the entity's tax position in later income years.

Note 2: Under section 703-75 the interposed company inherits the original company's tax position for the part of the income year that ends before the completion time, with the consequence that the original company's taxable income, income tax payable, and losses of any sort, for that part are each nil.

Because of section 703-75 and this section, the only tax payable by the original company for the income year arises because of the application of section 701-30 to non-membership periods in the income year after the completion time.

Guide to Subdivision 705-A

705-5 What this Subdivision is about

When an entity becomes a subsidiary member of an existing consolidated group, the tax cost setting amount for its assets reflects the cost to the group of acquiring the entity.

How to work out a pre-CGT factor for assets of joining entity

- 705-125 Pre-CGT factor for assets of joining entity

Application and object*705-10 Application and object of this SubdivisionApplication*

- (1) This Subdivision has effect, subject to section 705-15, for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) if an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the joined group) at a particular time (the joining time).

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is to recognise the *head company's cost of becoming the holder of the joining entity's assets as an amount reflecting the group's cost of acquiring the entity. That amount consists of the cost of the group's *membership interests in the joining entity, increased by the joining entity's liabilities and adjusted to take account of the joining entity's retained profits, distributions of profits, deductions and losses.
- (3) The reason for recognising the *head company's cost in this way is to align the costs of assets with the costs of *membership interests, and to allow for the preservation of this alignment until the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member, in order to:

Section 705-15

- (a) prevent double taxation of gains and duplication of losses; and
- (b) remove the need to adjust costs of membership interests in response to transactions that shift value between them, as the required adjustments occur automatically.

Note: Under Division 711, the alignment is preserved by recognising the head company's cost of membership interests in the entity if it ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group as the cost of its assets reduced by its liabilities.

705-15 Cases where this Subdivision does not have effect

This Subdivision does not have effect if any of the following exceptions applies:

- (a) the first exception is where the joining entity becomes a *member of the joined group because it is a member of that group at the time it comes into existence as a *consolidated group;

Note: See Subdivision 705-B for rules about the treatment of assets if entities become members in circumstances covered by this exception.

- (b) the second exception is where all of the members of another consolidated group become members of the joined group as a result of the *acquisition of *membership interests in the *head company of the joining group;

Note: See Subdivision 705-C for rules about the treatment of assets if entities become members in circumstances covered by this exception.

- (c) the third exception is where:
  - (i) the joining entity and one or more other entities become members of the joined group at the same time as a result of an event that happens in relation to one of them; and
  - (ii) the case is not covered by the second exception;

Note: See Subdivision 705-D for rules about the treatment of assets if entities become members in circumstances covered by this exception.

Tax cost setting amount for assets that joining entity brings into joined group

705-20 Tax cost setting amount worked out under this Subdivision

If this Subdivision has effect, for the purposes of item 1 in the table in section 701-60 (Tax cost setting amount) the *tax cost setting amount for an asset whose *tax cost is set at the time the joining entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the joined group is worked out under this Subdivision.

705-25 Tax cost setting amount for retained cost base assets

- (1) This section states what the *tax cost setting amount is for a *retained cost base asset.

Australian currency

- (2) If the *retained cost base asset is covered by paragraph (a) or (b) of the definition of that expression and is not covered by another subsection of this section, its *tax cost setting amount is equal to the amount of the Australian currency concerned.

Qualifying securities

- (3) If the *retained cost base asset is a qualifying security (within the meaning of Division 16E of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936), the *tax cost setting amount for the qualifying security is instead equal to the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset.

Entitlements to pre-paid services etc.

- (4) If the *retained cost base asset is covered by paragraph (c) of the definition of that expression, its *tax cost setting amount is equal to the amount of the deductions to which the *head company is entitled under section 701-5 (the entry history rule) in respect of the expenditure that gave rise to the entitlement.

Note: If the total amount to be treated as tax cost setting amounts for retained cost base assets exceeds the joined group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity, the head company makes a capital gain equal to the excess: see CGT event L3.

Financial arrangements to which Subdivision 250-E applies

- (4A) The *tax cost setting amount is instead equal to the joining entity's *terminating value for the *retained cost base asset if the asset is a *financial arrangement to which Subdivision 250-E applies immediately before the joining time.

Retained cost base asset

- (5) A retained cost base asset is:

- (a) Australian currency, other than *trading stock or *collectables of the joining entity; or
- (b) a right to receive a specified amount of such Australian currency, other than a right that is a marketable security within the meaning of section 70B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or

Example: A debt or a bank deposit.

- (c) a right to have something done under an *arrangement under which:
  - (i) expenditure has been incurred in return for the doing of the thing; and
  - (ii) the thing is required or permitted to be done, or to cease being done, after the expenditure is incurred.

Note 1: There are some additional retained cost base assets for a joining entity that is a life insurance company: see Subdivision 713-L. The tax cost setting amount for those assets is worked out under that Subdivision.

Note 2: The joining entity's right to receive lease payments under a finance lease is treated as a retained cost base asset in some circumstances (see paragraph 705-56(3)(b)).

705-30 What is the joining entity's terminating value for an asset?

Trading stock

- (1) If an asset of the joining entity is *trading stock, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 705-30

- (a) if the asset was on hand at the start of the income year in which the joining time occurs (including because of the operation of Division 701)—its *value at that time; or
- (b) if paragraph (a) does not apply and the asset is *livestock that was acquired by natural increase—the *cost of the asset; or
- (c) in any other case—the amount of the outgoing incurred by the joining entity in connection with the acquisition of the asset; increased by the amount of any outgoing forming part of the cost of the asset that is incurred by the joining entity during its current holding of the asset.

Qualifying securities

- (2) If an asset of the joining entity is a qualifying security (within the meaning of Division 16E of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) that is not *trading stock, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is equal to the amount of consideration that the joining entity would need to receive, if it were to dispose of the asset just before the joining time, without an amount being assessable income of, or deductible to, the joining entity under section 159GS of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Depreciating assets

- (3) If an asset of the joining entity is a *depreciating asset to which Division 40 applies, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is equal to the asset's *adjustable value just before the joining time.

Financial arrangements to which Subdivision 250-E applies

- (3A) If an asset of the joining entity is a *financial arrangement to which Subdivision 250-E applies, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is equal to the amount of consideration that the joining entity would need to receive, if it were to dispose of the asset just before the joining time, without an amount being assessable income of, or deductible to, the joining entity under Subdivision 250-E.

Section 705-35

Division 230 financial arrangements

- (3B) If an asset of the joining entity is or is part of a *Division 230 financial arrangement, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is equal to the amount of consideration that the joining entity would need to receive, if it were to dispose of the asset just before the joining time, without an amount being assessable income of, or deductible to, the joining entity under Division 230.

Other CGT assets

- (4) If an asset of the joining entity is a *CGT asset that is not covered by any of the above subsections, the joining entity's terminating value for the asset is equal to the asset's *cost base just before the joining time.

Other assets

- (5) The joining entity's terminating value for any other asset that it holds is the amount that would be the asset's *cost base just before the joining time if it were an asset covered by subsection (4).

705-35 Tax cost setting amount for reset cost base assets

- (1) For each asset of the joining entity (a reset cost base asset) that is not a *retained cost base asset or an asset (an excluded asset) covered by subsection (2), the asset's *tax cost setting amount is worked out by:
- (a) first working out the joined group's *allocable cost amount for the joining entity in accordance with section 705-60; and
  - (b) then reducing that amount by the total of the *tax cost setting amounts in accordance with section 705-25 for each retained cost base asset (but not below zero); and
  - (c) finally, allocating the result to each of the joining entity's reset cost base assets (other than excluded assets) in proportion to their *market values.

Note 1: For an asset consisting of an entitlement to receive an amount that will be included in assessable income, the market value of the asset would take into account the tax payable on the amount.

---

Note 1A: If a set of linked assets and liabilities includes one or more reset cost base assets, section 705-59 may affect how this section applies. In particular, that section may exclude the application of paragraph 705-35(1)(b) to retained cost base assets in the set; this in turn may affect the application of CGT event L3.

Note 2: If there are no reset cost base assets, the result is instead treated as a capital loss of the head company: see CGT event L4.

Excluded assets

- (2) An asset is covered by this subsection if, under any of the steps in the table in section 705-60, the joined group's *allocable cost amount for the joining entity is reduced by an amount in respect of the asset.

Note: An example is an entitlement to a deduction, for which there is a reduction under step 2 in the table.

Goodwill resulting from ownership and control of the joining entity

- (3) If, just after the joining time, the *head company has, because of its ownership and control of the joining entity, a goodwill asset associated with assets or businesses of the joined group:
- (a) for the head company core purposes, the asset's *tax cost is set at the joining time at its *tax cost setting amount; and
  - (b) for the purpose of doing so:
    - (i) the asset is taken to be an asset of the joining entity that becomes an asset of the head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies; and
    - (ii) it is taken to have a *market value just before the joining time of an amount equal to its market value just after the joining time.

705-40 Tax cost setting amount for reset cost base assets held on revenue account

- (1) The *tax cost setting amount for a reset cost base asset that is *trading stock, a *depreciating asset or a *revenue asset must not exceed the greater of:
- (a) the asset's *market value; and
  - (b) the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset.

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-90 Consolidated groups

Division 705 Tax cost setting amount for assets where entities become subsidiary members of consolidated groups

- (2) If subsection (1) reduces the asset's *tax cost setting amount, the amount of the reduction is allocated among the other reset cost base assets (including other *trading stock, *depreciating assets and *revenue assets) other than excluded assets, so as to increase their tax cost setting amounts, in accordance with the principles set out in subsection (3).

Note: If any of the amount of the reduction cannot be allocated, it is instead treated as a capital loss of the head company: see CGT event L8.

- (3) These are the principles:
- (a) the allocation is to be in proportion to the *market values of the assets;
  - (b) the amount allocated to an item of *trading stock, to a *depreciating asset or to a *revenue asset must not cause its *tax cost setting amount to contravene subsection (1);
  - (c) any of the amount that cannot be allocated is to be reallocated, to the maximum extent possible, among the remaining reset cost base assets (other than excluded assets) by applying this subsection a further one or more times.

705-45 Reduction in tax cost setting amount for accelerated depreciation assets

If:

- (a) an asset of the joining entity is a *depreciating asset to which Division 40 applies; and
- (aa) just before the entity became a subsidiary member, subsection 40-10(3) or 40-12(3) of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 applied for the purposes of the joining entity working out the asset's decline in value under Division 40; and

Note: The effect of those subsections was to preserve an entitlement to accelerated depreciation.

- (b) the asset's *tax cost setting amount would be greater than the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset; and
- (c) the *head company chooses to apply this section to the asset; the asset's tax cost setting amount is reduced so that it equals the terminating value.

---

---

- Note 1: A consequence of the choice is that accelerated depreciation will apply to the asset: see section 701-80.
- Note 2: Unlike the position with a reduction in tax cost setting amount under section 705-40, the amount of the reduction is not re-allocated among other assets.

705-47 Reduction in tax cost setting amount for some privatised assets

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to limit appropriately the amount the *head company of the joined group can deduct for a *depreciating asset it starts to *hold because the joining entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group, by reference to the direct or indirect effect of the following provisions on the amount the joining entity could deduct for the asset:
- (a) former section 61A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about depreciation deductions for tax-exempt entities that become taxable);
  - (b) former Subdivision 57-I, and Subdivision 57-J, in Schedule 2D to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about depreciation and capital allowance deductions);
  - (c) Division 58 of this Act (as that Division applies to a transition time or acquisition time mentioned in that Division before, on or after 1 July 2001).

Reduction of tax cost setting amount

- (2) The *tax cost setting amount for a *depreciating asset is reduced to the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset if:
- (a) at a time before the joining entity became a *subsidiary member of the joined group, the asset was *held by an entity (whether the joining entity or another entity) that, at that time, was:
    - (i) an *exempt Australian government agency; or
    - (ii) another entity whose *ordinary income and *statutory income were exempt from income tax; and

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-90 Consolidated groups

Division 705 Tax cost setting amount for assets where entities become subsidiary members of consolidated groups

- (b) any of the following provisions directly or indirectly affected the amount the joining entity could deduct for the asset:
  - (i) former section 61A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about depreciation deductions for tax-exempt entities that become taxable);
  - (ii) former Subdivision 57-I, and Subdivision 57-J, in Schedule 2D to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about depreciation and *capital allowance deductions);
  - (iii) Division 58 of this Act (as that Division applies to a transition time or acquisition time mentioned in that Division before, on or after 1 July 2001); and
- (c) apart from this section, the tax cost setting amount for the asset would exceed the joining entity's terminating value for the asset.

Note 1: Unlike the position with a reduction in tax cost setting amount under section 705-40, the amount of the reduction is not re-allocated among other assets.

Note 2: Former section 61A of, or former Subdivision 57-I or Subdivision 57-J in Schedule 2D to, the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 or Division 58 of this Act may, for example, have indirectly affected the amount the joining entity could deduct for the asset because:

- (a) that section, Subdivision or Division affected the amount that could be deducted by an entity that held the asset before the joining entity and that effect extended to the joining entity because of a previous application of this subsection, roll-over relief or section 701-40 (the exit history rule); or
- (b) this subsection affected the amount the joining entity could deduct for the asset (either directly or because of section 701-40).

Note 3: Subsection (2) has effect even if, just before the joining time, the joining entity was:

- (a) an exempt Australian government agency; or
- (b) another entity whose ordinary income and statutory income were exempt from income tax.

This is because section 715-900 causes Division 58 to apply as if, just before the joining time, the joining entity's ordinary income or statutory income had become assessable income to some extent.

Exception to reduction of tax cost setting amount

- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply if:
- (a) just before the joining time, the joining entity was neither an *exempt Australian government agency nor another entity whose *ordinary income and *statutory income were exempt from income tax; and
  - (b) a condition in subsection (4) or (5) is met in relation to the period (the pre-joining taxable period) between the last time for which the condition in paragraph (2)(a) is met and the joining time.
- (4) One condition for subsection (2) not to apply is that an amount was included in an entity's assessable income, or an entity could deduct an amount, because of a *balancing adjustment event that occurred for the asset during the pre-joining taxable period.
- (5) Another condition for subsection (2) not to apply is that:
- (a) for at least some of the pre-joining taxable period, the asset was *held by the *head company of a *consolidated group (the earlier group) for the period (the earlier group period):
    - (i) starting when (and because) an entity that had previously held the asset became a *subsidiary member of the earlier group or when the asset started to be held by that company because of an asset sale situation described in subsection 58-5(4) involving a *member of the earlier group as the purchaser mentioned in that subsection; and
    - (ii) ending when (and because) an entity ceased to be a subsidiary member of the earlier group or when the earlier group ceased to exist; and
  - (b) the company that was the head company of the earlier group just before the end of the earlier group period was not:
    - (i) an *associate of the head company of the joined group just before the joining time; or
    - (ii) the same company as the head company of the joined group; and
  - (c) the earlier group period was at least 24 months.

Section 705-50

705-50 Reduction in tax cost setting amount for over-depreciated assets

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to limit deferral of tax on profits that were not subject to tax because of *over-depreciation of assets and were distributed to recipients untaxed because of their entitlement to the intercorporate dividend rebate.

Reduction by amount of tax deferral resulting from over-depreciation

- (2) If:
- (a) the *tax cost setting amount for an asset that is *over-depreciated at the joining time would be more than the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset; and
  - (aa) subsection (5) does not apply to the asset; and
  - (b) before the joining time, the joining entity paid one or more unfranked or partly franked dividends to recipients entitled to a rebate of income tax under former section 46 or 46A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 on the dividends; and
  - (c) there is a tax deferral amount in relation to the dividends under subsection (3);

the tax cost setting amount for the asset is reduced by the lesser of the tax deferral amount and the *over-depreciation, but not so that it becomes less than the joining entity's terminating value for the asset.

Tax deferral amount

- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(c), there is a tax deferral amount in relation to the dividends if:
- (a) to some extent (whose amount is the qualifying profits amount) the dividends, so far as they were not franked dividends or distributions included in the step 4 amount mentioned in step 4 in the table in section 705-60, were paid out of profits satisfying the following requirements:

---

---

Section 705-50

---

- (i) the profits were not subject to income tax because of deductions for the asset's decline in value;
  - (ii) the decline in value represented the *over-depreciation of the asset;
  - (iii) the deductions for the decline in value do not form part of a *tax loss covered by the step 5 amount mentioned in step 5 in the table in section 705-60; and
- (b) to some extent the qualifying profits amount of the dividends was not distributed by the recipients of the dividends before the joining time directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, to a taxpayer who was not entitled to a rebate of income tax under former section 46 or 46A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 on them.

The tax deferral amount is equal to the qualifying profits amount, to the extent that it was not distributed as mentioned in paragraph (b).

- (3A) A way in which the extent to which dividends were paid out of profits that were not subject to income tax may be worked out is by:
- (a) assuming that dividends were paid out of profits of income years in order from the most recent to the earliest; and
  - (b) assuming that, for any income year for which dividends were paid out of profits in accordance with paragraph (a), they were, to the extent they were not *franked distributions, paid out of profits of that income year that were not subject to income tax before they were paid out of such profits that were subject to income tax.

Where asset transferred with roll-over relief

- (4) If:
- (a) an asset was transferred to the joining entity by another entity; and
  - (b) a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B applied to the transfer; and
  - (c) the other entity paid one or more dividends that, if paid by the joining entity, would have satisfied the requirements of paragraphs (2)(b) and (c) in relation to the asset; the joining entity is taken for the purposes of subsection (2) to have paid the dividends.

Assets that, under transitional provisions, effectively were not subject to subsection (1) when previously brought into a group

(5) If:

- (a) before the joining time, the joining entity ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the original group), whether or not the current group; and
- (b) an asset was continuously held by the joining entity from when it ceased to be a member of the original group until the joining time; and
- (c) when the entity ceased to be a subsidiary member of the original group, the *head company of that group made a choice under the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 to increase by an amount (the transitional increase amount) the head company's *terminating value for the asset that was to be used in applying step 1 of the table in section 711-20 of this Act; and

(d) the asset is *over-depreciated at the joining time; the *tax cost setting amount for the asset, in respect of the joining entity becoming a subsidiary member of the current group, is reduced by the lesser of the transitional increase amount and the *over-depreciation.

When an asset is over-depreciated

- (6) An asset is over-depreciated at a particular time if, at that time:
  - (a) the asset is a *depreciating asset to which Division 40 applies; and
  - (b) the asset's *market value exceeds its *adjustable value; and
  - (c) the asset's *cost exceeds its adjustable value.

The over-depreciation of the asset then is the lesser of the 2 excesses (or either of them if they are the same).

Note: Unlike the position with a reduction in tax cost setting amount under section 705-40, the amount of a reduction under this section is not re-allocated among other assets.

705-55 Order of application of sections 705-40, 705-45, 705-47 and 705-50

If more than one of sections 705-40, 705-45 and 705-50 apply:

- (a) the *head company may choose the order in which the sections are to apply; and
- (b) if it does not, the order is as follows:
  - (i) first, section 705-40;
  - (ii) second, section 705-45;
  - (iii) third, section 705-47;
  - (iv) fourth, section 705-50.

705-56 Modification for tax cost setting in relation to finance leases

- (1) This section applies if, just before the joining time:
  - (a) the joining entity is the lessor or lessee under a lease of a *depreciating asset (the underlying asset) to which Division 40 applies; and
  - (b) the joining entity classifies the lease, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, as a finance lease.

Joining entity is lessor

- (2) If the joining entity is the lessor under the lease and *holds the underlying asset just before the joining time, subsection (5) applies, in relation to the joining entity, to the asset that is the joining entity's right to receive lease payments.

Note: In this situation, the underlying asset will have its tax cost set at the joining time because it would be an asset of the joining entity at that time if the single entity rule did not apply (see section 701-10).

- (3) If the joining entity is the lessor under the lease and does not *hold the underlying asset just before the joining time:
  - (a) subsection (5) applies to the underlying asset in relation to the joining entity; and
  - (b) for the purposes of this Division:

- (i) the joining entity's right to receive lease payments is taken to be a *retained cost base asset; and
- (ii) the *tax cost setting amount of that retained cost base asset is taken to be equal to its *market value just before the joining time.

Note: In this situation, the asset that is the joining entity's right to receive lease payments will have its tax cost set at the joining time because it would be an asset of the joining entity at that time if the single entity rule did not apply (see section 701-10).

Joining entity is lessee

- (4) If the joining entity is the lessee under the lease and does not *hold the underlying asset just before the joining time:
  - (a) subsection (5) applies to the underlying asset in relation to the joining entity; and
  - (b) the liability that is the lessee's obligation to make lease payments is not taken into account under subsection 705-70(1).

Note: If the joining entity is the lessee under the lease and holds the underlying asset just before the joining time:

705-57 Adjustment to tax cost setting amount where loss of pre-CGT status of membership interests in joining entityObject*

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that provisions that cause *membership interests in the joining entity to stop being *pre-CGT assets, with a resultant increase in their *cost base and *reduced cost base, do not increase *tax cost setting amounts for *trading stock, *depreciating assets or *revenue assets of the joining entity, where those amounts are above the joining entity's *terminating values for the assets.

When section applies

- (2) This section applies if:
- (a) a *membership interest that a *member of the joined group holds in the joining entity at the joining time had previously stopped being a *pre-CGT asset in the circumstances covered by any of subsections (3) to (5); and
  - (b) the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the membership interest just after it stopped being a pre-CGT asset exceeded (the excess being the loss of pre-CGT status adjustment amount) its cost base or reduced cost base just before it stopped being a pre-CGT asset; and
  - (c) an asset (a revenue etc. asset) that is *trading stock, a *depreciating asset or a *revenue asset becomes that of the *head company of the joined group because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies when the joining entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group; and
  - (d) the revenue etc. asset's *tax cost setting amount (after any application of section 705-40, 705-45, 705-47 or 705-50) exceeds the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset.

Loss of pre-CGT status because Division 149 etc. applied before current holding by member

- (4) The second circumstance for the purpose of paragraph (2)(a) is where:
- (a) either:
    - (i) the *member *acquired the *membership interest directly from another entity; or
    - (ii) the member acquired the membership interest indirectly from another entity or from itself as a result of 2 or more acquisitions; and

  - (c) if subparagraph (a)(i) applies—at the time of the acquisition, the member *controlled (for value shifting purposes) the other entity, or vice versa, or a third entity controlled (for value shifting purposes) the member and the other entity; and
  - (d) if subparagraph (a)(ii) applies—the same entity:
    - (i) was a party to each acquisition and at the time of the acquisition controlled (for value shifting purposes) the other party; or
    - (ii) was a party to each acquisition and at the time of the acquisition was controlled (for value shifting purposes) by the other party; or
    - (iii) was not a party to each acquisition but, at the time of the acquisition, controlled (for value shifting purposes) the parties to the acquisition;or any combination of subparagraphs (i) to (iii) occurred in relation to different acquisitions.

Loss of pre-CGT status because of acquisition from another entity

- (5) The third circumstance for the purpose of paragraph (2)(a) is where:
- (a) either:
    - (i) the *member acquired the *membership interest after 16 May 2002 directly from another entity; or
    - (ii) the member acquired the membership interest indirectly from another entity or from itself as a result of 2 or more acquisitions, all of which took place after 16 May 2002; and
  - (b) the membership interest stopped being a *pre-CGT asset because of the acquisition from the other entity or from the member while the member held the membership interest on a previous occasion; and
  - (c) if subparagraph (a)(i) applies—at the time of the acquisition, the member *controlled (for value shifting purposes) the other entity, or vice versa, or a third entity controlled (for value shifting purposes) the member and the other entity; and
  - (d) if subparagraph (a)(ii) applies—the same entity:
    - (i) was a party to each acquisition and at the time of the acquisition controlled (for value shifting purposes) the other parties; or
    - (ii) was a party to each acquisition and at the time of the acquisition was controlled (for value shifting purposes) by the other party; or

Limit on reduction

- (7) However, the reduction only takes place to the extent that it does not result in the asset's *tax cost setting amount being less than the joining entity's *terminating value for the asset.

Note: The reduction under this section is converted into a capital loss available over a period of 5 income years starting with the income year in which the joining time occurs: see CGT event L1.

705-58 Assets and liabilities not set off against each other

- (1) This Part applies separately to each asset and liability even if *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, require them to be set off against each other.
- (2) This section has effect subject to section 705-59.

705-59 Exception: treatment of linked assets and liabilities

- (1) This section applies to each set of *linked assets and liabilities that the joining entity has immediately before the joining time.
- (2) One or more assets, and one or more liabilities, that an entity has constitute a set of linked assets and liabilities of the entity if, and only if, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board:
- (a) the total of the one or more assets is to be set off against the total of the one or more liabilities in preparing statements of the entity's financial position; and
  - (b) the net amount after the set-off is to be recognised in those statements.

Section 705-59

- (3) If the set consists only of one reset cost base asset for the purposes of section 705-35, and one or more liabilities:
- (a) first, work out the total (the available amount) that, apart from this section and the accounting requirement referred to in subsection (2) of this section, would be taken into account under subsection 705-70(1) (about step 2 in working out the allocable cost amount) for the one or more liabilities; and
  - (b) next, work out the consequences under this table.

Treatment of linked assets and liabilities: single reset cost base asset case

1	is less than or equal to the available amount	its *tax cost setting amount is that market value (and the asset is not taken into account under paragraph 705-35(1)(c))	only the difference (if any) is taken into account under subsection 705-70(1) for the one or more liabilities
2	is greater than the available amount	its *tax cost setting amount is: (a) the available amount; plus (b) the amount worked out for the asset under section 705-35 on the basis that the asset's *market value is reduced by the available amount	the one or more liabilities are not taken into account under subsection 705-70(1)

Note: Paragraph 705-35(1)(c) allocates the allocable cost amount (as reduced by the tax cost setting amounts of retained cost base assets) among the joining entity's reset cost base assets.

- (4) If the set consists only of one or more *retained cost base assets and one or more liabilities, this section does not affect their treatment.

Note: This is because the tax cost setting amount for a retained cost base asset is worked out without regard to the allocable cost amount.

4	there are one or more *retained cost base assets in the set, and the total (the retained cost base total ) of their respective *tax cost setting amounts is less than the available amount	the one or more retained cost base assets are not taken into account under paragraph 705-35(1)(b); the *tax cost setting amount of each remaining asset in the set is worked out by applying item 1 or 2, as appropriate, of this table on the basis that: (a) the available amount is reduced by the retained cost base total; and (b) the one or more retained cost base assets are otherwise ignored	the available amount is reduced by the retained cost base total

Note 1: Paragraph 705-35(1)(b) reduces the allocable cost amount by the tax cost setting amounts of retained cost base assets. Item 4 of the table in this subsection excludes the application of paragraph 705-35(1)(b) to retained cost base assets in the set; this in turn may affect the application of CGT event L3.

Note 2: Paragraph 705-35(1)(c) then allocates the reduced allocable cost amount among the joining entity's reset cost base assets.

Work out the joined group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity in this way:

Working out the joined group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity
Step	What the step requires	Purpose of the step
1	Start with the step 1 amount worked out under section 705-65, which is about the cost of *membership interests in the joining entity held by *members of the joined group	To ensure that the allocable cost amount includes the cost of *acquiring the membership interests
2	Add to the result of step 1 the step 2 amount worked out under section 705-70, which is about the value of the joining entity's liabilities	To ensure that the joining entity's liabilities at the joining time, which are part of the joined group's cost of acquiring the joining entity, are reflected in the allocable cost amount

Working out the joined group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity

3	Add to the result of step 2 the step 3 amount worked out under: (a) section 705-90, which is about undistributed, taxed profits accruing to the joined group before the joining time; or (b) if the joining entity is a trust (and not a *corporate tax entity)—section 713-25, which is about undistributed, realised profits accruing to the joined group before the joining time that could be distributed tax free	To increase the allocable cost amount: (a) to reflect the undistributed, taxed profits and so prevent double taxation; or (b) if the joining entity is a trust—to reflect the undistributed, realised profits that could be distributed tax free
3A	For each step 3A amount (if any) under section 705-93 (which is about pre-joining time intra-group roll-overs from foreign resident companies): (a) if the step 3A amount is an increase amount under that section—add to the result of step 3 (as affected by any previous application of this step) the step 3A amount; or (b) if the step 3A amount is a reduction amount under that section—subtract from the result of step 3 (as affected by any previous application of this step) the step 3A amount	To adjust for certain intra-group roll-overs from foreign companies before the joining time
4	Subtract from the result of step 3A the step 4 amount worked out under section 705-95, which is about pre-joining time distributions out of certain profits	To prevent the allocable cost amount reflecting return of part of the amount paid to *acquire the *membership interests in the joining entity

5	Subtract from the result of step 4 the step 5 amount worked out under section 705-100, which is about certain losses accruing to the joined group before the joining time	To prevent: (a) a double benefit arising from the losses; and (b) losses that cannot be transferred to the *head company, or are cancelled by the head company, under Subdivision 707-A being reinstated in an unrealised form or reducing unrealised gains.
6	Subtract from the result of step 5 the step 6 amount worked out under section 705-110, which is about losses that the joining entity transferred to the *head company under Subdivision 707-A	To stop the joined group getting benefits both through higher *tax cost setting amounts for the joining entity's assets and through losses transferred to the head company
7	Subtract from the result of step 6 the step 7 amount worked out under section 705-115, which is about certain deductions to which the *head company is entitled	To stop the joined group getting benefits both through the *tax cost of the joining entity's assets being set and through certain tax deductions of the joining entity being inherited by the head company
8	If the remaining amount is positive, it is the joined group's allocable cost amount. Otherwise the joined group's allocable cost amount is nil.

Note: The head company may be taken to have made a capital gain, depending on the amount remaining after applying step 3A: see CGT event L2.

705-65 Cost of membership interests in the joining entity—step 1 in working out allocable cost amount interest that *members of the joined group hold in the joining entity at the joining time:

Note: If the joining entity is a trust, the step 1 amount may be increased by section 713-20 for settled capital that could be distributed tax free in respect of discretionary interests in the trust.

Working out the step 1 amount
Item	If the market value of the membership interest is...	The amount is...
1	equal to or greater than its *cost base	its cost base
2	less than its *cost base but greater than its *reduced cost base	its *market value
3	less than or equal to its *reduced cost base	its reduced cost base

Note: Under section 716-855, if membership interests are pre-CGT assets that have been subject to certain roll-overs, the cost base and reduced cost base are worked out in the same way as if they were post-CGT assets.

No indexation of cost base of pre-CGT membership interests

- (2) If the *membership interest is a *pre-CGT asset, in working out its *cost base for the purposes of subsection (1) no element is indexed.

Adjustment if value shifting or loss transfer provision could apply

- (3) If, on the assumption that a *CGT event had happened just before the joining time in relation to the *membership interest, the *cost base or the *reduced cost base of the membership interest would have been changed by a provision of this Act, then the cost base or reduced cost base of the membership interest that is to be used in subsection (1) of this section is instead:
- the cost base as it would have been so changed; or
  - the reduced cost base, as it would have been so changed, but ignoring the amount of any reduction resulting from the application of former subsection 160ZK(5) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Note: For example, a change in the cost base or reduced cost base may be required under provisions that apply where a loss transfer or value shift involving the joining entity has occurred.

(3AA) If, on the assumption that:

- (a) the *members of the joined group had, just before the joining time, *disposed of their *membership interest in the joining entity; and
- (b) the consideration received by the members for the disposal were equal to the *market value of the membership interest at that time;

they would have made a *capital loss that section 727-615 would have reduced (because of an indirect value shift), then the *reduced cost base of the membership interest that is to be used in subsection (1) of this section is reduced by the amount of that reduction.

Reduction if section 165-115ZD could apply

(3A) If, on the assumption that:

- (a) the *members of the joined group had, just before the joining time, *disposed of their *membership interest in the joining entity; and
- (b) the consideration received by the members for the disposal were equal to the *market value of the membership interest at that time;

the *reduced cost base of the membership interest would have been reduced as a result of the operation of section 165-115ZD of this Act or the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997, then the reduced cost base of the membership interest that is to be used in subsection (1) of this section is reduced by the amount of that reduction.

Certain provisions not to apply after joining time

- (4) Also, if a provision mentioned in subsection (3), (3AA) or (3A) would, because of events that happened before the joining time, apply to a *CGT event or a *realisation event that happens after the joining time in relation to the *members' *membership interests in the joining entity, the provision does not so apply.

Reduction in reduced cost base under subsection 165-115ZA(3) to be added back

(5A) If:

- (a) in working out the *reduced cost base of the *membership interest for the purposes of subsection (1), a reduction has taken place under subsection 165-115ZA(3) (about alterations in ownership or control of loss companies); and
- (b) the reduction is to some extent attributable to so much of an amount that was taken into account both in working out the amount of the reduction and in working out:

- (ii) the step 6 amount under section 705-110;

the reduced cost base is, to the extent mentioned in paragraph (b), increased by:

Note: This would be the case if the money was only to be paid etc. if a contingency happened after the joining time.

the thing is nevertheless so taken into account, and taken always to have been so taken into account.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (6) For the purposes of this section, if at the joining time a *member of the joined group holds a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by the joining entity, to acquire a *membership interest in the joining entity, that right or option is treated as if it were a membership interest in the joining entity.

705-70 Liabilities of the joining entity—step 2 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 2 in the table in section 705-60, the step 2 amount is worked out by adding up the amounts of each thing (an accounting liability) that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, is a liability of the joining entity at the joining time that can or must be recognised in the entity's statement of financial position.

Note: Certain liabilities of a life insurance company are worked out under Subdivision 713-L: see section 713-520.

Where liability valued differently for joined group

- (1A) However, if, in accordance with those *accounting standards or statements, the amount of an accounting liability of the joining entity would be different when it became an accounting liability of the joined group, the different amount is treated as the amount of the liability.

Note: Liabilities that the joining entity owes to members of the joined group would not be excluded under subsection (1) or (1A) even though the standards or statements require that they be eliminated in consolidated accounts of a parent entity and its subsidiaries.

---

Exclusion where transfer of accounting liability

- (2) An amount is not to be added for an accounting liability that arises because of the joining entity's ownership of an asset if, on *disposal of the asset, the accounting liability will transfer to the new owner.

Example: A liability to rehabilitate a mine site, where, under legislation or a licence, the liability will be transferred to the new owner on disposal of the mine.

Note: Adjustments reducing or increasing the amount under this section are made by sections 705-75 to 705-85.

705-75 Liabilities of the joining entity—reductions for purposes of step 2 in working out allocable cost amount

Reduction for future deduction

- (1) If some or all of an accounting liability will result in a deduction to the *head company, the amount to be added for the accounting liability under subsection 705-70(1) is reduced by the following amount:

$$\left[ \text{Deduction} \times \frac{\text{*Corporate tax rate}}{\text{}} \right] - \text{Double-counting adjustment}$$

where:

double-counting adjustment means the amount of any reduction that has already occurred in the accounting liability under subsection 705-70(1) to take account of the future availability of the deduction.

Reduction for intra-group liabilities

- (2) If the amount of an accounting liability of the joining entity that is owed to a *member of the joined group is more than the amount applicable under the following table, the amount to be added for the accounting liability under subsection 705-70(1) instead equals the amount applicable under the table.

Amount applicable
Item	If the market value of the member's asset constituted by the accounting liability is...	The amount applicable is...

2	less than the asset's *cost base but greater than its *reduced cost base	the asset's *market value
3	less than or equal to the asset's *reduced cost base	the asset's reduced cost base

Application of subsections 705-65(2), (3), (3AA) and (3A)

- (3) Subsections 705-65(2), (3), (3AA) and (3A) apply in relation to references in subsection (2) of this section to an asset's *cost base or *reduced cost base in a corresponding way to that in which they apply in relation to references in the table in subsection 705-65(1) to a *membership interest's cost base or reduced cost base.

Application of subsection 705-65(4)

- (4) Subsection 705-65(4) applies in relation to assets mentioned in subsection (2) of this section in a corresponding way to that in which it applies in relation to members' *membership interests.

Reduction in reduced cost base under subsection 165-115ZA(3) to be added back

- (5) If:
- (a) in working out the *reduced cost base of a *member's asset for the purposes of subsection (2), a reduction has taken place under subsection 165-115ZA(3) (about alterations in ownership or control of loss companies); and
  - (b) the reduction is to some extent attributable to so much of an amount that was taken into account both in working out the amount of the reduction and in working out:

Section 705-80

- (i) the step 5 amount under section 705-100; or
  - (ii) the step 6 amount under section 705-110;
- the reduced cost base is, to the extent mentioned in paragraph (b), increased by:
- (c) if subparagraph (b)(i) applies—the amount of that reduction; or
  - (d) if subparagraph (b)(ii) applies—the amount of that reduction multiplied by the *corporate tax rate.

705-80 Liabilities of the joining entity—reductions/increases for purposes of step 2 in working out allocable cost amountAdjustment for unrealised gains and losses*

- (1) If:
- (a) for income tax purposes, an accounting liability, or a change in the amount of an accounting liability, (other than one owed to a *member of the joined group) is taken into account at a later time than is the case in accordance with *accounting standards or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board; and

Example: Accrued employee leave entitlements or foreign exchange gains and losses.

- (b) assuming that, for income tax purposes the accounting liability or change were taken into account at the same time as is the case in accordance with those standards or statements, the joined group's allocable cost amount would be different;

Note: The difference would arise because subsection 705-70(1) includes income tax liabilities and steps 3 and 5 of the table in section 705-60 are affected by the time at which changes in liabilities are taken into account for income tax purposes.

then the amount to be added under subsection 705-70(1) for the accounting liability is:

- (c) if the difference is an increase—increased by the amount of the increase; and
- (d) if the difference is a decrease—decreased by the amount of the decrease.

Use of reliable estimate

- (2) In working out for the purposes of subsection (1) an amount at a particular time or in respect of a particular period, use the most reliable basis for estimation that is available.

Example: The amount of a change in liability for employee leave entitlements over a period.

705-85 Liabilities of the joining entity—increases for purposes of step 2 in working out allocable cost amount

Increase in step 2 amount for employee share interests

- (1) If any *membership interest (an employee share interest) in the joining entity needed to be disregarded under section 703-35 in order for the joining entity to be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *head company at the joining time, the step 2 amount worked out under section 705-70 is increased by the sum of the *market values of those interests, reduced in each case by the reduction amount (if any) worked out under subsection (2) of this section.

Reduction amount

- (2) There is a reduction amount if the *market value of the employee share interest at the time it was *acquired by the employee is more than the consideration paid or given for its acquisition. The reduction amount is worked out by multiplying the market value of the employee share interest at that time by the factor worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Market value of head company's membership interests}}{\text{Market value of all membership interests}} \times \frac{\left[ \begin{array}{l} \text{*Market value of} \\ \text{employee share} \\ \text{interest at time} \\ \text{of *acquisition} \end{array} \right] - \left[ \begin{array}{l} \text{Consideration} \\ \text{paid or given} \\ \text{for acquisition} \\ \text{of employee} \\ \text{share interest} \end{array} \right]}{\text{Market value of employee share interest at time of acquisition}}$$

where:

Section 705-90

market value of all membership interests means the *market value of all *membership interests in the joining entity just before the employee share interest was *acquired.

market value of head company's membership interests means the *market value, just before the employee share interest was *acquired, of any *membership interests that the *head company held, directly or indirectly in the joining entity, continuously from that time until the joining time.

Increase to cover certain rights, options and certain equity interests

- (3) The step 2 amount worked out under section 705-70 is increased by:
- (a) the *market value of any right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by the joining entity, to acquire a *membership interest in the joining entity, where that right or option is held at the joining time by a person other than a *member of the joined group; and
  - (b) the market value of each thing that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, is equity in the joining entity at the joining time, where the thing is also a *debt interest.

Increase to cover ADI restructure preference share interests

- (4) If any *share in the joining entity needed to be disregarded under section 703-37 in order for the joining entity to be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *head company at the joining time, the step 2 amount worked out under section 705-70 is increased by the sum of the *market values of those shares.

705-90 Undistributed, taxed profits accruing to joined group before joining time—step 3 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 3 in the table in section 705-60, the step 3 amount is worked out in accordance with this section unless the joining entity is a trust that is not a *corporate tax entity at the joining time.

Note: If the joining entity is such a trust, the step 3 amount is instead worked out in accordance with section 713-25.

Undistributed profits

- (2) First work out the undistributed profits of the joining entity at the joining time. These are the amounts that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, are retained profits of the joining entity that could be recognised in the joining entity's statement of financial position if that statement were prepared as at the joining time.
- (2A) However, if a loss that did not accrue to the joined group before the joining time (subsection (8) states what it means for a loss to accrue to the joined group before the joining time) would be taken into account in working out the undistributed profits, the loss is not so taken into account.

Extent to which tax paid on undistributed profits

- (3) Then work out how much of the undistributed profits does not exceed the amount worked out using the following formula as at the joining time:

$$\begin{array}{l} \text{Balance of *franking account} \\ \text{(worked out on assumptions} \\ \text{in subsection (4))} \end{array} \times \frac{1 - \text{*corporate tax rate}}{\text{*Corporate tax rate}}$$

Assumptions for purposes of subsection (3)

- (4) The assumptions are that the joining entity's franking account balance at the end of the income year that ends, or, if section 701-30 applies, of the income year that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to end, at the joining time had been adjusted to take account of franking credits or franking debits that would arise if the following were paid just before the joining time:
- (a) the income tax, or refund of income tax, on the joining entity's taxable income for that income year; and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 705-90

- (b) any income tax, or refund of income tax, that has not yet been paid (regardless of whether it has become payable or due for payment) on the joining entity's taxable income for any earlier income year, other than one excluded by subsection (5).

Exclusion of certain income years where previous membership of a consolidated group

- (5) If the joining entity was previously a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, any income year earlier than the one that started, or, if section 701-30 applies, the one that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to have started, when the joining entity ceased to be a subsidiary member of that group is excluded for the purposes of paragraph (4)(b) of this section.

Undistributed profits must have accrued to joined group

- (6) Next, work out the extent to which the undistributed profits that satisfy the requirements of subsection (3) accrued to the joined group before the joining time (subsection (7) states what it means for a profit to accrue to the joined group before the joining time). The result is the step 3 amount.

Profit accruing to the joined group before the joining time

- (7) A profit accrued to the joined group before the joining time if, on the following assumptions:
- (a) that it was distributed to holders of *membership interests as it accrued; and
  - (b) that entities interposed between the *head company and the joining entity successively distributed any of it immediately after receiving it;

it would have been received by the entity that is the head company at the joining time, in respect of membership interests that it held continuously until that time either directly or indirectly through interposed entities.

Note: If an entity interposed between the head company and the joining entity is a non-fixed trust, this subsection may involve determining how a power of appointment would have been exercised.

Section 713-50 lists matters to have regard to in determining this.

Loss accruing to the joined group before the joining time

- (8) A loss accrued to the joined group before the joining time if and to the extent that, assuming that as it arose it were instead a profit that was accruing, a distribution of that profit would have been a distribution made to the joined group out of profits that accrued to the joined group before the joining time.

Use of reliable estimates

- (9) In working out:
- (a) for the purposes of subsection (4), the amount of income tax, or refund of income tax, on the joining entity's taxable income for a particular income year and the extent to which it has not yet been paid; or
  - (b) for the purposes of subsection (7), the amount of a profit that accrued to the joined group during a particular period; or
  - (c) for the purposes of subsection (8), the amount of a loss that accrued to the joined group during a particular period;
- use the most reliable basis for estimation that is available.
- (10) Without limiting paragraph (9)(b), a way in which, for the purposes of subsection (7), the amount of a profit that accrued to the joined group during a particular period may be worked out is by:
- (a) assuming that profits of income years were distributed in order from the most recent to the earliest; and
  - (b) assuming that, for any income year for which distributions were paid out of profits in accordance with paragraph (a), they were, to the extent they were not *franked distributions, paid out of profits of that income year that were not subject to income tax before they were paid out of such profits that were subject to income tax.

705-93 If pre-joining time roll-over from foreign resident company—step 3A in working out allocable cost amount

When there is a step 3A amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 3A in the table in section 705-60, there is a step 3A amount if:
  - (a) before the joining time:
    - (i) there was a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B (a Subdivision 126-B roll-over) in relation to a *CGT event that happened in relation to an asset (the roll-over asset); or
    - (ii) former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied in relation to a disposal (a section 160ZZO roll-over) of an asset (also the roll-over asset); and
  - (b) the originating company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferor in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was a foreign resident; and
  - (c) the recipient company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferee in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was an Australian resident and was not the entity that became the *head company of the joined group; and
  - (d) between the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the section 160ZZO roll-over, and the joining time, no other CGT event happened in relation to the roll-over asset for which there was not a Subdivision 126-B roll-over or a section 160ZZO roll-over; and
  - (e) the roll-over asset is not a *pre-CGT asset at the joining time; and
  - (f) the roll-over asset becomes that of the head company of the joined group because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies when the joining entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group.

Section 705-95

What the step 3A amount is

- (2) The step 3A amount is:
- (a) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(ii), a *capital loss of the originating company was disregarded or a capital loss of the transferor was not incurred—an increase amount equal to the capital loss; or
  - (b) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(ii), a *capital gain of the originating company was disregarded or a capital gain of the transferor did not accrue—a reduction amount equal to the capital gain.

705-95 Pre-joining time distributions out of certain profits—step 4 in working out allocable cost amount

For the purposes of step 4 in the table in section 705-60, the step 4 amount is the sum of all distributions made by the joining entity before the joining time that:

- (a) the *head company receives directly, or would receive indirectly if entities interposed between the head company and the joining entity successively distributed any distribution they received immediately after receiving it; and
- (b) were made out of profits:
  - (i) that did not accrue to the joined group before the joining time (see subsection 705-90(7)); or
  - (ii) that accrued to the joined group before the joining time and recouped losses of any *sort that accrued to the joined group before that time (see subsection 705-90(8)).

Note: As well as subsection 705-90(7), paragraph 705-90(9)(b) and subsection 705-90(10) are relevant to working out whether or not profits accrued to the joined group before the joining time.

---

705-100 Losses accruing to joined group before joining time—step 5 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 5 in the table in section 705-60, the step 5 amount is the sum of all losses of any *sort of the joining entity that:
  - (a) had not been *utilised by the joining entity for the income year in which the joining time occurred or any earlier income year; and
  - (b) accrued to the joined group before the joining time (see subsection 705-90(8)).
- (2) However, a loss is not to be taken into account under subsection (1) to the extent that it reduced the undistributed profits comprising the step 3 amount in the table in section 705-60.

705-105 Continuity of holding membership interests—steps 3 to 5 in working out allocable cost amount

If:

- (a) a *membership interest that a *member of the joined group held in the joining entity at the joining time was taken under this Act to have been *acquired by the member for its *market value at a particular time (the market value time); or
- (b) the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a membership interest that a member of the joined group held in the joining entity at the joining time were, before that time, changed on one or more occasions by this Act so that they equalled the market value of the membership interest at a particular time (the last of which times is also the market value time);

then, for the purpose of sections 705-90, 705-95, 705-100 and 713-25, the *head company is taken not to have held that membership interest, either directly or indirectly, before the market value time.

Section 705-110

705-110 If joining entity transfers a loss to the head company—step 6 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 6 in the table in section 705-60, the step 6 amount is worked out by multiplying the sum of the losses mentioned in subsection (2) by the *corporate tax rate.
- (2) The losses are the joining entity's losses of any *sort that:
  - (a) were not *utilised by the joining entity for the income year in which the joining time occurred or any earlier income year; and
  - (b) did not accrue to the joined group before the joining time (see subsection 705-90(8)); and
  - (c) are transferred to the *head company under Subdivision 707-A; and
  - (d) are not cancelled under section 707-145.

705-115 If head company becomes entitled to certain deductions—step 7 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 7 in the table in section 705-60, the step 7 amount is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Owned deductions} + \left[ \frac{\text{Acquired deductions}}{\text{General company tax rate}} \right]$$

where:

acquired deductions means all deductions covered by subsection (2) that are not owned deductions.

owned deductions means the sum of all deductions for which the following requirements are satisfied:

- (a) the deduction is covered by subsection (2);
- (b) assuming the expenditure that gave rise to the deduction were instead a profit that accrued at the time the expenditure was incurred, a distribution of that profit would have been a distribution made to the joined group out of profits that accrued to the joined group before the joining time (see subsection 705-90(7)).

---

- (2) This subsection covers any deduction to which the *head company becomes entitled under section 701-5 as a result of the joining entity becoming a *subsidiary member of the joined group, other than a deduction for expenditure:
- (a) that is, forms part of or reduces, the cost of an asset of the joining entity that becomes an asset of the head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) applies; or
  - (b) to which section 110-40 (about expenditure on assets acquired before 7.30 pm on 13 May 1997) applies; or
  - (c) to the extent that the expenditure reduced the undistributed profits comprising the step 3 amount in the table in section 705-60.

How to work out a pre-CGT factor for assets of joining entity

705-125 Pre-CGT factor for assets of joining entity

Object

- (1) Because intra-group *membership interests in the joining entity are disregarded under subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule), the object of this section is to provide a mechanism to ensure that the benefit of the pre-CGT status of those interests is not lost. That mechanism involves working out a factor by which the pre-CGT status can be attached to the joining entity's assets and then recognised in membership interests held in an entity that owns the assets on ceasing to be a *subsidiary member of the joined group.

Pre-CGT factor to be worked out for certain assets

- (2) A pre-CGT factor is worked out under this section for each asset of the joining entity at the joining time, other than one that, in accordance with *accounting standards, is a current asset.

Note: A pre-CGT factor is not worked out for current assets because they would, in the ordinary course of operations of the joining entity, be consumed or disposed of within 12 months.

---

Section 705-125

---

How to work out pre-CGT factor

- (3) The pre-CGT factor is the amount (not exceeding 1) worked out by dividing:
- (a) the sum of:
    - (i) for each *membership interest in the joining entity held by the *head company that is a *pre-CGT asset of the head company—the interest’s *market value at the joining time; and
    - (ii) for each membership interest in the joining entity held by a *subsidiary member that has a pre-CGT factor—the interest’s market value at the joining time multiplied by its pre-CGT factor;
- by:
- (b) the sum of the market values, at the joining time, of all the joining entity’s assets for which a pre-CGT factor is to be worked out.

Note: The treatment of membership interests in an entity ceasing to be a member of the joined group as pre-CGT assets of members of the group could be manipulated to produce too many pre-CGT assets if the pre-CGT factor of an asset were not limited to 1 by the above subsection.

Modification if joining entity is a trust

- (4) If the joining entity is a trust, a *membership interest in it is not taken into account under paragraph (3)(a) unless the membership interest is either a unit or an interest in the trust.

Subdivision 705-B—Case of group formation

Guide to Subdivision 705-B

705-130 What this Subdivision is about

When a consolidated group comes into existence, the tax cost setting amount for the assets of each entity that becomes a subsidiary member is worked out by modifying the rules in Subdivision 705-A, so that the amount reflects the cost to the group of acquiring the entity.

Table of sections

Application and object

705-135 Application and object of this Subdivision

Modified application of Subdivision 705-A

705-140 Subdivision 705-A has effect with modifications

705-145 Order in which tax cost setting amounts are to be worked out where subsidiary members have membership interests in other subsidiary members

705-147 Adjustment in working out step 3A of allocable cost amount to take account of membership interests held by subsidiary members in other such members

705-150 Adjustment to result of step 3A in working out allocable cost amount where pre-formation time roll-over from head company to member of wholly-owned group

705-155 Adjustments to restrict step 4 reduction of allocable cost amount to effective distributions to head company in respect of direct membership interests

705-160 Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount to take account of owned profits or losses of certain entities that become subsidiary members

705-163 Modified application of section 705-57

Application and object

705-135 Application and object of this Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision has effect for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) if one or more entities become *subsidiary members of a *consolidated group at the time (the formation time) it comes into existence as a consolidated group.

Note: This is the first exception to Subdivision 705-A: see paragraph 705-15(a).

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is to modify the rules in Subdivision 705-A (which basically determine the tax cost setting amount for assets of an entity joining an existing *consolidated group) so that they have effect, and take account of different circumstances that apply, when a consolidated group comes into existence.

Note: The main circumstance is where one of the entities has membership interests in another. In such a case, the order in which the rules in Subdivision 705-A are applied will affect the tax cost setting amounts for the assets of the entities.

Modified application of Subdivision 705-A

705-140 Subdivision 705-A has effect with modifications

- (1) Subdivision 705-A has effect in relation to each entity becoming a *subsidiary member of the *consolidated group at the formation time in the same way as that Subdivision has effect in relation to an entity becoming a subsidiary member of a consolidated group in circumstances covered by that Subdivision.
- (2) However, that effect of Subdivision 705-A is subject to modifications set out in this Subdivision.

705-145 Order in which tax cost setting amounts are to be worked out where subsidiary members have membership interests in other subsidiary membersObject*

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that where, on becoming *subsidiary members, entities hold assets consisting of *membership interests in other subsidiary members, the *head company's cost of becoming the holder of the assets of all of the entities that become subsidiary members correctly reflects the group's cost of acquiring the entities.

Tax cost setting amounts to be worked out from top down

- (2) If, on becoming *subsidiary members, entities hold *membership interests in any other entities that become subsidiary members, the *tax cost setting amounts for the assets of entities holding membership interests must be worked out before the tax cost setting amounts for the assets of the entities in which the membership interests are held.

Note: The tax cost setting amount in respect of assets of any subsidiary member in which the head company, but no other subsidiary member, holds membership interests can be worked out in any order in relation to the calculations for other subsidiary members.

Tax cost setting amount for higher entity's membership interests to be used in working out lower entity's tax cost setting amount

- (3) The tax cost setting amount worked out for assets of an entity mentioned in subsection (2) consisting of *membership interests in another such entity is to be used as the amount for those interests under subsection 705-65(1) (step 1 of allocable cost amount) in working out the tax cost setting amount for assets of that other entity.

Note 1: Subsection 705-65(1) adds together amounts worked out in accordance with section 705-65 representing the cost of the membership interests that each member of the group holds in the entity. If any of those membership interests is held by another subsidiary member, subsection (3) above will replace the amount otherwise applicable with the tax cost setting amount that will have been worked out for the interests in accordance with subsection (2) above.

Note 2: The tax cost setting amount worked out for the membership interests has no relevance other than for the purpose mentioned in subsection (3). This is because, under the single entity principle, intra group membership interests are ignored while entities are members of the group. If an entity ceases to be a member, section 701-15 and Division 711 set the tax cost of membership interests in the entity at that time.

Value shifting etc. provisions not to apply to later CGT events involving membership interests

- (4) However, despite subsection (3), subsection 705-65(4) (which prevents the later operation of value shifting etc. provisions) still applies to the *membership interests.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (5) For the purposes of this section, if, on becoming a *subsidiary member, an entity holds a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by another entity that becomes a subsidiary member at the same time, to acquire a *membership interest in that other entity, that right or option is treated as if it were a membership interest in that other entity.

705-147 Adjustment in working out step 3A of allocable cost amount to take account of membership interests held by subsidiary members in other such members

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to modify the effect that section 705-93 (step 3A of allocable cost amount) has in accordance with this Subdivision so that it takes account of *membership interests that entities that become *subsidiary members hold in other such entities.

---

---

Apportionment of step 3A amount among first level interposed entities

(2) If:

- (a) under section 705-93, in its application in accordance with this Subdivision, there is a step 3A amount for the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for an entity (the subject entity) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; and
- (b) at that time one or more entities (the first level entities), that become subsidiary members of the group and in which the *head company holds *membership interests, are interposed between the head company and the subject entity;

then the step 3A amount is apportioned among the first level entities and the subject entity on the following basis:

- (c) each first level entity has the following proportion of the step 3A amount:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first level entity's direct and indirect membership interests in subject entity}}{\text{*Market value of all membership interests in subject entity}}$$

*Market value of all membership interests in subject entity

where:

market value of all membership interests in subject entity means the *market value, at the formation time, of all *membership interests in the subject entity that are held by entities that become *members of the group at that time.

market value of first level entity's direct and indirect membership interests in subject entity means so much of the *market value of all membership interests in the subject entity (as defined above) as is attributable to *membership interests that the first level entity holds directly, or indirectly through other interposed entities that become *subsidiary members of the group at the formation time; and

- (d) the subject entity has the remainder of the step 3A amount.

Step 3A amount for assets consisting of membership interests held by subsidiary members in other subsidiary members

(3) If:

(a) before the formation time:

(i) there was a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B (a Subdivision 126-B roll-over) in relation to a *CGT event that happened in relation to an asset (the roll-over asset); or

(ii) former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied in relation to a disposal (a section 160ZZO roll-over) of an asset (also the roll-over asset); and

(b) the originating company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferor in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was a foreign resident; and

(c) the recipient company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferee in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was an Australian resident and was not the entity that became the *head company of the group; and

(d) between the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the section 160ZZO roll-over, and the formation time, no other CGT event happened in relation to the roll-over asset for which there was not a Subdivision 126-B roll-over or a section 160ZZO roll-over; and

(e) the roll-over asset is a *membership interest in an entity that becomes a *subsidiary member at the formation time, other than one that is held at that time by the entity that becomes the head company of the group;

then, subject to subsection (5), there is under section 705-93 a step 3A amount for the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the entity (the subject entity) that holds the roll-over asset at the formation time.

What the step 3A amount is

(4) The step 3A amount is:

(a) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over

Section 705-150

mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(ii), a *capital loss of the originating company was disregarded or a capital loss of the transferor was not incurred—an increase amount equal to the capital loss; or

- (b) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(ii), a *capital gain of the originating company was disregarded or a capital gain of the transferor did not accrue—a reduction amount equal to the capital gain.

Apportionment of step 3A amount among first level interposed entities

- (5) If at the formation time one or more entities, that become *subsidiary members of the group and in which the *head company holds *membership interests, are interposed between the head company and the subject entity, then the step 3A amount is apportioned among those entities and the subject entity in the same way as a step 3A amount is apportioned under subsection (2).

705-150 Adjustment to result of step 3A in working out allocable cost amount where pre-formation time roll-over from head company to member of wholly-owned group

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for certain entities that become *subsidiary members of the group at the formation time, an adjustment is made to take account of roll-overs under Subdivision 126-B or former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 before the formation time.

When section applies

- (2) This section applies if:
- (a) before the formation time, there was a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B or former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to a *CGT event (the

- (i) an entity (the head company roll-over recipient) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group was the recipient company in relation to the roll-over; and
  - (ii) the originating company in relation to that roll-over was the entity that becomes the *head company of the group; and
- (b) between the roll-over and the formation time, no other CGT event happened in relation to the head company roll-over asset:
- (i) for which there was another roll-over satisfying the requirements of paragraph (a); or
  - (ii) for which there was not a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B or former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (c) the head company roll-over asset is not a *pre-CGT asset at the formation time; and
- (d) the sum of the *cost bases of all of the *head company's *CGT assets just before the head company roll-over event exceeded or was less than the sum of the cost bases of all of the head company's CGT assets just after the head company roll-over event (the excess or shortfall being the head company roll-over adjustment amount).

Adjustment to result of step 3A in allocable cost amount for head company roll-over recipient

- (3) For the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the head company roll-over recipient, the result of step 3A in the table in section 705-60 is increased (if the head company roll-over adjustment is an excess), or reduced (if the head company roll-over adjustment amount is a shortfall), by the amount worked out as follows:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of *head company's *membership interests in head company roll-over recipient}}{\text{Market value of all membership interests in head company roll-over recipient}} \times \text{Head company roll-over adjustment amount}$$

where:

market value of all membership interests in head company roll-over recipient means the *market value, at the formation time, of all *membership interests in the head company roll-over recipient that are held by entities that become *members of the group at that time.

Adjustment to result of step 3A in allocable cost amount for interposed entity

- (4) Also, if this section applies, for the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for any entity (the target entity) that:
- (a) becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; and
  - (b) is interposed at that time between the *head company and the head company roll-over recipient; and
  - (c) is the first or only such interposed entity;
- the result of step 3A in the table in section 705-60 is increased (if the head company roll-over adjustment is an excess), or reduced (if the head company roll-over adjustment amount is a shortfall), by the amount worked out as follows:

where:

market value of all membership interests in head company roll-over recipient has the same meaning as in subsection (3).

market value of head company's indirect membership interests in head company roll-over recipient means so much of the *market value, at the formation time, of the *head company's *membership interests in the target entity as is attributable to membership interests that the entity holds directly, or indirectly through other interposed entities that become *subsidiary members of the group at the formation time, in the head company roll-over recipient.

Note: If, after applying this section, the amount remaining as a result of step 3A in the table in section 705-60 is negative, the head company makes a capital gain equal to that amount: see CGT event L2.

705-155 Adjustments to restrict step 4 reduction of allocable cost amount to effective distributions to head company in respect of direct membership interests

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for entities that become *subsidiary members of the group at the formation time, the reduction under step 4 in the table in section 705-60 (about pre-formation time distributions out of certain profits) is made only for profits that have been effectively distributed to the *head company in respect of its direct *membership interests in the entities. This ensures consistency with the ordering rule in section 705-145.

When section applies

- (2) This section applies to a distribution (the subject distribution) to the extent that the following conditions are satisfied:
  - (a) the distribution is made by an entity (the subject entity) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time;
  - (b) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the subject entity there would, apart from this section, be a reduction under step 4 in the table in section 705-60 for the distribution.

---

---

Step 4 reduction only if subject distribution is made to head company etc.

- (3) There is no reduction as mentioned in paragraph (2)(b) for the subject distribution unless:
- (a) the subject distribution is made to the *head company of the group; or
  - (b) the reduction is in accordance with subsection (5).

Step 4 reduction for effective distribution to head company

- (4) If:
- (a) at the formation time, the *head company of the group has a direct *membership interest in the subject entity; and
  - (b) the head company acquired the membership interest directly from another entity, or indirectly as a result of one or more acquisitions from other entities, where:
    - (i) former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied to each acquisition; or
    - (ii) there was a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B for each acquisition;or a combination of these happened; and
  - (c) while it held the membership interest, the entity, or one of the entities, mentioned in paragraph (b) (the recipient of the further distribution) received a distribution (the further distribution) of some of the subject distribution from the subject entity; the consequences in subsections (5) and (6) apply.

Reduction for further distribution that remains with recipient

- (5) If:
- (a) the following happen:
    - (i) by the formation time, any of the further distribution (the eligible reduction amount) had not again been distributed by the recipient of the further distribution;
    - (ii) the recipient of the further distribution does not become a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; or

---

Section 705-155

(b) the following happen:

- (i) by the formation time, any of the further distribution (the eligible reduction amount) had been distributed by the recipient of the further distribution to another entity directly, or indirectly through successive distributions by interposed entities;
- (ii) that other entity does not become a subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; or

(c) both of the above paragraphs apply;

then, in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the subject entity, the reduction under step 4 in the table in section 705-60 for the subject distribution only takes place to the extent that it equals the sum of all eligible reduction amounts.

Step 1 reduced cost base adjustment to reverse effect of reduction for further distribution

(6) Also, if former subsection 160ZK(5) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 or subsection 110-55(7) of this Act applied to the further distribution, then for the purposes of step 1 in the table in section 705-60 in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the subject entity:

- (a) the reference in subsection 705-65(3) to a reduction resulting from the application of former subsection 160ZK(5) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (b) the reference in subsection 705-65(5) to a reduction that has taken place under subsection 110-55(7);

include a reference to the reduction in the *reduced cost base of the membership interest in the subject entity resulting from the application of former subsection 160ZK(5) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, or subsection 110-55(7) of this Act, to the further distribution.

705-160 Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount to take account of owned profits or losses of certain entities that become subsidiary membersObject*

- (1) The object of this section is to prevent a distortion under section 705-35 in the allocation of *allocable cost amount to an entity that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group where that entity has direct or indirect *membership interests in another entity that has certain profits or tax losses when it becomes a subsidiary member.

Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount where direct interest in entity with profits/losses

- (2) If:
- (a) an entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; and
  - (b) the entity has *membership interests in a second entity that becomes a subsidiary member of the group at that time; and
  - (c) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the second entity:
    - (i) an amount is required to be added (the second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 3 in the table in section 705-60 (about profits accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group); or
    - (ii) an amount is required to be subtracted (also the second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 5 in the table in section 705-60 (about losses accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group);

then, for the purposes of working out under section 705-35 the *tax cost setting amount for the assets of the first entity, the *market value of the first entity's membership interests in the second entity is reduced (in a subparagraph (c)(i) case) or increased (in a subparagraph (c)(ii) case) by the first entity's interest in the second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount (see subsection (3)).

First entity's interest in second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount

- (3) The first entity's interest in the second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first entity's *membership interests in second entity}}{\text{*Market value of all *membership interests in second entity}} \times \text{Second entity's profit/loss adjustment amount}$$

Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount for indirect interest in entity with profits/losses

- (4) If:
- (a) an entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; and
  - (b) the entity has *membership interests in a second entity that becomes a subsidiary member of the group at that time; and
  - (c) the second entity has, directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities that become subsidiary members of the group at the formation time, membership interests in a third entity that becomes a subsidiary member of the group at that time; and
  - (d) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the third entity:
    - (i) an amount is required to be added (the third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 3 in the table in section 705-60 (about profits accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group); or
    - (ii) an amount is required to be subtracted (also the third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 5 in the table in section 705-60 (about losses accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group);

then, for the purposes of working out under section 705-35 the *tax cost setting amount for the assets of the first entity, the *market value of the first entity's membership interests in the second entity is reduced (in a subparagraph (d)(i) case) or increased (in a subparagraph (d)(ii) case) by the first entity's interest in the third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount (see subsection (5)).

First entity's interest in third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount

- (5) The first entity's interest in the third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first entity's membership interests in third entity held through second entity}}{\text{*Market value of all *membership interests in third entity}} \times \text{Third entity's profit/loss adjustment amount}$$

where:

market value of first entity's membership interests in third entity held through second entity means the *market value of all *membership interests in the third entity that the first entity holds indirectly through the second entity (including through that entity and one or more other entities that become *subsidiary members of the group and are interposed between the second entity and the third entity).

705-163 Modified application of section 705-57

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, in working out *tax cost setting amounts for *trading stock, *depreciating assets or *revenue assets of entities that become *subsidiary members of the group at the formation time, section 705-57 (about loss of pre-CGT status of certain *membership interests) only applies if the *membership interests held directly by the *head company of the group are affected.

Modified application of section 705-57—basic modification

Modified application of section 705-57—additional modifications where section 705-145 applies

- (3) Also, if an entity (the first entity) that becomes a *subsidiary member holds a *membership interest (the subject membership interest) in another entity (the second entity) that becomes a subsidiary member, section 705-57 (as modified in accordance with subsection (2)) is to be applied in relation to the subject membership interest as follows.
- (4) First work out whether there would be a reduction under that section in the *tax cost setting amount for the subject membership interest that is used as mentioned in subsection 705-145(3) (the subsection 705-145(3) tax cost setting amount) if:
  - (a) the subject membership interest, if it is not a revenue etc. asset of the first entity, were taken to be such an asset; and
  - (b) paragraphs 705-57(2)(c) and (d) and subsection 705-57(7) did not apply to the subject membership interest.
- (5) Next, if there would be such a reduction (whose amount is the notional section 705-57 reduction amount):
  - (a) apply section 705-57 to reduce the *tax cost setting amount for any revenue etc. asset of the second entity; and
  - (b) if the second entity holds a *membership interest in another entity that becomes a *subsidiary member—apply section 705-57 in relation to that interest in accordance with subsection (3) of this section;and for those purposes:
  - (c) the subject membership interest is taken to be a membership interest that the *head company of the group holds directly in the second entity at the formation time; and
  - (d) the requirements of paragraphs 705-57(2)(a) and (b) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the subject membership interest; and

Section 705-163

- (e) the subject membership interest is taken to have a *cost base and *reduced cost base equal to the subsection 705-145(3) tax cost setting amount; and
- (f) the subject membership interest is taken to have a loss of pre-CGT status adjustment amount equal to the notional section 705-57 reduction amount.

Note: If the head company actually held any membership interests in the second entity, or if other entities becoming subsidiary members held membership interests in the second entity to which this subsection also applied, those membership interests would also be taken into account in working out the reduction under paragraph (a) and in applying paragraph (b).

Section 705-57 not to apply where membership interests effectively acquired on normal market basis

- (6) If:
  - (a) apart from this subsection, subsection 705-57(6) would apply in accordance with this Subdivision to the revenue etc. assets of an entity (the subject entity) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at the formation time; and
  - (b) at the formation time, the *head company of the group holds all of the *membership interests in the subject entity; and
  - (c) subsection 705-57(6) would apply because a circumstance covered by subsection 705-57(4) (about loss of pre-CGT status because Division 149 etc. applied) existed; and
  - (d) the application of Division 149 of this Act, or the provision of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, as mentioned in paragraph 705-57(4)(b) of this Act happened because the entity that became the *head company of the group (the potential head entity) *acquired all of the *membership interests in the other entity mentioned in that paragraph directly or indirectly from another entity (the vendor); and
  - (e) at the time of the acquisition, the potential head entity did not control (for value shifting purposes) the vendor, and vice-versa, and another entity did not control (for value shifting purposes) the potential head entity and the vendor; and

- (f) the acquisition, or each of the acquisitions, mentioned in subsection 705-57(4) was a *same asset roll-over or was one to which any of former sections 160ZZN to 160ZZOC, 160ZZPA and 160ZZPJ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied;

then subsection 705-57(6) does not apply as mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection.

705-165 Working out pre-CGT factors where subsidiary members have membership interests in other subsidiary members

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that where, on becoming *subsidiary members, entities hold *membership interests in other subsidiary members, the pre-CGT status of membership interests held by the *head company, and not the pre-CGT status of membership interests held by other entities, is used to work out the *pre-CGT factor under section 705-125 for assets of the other subsidiary members.

Pre-CGT factor to be worked out from top down

- (2) If, on becoming *subsidiary members, entities hold *membership interests in any other entities that become subsidiary members, the *pre-CGT factor for the assets of entities holding membership interests must be worked out before the pre-CGT factor for the assets of the entities in which the membership interests are held.

When a consolidated group is acquired by another consolidated group, modifications are made to the operation of Division 701 (the core rules) and Subdivision 705-A (tax cost setting amount where a single entity joins a consolidated group) basically to ensure that the tax cost setting amount for assets of the acquired group that become those of the acquiring group reflects the cost to the latter group of acquiring the former.

705-175 Application and object of this Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision applies if all of the *members of a *consolidated group (the acquired group) become members of another consolidated group (the acquiring group) at a particular time (the acquisition time) as a result of the *acquisition of *membership interests in the *head company of the acquired group.

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is:
  - (a) to modify the rules in Division 701 (the core rules) to complement the treatment of the acquired group as a single entity that applied before the acquisition time; and
  - (b) to modify Subdivision 705-A (which basically determines the tax cost setting amount for assets of an entity joining a consolidated group) to ensure that the *tax cost setting amount for assets of the acquired group that become those of the acquiring group reflects the cost to the latter group of acquiring the former.

Modified application of Division 701 in relation to acquired group etc.

705-180 Modifications of Division 701

Certain provisions of Division 701 not to apply

- (1) If, because an entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the acquired group when this Subdivision applies, a provision of Division 701 (other than section 701-25) would otherwise apply, in relation to the acquired group for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) or for the entity core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(3), the provision does not so apply.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Modified application of section 701-5

- (2) Section 701-5 (the entry history rule) applies in relation to the acquiring group for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) as if entities that are or have been the *subsidiary members of the acquired group were or had been parts of the *head company of the acquired group.

Modified application of section 701-25

- (3) The application of section 701-25 (which ensures tax-neutral consequences for a head company ceasing to hold assets when an entity leaves a group), in relation to the acquired group for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) and for the entity core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(3), is modified as follows:
- (a) the reference in subsection (4) of that section to the end of the income year is taken to be a reference to the end of the income year that ends or, if subsection 701-30(3) as modified by subsection (4) of this section applies, of the income year that is taken to end, when the entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the acquired group;
  - (b) the section applies (as modified by paragraph (a) of this subsection) to the entity that is the *head company of the acquired group ceasing to be a *member of that group in the same way as it applies to an entity that is a subsidiary member of that group ceasing to be a subsidiary member.

Modified application of section 701-30

- (4) If the acquired group only exists for part of the income year, section 701-30 (about an entity not being a subsidiary member of a group for a whole income year) applies in relation to the acquired group for the head company core purposes in the same way as it applies to work out the taxable income, tax payable on that taxable income and loss of each *sort for an entity for a non-membership period.

---

Modified application of Subdivision 705-A in relation to acquiring group

705-185 Subdivision 705-A has effect with modifications

- (1) Subdivision 705-A has effect in relation to the acquiring group for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) as if:
- (a) the only *member of the acquired group that is a joining entity of the acquiring group were the entity that, just before the acquisition time, was the *head company of the acquired group; and
  - (b) the operation of this Part for the head company core purposes in relation to the head company and the entities that were *subsidiary members of the acquired group continued to have effect for the purposes of Subdivision 705-A.

Note 1: This means that for Subdivision 705-A purposes the subsidiary members of the acquired group are treated as part of the head company of that group, and as a result their assets (other than e.g. internal membership interests) have their tax costs set at the acquisition time.

Note 2: It also means e.g. that for Subdivision 705-A purposes the terminating values of the assets of those subsidiary members are worked out as if the assets were those of the head company at the acquisition time, and hence will be based (if applicable) on the tax cost setting amounts for assets that were set at the time entities became subsidiary members of the acquired group.

- (2) However, that effect of Subdivision 705-A is subject to modifications set out in this Subdivision.

Note: The modifications of Subdivision 705-A made in this Subdivision constitute the second exception to Subdivision 705-A: see paragraph 705-15(b).

Modifications of Subdivision 705-A for the purposes of this Subdivision*705-190 Modified application of section 705-50Object*

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that there is no reduction in the *tax cost setting amount of *over-depreciated assets that were brought into the acquired group by an entity on becoming a *subsidiary member, where the over-depreciation will already be corrected as a result of distributions made to the acquired group before that time.

Exclusion of pre-joining distributions to members of acquired group

- (2) If, before it became a *subsidiary member of the acquired group, an entity that is a subsidiary member of the acquired group at the acquisition time paid a dividend to which paragraph 705-50(2)(b) applies, paragraph 705-50(3)(b) also has effect as if the reference in that paragraph to a taxpayer who was not entitled to a rebate of income tax under former section 46 or 46A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 included a reference to:
  - (a) if the acquired group existed at that time—a *member of that group; or
  - (b) if not—an entity that later became a member of that group.

705-195 Modified application of subsection 705-65(6)Object*

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that certain rights or options held by *members of the acquiring group that are part of the cost of acquiring the acquired group are taken into account in working out the acquiring group's *allocable cost amount for the acquired group.

Certain rights or options relating to the acquired group to be treated in same way as membership interests under step 1 of allocable cost amount

- (2) Subsection 705-65(6) has effect as if it also treated as a *membership interest in the *head company of the acquired group a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by a *subsidiary member of the acquired group, to acquire a membership interest in the subsidiary member, where that right or option was held at the acquisition time by a *member of the acquiring group.

705-200 Modified application of section 705-85

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that if any of the following are not held by *members of either group:
- (a) certain employee share interests in *subsidiary members of the acquired group;
  - (b) certain rights or options to acquire *membership interests in subsidiary members of the acquired group;
  - (c) certain preference share interests in subsidiary members of the acquired group;
- and are therefore part of the cost of acquiring the acquired group, they increase the acquiring group's *allocable cost amount for the acquired group.

Increase for certain membership interests in subsidiary members of acquired group

- (2) Subsections 705-85(1), (2) and (4) have effect as if a *membership interest in a *subsidiary member of the acquired group were a membership interest in the *head company of that group.

Increase for certain rights and options to acquire membership interests in subsidiary members of acquired group

- (3) Paragraph 705-85(3)(a) has effect as if it also increased the step 2 amount worked out under section 705-70 by the *market value of any right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by a *subsidiary member the acquired group, to acquire a *membership interest in the subsidiary member, where that right or option was held at the acquisition time by a person other than a *member of the acquiring group or acquired group.

705-205 Modified application of section 705-125

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to make it clear that, in view of the fact that *pre-CGT factors are worked out for assets of the acquired group on acquisition by the acquiring group, pre-CGT factors formerly worked out for assets of entities when they became *subsidiary members of the acquired group cease to have any relevance.

Pre-CGT factors for assets of members on joining acquired groups no longer relevant

- (2) Section 705-125 (which provides for a pre-CGT factor to be worked out for assets of the acquired group) has effect as if a note were added at the end of the section stating that *pre-CGT factors worked out for assets of entities when they became *subsidiary members of the acquired group cease to have any relevance when the acquired group ceases to exist in circumstances in which this Subdivision applies.

Application and object

705-215 Application and object of this Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision has effect for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2) if:
  - (a) 2 or more entities (each of which is a linked entity) become members of a *consolidated group at the same time as a result of an event that happens in relation to one of them; and
  - (b) the case is not covered by Subdivision 705-C.

Note: This is the third exception to Subdivision 705-A: see paragraph 705-15(c). In order for this Subdivision to have effect, one of the entities would need to hold directly or indirectly, just before the joining time, membership interests in all of the other entities.

Example: Entities A and B are not members of a consolidated group, but members of such a group, together with entity A, jointly hold all the membership interests in entity B. Members of the group then acquire all the membership interests in entity A and as a result of this event both entities, which are linked by the membership interests that one holds in the other, become members of the group.

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is to modify the rules in Subdivision 705-A (which basically determine the tax cost setting amount for assets of an entity joining an existing consolidated group) so that they take account of the different circumstances that apply where linked entities join.

Modified application of Subdivision 705-A

705-220 Subdivision 705-A has effect with modifications

- (1) Subdivision 705-A has effect in relation to each linked entity becoming a *subsidiary member of the *consolidated group in the same way as that Subdivision operates in relation to an entity becoming a subsidiary member of a consolidated group in circumstances covered by that Subdivision.

---

---

Section 705-225

---

- (2) However, that effect of Subdivision 705-A is subject to modifications set out in this Subdivision.

705-225 Order in which tax cost setting amounts are to be worked out where linked entities have membership interests in other linked entities

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that where, on becoming *subsidiary members, linked entities hold assets consisting of *membership interests in other linked entities, the *head company's cost of becoming the holder of the assets of all of the linked entities correctly reflects the group's cost of acquiring the linked entities.

Tax cost setting amounts to be worked out from top down

- (2) The *tax cost setting amounts for the assets of linked entities holding *membership interests must be worked out before the tax cost setting amounts for the assets of the linked entities in which the membership interests are held.

Note: The tax cost setting amount in respect of assets of any linked entity in which members of the group, but no linked entity, hold membership interests can be worked out in any order in relation to the calculations for other linked entities.

Tax cost setting amount for higher linked entity's membership interests to be used in working out lower linked entity's tax cost setting amount

- (3) The *tax cost setting amount worked out for assets of a linked entity mentioned in subsection (2) consisting of *membership interests in another such entity is to be used as the amount for those interests under subsection 705-65(1) (step 1 of allocable cost amount) in working out the tax cost setting amount for assets of that other linked entity.

Note 1: Subsection 705-65(1) adds together amounts worked out in accordance with section 705-65 representing the cost of the membership interests that each member of the group holds in the linked entity. If any of those membership interests is held by another

---

---

Section 705-227

linked entity, subsection (3) of this section will replace the amount otherwise applicable with the tax cost setting amount that will have been worked out for the interests in accordance with subsection (2) of this section.

Note 2: The tax cost setting amount worked out for the membership interests has no relevance other than for the purpose mentioned in subsection (3) of this subsection. This is because, under the single entity principle, intra group membership interests are ignored while entities are members of the group. If an entity ceases to be a member, section 701-15 and Division 711 set the tax cost of membership interests in the entity at that time.

Value shifting etc. provisions not to apply to later CGT events involving membership interests

- (4) However, despite subsection (3), subsection 705-65(4) (which prevents the later operation of value shifting etc. provisions) still applies to the *membership interests.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (5) For the purposes of this section, if, on becoming a *subsidiary member, a linked entity holds a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by another linked entity, to acquire a *membership interest in that other linked entity, that right or option is treated as if it were a membership interest in that other linked entity.

705-227 Adjustment in working out step 3A of allocable cost amount to take account of membership interests held by linked entities in other linked entities

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to modify the effect that section 705-93 (step 3A of allocable cost amount) has in accordance with this Subdivision so that it takes account of *membership interests that linked entities hold in other linked entities at the time (the linked entity joining time) when the linked entities become *subsidiary members of the group.

---

---

Section 705-227

---

Apportionment of step 3A amount among first level interposed entities

(2) If:

- (a) under section 705-93, in its application in accordance with this Subdivision, there is a step 3A amount for the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for a particular linked entity (the subject entity); and
- (b) at the linked entity joining time, one or more of the linked entities (the first level entities) in which the *head company holds *membership interests are interposed between the head company and the subject entity;

then the step 3A amount is apportioned among the first level entities and the subject entity on the following basis:

- (c) each first level entity has the following proportion of the step 3A amount:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first level entity's direct and indirect membership interests in subject entity}}{\text{*Market value of all membership interests in subject entity}}$$

where:

market value of all membership interests in subject entity means the *market value, at the linked entity joining time, of all *membership interests in the subject entity that are held by entities that become *members of the group at that time.

market value of first level entity's direct and indirect membership interests in subject entity means so much of the *market value of all membership interests in the subject entity (as defined above) as is attributable to *membership interests that the first level entity holds directly, or indirectly through other linked entities; and

- (d) the subject entity has the remainder of the step 3A amount.

Step 3A amount for assets consisting of membership interests held by linked entities in other linked entities

(3) If:

- (a) before the linked entity joining time:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) there was a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B (a Subdivision 126-B roll-over) in relation to a *CGT event that happened in relation to an asset (the roll-over asset); or
  - (ii) former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied in relation to a disposal (a section 160ZZO roll-over) of an asset (also the roll-over asset); and
- (b) the originating company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferor in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was a foreign resident; and
  - (c) the recipient company in relation to the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the transferee in relation to the section 160ZZO roll-over, was an Australian resident and was not the entity that became the *head company of the group; and
  - (d) between the Subdivision 126-B roll-over, or the section 160ZZO roll-over, and the linked entity joining time, no other CGT event happened in relation to the roll-over asset for which there was not a Subdivision 126-B roll-over or a section 160ZZO roll-over; and
  - (e) the roll-over asset is a *membership interest in a linked entity, other than one that is held at that time by the entity that becomes the head company of the group;
- then, subject to subsection (5), there is under section 705-93 a step 3A amount for the purpose of working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the linked entity (the subject entity) that holds the roll-over asset at the linked entity joining time.

What the step 3A amount is

- (4) The step 3A amount is:
  - (a) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(ii), a *capital loss of the originating company was disregarded or a capital loss of the transferor was not incurred—an increase amount equal to the capital loss; or
  - (b) if, as a result of the Subdivision 126-B roll-over mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(i), or the section 160ZZO roll-over

mentioned in subparagraph (3)(a)(ii), a *capital gain of the originating company was disregarded or a capital gain of the transferor did not accrue—a reduction amount equal to the capital gain.

Apportionment of step 3A amount among first level interposed entities

- (5) If at the linked entity joining time one or more linked entities, in which the *head company holds *membership interests, are interposed between the head company and the subject entity, then the step 3A amount is apportioned among those entities and the subject entity in the same way as a step 3A amount is apportioned under subsection (2).

705-230 Adjustments to restrict step 4 reduction of allocable cost amount to effective distributions to head company in respect of direct membership interests

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the linked entities, the reduction under step 4 in the table in section 705-60 (about pre-formation time distributions out of certain profits) is made only for profits that have been effectively distributed to the *head company in respect of its direct *membership interests in the entities. This ensures consistency with the ordering rule in section 705-225.

When section applies

- (2) This section applies to a distribution to the extent that the following conditions are satisfied:
- (a) the distribution is made by a linked entity;
  - (b) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the linked entity there would, apart from this section, be a reduction under step 4 in the table in section 705-60 for the distribution.

---

Step 4 reduction only if subject distribution is made to head company

- (3) There is no reduction as mentioned in subsection (2) for the distribution unless it is made to the *head company of the group.

705-235 Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount to take account of owned profits or losses of certain linked entities

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to prevent a distortion under section 705-35 in the allocation of *allocable cost amount to a linked entity where that entity has direct or indirect *membership interests in another linked entity that has certain profits or tax losses.

Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount where direct interest in linked entity with profits/losses

- (2) If:
- (a) a linked entity has *membership interests in a second linked entity; and
  - (b) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the second linked entity:
    - (i) an amount is required to be added (the second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 3 in the table in section 705-60 (about profits accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group); or
    - (ii) an amount is required to be subtracted (also the second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 5 in the table in section 705-60 (about losses accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group);

then, for the purposes of working out under section 705-35 the *tax cost setting amount for the assets of the first linked entity, the *market value of the first linked entity's membership interests in the second linked entity is reduced (in a subparagraph (b)(i) case)

---

Section 705-235

or increased (in a subparagraph (b)(ii) case) by the first linked entity's interest in the second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount (see subsection (3)).

First linked entity's interest in second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount

- (3) The first linked entity's interest in the second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first linked entity's *membership interests in second linked entity}}{\text{*Market value of all *membership interests in second linked entity}} \times \text{Second linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount}$$

Adjustment to allocation of allocable cost amount for indirect interest in linked entity with profits/losses

- (4) If:
- (a) a linked entity has *membership interests in a second linked entity; and
  - (b) the second linked entity has, directly or indirectly through one or more interposed linked entities, membership interests in a third linked entity; and
  - (c) in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for the third linked entity:
    - (i) an amount is required to be added (the third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 3 in the table in section 705-60 (about profits accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group); or
    - (ii) an amount is required to be subtracted (also the third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount) under step 5 in the table in section 705-60 (about losses accruing before becoming a subsidiary member of the group);

then, for the purposes of working out under section 705-35 the *tax cost setting amount for the assets of the first linked entity, the *market value of the first linked entity's membership interests in the second linked entity is reduced (in a subparagraph (c)(i) case) or increased (in a subparagraph (c)(ii) case) by the first linked entity's interest in the third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount (see subsection (5)).

First linked entity's interest in third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount

- (5) The first linked entity's interest in the third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of first linked entity's membership interests in third linked entity held through second linked entity}}{\text{*Market value of all *membership interests in third linked entity}} \times \text{Third linked entity's profit/loss adjustment amount}$$

where:

market value of first linked entity's membership interests in third linked entity held through second linked entity means the *market value of all *membership interests in the third linked entity that the first linked entity holds indirectly through the second linked entity (including through that entity and one or more other linked entities that are interposed between the second linked entity and the third linked entity).

705-240 Modified application of section 705-57

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, in working out *tax cost setting amounts for *trading stock, *depreciating assets or *revenue assets of the linked entities, section 705-57 (about loss of pre-CGT status of certain membership interests) only applies if the *membership interests held directly by the *head company of the group are affected.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 705-240

---

Modified application of section 705-57—basic modification

- (2) For the purposes of applying section 705-57 in accordance with this Subdivision, a reference in that section to a *membership interest that a *member of the joined group holds in the joining entity at the joining time is taken to be a reference to a membership interest that the *head company of the *consolidated group holds directly in a linked entity at the time the linked entity becomes a *subsidiary member.

Modified application of section 705-57—additional modifications where section 705-225 applies

- (3) Also, if a linked entity (the first linked entity) holds a *membership interest (the subject membership interest) in another linked entity (the second linked entity), section 705-57 (as modified in accordance with subsection (2)) is to be applied in relation to the subject membership interest as follows.
- (4) First work out whether there would be a reduction under that section in the *tax cost setting amount for the subject membership interest that is used as mentioned in subsection 705-225(3) (the subsection 705-225(3) tax cost setting amount) if:
- (a) the subject membership interest, if it is not a revenue etc. asset of the first linked entity, were taken to be such an asset; and
  - (b) paragraphs 705-57(2)(c) and (d) and subsection 705-57(7) did not apply to the subject membership interest.
- (5) Next, if there would be such a reduction (whose amount is the notional section 705-57 reduction amount):
- (a) apply section 705-57 to reduce the *tax cost setting amount for any revenue etc. asset of the second linked entity; and
  - (b) if the second linked entity holds a *membership interest in another linked entity—apply section 705-57 in relation to that interest in accordance with subsection (3) of this section; and for those purposes:
    - (c) the subject membership interest is taken to be a membership interest that the *head company of the group holds directly in the second linked entity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) the requirements of paragraphs 705-57(2)(a) and (b) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the subject membership interest; and
- (e) the subject membership interest is taken to have a *cost base and *reduced cost base equal to the subsection 705-225(3) tax cost setting amount; and
- (f) the subject membership interest is taken to have a loss of pre-CGT status adjustment amount equal to the notional section 705-57 reduction amount.

Note: If the head company actually held any membership interests in the second linked entity, or if other linked entities held membership interests in the second linked entity to which this subsection also applied, those membership interests would also be taken into account in working out the reduction under paragraph (a) and in applying paragraph (b).

705-245 Working out pre-CGT factors where subsidiary members have membership interests in other subsidiary members

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that, where linked entities hold *membership interests in other linked entities, the pre-CGT status of membership interests held by the *head company, and not the pre-CGT status of membership interests held by other linked entities, is used to work out the *pre-CGT factor under section 705-125 for assets of the other linked entities.

Pre-CGT factor to be worked out from top down

- (2) If linked entities hold *membership interests in any other linked entities, the *pre-CGT factor for the assets of linked entities holding membership interests must be worked out before the pre-CGT factor for the assets of the linked entities in which the membership interests are held.

Subdivision 705-E—Adjustments for errors etc.

Guide to Subdivision 705-E

705-300 What this Subdivision is about

Errors in making tax cost setting amount calculations are reversed by means of an immediate capital gain or loss if it would be unreasonable to require the calculations to be re-done.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

705-305	Object of this Subdivision
705-310	Operation of Part IVA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936
705-315	Errors that attract special adjustment action
705-320	Tax cost setting amounts taken to be correct

Operative provisions

705-305 Object of this Subdivision

The object of this Subdivision is to avoid the time and expense involved in correcting errors affecting *tax cost setting amount calculations. This is done by providing for *capital gains or *capital losses to reverse the errors.

705-310 Operation of Part IVA of the *Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

To avoid doubt, this Subdivision does not limit the operation of Part IVA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

705-315 Errors that attract special adjustment action

- (1) Section 705-320 (about later adjustments to correct *tax cost setting amount calculation errors) applies if the conditions in this section are satisfied.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Tax cost setting amount taken into account

- (2) The first condition is that the *head company of a *consolidated group worked out a *tax cost setting amount, in purported compliance with this Division, for an asset of an entity that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group that is an asset of a kind referred to in section 705-35 as a reset cost base asset.

Error in calculation

- (3) The second condition is that:
- (a) the *head company made one or more errors in working out the *tax cost setting amount; and
  - (b) those errors caused the tax cost setting amount to differ from its correct amount.

If the errors caused the tax cost setting amount to be more, the difference is an overstated amount. If the errors caused the tax cost setting amount to be less, the difference is an understated amount.

Unreasonable to require recalculation

- (4) The third condition is that, having regard to the following factors:
- (a) the net size of the errors compared to the size of the *allocable cost amount for the joining entity;
  - (b) the number of *tax cost setting amounts that would have to be recalculated, and the difficulty of making the recalculations;
  - (c) the number of adjustments, in assessments that could be amended and in future *income tax returns, that would be necessary to correct the errors;
  - (d) the difficulty in obtaining any necessary information;
- it is not reasonable to require a recalculation of the amounts involved.

Exception where error due to fraud or evasion

- (5) However, the conditions in this section are not satisfied if the errors were to any extent due to fraud or evasion.

Section 705-320

Requirement to notify

- (6) The *head company of the *consolidated group must, as soon as practicable after becoming aware that it made one or more errors in working out the *tax cost setting amount, notify the Commissioner in the *approved form:
- (a) that it had made the errors; and
  - (b) of the amount of the overstated amount or understated amount.

705-320 Tax cost setting amounts taken to be correct

- (1) For the purposes of this Act (other than this Subdivision) and for the purposes of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, any *tax cost setting amounts that were worked out by the *head company, so far as they were due to the errors, are taken to have been correct if the conditions in section 705-315 are satisfied.

Note 1: If the conditions in section 705-315 are satisfied, CGT event L6 happens (see section 104-525).

Note 2: Subsection (1) means that the Commissioner cannot amend any assessments necessary to correct the errors, and that (except as mentioned in subsection (2)) no offences or administrative penalties arise in respect of the errors.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply for the purposes of determining whether there is an offence against section 8N of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, or an administrative penalty under section 284-75 or 284-145 in Schedule 1 to that Act, in relation to statements made before the Commissioner became aware of the errors.

Note 1: Section 8N of the Taxation Administration Act 1953 deals with false or misleading statements. Sections 284-75 and 284-145 in Schedule 1 to that Act set out the circumstances in which an entity is liable for an administrative penalty.

Note 2: The offence and administrative penalty provisions however apply on a modified basis—see subsection 8W(1C) of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, and subsections 284-80(2) and 284-150(2) in Schedule 1 to that Act.

What happens if the loss is not transferred?

707-150 Loss cannot be utilised for income year ending after the joining time

707-105 Who can utilise the loss?

(1) If the loss is transferred, the head company is treated for income years ending after the transfer as having made the loss, so the head company can utilise the loss for those income years to the extent permitted by:

- (a) the general rules (outside this Part) about an entity utilising a loss it has made; and
- (b) the special rules about transferred losses in the other Subdivisions of this Division that supplement and modify those general rules.

Note: If the entity from which the loss was transferred became a subsidiary member of the consolidated group, the entity cannot utilise the loss for those income years because of section 701-1 (single entity rule) and section 707-140.

(2) If the loss is not transferred, then, for an income year ending after the time the entity became a member of the consolidated group, the loss cannot be utilised by any entity.

Note: The loss will not be transferred if the entity would not have been able to utilise it or if the transfer is cancelled under section 707-145.

Objects

707-110 Objects of this Subdivision

(1) The main objects of this Subdivision are:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) to provide for the transfer of a loss from an entity (the joining entity) becoming a *member of a *consolidated group to the *head company of the group (so the head company may be able to *utilise it), if the joining entity could have utilised the loss if it had not become a member of the group; and
- (b) to prevent the utilisation by any entity of a loss made by the joining entity, if the joining entity could not have utilised the loss if it had not become a member of the group.

Utilising a loss

- (2) An entity utilises a loss:
  - (a) in the case of a *tax loss—to the extent it is deducted from an amount of the entity's assessable income or *exempt income; and
  - (b) in the case of a *net capital loss—to the extent that it is applied to reduce an amount of the entity's *capital gains.

Application*707-115 What losses this Subdivision applies to

- (1) This Subdivision applies to a loss of any *sort if:
  - (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *member of a *consolidated group (the joined group) at a time (the joining time) in an income year (the joining year); and
  - (b) the loss was made by the joining entity for an income year ending before the joining time.

Note 1: If the joining entity had a loss transferred to it by a previous operation of this Subdivision (when the entity was the head company of a consolidated group), this Subdivision operates later as if the joining entity had made the loss. See section 707-140.

Note 2: Section 707-405 may affect the income year for which the joining entity is treated as having made the loss, if the joining entity made the loss and the loss is referable to part of an income year.

- (2) This Subdivision applies to the loss only to the extent to which the loss is not utilised or otherwise reduced for:
  - (a) an income year ending before the joining time; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 707-120

---

- (b) a non-membership period mentioned in section 701-30 that ended before the joining time.

Transfer of loss from joining entity to head company

707-120 Transfer of loss from joining entity to head company

- (1) At the joining time, the loss is transferred from the joining entity to the *head company of the joined group (even if they are the same entity), to the extent (if any) that the loss could have been *utilised by the joining entity for an income year consisting of the *trial year if:
  - (a) at the joining time, the joining entity had not become a *member of the joined group (but had been a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the head company if the joining entity is not the head company); and
  - (b) the amount of the loss that could be utilised for the trial year were not limited by the joining entity's income or gains for the trial year.

What is the trial year?

- (2) The trial year is the period:
  - (a) starting at the latest of these times:
    - (i) the time 12 months before the joining time;
    - (ii) the time the joining entity came into existence;
    - (iii) the time the joining entity last ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, if the joining entity had been a member of a consolidated group before the joining time but was not a *member of a consolidated group just before the joining time; and
  - (b) ending just after the joining time.

Same business test involving trial year

- (3) When working out whether the joining entity carried on the same business throughout the *trial year (or a period including the trial year) as it carried on at a particular time, assume that the entity

---

---

carried on at and just after the joining time the same business that it carried on just before the joining time.

Transfer of loss for income year overlapping trial year

- (4) If the loss was made by the joining entity for an income year all or part of which occurs in the *trial year, the transfer of the loss under subsection (1) is not prevented by the fact that the loss was made for that income year.

707-125 Modified same business test for companies' post-1999 losses

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) the joining entity made the loss for an income year starting after 30 June 1999; and
  - (b) section 165-13 or subsection 165-15(2) or (3) or 166-5(5) or (6) is relevant to working out (under subsection 707-120(1)) whether the loss is transferred from the joining entity.
- (2) Work out whether the loss is transferred on the basis that section 165-13 required the joining entity to satisfy the *same business test for:
- (a) the period (the same business test period) consisting of:
    - (i) the *trial year; and
    - (ii) the income year that included the *test time worked out for section 165-13 for the joining entity (disregarding paragraph (b) of this subsection), if that income year started before the trial year; and
  - (b) the time (the test time) just before the end of the income year for which the loss was made by the joining entity.
- (3) Work out whether the loss is transferred on the basis that:
- (a) subsection 165-15(2) specified that the period (the same business test period) for the *same business test consisted of:
    - (i) the *trial year; and
    - (ii) the income year in which the person began to control, or became able to control, the voting power in the company, if that income year started before the trial year; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) subsection 165-15(3) required the same business test to be applied to the company's business immediately before the time (the test time) just before the end of the income year for which the loss was made by the joining entity.
- (4) If Subdivision 166-A would apply to the joining entity for an income year consisting of the *trial year, work out whether the loss is transferred on the basis that:
  - (a) subsection 166-5(5) treated the joining entity as having satisfied the condition in section 165-13 if the joining entity satisfied the *same business test for the period (the same business test period) consisting of:
    - (i) the trial year; and
    - (ii) the income year described in subsection (5) of this section, if that income year started before the trial year; and
  - (b) subsection 166-5(6) required the same business test to be applied to the *business that the joining entity carried on at the time (the test time) just before the end of the income year for which the loss was made by the joining entity.

Note: Subdivision 166-A applies to widely held companies and eligible Division 166 companies unless they choose that Subdivision 165-A apply to them without the modifications made by Subdivision 166-A.

- (5) For the purposes of subparagraph (4)(a)(ii), the income year is:
  - (a) the income year in which occurred the first time mentioned in subsection 166-5(6); or
  - (b) the income year of the joining entity containing the time at which the joining entity is taken under subsection 707-210(5) to fail to meet the condition in section 165-12, if that subsection is relevant to working out whether the joining entity can *utilise the loss.

Note 1: Section 707-205 affects the start of the test period if the joining entity made the loss under a previous operation of this Subdivision.

Note 2: Section 707-210 is about whether a company can utilise certain losses transferred to it under this Subdivision from a company.

- (6) Subsection (4) of this section has effect despite subsection 707-210(6).

---

---

Note: Subsection 707-210(6) modifies section 166-5 for working out whether a company can utilise certain losses transferred to it under this Subdivision from a company.

707-130 Modified pattern of distributions test

- (1) This section operates for the purpose of working out (under subsection 707-120(1)) whether the loss is transferred from the joining entity, if section 267-20 in Schedule 2F to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is relevant for that purpose.

Note 1: That section is relevant if the joining entity has been a non-fixed trust (as defined in that Schedule) at any time in the period from the start of the income year in which the entity made the loss until the time it became a subsidiary member of the joined group (and was not an excepted trust, as defined in that Schedule, at all times in the period).

Note 2: That section prevents an entity from utilising a tax loss unless the entity meets the conditions in subsection 267-30(2) (if applicable) and section 267-35 in that Schedule by passing the pattern of distributions test for certain income years.

- (2) Section 267-30 in that Schedule has effect as if the income year mentioned in that section were the joining year, and not the *trial year.

Note: Section 267-30 in that Schedule requires the joining entity to pass the pattern of distributions test for the income year mentioned in that section if that entity distributed income or capital in that income year or within 2 months after the end of that income year.

- (3) Section 267-35 in that Schedule has effect as if the reference in that section to an earlier income year were to an income year earlier than the joining year.

- (4) Disregard each distribution (if any) of income or capital (within the meaning of that Schedule) made by the joining entity after the joining time, so far as it was made from an amount of the entity's income or capital attributable to a time after the joining time, in working out:

- (a) whether section 267-30 in that Schedule requires the joining entity to pass the pattern of distributions test (as defined in that Schedule); and
- (b) whether the joining entity passes that test as required by section 267-30 or 267-35 in that Schedule.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note: Disregarding that percentage of a distribution may affect a test year distribution of income or a test year distribution of capital, as those terms are defined in section 269-65 in that Schedule, and thus affect whether the joining entity passes the pattern of distributions test under section 269-60 in that Schedule.

707-135 Transferring loss transferred to joining entity because same business test was passed

- (1) This section operates if the loss had been transferred to the joining entity (by a previous operation of this Subdivision) because the entity from which the loss was transferred carried on during a particular period the same business as it carried on at a particular time.
- (2) The loss is not transferred from the joining entity to the *head company of the joined group (despite section 707-120), unless the joining entity satisfies the *same business test for:
  - (a) the *trial year (the same business test period); and
  - (b) the time (the test time) just before the end of the income year in which the loss was transferred to the joining entity.

Effect of transfer of loss

707-140 Effect of transfer of loss

- (1) To the extent that the loss is transferred under section 707-120 from the joining entity to the *head company of the joined group, this Act operates (except so far as the contrary intention appears) for the purposes of income years ending after the transfer as if:
  - (a) the head company had made the loss for the income year in which the transfer occurs; and
  - (b) the joining entity had not made the loss for the income year for which the joining entity actually made the loss.

Head company may utilise loss for income year of transfer

- (2) The *head company is not prevented from *utilising the loss for the income year in which the transfer occurs merely because this Act operates as if the head company had made the loss (to the extent of the transfer) for that year.

---

Debt forgiveness in income year for which loss is made

- (3) If a debt of the *head company of the joined group is forgiven (as defined in Subdivision 245-B in Schedule 2C to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) in the income year in which the transfer occurs, subsections 245-105(5) and (6) in that Schedule operate as if the head company had made the loss for an earlier income year.

Note: This subsection has the effect that the loss may be reduced in accordance with one of those subsections by applying the total net forgiven amount for the income year in which the transfer occurs.

Cancelling the transfer of the loss

707-145 Cancelling the transfer of the loss

- (1) The *head company of the joined group may choose to cancel the transfer of the loss.
- (2) If the *head company of the joined group does so, this Act (except this section) operates for all income years ending after the transfer as if it had not occurred under section 707-120.
- (3) The choice cannot be revoked.

What happens if the loss is not transferred?

707-150 Loss cannot be utilised for income year ending after the joining time

To the extent that the loss is not transferred under section 707-120 from the joining entity to the *head company of the joined group, the loss cannot be *utilised by any entity for an income year ending after the joining time.

---

Subdivision 707-B—Can a transferred loss be utilised?

Guide to Subdivision 707-B

707-200 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision modifies rules about a company maintaining the same ownership to be able to utilise a loss transferred to it under Subdivision 707-A, and specifies what things happening before the transfer are to be taken into account in working out whether the company can utilise the loss.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 707-205 Modified period for test for maintaining same ownership
707-210 Utilisation of certain losses transferred from a company depends on company that made the losses earlier

Operative provisions

707-205 Modified period for test for maintaining same ownership

- (1) This section modifies Divisions 165 and 166 for the purposes of working out whether a company can *utilise a loss of any *sort that it made because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A.
- (2) Subdivision 165-A and Division 166 operate for those purposes as if the *loss year started at the time of the transfer.

Note 1: This means that the ownership test period defined by subsection 165-12(1) and the test period defined by subsection 166-5(2) start at the time of the transfer.

Note 2: Without this section, those periods would start at the start of the income year in which the transfer occurred, so events occurring before the transfer (such as changes in holdings of voting power, rights to dividends or rights to capital) could affect whether the company could utilise the tax loss or net capital loss.

---

---

707-210 Utilisation of certain losses transferred from a company depends on company that made the losses earlier

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out whether a company (the latest transferee) can *utilise for an income year a loss it made because of a *COT transfer from a company (the latest transferor).
- (1A) A transfer of a loss under Subdivision 707-A from a company to a company is a COT transfer of the loss if the transfer occurs because:
- (a) the transferor meets the conditions in section 165-12; and
  - (b) the conditions in one or more of paragraphs 165-15(1)(a), (b) and (c) do not exist in relation to the transferor.

Meeting conditions in section 165-12

- (2) The latest transferee is taken to meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the income year in relation to the loss if and only if the company (the test company) described in subsection (3) would have met those conditions for the income year had the circumstances described in subsection (4) existed.

Note 1: The latest transferee and the test company may be the same company.

Note 2: Section 707-405 may affect the income year for which the test company is treated as having made the loss, if the loss is referable to part of an income year.

- (3) The test company is the first company to make the loss. However, if:
- (a) the loss was made by the latest transferor because of one or more earlier transfers of the loss under Subdivision 707-A from a company to a company; and
  - (b) one or more of those earlier transfers was not a *COT transfer;
- the test company is the company to which the loss was transferred in the most recent transfer described in paragraph (b).
- (4) The circumstances are that:
- (a) the test company was not treated by Subdivision 707-A for the income year as not having made the loss; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) if the test company made the loss apart from that Subdivision and transferred the loss to itself under that Subdivision—the test company was not treated by that Subdivision for the income year as having made the loss for the income year in which the transfer occurred; and
- (c) nothing happened, after the time the loss was transferred from the test company to the *head company of a *consolidated group, to *membership interests or voting power:
  - (i) in an entity that was at that time a *subsidiary member of the group; or
  - (ii) in an entity that was at that time interposed between the test company and the head company; that would affect whether the test company would meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the income year; and
- (d) if the loss has later been transferred under that Subdivision to the head company of another consolidated group—nothing happened, after the time of the later transfer, to membership interests or voting power:
  - (i) in the later transferor; or
  - (ii) in an entity that was at that time interposed between the later transferor and the head company; that would affect whether the test company would meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the income year.

Failing to meet conditions in section 165-12

- (5) The latest transferee is taken to fail to meet a condition in section 165-12 only at:
  - (a) the first time the test company would have failed to meet the condition had the circumstances described in subsection (4) existed; or
  - (b) the test time described in subsection 166-5(6) for the test company, if Division 166 is relevant to working out whether the test company could have *utilised the loss had the circumstances described in subsection (4) existed.

---

---

Same business test applying to latest transferee under Division 166

- (6) If subsection 166-5(5) affects whether the latest transferee can *utilise the loss for the income year because the latest transferee is a *widely held company or an *eligible Division 166 company, or both, during the year, subsection 166-5(6) operates as if it required the *same business test to be applied to the *business the latest transferee carried on just before the time described in subsection (5) of this section.

If the test company made the loss because of a transfer

- (7) If the test company made the loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A from another entity, Divisions 165 and 166 operate in relation to the test company for the purposes of subsection (2) as if the test company's *loss year started at the time of the transfer.

Object

707-305 Object of this Subdivision

- (1) The main object of this Subdivision is to limit, in a way that gives effect to the principles in subsections (2) and (3), the amount of losses transferred under Subdivision 707-A that can be *utilised for an income year by the transferee.
- (2) One principle is that the transferee is to *utilise the transferred losses for an income year only to the extent to which it has income or gains for the income year remaining after reduction by its other losses and deductions.
- (3) The other principle is that the amount of a transferred loss that the transferee can *utilise is to reflect the amount of the loss that the transferor could have *utilised for the income year if the transferor of the loss (whether the original maker of the loss or not) had not become a *member of a *consolidated group at the time of the transfer.
- (4) To give effect to those principles, this Subdivision operates on the assumption that, if each transferor of a loss to the transferee had not become a *member of a *consolidated group at the time of the transfer:
  - (a) all the transferors of transferred losses to the transferee would have made income or gains for the year whose total did not exceed the transferee's income or gains for the year remaining after reduction by its other losses and deductions; and
  - (b) a particular transferor's income or gains for the year would have equalled a fraction of the transferee's income or gains for the year remaining after reduction by its other losses and deductions.

---

- (5) The fraction is worked out by reference to the transferor's *market value at the time of the transfer (on the assumption that market value reflects capacity to generate income or gains in future).

How much of a transferred loss can be utilised?

707-310 How much of a transferred loss can be utilised?

- (1) This section limits the amount of losses in a particular *bundle of losses transferred under Subdivision 707-A that can be *utilised by the transferee. The limit is set by reference to the *available fraction for the bundle.

Note: Section 707-335 of this Act and section 707-350 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 set different limits on utilising losses in a bundle of losses in certain circumstances.

Basic rule

- (2) The transferee cannot *utilise more of the losses in the *bundle than the transferee would have been able to utilise (apart from this section) under the conditions in subsections (3), (4) and (5).
- (3) The first condition is that the only amount of the transferee's *ordinary income, *statutory income or gains (if any) of a kind described in column 1 of an item of the table for the income year is the *available fraction of the amount worked out as described in column 2 of the item having regard to:
- (a) the transferee's *ordinary income, *statutory income or gains for the income year apart from this section; and
  - (b) the transferee's deductions for the income year and losses, except losses transferred to the transferee under Subdivision 707-A.

Section 707-310

Income and gains
Column 1 The transferee's ordinary income, statutory income or gains of this kind:	Column 2 Are worked out by reference to this amount:
1 *Capital gains	The result of: (a) step 2 of the method statement in subsection 102-5(1); or (b) step 3 of the method statement in section 165-111;  (as appropriate) for the transferee and the income year
3 *Exempt film income	The transferee's *net exempt film income for the income year remaining after deduction of the transferee's *film losses (if any)
4 *Assessable film income	The transferee's *net assessable film income for the income year remaining after deduction of the transferee's *film losses (if any)
5 *Exempt income other than *exempt film income	The amount of the transferee's *net exempt income for the income year that would have remained after deducting from it the transferee's *tax losses (if any), assuming the amount of that income were what it would have been had the transferee not had *exempt film income for the year
6 Assessable income that is not attributable to *capital gains and is not *assessable film income	The amount (if any) that would have been the transferee's taxable income (if any) for the income year if the transferee had not had for the income year: (a) any *net capital gain; or (b) any *net assessable film income;  reduced by the amount (the transferee's grossed-up franking offset amount ) worked out in accordance with paragraph (3A)(c)

(3A) For the purposes of subsection (3):

- (a) the transferee's *tax losses to which paragraph (b) of, or the table in, that subsection applies are to be worked out on the assumption that the transferee chooses to deduct under subsection 36-17(2) all of the tax losses and that subsection 36-17(5) does not apply to that choice; and

- (b) except as mentioned in paragraph (a) of this subsection, amounts worked out as described in column 2 of an item of the table in subsection (3) are to be worked out making the same choices as the transferee actually makes in working out its taxable income as stated in its *income tax return for the income year; and
- (c) the transferee's grossed-up franking offset amount mentioned in column 2 of item 6 in the table is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{1}{\text{*Corporate tax rate for the income year}} \times \text{Franking offsets}$$

where:

franking offsets means the total amount of *tax offsets to which the transferee is entitled for the income year under Division 207 and Subdivision 210-H (except those that are subject to the refundable tax offset rules because of section 67-25).

- (4) The second condition is that once the amounts of the transferee's income or gains have been worked out under subsection (3) they are not reduced by:
  - (a) deductions, or losses, other than losses in the *bundle; or
  - (b) taxes or expenses described in subsection 375-805(4) (which is about *net exempt film income).

Note: One of the effects of subsection (4) is that, for working out how much of a film loss in the bundle can be deducted from the transferee's net exempt film income or net assessable film income:

- (a) the transferee's net exempt film income will be the same as its exempt film income worked out under subsection (3); and
  - (b) the transferee's net assessable film income will be the same as its assessable film income worked out under subsection (3).
- (5) The third condition is that once the amounts of the transferee's *exempt income have been worked out under subsection (3), assume that the transferee had no losses, outgoings or taxes

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

described in subsection 36-20(1) (which is about *net exempt income), in working out how much of a *tax loss in the *bundle can be deducted from the transferee's net exempt income.

707-315 What is a bundle of losses?

- (1) A bundle of losses comes into existence at the time (the initial transfer time) a loss of any *sort that has not previously been transferred under Subdivision 707-A is transferred under that Subdivision from an entity (the real loss-maker) to the *head company of a *consolidated group (the joined group).
- (2) At the initial transfer time, the bundle consists of every loss (regardless of its *sort) that:
  - (a) is transferred at that time under that Subdivision from the real loss-maker to the *head company of the joined group; and
  - (b) has not been transferred under that Subdivision before that time.

Note: For certain purposes, section 707-327 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 treats the bundle as including certain other losses too.

- (3) The bundle still exists at a later time if it includes at that later time at least one loss of any *sort that could be *utilised or otherwise reduced by an entity for an income year ending after that time (even if one or more losses have ceased to be included in the bundle before that later time).

Note: A bundle continues to exist even if the losses in it are transferred again under Subdivision 707-A after the initial transfer time.

- (4) A loss ceases to be included in a *bundle at the first time for which it is true that the loss cannot be *utilised or otherwise reduced by any entity for an income year ending after that time.
- (5) If, had a loss been made by a company as assumed under a provision of Division 170, the loss would have been transferred under Subdivision 707-A, this Subdivision and other provisions that relate to or may affect the *available fractions for one or more *bundles of losses (including sections 707-140 and 719-325) operate as if the transfer had occurred.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 707-320

Note: Section 707-140 provides for a choice to cancel a transfer under Subdivision 707-A. Section 719-325 provides for a choice to cancel all losses in certain bundles of losses. A choice under one of those sections may result in a bundle not coming into existence, or not being in existence after a certain time.

- (6) To avoid doubt, a choice under section 707-145 or 719-325, as it operates because of subsection (5) of this section, relating to the loss does not affect or prevent:
- (a) a transfer of the loss that would have occurred under Subdivision 707-A as described in another application of that subsection involving a different company; or
  - (b) *utilisation of the loss by the company that actually made the loss and is different from the company assumed under Division 170 to have made the loss.

Note: Therefore a choice under section 707-145 or 719-325, as operating because of subsection (5) of this section, will be able to cause only one bundle not to exist, and will not affect the existence of other bundles that are treated as existing because of other operations of that subsection.

707-320 What is the available fraction for a bundle of losses?

- (1) The available fraction for a *bundle of losses at a time is:

$$\frac{\text{*Modified market value of the real loss-maker at the initial transfer time}}{\text{Transferee's adjusted market value at the initial transfer time}}$$

where:

transferee's adjusted market value at the initial transfer time

means the amount that would be the *market value, at the initial transfer time, of the transferee to which the losses in the *bundle were transferred at that time if:

- (a) the transferee did not have a loss of any *sort for an income year ending before that time; and
- (b) the balance of the transferee's *franking account were nil at that time.

Note: The value for the transferee will be worked out on the basis that subsidiary members of the consolidated group headed by the transferee are part of the transferee, because of section 701-1 (the single entity rule).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 707-320

- (2) However, if an event described in an item of the table happens, the available fraction for the *bundle is reduced or maintained just after the event by multiplying it by the factor identified in the item:

Factors affecting the available fraction
Item	Event	Factor
1	One or more losses in the *bundle are transferred for the second or subsequent time	The lesser of 1 and this fraction: $\frac{\text{*Market value of the transferor at the time of the transfer}}{\text{*Market value of the transferee at the time of the transfer}}$
2	At the same time as the losses in the *bundle were most recently transferred, losses in one or more other bundles were transferred from the same transferor to the same transferee, and the losses in the bundle or one of the other bundles had not been transferred before	The result of dividing the lesser of: (a) the available fraction (apart from this subsection) for the bundle of losses that had not been transferred before; and (b) 1; by the sum of the available fractions for all the bundles (apart from this item applying to transfers at the time)
3	The company to which the losses in the *bundle were most recently transferred has transferred to it at a later time losses in one or more other bundles	$1 - \frac{\text{Total of the available fractions for the other bundles just after the later time}}{\text{Total of the available fractions for the other bundles just after the later time}}$
4	There is an increase in the *market value of the company to which the losses in the *bundle were most recently transferred, because of an event described in subsection 707-325(4) (but not covered by subsection 707-325(5))	$\frac{\text{*Market value of the company just before the event}}{\text{*Market value of the company just before the event} + \text{Amount of the increase}}$
5	The available fractions (apart from this item) for all the *bundles of losses most recently made by the company that most recently made the losses in the bundle total more than 1.000	$\frac{1}{\text{The total}}$

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) If the transfer under Subdivision 707-A of one or more losses in a *bundle causes events described in 2 or more items of the table in subsection (2) to happen and require calculations of the available fraction for that bundle and for one or more other bundles:
- (a) make the calculations required by those items in the order in which the items appear in the table; and
  - (b) take account of the results of a calculation under an earlier item in making a calculation under a later item.
- (4) For a *bundle of losses:
- (a) subject to paragraph (b)—the available fraction is worked out to 3 decimal places, rounding up if the fourth decimal place is 5 or more; or
  - (b) if the available fraction worked out under paragraph (a) is 0.000 and, if it were worked out to more decimal places, it would include one or more non-zero digits—the available fraction is worked out to the number of decimal places that includes the first or only such digit, rounding up if the next decimal place is 5 or more.
- Examples:        For 0.000328, the available fraction is 0.0003. For 0.000086, the available fraction is 0.00009.
- (4A) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect subject to subsection (4).
- (5) If, apart from this subsection, the available fraction for a *bundle of losses would need to be worked out by dividing a number by 0, work out the available fraction by dividing the number by 1.
- (6) The available fraction for a *bundle of losses is 0 if, apart from this subsection, it would be negative.

707-325 Modified market value of an entity becoming a member of a consolidated group

Basic rule

- (1) The modified market value of an entity that becomes a *member of a *consolidated group at a particular time is the amount that would be the *market value of the entity at that time if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) the entity had no loss of any *sort for any income year, and the balance of its *franking account at that time were nil; and
- (b) the *subsidiary members of the group at that time were separate entities and not just parts of the *head company of the group; and
- (c) the entity's market value did not include an amount attributable (directly or indirectly) to a *membership interest in a member of the group (other than the entity):
  - (i) that is a *corporate tax entity; or
  - (ii) that transferred a loss under Subdivision 707-A to the head company of the group at or before that time; and
- (d) the contribution to the entity's market value made by a trust (other than one that is a member described in paragraph (c)) were limited to the amount attributable to the entity's *fixed entitlements (if any) at that time to income or capital of the trust that is not attributable (directly or indirectly) to a membership interest in such a member.

Note 1: Section 707-330 affects the modified market value of an entity that becomes a subsidiary member of the consolidated group, if the entity was the head company of another consolidated group just beforehand.

Note 2: Section 707-325 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 provides for an entity's modified market value to be increased in certain circumstances for the purposes of working out the available fraction for a bundle of losses transferred from the entity.

Rule to prevent inflation of modified market value

- (2) However, if:
  - (a) one or more of the events described in subsection (4) occurred in the 4 years before the time; and
  - (b) the amount worked out under subsection (1) exceeds what it would have been if none of those events had occurred;the modified market value of the entity at the time is the amount worked out under subsection (1), reduced by the amount worked out under subsection (3).
- (3) The amount of the reduction is the lesser of:
  - (a) the excess described in paragraph (2)(b); and

---

---

- (b) the total increase in the *market value of the entity that occurred immediately after each event mentioned in paragraph (2)(a) because of the event.
- (4) These are the events:
- (a) an injection of capital into the entity or an entity that was an *associate of the entity (or of the trustee of the entity, if the entity is a trust) at the time of the injection;
  - (b) a transaction that:
    - (i) did not take place at arm's length; and
    - (ii) involved the entity or an entity that was an associate of the entity (or of the trustee of the entity, if the entity is a trust) at the time of the transaction.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(a), disregard an injection of capital if, and only if, it is made:
- (a) into a *listed public company through a *dividend reinvestment *scheme involving the issue of a *share in the company to an entity that held a share in the company before the injection; or
  - (b) in association with the acquisition of a *share in a company in relation to which:
    - (i) the conditions in subsection 703-35(5) are met; or
    - (ii) the conditions in paragraphs 703-35(5)(a), (b), (d) and (e) are met and in relation to which the Commissioner has made a determination under subsection 139CD(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (c) in association with the acquisition of a *share, in a body corporate, in relation to which the conditions in subsection 703-37(4) are met.

Note 1: Section 703-35 of this Act and section 139CD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 deal with shares acquired under arrangements for employee shareholdings.

Note 2: Section 703-37 of this Act deals with certain preference shares following an ADI restructure.

Section 707-330

707-330 Losses transferred from former head company

- (1) This section has effect for working out the *available fraction for a *bundle of losses if:
  - (a) an entity (the ex-head company) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the bigger group) at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) just before the joining time the ex-head company was the *head company of another consolidated group (the old group); and
  - (c) at the joining time the losses are transferred under Subdivision 707-A from the ex-head company to the head company of the bigger group.
- (2) Work out the ex-head company's *modified market value or *market value as if each *member of the bigger group that had been a *subsidiary member of the old group just before the joining time were a part of the ex-head company, and not a separate member of the bigger group, when the transfer occurred.
- (3) Also, work out the ex-head company's *modified market value as if each *subsidiary member of the old group had been a part of the ex-head company while it was a subsidiary member of the old group.

707-335 Limit on utilising transferred losses if circumstances change during income year

- (1) This section limits the amount of losses in a particular *bundle of losses transferred under Subdivision 707-A that can be *utilised by the transferee for an income year if:
  - (a) the losses in the bundle are transferred to the transferee after the start of the income year; or
  - (b) the value of the *available fraction for the bundle changes at a time within the period (the transferee's loss-holding period) described in subsection (2).
- (2) The transferee's loss-holding period:

---

---

---

Section 707-340

- (a) starts at the start of the income year or, if the losses in the *bundle were transferred to the transferee from another entity during the income year, at the time of the transfer; and
  - (b) ends when one of these events occurs:
    - (i) the income year ends;
    - (ii) the transferee becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group.
- (3) The transferee cannot *utilise for the income year more of the losses than is reasonable having regard to:
- (a) the method in section 707-310 for working out the maximum amount of the losses the transferee could utilise for the income year (apart from this section); and
  - (b) the number of days in the transferee's loss-holding period; and
  - (c) the value or values of the *available fraction for the *bundle during the transferee's loss-holding period; and
  - (d) the number of days in the transferee's loss-holding period for which the available fraction for the bundle has a particular value; and
  - (e) the principle that, if the transferee transferred the losses to itself under Subdivision 707-A after the start of the income year, the amount of the losses it can utilise for the income year should be worked out as if:
    - (i) the losses had been included in the bundle from the start of the income year; and
    - (ii) the available fraction for the bundle had been 1 from the start of the income year until the time of the transfer; and
  - (f) any other relevant matters.
- (4) Section 707-310 has effect subject to this section.

707-340 Utilising transferred losses while exempt income remainsTransferred film losses and net exempt film income*

- (1) If:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 707-340

---

- (a) the transferee of *film losses in a *bundle of losses has deducted from its *net exempt film income for an income year an amount of those losses that:
  - (i) is equal to the amount of *exempt film income worked out under subsection 707-310(3) for the transferee and the bundle; or
  - (ii) if section 707-335 affects the transferee's utilisation of losses in the bundle—is reasonable, having regard to that section; and
- (b) the transferee still has net exempt film income for the year and film losses remaining in the bundle;

the fact the transferee still has net exempt film income does not stop it deducting film losses remaining in the bundle from its *net assessable film income for the year.

Transferred tax losses and net exempt income

(2) If:

- (a) the transferee of *tax losses (other than *film losses) in a *bundle of losses has deducted from its *net exempt income for an income year an amount of its tax losses (other than film losses) in the bundle that:
  - (i) is equal to the amount of *exempt income worked out under subsection 707-310(3) for the transferee and the bundle; or
  - (ii) if section 707-335 affects the transferee's utilisation of losses in the bundle—is reasonable, having regard to that section; and
- (b) the transferee still has net exempt income for the year and tax losses (other than film losses) remaining in the bundle;

the fact the transferee still has net exempt income does not stop it deducting tax losses (other than film losses) remaining in the bundle from its assessable income for the year.

Limit on deduction

- (3) This section does not allow the deduction for an income year of an amount of losses in a *bundle so as to exceed the limit set by

707-410 Exit history rule does not treat entity as having made a loss

The object of this Subdivision is for each *consolidated group to operate what is in substance a single *franking account, by ensuring that:

- (a) there is a nil balance in the franking accounts of entities becoming *subsidiary members of the group; and
- (b) the franking accounts of those subsidiary members do not operate while they are subsidiary members; and

- (d) the head company is the only *member of the group that can frank distributions.

Treatment of franking accounts at joining time

709-60 Nil balance franking account for joining entity

- (1) This section operates if an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time).
- (2) If the joining entity's *franking account is in surplus just before the joining time:
  - (a) a debit equal to the *franking surplus arises at the joining time in the joining entity's franking account; and
  - (b) a credit equal to the franking surplus arises at the joining time in the franking account of the *head company of the group.
- (3) If the joining entity's *franking account is in deficit just before the joining time:
  - (a) a credit equal to the *franking deficit arises at the joining time in the joining entity's franking account; and
  - (b) the joining entity is liable to pay *franking deficit tax as if the joining entity's income year had ended just before the joining time; and
  - (c) despite item 5 of the table in section 205-15, a credit does not arise under that item in the joining entity's franking account because of that liability.

Treatment of subsidiary member's franking account

709-65 Subsidiary member's franking account does not operate

The *franking account of an entity that is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group does not operate during the period:

- (a) beginning just after the entity becomes a subsidiary member of the group; and
- (b) ending when the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group.

Treatment of head company's franking account

709-70 Credits arising in head company's franking account

(1) This section operates if a credit would arise in the *franking account of a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the crediting time) apart from section 709-65.

(2) A credit arises in the *franking account of the *head company of the group at the crediting time.

Note: A credit can also arise in the head company's franking account at any time under section 205-15.

(3) The amount of the credit is the same as the amount of the credit that would arise in the *franking account of the *subsidiary member.

(4) This section does not apply to a credit arising in the *subsidiary member's *franking account under paragraph 709-60(3)(a).

Note: Such a credit arises if the entity that became the subsidiary member had a deficit in its franking account just before the time it became the subsidiary member. The credit equals the deficit, creating a nil balance in the account from that time.

709-75 Debits arising in head company's franking account

(1) This section operates if a debit would arise in the *franking account of a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the debiting time) apart from section 709-65.

(2) A debit arises in the *franking account of the *head company of the group at the debiting time.

Note: A debit can also arise in the head company's franking account at any time under section 205-30.

(3) The amount of the debit is the same as the amount of the debit that would arise in the *franking account of the *subsidiary member.

(4) This section does not apply to a debit arising in the *subsidiary member's *franking account under paragraph 709-60(2)(a).

Note: Such a debit arises if the entity that became the subsidiary member had a surplus in its franking account just before the time it became the subsidiary member. The debit equals the surplus, creating a nil balance in the account from that time.

Franking distributions by subsidiary member

709-80 Subsidiary member's distributions on employee shares and certain preference shares taken to be distributions by the head company

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group makes a *frankable distribution; and
  - (b) the distribution is made because an entity (the shareholder) owns a *share in the subsidiary member; and
  - (c) the share must be disregarded under subsection 703-35(4) or 703-37(4); and
  - (d) the distribution is made to the shareholder, or to another entity because the shareholder owns the share; and
  - (e) the entity to which the distribution is made is not a *member of the group.

Note 1: Subsection 703-35(4) requires certain shares held under employee share schemes to be disregarded.

Note 2: Subsection 703-37(4) requires certain preference shares to be disregarded following an ADI restructure.

- (2) Part 3-6 operates as if the *distribution were a *frankable distribution made by the *head company of the group to a *member of the head company.

Note: Part 3-6 deals with imputation.

709-85 Non-share distributions by subsidiary members taken to be distributions by head company

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) an entity holds a *non-share equity interest in a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) the subsidiary member makes a *non-share distribution to the entity as holder of the interest; and
  - (c) the distribution is a *frankable distribution; and

Section 709-90

---

- (d) the entity to which the distribution is made is not a *member of the group.
- (2) Part 3-6 operates as if the *distribution were a *frankable distribution made by the *head company of the group to a *member of the head company.

Note: Part 3-6 deals with imputation.

709-90 Subsidiary member's distributions to foreign resident taken to be distributions by head company

Part 3-6 operates as if a *frankable distribution made by a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the foreign-held subsidiary) were a frankable distribution made by the *head company of the group to a *member of the head company if:

- (a) the foreign-held subsidiary meets the set of requirements in section 703-45, section 701C-10 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 or section 701C-15 of that Act; and
- (b) the frankable distribution is made to a foreign resident.

Note: Part 3-6 deals with imputation.

Payment of group liability by former subsidiary member

709-95 Payment of group liability by former subsidiary member

- (1) This section operates if:
  - (a) an entity (the former subsidiary) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the old group) at a particular time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) at or after the leaving time, the former subsidiary:
    - (i) *pays a PAYG instalment for which it was jointly and severally liable under subsection 721-15(1) because it was a subsidiary member of the old group; or
    - (ii) *pays income tax for which it was jointly and severally liable under that subsection because it was a subsidiary member of the old group; and

---

- (c) apart from this section, a *franking credit would arise under section 205-15 in the *franking account of the former subsidiary at a time (the crediting time) because of that payment.
- (2) The credit:
- (a) does not arise at the crediting time in the *franking account of the former subsidiary; and
  - (b) instead, arises at the crediting time in the franking account of the entity that was the *head company of the old group at the leaving time.

709-100 Refund of income tax to former subsidiary member

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) an entity (the former subsidiary) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the old group) at a particular time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) at or after the leaving time, the former subsidiary *receives a refund of income tax for which it was jointly and severally liable under subsection 721-15(1) because it was a subsidiary member of the old group; and
  - (c) apart from this section, a *franking debit would arise under section 205-30 in the *franking account of the former subsidiary at a time (the debiting time) because of that payment.
- (2) The debit:
- (a) does not arise at the debiting time in the *franking account of the former subsidiary; and
  - (b) instead, arises at the debiting time in the franking account of the entity that was the *head company of the old group at the leaving time.

Subdivision 709-B—Imputation issues

Guide to Subdivision 709-B

709-150 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision modifies the way Division 208 (exempting entities and former exempting entities) operates in relation to consolidated groups.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

709-155	Testing consolidated groups
709-160	Subsidiary member is exempting entity
709-165	Subsidiary member is former exempting entity
709-170	Head company and subsidiary are exempting entities
709-175	Head company is former exempting entity

Operative provisions

709-155 Testing consolidated groups

- (1) To determine whether a *consolidated group is an *exempting entity or *former exempting entity, the tests in Division 208 are applied to the *head company of the group.
- (2) However, there are some additional rules that can alter the way that Division 208 applies to a *consolidated group. These are set out in sections 709-160 to 709-175.
- (3) In applying those rules to an entity that is a *member of a *consolidated group:
  - (a) Division 208 is to be applied before those rules; and
  - (b) that Division is to be applied just after the entity became a member of the group but, for a *subsidiary member, it is to be applied on the assumption that the subsidiary was not a member of the group at that time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) Except as mentioned in paragraph (3)(b), Division 208 has no application to a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group.

709-160 Subsidiary member is exempting entity

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) the *head company of a *consolidated group is neither an exempting entity nor a *former exempting entity; and
  - (b) a *corporate tax entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (c) the entity is an *exempting entity at the joining time.
- (2) These rules apply to the *consolidated group.

- (b) a *corporate tax entity becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at a time (also the joining time); and
- (c) the entity is an exempting entity at the joining time.

Note 1: If the subsidiary's franking account is in surplus, that surplus will be transferred to the head company's franking account: see subsection 709-60(2).

Subdivision 709-C—Treatment of excess franking deficit tax offsets when entity becomes a subsidiary member of a consolidated group

Guide to Subdivision 709-C

709-180 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides that any excess in the tax offset arising from a franking deficit tax liability of an entity that becomes a subsidiary member of a consolidated group is transferred to the head company of the group.

Table of sections

709-185	Joining entity's excess franking deficit tax offsets transferred to head company
709-190	Exit history rule not to treat leaving entity as having a franking deficit tax offset excess

709-185 Joining entity's excess franking deficit tax offsets transferred to head company

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) the joining entity is entitled to a *tax offset under section 205-70 for the income year that ends or, if subsection 701-30(3) applies, that is taken by subsection (3) of that section to end, at the joining time; and
  - (c) the offset exceeds (the excess being the joining entity's excess) the amount that would have been the joining entity's income tax liability for that income year if it did not have that offset (but had all its other tax offsets).

---

---

Transfer of excess to head company

- (2) For the purpose of applying subsection 205-70(1) to the *head company of the *consolidated group for the income year in which the joining time occurs:
- (a) if the head company does not, after taking into account any application of this section to any other entity that became a *subsidiary member of the group before the joining time, have an excess mentioned in paragraph 205-70(1)(c) for the previous income year—the head company is taken to have an excess mentioned in that paragraph for the previous income year equal to the joining entity's excess; and
  - (b) if the head company does have such an excess—that excess is taken to be increased by the amount of the joining entity's excess.

Joining entity prevented from utilising excess in later income years

- (3) For the purpose of applying subsection 205-70(1) to the joining entity for any income year after that in which the joining time occurs, the joining entity's excess is disregarded.

709-190 Exit history rule not to treat leaving entity as having a franking deficit tax offset excess

To avoid doubt, if:

- (a) the *head company of a *consolidated group is entitled to a *tax offset under section 205-70 for an income year; and
- (b) the offset exceeds the amount that would have been the head company's income tax liability for that income year if it did not have that offset (but had all its other tax offsets); and
- (c) an entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group in the income year;

the entity is not taken because of section 701-40 (the exit history rule):

- (d) to have the excess mentioned in paragraph (b); or
- (e) to have another excess of that kind because of the circumstances that caused the head company to have the excess.

Subdivision 709-D—Deducting bad debts

Guide to Subdivision 709-D

709-200 What this Subdivision is about

An entity can deduct a bad debt that:

- (a) has for a period been owed to a member of a consolidated group; and
- (b) has for another period been owed to an entity that was not a member of that group; only if each entity that has been owed the debt for such a period could have deducted the debt had it been written off as bad at the end of the period. This applies even if the debt is owed to the same entity for different periods.

Table of sections

Application and object

709-205 Application of this Subdivision

Limit on deduction of bad debt

709-215 Limit on deduction of bad debt

Extension of Subdivision to debt/equity swap loss

709-220 Limit on deduction of swap loss

Application and object

709-205 Application of this Subdivision

- (1) This Subdivision affects whether an entity (the claimant) that is or has been a *member of a *consolidated group and writes off a debt, or part of a debt, as bad may deduct the debt or part if the conditions in subsection (2) exist.

---

Note: This Subdivision affects similarly whether an entity that is or has been a member of a consolidated group and extinguishes a debt as part of a debt/equity swap may deduct a loss resulting from the swap. See section 709-220.

- (2) The conditions are that, in the time starting when the debt was incurred (whether to the claimant or another entity) and ending when the claimant wrote off the debt or part:
- (a) the debt was owed to an entity (whether the claimant or another entity) for a period (a debt test period) when the entity was a *member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) the debt was owed to an entity (whether the claimant or another entity) for a period (also a debt test period) when the entity was a not a member of that group.

Note 1: The debt must have been owed to the claimant for at least one of the debt test periods for the claimant to have been able to write it off.

Note 2: One effect of section 701-1 (Single entity rule) is that a debt is taken to be owed to the head company of a consolidated group while the debt is owed to a subsidiary member of the group.

- (3) Ignore section 701-5 (Entry history rule) and section 701-40 (Exit history rule) in identifying a debt test period.

Note: Subsection (3) does not affect sections 701-5 and 701-40 so far as they operate to treat the debt, or part of the debt, as having been included in the claimant's assessable income. That inclusion is generally a condition under section 25-35 for the claimant to be able to deduct the debt.

- (4) This Subdivision does not apply in relation to a debt merely because it is assigned:
- (a) from an entity that is a *member of a *consolidated group to an entity that is not a member of that group; or
  - (b) from an entity that is not a member of a consolidated group to an entity that is a member of a consolidated group; or
  - (c) from an entity that is a member of a consolidated group to an entity that is a member of another consolidated group.

This subsection has effect despite subsections (1) and (2).

Note: There is not an assignment of a debt from one entity to another merely because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) starts or ceases to apply in relation to the entities so that the debt ceases to be a debt owed to one entity and becomes a debt owed to the other entity.

---

Section 709-210

---

709-210 Object of this Subdivision

The main object of this Subdivision is to ensure that the claimant can deduct the debt, or part of it, only if each entity that was owed the debt for a debt test period could have deducted the debt if it had been written off as bad at the end of the period.

Limit on deduction of bad debt

709-215 Limit on deduction of bad debt

- (1) The claimant can deduct the debt, or part of the debt, if, and only if:
  - (a) section 8-1 or 25-35 permits the deduction (ignoring subsection 25-35(5) and the provisions mentioned in that subsection); and
  - (b) the condition in subsection (2) is met for each debt test period.
- (2) The condition is that the entity that was owed the debt for the debt test period could have deducted the debt for an income year (the debt test income year) starting and ending at the times identified in subsection (3) if:
  - (a) the entity had written off the debt as bad at the end of the period; and
  - (b) these provisions (the modified provisions) had effect as described in this section:
    - (i) sections 165-123 and 165-126 (which are about conditions that must be met for a company to be able to deduct a bad debt);
    - (ii) sections 266-35, 266-85, 266-120, 266-160 and 267-25 in Schedule 2F to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (which are about conditions that must be met for certain kinds of trusts to be able to deduct a bad debt);
    - (iii) other provisions of this Act so far as they relate to a section listed in subparagraph (i) or (ii); and

---

(c) these provisions did not apply:

- (a) the *first continuity period started at the start time shown in the table and ended at the start of the debt test income year; and
  - (b) the *second continuity period were the debt test income year or, for the purposes of section 165-123 and Subdivision 166-C defining periods by reference to the second continuity period, the period:
    - (i) starting at the start of the debt test income year; and

Test time for same business test under section 165-126

- (6) For the purposes of subsection (2), the modified provisions have effect as if subsection 165-126(2) specified that the test time were the later of these times (or either of them if they are the same):
- (a) the first time at which it is not practicable to show that the company will meet the conditions in section 165-123 (as modified by this section);
  - (b) the time just after the start of the debt test period.

Business at and just after the end of the debt test period

- (7) If:
- (a) the debt test period ends when the entity that was owed the debt for the period becomes a *member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) under the modified provisions, the *business that the entity carried on at or just after the end of the period is relevant to the question whether the entity could have deducted the debt as described in subsection (2);
- those provisions have effect for the purposes of that subsection as if the entity carried on at those times the business it carried on just before the end of the period.

Extension of Subdivision to debt/equity swap loss

709-220 Limit on deduction of swap loss

Object

- (1) The object of this section is to limit the circumstances in which an entity can deduct a swap loss (as defined in section 63E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) resulting from a debt/equity swap (as defined in that section) to circumstances similar to those in which this Subdivision lets an entity deduct a debt it writes off as bad.

- (3) Subsection 709-215(1):
  - (a) applies in relation to a swap loss from a debt/equity swap in the same way as it applies in relation to a debt, or part of a debt; and
  - (b) applies as if paragraph 709-215(1)(a) referred to subsection 63E(3) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 instead of sections 8-1 and 25-35.

Application and object of this Division*711-5 Application and object of this DivisionApplication*

- (1) This Division has effect:
  - (a) for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2); and
  - (b) for the entity core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(3);if an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group (the old group) at a particular time (the leaving time).

Object

- (2) The object of this Division is, when entities cease to be *subsidiary members, to preserve the alignment of the *head company's costs for *membership interests in entities and their assets that is established when entities become subsidiary members.

Note: The reasons for preserving this alignment are set out in subsection 705-10(3).

- (3) This is achieved by recognising the *head company's cost for those interests, just before the leaving time, as an amount equal to the cost of the leaving entity's assets at the leaving time reduced by the amount of its liabilities.
- (4) If multiple entities cease to be *subsidiary members at the same time, the cost of any *membership interests that one holds in another is treated in a similar way.

Tax cost setting amount for membership interests etc.*711-10 Tax cost setting amount worked out under this Division

If this Division applies, the amount of the following is worked out under the Division:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 711-15

---

- (a) the *tax cost setting amount for the purposes of item 2 in the table in section 701-60 for each *membership interest in the leaving entity that *members of the old group held; and
- (b) if 2 or more entities cease to be *subsidiary members of the group at the same time because of an event happening in relation to one of them—the tax cost setting amount for the purposes of item 4 in the table in that section for each membership interest that the leaving entity holds in any of the other entities.

711-15 Tax cost setting amount where no multiple exit

- (1) The *tax cost setting amount for each *membership interest in the leaving entity that *members of the old group held, where paragraph 711-10(b) does not apply, is worked out by:
  - (a) first, working out the old group's *allocable cost amount for the leaving entity in accordance with section 711-20; and
  - (b) next, if there is more than one class of membership interests in the leaving entity—allocating the allocable cost amount to each class in proportion to the *market value of all of the membership interests in the class; and
  - (c) next, allocating the result under paragraph (a) or (b) to each of the membership interests, or membership interests in the class, by dividing the result by the number of those membership interests; and
  - (d) finally, if the leaving entity is a trust—for each membership interest in the trust that satisfies these conditions:
    - (i) it is neither a unit nor an interest in the trust;
    - (ii) the member of the old group that held it began to hold it only because money or property was settled on the trust;
    - (iii) it either had no *cost base or it had a cost base of nil;reducing the result under paragraph (c) to nil.

Note: Compare the treatment of such interests when an entity joins a group: see section 713-20.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 711-20Rights and options to acquire membership interests*

- (2) For the purposes of this section, if at the leaving time a *member of the old group holds a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by the leaving entity, to acquire a *membership interest in the leaving entity, that right or option is treated as if:
- (a) it were a membership interest in the leaving entity; and
  - (b) it were of a different class than any other membership interest in the leaving entity.

711-20 What is the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity?

- (1) Work out the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity in this way:

Working out the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity

1	Start with the step 1 amount worked out under section 711-25, which is about the *terminating values of assets that the leaving entity takes with it when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member.	To ensure that the allocable cost amount includes the cost of the assets.
2	Add to the result of step 1 the step 2 amount worked out under section 711-35, which is about the value of deductions inherited by the leaving entity that are not reflected in the *terminating value of the assets that the leaving entity takes with it.	To ensure that the value of the deductions is reflected in the allocable cost amount.
3	Add to the result of step 2 the step 3 amount worked out under section 711-40, which is about liabilities owed by *members of the old group to the leaving entity at the leaving time.	To ensure that the liabilities, which are not recognised while the leaving entity is taken to be part of the *head company by subsection 701-1(1), are reflected in the allocable cost amount.

---

Working out the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity

Step	What the step requires	Purpose of the step
4	Subtract from the result of step 3 the step 4 amount worked out under section 711-45, which is about: (a) the liabilities that the leaving entity takes with it when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member; and (b) *membership interests in the leaving entity that are not held by *members of the old group.	To ensure that the allocable cost amount is reduced to reflect the liabilities and the *market value of the membership interests.
5	If the amount remaining after step 4 is positive, it is the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity. Otherwise the old group's allocable cost amount is nil.

Note: If the amount remaining after step 4 is negative, the head company is taken to have made a capital gain equal to the amount: see CGT event L5.

Recalculation in order to work out amount of capital loss

- (2) If it is necessary to work out whether the *head company makes a capital loss for a *CGT event that happens at or after the leaving time in relation to any of the *membership interests, the old group's allocable cost amount for the leaving entity is instead worked out as if the head company's *terminating value for any asset covered by subsection 705-30(4) (as it applies for the purposes of section 711-30) were instead equal to the asset's *reduced cost base just before the leaving time.

711-25 Terminating values of assets that the leaving entity takes with it—step 1 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 1 in the table in subsection 711-20(1), the step 1 amount is worked out by adding up the *head company's *terminating values of all the assets that the head company holds at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) to be a part of the head company.

---

Goodwill

- (2) If loss of control and ownership of the leaving entity by the *head company would decrease the *market value of the goodwill associated with assets or businesses of the old group (other than those of the leaving entity), the head company's *cost base of the asset consisting of goodwill that it holds at the leaving time because of its control and ownership of the leaving entity is added to the step 1 amount.

Note: If the asset arose because the head company acquired control and ownership of a joining entity, subsection 705-35(3) would have applied in relation to the joining entity. The asset could also have arisen e.g. because the head company acquired a business from an entity without acquiring the entity.

Increase in step 1 amount for certain former privatised assets

- (3) If:
- (a) the *head company of the old group *holds a *depreciating asset at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) to be a part of the head company; and
  - (b) the asset's *tax cost was set at the *tax cost setting amount when an entity (whether the leaving entity or another entity) became a *subsidiary member of the old group; and
  - (c) the tax cost setting amount for the asset was reduced because of section 705-47 (which is about certain assets that were *privatised assets);
- the amount of the reduction is added to the step 1 amount.

Increase in step 1 amount for certain privatised assets

- (4) If:
- (a) the *head company of the old group *holds a *depreciating asset at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) to be a part of the head company; and
  - (b) the first element of the *cost of the asset was worked out by reference to subsection 58-70(5) because a *member of the old group acquired the asset as described in subsection 58-5(4) on or after 1 July 2002; and

- (c) the amount of the first element of the cost of the asset is less than the amount it would have been apart from item 11 of the table in subsection 40-180(2) (which makes subsection 58-70(5) relevant to working out that element);

the difference between the amounts is added to the step 1 amount.

711-30 What is the head company's terminating value for an asset?

- (1) The *head company's terminating value for an asset that it holds at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) to be a part of the head company is worked out as follows.
- (2) The amount is worked out by applying section 705-30 in a corresponding way to the way that section applies to work out the *terminating value for an asset that a joining entity holds at the joining time.
- (3) However, that amount is the asset's *market value at the leaving time if:
  - (a) the asset is a right to receive lease payments under a lease; and
  - (b) the asset's *tax cost was set when an entity (whether the leaving entity or another entity) became a *subsidiary member of the old group; and
  - (c) the asset was taken to be a *retained cost base asset for the purposes of Division 705 when its tax cost was set, because of paragraph 705-56(3)(b).

711-35 If head company becomes entitled to certain deductions—step 2 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 2 in the table in subsection 711-20(1), the step 2 amount is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Owned deductions} + \left[ \frac{\text{Acquired deductions} \times \text{*General company tax rate}}{\text{tax rate}} \right]$$

---

where:

acquired deductions means all deductions covered by subsection (2) for expenditure that constituted an acquired deduction of the *head company under subsection 705-115(1) when an entity (whether or not the leaving entity) became a *subsidiary member of the old group.

owned deductions means the sum of all deductions covered by subsection (2) that are not acquired deductions.

- (2) This subsection covers any deduction to which the leaving entity becomes entitled under section 701-40 as a result of the leaving entity ceasing to be a *subsidiary member of the old group, other than a deduction for expenditure:
- (a) that is, forms part of or reduces, the cost of an asset that becomes an asset of the leaving entity because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply; or
  - (b) to which section 110-40 (about expenditure on assets acquired before 7.30 pm on 13 May 1997) applies.

711-40 Liabilities owed to the leaving entity by members of the old group—step 3 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 3 in the table in subsection 711-20(1), the step 3 amount is the total, for all liabilities owed by *members of the old group to the leaving entity at the leaving time, of the *market values of the corresponding assets of the leaving entity.

Where cost of liability is less than its market value

- (2) However, if subsection (3) applies to any of the liabilities, the cost amount mentioned in that subsection, instead of the *market value, is to be used under subsection (1) for the liability in working out the step 3 amount.
- (3) This subsection applies to a liability if:
- (a) the *member of the old group would have made a *capital gain or a *capital loss for the *CGT event that, disregarding subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity principle), would have happened when the liability arose; and

- (b) the amount (the cost amount) of:
- (i) if the CGT event is or would have been CGT event D1—the *incidental costs; or
  - (ii) if the CGT event is CGT event D2, D3 or F1—the expenditure incurred; or
  - (iii) in any other case—the *cost base or *reduced cost base; that would be taken into account is less than the *market value of the liability.

711-45 Liabilities etc. owed by the leaving entity—step 4 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 4 in the table in subsection 711-20(1), the step 4 amount is worked out by adding up the amounts of each thing (an accounting liability) that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, is a liability of the leaving entity at the leaving time that can or must be identified in the entity's statement of financial position.

Exclusion where transfer of accounting liability

- (2) An amount is not to be added for an accounting liability that arises because of the leaving entity's ownership of an asset if, on *disposal of the asset, the accounting liability will transfer to the new owner.

Example: A liability to rehabilitate a mine site, where, under legislation or a licence, the liability will be transferred to the new owner on disposal of the mine.

Exclusion where liability is obligation to make finance lease payments

- (2A) An amount is not to be added for an accounting liability that is the leaving entity's obligation as lessee to make lease payments under a lease, if:

Section 711-45

- (a) subsection 705-56(4) applied in relation to the liability, at a time when an entity (whether the leaving entity or another entity) became a *subsidiary member of the old group; and
- (b) the liability was not taken into account under subsection 705-70(1) at that time, because of paragraph 705-56(4)(b).

Reduction for future deduction

- (3) If some or all of an accounting liability will result in a deduction to the leaving entity, the amount to be added for the accounting liability is reduced by the following amount:

$$\left[ \text{Deduction} \times \frac{\text{*General company}}{\text{tax rate}} \right] - \text{Double-counting adjustment}$$

where:

double-counting adjustment means the amount of any reduction that has already occurred in the accounting liability under subsection (1) to take account of the future availability of the deduction.

Amount for intra-group liabilities

- (4) If an accounting liability of the leaving entity is owed to a *member of the old group, the amount to be added for the liability is the *market value of the corresponding asset of the member.

Adjustment for unrealised gains and losses

- (5) If, for income tax purposes, an accounting liability, or a change in the amount of an accounting liability, (other than one owed to a *member of the old group) is taken into account at a later time than is the case in accordance with *accounting standards or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, the amount to be added for the accounting liability is equal to the payment that would be necessary to discharge the liability just before the leaving time without an amount being included in the assessable income of, or allowable as a deduction to, the *head company.

Note: An example is accrued employee leave entitlements or foreign exchange gains and losses.

Increase in step 4 amount for employee share interests

- (6) If any *membership interest (an employee share interest) in the leaving entity needed to be disregarded under section 703-35 in order for the leaving entity to be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *head company at the leaving time, the step 4 amount is increased by the sum of the *market values of those interests.

Increase to cover ADI restructure preference share interests

- (6A) If any *share in the leaving entity needed to be disregarded under section 703-37 in order for the leaving entity to be a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *head company at the leaving time, the step 4 amount is increased by the sum of the *market values of those shares.

Increase to cover certain equity interests

- (7) The step 4 amount is increased by the *market value of each thing that, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, is equity in the leaving entity at the leaving time, where the thing is also a *debt interest.

Adjustment where amount of liability differed for purpose of calculating allocable cost amount on entry

- (8) If:
- (a) a leaving entity's liability mentioned in any preceding subsection was taken into account in working out the *allocable cost amount for a *subsidiary member (whether or not the leaving entity) of the old group in accordance with Division 705 (the entry ACA); and
  - (b) the amount (the entry amount) of the liability that was so taken into account is different from the amount (the exit amount) of the liability taken into account in applying the subsection; and

(c) the entry ACA was different from what it would have been if the exit amount, instead of the entry amount, had been taken into account in working it out; then, for the purpose of applying the subsection, the liability is taken to be of an amount equal to the entry amount.

711-55 Tax cost setting amount for membership interests where multiple exit

- (1) If 2 or more entities cease to be *subsidiary members of the old group at the same time because of an event happening in relation to one of them, the *tax cost setting amount for each *membership interest mentioned in paragraphs 711-10(a) and (b) is worked out in accordance with this section.

Object

- (2) The object of this section is to ensure that the *tax cost setting amount for *membership interests that each entity holds in another entity reflects a proportion of the other entity's cost for its net assets.

Tax cost setting amounts to be worked out for certain membership interests in all of the entities

Note: In doing so, tax cost setting amounts worked out under subsection (3) of this section for membership interests held by the leaving entity in other entities will be taken into account in working out the allocable cost amount for the leaving entity. Those tax cost setting amounts will in turn have been affected by any other tax cost setting amounts worked out under subsection (3) for membership interests in other entities.

Tax cost setting amount for membership interests acquired by leaving entity

First, work out company A's tax cost setting amount for membership interests in company C and company B's tax cost setting amount for membership interests in companies D and E by applying section 711-15 in accordance with paragraph (3)(a) above.

Next, work out company A's tax cost setting amount for membership interests in company B under that section as so applied, taking into account the tax cost setting amount just worked out for company B's assets consisting of shares in companies D and E.

accordance with subsection (4) above, taking into account the tax cost setting amounts worked out for companies B and C.

711-65 Membership interests treated as having been acquired before 20 September 1985—simple caseWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) any of the assets (a pre-CGT factor asset), that the *head company of the old group holds at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) to be a part of the head company, has a *pre-CGT factor under section 705-125; and
  - (b) section 711-70 (about the multiple exit of *subsidiary members) does not apply; and
  - (c) the leaving entity does not cease to be a subsidiary member of the old group where Subdivision 705-C (about the old group joining another consolidated group) applies.

Interests treated as if purchased before 20 September 1985

- (2) If this section applies, a number of the *membership interests in the leaving entity that *members of the old group hold are taken to have been acquired before 20 September 1985.

Note: Because of the deemed acquisition of the membership interests, this section is the only basis on which any of these interests can be pre-CGT assets.

Number of pre-CGT membership interests

- (3) The number is the result of the formula in subsection (4), rounded down to:
- (a) the nearest whole number if the result is not already a whole number; or
  - (b) zero if the result is a number more than zero but less than one.

Formula

- (4) The formula is:

$$\text{Number of * membership interests in leaving entity held by *members of old group} \times \text{Leaving entity's pre-CGT proportion}$$

where:

leaving entity's pre-CGT proportion is the amount worked out under subsection (5).

Pre-CGT proportion

- (5) Work out the leaving entity's pre-CGT proportion in this way:

Leaving entity's pre-CGT proportion

- Step 1. For each *pre-CGT factor asset, multiply its *market value before the leaving time by its *pre-CGT factor.
- Step 2. Add up all the results of step 1.
- Step 3. Add up the *market values of all the assets that the *head company holds at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by section 701-1 to be a part of the head company.
- Step 4. Divide the result of step 2 by the result of step 3.

Dealing with classes of membership interests

- (6) If there are 2 or more classes of *membership interests in the leaving entity, this section operates separately in relation to each class as if the interests in that class were all the interests in the entity.

Allocation of the number to particular membership interests

- (7) The *head company must choose which particular *membership interests comprise the number worked out under subsection (2).

---

Modification if leaving entity is a trust

- (8) If the leaving entity is a trust, a *membership interest in it is not taken into account under this section unless the membership interest is either a unit or an interest in the trust.

711-70 Membership interests treated as having been acquired before 20 September 1985—multiple exit case

- (1) If 2 or more entities (multiple exit entities) cease to be *subsidiary members of the old group at the same time because of an event happening in relation to one of them (other than where Subdivision 705-C applies), a number of the *membership interests (subject interests) held in any multiple exit entity by:
- (a) *members of the old group; or
  - (b) other multiple exit entities; or
  - (c) any combination of paragraphs (a) and (b);
- are taken to have been acquired before 20 September 1985.

Numbers to be worked out first for bottom entities

- (2) Numbers are to be worked out first for subject interests in multiple exit entities that do not themselves hold any of the subject interests in other multiple exit entities.

Numbers to be worked out progressively up to those subject interests held only by members of the old group

- (3) If the holders of other subject interests are or include multiple exit entities, numbers must be worked out for the former subject interests before both the latter and any subject interests whose holders consist entirely of *members of the old group.

How to work out the numbers

Example: Companies A, B, C, D and E are all subsidiary members that leave the old group at the same time. Just before the leaving time, company A owned shares in company B and company C, and company B owned shares in companies D and E.

First, work out company A's number for membership interests in company C and company B's number for membership interests in companies D and E.

Next, work out company A's number for membership interests in company B, taking into account the number just worked out for company B's assets consisting of shares in companies D and E.

Finally, work out the old group's number for membership interests in company A, taking into account the numbers worked out for its assets consisting of shares in companies B and C.

Note: Because of the deemed acquisition of the membership interests, this section is the only basis on which any of the subject interests can be pre-CGT assets.

Allocation of the number to particular membership interests

- (5) The *head company must:
  - (a) choose which particular *membership interests comprise any number worked out under this section; and
  - (b) if any *membership interest that is so chosen is held by a multiple exit entity—inform that entity of the fact.

Determining destination of distribution by non-fixed trust

713-50	Factors to consider
--------	---------------------

Working out a joined group's allocable cost amount for a joining trust

713-20 Increasing the step 1 amount for settled capital that could be distributed tax free in respect of discretionary interests

- (1) The object of this section is to increase the step 1 amount worked out under section 705-65 (for the purpose of working out the joined group's allocable cost amount) if:
- (a) the joining entity is a trust; and
  - (b) some or all of the *membership interests in the trust are neither units nor interests in the trust; and
  - (c) some or all of the trust capital is settled capital that could be distributed tax free at the joining time.

The increase in the step 1 amount takes account of the settled capital that could be distributed tax free.

Note 1: As a result, the settled capital that could be distributed tax free is treated in a way that is analogous to the group's cost of acquiring the trust: see subsection 705-10(2).

Note 2: Paragraph (1)(b) reflects the position that a distribution in respect of a unit or interest in the trust is generally covered by CGT event E4 and so is not tax-free: see section 104-70.

- (2) The step 1 amount worked out under section 705-65 is increased by the amount worked out under the following method statement if, at the joining time, there are *membership interests (the discretionary interests) in the trust each of which satisfies these conditions:
- (a) it is neither a unit nor an interest in the trust;
  - (b) the entity that owned it at the joining time began to own it only because money or property was settled on the trust;
  - (c) it either has no *cost base or it has a cost base of nil.

Note: If a membership interest has a cost base greater than nil, the cost base is already taken into account in working out the step 1 amount under section 705-65.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Method statement

Step 1. Add up:

- (a) each amount settled on the trust before or at the joining time; and
- (b) the *market value of each item of property settled on the trust before or at the joining time, worked out as at when the item was settled; except to the extent that that amount or market value forms part of the *cost base of a *membership interest in the trust that was taken into account in working out the step 1 amount under section 705-65.

Step 2. Work out how much of the step 1 amount would have been paid in respect of the discretionary interests if, at the joining time:

- (a) the entire trust capital and trust income had been realised and distributed; and
- (b) the trust had ended.

Note: This may involve determining how a power of appointment would have been exercised. Section 713-50 lists matters to have regard to in determining this.

Step 3. Reduce the step 2 amount by so much of it as:

- (a) would have been included in the assessable income of any *member of the trust who owned any of the discretionary interests at the joining time; or
- (b) would have been taken into account in working out a *capital gain or *capital loss made by such a member.

Entities that are not independent and unconnected donors to the trust

3	An entity that, because of a *scheme, will or may become a *member of the *consolidated group at some time after the joining time
4	An entity that, when the amount or item of property was settled on the joining entity, was an *associate of an entity covered by item 1, 2 or 3
5	An entity that, in settling the amount or item of property on the joining entity, acted in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of one or more entities, at least one of which is covered by item 1, 2, 3 or 4 (whether those directions, instructions or wishes were communicated directly or indirectly, including through interposed entities)
6	A company or trust that an entity covered by item 1, 2 or 3 would be taken to *control (for value shifting purposes) when the company or trust settled the amount or item of property on the joining entity, if each entity covered by item 1, 2, 3 or 4 had been at that time an *associate of every other entity covered by item 1, 2, 3 or 4
7	A partnership if, when the partnership settled the amount or item of property on the joining entity, a *member of the partnership was an entity covered by item 1, 2, 3, 4 or 6

713-25 Undistributed, realised profits that accrue to joined group before joining time and could be distributed tax free—step 3 in working out allocable cost amount

- (1) For the purposes of step 3 in the table in section 705-60, if the joining entity is a trust, the step 3 amount is the sum of the trust's realised profits, to the extent that:
- (a) they accrued to the joined group before the joining time (as defined in subsection 705-90(7)); and
  - (b) as at the joining time, they have not been distributed to *members of the trust; and
  - (c) if each of them were distributed as mentioned in paragraphs 705-90(7)(a) and (b):
    - (i) they would be distributed otherwise than in respect of a unit or an interest in the trust; or
    - (ii) their non-assessable parts for the purposes of section 104-70 would be disregarded in working out whether or not a *capital gain had been made because of CGT event E4; except to the extent that they recouped losses of any *sort that accrued to the joined group before the joining time (as defined in subsection 705-90(8)).

Note: If the joining entity, or an entity interposed between the head company and the joining entity, is a non-fixed trust, this section may involve determining how a power of appointment would have been exercised. Section 713-50 lists matters to have regard to in determining this.

Trusts not covered

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to a trust that is a *corporate tax entity at the joining time.

Note: This excludes corporate unit trusts and public trading trusts, which are covered by the imputation system.

Determining destination of distribution by non-fixed trust

713-50 Factors to consider

In working out, for the purposes of this Part, how much of something a *non-fixed trust would have distributed to an entity, or in respect of a *membership interest in the trust, have regard to all relevant factors, including:

- (a) the pattern of any previous distributions by the trust; and
- (b) by whom the trust has from time to time been *controlled (for value shifting purposes).

Subdivision 713-C—Some unit trusts treated like head companies of consolidated groups

Guide to Subdivision 713-C

713-120 What this Subdivision is about

A corporate unit trust or public trading trust can sometimes choose to form a consolidated group and be treated like a company and head company of the group. The treatment affects the trust, the trustee and other entities connected with the trust (such as members of the trust and entities the trustee holds membership interests in).

Choice to form a consolidated group

713-130 Choosing to form a consolidated group

Effects of choice

713-135 Effects of choice

713-140 Modifications of the applied law

Object of this Subdivision

713-125 Object of this Subdivision

- (1) The main object of this Subdivision is to provide, by the means described in subsections (2) and (3), for certain unit trusts to be treated like companies, and therefore like *head companies of *consolidated groups, with consequent effects on other entities including:
  - (a) the trustees; and
  - (b) *members of the trusts; and
  - (c) entities the trustees hold *membership interests in.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-130

---

- (2) The first means is letting a *corporate unit trust, or *public trading trust, that could become the *head company of a *consolidated group if the trust were a company, choose to form such a group (with other entities as *subsidiary members).
- (3) The second means is changing the way in which the law relating to income tax applies on and after the time the choice takes effect, so that law (with some modifications) applies in relation to the trust or the trustee (as appropriate) in a way corresponding to the way in which that law applies in relation to a company.

Note: The law relating to income tax includes legislation relating to associated imposts (such as those connected with the imputation system).

Choice to form a consolidated group

713-130 Choosing to form a consolidated group

A trust may make a choice under section 703-50 (Choice to consolidate a consolidatable group), as if the trust were a company (the assumed company), but only if:

- (a) the assumed company could make the choice, if it beneficially owned the *membership interests in other entities that are legally owned by the trustee; and
- (b) the day specified in the choice is the first day of an income year for which the trust is a *corporate unit trust or a *public trading trust.

Note: Assuming that a trust is a company also involves assuming:

- (a) that the company has characteristics of the trust, such as the location of the central management and control (which is relevant to residence), the business of the trust, not being incorporated etc.; and
- (b) that membership interests in the trust are membership interests in the company (owned by the same persons and in the same way as membership interests in the trust are owned); and
- (c) that the company's taxable income is taxed at the same rate as the trust's net income.

---

Effects of choice

713-135 Effects of choice

(1) If the trust makes the choice, the law (the applied law) described in subsection (2) applies in relation to the trust in a way corresponding to the way in which that law applies to a company. The applied law applies in that way in relation to the trust or trustee (as appropriate):

- (a) with the appropriate modifications (including those described in section 713-140, so far as they are appropriate); and
- (b) in relation to all times at or after the start of the day specified in the choice; and
- (c) so far as it is relevant to the operation of the applied law in relation to the trust and a time at or after the start of that day—in relation to a time when the trust existed before the start of that day.

Note 1: The application of the applied law in this way affects not only the trust and the trustee but also other entities connected with the trust, such as members of the trust and entities in which the trustee holds membership interests. Some examples of that effect are that:

- (a) a consolidated group comes into existence on the day specified in the choice; and
- (b) there may be a scrip for scrip roll-over for an entity exchanging its shares in a company for membership interests in the trust.

Note 2: The application of the applied law in this way involves treatment of characteristics, things and persons relating to the trust corresponding to the treatment by the applied law of analogous characteristics, things and persons relating to a company (as envisaged in the note to section 713-130). These are some examples of analogous things and analogous persons:

- (a) units in the trust and shares in a company;
- (b) unitholders in the trust and shareholders in a company;
- (c) trust voting interests and voting shares in a company.

(2) The applied law is:

- (a) this Act (other than this Subdivision); and
- (b) an Act that imposes any impost payable under this Act; and
- (c) the Income Tax Rates Act 1986; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-140

---

- (d) the Taxation Administration Act 1953, so far as it relates to an Act covered by paragraph (a), (b) or (c); and
  - (e) any other Act, so far as it relates to an Act covered by paragraph (a), (b), (c) or (d); and
  - (f) regulations and other legislative instruments under an Act covered by any of the preceding paragraphs.
- (3) Subsection (1) does not make an entity liable to a criminal, civil or administrative penalty.

Note: An entity is liable to such a penalty under the applied law only if that law, as it applies apart from subsection (1), makes the entity liable.

713-140 Modifications of the applied law

Overview

- (1) This section describes modifications of the applied law in its application in relation to a trust or trustee under section 713-135, but does not limit the modifications of that law that are appropriate for the purposes of that section.

(3) The trust is not covered by a reference in the applied law to a trust.

Note: Subsections (3) and (4) of this section do not affect an entity's liability for criminal, civil and administrative penalties under the applied law, as those subsections modify (so far as appropriate) the applied law as it applies because of subsection 713-135(1), and that subsection does not affect liability for such penalties (see subsection 713-135(3)).

(4) The trustee is not covered by a reference in the applied law to a trustee (except a reference in section 254 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).

Objects

713-205 Objects of this Subdivision

- (1) The first object of this Subdivision is to ensure that if:
  - (a) an entity that is a partner in a partnership becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) the partnership does not become a *subsidiary member of the group;the provisions mentioned in subsection (3) operate as if the *partnership cost setting interests of the entity in the partnership were the entity's only assets relating to the partnership.

---

---

Section 713-205

---

Note: In general, the head company of the consolidated group is treated as a partner in the partnership, in accordance with section 701-1 (the single entity rule).

- (2) The second object of this Subdivision is to ensure that where a partnership becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, the provisions mentioned in subsection (3) operate:
- (a) as if the group became the holder of the assets of the partnership; and
  - (b) to set the *tax cost of the assets of the partnership at an appropriate amount, taking into account the taxation treatment of partnerships.

Note: While the partnership is a subsidiary member of the group, it loses its separate tax identity (under the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1)). Therefore, in general, the assets of the partnership are treated as assets of the head company of the group and partnership cost setting interests in the partnership are ignored.

- (3) The provisions are:
- (a) section 701-10 (about setting the tax cost of assets of an entity joining a group); and
  - (b) Subdivision 705-A; and
  - (c) any other provision of this Act giving Subdivision 705-A a modified effect in circumstances other than those covered by that Subdivision.

Note: An example of provisions covered by paragraph (c) are the provisions of Subdivision 705-B giving Subdivision 705-A a modified effect when a consolidated group is formed.

- (4) The third object of this Subdivision is to ensure that, where a partnership ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, the provisions mentioned in subsection (5) operate:
- (a) as if the group's *partnership cost setting interests were the group's only assets relating to the partnership; and
  - (b) to set the *tax cost of those interests at an appropriate amount, taking into account the fact that the group ceases to be the holder of the assets of the partnership.

- (5) The provisions are:
- (a) sections 701-15 and 701-50 (about setting the tax cost of membership interests in an entity that leaves the group); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) sections 701-20 and 701-45 (about the cost of assets consisting of certain liabilities owed by or to an entity that leaves the group); and
- (c) Division 711.

Partnership cost setting interests etc.

713-210 Partnership cost setting interests

A partnership cost setting interest in a partnership is the asset that is comprised of:

- (a) an interest in an asset of the partnership; or
- (b) an interest in the partnership that is not covered by paragraph (a);

but does not include an asset that is comprised of a *membership interest in the partnership.

Note 1: A partner may have more than one partnership cost setting interest that relates to an asset of the partnership (see section 106-5).

Note 2: A partnership cost setting interest may relate to an asset of the partnership, but the asset of the partnership is not a partnership cost setting interest in the partnership.

713-215 Terminating value for partnership cost setting interest

- (1) This section modifies the way in which the *terminating value of a *partnership cost setting interest in a partnership is worked out under section 705-30.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the *terminating value of the *partnership cost setting interest at a time is:
  - (a) if the interest relates to an asset of the partnership—the interest's individual share of the terminating value of that asset (worked out in accordance with subsection (3)) at that time; or
  - (b) otherwise—the terminating value of the interest at that time worked out under section 705-30.
- (3) To work out the amount of the *terminating value of the asset of the partnership mentioned in paragraph (2)(a), apply section 705-30 as if:

---

Section 713-220

---

- (a) the time mentioned in subsection (2) were the joining time mentioned in that section; and
- (b) the partnership were, at the time mentioned in subsection (2), the joining entity mentioned in that section.

Setting tax cost of partnership cost setting interests

713-220 Set tax cost of partnership cost setting interests if partner joins consolidated group

- (1) This section applies if an entity (the joining entity) that is a partner in a partnership becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time).

Note: If the partnership becomes a subsidiary member of the group at the joining time, the application of this section is affected by section 713-235.

- (2) In applying the provisions mentioned in subsection 713-205(3) in relation to the joining entity:
  - (a) work out the *tax cost setting amount for each *partnership cost setting interest in the partnership that the joining entity holds at the joining time, in accordance with section 713-225; and
  - (b) except for the purposes of section 713-235 (which applies only if the partnership joins the group), do not work out tax cost setting amounts for the assets of the partnership; and
  - (c) do not work out tax cost setting amounts for the *membership interests in the partnership held by the joining entity.

Note 1: Because of paragraphs (b) and (c), no amount of allocable cost amount for the joining entity is allocated to the assets of the partnership, or to membership interests in the partnership held by the joining entity.

Note 2: If assets of the partnership are held on revenue account, the related partnership cost setting interests held by the joining entity have their tax cost set at the joining time. However, that tax cost does not alter calculations of the net income or exempt income of the partnership, or of a partnership loss, for the purposes of section 92 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

713-225 Tax cost setting amount for partnership cost setting interest

- (1) This section modifies the way in which the *tax cost setting amounts are worked out under Division 705 for the *partnership cost setting interests mentioned in paragraph 713-220(2)(a).

Partnership cost setting interest takes character of partnership asset—general

- (2) Work out the *tax cost setting amounts for those *partnership cost setting interests as if any partnership cost setting interest that relates to an asset (the underlying partnership asset) of the partnership were an asset of the same kind as the underlying partnership asset.

Note: The kinds of assets mentioned in subsection (2) include the following:

- (a) retained cost base assets;
- (b) reset cost base assets that are held on revenue account (however, if such assets are trading stock or depreciating assets, the special rule in subsection (4) will apply) or on capital account;
- (c) excluded assets (see subsection (3));
- (d) current assets (within the meaning of subsection 705-125(2)).

Example: The partnership has an asset that is Australian currency (which is a retained cost base asset). A partnership cost setting interest of the joining entity in that asset is treated as a retained cost base asset for the purpose of working out the tax cost setting amounts for the joining entity's partnership cost setting interests in the partnership.

Partnership cost setting interest takes character of partnership asset—excluded assets

- (3) If:
- (a) tax cost setting amounts were to be worked out for the assets of the partnership under Division 705; and
  - (b) in working out those amounts, the underlying partnership asset mentioned in subsection (2) would be an excluded asset for the purposes of section 705-35;

then subsection (2) operates so that the *tax cost setting amounts for those *partnership cost setting interests are worked out as if any partnership cost setting interest that relates to the underlying partnership asset were an excluded asset for the purposes of section 705-35.

Section 713-225

Special character of partnership cost setting interest in partnership asset that is trading stock or depreciating asset

- (4) Despite subsection (2), if an asset of the partnership is *trading stock or a *depreciating asset, work out the *tax cost setting amounts for those *partnership cost setting interests as if:
- (a) a partnership cost setting interest relating to that asset were a *retained cost base asset; and
  - (b) the tax cost setting amount for that partnership cost setting interest were equal to its *terminating value (worked out in accordance with section 713-215).

Reduction in allocable cost amount for over-depreciated partnership assets

- (5) If one or more assets of the partnership are *over-depreciated at the joining time, reduce the group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity in accordance with section 713-230.

Partnership liabilities—working out allocable cost amount

- (6) If:
- (a) according to *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, a thing (the partnership liability) is a liability of the partnership at the joining time that can or must be recognised in the partnership's statement of financial position; and
  - (b) for that reason, the partnership liability is not an accounting liability of the joining entity at the joining time for the purposes of section 705-70;
- then sections 705-70, 705-75 and 705-80 operate as if the partnership liability were an accounting liability of the joining entity at the joining time, to the extent of the joining entity's individual share of the partnership liability.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Partnership deductions—working out allocable cost amount

- (7) Section 705-115 operates as if:
- (a) a deduction to which the partnership is entitled (the partnership deduction) were a deduction to which the joining entity was entitled, to the extent of the joining entity's individual share of the partnership deduction; and
  - (b) the deduction to which the joining entity was entitled were of the same kind as the partnership deduction.

Note: These kinds of deductions include acquired deductions and owned deductions (within the meaning of section 705-115).

713-230 Reduction in allocable cost amount if partnership asset is over-depreciated

- (1) The object of this section is to reduce the group's allocable cost amount for the joining entity, if one or more assets of the partnership are *over-depreciated at the joining time. The amount of the reduction is calculated under section 705-50 in relation to the joining entity's *partnership cost setting interests (the reduction interests) relating to those assets.
  - (2) Reduce the allocable cost amount mentioned in subsection 713-225(5) by the reduction amount worked out under subsection (3).
  - (3) The reduction amount is the total of the amounts that would be reduced under section 705-50 for all the reduction interests if:
    - (a) this Subdivision did not include subsection 713-225(5) or this section; and
    - (b) subsection 713-225(4) did not apply to any of the reduction interests; and
- Note: This means that the reduction interests would be treated as over-depreciated assets, in accordance with subsection 713-225(2).
- (c) the *adjustable value of a particular reduction interest were equal to its individual share of the adjustable value of the asset of the partnership to which it relates; and
  - (d) the *cost of the interest were equal to its individual share of the cost of the asset of the partnership to which it relates; and

Section 713-235

(e) section 705-50 did not include subsection 705-50(4).

Special rules where partnership joins consolidated group

713-235 Partnership joins group—set tax cost of partnership assets

- (1) This section applies if a partnership becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time).
- (2) In applying the provisions mentioned in subsection 713-205(3) in relation to the partnership:
  - (a) do not work out an allocable cost amount for the partnership; and
  - (b) work out the *tax cost setting amount for each asset of the partnership covered by subsection (3), in accordance with section 713-240.

Note: If a partner in the partnership becomes a subsidiary member of the group at the joining time, tax cost setting amounts are worked out for the assets of the partner (including partnership cost setting interests) before tax cost setting amounts are worked out for the assets of the partnership.

- (3) An asset of the partnership at the joining time is covered by this subsection, unless it would be an excluded asset for the purposes of section 705-35 on the assumption that tax cost setting amounts were worked out for the assets of the partnership under Division 705 (instead of section 713-240).

713-240 Partnership joins group—tax cost setting amount for partnership asset

- (1) Work out the *tax cost setting amounts for the assets covered by subsection 713-235(3) as follows:
  - (a) firstly, add up the subsection (2) amounts for all the partnership cost setting interests in the partnership at the joining time (the result is the partnership cost pool);

Note 1: Partnership cost setting interests held by a partner that becomes a subsidiary member of the group at the joining time are included in the calculation in paragraph (a). The operation of the cost setting rules in relation to that partner at the joining time may affect the subsection (2) amounts for those interests.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-240

Note 2: Partnership cost setting interests are included in the calculation in paragraph (a), even if the cost setting rules have not applied in relation to the interests (for example, if the interests were acquired directly by the head company).

- (b) secondly, work out the tax cost setting amounts for the assets covered by subsection 713-235(3) that are *retained cost base assets, in accordance with section 705-25;
- (c) thirdly, work out the tax cost setting amounts for the rest of the assets covered by subsection 713-235(3), in accordance with subsection (3).

Subsection (2) amount for a partnership cost setting interest

- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(a), the subsection (2) amount for a *partnership cost setting interest is the amount specified in the following table:

Working out the subsection (2) amount
Item	If the market value of the partnership cost setting interest is ...	the subsection (2) amount for the partnership cost setting interest is ...
1	equal to or greater than its *cost base	its cost base
2	less than its *cost base but greater than its *reduced cost base	its *market value
3	less than or equal to its *reduced cost base	its reduced cost base

Allocating partnership cost pool to partnership assets that are not retained cost base assets

- (3) Work out the *tax cost setting amounts for the assets mentioned in paragraph (1)(c) by applying sections 705-35, 705-40, 705-45 and 705-47 to those assets, as if:
  - (a) the partnership were, at the joining time, the joining entity mentioned in those sections; and
  - (b) the assets of the partnership were the assets covered by subsection 713-235(3); and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-245

---

- (c) the allocable cost amount mentioned in paragraph 705-35(1)(a) were the partnership cost pool.
- (4) For the purposes of this section, section 104-510 (CGT event L3) applies as if the group's allocable cost amount for the entity mentioned in that section were the partnership cost pool.

713-245 Partnership joins group—pre-CGT factor for partnership asset

- (1) The *pre-CGT factor for each asset covered by subsection 713-235(3) is worked out under subsections (2) and (3) (instead of subsection 705-125(3)).
- (2) Firstly, identify the *partnership cost setting interests (the pre-CGT interests) in the partnership, relating to assets of the partnership, for which there is a *pre-CGT factor at the joining time.

Note: The pre-CGT factor for such a partnership cost setting interest is worked out at the time the partner holding the interest became a subsidiary member of the group (whether that time is the joining time or was an earlier time).

- (3) Secondly, work out the *pre-CGT factor for each asset covered by subsection 713-235(3) in this way:

Partnership assets' pre-CGT factor

- Step 1. For each pre-CGT interest, multiply its *market value at the joining time by its *pre-CGT factor.
- Step 2. Add up all the results of step 1.
- Step 3. Add up the *market values of all the assets of the partnership at the joining time.
- Step 4. Divide the result of step 2 by the result of step 3.

Special rules where partnership leaves consolidated group

713-250 Partnership leaves group—standard provisions modified

- (1) This section applies if a partnership ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time).

Note: The section applies whether or not any partner that is a subsidiary member of the group also ceases to be a subsidiary member at the leaving time.

- (2) Apply the provisions mentioned in subsection 713-205(5) subject to the modifications in the provisions that follow under this *group heading.

713-255 Partnership leaves group—tax cost setting amount for partnership cost setting interests

Overview

- (1) Instead of working out *tax cost setting amounts for *membership interests in the partnership, a special rule requires *partnership cost setting interests in the partnership to be worked out. Where other entities cease to be *subsidiary members at the same time, the normal tax cost setting amount rules are applied for membership interests in the other entities, but the special rule is applied for partnership cost setting interests in the partnership.

Tax cost setting amounts for membership interests in partnership not to be worked out

- (2) Do not work out *tax cost setting amounts for *membership interests in the partnership.

Partnership is only entity that exists—tax cost setting amount for partnership cost setting interests

- (3) Except where the partnership ceases to be a *subsidiary member in circumstances covered by subsection (5), work out in accordance with subsection (4) the *tax cost setting amount just before the leaving time for each *partnership cost setting interest in the partnership held by a partner that is a *member of the group just before the leaving time.

---

Section 713-260

---

Tax cost setting amount

- (4) The *tax cost setting amount is equal to the partner's individual share of the *terminating value of the partnership asset to which the *partnership cost setting interest relates.

Note: For income tax purposes there is no disposal by the head company of any assets of the partnership when it ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group.

Multiple exit case—tax cost setting amounts for both partnership cost setting interests in partnership and membership interests in other entities

- (5) If the partnership is one of 2 or more entities that cease to be *subsidiary members of the old group at the same time because of an event happening in relation to one of them, apply section 711-55 as if:
- (a) except in paragraph 711-55(3)(a), a reference to *membership interests in an entity, or to the *tax cost setting amount for such interests, where the entity is the partnership, were a reference to *partnership cost setting interests in the partnership, or to the tax cost setting amount for such interests; and
  - (b) paragraph 711-55(3)(a) were replaced by a requirement that, where the entity in which the membership interests mentioned in subsection 711-55(3) are held is the partnership, subsection (4) of this section is to be applied in working out the tax cost setting amount of the partnership cost setting interests in the partnership.

713-260 Partnership leaves group—tax cost setting amount for assets consisting of being owed certain liabilities

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) when the partnership ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group, a partner remains a *member of the group; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) an asset becomes an asset of the *head company because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the partnership when it ceases to be a subsidiary member; and
  - (c) the asset is, ignoring that subsection:
    - (i) the partner's interest in an asset of the partnership consisting of a liability of a member of the group owed to the partnership; or
    - (ii) the partner's share of a liability of the partnership owed to a member of the group.
- (2) The asset's *tax cost is set at the leaving time at a *tax cost setting amount equal to the *market value of the asset.

713-265 Partnership leaves group—adjustments to leaving partner's allocable cost amount

- (1) This section has effect in working out the group's *allocable cost amount for a partner in the partnership, if the partner ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at the leaving time.
- (2) Section 711-35 operates as if:
- (a) a deduction to which the partnership becomes entitled (the partnership deduction) were a deduction to which the partner becomes entitled, to the extent of the partner's individual share of the partnership deduction; and
  - (b) the deduction to which the partner becomes entitled were of the same kind as the partnership deduction.
- Note: These kinds of deductions include acquired deductions and owned deductions (within the meaning of section 711-35).
- (3) Section 711-40 operates as if a liability owed by *members of the group to the partnership at the leaving time were a liability owed by members of the group to the partner at that time, to the extent of the partner's individual share of the liability.
- (4) If:
- (a) according to *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, a thing (the partnership liability) is a liability of the partnership at the leaving time that can or must be recognised in the partnership's statement of financial position; and

- (b) for that reason, the partnership liability is not an accounting liability of the partner at the leaving time for the purposes of section 711-45;

then section 711-45 operates as if the partnership liability were an accounting liability of the partner at the leaving time, to the extent of the partner's individual share of the partnership liability.

713-270 Partnership leaves group—certain partnership cost setting interests treated as having been acquired before 20 September 1985

- (1) This section applies if any of the assets of the partnership at the leaving time has a *pre-CGT factor under section 713-245.
- (2) Apply section 711-65 (simple case where assets have a pre-CGT factor) as if:
- (a) the *pre-CGT factor were a pre-CGT factor under section 705-125; and
  - (b) instead of applying to *membership interests in the partnership, section 711-65 applied to *partnership cost setting interests that relate to the asset of the partnership; and
  - (c) if the pre-CGT factor for the asset is 1, the number of those partnership cost setting interests worked out under subsection (2) of that section were all of those partnership cost setting interests; and
  - (d) if the pre-CGT factor for the asset is less than 1, each partnership cost setting interest (the actual interest) consisted of 2 separate partnership cost setting interests that relate to the asset, as follows:
    - (i) one partnership cost setting interest, comprised of the fraction of the actual interest that equals the pre-CGT factor, with a pre-CGT factor of 1 for the purposes of paragraph (c) of this subsection;
    - (ii) the other partnership cost setting interest, equal to the remainder of the actual interest, that is not one of the number of partnership cost setting interests that is worked out under subsection (2) of that section.

- (3) Apply section 711-70 (multiple exit case where assets have a pre-CGT factor) as if:
- (a) a reference in that section to *membership interests in an entity, where that entity is the partnership, were a reference to *partnership cost setting interests that relate to the assets of the partnership; and
  - (b) the requirement in subsection (4) of that section to apply subsections 711-65(3) to (6) in relation to a particular entity were, where the entity is the partnership, a requirement to apply subsection (2) of this section.

- (2) An entity cannot continue to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group of which a *life insurance company is a *member if:
- (a) the life insurance company owns, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, all the *membership interests in the entity and, had the entity not been a subsidiary member of the group, either:
    - (i) some, but not all, of the membership interests described in subsection (3) (the key interests) would be *complying superannuation/FHSA assets of the life insurance company; or
    - (ii) some, but not all, of the key interests would be *segregated exempt assets of the life insurance company; or
  - (b) the life insurance company owns, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, only some of the membership interests in the entity and, had the entity not been a subsidiary member of the group, any of the key interests would be complying superannuation/FHSA assets or segregated exempt assets of the life insurance company.
- (3) The key interests are the *membership interests the *life insurance company owns directly in:
- (a) the entity; or
  - (b) an interposed entity.

Life insurance companies' liabilities on joining consolidated group

713-511 Treatment of certain liabilities for income year when life insurance company joins consolidated group

- (1) This section affects how paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 apply if:
- (a) a *life insurance company becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) just before the joining time, the life insurance company had one or more liabilities under the *net risk components of life insurance policies.

Section 713-515

Note: Paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 both operate on the basis of a comparison of the value of the company's liabilities under the net risk components of life insurance policies at the end of the current year with the value of those liabilities at the end of the previous year, so that:

- (a) that paragraph includes an amount in the company's assessable income for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is less than the value at the end of the previous income year; and
  - (b) that section allows a deduction for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is more than the value at the end of the previous income year.
- (2) The object of this section is to ensure that the *head company of the *consolidated group bears the income tax consequences relating to a change in *value of the liabilities only after the joining time.

Note: The life insurance company bears the income tax consequences relating to a change in value of the liabilities before the joining time, because section 701-30 ensures that paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 apply in relation to a part of the income year before that time when the company was not a subsidiary member of a consolidated group as if that part were an income year.

- (3) Paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 apply for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) as if the *value of the liabilities at the end of the last income year ending before the joining time were the value of the liabilities (for the *life insurance company) just before the joining time.

Tax cost setting rules for life insurance companies joining consolidated group

713-515 Certain assets taken to be retained cost base assets where life insurance company joins group

- (1) If an entity that becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time) is a *life insurance company, these assets are retained cost base assets:
- (a) a *complying superannuation/FHSA asset, or a *segregated exempt asset, of the company; and
  - (b) another asset of the company that is held by the company for the purpose of discharging its liabilities under the *net

- investment component of ordinary life insurance policies (except policies that provide for *participating benefits or *discretionary benefits under *life insurance business carried on in Australia); and
- (c) for a life insurance company that has demutualised under Division 9AA of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 where, in the period starting just after the company demutualises and ending at the joining time, all of the *membership interests in the company were owned by the same group—a goodwill asset of the company.
- (2) If the *retained cost base asset is covered by paragraph (1)(a) or (b), its *tax cost setting amount is:
- (a) for the purposes of working out the tax cost setting amounts for reset cost base assets (see section 705-35)—the asset's *transfer value just before the joining time; and
- (b) for all other purposes—the asset's *terminating value.
- (3) If the *retained cost base asset is covered by paragraph (1)(c), its *tax cost setting amount is the embedded value (see subsection 121AM(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) on the applicable accounting day (see subsection 121AM(3) of that Act) of the *life insurance company concerned reduced by the net value of shareholders' assets held by the company on that day.
- (4) The net investment component of ordinary life insurance policies is the component of *life insurance policies (except *exempt life insurance policies and *complying superannuation/FHSA life insurance policies) that:
- (a) is the component in respect of the part of those policies that has not been reinsured under a *contract of reinsurance; and
- (b) is not the *net risk component of those policies.

713-520 Valuing certain liabilities where life insurance company joins group

- (1) Despite section 705-70, if the joining entity mentioned in step 2 in the table in section 705-60 is a *life insurance company, the joining entity's liabilities mentioned in this section are to be valued as mentioned in this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The value of the joining entity's *complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities (if any) is the amount worked out under section 320-190 at the joining time.
- (3) The value of the joining entity's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities (if any) is the amount worked out under section 320-245 at the joining time.
- (4) Subsection (5) applies to a liability of the joining entity if:
  - (a) the liability is under the *net risk component of a *life insurance policy; and
  - (b) the joining entity could deduct under section 320-80 an amount for the *risk component of claims paid under the policy had it not become a *member of the *consolidated group.
- (5) The value of that liability is the *current termination value of the *net risk component of the *life insurance policy at the joining time (calculated by an *actuary).
- (6) The value of the joining entity's liabilities under the *net investment component of ordinary life insurance policies is the amount worked out for those liabilities under subsection 320-190(2) as if those liabilities were *complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities.

713-525 Obligation to value certain assets and liabilities at joining time

Division 320 has effect as if the time when a *life insurance company becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group were a *valuation time for the purposes of sections 320-175 and 320-230.

Note: This means that there must be a valuation of the complying superannuation/FHSA assets and complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities under section 320-175 (with the consequences set out in section 320-180), and a valuation of the segregated exempt assets and exempt life insurance policy liabilities under section 320-230 (with the consequences set out in section 320-235), as at that time.

Losses of life insurance companies joining consolidated group

713-530 Treatment of certain losses of life insurance company

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) a *life insurance company becomes a *member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) just before the joining time, the life insurance company had either:
    - (i) a *tax loss of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class; or
    - (ii) a *net capital loss from *complying superannuation/FHSA assets.
- (2) This Act operates (except so far as the contrary intention appears) for the purposes of income years ending after the joining time as if:
  - (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group had made the loss for the income year in which the joining time occurs; and
  - (b) the *life insurance company had not made the loss for the income year for which it made the loss.
- (3) The *head company is not prevented from *utilising the loss for the income year in which the joining time occurs merely because this Act operates as if the head company had made the loss for that year.
- (4) Division 707 does not apply in relation to the *net capital loss or the *tax loss at the joining time.

Losses of life insurance companies' subsidiaries joining consolidated group

713-535 Losses of entities whose membership interests are complying superannuation/FHSA assets of life insurance company

- (1) This section applies if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) a *life insurance company becomes a *member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) at the joining time, the life insurance company owns, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, all the *membership interests in yet another entity (the life insurance subsidiary) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at that time; and
  - (c) all the following membership interests are *complying superannuation/FHSA assets of the life insurance company:
    - (i) the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in the life insurance subsidiary;
    - (ii) the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in the interposed entities; and
  - (d) the *head company of the group makes a *tax loss or *net capital loss under Subdivision 707-A because of a transfer from the life insurance subsidiary.
- (2) This Act operates for the purposes of income years ending after the transfer as if:
- (a) the *tax loss were of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class; or
  - (b) the *net capital loss were from *complying superannuation/FHSA assets.
- (3) Subdivisions 707-B, 707-C and 707-D do not affect the *utilisation of the loss by the *head company of the *consolidated group.

713-540 Losses of entities whose membership interests are segregated exempt assets of life insurance company

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) a *life insurance company becomes a *member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) at the joining time, the life insurance company owns, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, all the *membership interests in yet another entity (the life insurance subsidiary) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at that time; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-545

---

- (c) all the following membership interests are *segregated exempt assets of the life insurance company:
  - (i) the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in the life insurance subsidiary;
  - (ii) the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in the interposed entities.
- (2) A *tax loss or *net capital loss of the life insurance subsidiary for an income year ending before the joining time cannot be *utilised by the life insurance subsidiary for an income year ending after that time.

Note: This prevents the loss from being transferred to the head company of the consolidated group under Subdivision 707-A (because it means the life insurance subsidiary could not have utilised the loss for the trial year). As a result, section 707-150 prevents any other entity from utilising the loss for an income year ending after the joining time.

Imputation rules for life insurance companies joining consolidated group

713-545 Treatment of franking surplus in franking account of life insurance subsidiary joining group

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) a *life insurance company becomes a *member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) at the joining time, the life insurance company owns, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, *membership interests in yet another entity (the life insurance subsidiary) that becomes a *subsidiary member of the group at that time; and
  - (c) the life insurance subsidiary's *franking account is in surplus just before the joining time.
- (2) Paragraph 709-60(2)(b) does not apply in relation to the life insurance subsidiary.
- (3) A *franking credit arises at the joining time in the *franking account of the *head company of the group. The amount of the credit is the amount worked out under subsection (4).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) The amount is equal to the amount of the *franking credit that would arise in the *life insurance company's *franking account just before the joining time under item 5 of the table in subsection 219-15(2) if:
- (a) the life insurance subsidiary made a *franked distribution to the life insurance company just before the joining time; and
  - (b) the amount of the franking credit on the distribution were equal to the surplus mentioned in paragraph (1)(c).
- (5) The *head company of the group is entitled to a *tax offset for the income year in which the joining time occurs. The amount of the tax offset is:
- (a) if all the *membership interests (if any) that the *life insurance company owns directly in the life insurance subsidiary, and all the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in interposed entities, are *segregated exempt assets of the life insurance company—the surplus mentioned in paragraph (1)(c), reduced by the amount worked out under subsection (4); or
  - (b) if all the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in the life insurance subsidiary, and all the membership interests (if any) that the life insurance company owns directly in interposed entities, are *complying superannuation/FHSA assets of the life insurance company—the amount worked out under subsection (6); or
  - (c) otherwise—nil.
- (6) The amount is worked out using the following formula (or is nil if it would otherwise be negative):

$$\left( \text{Surplus mentioned in paragraph (1)(c)} - \text{Amount worked out under subsection (4)} \right) \times \frac{\text{Complying superannuation/FHSA class tax rate}}{\text{Ordinary class tax rate}}$$

where:

complying superannuation/FHSA class tax rate means the rate of tax in respect of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class of the taxable income of a *life insurance company for the income year in which the joining time occurs (see paragraph 23A(b) of the Income Tax Rates Act 1986).

ordinary class tax rate means the rate of tax in respect of the *ordinary class of the taxable income of a life insurance company for the income year in which the joining time occurs (see paragraph 23A(a) of the Income Tax Rates Act 1986).

713-550 Treatment of head company's franking account after joining

Sections 709-70 and 709-75 do not apply in relation to a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group if:

- (a) the subsidiary member is a *life insurance company; or
- (b) a life insurance company that is a *member of the group owns *membership interests, either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, in the subsidiary member.

Annuity payable by life insurance company to another member of a consolidated group

713-553 Special rules relating to segregated exempt assets

Conditions for sections 713-555 and 713-560 to apply

- (1) Sections 713-555 and 713-560 apply only if both the conditions in subsections (2) and (3) are met.

Note: Each of those sections sets out extra conditions that must also be met for the section to apply.

- (2) The first condition is that there is a time (the fusion time) when it starts to be the case that both these entities (the fused entities) are *members of a single *consolidated group:
  - (a) a *life insurance company;
  - (b) an entity (the policyholder) holding an *exempt life insurance policy (the fused entities' policy) that:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) was issued when the policyholder and the life insurance company were not both members of a single consolidated group; and
  - (ii) provided for the life insurance company to pay an *immediate annuity to the policyholder.
- (3) The second condition is that the *head company of the *consolidated group determines the following amounts:
- (a) the total *transfer value of the head company's *segregated exempt assets;
  - (b) the amount of the head company's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities;
- as at a time (the determination time) that is the fusion time or, if the head company does not determine those amounts as at the fusion time, the first time after the fusion time as at which the head company determines those amounts.

Note: If the life insurance company becomes a subsidiary member of the consolidated group, that company's segregated exempt assets become segregated exempt assets of the head company of the group because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule) and section 713-505 (Head company treated as a life insurance company).

Object of sections 713-555 and 713-560

- (4) The object of sections 713-555 and 713-560 is to ensure that the *head company of the *consolidated group:
- (a) does not have excessive amounts included in its assessable income because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) treats the fused entities as one so liabilities under the fused entities' policy do not contribute to the amount of the head company's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities as at the determination time; and
  - (b) has amounts included in its assessable income, or is allowed deductions, to reflect what would have happened to the fused entities if they had not both been *members of the group at any time between the fusion time and the determination time when they were both members of the group.

Section 713-555

713-555 Transfer from segregated exempt assets because policyholder and life insurance company are in group

Application

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) as at the determination time, the total *transfer value of the *segregated exempt assets of the *head company of the *consolidated group exceeds the amount of that company's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities, wholly or partly because:
    - (i) those assets include assets out of which exempt life insurance policy liabilities attributable to the fused entities' policy were to have been discharged; and
    - (ii) while both the fused entities are members of the group, the liability to pay the *annuity is taken not to exist for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule), because one or more applications of that section treat the fused entities as one entity; and
  - (b) because of that excess, the head company transfers under subsection 320-235(1) or 320-250(2), from its segregated exempt assets, assets (the policy assets) whose total transfer value equals the amount of the excess attributable to the matters described in subparagraphs (a)(i) and (ii).

However, this section does not apply if the policyholder ceases to be a *member of the consolidated group between the fusion time and the determination time.

Note: Subsections 320-235(1) and 320-250(2) require a life insurance company to transfer assets from its segregated exempt assets if, at certain times, the total transfer value of the segregated exempt assets exceeds the amount of the company's exempt life insurance policy liabilities.

Policy assets' transfer value not included in assessable income

- (2) Paragraph 320-15(1)(f) does not apply to the transfer of the policy assets.

Note: Paragraph 320-15(1)(f) includes in a life insurance company's assessable income the transfer values of assets transferred by the company from the company's segregated exempt assets under subsection 320-235(1) or 320-250(2).

---

Extra assessable income if policy is not a qualifying security

- (3) If the fused entities' policy is not a qualifying security (as defined in section 159GP of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936), the assessable income of the *head company of the *consolidated group for the income year in which the company transfers the policy assets includes the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\begin{array}{r} \text{Total *transfer value} \\ \text{of the policy assets} \end{array} - \begin{array}{r} \text{Reduced purchase price} \\ \text{of the annuity} \end{array}$$

where:

reduced purchase price of the annuity means the reduced purchase price of the *annuity as at the determination time worked out under subsection (3A) as if the determination time (rather than the fusion time) had been the first time at which both the fused entities were *members of the *consolidated group.

- (3A) For the purposes of subsection (3), work out the reduced purchase price of the *annuity as follows:
- (a) first, work out the purchase price (within the meaning of section 27H of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of the annuity;
  - (b) next, reduce that purchase price by the total of the amounts excluded from assessable income under paragraph 27H(1)(a) of that Act as deductible amounts in relation to the annuity.

Assessable income or deduction if policy is a qualifying security

- (4) If the fused entities' policy is a qualifying security (as defined in section 159GP of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936), section 159GS (Balancing adjustment on transfer of qualifying security) of that Act applies as if:
- (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group:
    - (i) had been the holder (as defined in section 159GP of that Act) of the policy; and
    - (ii) had transferred the policy when it transferred the policy assets; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-560

---

- (b) the transfer price had equalled the total *transfer value of the policy assets; and
- (c) the determination time (rather than the fusion time) had been the first time at which both the fused entities were *members of the consolidated group.

Note: If the policyholder becomes a subsidiary member of the consolidated group, section 701-5 (Entry history rule) treats the head company as if anything that had happened to the policyholder before it became a subsidiary member of the group had happened to the head company.

713-560 If valuation of segregated exempt assets is delayed

Application

- (1) This section applies if there is a period (the gap) between:
  - (a) the fusion time; and
  - (b) the determination time or the time at which the policyholder ceases to be a *member of the *consolidated group, whichever is earlier;when the fused entities are both members of the consolidated group.

Continuation of exempt life insurance policy during the gap

- (2) For the head company core purposes mentioned in section 701-1 (Single entity rule), Division 320 applies in relation to the fused entities' policy as if it continued to be an *exempt life insurance policy during the gap, even though both the fused entities were *members of the *consolidated group.

Transfer from segregated assets to provide for annuity payments

- (3) During the gap, the *head company of the *consolidated group may transfer an asset from the head company's *segregated exempt assets to provide for payments of the *immediate annuity under the fused entities' policy.

Effect of transfer

- (4) If the *head company of the *consolidated group transfers an asset under subsection (3):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) section 320-255 applies to the asset in the same way as that section applies to an asset transferred under subsection 320-250(2); and
- (b) whichever one of subsections (5) and (6) is relevant affects the *head company of the *consolidated group for the income year in which the gap occurs.

Income if policy is not a qualifying security

- (5) If the fused entities' policy is not a qualifying security (as defined in section 159GP of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936), the *head company's assessable income includes the amount that, if the fused entities had not been *members of the *consolidated group:
  - (a) would have been included in the policyholder's assessable income under section 27H of that Act in connection with the policy; and
  - (b) would have been *derived in the gap.

Income or deduction if policy is a qualifying security

- (6) If the fused entities' policy is a qualifying security (as defined in section 159GP of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936):
  - (a) the *head company's assessable income includes the amount (if any) that, if the fused entities had not been *members of the *consolidated group:
    - (i) would have been included in the policyholder's assessable income under section 159GQ of that Act in connection with the policy; and
    - (ii) would have been attributable to the gap; or
  - (b) the head company may deduct the amount (if any) that, if the fused entities had not been members of the consolidated group:
    - (i) would have been a deduction allowable to the policyholder under section 159GQ of that Act in connection with the policy; and
    - (ii) would have been attributable to the gap.

Liabilities for life insurance companies leaving consolidated group

713-565 Treatment of certain liabilities for income year when life insurance company leaves consolidated group

- (1) This section affects how paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 apply if:
- (a) a *life insurance company ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) at the leaving time, the *life insurance company has one or more liabilities under the *net risk components of life insurance policies.

Note: Paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 both operate on the basis of a comparison of the value of a life insurance company's liabilities under the net risk components of life insurance policies at the end of the current year with the value of those liabilities at the end of the previous year, so that:

- (a) that paragraph includes an amount in the company's assessable income for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is less than the value at the end of the previous income year; and
  - (b) that section allows a deduction for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is more than the value at the end of the previous income year.
- (2) The object of this section is to ensure that:
- (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group bears the income tax consequences relating to a change in *value of the liabilities before the leaving time; and
  - (b) the *life insurance company bears the income tax consequences relating to a change in value of the liabilities after the leaving time.

Head company's income or deduction from liabilities

- (3) For the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to the income year in which the leaving time occurs (but not later income years), paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 have effect as if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group had the liabilities at the end of that income year; and
- (b) the *value of the liabilities at the end of that income year had been the amount that was actually the value of the liabilities (for the *life insurance company) at the leaving time.

Life insurance company's income or deduction from liabilities

- (4) For the entity core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to the *life insurance company and the income year in which the leaving time occurs, paragraph 320-15(1)(h) and section 320-85 have effect as if the *value of the liabilities at the end of the previous income year had been the amount that was actually the value of the liabilities (for the life insurance company) at the leaving time.

Losses for life insurance companies leaving consolidated group

713-570 Certain losses transferred to leaving company

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) a *life insurance company ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) ignoring section 713-505, at the leaving time, no other *member of the group is a life insurance company that has a *complying superannuation/FHSA asset pool; and
  - (c) at the leaving time, the *head company has either:
    - (i) a *tax loss of the *complying superannuation/FHSA class; or
    - (ii) a *net capital loss from *complying superannuation/FHSA assets.
- (2) This Act operates (except so far as the contrary intention appears) for the purposes of income years ending after the leaving time as if:
  - (a) the *life insurance company had made the loss for the income year in which the leaving time occurs; and
  - (b) the *head company had not made the loss for the income year for which it made the loss.

Section 713-575

Note: Section 707-410 (Exit history rule does not treat entity as having made a loss) does not prevent the life insurance company from having the loss under this section, because that section merely states that the company is not taken under section 701-40 (Exit history rule) to have made a loss.

- (3) The *life insurance company is not prevented from *utilising the loss for the income year in which the leaving time occurs merely because this Act operates as if the life insurance company had made the loss for that year.

Tax cost setting rules for life insurance companies leaving consolidated group

713-575 Terminating value of certain assets where life insurance company leaves group

- (1) This section applies if a *life insurance company (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time).
- (2) For the purposes of applying section 711-25 in relation to the leaving entity, the *head company's terminating value for an asset that it holds at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) to be a part of the head company is the *transfer value of the asset at the leaving time, if the asset is:
- (a) a *complying superannuation/FHSA asset, or a *segregated exempt asset, of the head company; or
  - (b) held by the head company for the purpose of discharging its liabilities under the *net investment component of ordinary life insurance policies (except policies that provide for *participating benefits or *discretionary benefits under *life insurance business carried on in Australia).

713-580 Valuing certain liabilities where life insurance company leaves group

- (1) Despite section 711-45, if the leaving entity mentioned in step 4 in the table in section 711-20 is a *life insurance company, the leaving entity's liabilities mentioned in this section are to be valued as mentioned in this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) To avoid doubt, those liabilities are the liabilities that become those of the leaving entity because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) ceases to apply to the leaving entity when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group.
- (3) The value of the leaving entity's *complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities (if any) is the amount worked out under section 320-190 at the leaving time.
- (4) The value of the leaving entity's *exempt life insurance policy liabilities (if any) is the amount worked out under section 320-245 at the leaving time.
- (5) Subsection (6) applies to a liability of the leaving entity if:
  - (a) the liability is under the *net risk component of a *life insurance policy; and
  - (b) the leaving entity could deduct under section 320-80 an amount for the *risk component of claims paid under the policy on or after the time it ceased to be a *member of the *consolidated group.
- (6) The value of that liability is the *current termination value of the *net risk component of the *life insurance policy at the leaving time (calculated by an *actuary).
- (7) The value of the leaving entity's liabilities under the *net investment component of ordinary life insurance policies is the amount worked out for those liabilities under subsection 320-190(2) as if those liabilities were *complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities.

713-585 Obligation to value certain assets and liabilities at leaving time

Division 320 has effect as if the time when a *life insurance company ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group were a *valuation time for the purposes of sections 320-175 and 320-230.

Note: This means that there must be a valuation of the complying superannuation/FHSA assets and complying superannuation/FHSA liabilities under section 320-175 (with the consequences set out in section 320-180), and a valuation of the segregated exempt assets and exempt life insurance policy liabilities under section 320-230 (with the consequences set out in section 320-235), as at that time.

Subdivision 713-M—General insurance companies

Guide to Subdivision 713-M

713-700 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out special rules for a general insurance company becoming or ceasing to be a subsidiary member of a consolidated group.

Table of sections

Tax cost setting rules for general insurance companies joining consolidated group

713-705 Certain assets taken to be retained cost base assets where general insurance company joins group

Liabilities and reserves of general insurance companies joining and leaving consolidated groups

713-710 Treatment of liabilities and reserves for income year when general insurance company joins or leaves group

713-715 If general insurance company joins consolidated group

713-720 If general insurance company leaves consolidated group

Tax cost setting rules for general insurance companies joining consolidated group

713-705 Certain assets taken to be retained cost base assets where general insurance company joins group

(1) This section applies if:

- (a) a *general insurance company becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) that company has demutualised under Division 9AA of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
  - (c) in the period starting just after the company demutualises and ending at the joining time, all of the *membership interests in the company were owned by the same group.
- (2) A goodwill asset of the company just before the joining time is a retained cost base asset.
- (3) The goodwill asset's *tax cost setting amount is its amount (worked out in accordance with subsection 121AN(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) on the applicable accounting day (see subsection 121AN(4) of that Act).

Liabilities and reserves of general insurance companies joining and leaving consolidated groups

713-710 Treatment of liabilities and reserves for income year when general insurance company joins or leaves group

Sections 713-715 and 713-720 affect how sections 321-10, 321-15, 321-50 and 321-55 in Schedule 2J to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (the affected sections) apply in relation to these values (the affected values):

- (a) the value of the outstanding claims liability of a *general insurance company under *general insurance policies that is worked out under section 321-20 in Schedule 2J to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
- (b) the value of the unearned premium reserve of a general insurance company under general insurance policies that is worked out under section 321-60 in that Schedule.

Note 1: Sections 321-10 and 321-15 in that Schedule both operate on the basis of a comparison of the value of the outstanding claims liability of a general insurance company at the end of the current year with the value of that liability at the end of the previous income year, so that:

- (a) section 321-10 includes an amount in the company's assessable income for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is less than the value at the end of the previous income year; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 713-715

---

- (b) section 321-15 allows a deduction for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is more than the value at the end of the previous income year.

Note 2: Sections 321-50 and 321-55 in that Schedule both operate on the basis of a comparison of the value of the unearned premium reserve of a general insurance company at the end of the current year with the value of that reserve at the end of the previous income year, so that:

- (a) section 321-50 includes an amount in the company's assessable income for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is less than the value at the end of the previous income year; and
- (b) section 321-55 allows a deduction for the current year if the value at the end of the current year is more than the value at the end of the previous income year.

713-715 If general insurance company joins consolidated group

- (1) This section applies if a *general insurance company becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time).
- (2) The object of this section is to ensure that the *head company of the *consolidated group bears the income tax consequences relating to changes after the joining time in the affected values.

Note: The general insurance company bears the income tax consequences relating to a change in the affected values before the joining time, because section 701-30 ensures that the affected sections apply in relation to a part of the income year before that time when the company was not a subsidiary member of a consolidated group as if that part were an income year.

- (3) The affected sections apply for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) as if each of the affected values at the end of the last income year ending before the joining time were the amount that would have been that value had that income year ended just before the joining time.

713-720 If general insurance company leaves consolidated group

- (1) This section applies if a *general insurance company ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time) in an income year (the leaving year).

---

---

- (2) The object of this section is to ensure that:
- (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group bears the income tax consequences relating to changes before the leaving time in the affected values; and
  - (b) the *general insurance company bears the income tax consequences relating to changes after the leaving time in the affected values.

Head company's income or deduction

- (3) For the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to the leaving year (but not later income years), the affected sections have effect as if each of the affected values at the end of the leaving year for the *head company of the *consolidated group were increased by the relevant value for the *general insurance company at the end of the previous income year worked out under subsection (5).

General insurance company's income or deduction

- (4) For the entity core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to the *general insurance company and the leaving year, the affected sections have effect as if each of the affected values for the general insurance company at the end of the previous income year were worked out under subsection (5).

Working out affected values at the end of the previous income year

- (5) Work out each of the affected values for the *general insurance company at the end of the previous income year as if it had ended at the leaving time.

Object

715-15 Object of this Subdivision

- (1) The object of this Subdivision is to give effect to the purposes of Subdivision 165-CC (about change of ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss) in these cases:
  - (a) on formation of a *consolidated group, a *CGT asset held directly by the *head company is affected by that Subdivision, and the *same business test is failed;
  - (b) on an entity becoming a *subsidiary member of a consolidated group, an asset consisting of:
    - (i) a *membership interest that a *member of the group (including a chosen transitional entity under Division 701 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997) holds in the entity; or
    - (ii) a liability that the entity owes to such a member; is affected by that Subdivision, and the same business test is failed;
  - (c) on a company becoming a subsidiary member:
    - (i) a CGT asset of the company that becomes an asset of the head company is affected by that Subdivision; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) because the company is a chosen transitional entity, the asset does not have its tax cost reset; and
- (iii) the same business test is failed;
- (d) on an entity ceasing to be a subsidiary member, a CGT asset of the head company that becomes an asset of the entity is affected by that Subdivision, and the same business test is failed.

Note: Subdivision 165-CC also affects an entity that has deferred losses under Subdivision 170-D on assets that it formerly owned. Subdivision 715-D gives effect to the purposes of Subdivision 165-CC if such an entity becomes a member of a consolidated group.

- (2) This Subdivision achieves its object by supplementing and modifying the application of Subdivision 165-CC to take account of how the rest of this Part treats *members of a *consolidated group (in particular the provisions about entities becoming or ceasing to be members).

Effect on Subdivision 165-CC of a company becoming a member of a consolidated group

715-25 Subdivision 165-CC stops applying to earlier changeover time

- (1) At and after the time (the membership time) when a company becomes a *member of a *consolidated group, Subdivision 165-CC does not apply to the company in relation to a *changeover time that happened before the membership time, except for the purposes of section 715-30 (which defines 165-CC tagged asset).

Note 1: Subdivision 165-CC is about change of ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss.

Note 2: If the company has 165-CC tagged assets at the membership time, there are further consequences under this Subdivision and Subdivision 715-D.

Also, Subdivision 165-CC can apply to the head company of the group in relation to a changeover time that happens for it at or after the membership time. See section 715-75.

- (2) Subsection (1) continues to have effect even if the company later stops being a *member of the group.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-30

---

715-30 Meaning of 165-CC tagged asset

A *CGT asset is a 165-CC tagged asset of a company at a particular time if, and only if:

- (a) that time is at or after the most recent *changeover time (if any) for the company; and
- (b) at that changeover time, the company had an unrealised net loss under section 165-115E; and
- (c) the asset is covered by subsection 165-115A(1A) as applying to that changeover time; and
- (d) the company would not, at that changeover time, satisfy the maximum net asset value test under section 152-15; and
- (e) if the company has chosen under subsection 165-115A(1B) in relation to that changeover time—the company *acquired the asset for $10,000 or more.

715-35 Meaning of final RUNL

A company's final RUNL at a particular time (the test time) is the amount that would have been the company's *residual unrealised net loss at the time of:

- (a) if no event that subsection 165-115BB(2) refers to as a relevant event actually happens at the test time—a notional event of that kind happening at the test time; or
- (b) otherwise—a notional event of that kind that happens at the test time, and that the company determines under paragraph 165-115BB(1)(b) to have happened later than each event that actually happened at that time.

Note: This Subdivision reduces a company's final RUNL as amounts of it are applied for various purposes.

165-CC tagged assets that affect tax cost setting amounts

715-50 Step 1 amount is reduced if membership interest in subsidiary member is 165-CC tagged asset and same business test is failed

- (1) The amount taken into account under subsection 705-65(1) (about the cost of membership interests in the joining entity) for a

---

*membership interest that a *member of the joined group holds in the joining entity at the joining time is reduced if:

- (a) apart from this section, the amount would be the membership interest's *reduced cost base (if appropriate, as modified by a later provision of section 705-65); and
  - (b) the membership interest is at that time a *165-CC tagged asset of that member, and that member owned it at the *changeover time for that member; and
  - (c) that member's *final RUNL just before the joining time was greater than nil; and
  - (d) that member does not satisfy the *same business test for:
    - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the *head company's *trial year; and
    - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.
- (2) If at the joining time that *member holds:
- (a) 2 or *more membership interests in the joining entity; or
  - (b) at least one membership interest in the joining entity, and at least one membership interest in another member of the joined group;

this section applies to each such membership interest in whichever order that member determines.

Amount of reduction

- (3) The amount taken into account under subsection 705-65(1) is reduced to the *membership interest's *market value at the joining time.
- (4) However, if that member's *final RUNL (as reduced by any previous reductions under this section) is less than the difference between:
  - (a) the *reduced cost base referred to in paragraph (1)(a); and
  - (b) the *market value referred to in subsection (3);
 the amount taken into account under subsection 705-65(1) is instead reduced by that final RUNL.
- (5) That *final RUNL is reduced by the amount of the reduction under subsection (3) or (4).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-55

---

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (6) Subsection 705-65(6) (which treats rights and options as membership interests) also applies for the purposes of this section.

715-55 Step 2 amount is affected if liability of subsidiary member is 165-CC tagged asset of another group member and same business test is failed

- (1) The amount (the comparison amount) applicable under the table in subsection 705-75(2) (about reduction of the step 2 amount) for an accounting liability of the joining entity that is owed to a *member of the joined group at the joining time is reduced if:
- (a) apart from this section, the comparison amount would be the *reduced cost base (if appropriate, as modified by a later provision of section 705-75) of the asset of that member that is constituted by the accounting liability; and
  - (b) the asset is at that time a *165-CC tagged asset of that member, and that member owned it at the *changeover time; and
  - (c) that member's *final RUNL just before the joining time (as reduced by any reductions under section 715-50) was greater than nil; and
  - (d) that member does not satisfy the *same business test for:
    - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the *head company's *trial year; and
    - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.

Note: Paragraph (1)(c) has the effect that if both this section and section 715-50 apply to the same member of the joined group, section 715-50 is applied before this section.

- (2) If at the joining time that *member holds:
- (a) 2 or *more assets constituted by accounting liabilities of the joining entity; or
  - (b) at least one asset constituted by an accounting liability of the joining entity, and at least one asset constituted by an accounting liability of another member of the group;
- this section applies to each such asset in whichever order that member determines.

---

Amount of reduction

- (3) The comparison amount is reduced to the asset's *market value at the joining time.
- (4) However, if that member's *final RUNL (as reduced by any previous reductions under section 715-50 or this section) is less than the difference between:
  - (a) the *reduced cost base referred to in paragraph (1)(a); and
  - (b) the asset's *market value at the joining time;
 the comparison amount is instead reduced by that final RUNL.
- (5) That *final RUNL is reduced by the amount of the reduction under subsection (3) or (4).

165-CC tagged assets that form loss denial pools of head company when consolidated group is formed

715-60 Assets that the head company already owns

- (1) At the time (the formation time) when a *consolidated group comes into existence under paragraph 703-5(1)(a), a loss denial pool of the *head company is created if:
  - (a) the formation time is not a *changeover time for the head company; and
  - (b) at the formation time, the head company owns a *CGT asset:
    - (i) that is a *165-CC tagged asset of the head company at that time; and
    - (ii) that it owned at the *changeover time; and
    - (iii) that is not a *membership interest in a *member of the group; and
    - (iv) that is not a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by a member of the group, to acquire such a membership interest; and
    - (v) that is not constituted by a liability owed to the head company by a member of the group; or 2 or more such assets; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-70

---

- (c) the head company's *final RUNL just before the formation time (as reduced by any reductions under section 715-50 or 715-55) was greater than nil; and
- (d) the head company does not satisfy the *same business test for:
  - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the head company's *trial year; and
  - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.

Note: Paragraph (1)(c) has the effect that if the head company has 165-CC tagged assets that are affected by section 715-50 or 715-55 (because they are membership interests in, or accounting liabilities owed by, another group member), those sections are applied before this section.

- (2) When it is created, the pool consists of the one or more *CGT assets referred to in paragraph (1)(b), and its loss denial balance is equal to the *final RUNL referred to in paragraph (1)(c).

Note 1: The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the head company, for example, one created at the formation time under section 715-70.

Note 2: 170-D deferred losses on 165-CC tagged assets of the head company may be added to the pool by subsection 715-355(1).

715-70 Assets of subsidiary member that become those of head company

- (1) At the time (the formation time) when an entity becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, a loss denial pool of the *head company of the group is created if:
  - (a) the formation time is not a *changeover time for the head company; and
  - (b) the entity is a chosen transitional entity under Division 701 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997; and
  - (c) subsection (2) or (4) of this section is satisfied.

Note 1: If the entity is a chosen transitional entity, section 701-15 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 prevents:

- section 701-10 (cost to head company of assets of joining entity); and
- subsection 701-35(4) (setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount);

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-70

of this Act from applying to the entity's assets in relation to the formation time.

Note 2: The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the head company, for example, one created under this section because another entity becomes a subsidiary member of the group at the formation time.

Joining entity has 165-CC tagged assets

(2) This subsection is satisfied if:

- (a) a *CGT asset of the entity, or each of 2 or more CGT assets of the entity:
  - (i) is a *165-CC tagged asset of the entity at the formation time; and
  - (ii) was owned by the entity at the *changeover time; and
  - (iii) is not a *membership interest in a *member of the group; and
  - (iv) is not a right or option (including a contingent right or option), created or issued by a member of the group, to acquire such a membership interest; and
  - (v) is not constituted by a liability owed to the entity by a member of the group at the formation time; and
- (b) the entity's *final RUNL just before the formation time (as reduced by any reductions under section 715-50 or 715-55) was greater than nil; and
- (c) the entity does not satisfy the *same business test for:
  - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the entity's *trial year; and
  - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.

Note: Paragraph (2)(b) has the effect that if the entity has 165-CC tagged assets that are affected by section 715-50 or 715-55 (because they are membership interests in, or accounting liabilities owed by, another group member), those sections are applied before this section.

(3) When it is created because of subsection (2), the pool consists of the one or more *CGT assets referred to in paragraph (2)(a), and its loss denial balance is equal to the *final RUNL referred to in paragraph (2)(b).

Note: 170-D deferred losses on 165-CC tagged assets of the head company may be added to the pool by subsection 715-355(2).

Section 715-75

---

Entity has loss denial pool

- (4) This subsection is satisfied if, just before the formation time, the entity had a *loss denial pool.
- (5) When it is created because of subsection (4), the *head company's loss denial pool:
  - (a) consists of the one or more *CGT assets of which the entity's loss *denial pool consisted; and
  - (b) has a loss denial balance equal to the *loss denial balance of the entity's loss denial pool; just before the formation time.

How Subdivision 165-CC applies to consolidated groups

715-75 Extension of single entity rule and entry history rule

- (1) Subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule) and section 701-5 (Entry history rule) also have effect for all the purposes of Subdivision 165-CC (about change of ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss).

Note: One consequence of this is that the head company is the only member of a consolidated group that can have a changeover time and be subject to consequences under Subdivision 165-CC. The head company is treated as owning all CGT assets owned by group members, and as making relevant losses.

- (2) This section is not intended to limit the effect that subsection 701-1(1) and section 701-5 have apart from this section.

Effect on Subdivision 165-CC of entity leaving consolidated group

715-80 Application of sections 715-85 to 715-110

Sections 715-85 to 715-110 apply if, at a particular time (the leaving time), an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group.

Note 1: If a changeover time happened to the head company at or after the group came into existence and before the leaving time, Subdivision 165-CC does not apply to the head company at and after the leaving time, in respect of assets that leave with the leaving entity, in relation to the changeover time.

---

This is because the head company can no longer make a capital loss, or become entitled to a deduction, in respect of a CGT event happening to any of those assets.

Note 2: If, just before the leaving time, the head company had a loss denial pool, see section 715-120.

715-85 First changeover time for leaving company at or after leaving time

If the leaving entity is a company, its first *changeover time at or after the leaving time is determined:

- (a) on the basis that the reference time under subsection 165-115A(2A) is the one that would be used in determining whether the leaving time was a changeover time for the head company; and
- (b) making the additional assumptions in section 715-290.

Note: If the leaving entity is a trust, it cannot have a changeover time (because Subdivision 165-CC applies only to companies), so section 715-95 applies to it instead: see subsection 715-95(2).

715-90 How same business test applies if leaving time is changeover time for leaving company

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) the leaving entity is a company; and
  - (b) the leaving time is a *changeover time for the leaving entity.
- (2) In applying to the leaving entity for the *changeover time that is the leaving time, subsection 165-115B(3) has effect as if it provided that the time just after the changeover time were the test time for applying section 165-13 to the company.

Note: This ensures that the same business test is applied to the business that the leaving entity carries on at the leaving time.

Section 715-95

---

715-95 If ownership and control of leaving entity have not changed since head company's last changeover time

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) the leaving entity is a company; and
  - (b) the leaving time is not a *changeover time for the leaving entity; and
  - (c) just before the leaving time, the *head company owned at least one *CGT asset:
    - (i) that was a *165-CC tagged asset just before the leaving time; and
    - (ii) that it owned at the latest changeover time for the head company at or after the group came into existence and before the leaving time; and
  - (d) at least one asset covered by paragraph (c) is an asset (a leaving asset) that becomes an asset of the leaving entity at the leaving time because subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity; and
  - (e) the head company's *final RUNL at the leaving time is greater than nil.
- (2) This section also applies if the leaving entity is a trust.
- (3) If the *head company does not satisfy the *same business test for:
  - (a) the period (the same business test period) starting at the earlier of:
    - (i) the time 12 months before the leaving time; and
    - (ii) when the head company came into existence; and ending just before the leaving time; and
  - (b) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time; the head company must make one of the choices for which sections 715-100, 715-105 and 715-110 provide.

Note: For provisions about making one of these choices, see sections 715-175 to 715-185.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

715-100 First choice: adjustable values of leaving assets reduced to nil

The first choice is to reduce the *adjustable value of each leaving asset to nil. The choice has effect accordingly, just before the leaving time. The *head company's *final RUNL is not reduced because of it.

Note: The consequences of the choice are worked out under section 715-145.

715-105 Second choice: head company's final RUNL applied in reducing adjustable values of leaving assets that are loss assets

- (1) The second choice is to reduce under this section the *adjustable value of each leaving asset (a loss asset) for which the *head company would have had a notional capital loss, or notional revenue loss, under section 165-115F at the time (the test time) just before the leaving time if the test time had been a *changeover time for the head company. The choice has effect accordingly.

Note: The consequences of the choice are worked out under this section and section 715-145.

- (2) If:
- (a) 2 or more entities cease to be *subsidiary members of the *consolidated group at the leaving time; and
  - (b) 2 or more of them make the second choice;
- the choices have effect in whichever order the *head company determines.
- (3) This section applies to each of the loss assets in order, according to their respective *adjustable values (apart from this section) at the test time: from largest to smallest. (If an asset has more than one such adjustable value, use the greater or greatest of them.)
- (4) At the test time, the *adjustable value of the loss asset is reduced to the asset's *market value at that time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 715-110

---

- (5) However, if the *head company's *final RUNL at the leaving time (as reduced by any previous reductions under this section) is less than the difference between:
- (a) the *adjustable value of the loss asset (apart from this section) at the test time; and
  - (b) the asset's *market value at the test time;
- the adjustable value is instead reduced at the test time by that final RUNL.
- (6) That *final RUNL is reduced by the amount of the reduction under subsection (4) or (5). If 2 or more such reductions are made for the same asset (because it has 2 or more different characters), that final RUNL is reduced by the greater or greatest of the reductions.

715-110 Third choice: loss denial pool of leaving entity created

- (1) The third choice can be made only if every asset covered by paragraph 715-95(1)(c) is a leaving asset. The choice is to have a loss denial pool of the leaving entity created at the leaving time, consisting of every leaving asset. (To avoid doubt, the choice can be made even if the leaving entity is not a company.)
- (2) A choice under this section has effect accordingly. The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the leaving entity.
- (3) When the pool is created, its loss denial balance is equal to the *head company's *final RUNL at the leaving time.

Note: If the head company makes this choice, the leaving entity can choose to cancel the loss denial pool by reducing reduced cost bases of assets in the pool: see section 715-185.

Effect of assets in loss denial pool of head company becoming assets of leaving entity

715-120 What happens

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) at a particular time (the leaving time), an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) just before the leaving time, the *head company had a *loss denial pool; and
  - (c) at the leaving time, at least one *CGT asset (a leaving asset) that was in the pool just before that time becomes a CGT asset of the leaving entity because subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity;
- (2) Each leaving asset leaves the *loss denial pool at the leaving time.
- (3) If:
- (a) the leaving entity is a company and the leaving time is not a *changeover time for the leaving entity; or
  - (b) the leaving entity is a trust;
- the *head company must make one of the choices for which sections 715-125, 715-130 and 715-135 provide.

For provisions about making one of these choices, see sections 715-175 to 715-185.

715-125 First choice: adjustable values of leaving assets reduced to nil

The first choice is to reduce the *adjustable value of each leaving asset to nil. The choice has effect accordingly, just before the leaving time. The *loss denial balance of the *head company's *loss denial pool is not reduced because of it.

Note: The consequences of the choice are worked out under section 715-145.

715-130 Second choice: pool's loss denial balance applied in reducing adjustable values of leaving assets that are loss assets

- (1) The second choice is to reduce under this section the *adjustable value of each leaving asset (a loss asset) for which the *head company would have had a notional capital loss, or notional revenue loss, under section 165-115F at the time (the test time) just before the leaving time if the test time had been a *changeover time for the head company. The choice has effect accordingly.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-135

---

Note: The consequences of the choice are worked out under this section and section 715-145.

- (2) If:
- (a) 2 or more entities cease to be *subsidiary members of the *consolidated group; and
  - (b) 2 or more of them make the second choice;
- the choices have effect in the same order as the entities cease being subsidiary members. If 2 or more of the entities ceased at the same time, their choices have effect in whichever order the *head company determines.
- (3) This section applies to each of the loss assets in order, according to their respective *adjustable values (apart from this section) at the test time: from largest to smallest. (If an asset has more than one such adjustable value, use the greater or greatest of them.)
- (4) At the test time, the *adjustable value of the loss asset is reduced to the asset's *market value at that time.
- (5) However, if the *loss denial balance (as reduced by any previous reductions under this section or section 715-160) of the *head company's *loss denial pool is less than the difference between:
- (a) the *adjustable value of the loss asset (apart from this section) at the test time; and
  - (b) the asset's *market value at the test time;
- the adjustable value is instead reduced at the test time by that loss denial balance.
- (6) That *loss denial balance is reduced at the leaving time by the amount of the reduction under subsection (3) or (4). If 2 or more such reductions are made for the same asset (because it has 2 or more different characters), that loss denial balance is reduced by the greater or greatest of the reductions.

715-135 Third choice: loss denial pool of leaving entity created

- (1) The third choice can be made only if every asset that was in the *loss denial pool just before the leaving time is a leaving asset. The choice is to have a loss denial pool of the leaving entity created at the leaving time, consisting of every leaving asset. (To avoid doubt, the choice can be made even if the leaving entity is not a company.)

---

- (2) A choice under this section has effect accordingly. The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the leaving entity.
- (3) When the leaving entity's loss denial pool is created, its loss denial balance equals the loss denial balance of the head company's loss denial pool (as reduced by any previous reductions under section 715-130 or 715-160).

Note: If the head company makes this choice, the leaving entity can choose to cancel the loss denial pool by reducing reduced cost bases of assets in the pool: see section 715-185.

- (4) The head company's *loss denial pool ceases to exist when the leaving entity's loss denial pool is created.

Effect of first and second choices on various kinds of assets

715-145 Effect of choice on adjustable value of leaving asset

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of determining the consequences of a choice under any of sections 715-100, 715-105, 715-125, 715-130 and 715-185 (the choice provisions) for a leaving asset.
- (2) The asset's adjustable value at the time (the test time) just before the leaving time is worked out under this table. (If the asset is covered by 2 or more items, there are consequences for it under the choice provisions and this section in respect of each of the items.)

---

Adjustable value at the test time

---

Item	If:	Its adjustable value is:
1	the asset is a *CGT asset	its *reduced cost base
2	the asset is an item of *trading stock of the *head company at the test time, and became part of the *head company's *trading stock in the income year (the test year ) in which the test time occurs	its *cost

---

---

---

Adjustable value at the test time

---

Item	If:	Its adjustable value is:
3	the asset is an item of *trading stock of the *head company at the test time, item 2 does not apply, and at the end of the last income year before the test year, the item was *valued at its *cost	its *cost
4	the asset is an item of *trading stock of the *head company at the test time and neither of items 2 and 3 applies	its *value as trading stock of the head company on hand at the start of the income year in which the test time occurs
5	the asset is a *depreciating asset	worked out under section 40-85
6	the asset is a *revenue asset	the total of the amounts that would be subtracted from the gross disposal proceeds in calculating any profit or loss on disposal of the asset by the head company

---

- (3) If any of the choice provisions reduces at the test time the asset's *adjustable value, the thing identified for the asset under the table in subsection (2) of this section is reduced by the same amount.
- (4) Subsection (3) has effect for the purposes of working out under section 711-30 the *head company's *terminating value for the asset at the leaving time.

General provisions about loss denial pools

715-155 When asset leaves pool

A *CGT asset leaves a *loss denial pool:

- (a) just after a *realisation event happens to the asset, unless the realisation event is the ending of an income year (in the case of an item of *trading stock); or
- (b) as mentioned in subsection 715-120(2) (when it becomes an asset of the leaving entity).

---

---

715-160 How loss denial balance is applied to losses realised on assets in pool

- (1) If, apart from this section, a loss would be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to a *CGT asset when it is in a *loss denial pool of an entity, the loss is reduced by the lesser of:
  - (a) the amount of the loss; and
  - (b) the pool's *loss denial balance (as reduced by any previous reductions under section 715-130 or this subsection);and the loss denial balance is reduced by the same amount.
- (2) Subsection (1) applies to *realisation events in the order in which they happen. If 2 or more happen at the same time, it applies to them in whichever order the entity determines.
- (3) Subsection (1) reduces a *loss denial balance after section 715-130 does, unless the *realisation event happens before the leaving time referred to in that section.

715-165 When pool ceases to exist

- (1) A *loss denial pool of a company ceases to exist when there is a *changeover time for the company.

Note: The CGT assets in the pool then become subject to the application of Subdivision 165-CC (about change of ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss).

- (2) A *loss denial pool of any entity ceases to exist:
  - (a) when there are no *CGT assets, and no *170-D deferred losses, in the pool; or
  - (b) just after the *loss denial balance becomes nil; or
  - (c) when the entity becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; or
  - (d) as mentioned in subsection 715-135(4).

Choices under this Subdivision

715-175 When choice must be made

- (1) A choice under section 715-95 or 715-120 must be made within 6 months after the leaving time, or within a further period allowed by the Commissioner.
- (2) After that 6 months, or that further period, the head company is taken to have made the first choice under section 715-100 or 715-125 unless it is established that the head company made a different choice within that 6 months or further period.

715-180 Head company to notify leaving entity of choice

- (1) Within one month after making a choice under section 715-95 or 715-120, or within a further period allowed by the Commissioner, the head company must give the leaving entity written notice of the choice.
- (2) If the choice is to have a *loss denial pool of the leaving entity created at the leaving time, the notice must also specify the pool's *loss denial balance at that time.

715-185 Leaving entity may choose to cancel loss denial pool by reducing adjustable values of assets in the pool

- (1) Within 6 months after a *loss denial pool is created under section 715-110 or 715-135, or within a further period allowed by the Commissioner, the leaving entity may choose to be treated as if the *head company had instead made:
  - (a) the first choice under section 715-100 or 715-125; or
  - (b) the second choice under section 715-105 or 715-130;as specified by the leaving entity in its choice.
- (2) If the leaving entity makes a choice under subsection (1):
  - (a) the *loss denial pool ceases to exist just after the leaving time; and
  - (b) at the leaving time, the *adjustable value of each *CGT asset in the pool is reduced to what it would have been at that time

---

if the head company had instead made the choice specified by the leaving entity in its choice.

- (3) The choice by the leaving entity does not affect how subsection 715-135(4) applies to the *head company.

Note: This means that the head company's loss denial pool still ceases to exist.

Subdivision 715-B—How Subdivision 165-CD applies to consolidated groups and leaving entities

Table of sections

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to consolidated groups

- 715-215 Extension of single entity rule and entry history rule
- 715-225 Working out adjusted unrealised loss using individual asset method
- 715-230 No reductions or other consequences for interests subject to loss cancellation under Subdivision 715-H

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to leaving entity that is a company

- 715-240 Application of sections 715-245 to 715-260
- 715-245 If ownership or control of leaving entity has altered since head company's last alteration time or formation of group
- 715-250 If head company has had an alteration time but ownership and control of leaving entity have not altered since
- 715-255 Consequences if leaving entity is a loss company at the leaving time
- 715-260 If neither of sections 715-245 and 715-250 applies

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to leaving entity that is a trust

- 715-270 Subdivision 165-CD applies

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to consolidated groups

715-215 Extension of single entity rule and entry history rule

- (1) Subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule) and section 701-5 (Entry history rule) also have effect for all the purposes of Subdivision 165-CD (about reductions after alterations in ownership or control of loss company).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note: One consequence of this is that the head company is the only member of a consolidated group that can have an alteration time and be subject to reductions or other consequences under Subdivision 165-CD. The head company is treated as owning all CGT assets owned by group members, and as making relevant losses.

Another consequence is for working out who has a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in a company that has an alteration time at which it is a loss company but not a member of a consolidated group. Interests in the loss company that are owned by subsidiary members of the group are treated as being owned by the head company.

- (2) This section is not intended to limit the effect that subsection 701-1(1) and section 701-5 have apart from this section.

715-225 Working out adjusted unrealised loss using individual asset method

- (1) For the purposes of:
- (a) using the *individual asset method to work out whether the *head company of a *consolidated group has an adjusted unrealised loss under section 165-115U at an *alteration time; or
  - (b) working out under section 165-115W whether the head company of a consolidated group has a trading stock decrease at an alteration time;
- step 1 of the method statement in subsection 165-115U(1), or step 2 of the method statement in subsection 165-115W(1), does not apply to an amount that was counted in respect of a *CGT asset at an earlier time if:
- (c) at the time (the joining time) when an entity became a *subsidiary member of the group, the asset became an asset of the head company because of subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule); and
  - (d) the earlier time is an *alteration time that happened in respect of the entity before the joining time;

unless the entity is a chosen transitional entity under Division 701 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note: If the joining entity is a chosen transitional entity, section 701-15 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 prevents:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 715-230

- section 701-10 (cost to head company of assets of joining entity); and
- subsection 701-35(4) (setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount);

of this Act from applying to the assets of the joining entity in relation to the joining time.

If the joining entity is not a chosen transitional entity, it is assumed that the process of resetting the tax costs of its assets will bring their tax costs into closer alignment to their market values, and so remove the need to consider unrealised losses on those assets that existed before the joining time.

(2) This section has effect despite section 701-5 (Entry history rule).

715-230 No reductions or other consequences for interests subject to loss cancellation under Subdivision 715-H

If section 715-610 reduces a loss that would otherwise be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to an interest in, or a debt owed by, a company, sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB do not apply (and are taken never to have applied) to the interest or debt, in relation to an *alteration time that happened for the company during the ownership period referred to in subsection 715-610(2).

Note 1: Section 715-610 is about cancelling a loss on a realisation event for a direct or indirect interest in a subsidiary member of a consolidated group.

Note 2: Sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB are about the consequences that an alteration time for a loss company has for relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests in the company.

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to leaving entity that is a company

715-240 Application of sections 715-245 to 715-260

Sections 715-245 to 715-260 affect how Subdivision 165-CD (about reductions after alterations in ownership or control of loss company) applies to a company (the leaving entity) at and after the time (the leaving time) when it ceases to be a *subsidiary member

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-245

---

of a *consolidated group that came into existence at a particular time (the formation time).

Note: If a trust ceases to be a subsidiary member of a consolidated group: see section 715-270.

715-245 If ownership or control of leaving entity has altered since head company's last alteration time or formation of group

- (1) This section applies if the leaving time would be an *alteration time for the leaving entity if:
  - (a) the reference time under subsection 165-115L(2) or 165-115M(2) were:
    - (i) if at least one alteration time has occurred in relation to the *head company of the *consolidated group since the formation time and before the leaving time—the time just after the most recent such alteration time; or
    - (ii) otherwise—the formation time; and
  - (b) the additional assumptions in section 715-290 were made.

- (2) The leaving time is an alteration time for the leaving entity.

Note: One consequence of this is that the reference time for working out the leaving entity's next alteration time is the time just after the leaving time.

- (3) The leaving entity is a loss company at that *alteration time if, and only if, it has an *adjusted unrealised loss at that time. If so, that adjusted unrealised loss is the leaving entity's overall loss at that time.

Note 1: Subsection (4) affects how the leaving entity works out its adjusted unrealised loss at the leaving time in some cases.

Note 2: If the leaving entity is a loss company at the leaving time, section 715-255 provides for the consequences.

- (4) If the leaving entity uses the *individual asset method of working out its *adjusted unrealised loss at that *alteration time, then for the purposes of:
  - (a) step 1 of the method statement in subsection 165-115U(1); and
  - (b) the method statement in subsection 165-115W(1);

---

the leaving entity is taken to have had no earlier alteration time.

715-250 If head company has had an alteration time but ownership and control of leaving entity have not altered since

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) at least one *alteration time has occurred in relation to the *head company of the *consolidated group since the formation time and before the leaving time; and
  - (b) the leaving time is not an *alteration time for the leaving entity under subsection 715-245(2).
- (2) The leaving time is an alteration time for the leaving entity.
- (3) However, for the purposes of determining when the leaving entity's next *alteration time happens, the reference time under subsection 165-115L(2) or 165-115M(2) is the time just after the most recent alteration time for the *head company before the leaving time.
- (4) The leaving entity is a loss company at the leaving time if, and only if, the *head company would have had an *adjusted unrealised loss at the most recent *alteration time (the head company alteration time) for the head company before the leaving time if that adjusted unrealised loss (if any) were worked out on the basis that:
  - (a) the head company chooses whether the *individual asset method or the *global method is used; and
  - (b) a *CGT asset is taken into account only if:
    - (i) the head company owned it at the head company alteration time; and
    - (ii) it becomes a CGT asset of the leaving entity at the leaving time because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceases to apply to the entity; and
  - (c) if the individual asset method is used, then for the purposes of:
    - (i) step 1 of the method statement in subsection 165-115U(1); and
    - (ii) the method statement in subsection 165-115W(1);

the head company had no earlier alteration time.

- (5) If the leaving entity is a *loss company at the leaving time, its overall loss at that time is the *adjusted unrealised loss worked out under subsection (4).

715-255 Consequences if leaving entity is a loss company at the leaving time

- (1) If:
- (a) section 715-245 or 715-250 applies; and
  - (b) the leaving entity is a *loss company at the leaving time; the head company must choose whether subsection (2) or (3) of this section has effect for the purposes of applying, to each *membership interest in the leaving entity, in relation to the time just before the leaving time, whichever of these provisions is appropriate:
    - (c) subsection 701-55(3) (about trading stock);
    - (d) subsection 701-55(5), but only so far as it relates to working out the *reduced cost base of a *membership interest that was *acquired on or after 20 September 1985;
    - (e) subsection 701-55(6) (about revenue assets).

Note: Section 701-55 is about setting the tax cost of an asset.

- (2) If the *head company chooses this subsection, the interest's *tax cost setting amount (apart from this section) just before the leaving time is reduced to nil.
- (3) If the *head company chooses this subsection, the interest's *tax cost setting amount (apart from this section) just before the leaving time is reduced by the adjustment amount under section 165-115ZB, which is calculated on the basis that:
- (a) just before the leaving time, all the *membership interests in the leaving entity constituted a single relevant equity interest under section 165-115X that the head company had in the leaving entity; and
  - (b) the adjustment amount is worked out and applied in accordance with subsection 165-115ZB(6), but disregarding

the paragraphs of that subsection except paragraphs 165-115ZB(6)(a) and (d).

- (4) The *head company's choice must be made within 6 months after the leaving time, or within a further period allowed by the Commissioner.
- (5) After that 6 months, or that further period, the head company is taken to have chosen subsection (2) unless it is established that the head company made a different choice within that 6 months or further period.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (6) Subsection 711-15(2) (which treats rights and options as membership interests) also applies for the purposes of this section, on the basis that the *consolidated group referred to in section 715-240 is the old group referred to in that subsection.

715-260 If neither of sections 715-245 and 715-250 applies

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) no *alteration time has occurred in relation to the *head company of the *consolidated group since the formation time and before the leaving time; and
  - (b) the leaving time is not an *alteration time for the leaving entity under subsection 715-245(2).
- (2) The leaving entity's first *alteration time after the leaving time is determined:
  - (a) on the basis that the reference time under subsection 165-115L(2) or 165-115M(2) is the time just after the formation time; and
  - (b) making the additional assumptions in section 715-290.
- (3) If the leaving entity uses the *individual asset method of working out its *adjusted unrealised loss at that first *alteration time, then for the purposes of:
  - (a) step 1 of the method statement in subsection 165-115U(1); and

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to leaving entity that is a trust

715-270 Subdivision 165-CD applies

- (1) At and after the time (the leaving time) when a trust ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, Subdivision 165-CD (about reductions after alterations in ownership or control of loss company) applies to the trust on the basis set out in this section.
  - (2) The trust is taken to be a company.
  - (3) The leaving time is the only alteration time in respect of the trust.
  - (4) The trust is a loss company at that time if, and only if, it has an *adjusted unrealised loss at that time. If so, that adjusted unrealised loss is its overall loss at that time.
  - (5) If the trust is a *loss company at the leaving time, the *head company must choose whether subsection (6) or (7) of this section has effect for the purposes of applying, to each *membership interest in the trust, in relation to the time just before the leaving time, whichever of these provisions is appropriate:
    - (a) subsection 701-55(3) (about trading stock);
    - (b) subsection 701-55(5), but only so far as it relates to working out the *reduced cost base of a *membership interest that was *acquired on or after 20 September 1985;
    - (c) subsection 701-55(6) (about revenue assets).
- Note: Section 701-55 is about setting the tax cost of an asset.
- (6) If the *head company chooses this subsection, the interest's *tax cost setting amount (apart from this section) just before the leaving time is reduced to nil.
  - (7) If the *head company chooses this subsection, the interest's *tax cost setting amount (apart from this section) just before the leaving time is reduced by the adjustment amount under section 165-115ZB, which is calculated on the basis that:

---

- (a) just before the leaving time:
  - (i) all the *membership interests in the leaving entity constituted a single relevant equity interest under section 165-115X that the *head company had in the leaving entity; and
  - (ii) each of those interests was an equity under section 165-115X that the *head company had in the leaving entity; and
- (b) the adjustment amount is worked out and applied in accordance with subsection 165-115ZB(6), but disregarding the paragraphs of that subsection except paragraphs 165-115ZB(6)(a) and (d).
- (8) The *head company's choice must be made within 6 months after the leaving time, or within a further period allowed by the Commissioner.
- (9) After that 6 months, or that further period, the head company is taken to have chosen subsection (6) unless it is established that the head company made a different choice within that 6 months or further period.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (10) Subsection 711-15(2) (which treats rights and options as membership interests) also applies for the purposes of this section, on the basis that the *consolidated group is the old group referred to in that subsection.

Subdivision 715-C—Common rules for the purposes of Subdivisions 715-A and 715-B

715-290 Additional assumptions to be made when using reference time

The additional assumptions to be made are that, throughout the period starting at the reference time and ending just before the leaving time:

- (b) the *head company held and beneficially owned all the *membership interests in the leaving entity (instead of whoever actually did); and
- (c) those membership interests remained the same; and
- (d) the head company directly controlled the voting power in the leaving entity.

715-365 How loss denial balance is applied when 170-D deferred loss revives

Key terminology

715-310 What is a 170-D deferred loss, and when it *revives

- (1) A *capital loss, deduction, or partner’s share of a deduction, that section 170-270 (about transactions within linked groups) requires to be disregarded is a 170-D deferred loss made:
  - (a) by the company that paragraph 170-255(1)(a) refers to as the originating company; and
  - (b) at the time of the event that paragraph refers to as the deferral event; and
  - (c) on the *CGT asset *acquired by the other entity referred to in that paragraph.
- (2) The *170-D deferred loss revives at the time when section 170-275 (as applying in relation to the deferral event) treats the originating company as having made a *capital loss, or having become entitled to a deduction, in respect of that asset.

Deferred loss on 165-CC tagged asset

715-355 Head company's own deferred losses at formation time

- (1) This section applies if, at the time (the formation time) when a *consolidated group comes into existence, the *head company has (otherwise than because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule)) a *170-D deferred loss that:
  - (a) it made on a *CGT asset that is a *165-CC tagged asset of the head company because of paragraph 165-115A(1A)(b) (which covers CGT assets on which it has 170-D deferred losses); and
  - (b) has not *revived.
- (2) If a *loss denial pool of the *head company is created under section 715-60 at the formation time, each *170-D deferred loss of that kind that the head company has at that time is added to the loss denial pool at that time.
- (3) Otherwise, a loss denial pool of the *head company is created at the formation time if:
  - (a) the formation time is not a *changeover time for the head company; and
  - (b) the head company's *final RUNL just before the formation time (as reduced by any reductions under section 715-50 or 715-55) was greater than nil; and
  - (c) the head company does not satisfy the *same business test for:
    - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the head company's *trial year; and
    - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.

Note: Paragraph (3)(b) has the effect that if the head company has 165-CC tagged assets that are affected by section 715-50 or 715-55 (because they are membership interests in, or accounting liabilities owed by, another group member), those sections are applied before this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (4) When it is created because of subsection (3), the pool consists of each *170-D deferred loss covered by subsection (2), and its loss denial balance is equal to the *final RUNL referred to in paragraph (3)(b).

Note: The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the head company, for example, one created at the formation time under section 715-360.

715-360 Deferred losses brought in by subsidiary member

- (1) This section applies if, just before the time (the membership time) when a company (the deferred loss company) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, it had a *170-D deferred loss that:
- (a) it made on a *CGT asset that is a *165-CC tagged asset of the company at the membership time because of paragraph 165-115A(1A)(b) (which covers CGT assets on which it has 170-D deferred losses); and
  - (b) as at the membership time has not *revived.
- (2) If a *loss denial pool of the *head company is created under subsection 715-70(2) because of the deferred loss company becoming a *subsidiary member of the group, each *170-D deferred loss of that kind that the deferred loss company had just before the membership time is added to the loss denial pool at that time.
- (3) Otherwise, a loss denial pool of the *head company is created at the membership time if:
- (a) the membership time is not a *changeover time for the head company; and
  - (b) the deferred loss company's *final RUNL just before the membership time (as reduced by any reductions under section 715-50 or 715-55) was greater than nil; and
  - (c) the deferred loss company does not satisfy the *same business test for:
    - (i) the period (the same business test period) consisting of the deferred loss company's *trial year; and
    - (ii) the time (the test time) just before the *changeover time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-365

Note 1: The 170-D deferred losses become those of the head company at the formation time because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule).

Note 2: Paragraph (3)(b) has the effect that if the deferred loss company has other 165-CC tagged assets affected by section 715-50 or 715-55 (because the membership time is when the group comes into existence, and the other 165-CC tagged assets are membership interests in, or accounting liabilities owed by, another group member), those sections are applied before this section.

- (4) When it is created because of subsection (3), the pool consists of each 170-D deferred loss covered by subsection (2), and its loss denial balance is equal to the *final RUNL referred to in paragraph (3)(b).

Note: The pool is distinct from any other loss denial pool of the head company, for example, one created under this section because another entity becomes a subsidiary member of the group at the membership time.

715-365 How loss denial balance is applied when 170-D deferred loss revives

- (1) If a *170-D deferred loss on a *CGT asset is in a *loss denial pool of an entity when the loss *revives, the *capital loss or deduction that section 170-275 would, apart from this section, treat the entity as having made or become entitled to at that time in respect of the asset is reduced by the lesser of:
- (a) the amount of the capital loss or deduction; and
  - (b) the pool's *loss denial balance (as reduced by any previous reductions under section 715-130, subsection 715-160(1) or this subsection);
- and the loss denial balance is reduced by the same amount.
- (2) Subsection (1) applies to *170-D deferred losses in the order in which they *revive. If 2 or more revive at the same time, it applies to them in whichever order the entity determines.
- (3) Subsection (1) reduces a *loss denial balance before section 715-130 does, unless the *realisation event happens after the leaving time referred to in that section.

715-375 Cost setting—amount of liability that is Division 230 financial arrangement

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if:
  - (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) a thing (the accounting liability) is, in accordance with *accounting standards, or statements of accounting concepts made by the Australian Accounting Standards Board, a liability of the joining entity at the joining time that can or must be recognised in the entity's statement of financial position; and
  - (c) the accounting liability is or is part of a *Division 230 financial arrangement.
- (2) For the purposes of Division 230, treat the *head company of the group as starting to have the accounting liability at the joining time.
- (3) Subsection (4) applies if:
  - (a) the requirements in subsection (1) are met; and
  - (b) Subdivision 230-C (fair value method), Subdivision 230-D (foreign exchange retranslation method) or Subdivision 230-F (reliance on financial reports method) is to apply in relation to the accounting liability after the joining time.
- (4) For as long as Subdivision 230-C, 230-D or 230-F applies in relation to the accounting liability, treat the amount of the

715-380 Exit history rule not to affect certain matters related to Division 230 financial arrangements

Spreading fees gain or loss

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if:
  - (a) an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) but for the cessation of membership and section 701-40 (the exit history rule), the *head company of the group would spread a fees gain or loss mentioned in section 230-160 over a period that ended after the leaving time.
- (2) Despite section 701-40 (the exit history rule), the *head company of the *consolidated group continues to spread the fees gain or loss over that period, in accordance with section 230-160.

Assessable income and deductions under section 701-61

- (3) Subsection (4) applies if:
  - (a) an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) but for the cessation of membership and section 701-40 (the exit history rule):
    - (i) an amount would be included in the assessable income of the *head company of the group under section 701-61 for an income year ending after the leaving time; or
    - (ii) the head company of the group would be entitled to a deduction under section 701-61 for an income year ending after the leaving time.

715-385 Exit history rule and elective methods applying to Division 230 financial arrangements

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if:
  - (a) an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) the *head company of the group has a *Division 230 financial arrangement at the leaving time because the leaving entity is taken by subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) to be a part of the head company; and
  - (c) after the leaving time, the leaving entity makes an election of a kind mentioned in section 230-220 (fair value method), 230-265 (foreign exchange retranslation method), 230-325 (hedging method) or 230-410 (reliance on financial reports method).
- (2) For the purposes of determining whether the election applies to the financial arrangement, disregard paragraphs 230-220(1)(d), 230-265(1)(d), 230-325(a) and 230-410(1)(b)).

- (1) Subsection 701-1(1) (Single entity rule) and section 701-5 (Entry history rule) also have effect for all the purposes of Part 3-95 (Value shifting).

Note: One consequence of this for the operation of Division 727 (about indirect value shifting affecting interests in companies and trusts, and arising from non-arm's length dealings) is that economic benefits provided by or to a subsidiary member of a consolidated group are treated as provided by or to the head company of the group. As a result:

- the head company is the only group member that can be a losing entity or gaining entity for an indirect value shift; and
- economic benefits provided by one group member to another are treated as provided by the head company to itself, and so have no relevance to Division 727.

Another consequence is that the head company is treated as owning all interests owned by group members in a losing entity or gaining entity that is not a group member.

- (2) This section is not intended to limit the effect that subsection 701-1(1) and section 701-5 have apart from this section.

715-450 No reductions or other consequences for interests subject to loss cancellation under Subdivision 715-H

If section 715-610 reduces a loss that would otherwise be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to an *equity or loan interest in an entity:

- (a) the loss is not subject to reduction under Division 723 (Direct value shifting by creating right over non-depreciating asset) or 727 (Indirect value shifting); and
- (b) the interest's *adjustable value is not, and is taken never to have been, reduced under Division 725 because of a *direct value shift during the ownership period referred to in subsection 715-610(2); and
- (c) the interest's *adjustable value is not, and is taken never to have been, reduced under Division 727 because of an *indirect value shift during that period.

Note: Section 715-610 is about cancelling a loss on a realisation event for a direct or indirect interest in a subsidiary member of a consolidated group.

715-610	Cancellation of loss
715-615	Exception for interests in entity leaving consolidated group
715-620	Exception if loss attributable to certain matters

715-610 Cancellation of loss

- (1) This section reduces to nil a loss that would otherwise be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to an *equity or loan interest (the realised interest) in an entity (the first entity) when it is owned by another entity (the owner), if the conditions in subsections (2) and (4) are met.
- (2) The first condition is that, at some time during the period (the ownership period) when the owner owned the realised interest:
  - (a) the first entity was a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, and the owner was not a *member of the group; or
  - (b) the realised interest was an *external indirect equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a consolidated group; or
  - (c) the realised interest was an *equity or loan interest in an entity that, at that time:
    - (i) owned an equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a consolidated group; and
    - (ii) was not a member of the group; or
  - (d) the realised interest was an *equity or loan interest in an entity that owned at that time an external indirect equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a consolidated group.
- (3) An *equity or loan interest in an entity (the test entity) is an external indirect equity or loan interest in a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group if, and only if, neither the owner of the interest nor the test entity is a member of the group and:
  - (a) the test entity owns an equity or loan interest in the subsidiary member; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the test entity owns an equity or loan interest that is an external indirect equity or loan interest in the subsidiary member because of one or more other applications of this subsection.
- (4) The second condition is that, at the same or a different time during the ownership period:
  - (a) the owner was, or *controlled (for value shifting purposes), the *head company of a *consolidated group because of which the first condition is satisfied; or
  - (b) the owner was an *associate of an entity that, at the same or a different time during the ownership period, was, or controlled (for value shifting purposes), the head company of such a consolidated group.

715-615 Exception for interests in entity leaving consolidated group

Membership interests in leaving entity

- (1) If:
  - (a) the realised interest is a *membership interest; and
  - (b) during the ownership period the first entity ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group;the first condition in section 715-610 cannot be satisfied, because of that consolidated group, at a time when the first entity was a member of the group, unless the interest needed to be disregarded under section 703-35 (about employee shares), or section 703-37 (about ADI restructures), in order for the first entity to be a member of the group at that time.

Liabilities owed by leaving entity

- (2) If the realised interest:
  - (a) consists of a liability owed by the first entity to the owner; and
  - (b) became an asset of the owner because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceased to apply to the first entity when it ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group;

the first condition in section 715-610 cannot be satisfied, because of that consolidated group, at a time when the first entity was a member of the group.

715-620 Exception if loss attributable to certain matters

- (1) The loss is not reduced if all of it can be shown to be attributable to things other than these:
  - (a) something that would be reflected in what would, apart from this Part, be an overall loss under section 165-115R or 165-115S, of a *member of a *consolidated group (an excluded group) because of which the first condition in section 715-610 is satisfied, at an *alteration time for that member;
  - (b) an *indirect value shift for which, apart from this Part, a member of an excluded group would be the *losing entity or the *gaining entity.
- (2) If only part of the loss can be shown to be attributable to things other than the ones listed in subsection (1), the loss is reduced to the amount of that part.

Head company's choice overriding entry history rule*715-660 Head company's choice overriding entry history ruleApplication*

- (1) This section has effect if an entity becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time) and either:
- (a) the question whether the entity had made a choice (however described) under a provision (the choice provision) listed in the table was relevant to working out the entity's liability (if any) for income tax, or the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort, calculated by reference to an income year starting before the joining time; or
  - (b) before the joining time, the entity made a choice that:
    - (i) is described in paragraph (a); and
    - (ii) would, if the entity had not become a subsidiary member of a consolidated group, have started to have effect for working out the entity's liability (if any) for income tax, or the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort, calculated by reference to the first income year starting after the joining time.

Item	Provision	Subject of provision
4	A provision that: (a) provides for a choice (however described); and (b) is a provision of regulations made for the purposes of this Act, other than this item; and (c) is prescribed by regulations made for the purposes of this item	Choice about a matter described in the regulations

Note: Declarations, elections and selections made under the choice provision by the entity are all examples of choices under that provision (even though the provision does not call them choices), because the entity has chosen to make them.

Objects

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
- (a) to override section 701-5 (Entry history rule) in relation to a choice (however described) by the entity under the choice provision or the absence of such a choice; and
  - (b) to extend, in some cases, the time for the *head company of the *consolidated group to make a choice (however described) under the choice provision after the joining time; and
  - (c) to modify, in some cases, the time at which such a choice by the head company starts to have effect.

Overriding the entry history rule

- (3) For the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule), ignore a choice (however described) made by the entity under the choice provision or the absence of such a choice.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Extension of time for head company to make choice

- (4) If:
- (a) because of:
    - (i) the fact that the entity became a *subsidiary member of the *consolidated group; and
    - (ii) section 701-1 (Single entity rule);
 the question whether the *head company of the group has made a choice (however described) under the choice provision becomes relevant for the head company core purposes set out in that section; and
  - (b) there is a limit (outside this section) on the period within which the head company may make such a choice;
 the head company has until the later of these times to make such a choice:
    - (c) the last time the head company may make the choice (apart from this subsection);
    - (d) the end of 90 days after the Commissioner is given notice under Division 703 that the entity has become a *member of the group or, if the Commissioner allows a later time for the purposes of this paragraph, that later time.

When head company's choice starts to have effect

- (5) If the *head company of the *consolidated group makes a choice (however described) under the choice provision as a result of becoming able to make the choice because the entity became a *subsidiary member of the group at the joining time, the choice starts to have effect:
- (a) at the joining time; or
  - (b) if the choice relates (explicitly or implicitly) to one or more whole income years—for the income year in which the joining time occurs.

Note: Subsection (5) has effect whether or not subsection (4) contributed to the head company becoming able to make the choice.

- (6) Section 701-5 (Entry history rule) and the choice provision have effect subject to this section.

Choices head company can make ignoring entry history rule to override inconsistencies

715-665 Head company's choice to override inconsistency

Application

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) for each of the following entities, the question whether the entity had made a choice (however described) under a provision (the choice provision) listed in the table was relevant to working out the entity's liability (if any) for income tax, or the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort, calculated by reference to an income year starting before the joining time:
    - (i) the joining entity;
    - (ii) another entity that was a *member of the group at the joining time; and
  - (c) there was an inconsistency because, just before the joining time, such a choice had effect for one of the entities but not for the other.

Item	Provision	Subject of provision
3	A provision that: (a) provides for a choice (however described); and (b) is a provision of regulations made for the purposes of this Act, other than this item; and (c) is prescribed by regulations made for the purposes of this item	Choice about a matter described in the regulations

Note 1: The other entity mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) may have become a member of the group either before or at the joining time. That other entity may be either another subsidiary member of the group or the head company of the group.

Note 2: An election by an entity under section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is an example of a choice under that provision (even though that section does not call the election a choice) because the entity has chosen to make the election.

Object

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
- (a) to override the inconsistency; and
  - (b) to displace section 701-5 (Entry history rule), so far as it relates to the inconsistency; and
  - (c) to allow the *head company of the *consolidated group to make a choice (however described) under the choice provision.

Overriding the inconsistency

- (3) Neither of these things relating to an entity that becomes a *member of the *consolidated group at the joining time has effect for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule):
- (a) a choice (however described) by the entity having effect under the choice provision before that time;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 715-665

---

(b) the absence of such a choice.

Note: This affects all entities that become members of the consolidated group at the joining time, including the head company if the joining time is the time at which the group comes into existence.

(4) However, if the choice provision is section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (Reinsurance with non-residents):

(a) subsection (3) of this section does not apply in relation to reinsurance under contracts made before the joining time (but does apply in relation to reinsurance under contracts made at or after that time); and

(b) that section applies for the head company core purposes in relation to reinsurance under a contract made before the joining time by an entity (the contracting party) that became a *member of the *consolidated group at or before the joining time:

(i) as if the *head company of the consolidated group had made an election under that section, if the contracting party had made such an election that was relevant to working out the party's liability (if any) for income tax, or the party's *tax loss (if any), for an income year in connection with the contract; or

(ii) as if the head company had not made such an election, if the contracting party had not made such an election that was relevant to working out the party's liability (if any) for income tax, or the party's tax loss (if any), for an income year in connection with the contract.

Choice replacing inconsistency

(5) If:

(a) the question whether the *head company of the *consolidated group has made a choice (however described) under the choice provision is relevant for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule); and the head company has until the later of these times to make such a choice:

(b) there is a limit (outside this section) on the period within which the head company may make such a choice;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the last time the head company may make the choice (apart from this subsection);
- (d) the end of 90 days after the Commissioner is given notice under Division 703 that the joining entity has become a *member of the group or, if the Commissioner allows a later time for the purposes of this paragraph, that later time.

Note: If the joining time is when the consolidated group is formed, the Commissioner should be given notice under Division 703 that the joining entity has become a member of the group when the approved form of the choice to form the group is given to the Commissioner.

When head company's choice starts to have effect

- (6) If the *head company of the *consolidated group makes a choice (however described) under the choice provision as a result of becoming able to make the choice because the joining entity became a *member of the group, the choice starts to have effect:
  - (a) at the joining time; or
  - (b) if the choice relates (explicitly or implicitly) to one or more whole income years—for the income year in which the joining time occurs.
- (7) However, if:
  - (a) the *head company of the *consolidated group makes a choice as described in subsection (6); and
  - (b) the choice is an election under section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (Reinsurance with non-residents);

the election has effect only for the purposes of that section applying in relation to reinsurance under contracts made after the joining time and in an income year for which the election applies under that section.

Note: Subsection (4) explains how section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to reinsurance under contracts made before the joining time.

Relationship with other provisions

- (8) Section 701-5 (Entry history rule) and the choice provision have effect subject to this section.

Choices with ongoing effect

715-670 Ongoing effect of choices made by entities before joining group

- (1) This section has effect if the question whether the *head company of a *consolidated group has made a choice (however described) under a provision listed in the table is relevant for the head company core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) because of something happening in relation to a thing:
  - (a) that is an asset, right, liability or obligation of the head company; and
  - (b) that the head company started to have, at the time (the joining time) an entity (the joining entity) became a *subsidiary member of the group, because of that section and the fact that (ignoring that section) the entity had the thing at the joining time.

- (a) an entity ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
- (b) the question whether the *head company of the group had made a choice (however described) under a provision (the choice provision) listed in the table in subsection 715-660(1) was relevant to working out that company's liability (if any) for income tax, or the entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort, calculated by reference to an income year starting before the leaving time.

Note: Declarations, elections and selections made under the choice provision at the option of a company are all examples of choices under that provision (even though it does not call them choices) because the company has chosen to make them.

Objects

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
  - (a) to override section 701-40 (Exit history rule) and let the entity make a choice (however described) under the choice provision with effect after the leaving time; and
  - (b) to extend, in some cases, the time for the entity to make such a choice after the leaving time; and

- (3) For the entity core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to income years ending after the leaving time, ignore a choice (however described) made by the *head company of the *consolidated group under the choice provision or the absence of such a choice.

Fresh choice by the entity

Extension of time for fresh choice by the entity

- (5) If there is a time limit (apart from this subsection) on the entity making such a choice, the entity has until the later of these times to make the choice:
- (a) the last time it may make the choice under the provision (apart from this section);
  - (b) the end of 90 days after the leaving time or, if the Commissioner allows a later time for the purposes of this paragraph, that later time.

Start of effect of choice

- (6) If the entity makes a choice because of this section, the choice starts to have effect:
- (a) at the leaving time; or
  - (b) if the choice relates (explicitly or implicitly) to one or more whole income years—for the income year in which the leaving time occurs.

Relationship with other provisions

715-665(1) by the entity had effect just before the entity became a *member of the group;

- (ii) there was not such a choice by the *head company of the group having effect just before the leaving time; or
- (b) both of these conditions are met:
  - (i) there was not a choice (however described) under the choice provision by the entity having effect just before the entity became a member of the group;
  - (ii) such a choice by the head company had effect just before the leaving time.

Note: An election by the entity or head company under the choice provision is an example of a choice under that provision (even though the provision does not call the election a choice) because the entity or company has chosen to make the election.

Object

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
  - (a) to displace section 701-40 (Exit history rule), so far as it relates to the inconsistency; and
  - (b) to allow the entity to make a choice (however described) under the choice provision with effect after the leaving time.

Displacing the exit history rule

- (3) For the entity core purposes set out in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) relating to income years ending after the leaving time, ignore a choice (however described) made by the *head company of the *consolidated group under the choice provision or the absence of such a choice.

Section 715-705

- (i) as if the entity had made an election under that section, if the *head company of the *consolidated group made, or was treated as having made, such an election that was relevant to working out that company's liability (if any) for income tax, or that company's *tax loss (if any), for an income year in connection with the contract; or
- (ii) as if the entity had not made such an election, if the head company had not made, and was not treated as having made, such an election that was relevant to working out that company's liability (if any) for income tax, or that company's tax loss (if any), for an income year in connection with the contract.

Note: In some cases, subsection 715-665(4) treats the head company of a consolidated group as having made an election under section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to reinsurance under contracts made before an entity becomes a member of the group.

Fresh choice by the entity

- (5) The entity may make a choice (however described) under the choice provision if the question whether the entity has made such a choice is relevant to working out the entity's liability (if any) for income tax, or loss (if any) of a particular *sort, calculated by reference to an income year ending after the leaving time.

Extension of time for fresh choice by the entity

- (6) If there is a time limit (apart from this subsection) on the entity making such a choice, the entity has until the later of these times to make the choice:
  - (a) the last time it may make the choice under the choice provision (apart from this section);
  - (b) the end of 90 days after the leaving time or, if the Commissioner allows a later time for the purposes of this paragraph, that later time.

- (7) If the entity makes a choice because of this section, the choice starts to have effect:

  - (b) the choice is an election under section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (Reinsurance with non-residents);the election has effect only for the purposes of that section applying in relation to reinsurance under contracts made at or after the leaving time and in an income year for which the election applies under that section.

Note: Subsection (4) explains how section 148 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to reinsurance under contracts made before the joining time.

  - (b) the entity's *ordinary income and *statutory income were not (to any extent) assessable income just before the joining time.

Note 1: Those Divisions deal with entities whose ordinary income and statutory income were previously exempt from income tax.

Note 2: The operation of Division 58 just before the joining time can affect the basis on which the tax cost is set for a depreciating asset that becomes an asset of the head company of the consolidated group at the joining time because of section 701-1 (the single entity rule). That Division provides the basis for working out under Division 40 the asset's adjustable value, which:

- (a) can affect the tax cost setting amount for the asset under section 705-50; and
- (b) is the entity's terminating value for the asset, which in turn can affect the tax cost setting amount for the asset under sections 705-40, 705-45, 705-47 and 705-50.

715-925	Effect on restructures—original entity ceases being a subsidiary member

715-910 Effect on restructures—original entity becomes a subsidiary member

(1) This section applies if:

- (a) as a result of an *arrangement to which section 124-784A applies, an original entity (within the meaning of that section) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
- (b) section 715-920 does not apply.

Note 1: Section 715-920 applies if the original entity was the head company of another consolidated group before the arrangement was completed.

Note 2: Sections 124-784A and 124-784B apply to arrangements for restructures.

(2) For the purposes of section 124-784B:

- (a) the completion time (within the meaning of that section) for the *arrangement is taken to be the time the original entity becomes a member of the group; and
- (b) disregard Division 701 (Core rules) in relation to the original entity becoming a member of the group.

(3) The *head company of the group may choose for:

- (a) section 701-10 (cost to head company of assets of joining entity); and
- (b) subsection 701-35(4) (setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount);

not to apply to the original entity's assets in respect of the original entity becoming a *subsidiary member of the group.

Note: This subsection does not affect the application of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule).

715-915 Effect on restructures—original entity is a head company

- (b) the original entity (within the meaning of that section) for the arrangement is the *head company of a *consolidated group just before the arrangement was completed; and
- (c) section 715-920 does not apply;

then, for the purposes of section 124-784B, subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) and section 701-5 (the entry history rule) apply in respect of the group.

Note 1: This section does not otherwise affect the application of subsection 701-1(1) or section 701-5.

Note 2: Sections 124-784A and 124-784B apply to arrangements for restructures.

715-920 Effect on restructures—original entity is a head company that becomes a subsidiary member of another group

(1) This section applies if:

- (a) section 124-784A applies in relation to an *arrangement; and
- (b) the original entity (within the meaning of that section) for the arrangement is the *head company of a *consolidated group (the acquired group) just before the arrangement was completed; and

(c) as a result of the arrangement:

- (i) the original entity; and
- (ii) the *subsidiary members of the acquired group just before the arrangement was completed; become subsidiary members of another consolidated group.

Note: Sections 124-784A and 124-784B apply to arrangements for restructures.

(2) For the purposes of section 124-784B:

- (a) the original entity is taken to be the *head company of the acquired group at the completion time (within the meaning of that section) for the *arrangement; and

- (b) the operation of this Part for the head company core purposes (mentioned in subsection 701-1(2)) in relation to:
  - (i) the original entity; and
  - (ii) the entities that were *subsidiary members of the acquired group just before the arrangement was completed; continue to have effect at the completion time for the arrangement; and
- (c) the completion time for the arrangement is taken to be the time the original entity becomes a member of the other group; and
- (d) disregard Division 701 (Core rules) in relation to the original entity becoming a member of the other group.

Note: Paragraph (b) means that, for the purposes of section 124-784B, the subsidiary members of the acquired group are treated as part of the original entity.

- (3) The *head company of the other group may choose for:
  - (a) section 701-10 (cost to head company of assets of joining entity); and
  - (b) subsection 701-35(4) (setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount);

not to apply to the original entity's assets in respect of the original entity becoming a *subsidiary member of the other group.

Note: This subsection does not affect the application of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule).

715-925 Effect on restructures—original entity ceases being a subsidiary member

If, as a result of an *arrangement to which section 124-784A applies, an original entity (within the meaning of that section):

- (a) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group after the completion time (within the meaning of that section) for the arrangement; and
- (b) does not become a member of another consolidated group; then, for the purposes of section 124-784B, the completion time for the arrangement is taken to happen at the time of the cessation.

Subdivision 716-A—Assessable income and deductions spread over several membership or non-membership periods

Guide to Subdivision 716-A

716-1 What this Division is about

Some items of assessable income, and some deductions, are in effect spread over 2 or more income years. This Division apportions the assessable income or deduction for each of those income years among periods within the income year when an entity is, or is not, a subsidiary member of a consolidated group.

This Division also apportions in a similar way some items of assessable income, and some deductions, for a single income year.

Operative provisions

716-15	Assessable income spread over 2 or more income years
716-25	Deductions spread over 2 or more income years
716-70	Capital expenditure that is fully deductible in one income year

Assessable income and deductions arising from share of net income of a partnership or trust, or from share of partnership loss

716-75	Application
716-80	Head company's assessable income and deductions
716-85	Entity's assessable income and deductions for a non-membership period
716-90	Entity's share of assessable income or deductions of partnership or trust

716-100	Spreading period

716-15 Assessable income spread over 2 or more income years

- (1) This section applies if, apart from this Part, a provision of this Act would spread an amount (the original amount) over 2 or more income years (whether or not because of a choice) by including part of the original amount in the same entity's assessable income for each of those income years.

Head company's assessable income

- (2) If:
- (a) for some but not all of an income year, an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) a part of the original amount:
    - (i) would have been included in the assessable income of the *head company of the group for that income year if the entity had been a subsidiary member of the group throughout that income year; but
    - (ii) would have been included in the entity's assessable income for that income year if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any *consolidated group;

the head company's assessable income for that income year includes a proportion of that part.

Note 1: Examples of when paragraph (2)(b) could be satisfied are:

- the head company is the entity referred to in subsection (1), but its connection with the original amount passes to the

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 716-15

---

entity when the entity ceases to be a subsidiary member of the group (see section 701-40 (Exit history rule));

- the entity is the entity referred to in subsection (1) but joins a consolidated group part way through the income year, so that its connection with the original amount passes to the head company of the group (see section 701-5 (Entry history rule)).

Note 2: If the entity is a subsidiary member of the group throughout the income year, the part of the original amount will be included in the head company's assessable income for the income year, either:

- because the head company is the entity referred to in subsection (1); or
- because of section 701-1 (Single entity rule); or
- because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule).

(3) The proportion is worked out by multiplying that part of the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the *spreading period, and on which the entity was a *subsidiary member of the group;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the spreading period.

Entity's assessable income for a non-membership period

(4) If:

- (a) for some but not all of an income year, an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
- (b) a part of the original amount would have been included in the entity's assessable income for that income year if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any *consolidated group;

the assessable income of the entity for a part of the income year that is a non-membership period for the purposes of section 701-30 includes a proportion of that part.

Note 1: Section 701-30 is about working out an entity's tax position for a period when it is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group.

---

---

Note 2: If throughout the income year the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group, this section does not affect the part of the original amount that is assessable income of the entity for the income year either:

- because the entity is the entity referred to in subsection (1); or
- because of section 701-40 (Exit history rule).

(5) The proportion is worked out by multiplying that part of the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in both the non-membership period and the *spreading period;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the spreading period.

Spreading period

(6) The spreading period for the original amount is the period by reference to which the respective parts of the original amount that, apart from this Part, would be included in an entity's assessable income for the 2 or more income years are worked out.

716-25 Deductions spread over 2 or more income years

(1) This section applies if, apart from this Part, a provision of this Act would spread an amount (the original amount) over 2 or more income years (whether or not because of a choice) by entitling the same entity to deduct part of the original amount for each of those income years.

(2) However, this section does not apply if the deductions would be for the decline in value of a *depreciating asset.

Note: Such deductions arise under Division 40 (Capital allowances) and Division 328 (Small business entities).

Head company's deduction

(3) If for some but not all of an income year an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group, and:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) the *head company of the group could have deducted for that income year a part of the original amount if the entity had been a subsidiary member of the group throughout that income year; but
- (b) the entity could have deducted that part for that income year if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any *consolidated group;

the head company can deduct for that income year a proportion of that part.

Note 1: Examples of when paragraphs (3)(a) and (b) could be satisfied are set out in note 1 to subsection 716-15(2).

Note 2: If the entity is a subsidiary member of the group throughout the income year, the head company can deduct that part for the income year, either:

- because the head company is the entity referred to in subsection (1) of this section; or
- because of section 701-1 (Single entity rule); or
- because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule).

- (4) The proportion is worked out by multiplying that part of the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the *spreading period, and on which the entity was a *subsidiary member of the group;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the spreading period.

Entity's deduction for a non-membership period

- (5) If:

- (a) for some but not all of an income year, an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
- (b) the entity could have deducted for that income year a part of the original amount if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any *consolidated group;

---

the entity can deduct a proportion of that part for a part of the income year that is a non-membership period for the purposes of section 701-30.

Note 1: Section 701-30 is about working out an entity's tax position for a period when it is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group.

Note 2: If throughout the income year the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group, this section does not affect the part of the original amount that the entity can deduct for the income year either:

- because the entity is the entity referred to in subsection (1); or
- because of section 701-40 (Exit history rule).

(6) The proportion is worked out by multiplying that part of the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in both the non-membership period and the *spreading period;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in both the income year and the spreading period.

Spreading period

(7) The spreading period for the original amount is the period by reference to which the respective parts of the original amount that, apart from this Part, an entity could deduct for the 2 or more income years are worked out.

Note: For example, under section 82KZMD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 an item of expenditure on something is spread over the period over which that thing is to be provided, which is called the eligible service period. Deductions for the item for a sequence of income years are worked out by reference to how much of that period falls within each of those income years.

716-70 Capital expenditure that is fully deductible in one income year

(1) This section applies if, apart from this Part, an entity could deduct for a single income year the whole of an amount (the original amount) of capital expenditure by the entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 716-70

---

- (2) If for some but not all of an income year an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group, and:
- (a) the *head company of the group could have deducted the original amount for that income year if the entity had been a subsidiary member of the group throughout that income year; but
  - (b) the entity could have deducted the original amount for that income year if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group;

the head company can deduct for that income year a proportion of the original amount.

Note 1: Examples of when paragraphs (2)(a) and (b) could be satisfied are set out in note 1 to subsection 716-15(2).

Note 2: If the entity is a subsidiary member of the group throughout the income year, the head company can deduct the original amount for the income year, either:

- because the head company is the entity referred to in subsection (1) of this section; or
- because of section 701-1 (Single entity rule); or
- because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule).

- (3) The proportion is worked out by multiplying the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in the *spreading period, and on which the entity was a *subsidiary member of the group;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in the spreading period.

Entity's deduction for a non-membership period

- (4) If:
- (a) for some but not all of an income year, an entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
  - (b) the entity could have deducted the original amount for that income year if throughout that income year the entity had not been a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group;

the entity can deduct a proportion of the original amount for a part of the income year that is a non-membership period for the purposes of section 701-30.

Note 1: Section 701-30 is about working out an entity's tax position for a period when it is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group.

Note 2: If throughout the income year the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group, this section does not affect the entity's ability to deduct the original amount for the income year either:

- because the entity is the entity referred to in subsection (1); or
- because of section 701-40 (Exit history rule).

(5) The proportion is worked out by multiplying the original amount by:

- the number of days that are in both the non-membership period and the *spreading period;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in the spreading period.

Spreading period

(6) The spreading period for the original amount:

- (a) starts when, apart from this Part, an entity would become entitled to deduct the amount for an income year; and
- (b) ends at the end of the income year.

Assessable income and deductions arising from share of net income of a partnership or trust, or from share of partnership loss

716-75 Application

Sections 716-80 to 716-100 apply if, apart from this Part:

- (a) an amount would be included in an entity's assessable income for an income year under section 92 (about income

- and deductions of partner) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in respect of a partnership; or
- (b) an entity could deduct an amount for an income year under section 92 of that Act in respect of a partnership; or
  - (c) an amount would be included in an entity's assessable income for an income year under section 97 (Beneficiary of a trust estate who is not under a legal disability) of that Act in respect of a trust; or
  - (d) an amount would be included in an entity's assessable income for an income year under section 98A (Non-resident beneficiaries assessable in respect of certain income) of that Act in respect of a trust.

716-80 Head company's assessable income and deductions

- (1) If for some but not all of the income year the entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group:
  - (a) the assessable income for that income year of the head company of the group includes the entity's share (worked out under section 716-90) of each of these:
    - (i) the total assessable income of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as it is reasonably attributable to a period, during the income year, throughout which the entity was a *subsidiary member of the group but the partnership or trust was not;
    - (ii) a proportion (worked under subsection (2) of this section) of the total assessable income of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as it is not reasonably attributable to a particular period within the income year; and
  - (b) the head company of the group can deduct for that income year the entity's share (worked out under section 716-90) of each of these:
    - (i) the total deductions of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as they are reasonably attributable to a period covered by subparagraph (a)(i) of this subsection;
    - (ii) a proportion (worked under subsection (2) of this section) of the total deductions of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as they are not reasonably attributable to a particular period within the income year.

---

Note 1: If the entity is a subsidiary member of the group throughout the income year, the amount referred to in section 716-75 will be included in the head company's assessable income, or the head company can deduct that amount, for the income year because of section 701-1 (Single entity rule).

Note 2: While the entity, and the partnership or trust, are both subsidiary members of the group, section 701-1 (Single entity rule) attributes to the head company all assessable income and deductions giving rise to the amount referred to in section 716-75.

(2) The proportion is worked out by multiplying the amount concerned by:

- the number of days that are in the *spreading period, and on which the entity was a *subsidiary member of the group but the partnership or trust was not;

divided by:

- the number of days that are in the spreading period.

716-85 Entity's assessable income and deductions for a non-membership period

(1) The assessable income of the entity for a part of the income year that is a non-membership period for the purposes of section 701-30 includes the entity's share (worked out under section 716-90) of each of these:

- (a) the total assessable income of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as it is reasonably attributable to the non-membership period;
- (b) a proportion (worked under subsection (3) of this section) of the total assessable income of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as it is not reasonably attributable to a particular period within the income year.

Note 1: Section 701-30 is about working out an entity's tax position for a period when it is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group.

Note 2: If throughout the income year the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group, this section does not affect the amount referred to in section 716-75 being assessable income of the entity for the income year.

Section 716-90

- (2) For a part of the income year that is a non-membership period for the purposes of section 701-30, the entity can deduct the entity's share (worked out under section 716-90) of each of these:
- (a) the total deductions of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as they are reasonably attributable to the non-membership period;
  - (b) a proportion (worked under subsection (3) of this section) of the total deductions of the partnership or trust for the income year so far as they are not reasonably attributable to a particular period within the income year.

Note: If throughout the income year the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group or MEC group, this section does not affect the entity's ability to deduct for the income year the amount referred to in section 716-75.

- (3) The proportion is worked out by multiplying the amount concerned by:
- the number of days that are in both the non-membership period and the *spreading period;
- divided by:
- the number of days that are in the spreading period.

716-90 Entity's share of assessable income or deductions of partnership or trust

- (1) If paragraph 716-75(a) or (b) applies, the entity's share is worked out by dividing:
- the entity's individual interest as a partner in the net income of the partnership or in the partnership loss;
- by:
- the amount of that net income or partnership loss; and expressing the result as a percentage.

---

---

- (2) If paragraph 716-75(c) or (d) applies, the entity's share is worked out by dividing:
- the share of the income of the trust to which the entity is presently entitled;
- by:
- the amount of that income;
- and expressing the result as a percentage.

716-95 Special rule if not all partnership or trust's assessable income or deductions taken into account in working out amount

- (1) To the extent that the assessable income of the partnership or trust for the income year was not taken into account in working out the amount referred to in section 716-75, it is disregarded in applying paragraph 716-80(1)(a) or subsection 716-85(1).

Note: For example, if a trust's net income for an income year must be worked out under section 268-45 in Schedule 2F to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the trust's assessable income attributed to a period (in the income year) for which it has a notional loss under section 268-30 of that Act is not taken into account.

- (2) To the extent that the deductions of the partnership or trust for the income year were not taken into account in working out the amount referred to in section 716-75, they are disregarded in applying paragraph 716-80(1)(b) or subsection 716-85(2).

Note: For example, in the case described in the note to subsection (1) of this section, the trust's deductions attributed to that period are not taken into account in working out the trust's net income for the income year.

716-100 Spreading period

The spreading period for the amount referred to in section 716-75 is made up of each period:

- (a) that is all or part of the income year; and
- (b) throughout which the entity is a partner in the partnership or a beneficiary of the trust, as appropriate.

Table of sections

716-300 Prime cost method of working out decline in value

716-300 Prime cost method of working out decline in value

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) because of subsection 40-80(1), the joining entity could (or did) deduct for a period before the joining time the *cost of a *depreciating asset that became an asset of the *head company of the group at the joining time because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) applied to the joining entity; and
  - (c) the joining entity could not deduct an amount under Subdivision 40-B (except because of subsection 40-80(1)) for the income year that includes the joining time for that cost.

Note: Subdivision 40-B allows deductions for the decline in value of depreciating assets. Subsection 40-80(1), which is in that Subdivision, provides that the decline in value of certain assets used for exploration and prospecting equals their cost.

- (2) Subsection 701-55(2) has effect as if the *prime cost method for working out the decline in value of the *depreciating asset applied just before the joining time.

Note: This may affect both the method of working out the decline in value of the asset and the asset's effective life.

Assets in joining entity's low-value pool

716-330 Head company's deductions for decline in value of assets in joining entity's low-value pool

- (1) This section modifies the operation of sections 40-430, 40-435, 40-440, 40-445, 701-10 and 701-60 and Division 705 for the head company core purposes mentioned in section 701-1 if:
- (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) there are one or more *depreciating assets (the previous pool assets) that:
    - (i) were allocated to the joining entity's low-value pool; and
    - (ii) become assets of the *head company of the group at the joining time because section 701-1 applies to the joining entity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 716-330

---

- (c) none of the previous pool assets was an asset to which Division 58 applied to affect the joining entity's deductions relating to the asset.

- Note 1: Sections 40-430, 40-435 and 40-440 are relevant to allocating depreciating assets to a low-value pool and to working out the decline in value of assets allocated to a low-value pool. Section 40-445 affects the closing pool balance, and may give rise to assessable income, if a balancing adjustment event happens to such an asset.
- Note 2: Section 701-10 provides that, for each asset the joining entity has at the joining time, the asset's tax cost is set at the joining time at the asset's tax cost setting amount, which is defined by section 701-60 as the amount worked out under Division 705.
- Note 3: Division 58 is about capital allowances for depreciating assets previously owned by an exempt entity.

Objects

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
- (a) to clarify how sections 40-430, 40-435 and 40-440 operate in relation to the previous pool assets; and
  - (b) to reduce compliance costs by providing that the *tax cost is set for all the previous pool assets in one operation, rather than individually for each such asset.

Time of allocation of assets to head company's low-value pool

- (3) Sections 40-430, 40-435, 40-440 and 40-445 operate as if the *head company of the *consolidated group allocated the previous pool assets to a low-value pool for the income year that includes the joining time. Section 701-5 has effect subject to this subsection.

- Note 1: Under section 40-435, the head company must make a reasonable estimate of the taxable use percentage for each asset.
- Note 2: This subsection affects the percentages and amounts to be taken into account for working out under section 40-440 the decline in value of assets in the pool and the closing pool balance.

Allocating other low-cost assets to head company's low-value pool

- (4) Subsection 40-430(1) operates as if the previous pool assets were *low-cost assets.

- Note: This has the effect that the head company must allocate to the low-value pool each low-cost asset it starts to hold in the income year that includes the joining time or a later income year, whether or not the head company starts to hold the asset because of section 701-1.

If joining time was in first day of joining entity's income year

- (5) If the joining time was in the first day of the joining entity's income year, section 40-440 operates as if:
- (a) all the previous pool assets were *low-value assets; and
  - (b) the sum of the previous pool assets' *opening adjustable values for the income year that includes the joining time equalled the *tax cost setting amount for the hypothetical asset worked out on the basis described in subsections (7), (8) and (9) of this section.

If joining time was not in first day of joining entity's income year

- (6) If the joining time was not in the first day of the joining entity's income year, section 40-440 operates as if:
- (a) all the previous pool assets were *low-cost assets; and
  - (b) the sum of the previous pool assets' *costs equalled the total of:
    - (i) the *tax cost setting amount for the hypothetical asset worked out on the basis described in subsections (7), (8) and (9) of this section; and
    - (ii) the expenditure (if any) that was incurred after the joining time (but in the income year that includes that time) and included in the second element of the costs (ignoring this paragraph) of the previous pool assets.

Tax cost is set for assets collectively not individually

- (7) Sections 701-10 and 701-60 and Division 705 operate as if all the previous pool assets formed a single *depreciating asset (the hypothetical asset), and were not separate assets.

Modified operation of Division 705 for hypothetical asset

- (8) Sections 705-40 and 705-57 operate as if the joining entity's *terminating value for the hypothetical asset were the amount worked out using the table:

---

Section 716-335

Modification of basis on which sections 705-40 and 705-57 operate

If the joining time is:	Sections 705-40 and 705-57 operate as if the joining entity's terminating value for the hypothetical asset were:
1 In the first day of an income year of the joining entity	The *closing pool balance for the joining entity's low-value pool for the previous income year
2 In another day	The *closing pool balance for the joining entity's low-value pool for the non-membership period described in section 701-30 that ends just before the joining time

Note: Sections 705-40 and 705-57 are about reduction of an asset's tax cost setting amount to an amount that may be affected by the joining entity's terminating value for the asset.

- (9) Division 705 operates in relation to the hypothetical asset as if section 705-50 had not been enacted.

Note: Section 705-50 is about reduction of an asset's tax cost setting amount for over-depreciation of the asset.

Entity leaving group with asset allocated to head company's low-value pool

716-335 Entity leaving group with asset allocated to head company's low-value pool

- (1) This section sets out rules affecting the *head company of a *consolidated group and an entity (the leaving entity) that ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at a time (the leaving time) in an income year (the leaving year), if:
- (a) a *depreciating asset becomes an asset of the leaving entity at the leaving time because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) ceases to apply to the leaving entity; and
  - (b) the asset was in the head company's low-value pool.

Note: Section 701-40 (Exit history rule) treats the asset as having been allocated to the leaving entity's low-value pool, with the taxable use percentage estimated by the head company, for the income year for which the head company allocated the asset to the head company's low-value pool.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Objects

- (2) The main objects of this section are:
- (a) to ensure that the decline in value of assets in the *head company's low-value pool and the decline in value of assets in the leaving entity's low-value pool are worked out so that:
    - (i) for the leaving year, the *depreciating asset is taken into account in working out the decline in value of assets in the head company's low-value pool only; and
    - (ii) for later income years, the depreciating asset is taken into account in working out the decline in value of assets in the leaving entity's low-value pool only; and
  - (b) to specify the *adjustable value of the depreciating asset just before and at the leaving time.

Reduced decline in value for leaving entity for leaving year

- (3) The decline in value worked out for the leaving year under subsection 40-440(1) for assets in the leaving entity's low-value pool is reduced by such amount as is reasonable to prevent duplication of deductions for the leaving year in respect of the *depreciating asset by the *head company and the leaving entity.

Reduced closing pool balance for head company's pool for leaving year

- (4) The *closing pool balance of the *head company's low-value pool for the leaving year is reduced by so much of the balance as reasonably relates to the *depreciating asset.

Cost of head company's membership interests in leaving entity etc.

- (5) Sections 701-15, 701-40 and 701-60 and Division 711 have effect as if the *adjustable value of the *depreciating asset for the *head company just before and at the leaving time were such amount as is reasonable, having regard to:
- (a) the reduction described in subsection (4) of this section; and
  - (b) the taxable use percentage estimated for the depreciating asset by the head company under section 40-435.

---

---

---

- Note 1: Section 701-15 provides that, for each membership interest the head company holds in the leaving entity, the interest's tax cost is set just before the leaving time at the interest's tax cost setting amount, which is defined by section 701-60 as the amount worked out under certain sections of Division 711.
- Note 2: Division 711 sets the interest's tax cost setting amount by reference to the head company's terminating value of the asset, which is to be worked out under section 711-30 by reference to the adjustable value of the asset for the head company just before the leaving time.
- Note 3: Section 701-40 has the effect that the adjustable value of the asset for the leaving entity at the leaving time is the same as the adjustable value of the asset for the head company then.

Depreciating assets arising from expenditure in joining entity's software development pool

716-340 Depreciating assets arising from expenditure in joining entity's software development pool

- (1) This section modifies the basis on which Subdivision 40-B and sections 40-455, 701-10, 701-55 and 701-60 and Division 705 operate if:
- (a) an entity (the joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) the joining entity had incurred before the joining time expenditure that it allocated to a software development pool; and
  - (c) some or all of the expenditure is reasonably related to *in-house software that:
    - (i) is a *depreciating asset; and
    - (ii) became an asset of the *head company of the consolidated group at the joining time because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) applied to the joining entity.

- Note 1: Subdivision 40-B allows deductions for the decline in value of a depreciating asset, but only if expenditure on the asset has not been allocated to a software development pool. Section 40-455 provides for deduction of expenditure allocated to such a pool. Section 701-5 (Entry history rule) treats the head company as having incurred the expenditure that was allocated to the pool.

---

---

- Note 2: Section 701-10 provides that, for each asset the joining entity has at the joining time, the asset's tax cost is set at the joining time at the asset's tax cost setting amount, which is defined by section 701-60 as the amount worked out under Division 705, which in turn depends on the adjustable value of the asset worked out under section 40-85.
- Note 3: Section 701-55 affects matters relevant to working out the head company's deductions for the decline in value of depreciating assets that became assets of the head company at the joining time because section 701-1 (Single entity rule) applied to the joining entity.
- Note 4: This section operates whether or not the joining entity's deductions under section 40-455 for the period before the joining time for expenditure allocated to the pool total 100% of the expenditure allocated to the pool.

Object

- (2) The main object of this section is to ensure that:
- (a) the *head company's deductions for the *in-house software:
    - (i) are not worked out under section 40-455 on the basis of section 701-5 (Entry history rule) treating the expenditure relating to the software as being the head company's expenditure; and
    - (ii) are instead worked out under Subdivision 40-B, using the *prime cost method with the *effective life given by subsection 40-95(7) and taking account of the *tax cost setting amount for the software; and
  - (b) the tax cost setting amount is worked out in a way that takes account of deductions for the period before the joining time for the expenditure reasonably related to the in-house software.

Joining entity taken not to have incurred certain expenditure

- (3) Subdivision 40-B and section 40-455 operate for the head company core purposes mentioned in section 701-1 (Single entity rule) as if the expenditure reasonably related to the *in-house software had not been incurred by the joining entity.

Note 1: This has the effects that:

- (a) subsection 40-50(2) does not apply because of section 701-5 (Entry history rule) to deny the head company deductions under Subdivision 40-B for the decline in value of the software; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 716-340

---

- (b) the head company cannot deduct the expenditure under section 40-455 as it operates because of section 701-5.

Note 2: This does not prevent the head company from deducting under section 40-455 expenditure that is not reasonably related to the in-house software and that the head company is treated by section 701-5 as having incurred and allocated to a software development pool because the joining entity did.

Prime cost method of working out decline in value of software

- (4) Subsection 701-55(2) operates as if the *prime cost method of working out the decline in value of the *in-house software applied just before the joining time.

Note: This affects the method of working out the decline in value of the software for the head company of the consolidated group.

Effective life of software

- (5) Subdivision 40-B operates as if the *effective life of the *in-house software were the period specified for in-house software in subsection 40-95(7). Subsection 701-55(2) is subject to this subsection.

Cost of in-house software

- (6) Sections 701-10 and 701-60 and Division 705 (and section 40-85, so far as it affects that Division) operate as if the *cost of the *in-house software were the total amount of the joining entity's expenditure that reasonably related to the software and was allocated to a software development pool.

Earlier decline in value of the in-house software

- (7) Sections 701-10 and 701-60 and Division 705 (and section 40-85, so far as it affects that Division) operate as if the decline in value, and deductions for the decline in value, of the *in-house software for a period before the joining time were the amount worked out under subsection (8).

- (8) Work out the amount by:
(a) working out, for each software development pool to which expenditure relating to the *in-house software was allocated,

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- the amount of the joining entity's deductions under section 40-455 that reasonably relates to the software; and
- (b) adding up each of those amounts if there are 2 or more such pools.

Note: Subsections (6), (7) and (8) can affect the working out of the tax cost setting amount for the in-house software in these ways:

- (a) one way is by affecting the adjustable value of the software, which may be worked out under section 40-85 by reference to the decline in value of the software, and which is relevant to section 705-50 (which reduces the tax cost setting amount for over-depreciated assets);
- (b) another way is by affecting the joining entity's terminating value for the software, which section 705-30 defines as being the adjustable value of the software just before the joining time, and which is relevant to sections 705-40, 705-50 and 705-57 (which may reduce the tax cost setting amount for the software);
- (c) another way is by affecting section 705-50, whose operation depends on the decline in value, and deductions for the decline in value, of the software (among other things).

Software development pools if entity leaves consolidated group

716-345 Head company taken not to have incurred expenditure

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) an entity (the leaving entity) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time in an income year (the leaving year); and
- (b) under section 701-40 (Exit history rule), expenditure is taken to have been allocated by the leaving entity to a software development pool.

Note: Section 701-40 treats expenditure incurred by the head company of the consolidated group and allocated by that company to a software development pool as having been incurred by the leaving entity and allocated by it to a software development pool.

- (2) Work out deductions of the *head company of the *consolidated group for income years after the leaving year as if the head company had not incurred the expenditure.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 716-800

---

- (3) The leaving entity cannot deduct an amount for the leaving year for the expenditure it is taken to have allocated to the software development pool.

Subdivision 716-Z—Other

Table of sections

716-800	Allocating amounts to periods if head company and subsidiary member have different income years
716-850	Grossing up threshold amounts for periods of less than 365 days
716-855	Working out the cost base or reduced cost base of a pre-CGT asset after certain roll-overs

716-800 Allocating amounts to periods if head company and subsidiary member have different income years

- (1) The principles in this section apply if:
- (a) an entity becomes, or stops being, a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) the entity has an income year that starts and ends at a different time from when the income year of the *head company of the group starts and ends.
- (2) Items are to be allocated to, or apportioned among, periods (whether consisting of all or part of an income year of the entity or *head company):
- (a) in the most appropriate way having regard to the objects of this Part, and of particular provisions of this Part; and
  - (b) in particular, so as to ensure that what is in substance the same item is recognised only once for what is in substance the same purpose.

716-850 Grossing up threshold amounts for periods of less than 365 days

- (1) Under some provisions of this Act, something that is relevant to working out:
- (a) an entity's taxable income (if any); or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) the income tax (if any) payable on an entity's taxable income; or

(c) an entity's loss (if any) of a particular *sort;

is determined on the basis of a comparison between an amount worked out for an income year, or an amount *derived from 2 or more such amounts, and another amount.

Note: The other amount assumes an income year of 365 days.

- (2) This section affects how such a provision (the threshold provision) operates for the purposes of subsection 701-30(3), which requires each thing covered by paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c) of this section to be worked out for an entity for a non-membership period (under section 701-30) during an income year.

Note: A non-membership period is a period (of less than an income year) when the entity is not a subsidiary member of any consolidated group.

- (3) An amount that would otherwise be worked out for the non-membership period, for the purposes of the comparison under the threshold provision, is instead:

(a) to be worked out by reference to the period (the reference period) starting at the start of the income year and ending at the end of the non-membership period; and

(b) then to be grossed up by multiplying it by this fraction:

$$\frac{365}{\text{Number of days in reference period}}$$

716-855 Working out the cost base or reduced cost base of a pre-CGT asset after certain roll-overs

If:

(a) it is necessary for the purposes of this Part to work out the *cost base or *reduced cost base of a *pre-CGT asset owned at a particular time; and

(b) before that time:

(i) the owner was the recipient company involved in a roll-over under Subdivision 126-B in relation to a *CGT event that happened in relation to the CGT asset; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 716-855

---

- (ii) the owner was the transferee in relation to a disposal of the CGT asset to which former section 160ZZO of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied;

the cost base or reduced cost base is worked out as if, in applying Subdivision 126-B or former section 160ZZO in relation to the CGT event or the disposal, the provisions of that Subdivision or section applying to CGT assets *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 replaced those that applied to CGT assets acquired on or before that date.

Note: The effect is that the owner's cost base or reduced cost base will be the same as that of the originating company or transferor, as is the case with post-CGT assets.

The main object of this Subdivision is to avoid double taxation by transferring from a company (the joining company) that becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time) to the *head company of the group the benefit of each of these:

- (a) the attribution surplus (if any) for an attribution account entity (within the meaning of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) in relation to the joining company just before the joining time;

Transfers

717-210 Attribution surpluses

- (1) This section operates for the purposes of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 if:
  - (a) a company (the joining company) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and

- (c) just before the joining time the joining company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity for the purposes of that Part was more than nil.

Credit in relation to the head company

- (2) An attribution credit arises at the joining time for the attribution account entity in relation to the *head company of the group. The credit is equal to the attribution surplus.

Debit in relation to the joining company

- (3) An attribution debit arises at the joining time for the attribution account entity in relation to the joining company. The debit is equal to the attribution surplus.

717-220 FIF attribution surpluses

  - (a) a company (the joining company) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) assuming the joining company had not done so, an attribution credit would have arisen under subsection 371(8) of that Act at a later time for an attribution account entity in relation to the joining company for the purposes of that Part.

Credit in relation to the head company

- (2) The attribution credit arises instead at the later time for the attribution account entity in relation to the *head company of the group.

717-230 Calculating FIF income where a company joins the group

- (1) This section modifies the operation of Part XI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 if:
  - (a) a company (the joining company) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the joining time); and
  - (b) for the purposes of that Part, the FIF attribution account percentage of the joining company in relation to a FIF attribution account entity that is a *FIF is more than nil at the time (the surplus time) just before the joining time.
- (2) That Part operates in relation to the joining company as if a notional accounting period of the *FIF in relation to the joining company ended at the time (the credit/debit time) just before the surplus time.
- (3) That Part operates in relation to the joining company as if subsection 485(3) of that Act provided that the operative provision applied to the joining company in relation to the *FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of that FIF that ended in the income year that included the credit/debit time.

- (5) Paragraph 538(2)(d) of that Act operates in relation to the *head company of the *consolidated group, in relation to the *FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of that FIF that included the joining time, as if the amount or value of the consideration paid or given by the head company in respect of any acquisition mentioned in subsection (4) of this section was equal to the amount worked out under paragraph 538(2)(a) of that Act in relation to the joining company in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period mentioned in subsection (2) of this section.

Amount of credit and debit

- (4) The amount of the credit and debit is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Leaving company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity at the leaving time}}{\text{*Head company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity just before the leaving time}} \times \text{Attribution surplus for the attribution account entity in relation to the *head company just before the leaving time}$$

Section 717-245 also operates for the purposes of Part XI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as described in the table:

Transfer of FIF attribution surpluses by section 717-245
Item	Section 717-245 operates in relation to this thing (within the meaning of Part XI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936):	In the same way as it operates in relation to this thing:
1	FIF attribution surplus	Attribution surplus
2	FIF attribution account entity	Attribution account entity
3	FIF attribution account percentage	Attribution account percentage
4	FIF attribution credit	Attribution credit
5	FIF attribution debit	Attribution debit

Note: Section 717-265 may affect the calculation of the FIF attribution surplus for the FIF attribution account entity in relation to the head company just before the leaving time.

717-262 Deferred attribution credits

- (1) This section operates for the purposes of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 if:
- (a) a company (the leaving company) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group at a time (the leaving time); and
  - (b) disregarding this section, an attribution credit (the original credit) will arise under subsection 371(8) of that Act at a later time for an attribution account entity in relation to the *head company of the group (including because of the operation of section 717-227) for the purposes of that Part; and
  - (c) at the leaving time the leaving company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity for the purposes of that Part is more than nil.

Credit in relation to the leaving company

- (2) An attribution credit arises at the later time for the attribution account entity in relation to the leaving company. The credit is the amount worked out under subsection (3).

Amount of credit

- (3) The amount of the credit is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Leaving company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity at the leaving time}}{\text{*Head company's attribution account percentage in relation to the attribution account entity just before the leaving time}} \times \text{Original credit}$$

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Reduction in credit in relation to the head company

- (4) The attribution credit that arises at the later time for the attribution account entity in relation to the *head company is reduced by the amount of the attribution credit that arises under subsection (2) in relation to the leaving company.

717-265 Calculating FIF income where a company leaves the group

- (1) This section modifies the operation of Part XI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to a company (the transferor company) if:
- (a) the transferor company is the *head company of a *consolidated group at a time (the surplus time); and
  - (b) for the purposes of that Part, the FIF attribution account percentage of the transferor company in relation to a FIF attribution account entity that is a *FIF is more than nil at the surplus time; and
  - (c) another company (the leaving company) ceases to be a *subsidiary member of the group at the time (the leaving time) just after the surplus time; and
  - (d) for the purposes of that Part, the leaving company's FIF attribution account percentage in relation to that FIF attribution account entity is more than nil at the leaving time.
- (2) That Part operates in relation to the transferor company as if a notional accounting period of the *FIF in relation to the transferor company ended at the time (the credit/debit time) just before the surplus time.
- (3) That Part operates in relation to the transferor company as if the next notional accounting period of the *FIF in relation to the transferor company started at the surplus time and continued until whichever of these times occurs first:
- (a) the time when a notional accounting period of the FIF in relation to the transferor company would have ended apart from this section;
  - (b) the time when the period ends because of another application of this section.

---

- (4) That Part operates in relation to the transferor company as if subsection 485(3) of that Act provided that the operative provision applied to the transferor company in relation to the *FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of that FIF that ended in the income year that included the credit/debit time.
- (5) That Part operates in relation to the leaving company, in relation to the *FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of that FIF that included the leaving time, as if any interest in the FIF of which the leaving company became the holder because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceased to apply at the leaving time had been acquired by the leaving company at that time.
- (6) Paragraph 538(2)(d) of that Act operates in relation to the leaving company, in relation to the *FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of that FIF that included the leaving time, as if the amount or value of the consideration paid or given by the leaving company in respect of any acquisition mentioned in subsection (5) of this section was equal to the amount worked out under paragraph 538(2)(a) of that Act in relation to the transferor company in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period mentioned in subsection (2) of this section.

Subdivision 717-O—Offshore banking units

Guide to Subdivision 717-O

717-700 What this Subdivision is about

The head company of a consolidated group is treated for certain purposes as an offshore banking unit at a time when a subsidiary member of the group is an offshore banking unit.

Section 717-705

---

717-705 Object of this Subdivision

The object of this Subdivision is to ensure that certain rules in the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 relating to offshore banking units interact properly with the consolidation regime in this Part.

717-710 Head company treated as OBU

- (1) Division 9A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies to the *head company of a *consolidated group as if the head company were an OBU (within the meaning of that Division) at a time when a *subsidiary member of the group is an OBU (within the meaning of that Division).
- (2) Subsection (1) operates for the head company core purposes mentioned in subsection 701-1(2).

Division 719—MEC groups

Subdivision 719-A—Modified application of Part 3-90 to MEC groups

719-2 Modified application of Part 3-90 to MEC groups

- (1) This Part (other than Division 703 and this Division) has effect in relation to a *MEC group in the same way in which it has effect in relation to a *consolidated group.

Note: A provision in this Part (other than in Division 703 or in this Division) mentioning 2 separate consolidated groups will, under subsection (1), have an additional operation when the groups are both MEC groups or when one is a MEC group and the other is a consolidated group.

- (2) However, that effect is subject to the modifications set out in this Division.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), a reference in this Part (other than in Division 703 or this Division) to a provision in Division 703 applies as if it referred instead to that provision or the corresponding provision in Subdivision 719-B (as appropriate).

Subdivision 719-B—MEC groups and their members

719-4 What this Subdivision is about

A MEC group and a potential MEC group each consist of certain Australian-resident entities that are wholly-owned subsidiaries of a foreign top company.

A company that is a first-tier subsidiary of the top company is a tier-1 company.

A MEC group cannot be formed unless there are at least 2 tier-1 companies of the top company that are eligible to be members of the group.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-4

A MEC group becomes consolidated at a time chosen by the eligible tier-1 companies.

One of the eligible tier-1 companies becomes the head company of the group.

The remaining members of the group are the subsidiary members.

719-90 New head company treated as substituted for old head company at all times before the transition time
719-95 No consequences of old head company becoming, and new head company ceasing to be, subsidiary member of the group

Basic concepts

719-5 What is a MEC group?

When MEC group comes into existence

- (1) A MEC (multiple entry consolidated) group comes into existence when:
- (a) a choice, by 2 or more *eligible tier-1 companies of a *top company, that the *potential MEC group derived from those companies be consolidated starts to have effect under section 719-55; or
  - (b) a *special conversion event happens to a potential MEC group derived from an eligible tier-1 company of a top company.

Original members of a MEC group that results from a choice

- (2) A MEC group that results from a choice by 2 or more companies under section 719-50 consists of the potential MEC group derived from time to time from whichever one or more of those companies continue to be eligible tier-1 companies of the top company. This subsection has effect subject to subsection (4) (which deals with new eligible tier-1 members).

Original members of a MEC group that results from a special conversion event

- (3) A MEC group that results from a special conversion event consists of the potential MEC group derived from time to time from whichever one or more of the following companies continue to be eligible tier-1 companies of the top company:
- (a) the company mentioned in paragraph 719-40(1)(b);

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-5

---

- (b) the companies specified in the notice under paragraph 719-40(1)(e).

This subsection has effect subject to subsection (4) (which deals with new eligible tier-1 members).

New eligible tier-1 members of a MEC group

(4) If:

- (a) a MEC group consists of the members of a potential MEC group derived from one or more eligible tier-1 companies of a top company; and
- (b) at a particular time after the MEC group came into existence, one or more other companies become eligible tier-1 companies of the top company; and
- (c) within the applicable period worked out under subsection (6), the *provisional head company of the MEC group gives the Commissioner a written notice, in the *approved form:
  - (i) specifying one or more of the companies mentioned in paragraph (b); and
  - (ii) stating that the specified companies are to become members of the MEC group with effect from that time; and

(d) if:

- (i) a company specified in the notice under paragraph (c) was a member of another MEC group immediately before that time; and
- (ii) all of the eligible tier-1 companies in that other MEC group became eligible tier-1 companies of the top company at that time;

each eligible tier-1 company in that other MEC group is specified in the notice under paragraph (c);

then, with effect from that time, the MEC group mentioned in paragraph (a) is taken to consist of the potential MEC group derived from time to time from whichever one or more of the following companies continue to be eligible tier-1 companies of the top company:

- (e) the companies mentioned in paragraph (a);
- (f) the companies specified in the notice under paragraph (c).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) To avoid doubt, paragraph (4)(a) applies to a MEC group even if the composition of the group has been worked out because of one or more previous applications of subsection (4).
- (6) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(c), if:
- (a) subsection 719-75(1), (2) or (3) would apply to the *MEC group concerned in relation to the *income year of a company in which the time mentioned in paragraph (4)(b) occurred; and
  - (b) in a case where subsection 719-75(1) or (2) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group as at the end of the income year; and
  - (c) in a case where subsection 719-75(3) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group immediately before the group ceased to exist;

the applicable period is:

- (d) if the company is required to give the Commissioner an *income tax return for the income year in which the time mentioned in paragraph (4)(b) occurred—the period:
  - (i) beginning at that time; and
  - (ii) ending on the day on which the company gives that return; or
- (e) if the company is not required to give the Commissioner an income tax return for the income year in which the time mentioned in paragraph (4)(b) occurred—the period:
  - (i) beginning at that time; and
  - (ii) ending at the end of the period within which the company would have been required to give an income tax return for that income year, if the company had been required to give an income tax return for that income year.

Continued existence of MEC group

- (7) If a MEC group (the first MEC group) consists of the members of a potential MEC group derived from one or more eligible tier-1 companies of a top company, the first MEC group continues to exist until:
- (a) the potential MEC group ceases to exist; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-10

---

- (b) there is a change in the identity of the top company, and the eligible tier-1 companies that were members of the first MEC group immediately before the change become members of another MEC group immediately after the change; or
- (c) there ceases to be a provisional head company of the first MEC group.

The first MEC group ceases to exist when one of those events happens.

Note: Subsection 719-10(7) sets out the circumstances in which the potential MEC group ceases to exist.

719-10 What is a potential MEC group?

- (1) A potential MEC group derived from one or more *eligible tier-1 companies of a *top company consists of the following members:
  - (a) those eligible tier-1 companies;
  - (b) all of the other entities (if any) which:
    - (i) meet the requirements of the table; or
    - (ii) are entities for which the requirements in section 701C-10 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 are met; or
    - (iii) are entities for which the requirements in section 701C-15 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 are met.

- (2) For the purposes of column 3 of the table, if there are one or more entities interposed between an entity (the test entity) and an eligible tier-1 company, the test entity can be a wholly-owned subsidiary of the eligible tier-1 company only if each of the interposed entities:
- (a) meets the conditions in columns 1 and 2 of the table; or
  - (b) holds membership interests only as a nominee of one or more entities each of which is:
    - (i) an eligible tier-1 company of the top company; or

Only one eligible tier-1 company in a potential MEC group

- (6) To avoid doubt, if:
- (a) there is only one *eligible tier-1 company of a *top company; and
  - (b) there are no entities which meet the requirements of the table in subsection (1); and
  - (c) there are no entities for which the requirements mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii) are met; and
  - (d) there are no entities for which the requirements mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b)(iii) are met;

the *potential MEC group derived from the eligible tier-1 company consists of the eligible tier-1 company alone.

When potential MEC group ceases to exist

- (7) If a *potential MEC group is derived from one or more *eligible tier-1 companies of a *top company, the potential MEC group ceases to exist when:
- (a) none of those companies are eligible tier-1 companies of the top company; or
  - (b) there is a change in the identity of the top company, and the eligible tier-1 companies that were members of the group immediately before the change are not the same as the eligible tier-1 companies that are members of the group immediately after the change.

Continuity of potential MEC group

- (8) If:

- (c) the eligible tier-1 companies that were members of the group immediately before the change are the same as the eligible tier-1 companies that are members of the group immediately after the change;

the change does not affect the continuity of:

- (d) the group; or
- (e) the status of any of those companies as eligible tier-1 companies of the top company.

719-15 What is an eligible tier-1 company?

- (1) A *tier-1 company of a *top company is an eligible tier-1 company if subsection (2) does not apply to the tier-1 company.
- (2) This subsection applies to a *tier-1 company if:
  - (a) there are one or more entities interposed between the tier-1 company and the *top company; and
  - (b) the conditions in subsection (3) are satisfied in relation to at least one of those interposed entities.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(b), the conditions are as follows:
  - (a) the interposed entity must be one of the following:
    - (i) a company that is a foreign resident;
    - (ii) a *prescribed dual resident;
    - (iii) a trust that does not meet the conditions in item 1, 2 or 3 of the table in section 703-25;
    - (iv) a trust that meets the conditions in item 1, 2 or 3 of the table in section 703-25 and is not a *wholly-owned subsidiary of another *tier-1 company of the *top company;

    - (vi) a company that is an Australian resident, where no part of its taxable income (if any) would be taxable at a rate that is or equals the *general company rate;
    - (vii) a non-profit company (as defined in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986) that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of another tier-1 company of the top company;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-20

- (b) the interposed entity must not hold *membership interests only as nominee of one or more entities each of which is:
  - (i) another tier-1 company of the top company; or
  - (ii) an entity that is a wholly-owned subsidiary of another tier-1 company of the top company;
- (c) at least one of the following entities must hold a membership interest in the interposed entity:
  - (i) another tier-1 company of the top company;
  - (ii) a wholly-owned subsidiary of another tier-1 company of the top company;
  - (iii) an entity that holds membership interests only as a nominee of one or more entities each of which is mentioned in subparagraph (i) or (ii).
- (4) For the purposes of subparagraphs (3)(a)(iv) and (vii) and paragraphs (3)(b) and (c), in determining whether an entity is a wholly-owned subsidiary of another *tier-1 company of the *top company, assume that all of the *membership interests that are beneficially owned by tier-1 companies of the top company were owned by a single tier-1 company of the top company.

719-20 What is a top company and a tier-1 company?

- (1) At a particular time, a company is:

the test company is taken to be a wholly-owned subsidiary of one of those other companies.

719-25 Head company and subsidiary members of a MEC group

- (1) The head company of a *MEC group is worked out under section 719-75.
- (2) The remaining members of the group are the subsidiary members of the group.

719-30 Treating entities as wholly-owned subsidiaries by disregarding employee shares

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that an entity is not prevented from being a *wholly-owned subsidiary of another entity, just because there are minor holdings of *membership interests in an entity issued under *arrangements for employee shareholdings.
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, in determining whether an entity is a *wholly-owned subsidiary of another entity, disregard:
  - (a) particular *shares in a company if the shares are covered by subsection (3) and the total number of those shares is not more than 1% of the number of ordinary shares in the company; and
  - (b) particular *membership interests in an entity if the membership interests are covered by subsection (5) and the total number of those membership interests is not more than 1% of the number of membership interests of that kind in the entity.
- (3) A *share in a company is covered by this subsection if the share is beneficially owned by an entity and:
  - (a) the entity acquired (as defined in section 139G of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) the share either:
    - (i) in the circumstances described in subsection 139C(1) or (2) of that Act; or
    - (ii) by exercising a right the entity acquired (as so defined) in those circumstances; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) all the shares in the company available for acquisition in those circumstances are ordinary shares and all the rights available for acquisition in those circumstances are rights to acquire ordinary shares; and
- (c) if the entity acquired the share in those circumstances—at the time of the acquisition, at least 75% of the permanent employees (as defined in section 139GB of that Act) of the employer (as defined in section 139GA of that Act) were or had earlier been entitled to acquire in those circumstances:
  - (i) shares in the company or rights to acquire shares in the company; or
  - (ii) shares in a holding company (as defined in section 139GC of that Act) of the company or rights to acquire such shares; and
- (d) the conditions in subsections 139CD(6) and (7) of that Act are met in relation to the acquisition of the share by the entity; and
- (e) the company is not covered by section 139DF of that Act.

Note: Section 139CD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 sets out certain preconditions for shares and rights acquired under employee share schemes to be qualifying shares and qualifying rights. Section 139C of that Act explains when a share or right is acquired under an employee share scheme. Section 139DF prevents shares and rights relating to certain companies from being qualifying shares and rights.

- (4) A *share may be disregarded under subsection (2) even though the condition in paragraph (3)(c) is not met, if the Commissioner has made a determination under subsection 139CD(8) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to the share.
- (5) A *membership interest of a particular kind in an entity that is beneficially owned by another entity is covered by this subsection if:
  - (a) the membership interest forms part of a stapled security (within the meaning of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); and
  - (b) the stapled security is treated as a *qualifying share because of Subdivision DB of that Division.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-35

---

Note: The kinds of membership interest that form part of a stapled security are an ordinary share and one or more other interests that are either shares or units in a unit trust: see section 139GCD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

719-35 Treating entities held through non-fixed trusts as wholly-owned subsidiaries

- (1) This section operates to ensure that an entity (the test entity) is not prevented from being a *wholly-owned subsidiary of a company, just because there is a trust that is not a *fixed trust interposed between the test entity and the company.
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, in determining whether the test entity is a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the company, assume that the interposed trust is a *fixed trust and all its objects are beneficiaries.

719-40 Special conversion event—potential MEC group

- (1) A special conversion event happens at a particular time to a *potential MEC group derived from an *eligible tier-1 company of a *top company if:
  - (a) at that time, the group is not a *MEC group as a result of a choice under section 719-50; and
  - (b) immediately before that time, a company is:
    - (i) that eligible tier-1 company; and
    - (ii) the *head company of a *consolidated group; and
  - (c) at that time, one or more other companies become eligible tier-1 companies of the top company; and
  - (d) immediately after that time, no *membership interests in the company mentioned in paragraph (b) are beneficially owned by another member of the potential MEC group derived from:
    - (i) the company mentioned in paragraph (b); and
    - (ii) the companies mentioned in paragraph (c); and
  - (e) within the applicable period worked out under subsection (2), the company mentioned in paragraph (b) gives the Commissioner a written notice, in the *approved form:

- (i) specifying one or more of the companies mentioned in paragraph (c); and
  - (ii) stating that a MEC group is to come into existence as a result of the specified companies becoming eligible tier-1 companies of the top company; and
- (f) if:
- (i) a company specified in the notice under paragraph (e) was a member of another MEC group immediately before that time; and
  - (ii) all of the eligible tier-1 companies in that other MEC group became eligible tier-1 companies of the top company at that time;
- each eligible tier-1 company in that other MEC group is specified in the notice under paragraph (e).
- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(e), the applicable period is:
- (a) if the company mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) is required to give the Commissioner an *income tax return for the income year in which the time mentioned in paragraph (1)(c) occurred—the period:
    - (i) beginning at that time; and
    - (ii) ending on the day on which the company gives that return; or
  - (b) if the company mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) is not required to give the Commissioner an income tax return for the income year in which the time mentioned in paragraph (1)(c) occurred—the period:
    - (i) beginning at that time; and
    - (ii) ending at the end of the period within which the company would have been required to give an income tax return for that income year, if the company had been required to give an income tax return for that income year.

719-45 Application of sections 703-20 and 703-25

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, if an item in section 703-20 refers to an income year, an entity is covered by that item at a particular time if, and only if, that time is in that income year.

- (2) For the purposes of this Division, if a condition in item 1, 2 or 3 of the table in section 703-25 refers to an income year, an entity meets that condition at a particular time if, and only if, that time is in that income year.

Choice to consolidate a potential MEC group

719-50 Eligible tier-1 companies may choose to consolidate a potential MEC group

Making a choice to consolidate

- (1) If:
- (a) a *potential MEC group (the first group) derived from 2 or more *eligible tier-1 companies of a *top company is in existence at the start of a particular day; and
  - (b) that day is after 30 June 2002; and
  - (c) none of those eligible tier-1 companies is already a member of a *MEC group or a *consolidated group;
- those eligible tier-1 companies may give the Commissioner a written notice in the *approved form, jointly:
- (d) specifying that day; and
  - (e) making a choice that the first group be consolidated on and after that day.

Note: The notice must also include an appointment of an eligible tier-1 company to be the provisional head company of the *MEC group—see subsection 719-60(1).

Choice cannot be revoked or specified day amended

- (2) A choice cannot be revoked and the specification of the day cannot be amended.

Time at which choice must be given to Commissioner

- (3) If, as a result of a choice:
- (a) subsection 719-75(1), (2) or (3) would apply to the *MEC group concerned in relation to the *income year of a company in which the specified day occurred; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) in a case where subsection 719-75(1) or (2) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group as at the end of the income year; and
- (c) in a case where subsection 719-75(3) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group immediately before the group ceased to exist;

notice of the choice must be given to the Commissioner:

- (d) if the company is required to give the Commissioner an *income tax return for the income year in which the specified day occurred—during the period:
  - (i) beginning on the specified day; and
  - (ii) ending on the day on which the company gives that return; or
- (e) if the company is not required to give the Commissioner an income tax return for the income year in which the specified day occurred—during the period:
  - (i) beginning on the specified day; and
  - (ii) ending at the end of the period within which the company would have been required to give an income tax return for that income year, if the company had been required to give an income tax return for that income year.

Company ceases to be an eligible tier-1 company before choice is given to the Commissioner

(4) If:

- (a) as a result of a choice:
  - (i) subsection 719-75(1), (2) or (3) would apply to the *MEC group concerned in relation to the *income year of a company in which the specified day occurred; and
  - (ii) in a case where subsection 719-75(1) or (2) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group as at the end of the income year; and
  - (iii) in a case where subsection 719-75(3) applies—the company will be the *head company of the group immediately before the group ceased to exist; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) another company (the other company) that was an eligible tier-1 company at the start of the specified day ceased to exist at a time before the day on which notice of the choice was given to the Commissioner; and
- (c) having regard to all relevant circumstances, it would be reasonable to conclude that the other company would have been a party to the choice if the other company had continued to exist;

the other company is taken to have authorised the company that will be the head company as mentioned in subparagraph (a)(ii) or (iii):

- (d) to make the choice on behalf of the other company; and
- (e) to do, on behalf of the other company, anything else under:
  - (i) subsection (1) of this section; or
  - (ii) subsection 719-60(1) or (3).

719-55 When choice starts to have effect

When choice starts to have effect

- (1) A choice under section 719-50 is taken to have started to have effect on the day specified in the choice.

Choice does not have effect—notice is wrong

- (2) A choice does not have effect (and is taken not to have had effect) if the Commissioner is satisfied that the choice contains information that is incorrect in a material particular.

Note: The choice does not have effect if the choice omitted material information, because the notice would not have been in the approved form.

Commissioner may give effect to choice despite wrong notice

- (3) Subsection (2) does not prevent the choice from having effect as described in subsection (1) if the Commissioner gives the company that, as a result of the choice, will become the *provisional head company of the group, written notice that the choice has effect despite the incorrect information.

Provisional head company

719-60 Appointment of provisional head company

Appointment on formation of group—choice

- (1) If companies give notice of a choice under section 719-50, the notice must include an appointment, made jointly by the companies, of one of those companies to be the provisional head company of the *MEC group concerned. The appointment comes, or is taken to have come, into force at the time when the choice starts or started to have effect.

Appointment on formation of group—special conversion event

- (2) If a *special conversion event happens to a *potential MEC group, the *eligible tier-1 companies that were the members of the MEC group that resulted from the event are taken to have appointed the company mentioned in paragraph 719-40(1)(b) as the provisional head company of the *MEC group. The appointment is taken to have come into force when the event happened.

Appointment after formation of group

- (3) If a *cessation event happens to the *provisional head company of a *MEC group, then:
  - (a) if:
    - (i) the group came into existence because of a choice under section 719-50; and
    - (ii) the event happens more than 28 days before notice of the choice is given; on the day on which notice of the choice is given; or
  - (b) in any other case—within 28 days after the cessation event; the *eligible tier-1 companies that are or were members of the MEC group immediately after the cessation event may give the Commissioner a written notice in the *approved form, jointly appointing one of those companies to be the provisional head company of the group. The appointment is taken to have come into force immediately after the cessation event.

Section 719-65

Qualifications for provisional head company

- (4) An appointment of a company under subsection (1) or (3) as the *provisional head company of a *MEC group has no effect unless, at the time the appointment comes into force, the company is qualified to be the *provisional head company of the MEC group under section 719-65.

Appointment remains in force until cessation event

- (5) The appointment of a company as the *provisional head company of a *MEC group remains in force until a *cessation event happens to the company.

What is a cessation event?

- (6) A cessation event happens to a *provisional head company of a *MEC group if:
- (a) the company ceases to be qualified to be the *provisional head company of the group under section 719-65; or
  - (b) the company ceases to exist.

719-65 Qualifications for the provisional head company of a MEC group

Qualifications for the provisional head company

- (2) Subsection (1) has effect subject to subsection (3).

- (b) the appointment will come into force immediately after a *cessation event happens to the former provisional head company of the group; and
- (c) a company (the original company) (which may be the former provisional head company) was appointed as the provisional head company of the group under subsection 719-60(1) or (2);

the new company is not qualified to be the provisional head company of the group unless the new company has been a member of the group at all times during the period:

- (d) beginning at whichever of the following times is applicable:
  - (i) if the group came into existence as a result of a choice under section 719-50, and the cessation event happened in the income year of the original company in which the group came into existence—the time when the group came into existence;
  - (ii) in any other case—the start of the income year of the former provisional head company in which the cessation event happened; and
- (e) ending when the cessation event happened.

719-70 Income year of new provisional head company to be the same as that of former provisional head company

If:

- (a) a company (the new company) is appointed as the *provisional head company of a *MEC group under subsection 719-60(3); and

    - (ii) a choice under section 703-50 is made in relation to the *consolidated group mentioned in paragraph 719-40(1)(b); and
    - (iii) the notifiable event happens more than 28 days before notice of the choice is given;on the day on which notice of the choice is given; or
  - (c) in any other case—within 28 days after the notifiable event.

Effects of change of head company

719-85 Application

Sections 719-90 to 719-95 set out the effects if:

- (a) a company (the old head company) is the *head company of a *MEC group at the end of an income year; and
- (b) a different company (the new head company) is the head company of the group at the start of the next income year (the transition time).

Note: This case can arise from the operation of section 719-75, which treats an entity that is the provisional head company of the group at a certain time in the income year as being the group's head company at all times in the income year when the group is in existence.

The old head company is also taken to become a subsidiary member of the group at the transition time, and the new head company is taken to cease being a subsidiary member at that time. Section 719-95 ensures that these results do not change the tax position of the group.

---

---

719-90 New head company treated as substituted for old head company at all times before the transition time

- (1) Everything that happened in relation to the old head company before the transition time is taken to have happened in relation to the new head company instead, just as if the new head company had been the old head company at all times before the transition time.

Note: This section treats the new head company as having in effect assumed the identity of the old head company throughout the period before the transition time, but without affecting any of the other attributes of the old head company.

- (2) To avoid doubt, subsection (1) also covers everything that, immediately before the transition time, was taken, because of:
- (a) section 701-1 (Single entity rule); or
  - (b) section 701-5 (Entry history rule); or
  - (c) section 703-75 (about the effects of choice to continue consolidated group after shelf company becomes new head company); or
  - (d) one or more previous applications of this section;
- to have happened in relation to the old head company.
- (3) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect:
- (a) for the head company core purposes in relation to an income year ending after the transition time; and
  - (b) for the entity core purposes in relation to an income year ending after the transition time.
- (4) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect subject to:
- (a) section 701-40 (Exit history rule); and
  - (b) a provision of this Act to which section 701-40 is subject because of section 701-85 (about exceptions to the core rules in Division 701).

Note: An example of provisions covered by paragraph (b) of this subsection is section 707-410, which ensures that section 701-40 (Exit history rule) does not result in a leaving entity inheriting a loss of any sort.

---

---

Section 719-95

---

719-95 No consequences of old head company becoming, and new head company ceasing to be, subsidiary member of the group

- (1) A provision of this Part that applies on an entity becoming a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group does not apply to an entity being taken to have become such a member because the entity stopped being the *head company of the group as mentioned in section 719-85, unless the provision is expressed to apply despite this subsection.

Note: An example of the effect of this subsection is that section 701-5 (Entry history rule) does not apply. See instead section 719-90.

- (2) To avoid doubt, subsection (1) does not affect the application of subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule).

- (3) A provision of this Part that applies on an entity ceasing to be a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group does not apply to an entity being taken to cease being such a member because the entity became the *head company of the group as mentioned in section 719-85, unless the provision is expressed to apply despite this subsection.

Note: An example of the effect of this subsection is that section 701-40 (Exit history rule) does not apply. See instead section 719-90.

Subdivision 719-C—MEC group cost setting rules: joining cases

Guide to Subdivision 719-C

719-150 What this Subdivision is about

When an entity (other than an eligible tier-1 company) becomes a subsidiary member of a MEC group, the tax cost of its assets is set at a tax cost setting amount that is worked out in accordance with Divisions 701 and 705 as modified by this Subdivision. Assets of eligible tier-1 companies becoming members of a MEC group do not have their tax cost set.

Table of sections

Application and object

719-155 Object of this Subdivision

Modified application of tax cost setting rules for joining

719-160 Tax cost setting rules for joining have effect with modifications

719-165 Trading stock value not set for assets of eligible tier-1 companies

719-170 Modified effect of subsections 705-175(1) and 705-185(1)

Application and object

719-155 Object of this Subdivision

The object of this Subdivision is to modify the tax cost setting rules in Divisions 701 and 705 so that they take account of the special characteristics of *MEC groups.

---

Modified application of tax cost setting rules for joining

719-160 Tax cost setting rules for joining have effect with modifications

(1A) This section applies if an entity (the MEC joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group at a time (the MEC joining time).

(1) This section has effect for the head company core purposes set out in subsection 701-1(2).

General modifying rule

(2) The provisions mentioned in subsection (3) operate, for the purposes of setting the *tax cost of an asset of the MEC joining entity, as if each *subsidiary member of the group (including the MEC joining entity) that is an *eligible tier-1 company at the MEC joining time were a part of the *head company of the group, rather than a separate entity.

Note 1: This subsection means that references in those provisions to matters internal to the group operate as if eligible tier-1 companies in the group were parts of the head company of the group. For example:

- (a) provisions operating if the head company holds (whether directly or indirectly) membership interests in another entity operate even if an eligible tier-1 company actually holds those interests; and
- (b) provisions operating if the head company owns or controls another entity operate even if one or more eligible tier-1 companies actually own or control that other entity; and
- (c) provisions operating if an entity is interposed between the head company and another entity operate even if the first entity is actually interposed between an eligible tier-1 company and the other entity.

Note 2: If the MEC joining entity is an eligible tier-1 company, this subsection means the assets of the entity do not have their tax cost reset at the MEC joining time. This is because Subdivision 705-A (and related provisions) reset the tax cost of assets of subsidiary members of a group, but not assets of the head company.

(3) The provisions are:

- (a) section 701-10 (about setting the tax cost of assets of an entity joining a group); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) Subdivision 705-A; and
- (c) any other provision of this Act giving Subdivision 705-A a modified effect in circumstances other than those covered by that Subdivision.

Note: An example of provisions covered by paragraph (c) are the provisions of Subdivision 705-B giving Subdivision 705-A a modified effect when a consolidated group is formed.

719-165 Trading stock value not set for assets of eligible tier-1 companies

- (1) This section applies if an entity (the MEC joining entity) becomes a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group at a time (the MEC joining time).
- (2) Subsection 701-35(4) (setting value of trading stock at tax-neutral amount) does not apply to the assets of the MEC joining entity if it is an *eligible tier-1 company at the MEC joining time.

719-170 Modified effect of subsections 705-175(1) and 705-185(1)

- (1) This section applies if all of the *members of a *MEC group (the acquired group) become members of another MEC group, or of a *consolidated group, at a particular time (the acquisition time) as a result of the *acquisition of *membership interests in:
  - (a) the *head company of the acquired group; and
  - (b) other entities that were *eligible tier-1 companies of the acquired group just before the acquisition time.
- (2) Subsections 705-175(1) and 705-185(1) have effect as if a *membership interest in an entity mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) of this section were a membership interest in the *head company of the acquired group.

Note 1: If the acquiring group is a MEC group, and the head company of the acquired group becomes an eligible tier-1 company of the acquiring group, the assets of the members of the acquired group do not have their tax cost reset at the acquisition time. This is because:

- (a) section 719-160 treats an entity becoming an eligible tier-1 company of the acquiring group as if it were a part of the head company of that group; and

---

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-90 Consolidated groups

Division 719 MEC groups

Section 719-250

---

- (b) section 705-185 treats the subsidiary members of the acquired group as part of the head company of the acquired group.

Note 2: If:

- (a) the acquiring group is a MEC group, but the head company of the acquired group does not become an eligible tier-1 company of the acquiring group; or
- (b) the acquiring group is a consolidated group and the acquired group is a MEC group;

the assets of the members of the acquired group have their tax cost reset at the acquisition time (section 719-160 does not preclude tax cost resetting in these cases). For the purposes of resetting the tax cost of those assets, section 705-185 treats the subsidiary members of the acquired group as part of the head company of the acquired group.

Subdivision 719-F—Losses

Guide to Subdivision 719-F

719-250 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision modifies the rules about transferring and utilising losses so the rules operate appropriately in relation to MEC groups, taking account of the special characteristics of those groups. The modifications mainly affect:

- (a) rules about maintaining the same ownership to be able to utilise a loss; and
- (b) rules for working out how much of a loss can be utilised by reference to bundles of losses and their available fractions.

Table of sections

719-255 Special rules

- (1) This section and section 719-260 have effect for the purposes of working out whether a loss can be *utilised for an income year (the claim year) by a company (the focal company) that made the loss if:
  - (a) section 165-12 is relevant to the question whether the focal company can utilise the loss; and
  - (b) the focal company is the *head company of a *MEC group at any time in its *ownership test period for the loss (as affected by section 707-205, if relevant).

Note: If the focal company made the loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A, section 707-205 has the effect that the ownership test period starts for the focal company at the time of the transfer.

---

Section 719-260

---

Section 707-210 does not have effect

- (2) Section 707-210 does not have effect for the purposes of working out whether the focal company can *utilise the loss for the claim year.

Note: Section 707-210 is about whether a company can utilise a loss it made because the loss was transferred to it under Subdivision 707-A because the transferor met the conditions in section 165-12.

719-260 Special test for utilising a loss because a company maintains the same owners

Meeting the conditions in section 165-12

- (1) The focal company is taken to meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the claim year and the loss if and only if the company (the test company) identified in relation to the focal company in accordance with section 719-265 would have met those conditions for that year on the relevant assumptions in:
- (a) section 719-270 (which is about assuming the test company made the loss for a particular income year); and
  - (b) section 719-275 (which is about assuming that nothing happened in relation to certain things that would affect whether the test company would meet those conditions); and
  - (c) section 719-280 (which is about assuming that the test company would have failed to meet those conditions in certain circumstances).

Focal company's failure to meet conditions in section 165-12

- (2) The focal company is taken to fail to meet a condition in section 165-12 only at:
- (a) the first time the test company would have failed to meet the condition on the relevant assumptions mentioned in subsection (1); or
  - (b) the *test time described in subsection 166-5(6) for the test company, if:
    - (i) Division 166 is relevant to working out whether the test company could have *utilised the loss for the claim year on the relevant assumptions mentioned in paragraphs (1)(a) and (b); and

---

- (ii) the test company is not assumed under section 719-280 to fail to meet the condition before the test time.

Note: If the focal company is taken to fail to meet a condition in section 165-12, the focal company will not be able to utilise the loss for the claim year unless the focal company meets the condition in section 165-13 by satisfying the same business test. That test applies to the focal company (and not the test company).

Same business test for focal company under Division 166

- (3) If subsection 166-5(5) affects whether the focal company can *utilise the loss for the claim year because the focal company is a *widely held company or an *eligible Division 166 company, or both, during the year, subsection 166-5(6) operates as if it required the *same business test to be applied to the *business the focal company carried on just before the time described in subsection (2) of this section.

Same business test for focal company to transfer loss

- (4) If subsection 707-125(4) is relevant to working out whether the focal company can transfer the loss to a company under Subdivision 707-A, that subsection:
- (a) has effect as if subsection 707-125(5) described the focal company's income year containing the time at which the focal company is taken under subsection (2) of this section to fail to meet a condition in section 165-12; and
- (b) has effect despite subsection (3) of this section.

Note: For working out whether certain losses can be transferred under Subdivision 707-A, subsection 707-125(4) modifies the operation of subsection 166-5(6) by extending the same business test period to include the income year described in subsection 707-125(5).

719-265 What is the test company?

- (1) To identify for the purposes of section 719-260 the company that is the test company for the focal company for the loss:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-265

- (a) first, identify the test company for the focal company by applying whichever one of subsections (2), (3), (4) and (6) is relevant; and
- (b) then, if the condition in column 1 of an item of the table is met, apply this section again to identify the test company as if the company described in column 2 of the item were the focal company, taking account only of things that happened before the event described in column 3 of the item.

Repeated application of this section

	Column 1 If the test company for the focal company is identified:	Column 2 Apply this section again as if this company were the focal company:	Column 3 Take account only of things that happened before this event:
1	Under subsection (2) as the company that is the test company for the transferor	The transferor mentioned in subsection (2)	The transfer mentioned in subsection (2)
2	Under subsection (6) as the company that is the test company for the first head company	The first head company mentioned in subsection (6)	The first head company ceasing to be the *head company of the *MEC group mentioned in subsection (6)

Note: More than 2 applications of this section may be needed to identify the test company for the focal company.

COT transfer of loss to focal company

- (2) The test company for the focal company is the company described in column 2 of the relevant item of the table if the focal company made the loss because of a *COT transfer to the focal company.

Test company for the focal company

	Column 1 If:	Column 2 The test company for the focal company is:
1	The focal company and the transferor are the same company	The focal company

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Test company for the focal company

Column 1 If:	Column 2 The test company for the focal company is:
2 The focal company and the transferor are different companies	The company that is the test company for the transferor

Loss transferred because same business test satisfied

- (3) The test company for the focal company is the company described in column 2 of the relevant item of the table if the focal company made the loss because the loss was transferred under Subdivision 707-A to the focal company from a company because it satisfied the *same business test for:
- (a) the *same business test period; and
  - (b) the *test time specified in Division 165 or 166 or section 707-125.

Test company for the focal company

Column 1 If:	Column 2 The test company for the focal company is:
1 The focal company was the *head company of a *MEC group at the time of the transfer	The company that was the *top company for the MEC group at the time of the transfer
2 The focal company was not the *head company of a *MEC group at the time of the transfer	The focal company

Loss not transferred from a company

- (4) The test company for the focal company is the company described in column 2 of the relevant item of the table if the focal company made the loss apart from a transfer of the loss under Subdivision 707-A from a company.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-265

Test company for the focal company
Column 1 If:	Column 2 The test company for the focal company is:
1 The focal company made the loss apart from Subdivision 707-A and was the *head company of a *MEC group at the start of the income year for which it made the loss	The company that was the *top company for the MEC group at the start of the income year
2 The focal company made the loss because it was transferred under Subdivision 707-A to the focal company as the *head company of a *MEC group from an entity other than a company	The company that was the *top company for the MEC group at the time of the transfer
3 Neither item 1 nor item 2 applies	The focal company

Relationship between subsections (2), (3) and (4)

- (5) Subsection (2) or (3), and not subsection (4), is relevant for identifying the test company for the focal company if the focal company made the loss apart from a transfer under Subdivision 707-A, and later transferred the loss to itself under that Subdivision.

Change of head company

- (6) If, under section 719-90, the focal company is taken to have made the loss because:
- (a) a company (the first head company) other than the focal company made the loss apart from that section and either:
    - (i) was the *head company of a *MEC group at any time during the income year for which it made the loss; or
    - (ii) became the head company of a MEC group after that income year (without having been a *subsidiary member of the group before becoming the head company); and
  - (b) the focal company was later the head company of the MEC group;

---

the test company for the focal company is the company that is the test company for the first head company.

Note: Section 719-90 applies if there is a change in the head company of a MEC group, treating the later head company as if what had happened to the earlier head company had happened to the later head company.

- (7) Subsections (2), (3) and (4) and section 719-90 have effect subject to subsection (6) of this section.

719-270 Assumptions about the test company having made the loss for an income year

If test company was top company for focal company's MEC group

- (1) If the test company was the *top company for a *MEC group and the focal company is or was the *head company of that MEC group, assume that the test company made the loss for an income year starting at the relevant time shown in the table.

Start of income year for which test company is assumed to have made loss

If:	The relevant time is:
1 The focal company made the loss apart from Subdivision 707-A	The start of the income year for which the focal company made the loss
2 The focal company made the loss because it was transferred to the focal company under Subdivision 707-A	The time of the transfer

Note: Subsection (1) applies even if the test company is still the top company for the MEC group at the end of the claim year.

If test company is focal company or first head company

- (2) If the test company is:
- (a) the focal company; or
  - (b) the first head company identified in subsection 719-265(6) by reference to the focal company;
- assume that the test company made the loss for an income year starting at the relevant time shown in the table.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

---

Start of income year for which test company is assumed to have made loss

If:	The relevant time is:
1 The test company made the loss apart from Subdivision 707-A (even if the test company later transferred the loss to itself in a *COT transfer)	The start of the income year for which the test company made the loss
2 The test company made the loss because it was transferred to the test company under Subdivision 707-A in a transfer other than a *COT transfer (even if the test company first made the loss apart from that Subdivision)	The time of the transfer

---

- (3) If the test company is the first head company, disregard section 719-90 for the purposes of working out the relevant time using the table in subsection (2) of this section.

Note: This ensures that section 719-90 does not make the items in the table inapplicable by treating the test company as if another company had made the loss instead of the test company.

If subsections (1) and (2) do not apply

- (4) If neither subsection (1) nor subsection (2) applies, assume that the test company made the loss for an income year starting at the relevant time shown in the table.

Start of income year for which test company is assumed to have made loss

If:	The relevant time is:
1 The test company made the loss apart from Subdivision 707-A (even if the test company later transferred the loss to itself in a *COT transfer)	The start of the income year for which the test company made the loss
2 The test company made the loss because it was transferred to the test company under Subdivision 707-A in a transfer other than a *COT transfer (even if the test company first made the loss apart from that Subdivision)	The time of the transfer

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Start of income year for which test company is assumed to have made loss

If:	The relevant time is:
3 The test company is the test company for the focal company for the loss because the test company was the *top company for a *MEC group whose *head company made the loss before it was transferred to the focal company under Subdivision 707-A	The time that was the relevant time under subsection (1) for the test company as the test company for the first company for which the test company was the test company for the loss

Note: Subsection (4) applies if the focal company made the loss because of a COT transfer of the loss to the focal company from another company.

- (5) Disregard section 719-90 for the purposes of items 1 and 2 of the table in subsection (4) of this section if the test company was identified using subsection 719-265(6).

Note: This ensures that section 719-90 does not make those items inapplicable by treating the test company as if another company had made the loss instead of the test company.

Other events do not override assumption

- (6) If the test company transferred the loss to itself or another company under Subdivision 707-A, assume that the transfer did not affect, for income years ending after the transfer:
- (a) the fact that the test company made the loss; or
  - (b) the income year for which the test company is assumed (under subsection (1), (2) or (4)) to have made the loss.

719-275 Assumptions about nothing happening to affect direct and indirect ownership of the test company

- (1) This section sets out an assumption that must be made whenever an event described in subsection (2) occurs:
- (a) after the time assumed under section 719-270 to be the start of the income year for which the test company made the loss; and
  - (b) before the end of the claim year;
- (whether or not the test company or the focal company is one of the companies mentioned in the description of the event).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-275

- (2) Assume that, after an event described in an item of the table, nothing happens in relation to *membership interests or voting power in an entity described in the item that would affect whether the test company would meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the claim year and the loss.

Assumption about nothing happening to membership interests or voting power

If this event occurs:	Assume that nothing happens in relation to membership interests or voting power in:
1 There is a *COT transfer of the loss to the *head company of a *MEC group (but not from a company that was the head company of another MEC group just before the transfer)	The transferor or an entity that was at the time of the transfer interposed between the transferor and the *top company for the MEC group
2 There is a *COT transfer of the loss to the *head company of a *MEC group from a company that was the head company of another MEC group just before the transfer	The company that was just before the transfer the *top company for the other MEC group, or an entity that was at the time of the transfer interposed between that company and the top company of the MEC group to whose head company the loss was transferred
3 There is a change in the identity of the *top company for a *MEC group whose *head company has made the loss	The company that ceased to be the top company for the MEC group as part of the change or an entity that was at the time of the change interposed between that company and the company that became the top company for the MEC group as part of the change
4 A company that has made the loss becomes at a time the *head company of a *MEC group (as the first company to be the head company of the group) and has not before that time transferred the loss to another company under Subdivision 707-A	The company or an entity that was at the time interposed between the company and the *top company for the MEC group
5 There is a *COT transfer of the loss to the *head company of a *consolidated group from another company	The other company or an entity that was at the time of the transfer interposed between the other company and the head company

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) For the purposes of this section, a company is taken to make a loss:
  - (a) at the start of the income year for which the company makes the loss, if it makes the loss apart from a transfer under Subdivision 707-A (even if the company later transfers the loss to itself under that Subdivision); or
  - (b) at the time the loss is transferred to the company under that Subdivision, if the company makes the loss because of that transfer.
- (4) Disregard section 719-90 for the purposes of making an assumption on the basis of item 1 of the table in subsection (2) of this section if (apart from that section):
  - (a) the *COT transfer mentioned in that item was from the *head company of the *MEC group to itself; and
  - (b) for an income year starting after the transfer, another company was the head company of the group.

719-280 Assumptions about the test company failing to meet the conditions in section 165-12

- (1) Assume that the test company fails to meet the conditions in section 165-12 at the time an event described in subsection (2), (3) or (4) happens after the start of the *ownership test period for the focal company in relation to:
  - (a) the *MEC group whose *head company was the focal company; or
  - (b) the *potential MEC group whose membership was the same as the membership of that MEC group.

Note: If the test company is assumed to fail to meet the conditions in section 165-12 for the claim year and the loss, the focal company is taken (under section 719-260) to have failed to meet those conditions.

- (2) One event is the *potential MEC group ceasing to exist.
- (3) Another event is something happening that meets these conditions:
  - (a) the thing happens at a time in relation to *membership interests in one or more of these entities:

---

---

Section 719-285

---

- (i) a company that was just before that time a *member of the *MEC group and an *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the MEC group;
  - (ii) an entity interposed between a company described in subparagraph (i) and the company that was the top company for the group just before that time;
  - (b) the thing does not cause the *potential MEC group to cease to exist but does cause a change in the identity of the top company for the potential MEC group.
- (4) Another event is the *MEC group ceasing to exist because there ceases to be a *provisional head company of the group.

Other causes of failure to meet conditions in section 165-12

- (5) To avoid doubt, this section does not limit the circumstances in which the test company would have failed to meet the conditions in section 165-12 on the relevant assumptions set out in sections 719-270 and 719-275.

Same business test and change of head company

719-285 Same business test and change of head company

In working out whether the *same business test is satisfied by a company that, after the *test time, became the *head company of a *MEC group that existed before that time, disregard what happened in relation to the company before it became a *member of the group. Section 719-90 has effect subject to this section.

Note 1: The same business test is to be applied on the basis that the company's business at the test time was the business that section 719-90 treats the company as having carried on at that time, except to the extent that section 719-90 attributes to the company its actual history before it became a member of the MEC group.

Note 2: Section 719-90 applies if there is a change in the head company of a MEC group, treating the later head company as if what had happened to the earlier head company had happened to the later head company.

Bundles of losses and their available fractions

719-300 Application

- (1) Sections 719-305, 719-310, 719-315, 719-320 and 719-325 operate only if:
  - (a) a company (the ongoing head company) is the *head company of a *MEC group for an income year or a period in an income year; and
  - (b) an event (the application event) described in subsection (2) or (3) happens at a time in the income year in relation to the group.
- (2) One application event is that another company (the new tier-1 member) becomes both a *member of the *MEC group and an *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the group.
- (3) The other application event is that the *MEC group comes into existence as a result of a *special conversion event happening to the *potential MEC group derived from the ongoing head company.

Note: This application event happens only if the ongoing head company was the head company of a consolidated group just before the special conversion event.

Exceptions for events involving subsidiary members of group

- (4) Those sections do not operate because of the event described in subsection (2) if the new tier-1 member was a *subsidiary member of the *MEC group immediately before the event.
- (5) Those sections do not operate because of the event described in subsection (3) if all the other companies that are described in paragraph 719-40(1)(c) and are involved in the *special conversion event were *subsidiary members of the *consolidated group just before the event.
- (6) Subsections (4) and (5) have effect despite subsection (1).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

719-305 Subdivision 707-C affects utilisation of losses made by ongoing head company while it was head company

- (1) For income years ending after the application event happened, Subdivision 707-C affects the *utilisation of all losses (the prior group losses) of any *sort that the ongoing head company made (apart from Subdivision 707-A) for an income year that:
  - (a) was an income year during which the *MEC group was in existence (or, if the application event involved the MEC group coming into existence because of a *special conversion event involving a *consolidated group, the consolidated group was in existence); and
  - (b) was before the income year in which the event happened.

Prior group losses taken to have been transferred at time of event

- (2) The ongoing head company is taken to have transferred the prior group losses to itself under Subdivision 707-A at the time of the application event, for the purposes of:
  - (a) the application of Subdivision 707-C in relation to the *utilisation of the prior group losses and other losses; and
  - (b) future applications of this section and section 719-310.

Available fraction for bundle of losses

- (3) For the purpose of working out the *available fraction for the *bundle of the prior group losses at the time of the transfer, work out the ongoing head company's *modified market value at the time of the application event as if:
  - (a) the ongoing head company had become a *member of a *consolidated group at the time; and
  - (b) each *subsidiary member of the MEC group or consolidated group of which the ongoing head company was the *head company just before the event were a part of the ongoing head company (and not a separate entity) at the time of the event; and
  - (c) each subsidiary member of that group at an earlier time had been a part of the ongoing head company (and not a separate entity) at the earlier time.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Deemed transfer does not affect year of loss

- (4) Subdivision 707-C affects the *utilisation as if each of the prior group losses had been made by the ongoing head company for the income year for which the company actually made the loss (and not the income year in which the application event happened). Subsection (2) has effect subject to this subsection.

719-310 Adjustment of available fractions for bundles of losses previously transferred to ongoing head company

- (1) This section affects the *available fraction for each *bundle of losses that were transferred to the ongoing head company under Subdivision 707-A before the application event.

- (2) The available fraction for the *bundle is reduced or maintained just after the event by multiplying it by this fraction:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of the ongoing head company just before the application event}}{\text{*Market value of the ongoing head company just after the application event}}$$

Note: The market value of the ongoing head company at the time just before or just after the application event will be worked out on the basis that subsidiary members of the MEC group or consolidated group headed by the ongoing head company at that time are part of the ongoing head company, because of section 701-1 (the single entity rule).

- (3) Item 3 of the table in subsection 707-320(2) does not apply to affect the *available fraction for the *bundle because of:
- (a) the transfer mentioned in section 719-305; or
  - (b) the transfer (if any) to the ongoing head company of a loss of any *sort under Subdivision 707-A at the time of the application event from an entity that became a *subsidiary member of the *MEC group as a result of the event.

719-315 Further adjustment of available fractions for all bundles

- (1) If, because of the application event:
- (a) there is under section 719-305 an *available fraction for the *bundle of prior group losses; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 719-320

---

- (b) section 719-310 affects the available fraction for one or more other bundles of losses; this section affects the available fraction for every one of those bundles.
- (2) The available fraction (as affected by section 719-305 or 719-310) is reduced by multiplying it by this fraction:
- $$\frac{\text{*Available fraction for the *bundle of prior group losses}}{\text{Sum of the *available fraction for every *bundle of losses whose available fraction is affected by this section}}$$
- (3) For the purposes of working out the fraction in subsection (2), use the value of an *available fraction for a *bundle of losses apart from:
- (a) this section; and
  - (b) if item 5 of the table in subsection 707-320(2) would apply as a result of the calculation of the available fraction in accordance with section 719-305 or 719-310—that item.

719-320 Limit on utilising losses other than the prior group losses

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out how much of the losses, other than prior group losses, in a *bundle the ongoing head company can *utilise for the income year in which the application event happens.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection 707-310(3), the prior group losses are to be treated as if they had not been transferred under Subdivision 707-A, to the extent to which the ongoing head company can *utilise them for the income year because they are treated as being included in a *bundle whose available fraction was 1 from the start of the income year until the time of the application event.
- (3) This section is a matter that is relevant for the purposes of paragraph 707-335(3)(f), if section 707-335 applies to the ongoing head company's *utilisation of the losses in the *bundle for the income year.

---

---

Note: That section applies to a company's utilisation for an income year of losses in a bundle if the losses are transferred under Subdivision 707-A after the start of the year or if the value of the available fraction for the bundle changes during the year while the company is treated as having made the losses because of that Subdivision.

(4) Section 719-305 has effect subject to this section.

719-325 Cancellation of all losses in a bundle

- (1) The ongoing head company:
  - (a) may choose to cancel all the losses in the *bundle of prior group losses; and
  - (b) may choose to cancel all the losses in a *bundle of losses to which section 719-310 applies.
- (2) If the ongoing head company chooses to cancel all the losses in a *bundle, subsections (3), (4), (5), (6) and (7) operate.
- (3) The ongoing head company cannot *utilise for the income year in which the application event happened more of the losses than it would have been able to utilise under Subdivision 707-C assuming:
  - (a) if the losses are prior group losses:
    - (i) the losses were in a *bundle for the income year; and
    - (ii) the *available fraction for the bundle were 1 for the period from the start of the income year until the event happened; and
  - (b) in any case—the available fraction for the bundle including the losses were 0 from the time of the event until the end of the income year.

Note: Section 707-335 is relevant to working out how much of the losses could be utilised, because the value of the available fraction for the bundle changes during the period described in that section.

- (4) The ongoing head company cannot:
  - (a) transfer the losses to another company under Division 170 for an income year ending after the application event; or
  - (b) transfer the losses to another company under Subdivision 707-A after the application event.

This subsection has effect despite subsection (3).

- (5) Disregard the existence of the *bundle at and after the time of the application event for the purposes of working out the *available fraction for another *bundle of losses.
- (6) The losses cannot be *utilised by any entity for an income year starting after the application event.
- (7) The choice cannot be revoked.

Subdivision 719-H—Imputation issues

719-425 Guide to Subdivision 719-H

This Subdivision deals with some imputation issues in relation to MEC groups.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- |         |  |
|---------|--|
| 719-430 | Transfer of franking account balance on cessation event                                    |
| 719-435 | Distributions by subsidiary members of MEC group taken to be distributions by head company |

Operative provisions

719-430 Transfer of franking account balance on cessation event

- (1) This section operates if:
  - (a) a *cessation event happens to the *provisional head company of a *MEC group (the former head company); and
  - (b) another company (the new head company) is appointed as the provisional head company of the group under subsection 719-60(3).
- (2) When the new head company is appointed:
  - (a) the *franking account of the former head company ceases to operate; and
  - (b) the new head company has a franking account; and

---

---

- (c) any *franking surplus or *franking deficit in the franking account of the former head company just before the *cessation event happened becomes that of the new head company.

719-435 Distributions by subsidiary members of MEC group taken to be distributions by head company

- (1) Part 3-6 operates as if a *frankable distribution made by an *eligible tier-1 company that:
- (a) is a member of a *MEC group; and
  - (b) is not the *provisional head company of the group;
- had been made by the provisional head company of the group to a *member of the provisional head company.

Note: Part 3-6 deals with imputation.

- (2) Part 3-6 operates as if a *frankable distribution made by a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group (the foreign-held subsidiary) that is not an *eligible tier-1 company were a frankable distribution made by the *head company of the group to a *member of the head company if:
- (a) the foreign-held subsidiary meets the set of requirements in section 703-45, section 701C-10 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 or section 701C-15 of that Act; and
  - (b) the frankable distribution is made to a foreign resident.

Subdivision 719-I—Bad debts

Guide to Subdivision 719-I

719-450 What this Subdivision is about

The head company of a MEC group is taken to meet the conditions in section 165-123 (about maintaining the same ownership in an ownership test period to be able to deduct a bad debt) if and only if the top company for the group at the start of the period meets those conditions for the period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Table of sections

Maintaining the same ownership to be able to deduct bad debt

- 719-455 Special test for deducting a bad debt because a company maintains the same owners
- 719-460 Assumptions about nothing happening to affect direct and indirect ownership of the test company
- 719-465 Assumptions about the test company failing to meet the conditions in section 165-123

Maintaining the same ownership to be able to deduct bad debt

719-455 Special test for deducting a bad debt because a company maintains the same owners

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out whether the *head company of a *MEC group:
- (a) can deduct a debt it writes off as bad; or
  - (b) could have deducted a debt as described in subsection 709-215(2).

Note: Whether the head company of the MEC group could have deducted a debt as described in subsection 709-215(2) is relevant under Subdivision 709-D to:

- (a) the question whether the head company can deduct the debt it writes off as bad, or the swap loss it makes in extinguishing the debt as part of a debt/equity swap, after the debt was owed to an entity while the entity was not a member of the MEC group; and
  - (b) the question whether an entity that was owed the debt after it was owed to the head company can deduct the amount of the debt the entity writes off as bad or the swap loss the entity makes in extinguishing the debt as part of a debt/equity swap.
- (2) The *head company is taken to meet the conditions in section 165-123 (about the company maintaining the same owners) for the *ownership test period if and only if the company (the test company) that was the *top company for the *MEC group at the start of the same period would have met those conditions for that period on the assumptions in the following sections (if applicable):

---

- (a) section 719-460 (which is about assuming that nothing happened in relation to certain things that would affect whether the test company would meet those conditions);
- (b) section 719-465 (which is about assuming that the test company would have failed to meet those conditions in certain circumstances).

Note 1: Even though subsection (2) of this section raises the issue whether the test company meets the conditions in section 165-123, that is determined by reference to:

- (a) the ownership test period for the head company of the MEC group; and
- (b) the debt owed to the head company.

Note 2: If this section is applying for the purposes of working out whether the head company could have deducted a debt as described in subsection 709-215(2), section 709-215 affects what is the ownership test period for the purposes of section 165-123 as it applies for those purposes.

Head company's failure to meet conditions in section 165-123

- (3) The *head company is taken to fail to meet a condition in section 165-123 only at:
  - (a) the first time the test company would have failed to meet the condition on the relevant assumptions mentioned in subsection (2); or
  - (b) the *test time described in section 166-40 for the test company, if:
    - (i) Division 166 is relevant to working out whether the test company met the conditions in section 165-123 on the relevant assumption mentioned in paragraph (2)(a); and
    - (ii) the test company is not assumed under section 719-465 to fail to meet the condition before the test time.

Note 1: If the head company is taken to fail to meet a condition in section 165-123, the head company will not be able to deduct the debt unless that company meets the condition in section 165-126 by satisfying the same business test. That test applies to the head company (and not the test company).

Note 2: Section 719-285 may affect whether the head company satisfies the same business test if there has been a change in the identity of the head company of the group during the ownership test period.

---

---

Section 719-460

---

Same business test for head company under Division 166

- (4) If section 166-40 directly affects whether the *head company can deduct the debt, the subsection of that section that requires the *same business test be applied to a particular *business operates as if it required that test to be applied to the business the head company carried on just before the time described in subsection (3) of this section.

Note: Section 166-40 has an indirect effect on whether the head company can deduct the debt so far as that section affects whether the test company meets the conditions in section 165-123 and therefore whether the head company is taken to meet those conditions.

719-460 Assumptions about nothing happening to affect direct and indirect ownership of the test company

- (1) This section sets out an assumption that must be made whenever there is a change in the identity of the *top company for the *MEC group during the *ownership test period.
- (2) Assume that after the change nothing happens in relation to *membership interests or voting power in the following entities that would affect whether the test company would meet the conditions in section 165-123:
- (a) the company that was the *top company for the *MEC group before the change;
  - (b) an entity (if any) that at the time of the change was interposed between:
    - (i) the company that was the top company for the MEC group before the change; and
    - (ii) the company that became the top company for the MEC group as part of the change.

719-465 Assumptions about the test company failing to meet the conditions in section 165-123

- (1) Assume that the test company fails to meet the conditions in section 165-123 at the time an event described in subsection (2), (3) or (4) happens after the start of the *ownership test period in relation to:

---

---

- (a) the *MEC group; or
- (b) the *potential MEC group whose membership was the same as the membership of the MEC group.

Note: If the test company is assumed to fail to meet the conditions in section 165-123, the head company of the MEC group is taken (under section 719-455) to have failed to meet those conditions.

- (2) One event is the *potential MEC group ceasing to exist.
- (3) Another event is something happening that meets these conditions:
  - (a) the thing happens at a time in relation to *membership interests in one or more of these entities:
    - (i) a company that was just before that time a *member of the *MEC group and an *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the MEC group;
    - (ii) an entity interposed between a company described in subparagraph (i) and the company that was the top company for the group just before that time;
  - (b) the thing does not cause the *potential MEC group to cease to exist but does cause a change in the identity of the top company for the potential MEC group.
- (4) Another event is the *MEC group ceasing to exist because there ceases to be a *provisional head company of the group.

Other causes of failure to meet conditions in section 165-123

- (5) To avoid doubt, this section does not limit the circumstances in which the test company would have failed to meet the conditions in section 165-123.

---

Subdivision 719-J—MEC group cost setting rules: leaving cases

Guide to Subdivision 719-J

719-500 What this Subdivision is about

When an entity ceases to be a subsidiary member of a MEC group, the tax cost setting amount for the group's membership interests in the entity is worked out in accordance with Division 711 as modified by this Division.

Table of sections

- 719-505 Application and object of this Subdivision
- 719-510 Modified operation of paragraphs 711-15(1)(b) and (c)

719-505 Application and object of this Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision applies if the old group mentioned in subsection 711-5(1) is a *MEC group.

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is to modify the rules in Division 711 so that they take account of the special characteristics of *MEC groups.

719-510 Modified operation of paragraphs 711-15(1)(b) and (c)

- (1) This section applies if the leaving entity mentioned in subsection 711-15(1) is a *subsidiary member of the old group that is an *eligible tier-1 company.
- (2) Paragraphs 711-15(1)(b) and (c) apply as if the membership interests mentioned in those paragraphs included *pooled interests in the *eligible tier-1 company.

Note: This subsection means that, in working out tax cost setting amounts for internal interests in the eligible tier-1 company, section 711-15 will allocate part of the old group's allocable cost amount for the eligible tier-1 company to the pooled interests in the company. However, the tax cost of the pooled interests is not set according to section 711-15. Subdivision 719-K contains rules that set the cost of the pooled interests.

---

Subdivision 719-K—MEC group cost setting rules: pooling cases

Guide to Subdivision 719-K

719-550 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision contains cost setting rules for membership interests in eligible tier-1 companies that are members of a MEC group, where those interests are not held by members of the group.

Table of sections

719-555	Application and object of this Subdivision
719-560	Pooled interests
719-565	Setting cost of reset interests
719-570	Cost setting amount

719-555 Application and object of this Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision applies if:
  - (a) one or more entities hold *pooled interests (the reset interests) in *eligible tier-1 companies that are members of a *MEC group, just before a particular time (the trigger time); and
  - (b) at the trigger time, either or both of these things happen to one or more of those eligible tier-1 companies (the trigger companies):
    - (i) the company ceases to be a member of the group;
    - (ii) a *CGT event happens in relation to one or more reset interests in the company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-560

---

- (c) the *market value of the reset interests as a whole (including the market value of synergies arising from the combination of those interests) just before the trigger time is more than nil.

Object

- (2) The object of this Subdivision is to set the cost of all reset interests:
  - (a) first, by allocating to each reset interest held in a trigger company so much of the total cost of all reset interests held in members of the group that the *market value of the interest bears to the group's market value; and
  - (b) then, by allocating the remainder of that total cost to all reset interests held in other *eligible tier-1 companies, by dividing that remainder by the number of those interests.

719-560 Pooled interests

- (1) A pooled interest in an *eligible tier-1 company that is a member of a *MEC group is a *membership interest in the eligible tier-1 company that is held by an entity that is not a member of the group.

Note: A membership interest in the head company of a MEC group can be a pooled interest.

- (2) Despite subsection (1), a *membership interest is not a pooled interest if it is:
  - (a) a *share that is disregarded under subsection 719-30(2); or
  - (b) held by an entity only as a nominee of one or more other entities each of which is a member of the group.

719-565 Setting cost of reset interests

CGT provisions—cost base

- (1) If Part 3.1 or 3.3 is to apply in relation to a reset interest, the Part applies as if the interest's *cost base were increased or reduced so that the cost base just before the trigger time equals the cost setting amount worked out under section 719-570.

---

---

CGT provisions—reduced cost base

(2) If Part 3.1 or 3.3 is to apply in relation to a reset interest, the Part applies as if the interest's *reduced cost base were increased or reduced so that the reduced cost base just before the trigger time equals the cost setting amount worked out under section 719-570.

Other provisions

- (3) If a provision of this Act (other than Part 3.1 or 3.3) is to apply in relation to a reset interest, the provision applies as if the interest's cost just before the trigger time were equal to the cost setting amount worked out under section 719-570.

719-570 Cost setting amount

Reset interests held in trigger companies—cost setting amount for cost base etc.

- (1) Work out the cost setting amount for the purposes of subsections 719-565(1) and (3) for a reset interest in a trigger company using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of the reset interest}}{\text{*Market value of the group}} \times \text{Pooled cost amount}$$

where:

market value of the group is:

- (a) if every *eligible tier-1 company that is a member of the group just before the trigger time is a trigger company—the sum of the *market value (just before the trigger time) of all reset interests in each of those companies; or
(b) otherwise—the amount mentioned in paragraph 719-555(1)(c).

market value of the reset interest is the *market value (just before the trigger time) of all reset interests in that trigger company, in the same class as the interest, divided by the number of reset interests in that company in that class.

pooled cost amount is the sum of the *cost bases (just before the trigger time) of all reset interests.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-570

---

Reset interests held in other eligible tier-1 companies—cost setting amount for cost base etc.

- (2) Work out the cost setting amount for the purposes of subsections 719-565(1) and (3) for a reset interest that is not in a trigger company, using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Pooled cost amount} - \text{Amount allocated to trigger company interests}}{\text{Number of non-trigger company interests}}$$

where:

amount allocated to trigger company interests is the sum of all cost setting amounts worked out under subsection (1) for the reset interests covered by that subsection.

number of non-trigger company interests is the number of reset interests, other than those covered by subsection (1).

pooled cost amount has the same meaning as in subsection (1).

Cost setting amount for reduced cost base

- (3) Work out the cost setting amount for the purposes of subsection 719-565(2) for a reset interest by applying subsections (1) and (2) of this section in relation to the interest, as if every reference in those subsections to *cost base were a reference to *reduced cost base.

How Subdivision 165-CC applies to MEC groups

719-700 Changeover times under section 165-115C or 165-115D

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of determining whether a time (the test time) is a *changeover time under section 165-115C (about changes in ownership) or 165-115D (about changes in control) in respect of the *head company of a *MEC group.

Modified meaning of reference time

- (2) The reference time is:
  - (a) if no *changeover time has occurred in respect of the head company since the group came into existence and before the test time—when the group came into existence; or
  - (b) otherwise—the time just after the last such changeover time.
- (3) Subsection (2) of this section has effect despite subsection 165-115A(2A).

- (a) the *top company for the group holds and beneficially owns all the *membership interests in the *head company (instead of whoever actually does); and
- (b) those membership interests remain the same; and
- (c) the top company directly controls the voting power in the head company.

719-705 Additional changeover times for head company of MEC group

- (1) The time when a *potential MEC group ceases to exist is a changeover time in respect of the *head company of a *MEC group if, just before that time, the potential MEC group's membership was the same as the membership of the MEC group.

Note: The changeover times in subsections (1), (2) and (3) are based on the events described in subsections 719-280(2), (3) and (4), each of which causes the test company referred to in section 719-280 to be assumed to fail the continuity of ownership test in section 165-12.

- (2) If something:
- (a) happens at a time in relation to *membership interests in one or more of these entities:
    - (i) a company that was just before that time a *member of a *MEC group and an *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the MEC group;

  - (b) does not cause the *potential MEC group whose membership is the same as the membership of the MEC group to cease to exist, but does cause a change in the identity of the top company for the potential MEC group;
- that time is a changeover time in respect of the *head company of the *MEC group.

- (3) The time when a *MEC group ceases to exist because there ceases to be a *provisional head company of the group is a changeover time in respect of the *head company of the *MEC group.

How Subdivision 165-CD applies to MEC groups

719-720 Alteration times under section 165-115L or 165-115M

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of determining whether a time (the test time) is an *alteration time under section 165-115L (about alterations in ownership) or 165-115M (about alterations in control) in respect of the *head company of a *MEC group.

Modified meaning of reference time

- (2) The reference time is:
  - (a) if no *alteration time has occurred in respect of the head company since the group came into existence and before the test time—when the group came into existence; or
  - (b) otherwise—the time just after the last such alteration time.
- (3) In applying subsection (2), disregard an *alteration time arising under subsection 719-725(4).
- (4) Subsection (2) of this section has effect despite subsections 165-115L(2) and 165-115M(2).

Assumptions to make

- (5) Assume that, while the *MEC group exists:
  - (a) the *top company for the group holds and beneficially owns all the *membership interests in the *head company (instead of whoever actually does); and
  - (b) those membership interests remain the same; and
  - (c) the top company directly controls the voting power in the head company.

719-725 Additional alteration times for head company of MEC group

Additional alteration times based on section 719-280

- (1) The time when a *potential MEC group ceases to exist is an alteration time in respect of the *head company of a *MEC group

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 719-730

---

if, just before that time, the potential MEC group's membership was the same as the membership of the MEC group.

Note: The alteration times in subsections (1), (2) and (3) are based on the events described in subsections 719-280(2), (3) and (4), each of which causes the test company referred to in section 719-280 to be assumed to fail the continuity of ownership test in section 165-12.

- (2) If something:
- (a) happens at a time in relation to *membership interests in one or more of these entities:
    - (i) a company that was just before that time a *member of a *MEC group and an *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the MEC group;
    - (ii) an entity interposed between a company described in subparagraph (i) and the company that was the top company for the group just before that time; and
  - (b) does not cause the *potential MEC group whose membership is the same as the membership of the MEC group to cease to exist, but does cause a change in the identity of the top company for the potential MEC group;
- that time is an alteration time in respect of the *head company of the *MEC group.
- (3) The time when a *MEC group ceases to exist because there ceases to be a *provisional head company of the group is an alteration time in respect of the *head company of the *MEC group.

Additional alteration times based on Subdivision 719-K

- (4) If Subdivision 719-K (MEC group cost setting rules: pooling cases) applies, the time just before the trigger time referred to in paragraph 719-555(1)(a) is an alteration time in respect of the *head company of the *MEC group.

719-730 Some alteration times only affect interests in top company

- (1) This section applies if an *alteration time (except one arising under subsection 719-725(4)) happens for the *head company of a *MEC group.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) Sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB apply, in relation to the alteration time, to an interest or debt that is, or is part of, a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest that an entity has in the *head company just before the *alteration time, only if the interest or debt is:

- (a) an *equity or loan interest in the *top company for the MEC group; or
- (b) an *indirect equity or loan interest in the top company.

Note: Sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB are about the consequences that an alteration time for a loss company has for relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests in the company.

- (3) In determining what is a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest that an entity has in the *head company just before the *alteration time, make the assumptions in subsection 719-720(5).

719-735 Some alteration times affect only pooled interests

- (1) Sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB do not apply in relation to an *alteration time that happens for the *head company of a *MEC group because of subsection 719-725(4) (trigger time for MEC group cost setting rules: pooling cases).
- (2) Instead, Subdivision 719-K applies to the *MEC group, in relation to the trigger time, on the basis that:
- (a) what would, apart from this section, be the pooled cost amount for the purposes of the formulas in subsections 719-570(1) and (2) is reduced by the amount of the *head company's overall loss under section 165-115R or 165-115S at that alteration time; but
  - (b) paragraph (a) of this subsection only affects the application of those formulas because of subsection 719-570(3) (to work out the *reduced cost base of a *membership interest).

How indirect value shifting rules apply to a MEC group

719-755 Effect on MEC group cost setting rules if head company is losing entity or gaining entity for indirect value shift

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out the consequences (if any) of an *indirect value shift if the *losing entity or *gaining entity is the *head company of a *MEC group. (Subsection (3) has effect in addition to section 727-455.)
- (2) An *equity or loan interest can be an *affected interest in the *head company only if it is:
  - (a) an *equity or loan interest in the *top company for the MEC group; or
  - (b) an *indirect equity or loan interest in the top company.
- (3) Subdivision 719-K (MEC group cost setting rules: pooling cases) applies to the *MEC group, in relation to the first time referred to in that Subdivision as a trigger time that happens at or after the *IVS time, on the basis that:
  - (a) what would, apart from this section, be the pooled cost amount for the purposes of the formulas in subsections 719-570(1) and (2) is:
    - (i) if the *head company is the *losing entity—reduced; or
    - (ii) if the head company is the gaining entity—increased; by the amount of the indirect value shift; and
  - (b) paragraph (a) of this subsection also affects the application of those formulas because of subsection 719-570(3) (to work out the *reduced cost base of a *membership interest).

cancelling loss on realisation event for direct or indirect interest in a subsidiary member of a MEC group

719-775 Cancellation of loss

- (1) This section reduces to nil a loss that would otherwise be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to an *equity or loan interest (the realised interest) in an entity (the first entity) when it is owned by another entity (the owner), if the conditions in subsections (2) and (4) are met.

- (2) The first condition is that, at some time during the period (the ownership period) when the owner owned the realised interest:
- (a) the first entity was a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group (except an *eligible tier-1 company), and the owner was not a *member of the group; or
  - (b) the realised interest was an *external indirect equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a MEC group (except an eligible tier-1 company); or
  - (c) the realised interest was an *equity or loan interest in an entity that, at that time:
    - (i) owned an equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a MEC group (except an eligible tier-1 company); and
    - (ii) was not a member of the group; or
  - (d) the realised interest was an equity or loan interest in an entity that owned at that time an external indirect equity or loan interest in a subsidiary member of a MEC group (except an eligible tier-1 company); or
  - (e) the realised interest was an equity or loan interest, or an *indirect equity or loan interest, in an eligible tier-1 company that was a member of a MEC group at that time.
- (3) An *equity or loan interest in an entity (the test entity) is an external indirect equity or loan interest in a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group if, and only if, neither the owner of the interest nor the test entity is a member of the group and:
- (a) the test entity owns an equity or loan interest in the subsidiary member; or
  - (b) the test entity owns an equity or loan interest that is an external indirect equity or loan interest in the subsidiary member because of one or more other applications of this subsection.

Section 719-780

---

- (4) The second condition is that, at the same or a different time during the ownership period:
- (a) the owner was, or *controlled (for value shifting purposes), the *head company of a *MEC group because of which the first condition is satisfied; or
  - (b) the owner was an *associate of an entity that, at the same or a different time during the ownership period, was, or controlled (for value shifting purposes), the head company of such a MEC group.

719-780 Exception for pooled interests in eligible tier-1 companies

The first condition in section 719-775 cannot be satisfied, because of a *MEC group, at a time when the realised interest was a *pooled interest in an *eligible tier-1 company that is a member of the group.

719-785 Exception for interests in top company

The first condition in section 719-775 cannot be satisfied, because of a *MEC group, at a time when:

- (a) the first entity was the *top company for the MEC group; or
- (b) the realised interest was an *indirect equity or loan interest in the top company for the MEC group.

719-790 Exception for interests in entity leaving MEC group

Membership interests in leaving entity

- (1) If:
- (a) the realised interest is a *membership interest; and
  - (b) during the ownership period the first entity ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group;
- the first condition in section 719-775 cannot be satisfied, because of that MEC group, at a time when the first entity was a member of the group, unless the interest needed to be disregarded under section 719-30 (about employee shares) in order for the first entity to be a member of the group at that time.

---

---

Liabilities owed by leaving entity

- (2) If the realised interest:
- (a) consists of a liability owed by the first entity to the owner;
and
  - (b) became an asset of the owner because subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) ceased to apply to the first entity when it ceased to be a *subsidiary member of a *MEC group;
the first condition in section 719-775 cannot be satisfied, because of that MEC group, at a time when the first entity was a member of the group.

719-795 Exception if loss attributable to certain matters

- (1) The loss is not reduced if all of it can be shown to be attributable to things other than these:
- (a) something that would be reflected in what would, apart from this Part, be an overall loss under section 165-115R or 165-115S, of a *member of a *MEC group (an excluded group) because of which the first condition in section 719-775 is satisfied, at an *alteration time for that member;
  - (b) an *indirect value shift for which, apart from this Part, a member of an excluded group would be the *losing entity or the *gaining entity.
- (2) If only part of the loss can be shown to be attributable to things other than the ones listed in subsection (1), the loss is reduced to the amount of that part.

Object

721-5 Object of this Division

The object of this Division is to secure the payment of certain tax liabilities of the *head company of a *consolidated group where the head company fails to meet all of those liabilities by the time they become due and payable. Accordingly:

- (a) if a relevant liability is not covered by a tax sharing agreement—this Division provides for a process to make certain entities that were *subsidiary members of the group for at least part of the period to which each tax liability relates jointly and severally liable with the head company for those liabilities; or
- (b) if a relevant liability is covered by a tax sharing agreement—this Division:
  - (i) provides for a process to make each of those entities liable for the amount determined under the agreement in relation to the liability; but
  - (ii) exempts an entity from a liability determined under the agreement if it leaves the group in certain circumstances.

When this Division operates

721-10 When this Division operates

- (1) This Division operates if:
  - (a) a *tax-related liability mentioned in subsection (2) (a group liability) of the *head company of a *consolidated group was not paid or otherwise discharged in full by the time the liability became due and payable (the head company's due time); and
  - (b) one or more entities (the contributing members) were *subsidiary members of the group for at least part of the period to which the group liability relates.

Note: This Division operates even if some or all of the contributing members were no longer members of the group at the head company's due time.

Joint and several liability of contributing member

721-15 Head company and contributing members jointly and severally liable to pay group liability

- (1) The following are jointly and severally liable to pay the group liability:
- (a) the *head company; and
  - (b) each contributing member (other than a contributing member excluded by subsection (2)).

Note: A group liability is a tax-related liability in relation to the head company and each contributing member. For rights of contribution in respect of such a liability, see subsection 265-45(2) in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(b), a contributing member is excluded by this subsection if it is, at the head company's due time, prohibited according to the effect of an *Australian law from entering into any arrangement under which the entity becomes subject to a liability referred to in subsection (1).
- (3) Subsection (1) does not operate if the group liability is covered by a tax sharing agreement (see section 721-25).

Section 721-15

- (3A) Subsection (1) is taken never to have made a particular contributing member jointly and severally liable to pay the group liability if:
- (a) the group liability was taken never to have been covered by the tax sharing agreement because of subsection 721-25(3); and
- Note: Subsection 721-25(3) provides for this to happen if the Commissioner did not receive a copy of the tax sharing agreement within 14 days after the Commissioner gave the head company the notice under that subsection.
- (b) the Commissioner gave the contributing member written notice of the group liability under subsection (5); and
  - (c) apart from the operation of subsection 721-25(3), the contributing member left the group clear of the group liability in accordance with section 721-35; and
  - (d) the contributing member gave the Commissioner a copy of the tax sharing agreement (that is, the relevant agreement mentioned in paragraph 721-25(1)(a)) in the *approved form; and
  - (e) if the Commissioner gave the contributing member written notice of the group liability under subsection (5) (ignoring subsection 721-17(2))—the contributing member gave that copy of the agreement to the Commissioner within 14 days after that notice was given.
- (4) The joint and several liability of the contributing members under subsection (1) arises just after the *head company's due time.
- (5) The joint and several liability of a particular contributing member under subsection (1) becomes due and payable by the member 14 days after the Commissioner gives the member written notice under this subsection of the liability.
- Note 1: If the Commissioner gives this notice to one contributing member, and gives this notice to another contributing member on another day, the 2 contributing members will have different due and payable dates for the same liability.
- Note 2: This section does not affect the time at which the group liability arose for, or became due and payable by, the head company.
- (5A) Despite subsection (5), if the group liability is *general interest charge for a day, the joint and several liability of a particular contributing member under subsection (1) becomes due and payable by the member at the end of the day on which the Commissioner gives the member written notice of the liability under subsection (5).

- (6) To the extent that the contributing members' liability under subsection (1) is not a liability for income tax, that liability is to be treated as a liability for income tax for the purposes of section 254 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

721-17 Notice of joint and several liability for general interest charge

- (1) This section operates if:
- (a) the group liability is *general interest charge for a day in relation to another liability (the primary liability); and
  - (b) the Commissioner gives a particular contributing member written notice under subsection 721-15(5) of the group liability; and
  - (c) general interest charge arises for a subsequent day in relation to the primary liability; and
  - (d) the general interest charge for the subsequent day has not been paid or otherwise discharged in full by the time it became due and payable.
- (2) The Commissioner is taken to have given the contributing member written notice under subsection 721-15(5) of the *general interest charge for the subsequent day. The notice is taken to have been given on that day.

721-20 Limit on liability where group first comes into existence

- (1) This section operates if the group came into existence during the period to which a group liability relates.
- (2) The contributing members' liability under subsection 721-15(1) to pay the group liability is limited to the proportion of the group liability that is reasonably attributable to the period:
- (a) beginning at the time the group came into existence; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) ending at the time when the period to which the group liability relates ends.

Tax sharing agreements

721-25 When a group liability is covered by a tax sharing agreement

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, a group liability is covered by a tax sharing agreement if, just before the head company's due time:
  - (a) an agreement existed between the *head company of the group and one or more of the contributing members (the TSA contributing members); and
  - (b) a particular amount (the contribution amount) could be determined under the agreement for each TSA contributing member in relation to the group liability; and
  - (c) the contribution amounts for each of the TSA contributing members in relation to the group liability, as determined under the agreement, represented a reasonable allocation of the total amount of the group liability among the head company and the TSA contributing members; and
  - (d) the agreement complied with the requirements (if any) set out in the regulations.
- (1A) The requirement in paragraph (1)(c) is taken to be satisfied if:
  - (a) the group liability is a *tax-related liability mentioned in item 25 of the table in subsection 721-10(2) in relation to an income year; and
  - (b) before, at or after the head company's due time, the *head company of the group became entitled to either or both of the following:
    - (i) a credit under section 45-30 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 for that income year;
    - (ii) a credit under section 45-865 in Schedule 1 to that Act for that income year; and
  - (c) just before the head company's due time, the contribution amounts for each of the TSA contributing members in relation to the group liability, as determined under the agreement, represented a reasonable allocation among the head company and the TSA contributing members of the difference between:

- (i) the total amount of the group liability; and
- (ii) the amount of the credit, or the sum of the credits, mentioned in paragraph (b).

(1B) Despite subsections (1) and (1A), the group liability is not covered by a tax sharing agreement for the purposes of this Division if, apart from this subsection, the requirements in those subsections in relation to the group liability would be satisfied in relation to 2 or more agreements.

(2) Despite subsections (1) and (1A), the group liability is not covered by a tax sharing agreement for the purposes of this Division if:

- (a) the agreement mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) was entered into as part of an arrangement; and
- (b) a purpose of the arrangement was to prejudice the recovery by the Commissioner of some or all of the amount of the group liability or liabilities of that kind.

(3) Despite subsections (1) and (1A), the group liability is taken never to have been covered by a tax sharing agreement for the purposes of this Division if:

- (a) the Commissioner gives the *head company of the group written notice under this subsection (whether before, at or after the head company's due time) in relation to the group liability; and
- (b) the notice requires the head company to give the Commissioner a copy of the agreement mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) in the *approved form within 14 days after the notice is given; and
- (c) the Commissioner does not receive a copy of the agreement by the time required.

Note: If this subsection operates, joint and several liability can arise under section 721-15 in relation to the group liability.

721-30 TSA contributing members liable for contribution amounts

(1) This section operates if a group liability is covered by a tax sharing agreement.

---

---

---

Section 721-32

- (2) Each TSA contributing member is liable to pay to the Commonwealth an amount equal to the contribution amount for that member in relation to the group liability.
- (3) Despite subsection (2), a TSA contributing member is not liable under that subsection if the member left the group clear of the group liability (see section 721-35).
- (4) The liability of a TSA contributing member under subsection (2) arises just after the *head company's due time.
- (5) The liability of a TSA contributing member under subsection (2) becomes due and payable by the member 14 days after the Commissioner gives the member written notice under this subsection of the liability.

Note: This section does not affect the time at which the group liability arose for, or became due and payable by, the head company.

- (5A) Despite subsection (5), if the group liability is *general interest charge for a day, the liability of a TSA contributing member under subsection (2) becomes due and payable by the member at the end of the day on which the Commissioner gives the member written notice of the liability under subsection (5).
- (6) The liability of a TSA contributing member under subsection (2) is to be treated as a liability for income tax for the purposes of section 254 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

721-32 Notice of general interest charge liability under TSA

- (1) This section operates if:
  - (a) the group liability is *general interest charge for a day in relation to another liability (the primary liability); and
  - (b) the Commissioner gives a particular TSA contributing member written notice under subsection 721-30(5) of its liability under subsection 721-30(2) in relation to the general interest charge for that day; and
  - (c) general interest charge arises for a subsequent day in relation to the primary liability; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 721-35

---

- (d) the TSA contributing member is liable under subsection 721-30(2) for an amount in relation to the general interest charge for the subsequent day.
- (2) The Commissioner is taken to have given the TSA contributing member written notice under subsection 721-30(5) of the amount in relation to the *general interest charge for the subsequent day. The notice is taken to have been given on that day.

721-35 When a TSA contributing member has left the group clear of the group liability

For the purposes of subsection 721-30(3), a TSA contributing member left the group clear of the group liability if:

- (a) the TSA contributing member ceased to be a member of the group at a time (the leaving time) before the *head company's due time; and
- (b) the cessation of membership was not part of an arrangement, a purpose of which was to prejudice the recovery by the Commissioner of some or all of the amount of the group liability or liabilities of that kind; and
- (c) before the leaving time, the TSA contributing member had paid to the head company:
  - (i) if the contribution amount for that member in relation to the group liability could be determined before the leaving time—an amount equal and attributable to that amount; or
  - (ii) otherwise—an amount that is a reasonable estimate of, and attributable to, that amount.

721-40 TSA liability and group liability are linked

- (1) The liability of a TSA contributing member under subsection 721-30(2) (the TSA liability) is separate and distinct for all purposes from the group liability to which it relates (the linked group liability). For example, the Commissioner may take proceedings to recover the unpaid amount of the TSA liability, proceedings to recover the unpaid amount of the linked group liability, or both.

---

Note: The TSA contributing member will not be jointly and severally liable for the linked group liability under section 721-15 (see subsection 721-15(3)). However, the head company of the group remains liable for the linked group liability.

Payment or discharge of TSA liability

- (2) If an amount is paid or applied at a particular time towards discharging the TSA liability, the linked group liability is discharged at that time to the extent of the same amount.

Payment or discharge of linked group liability

- (3) If:
- (a) an amount is paid or applied at a particular time towards discharging the linked group liability; and
  - (b) as a result, the amount unpaid on the TSA liability at that time (apart from this section) exceeds the amount unpaid on the linked group liability at that time;
- the TSA liability is discharged at that time to the extent of the excess.
- (4) Subsections (2) and (3) operate in relation to a liability under a judgment (the judgment liability):
- (a) if the judgment liability is for the entire amount unpaid on the TSA liability—as if the judgment liability were the TSA liability; and
  - (b) if the judgment liability is for the entire amount unpaid on the linked group liability—as if the judgment liability were the linked group liability.
- (5) This section does not discharge a liability to a greater extent than the amount of the liability.

Part 3-95—Value shifting

Division 723—Direct value shifting by creating right over non-depreciating asset

Table of Subdivisions

- 723-A Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset
- 723-B Reducing reduced cost base of interests in entity that acquires non-depreciating asset under roll-over

Subdivision 723-A—Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset

Table of sections

- 723-1 Object
- 723-10 Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset over which right has been created
- 723-15 Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset at the same time as right is created over it
- 723-20 Exceptions
- 723-25 Realisation event that is only a partial realisation
- 723-35 Multiple rights created to take advantage of the $50,000 threshold
- 723-40 Application to CGT asset that is also trading stock or revenue asset
- 723-50 Effects if right created over underlying asset is also trading stock or a revenue asset

723-1 Object

The purpose of this Division is to reduce a loss that would otherwise be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event happening to an asset (except a *depreciating asset), to the extent that:

- (a) value has been shifted out of the asset by the owner creating in an associate a right over the asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the value shifted was not brought to tax when the right was created and has not since been brought to tax on a realisation of the right.

723-10 Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset over which right has been created

- (1) A loss that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event is reduced by the amount worked out under subsections (3) and (4) if:
  - (a) the event happens to a *CGT asset (the underlying asset) you own that, at the time of the event (the realisation time):
    - (i) is not a *depreciating asset; or
    - (ii) is an item of your *trading stock; or
    - (iii) is a *revenue asset of yours; and
  - (b) before the realisation time:
    - (i) you created in an *associate of yours; or
    - (ii) an entity covered by subsection (2) (about previous owners of the underlying asset) created in an associate of the entity; a right in respect of the underlying asset; and
  - (c) immediately before the realisation time, the right is still in existence and is owned by an associate of yours; and
  - (d) a decrease in the underlying asset's *market value is reasonably attributable to the creating of the right; and
  - (e) creating the right involved a *CGT event:
    - (i) whose *capital proceeds are less than the market value of the right when created (the difference between those capital proceeds and that market value is called the shortfall on creating the right); and
    - (ii) that is not a CGT event that happens to some part of the underlying asset but not to the remainder of it; and
  - (f) the shortfall on creating the right is more than $50,000; and
  - (g) the market value of the underlying asset at the realisation time is less than it would have been if the right no longer existed at that time (the difference is called the deficit on realisation).

Section 723-10

---

Note: If subparagraph (1)(e)(ii) applies, the cost base and reduced cost base of the underlying asset is apportioned under section 112-30, so there is no need for this section to apply to the right.

- (2) This subsection covers an entity if:
- (a) the entity *acquired the underlying asset before you did; and
  - (b) there has been a roll-over for each *CGT event (if any) as a result of which an entity (including you) acquired the asset after the first entity acquired it, and before the realisation time; and
  - (c) for each such CGT event (if any), the entity (including you) that acquired the underlying asset as a result of the event was, immediately after the event, an *associate of the entity that last acquired the asset before the event.
- (3) The amount by which this section reduces the loss is the lesser of:
- (a) the shortfall on creating the right; and
  - (b) the deficit on realisation.

However, that amount is reduced by each gain that:

- (c) is *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to the right:
  - (i) before or at the realisation time for the underlying asset; and
  - (ii) at a time when the right is owned by an entity that is your *associate immediately before the realisation time for the underlying asset; and
- (d) is not disregarded.

Note: To work out a gain realised for income tax purposes by a realisation event that happens to the right, see sections 977-15, 977-35, 977-40 and 977-55. If more than one of those sections applies to the right, see section 723-50.

- (4) For each gain that:
- (a) is *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to the right:
    - (i) within 4 years after the realisation time for the underlying asset; and
    - (ii) at a time when the right is owned by an entity that is your *associate immediately before the realisation time for the underlying asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) is not disregarded;

the amount worked out under subsection (3) is taken to have been reduced by the amount of that gain.

Note: This subsection may result in amendment of an assessment for the income year in which the realisation time happens.

723-15 Reduction in loss from realising non-depreciating asset at the same time as right is created over it

(1) A loss that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event is reduced by the amount worked out under subsections (2) and (3) if:

(a) the event happens to a *CGT asset (the underlying asset) you own that, at the time of the event (the realisation time):

- (i) is not a *depreciating asset; or
- (ii) is an item of your *trading stock;
- (iii) is a *revenue asset of yours; and

(b) at the realisation time, you create in an *associate of yours a right in respect of the underlying asset; and

(c) creating the right involves a *CGT event:

- (i) whose *capital proceeds are less than the *market value of the right when created (the difference between those capital proceeds and that market value is called the shortfall on creating the right); and
- (ii) that is not a CGT event that happens to some part of the underlying asset but not to the remainder of it; and

(d) the shortfall on creating the right is more than $50,000; and

(e) the market value of the underlying asset at the realisation time is less than it would have been if the right had not been created (the difference is called the deficit on realisation).

Note: If subparagraph (1)(c)(ii) applies, the cost base and reduced cost base of the underlying asset is apportioned under section 112-30, so there is no need for this section to apply to the right.

(2) The amount by which this section reduces the loss is the lesser of:

- (a) the shortfall on creating the right; and
- (b) the deficit on realisation.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 723-20

---

- (3) For each gain that:
- (a) is *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to the right:
    - (i) within 4 years after the realisation time for the underlying asset; and
    - (ii) at a time when the right is owned by an entity that is your *associate immediately before the realisation time for the underlying asset; and
  - (b) is not disregarded;
- the amount worked out under subsection (2) is taken to have been reduced by the amount of that gain.

Note 1: To work out a gain realised for income tax purposes by a realisation event that happens to the right, see sections 977-15, 977-35, 977-40 and 977-55. If more than one of those sections applies to the right, see section 723-50.

Note 2: This subsection may require amendment of an assessment for the income year in which the realisation time happens.

723-20 Exceptions

Conservation covenant over land

- (1) Section 723-10 or 723-15 does not reduce a loss if:
- (a) the underlying asset is land; and
  - (b) the right referred to in paragraph 723-10(1)(b) or 723-15(1)(b) is a *conservation covenant over the land.

Right created on death of owner

- (2) Section 723-10 or 723-15 does not reduce a loss if the right referred to in paragraph 723-10(1)(b) or 723-15(1)(b) is created by:
- (a) a will or codicil; or
  - (b) an order of a court varying or modifying a will or codicil; or
  - (c) a total or partial intestacy; or
  - (d) an order of a court varying or modifying the application of the law about distributing the estate of someone who dies intestate.

723-25 Realisation event that is only a partial realisation

- (1) Section 723-10 or 723-15 applies differently if:
- (a) a *realisation event happens to some part of a *CGT asset (the underlying asset) you own that, at the time of the event:
    - (i) is not a *depreciating asset; or
    - (ii) is an item of your *trading stock; or
    - (iii) is a *revenue asset of yours; but not to the remainder of the underlying asset; or
  - (b) a realisation event consists of creating an interest in a CGT asset (also the underlying asset) you own that, at the time of the event, is covered by subparagraph (a)(i), (ii) or (iii).
- (2) The section applies on the basis that:
- (a) the *realisation event happens to the underlying asset; and
  - (b) the shortfall on creating the right referred to in paragraph 723-10(1)(e) or 723-15(1)(c); and
  - (c) the deficit on realisation referred to in paragraph 723-10(1)(g) or 723-15(1)(e);
- are each reduced by multiplying its amount by this fraction:

$$\frac{\text{*Market value of part}}{\text{*Market value of underlying asset}}$$

- (3) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (2):

market value of part means the *market value, at the time of the *realisation event, of the part referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or the interest referred to in paragraph (1)(b), as appropriate.

market value of underlying asset means the *market value, immediately before the *realisation event, of the underlying asset.

723-35 Multiple rights created to take advantage of the $50,000 threshold

- (1) Sections 723-10 and 723-15 apply differently if, having regard to all relevant circumstances, it is reasonable to conclude that the sole or main reason why a right was created as a different right from one or more other rights created in respect of the same thing was so that paragraph 723-10(1)(f) or 723-15(1)(d) would not be satisfied for one or more of the rights mentioned in this subsection.

---

Section 723-40

---

- (2) Those sections:
  - (a) apply to that thing, in relation to each of the rights mentioned in subsection (1) of this section, as if paragraphs 723-10(1)(f) and 723-15(1)(d) were omitted; and
  - (b) are taken always to have so applied.

723-40 Application to CGT asset that is also trading stock or revenue asset

If a *CGT asset you own is also an item of your *trading stock or a *revenue asset, this Division applies to the asset once in its character as a CGT asset and again in its character as trading stock or a revenue asset.

723-50 Effects if right created over underlying asset is also trading stock or a revenue asset

- (1) Subsection 723-10(3) or (4) or 723-15(3) applies differently if the right created in respect of the underlying asset is also *trading stock or a *revenue asset at the time of a *realisation event that happens to the right.
- (2) The gain that is taken into account for the purposes of that subsection is:
  - (a) if the right is also trading stock—worked out under section 977-35 or 977-40 (about realisation events for trading stock); or
  - (b) if the right is also a revenue asset—the greater of:
    - (i) the gain worked out under section 977-15 (about realisation events for CGT assets); and
    - (ii) the gain worked out under section 977-55 (about realisation events for revenue assets).

Subdivision 723-B—Reducing reduced cost base of interests in entity that acquires non-depreciating asset under roll-over

Table of sections

723-105	Reduced cost base of interest reduced when interest realised at a loss
723-110	Direct and indirect roll-over replacement for underlying asset

723-105 Reduced cost base of interest reduced when interest realised at a loss

- (1) The *reduced cost base of a *primary equity interest, *secondary equity interest, or *indirect primary equity interest, in a company or trust is reduced just before a *realisation event that is a *CGT event happens to the interest if:
  - (a) apart from this Division, a loss would be *realised for income tax purposes by the CGT event; and
  - (b) apart from this Division, a loss would have been *realised for income tax purposes by a realisation event if the event had happened, just before the CGT event, to a *CGT asset (the underlying asset) that the company or trust then owned and that:
    - (i) was not then a *depreciating asset; or
    - (ii) was then an item of *trading stock of the company or trust; or
    - (iii) was then a *revenue asset of the company or trust; and
  - (c) the loss referred to in paragraph (b) would have been reduced under Subdivision 723-A by an amount (the underlying asset loss reduction); and
  - (d) for the entity (the transferor) that owned the interest just before the CGT event, the interest was a *direct roll-over replacement or *indirect roll-over replacement for the underlying asset.
- (2) If the interest was a *direct roll-over replacement, its *reduced cost base is reduced by the amount worked out using this formula, unless that amount does not appropriately reflect the matters referred to in subsection (4):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 723-110

---

$$\frac{\text{RCB of interest}}{\text{Total of RCBs of direct roll-over replacements}} \times \text{Underlying asset loss reduction}$$

- (3) For the purposes of the formula in subsection (2):

RCB of interest means the interest's *reduced cost base when the transferor *acquired it.

total of RCBs of direct roll-over replacements means the total of the *reduced cost bases of all *direct roll-over replacements for the underlying asset when the transferor *acquired them.

- (4) If:

- (a) the interest was an *indirect roll-over replacement; or
- (b) the amount worked out under subsection (2) does not appropriately reflect the matters referred to in this subsection; the interest's *reduced cost base is reduced by an amount that is appropriate having regard to these matters:
- (c) the underlying asset loss reduction; and
- (d) the quantum of the interest relative to all *direct roll-over replacements and indirect roll-over replacements that the transferor owns or has previously owned.

723-110 Direct and indirect roll-over replacement for underlying asset

- (1) For an entity (the transferor) that owns a *CGT asset, the CGT asset is a direct roll-over replacement for something (the underlying asset) that another entity owns if, and only if:
- (a) a *CGT event happened to the underlying asset while the transferor owned it; and
  - (b) the other entity *acquired the underlying asset as a result of that CGT event; and
  - (c) there was a *replacement-asset roll-over for the CGT event; and

---

---

- (d) the transferor received the CGT asset (or CGT assets including it) in respect of the CGT event as the replacement asset (or the replacement assets).
- (2) For an entity (the transferor) that owns a *CGT asset, the CGT asset is an indirect roll-over replacement for something (the underlying asset) that another entity owns if, and only if:
- (a) a *CGT event happened to another CGT asset at a time when the transferor owned it and the other entity already owned the underlying asset; and
  - (b) for the transferor, the other CGT asset was at that time:
    - (i) a *direct roll-over replacement for the underlying asset; or
    - (ii) an indirect roll-over replacement for the underlying asset because of any other application or applications of this subsection; and
  - (c) there was a *replacement-asset roll-over for the CGT event; and
  - (d) the transferor received the first CGT asset (or CGT assets including it) in respect of the CGT event as the replacement asset (or the replacement assets).

Division 725—Direct value shifting affecting interests in companies and trusts

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 725

- 725-A Scope of the direct value shifting rules
- 725-B What is a direct value shift
- 725-C Consequences of a direct value shift
- 725-D Consequences for down interest or up interest as CGT asset
- 725-E Consequences for down interest or up interest as trading stock or a revenue asset
- 725-F Value adjustments and taxed gains

Guide to Division 725

725-1 What this Division is about

If, under a scheme, value is shifted from equity or loan interests in a company or trust to other equity or loan interests in the same company or trust (including interests issued at a discount), this Division:

- (a) adjusts the value of those interests for income tax purposes to take account of material changes in market value that are attributable to the value shift; and
- (b) treats the value shift as a partial realisation to the extent that value is shifted between interests held by different owners, and in some other cases.

However, it does so only for interests that are owned by entities involved in the value shift.

---

Subdivision 725-A—Scope of the direct value shifting rules

Table of sections

725-45	Main object
725-50	When a direct value shift has consequences under this Division
725-55	Controlling entity test
725-65	Cause of the value shift
725-70	Consequences for down interest only if there is a material decrease in its market value
725-80	Who is an affected owner of a down interest?
725-85	Who is an affected owner of an up interest?
725-90	Direct value shift that will be reversed
725-95	Direct value shift resulting from reversal

725-45 Main object

- (1) The main object of this Division is:
  - (a) to prevent inappropriate losses from arising on the realisation of *equity or loan interests from which value has been shifted to other equity or loan interests in the same entity; and
  - (b) to prevent inappropriate gains from arising on the realisation of equity or loan interests in the same entity to which the value has been shifted;so far as those interests are owned by entities involved in the value shift.
- (2) This is done by:
  - (a) adjusting the value of those interests for income tax purposes to take account of changes in *market value that are attributable to the value shift; and
  - (b) treating the value shift as a partial realisation to the extent that value is shifted:
    - (i) between interests held by different owners; or
    - (ii) in the case of interests in their character as CGT assets—from post-CGT assets to pre-CGT assets; or
    - (iii) between interests of different characters.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 725-50

---

725-50 When a direct value shift has consequences under this Division

A *direct value shift under a *scheme involving *equity or loan interests in an entity (the target entity) has consequences for you under this Division if, and only if:

- (a) the target entity is a company or trust at some time during the *scheme period; and
- (b) section 725-55 (Controlling entity test) is satisfied; and
- (c) section 725-65 (Cause of the value shift) is satisfied; and
- (d) you are an *affected owner of a *down interest, or an *affected owner of an *up interest, or both; and
- (e) neither of sections 725-90 and 725-95 (about direct value shifts that are reversed) applies.

Note: For a down interest of which you are an affected owner, the direct value shift has consequences under this Division only if section 725-70 (about material decrease in market value) is satisfied.

725-55 Controlling entity test

An entity (the controller) must *control (for value shifting purposes) the target entity at some time during the period starting when the *scheme is entered into and ending when it has been carried out. (That period is the scheme period.)

For the concept of control (for value shifting purposes), see sections 727-355 to 727-375.

725-65 Cause of the value shift

- (1) It must be the case that one or more of the following:
  - (a) the target entity;
  - (b) the controller;
  - (c) an entity that was an *associate of the controller at some time during or after the *scheme period;
  - (d) an *active participant in the *scheme;(either alone or together with one or more other entities) did under the scheme the one or more things:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (e) to which the decrease in the *market value of the *down interests is reasonably attributable; and
- (f) to which the increase in the market value of the *up interests, or the issue of up interests at a *discount, is reasonably attributable, or that is or include the issue of up interests at a *discount.

Active participants (if target entity is closely held)

- (2) An entity (the first entity) is an active participant in the *scheme if, and only if:
  - (a) at some time during the *scheme period, the target entity has fewer than 300 members (in the case of a company) or fewer than 300 beneficiaries (in the case of a trust); and
  - (b) the first entity has actively participated in, or directly facilitated, the entering into or carrying out of the *scheme (whether or not it did so at the direction of some other entity); and
  - (c) the first entity:
    - (i) owns a *down interest at the *decrease time; or
    - (ii) owns an *up interest at the *increase time or has an up interest issued to it at a *discount because of the *direct value shift.

When an entity has 300 or more members or beneficiaries

- (3) Section 124-810 (under which certain companies and trusts are not regarded as having 300 or more members or beneficiaries) also applies for the purposes of this Division.
- (4) In addition, this Division applies to a *non-fixed trust as if it did not have 300 or more beneficiaries.

725-70 Consequences for down interest only if there is a material decrease in its market value

- (1) For a *down interest of which you are an *affected owner, the *direct value shift has consequences under this Division only if the sum of the decreases in the *market value of all down interests

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 725-80

because of direct value shifts under the same *scheme as the direct value shift is at least $150,000.

Note: In working out the sum of the decreases in market value of all down interests, it will be necessary to include decreases not only in your down interests, but also in those of other affected owners and of entities that are not affected owners.

- (2) However, if, having regard to all relevant circumstances, it is reasonable to conclude that the sole or main reason why a *direct value shift happened under a different scheme from one or more other direct value shifts was so that subsection (1) would not be satisfied for one or more of the direct value shifts mentioned in this subsection, subsection (1) does not apply (and is taken never to have applied) to any of the direct value shifts.

725-80 Who is an affected owner of a down interest?

An entity is an affected owner of a *down interest if, and only if, the entity owns the down interest at the *decrease time and at least one of these paragraphs is satisfied:

- (a) the entity is the controller;
- (b) the entity was an *associate of the controller at some time during or after the *scheme period;
- (c) the entity is an *active participant in the *scheme.

725-85 Who is an affected owner of an up interest?

An entity is an affected owner of an *up interest if, and only if:

- (a) there is at least one *affected owner of *down interests; and
- (b) the entity owns the up interest at the *increase time, or the interest is an up interest because it was issued to the entity at a *discount; and at least one of these paragraphs is satisfied:

- (c) the entity is the controller;
- (d) the entity was an *associate of the controller at some time during or after the *scheme period;
- (e) at some time during or after the scheme period, the entity was an associate of an entity that is an affected owner of down

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

interests because it was an associate of the controller at some time during or after that period;

(f) the entity is an *active participant in the *scheme.

725-90 Direct value shift that will be reversed

- (1) The *direct value shift does not have consequences for you under this Division if:
- (a) the one or more things referred to in paragraph 725-145(1)(b) brought about a state of affairs, but for which the direct value shift would not have happened; and
  - (b) as at the time referred to in that paragraph, it is more likely than not that, because of the *scheme, that state of affairs will cease to exist within 4 years after that time.

Example: Under a scheme, the voting rights attached to a class of shares in a company are changed. As a result, the market value of shares in that class decreases, and the market value of other classes of shares in the company increases. The company's constitution provides that the change is to last for only 3 years.

- (2) However, this section stops applying if the state of affairs referred to in paragraph (1)(a) still exists:
- (a) at the end of those 4 years; or
  - (b) when a *realisation event happens to *down interests or *up interests of which you are, or any other entity is, an *affected owner;
- whichever happens sooner.
- (3) If this section stops applying, it is taken never to have applied to the *direct value shift.

Note: This may result in an assessment for an earlier income year having to be amended to give effect to the consequences that the direct value shift would have had for you under this Division if this section hadn't applied.

725-95 Direct value shift resulting from reversal

- (1) A *direct value shift does not have consequences for any entity under this Division if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 725-145

---

- (a) section 725-90 applies, and the state of affairs referred to in paragraph 725-90(1)(a) ceases to exist; and
  - (b) the direct value shift would not have happened but for that state of affairs ceasing to exist.
- (2) However, if section 725-90 stops applying, this section is taken never to have applied to the later direct value shift.

Subdivision 725-B—What is a direct value shift

Table of sections

725-145	When there is a direct value shift
725-150	Issue of equity or loan interests at a discount
725-155	Meaning of down interests , decrease time , up interests and increase time
725-160	What is the nature of a direct value shift?
725-165	If market value decrease or increase is only partly attributable to the scheme

725-145 When there is a *direct value shift

- (1) There is a direct value shift under a *scheme involving *equity or loan interests in an entity (the target entity) if:
- (a) there is a decrease in the *market value of one or more equity or loan interests in the target entity; and
  - (b) the decrease is reasonably attributable to one or more things done under the scheme, and occurs at or after the time when that thing, or the first of those things, is done; and
  - (c) either or both of subsections (2) and (3) are satisfied.

Examples of something done under a scheme are issuing new shares at a *discount, buying back shares or changing the voting rights attached to shares.

- (2) One or more *equity or loan interests in the target entity must be issued at a *discount. The issue must be, or must be reasonably attributable to, the thing, or one or more of the things, referred to in paragraph (1)(b). It must also occur at or after the time referred to in that paragraph.

Example: A company runs a family business. There are 2 shares originally issued for $2 each. They are owned by husband and wife. The market value of the shares is much greater (represented by the value of the assets of the company less its liabilities). The company issues one more share for $2 to their son.

---

Caution is needed in such a situation. The example would result in a large CGT liability for the husband and wife under this Division, because they have shifted 1/3 of the value of their own shares to their son. No such liability would arise if the share had been issued for its market value.

- (3) Or, there must be an increase in the *market value of one or more *equity or loan interests in the target entity. The increase must be reasonably attributable to the thing, or to one or more of the things, referred to in paragraph (1)(b). It must also occur at or after the time referred to in that paragraph.

725-150 Issue of equity or loan interests at a *discount

- (1) An *equity or loan interest is issued at a discount if, and only if, the *market value of the interest when issued exceeds the amount of the payment that the issuing entity receives. The excess is the amount of the discount.
- (2) The payment that the issuing entity receives can include property. If it does, use the *market value of the property in working out the amount of the payment.

Amounts for which bonus equities are treated as being issued

- (3) If:
- (a) a *primary equity interest is issued as mentioned in subsection 130-20(1) (about bonus equities issued in relation to original equities); and
  - (b) subsection 130-20(3) does not apply (about bonus equities that are a dividend or otherwise assessable income);
- subsection (1) of this section applies to the interest as if the amount of the payment that the issuing entity receives were equal to the *cost base of the interest when issued (as worked out under section 130-20).

Section 725-155

(4) If:

- (a) a *primary equity interest is issued as mentioned in subsection 6BA(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about bonus shares issued in relation to original shares); and
- (b) subsection 6BA(2) of that Act applies (about bonus shares that are a dividend);

subsection (1) of this section applies to the interest as if the amount of the payment that the issuing entity receives were equal to the consideration worked out under subsection 6BA(2) of that Act.

(5) If both of subsections (3) and (4) apply to the issue of the same *primary equity interest, subsection (1) of this section applies to the interest as if the amount of the payment that the issuing entity receives were equal to the greater of the amounts worked out under subsections (3) and (4).

Application of subsections (3), (4) and (5)

(6) Subsection (3) does not apply if, for the income year in which the interest is issued, the issuing entity is:

- (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of section 102J of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
- (b) a public trading trust within the meaning of section 102R of that Act.

(7) Subsections (3), (4) and (5) have effect only for the purposes of working out whether a *direct value shift has happened and, if so, its consequences (if any) under this Division.

725-155 Meaning of *down interests, decrease time, up interests and increase time

- (1) An *equity or loan interest in the target entity is a down interest if a decrease in its *market value is reasonably attributable to the one or more things referred to in paragraph 725-145(1)(b), and occurs at or after the time referred to in that paragraph. The time when the decrease happens is called the decrease time for that interest.
- (2) An *equity or loan interest in the target entity is an up interest if subsection 725-145(2) or (3) is satisfied for the interest. The time when the interest is issued at a *discount, or the increase in *market value happens, is called the increase time for that interest.

---

725-160 What is the nature of a direct value shift?

- (1) The *direct value shift has 2 aspects.
- (2) Overall, it consists of:
  - (a) the decreases in *market value of the down interests; and
  - (b) the issue at a *discount of the up interests covered by subsection 725-145(2); and
  - (c) the increases in market value of the up interests covered by subsection 725-145(3).
- (3) This Division also proceeds on the basis that the *direct value shift is from each of the *down interests to each of the *up interests.

725-165 If market value decrease or increase is only partly attributable to the scheme

If it is reasonable to conclude that an increase or decrease in *market value, or the issuing of an *equity or loan interest at a *discount, is only partly caused by the doing of the one or more things under the *scheme, this Division applies to the increase, decrease, or issue at a discount, to that extent only.

General

725-205 Consequences depend on character of down interests and up interests

- (1) The consequences for you of the *direct value shift depend on the character of the *down interests and *up interests of which you are an *affected owner.
- (2) There are consequences for all your *down interests and *up interests in their character as *CGT assets. However, some of them may also be *trading stock or *revenue assets. There are additional consequences for those interests in their character as trading stock or revenue assets.

Note: For example, you may own a down interest that is a CGT asset and a revenue asset.

Sections 725-240 to 725-255 set out the consequences for you of a shift in value from that interest in its character as a CGT asset. The cost base of the asset will be decreased, which will affect the calculation of a capital gain when a CGT event happens to the interest.

Section 725-320 sets out the consequences for you of a shift in value from that interest in its character as a revenue asset. The adjustment made under that section will affect the calculation of any profit on the sale of the interest.

Any overlap between the capital gain and the profit realised on the sale of the interest is then dealt with under section 118-20.

In some instances, the direct value shift may result in a taxing event generating a gain for you in the income year in which the shift happens. That gain will be both a capital gain (because the down interest can be characterised as a CGT asset) and an increase in your assessable income (because the down interest can be characterised as a revenue asset). Again, any overlap is dealt with under section 118-20.

725-210 Consequences for down interests depend on pre-shift gains and losses

- (1) The consequences for a *down interest also depend on whether it has a *pre-shift gain or a *pre-shift loss.
- (2) It has a pre-shift gain if, immediately before the *decrease time, its *market value was greater than its *adjustable value.

---

---

- (3) It has a pre-shift loss if, immediately before the *decrease time, its *market value was equal to or less than its *adjustable value.

Special cases

725-220 Neutral direct value shifts

- (1) The consequences are different if the total decrease in *market value of your *down interests is equal to the sum of:
- (a) the total increase in market value of your *up interests; and
  - (b) the total *discounts given to you on the issue of your up interests.
- (2) In that case, this Subdivision and Subdivisions 725-D to 725-F apply to you as if the *direct value shift:
- (a) consisted only of:
    - (i) the decreases in *market value of your *down interests; and
    - (ii) the issue at a *discount of your *up interests covered by subsection 725-145(2); and
    - (iii) the increases in market value of your up interests covered by subsection 725-145(3); and
  - (b) were from each of your down interests to each of your up interests.
- (3) This section has effect despite section 725-160.

725-225 Issue of bonus shares or units

- (1) The consequences are different if you are an *affected owner of *up interests (the bonus interests) that the target entity issues to you, at a *discount, under the *scheme, in relation to *down interests (the original interests) of which you are an affected owner.

Effect of treatment under subsection 130-20(3)

- (2) To the extent that the *direct value shift is to the bonus interests from original interests in relation to which the target entity issued bonus interests to which:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 725-225

---

- (a) subsection 130-20(3) applies (because none of them is a dividend or otherwise assessable income); and
  - (b) item 1 of the table in that subsection applies (because the original interests are post-CGT assets);
- these paragraphs apply:
- (c) the respective *cost bases and *reduced cost bases of those original interests are not reduced;
  - (d) the bonus interests referred to in subsection (1) do not give rise to a *taxing event generating a gain for you under the table in section 725-245 on any of those original interests.
- (3) To the extent that the *direct value shift is from the original interests to bonus interests to which subsection 130-20(3) applies (because none of them is a dividend or otherwise assessable income) and:
- (a) item 1 of the table in that subsection applies (because the original interests are post-CGT assets); or
  - (b) item 2 of that table applies (because the original interests are pre-CGT assets and an amount has been paid for the bonus interests that you were required to pay);
- the respective *cost bases and *reduced cost bases of those bonus interests are not uplifted.

Effect of treatment under subsection 6BA(3) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

- (4) To the extent that the *direct value shift is to the bonus interests from original interests in relation to which the target entity issued bonus interests to which subsection 6BA(3) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies (either because they are shares issued for no consideration and none of them is a dividend or because they qualify for the intercorporate dividend rebate):
- (a) the respective *adjustable values of those original interests, in their character as *trading stock or *revenue assets, are not reduced; and
  - (b) the bonus interests referred to in subsection (1) do not give rise to a *taxing event generating a gain for you under the table in section 725-335 on any of those original interests.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) To the extent that the *direct value shift is from the original interests to bonus interests to which subsection 6BA(3) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies, the respective *adjustable values of those bonus interests of which you are an affected owner, in their character as trading stock or revenue assets, are not uplifted.

725-230 Off-market buy-backs

- (1) The consequences are different if:
- (a) a decrease in the *market value of a *down interest of which you are an *affected owner is reasonably attributable to the target entity proposing to buy back that interest for less than its market value; and
  - (b) the target entity does buy back that down interest; and
  - (c) subsection 159GZZZQ(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 treats you as having received the down interest's market value worked out as if the buy-back had not occurred and was never proposed to occur.

- (2) The *adjustable value of the *down interest is not reduced, and there is no *taxing event generating a gain.

Note: The down interest is not dealt with here because it is already dealt with in Division 16K of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

- (3) Also, to the extent that the *direct value shift is from the *down interest to *up interests of which you are an *affected owner, uplifts in the *adjustable value of the up interests are worked out under either or both of:
- (a) item 8 of the table in subsection 725-250(2); and
  - (b) item 9 of the table in subsection 725-335(3);
- as if the down interest were one owned by another affected owner.

- 725-245 Table of taxing events generating a gain for interests as CGT assets
- 725-250 Table of consequences for adjustable values of interests as CGT assets
- 725-255 Multiple CGT consequences for the same down interest or up interest

725-240 CGT consequences; meaning of *adjustable value

- (1) The CGT consequences for you of a *direct value shift are of one or more of these 3 kinds:
  - (a) there are one or more *taxing events generating a gain for *down interests of which you are an affected owner (see subsection (2));
  - (b) the *cost base and *reduced cost base of down interests of which you are an *affected owner are reduced (see subsection (3));
  - (c) the cost base and reduced cost base of *up interests of which you are an affected owner are uplifted (see subsection (4)).

Note: If there is a taxing event generating a gain, CGT event K8 happens. See section 104-250.

Taxing event generating a gain

- (2) To work out:
  - (a) whether under the table in section 725-245 there is a *taxing event generating a gain for you on a *down interest; and
  - (b) if so, the amount of the gain;assume that the adjustable value from time to time of that or any other *equity or loan interest in the *target entity is its *cost base.

Note: For example, for that purpose the question whether the interest has a pre-shift gain or a pre-shift loss is determined on the basis that the interest's adjustable value is its cost base.

Reduction or uplift of cost base and reduced cost base

- (3) The *cost base and the *reduced cost base of a *down interest are reduced at the *decrease time to the extent that section 725-250 provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be reduced.
- (4) The *cost base and the *reduced cost base of an *up interest are uplifted at the *increase time to the extent that section 725-250 provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be uplifted.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) However, the *cost base or *reduced cost base is uplifted only to the extent that the amount of the uplift is still reflected in the *market value of the interest when a later *CGT event happens to the interest.
- (6) To work out:
- (a) whether the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the interest is reduced or uplifted; and
  - (b) if so, by how much;
- assume that:
- (c) the adjustable value from time to time of that or any other *equity or loan interest in the *target entity is its cost base or reduced cost base, as appropriate; and
  - (d) if the interest is an *up interest because it was issued at a *discount—the adjustable value of the interest immediately before it was issued was its cost base or reduced cost base, as appropriate, when it was issued.

Note: For example, for that purpose the question whether the interest has a pre-shift gain or a pre-shift loss is determined on the basis that the interest's adjustable value is its cost base or reduced cost base, as appropriate.

Reductions and uplifts also apply to pre-CGT assets

- (7) A reduction or uplift occurs regardless of whether the entity that owns the interest *acquired it before, on or after 20 September 1985.

725-245 Table of taxing events generating a gain for interests as CGT assets

To the extent that the *direct value shift is from *down interests of which you are an *affected owner, and that are specified in an item in the table, to *up interests specified in that item, those up interests give rise to a taxing event generating a gain for you on each of those down interests. The gain is worked out under section 725-365.

Section 725-250

Taxing events generating a gain for down interests as CGT assets

Item	Down interests:	Up interests:
1	*down interests that: (a) are owned by you ; and (b) are neither your *revenue assets nor your *trading stock ; and (c) have *pre-shift gains ; and (d) are *post-CGT assets	*up interests owned by you that: (a) are neither your *revenue assets nor your *trading stock ; and (b) are *pre-CGT assets
2	*down interests that: (a) are owned by you ; and (b) are neither your *revenue assets nor your *trading stock ; and (c) have *pre-shift gains	*up interests owned by you that are your *trading stock or *revenue assets
3	*down interests owned by you that: (a) are of the one kind (either your *trading stock or your *revenue assets ); and (b) have *pre-shift gains	*up interests owned by you that: (a) are of the other kind (either your *revenue assets or your *trading stock ); or (b) are neither your *revenue assets nor your *trading stock
4	*down interests owned by you that have *pre-shift gains	up interests owned by other *affected owners

Note: If there is a taxing event generating a gain on a down interest, CGT event K8 happens: see section 104-250. However, a capital gain you make under CGT event K8 is disregarded if the down interest:

- is your trading stock (see section 118-25); or
- is a pre-CGT asset (see subsection 104-250(5)).

725-250 Table of consequences for adjustable values of interests as CGT assets

- (1) The table in subsection (2) sets out consequences of the *direct value shift for the *adjustable values of *down interests and *up interests of which you are an *affected owner, in their character as *CGT assets.

Section 725-250

- (2) To the extent that the *direct value shift is from *down interests specified in an item in the table to *up interests specified in that item:
- (a) the *adjustable value of each of those down interests is decreased by the amount worked out under the section (if any) specified for the down interests in the last column of that item; and
- (b) the adjustable value of each of those *up interests is uplifted by the amount worked out under the section (if any) specified for the up interests in that column.

725-255 Multiple CGT consequences for the same down interest or up interest

- (3) If for a particular *down interest there is a *taxing event generating a gain under an item in the table in section 725-245, that taxing event is in addition to:
  - (a) each taxing event generating a gain for that interest under any other item in that table; and
  - (b) each decrease in the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the interest under an item in the table in subsection 725-250(2).

725-310 Consequences for down interest or up interest as trading stock

- (1) The consequences of the *direct value shift for your *trading stock are of one or more of these 3 kinds:
  - (a) the *adjustable values of *down interests of which you are an *affected owner are reduced (see subsection (2));
  - (b) the adjustable values of *up interests of which you are an affected owner are uplifted (see subsection (3));

Section 725-310

---

Effect of reduction or uplift of adjustable value

- (2) If the *adjustable value of a *down interest that is your trading stock is reduced under section 725-335, you are treated as if:
- (a) *immediately before the *decrease time, you had sold the interest to someone else (at *arm's length and in the ordinary course of business) for its *adjustable value immediately before the decrease time; and
  - (b) immediately after the decrease time, you had bought the interest back for the reduced adjustable value.
- (3) If the *adjustable value of an *up interest that is your *trading stock is uplifted under section 725-335, you are treated as if:
- (a) *immediately before the *increase time, you had sold the interest to someone else (at *arm's length and in the ordinary course of business) for its *adjustable value immediately before the increase time; and
  - (b) immediately after the increase time, you had bought the interest back for the uplifted adjustable value.
- (4) However, the increase in the cost of an *up interest because of paragraph (3)(b) is taken into account from time to time only to the extent that the amount of the increase is still reflected in the *market value of the interest.

Note: The situations where the increase in cost would be taken into account include:

- in working out your deductions for the cost of trading stock acquired during the income year in which the increase time happens; and
- the end of an income year if the interest's closing value as trading stock is worked out on the basis of its cost; and
- the start of the income year in which the interest is disposed of, if that happens in a later income year and the interest's closing value as trading stock at the end of the previous income year was worked out on the basis of its cost.

If the interest stops being trading stock, section 70-110 treats you as having disposed of it.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Taxing event generating a gain

- (5) For each *taxing event generating a gain under an item in the table in subsection 725-335(3), the gain is included in your assessable income for the income year in which the *decrease time happens.

725-315 Adjustable value of trading stock

If a *down interest or *up interest is your trading stock, its adjustable value at a particular time is:

- (a) if the interest has been *trading stock of yours ever since the start of the income year in which that time occurs—its *value as trading stock at the start of the income year; or
- (b) otherwise—its cost.

Note 1: If an interest has been affected by an earlier direct value shift during the same income year, it will be treated as having already been sold and repurchased (because of an earlier application of section 725-310). As a result, the cost on repurchase becomes its adjustable value immediately before the decrease time or increase time for the later direct value shift.

Note 2: The adjustable value of an interest that is an up interest because it was issued at a discount is worked out under paragraph (b).

725-320 Consequences for down interest or up interest as a revenue asset

- (1) The consequences of the *direct value shift for your *revenue assets are of one or more of these 3 kinds:
  - (a) the *adjustable values of *down interests of which you are an *affected owner are reduced (see subsection (2));
  - (b) the adjustable values of *up interests of which you are an affected owner are uplifted (see subsection (3));
  - (c) one or more *taxing events generating a gain for down interests of which you are an affected owner (see subsection (5)).

Effect of reduction or uplift of adjustable value

- (2) If the *adjustable value of a *down interest that is your *revenue asset is decreased under section 725-335, you are treated as if:

---

Section 725-325

---

- (a) *immediately before the *decrease time, you had sold the interest to someone else for its *adjustable value immediately before the decrease time; and
  - (b) immediately afterwards, you had bought the interest back for the reduced adjustable value; and
  - (c) from the time when you bought it back, the interest continued to be a revenue asset, for the same reasons as it was a revenue asset before you sold it.
- (3) If the *adjustable value of an *up interest that is your *revenue asset is uplifted under section 725-335, you are treated as if:
- (a) *immediately before the *increase time, you had sold the interest to someone else for its *adjustable value immediately before the increase time; and
  - (b) immediately afterwards, you had bought the interest back for the uplifted adjustable value; and
  - (c) from the time when you bought it back, the interest continued to be a revenue asset, for the same reasons as it was a revenue asset before you sold it.
- (4) However, the uplift in *adjustable value is taken into account only to the extent that the amount of the uplift is still reflected in the *market value of the interest when it is disposed of or otherwise realised.

Taxing event generating a gain

- (5) For each *taxing event generating a gain under an item in the table in subsection 725-335(3), the gain is included in your assessable income for the income year in which the *decrease time happens.

725-325 Adjustable value of revenue asset

- (1) If a *down interest is your *revenue asset, its adjustable value immediately before the *decrease time is the total of the amounts that would be subtracted from the gross disposal proceeds in calculating any profit or loss on disposal of the interest if you disposed of it immediately before the decrease time.

- (2) If an *up interest is your *revenue asset and it increases in *market value because of the *direct value shift, its adjustable value immediately before the *increase time is the total of the amounts that would be subtracted from the gross disposal proceeds in calculating any profit or loss on disposal of the interest if you disposed of it immediately before the increase time.
- (3) If an *up interest is your *revenue asset and it is issued at a *discount, it is taken to have an adjustable value immediately before it is issued equal to the consideration paid or given by you for the interest.

Note: If an interest has been affected by an earlier direct value shift during the same income year, it will be treated as having already been sold and repurchased (because of an earlier application of section 725-320). As a result, the cost on repurchase becomes its adjustable value immediately before the decrease time or increase time for the later direct value shift.

725-335 How to work out those consequences

- (1) This section sets out the consequences of the *direct value shift for a *down interest or *up interest as *trading stock or a *revenue asset.
- (2) If you have both trading stock and revenue assets, items 1 and 2 of the table in subsection (3) can apply once to the trading stock and again to the revenue assets. The other items apply (if at all) to the trading stock and revenue assets together.

Decreases and uplifts in adjustable value

- (3) To the extent that the *direct value shift is from *down interests specified in an item in the table to *up interests specified in that item:
- the *adjustable value of each of those down interests is decreased by the amount worked out under the section (if any) specified for the down interests in the last column of that item; and
  - the adjustable value of each of those *up interests is uplifted by the amount worked out under the section (if any) specified for the up interests in that column.

Taxing events generating a gain

- (4) To the extent that the *direct value shift is from *down interests:
- (a) of which you are an *affected owner; and
  - (b) that are specified in item 2, 4 or 7 in the table in subsection (3); to *up interests specified in that item, those up interests give rise to a taxing event generating a gain for you under that item on each of those down interests. The gain is worked out under section 725-365.

725-340 Multiple trading stock or revenue asset consequences for the same down interest or up interest

- (1) A *down interest or *up interest of which you are an *affected owner may be covered by 2 or more items in the table in subsection 725-335(3).
- (2) If the *adjustable value of the same *down interest or *up interest is decreased or uplifted under 2 or more items, it is decreased or uplifted by the total of the amounts worked out under those items.
- (3) If for a particular *down interest there is a *taxing event generating a gain under an item, that taxing event is in addition to:
  - (a) each taxing event generating a gain for that interest under any other item in the table; and
  - (b) each decrease in the *adjustable value of the interest under that or any other item in the table.

Subdivision 725-F—Value adjustments and taxed gains

Table of sections

725-365	Decreases in adjustable values of down interests (with pre-shift gains), and taxing events generating a gain
725-370	Uplifts in adjustable values of up interests under certain table items
725-375	Uplifts in adjustable values of up interests under other table items
725-380	Decreases in adjustable value of down interests (with pre-shift losses)

725-365 Decreases in adjustable values of down interests (with pre-shift gains), and taxing events generating a gain

Use the following method statement:

- (a) to work out the amount of the gain for a *taxing event generating a gain under:
  - (i) section 725-245; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) item 2, 4 or 7 of the table in subsection 725-335(3); and
- (b) to work out the decrease in *adjustable value of a *down interest under:
  - (i) item 1, 2, 3, 4 or 6 of the table in subsection 725-250(2); or
  - (ii) item 1, 2, 4 or 7 of the table in subsection 725-335(3).

Method statement

Step 1. Group together all *down interests that:

- (a) are of the kind referred to in the relevant item; and
- (b) immediately before the *decrease time, had the same *adjustable value as the down interest; and
- (c) immediately before that time had the same *market value as the down interest; and
- (d) sustained the same decrease in market value as the down interest because of the *direct value shift.

Step 2. Work out the value shifted from that group of *down interests to the *up interests referred to in the relevant item using the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of the decreases in *market value of all *down interests in the group because of the *direct value shift}}{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts on the issue of, those *up interests because of the *direct value shift}} \times \frac{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts given on the issue of, all *up interests because of the *direct value shift}}{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts on the issue of, those *up interests because of the *direct value shift}}$$

---

Step 3. Work out the notional adjustable value of the value shifted from that group of *down interests to those *up interests using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of the *adjustable values, immediately before the *decrease time, of all *down interests in the group}}{\text{Sum of the *market values, immediately before the *decrease time, of all *down interests in the group}} \times \text{Value shifted}$$

Step 4. The decrease in the *adjustable value of the *down interest under the relevant item is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{Notional adjustable value}}{\text{Number of *down interests in the group}}$$

Step 5. For a *taxing event generating a gain under the relevant item, the amount of the gain is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{Value shifted} - \text{Notional adjustable value}}{\text{Number of *down interests in the group}}$$

725-370 Uplifts in adjustable values of up interests under certain table items

Use the following method statement to work out the uplift in *adjustable value of an *up interest under:

- (a) item 1 or 2 of the table in subsection 725-250(2); or
- (b) item 1 of the table in subsection 725-335(3).

---

---

Method statement

Step 1. If the *market value of the *up interest increases because of the *direct value shift, group together all up interests of the kind referred to in the relevant item that:

- (a) immediately before the *increase time, had the same *adjustable value as the up interest; and
- (b) sustained the same increase in market value as the up interest because of the *direct value shift.

If the *up interest is issued at a *discount, group together all *up interests of the kind referred to in the relevant item that:

- (c) immediately before the *increase time, had the same *adjustable value as the up interest; and
- (d) because of the direct value shift, are issued at the same discount as the up interest.

Step 2. The notional adjustable value of the value shifted from the *down interests referred to in the relevant item to all the *up interests referred to in that item has already been worked out under one or more applications of step 3 of the method statement in section 725-365.

Step 3. Use the following formula to work out how much of that notional adjustable value is attributable to the value shifted to the group of *up interests referred to in step 1 of this method statement:

$$\text{Notional adjustable value} \times \frac{\text{Sum of the *market values, immediately after the *increase time, of all *up interests in the group}}{\text{Sum of the *market values, immediately after the *increase time, of all *up interests referred to in the relevant item}}$$

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 725-375

---

Step 4. The uplift in the *adjustable value of the *up interest under the relevant item is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{The amount worked out under step 3}}{\text{Number of interests in that group of *up interests}}$$

725-375 Uplifts in adjustable values of up interests under other table items

Use the following method statement to work out the uplift in *adjustable value of an *up interest under:

- (a) item 3, 4, 5 or 8 of the table in subsection 725-250(2); or
- (b) item 2, 3, 6 or 9 of the table in subsection 725-335(3).

Method statement

Step 1. If the *market value of the *up interest increases because of the direct value shift, group together all *up interests of the kind referred to in the relevant item that sustained the same increase in market value as the up interest because of the direct value shift.

If the up interest is issued at a discount, group together all up interests of the kind referred to in the relevant item that are issued at a discount of the same amount as the up interest because of the direct value shift.

Step 2. The value shifted to that group of *up interests from the *down interests referred to in the relevant item is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of the group increases or discounts} \times \text{Sum of the decreases in *market value of those *down interests}}{\text{Total value of the *direct value shift}}$$

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

where:

sum of the group increases or discounts means (as appropriate):

- (a) the sum of the increases in *market value of all *up interests in the group because of the *direct value shift; or
- (b) the sum of the *discounts at which all *up interests in the group were issued because of the *direct value shift.

total value of the direct value shift means:

- (a) if the sum of the decreases in *market value of all *down interests because of the *direct value shift is equal to or greater than the sum of the increases in market value of all *up interests and all *discounts given because of the shift—the sum of the decreases; or
- (b) if the sum of the decreases in market value of all down interests because of the direct value shift is less than the sum of the increases in market value of all up interests and all discounts given because of the shift—the sum of the increases and discounts.

Step 3. The uplift in the *adjustable value of the *up interest under the relevant item is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{Value shifted}}{\text{Number of *up interests in the group}}$$

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 725-380

---

725-380 Decreases in adjustable value of down interests (with pre-shift losses)

Use the following method statement to work out the decrease in *adjustable value of a *down interest under:

- (a) item 5 or 7 of the table in subsection 725-250(2); or
- (b) item 3, 5 or 8 of the table in subsection 725-335(3).

Method statement

Step 1. Group together all *down interests of the kind referred to in the relevant item that:

- (a) immediately before the *decrease time, had the same *adjustable value as the down interest; and
- (b) immediately before that time had the same *market value as the down interest; and
- (c) sustained the same decrease in market value as the down interest because of the *direct value shift.

Step 2. Work out the value shifted from that group of *down interests to the *up interests referred to in the relevant item using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of the decreases in *market value of all *down interests in the group because of the *direct value shift}}{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts on the issue of, those *up interests because of the *direct value shift}} \times \frac{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts given on the issue of, all *up interests because of the *direct value shift}}{\text{Sum of the increases in *market value of, and *discounts on the issue of, those *up interests because of the *direct value shift}}$$

727-L	Indirect value shift resulting from a direct value shift

Guide to Division 727

727-1 What this Division is about

If there is a net shift of value between 2 related entities because of a non-arm's length dealing, this Division:

- (a) prevents losses from arising, because of the value shift, on realisation of direct or indirect equity or loan interests in the losing entity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) within limits, prevents gains from arising, because of the value shift, on realisation of direct or indirect equity or loan interests in the gaining entity.

However, it does so only for interests that are owned by entities involved in the value shift.

Table of sections

727-5	What is an indirect value shift?
727-10	How does this Division deal with indirect value shifts?
727-15	When does an indirect value shift have consequences under this Division?
727-25	Effect of this Division on realisations at a loss that occur before the nature or extent of an indirect value shift can be fully determined

727-5 What is an indirect value shift?

- (1) An indirect value shift arises when there is a net shift of value from one entity to another.

Example: Company A transfers property to company B in return for a cash payment. If the market value of the property is $180 million but the cash payment is only $50 million, there is a net shift of value from company A to company B of $130 million.

- (2) It is called indirect because the transaction will have the indirect effect of shifting value from equity or loan interests in the losing entity to equity or loan interests in the gaining entity.

This is because the net shift in value between the entities will usually decrease the market value of interests in the losing entity and increase the market value of interests in the gaining entity.

Example: Assume that company C owns all the shares in company A and company D owns all the shares in company B. The net shift of value from company A to company B will reduce the value of company C's shares in company A and increase the value of company D's shares in company B.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-95 Value shifting

Division 727 Indirect value shifting affecting interests in companies and trusts, and arising from non-arm's length dealings

Section 727-5

---

- (3) It will also produce corresponding effects further up a chain of entities.

Example: Assume that company E owns all the shares in company C and company D. The net shift of value from company A to company B will also reduce the value of company E's shares in company C and increase the value of its shares in company D.

- (4) This Division is not concerned with the tax treatment of the net shift in value between the entities at the bottom of the chains. Instead, it deals with the effects on the market value of interests (both direct and indirect) in those entities.
- (5) An indirect value shift distorts the relationship between the market value of an equity or loan interest and its value for income tax purposes. When the interest is realised, this can produce an inappropriate loss for income tax purposes, or an inappropriate gain.

---

---

Example: If company E sold its shares in company C, the indirect value shift could (apart from this Division) result in a loss for income tax purposes. Company E could defer the corresponding gain on its shares in company D by not selling these.

727-10 How does this Division deal with indirect value shifts?

- (1) To prevent an inappropriate loss or gain from arising on realisation of an interest, this Division reduces the amount of the loss or gain (realisation time method). However, a choice can be made to adjust the interest's value for income tax purposes in a way that takes account of the indirect value shift (adjustable value method).
- (2) This Division does not create taxing events giving rise to gains or losses.

727-15 When does an indirect value shift have consequences under this Division?

- (1) Indirect value shift is defined very broadly, but the application of this Division is limited in various ways.
- (2) The losing entity must be a company or trust (except a superannuation entity). However, the gaining entity can be any kind of entity, including an individual.
- (3) This Division does not apply if entities deal with each other at arm's length, or provide economic benefits in return for full market value.
- (4) The losing entity and the gaining entity must be connected by having had the same ultimate controller. In the case of closely held entities, they may instead be connected by having had a high level of common ownership.
- (5) The only interests affected are those owned by entities involved in the indirect value shift or by their associates.
- (6) There are a range of exclusions, such as:
  - (a) exclusions for minor indirect value shifts; and
  - (b) a series of rules designed to provide safe harbour treatment for common transactions relating to services; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) anti-overlap provisions to prevent double-counting.
- (7) Rules of thumb are included to make it easier to determine the market value of some kinds of economic benefits.
- (8) To reduce compliance costs for:
  - (a) *small business entities; and
  - (b) entities that meet the CGT small business net asset threshold ($6 million);interests owned by those entities are not affected by this Division.

727-25 Effect of this Division on realisations at a loss that occur before the nature or extent of an indirect value shift can be fully determined

- (1) To determine whether a scheme gives rise to an indirect value shift, it must be possible to identify all the economic benefits under the scheme, and the providers and recipients of those benefits.
- (2) Before then, interests that might be affected by the scheme may be realised at a loss. Subdivision 727-K contains special rules that apply if that happens.

Subdivision 727-A—Scope of the indirect value shifting rules

727-110	Common-ownership nexus test (if both losing and gaining entities are closely held)
727-125	No consequences if losing entity is a superannuation entity

727-95 Main object

The main object of this Division is:

- (a) to prevent inappropriate losses from arising on the realisation of direct or indirect equity or loan interests in an entity from which there has been a net shift of value because of a non-arm's length dealing; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) to prevent inappropriate gains from arising on the realisation of *direct equity interests or *indirect equity interests in the entity to which that value has been shifted;

in cases where the 2 entities are related as set out in this Division.

727-100 When an indirect value shift has consequences under this Division

An *indirect value shift (see Subdivision 727-B) has consequences under this Division if, and only if:

- (a) the *losing entity is at the time of the indirect value shift a company or trust (except one listed in section 727-125 (about superannuation entities)); and
- (b) in relation to either or both of the following:
- (i) the losing entity *providing one or more economic benefits to the gaining entity *in connection with the *scheme from which the indirect value shift results;
  - (ii) the gaining entity providing one or more economic benefits to the losing entity in connection with the scheme;

the 2 entities are not dealing with each other at *arm's length; and

- (c) either or both of sections 727-105 and 727-110 are satisfied; and
- (d) no exclusion in Subdivision 727-C applies.

Note 1: The consequences for direct and indirect interests in the losing entity or in the gaining entity are set out in Subdivision 727-F. If those consequences are to be worked out using the realisation time method (under Subdivision 727-G), there are further exclusions for certain 95% services indirect value shifts: see section 727-700.

Note 2: An indirect value shift does not have consequences for interests in the losing entity or gaining entity owned immediately before the IVS time by an entity that:

- is a small business entity for each income year that includes any of the IVS period; or

- would satisfy the maximum net asset value test in section 152-15 throughout the IVS period.

See subsection 727-470(2).

727-105 Ultimate controller test

It must be the case that, at some time during the *IVS period:

- (a) the *losing entity and the *gaining entity have the same *ultimate controller; or
- (b) the ultimate controller of the losing entity is the same entity that was the ultimate controller of the gaining entity at a different time during that period; or
- (c) the gaining entity is the ultimate controller of the losing entity; or
- (d) the losing entity is the ultimate controller of the gaining entity.

For the concept of IVS period, see section 727-150.

For the concept of ultimate controller, see section 727-350.

727-110 Common-ownership nexus test (if both losing and gaining entities are closely held)

- (1) Or, it must be the case that:
  - (a) at some time during the *IVS period, neither the *losing entity nor the *gaining entity has 300 or more members (in the case of a company) or 300 or more beneficiaries (in the case of a trust); and
  - (b) the losing entity and the gaining entity have a *common-ownership nexus within the IVS period.

For the concept of IVS period, see section 727-150.

For the concept of common-ownership nexus, see section 727-400.

- (2) Section 124-810 (under which certain companies and trusts are not regarded as having 300 or more members or beneficiaries) also applies for the purposes of this Division.
- (3) In addition, this Division applies to a *non-fixed trust as if it did not have 300 or more beneficiaries.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

727-125 No consequences if losing entity is a superannuation entity

An *indirect value shift has no consequences under this Division if the *losing entity is one of these in relation to the income year in which the indirect value shift happens:

- (a) a *complying superannuation fund; or
- (b) a *non-complying superannuation fund; or
- (c) a *complying approved deposit fund; or
- (d) a *non-complying approved deposit fund; or
- (e) a *pooled superannuation trust.

727-165	Preventing double-counting of economic benefits

727-150 How to determine whether a scheme results in an indirect value shift

- (1) A *scheme can result in one or more *indirect value shifts only if one or more economic benefits have been, are being, or are to be, *provided *in connection with the scheme.
- (2) The question whether the *scheme has that result must be determined by reference to the facts and circumstances that exist at the earliest time (either when the scheme is entered into or later) when it is reasonable to conclude that:
  - (a) all the economic benefits that have been, are being, or are to be, *provided *in connection with the scheme can be identified; and
  - (b) for each of those economic benefits:
    - (i) the entity that has provided, is providing, or is to provide, the economic benefit can be identified; and
    - (ii) the entity to which the economic benefit has been, is being, or is to be, provided can be identified; and

Section 727-150

(iii) if the economic benefit is to be provided—those entities are in existence, and the providing of the economic benefit is not contingent; and

(c) there are no other economic benefits that are to be provided in connection with the scheme if some contingency is met.

That time is called the IVS time for the scheme.

Note: In most cases, the IVS time will be at or soon after the scheme is entered into. However, if:

- direct or indirect interests in a company or trust are realised at a loss when the IVS time for the scheme has not yet happened (even if it never happens); and
- the company or trust has provided, is providing, is to provide, or might provide, economic benefits in connection with the scheme;

there may be consequences for those interests similar to those of an indirect value shift resulting from the scheme. See Subdivision 727-K.

(3) The *scheme results in an indirect value shift from one entity (the losing entity) to another entity (the gaining entity) if the total *market value of the one or more economic benefits (the greater benefits) that the losing entity has *provided, is providing, or is to provide, to the gaining entity *in connection with the scheme exceeds:

(a) the total market value of the one or more economic benefits (lesser benefits) that the gaining entity has provided, is providing, or is to provide, to the losing entity in connection with the scheme; or

(b) if there are no economic benefits covered by paragraph (a)—nil.

That excess is the amount of the indirect value shift.

(4) The *market value of an economic benefit is to be determined as at the earliest time when it is reasonable to conclude that:

- (a) the economic benefit can be identified; and
- (b) paragraph (2)(b) is satisfied for that benefit.

For more rules affecting how the market value of an economic benefit is determined, see Subdivision 727-D.

(5) Neither the *losing entity nor the *gaining entity needs to be a party to the *scheme. A benefit can be provided by act or omission.

---

---

- (6) The indirect value shift happens at the *IVS time.
- (7) The IVS period for a *scheme starts immediately before the scheme is entered into and ends at the *IVS time.
- (8) A contingency that is artificial, or is virtually certain to be met, is treated under this Division as if it had been met.

727-155 Providing economic benefits

Examples

- (1) These are some examples of an entity providing an economic benefit to another entity:
  - (a) the first entity pays an amount to the other entity (in this case the *market value of the benefit is the amount of the payment);
  - (b) the first entity provides an asset or services to the other entity;
  - (c) the first entity does something that creates an asset in the hands of the other entity (for example, a company issues shares to its members);
  - (d) the first entity incurs a liability to the other entity, or increases a liability it already owes to the other entity;
  - (e) the first entity terminates all or part of a liability owed by the other entity;
  - (f) the first entity does something that increases the market value of an asset that the other entity holds.
- (2) These examples are not intended to limit the meaning of providing an economic benefit.

Things treated as economic benefits

- (3) This Division applies as if the ending of:
  - (a) a *primary equity interest or *secondary equity interest in an entity; or
  - (b) a right that the owner of a *primary equity interest or *secondary equity interest in an entity has because of owning the interest; were an economic benefit that the owner of the interest provides to that entity.

727-160 When an economic benefit is provided *in connection with a scheme

- (1) An economic benefit has been, is being, is to be, or might be, *provided by an entity to another entity in connection with a *scheme if, and only if:
  - (a) the benefit has been, is being, is to be, or might be, provided under the scheme; or
  - (b) the providing of the benefit is reasonably attributable to:
    - (i) something that has been, is being, is to be, or might be, done or omitted under the scheme (whether before, at the time of, or after, the providing of the benefit) by an entity that is either of those entities or a third entity; or
    - (ii) 2 or more such things.
- (2) An entity referred to in paragraph (1)(b) need not be a party to the *scheme. A benefit can be provided by act or omission.

727-165 Preventing double-counting of economic benefits

Rights to have economic benefits provided

- (1) If an economic benefit that has been, is being, is to be, or might be, *provided as mentioned in subsection 727-150(3) or 727-855(1) consists of a right to have economic benefits provided, that subsection applies to the right but does not also apply to those economic benefits.

Example: Acme Ltd enters into an agreement with Paragon Pty Ltd under which Acme is to provide services to Paragon over a 5 year period in return for payments.

Paragon's rights under the agreement are economic benefits that Acme provides to Paragon when the agreement is made. The services are economic benefits that Acme is to provide to Paragon.

Because of this subsection, the market value of the rights is taken into account in working out whether there has been an indirect value shift, but the market value of the services is not.

Section 727-200

Effect of an economic benefit on interests in the entity to which it is provided

- (2) If an economic benefit has been, is being, or is to be, *provided to an entity, then, for the purposes of subsection 727-150(3) or 727-855(1), disregard an economic benefit to the extent that:
- (a) it consists of an increase in the *market value of:
    - (i) an *equity or loan interest in the entity; or
    - (ii) an *indirect equity or loan interest in the entity; and
  - (b) the increase is reasonably attributable to the first-mentioned benefit.

Subdivision 727-C—Exclusions*Guide to Subdivision 727-C*727-200 What this Subdivision is about

Some indirect value shifts do not have consequences under this Division.

Note 1: If the consequences of an indirect value shift are to be worked out using the realisation time method (under Subdivision 727-G), there are further exclusions for certain 95% services indirect value shifts: see section 727-700.

Note 2: For cases where there may be both a direct value shift and an indirect value shift, see Subdivision 727-L.

General

727-215 Amount does not exceed $50,000

- (1) An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if the amount of it does not exceed $50,000.
- (2) However, subsection (1) does not apply to an *indirect value shift (and is taken never to have applied to it) if:
  - (a) before, at the same time as, or after it, another indirect value shift happens for which the same entity is the losing entity as for the first indirect value shift; and
  - (b) having regard to all relevant circumstances, it is reasonable to conclude that the sole or main reason why one of the indirect value shifts happened under a different *scheme from the other was so that its amount would not exceed $50,000.

727-220 Disposal of asset at cost, or at undervalue if full value is not reflected in adjustable values of equity or loan interests in the losing entity

- (1) An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if the conditions in this section are met.
- (2) The *greater benefits must consist entirely of:
  - (a) the *losing entity transferring a *CGT asset to the *gaining entity; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) a right to have the losing entity transfer an asset to the gaining entity.
- (3) There must be *lesser benefits and, as at the *IVS time, the total *market value of the lesser benefits must not be less than the greatest of these amounts:
- (a) the asset's *cost base at that time;
  - (b) the asset's cost;
  - (c) the asset's market value immediately before the most recent time (if any), since the *losing entity *acquired the asset, when an *affected owner has acquired:
    - (i) a *primary equity interest in the losing entity; or
    - (ii) an *indirect primary equity interest in the losing entity.
- (4) A *primary equity interest in an entity is an indirect primary equity interest in another entity if, and only if:
- (a) the first entity owns a primary equity interest in the other entity; or
  - (b) the first entity owns a primary equity interest that is an indirect primary equity interest in the other entity because of one or more other applications of this subsection.

Indirect value shifts involving services

727-230 Services provided by losing entity to gaining entity for at least their direct cost

An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if:

- (a) to the extent of at least 95% of their total *market value, the *greater benefits consist entirely of:
  - (i) a right to have services that are covered by section 727-240 provided directly by the losing entity to the gaining entity; or
  - (ii) services that are covered by section 727-240 and have been, are being, or are to be, so provided; or both; and

- (b) there are *lesser benefits and, as at the *IVS time, the total market value of the lesser benefits is not less than the total of:
  - (i) the present value of the direct cost to the losing entity of providing the services; and
  - (ii) the present value of a reasonable allocation of the total direct cost to the losing entity of providing services that include the first-mentioned services (so far as it is not already covered by subparagraph (i)).

To work out the costs and present values referred to in paragraph (b), see section 727-245.

727-235 Services provided by gaining entity to losing entity for no more than a commercially realistic price

- (1) An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if:
  - (a) there are *lesser benefits and, to the extent of at least 95% of their total *market value, the lesser benefits consist entirely of:
    - (i) a right to have services that are covered by section 727-240 provided directly by the gaining entity to the losing entity; or
    - (ii) services that are covered by section 727-240 and have been, are being, or are to be, so provided;or both; and
  - (b) as at the *IVS time, the total market value of the greater benefits is not more than the total of:
    - (i) the present value of the direct cost to the gaining entity of providing the services; and
    - (ii) the present value of a reasonable allocation of the total direct cost to the gaining entity of providing services that include the first-mentioned services (so far as it is not already covered by subparagraph (i)); and
    - (iii) the present value of a reasonable allocation of the indirect cost to the gaining entity of providing the first-mentioned services; and
    - (iv) the mark-up worked out under subsection (2) or (3) of this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 727-240

To work out the costs and present values referred to in paragraph (1)(b), see section 727-245.

- (2) If it is reasonable to estimate that an entity providing the same quantity of services of the same kind in the same market would charge for them on the basis of a particular percentage mark-up, or on the basis of a percentage mark-up within a particular range, the mark-up for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(b)(iv) is:
- the total of the respective present values of the costs mentioned in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i), (ii) and (iii);
- multiplied by:
- that percentage mark-up, or the highest percentage in that range.
- (3) Otherwise, the mark-up for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(b)(iv) is 10% of the total of the respective present values of the costs mentioned in subparagraphs (1)(b)(i), (ii) and (iii).

727-240 What services certain provisions apply to

- (1) Sections 727-230, 727-235, 727-700 and 727-725 apply only to services consisting of:
- (a) doing work (including professional work and giving professional advice or any other kind of advice); or
- Note: Examples include accounting or legal services; advertising services and financial management services.
- (b) providing (including allowing use of) facilities for entertainment, recreation or instruction; or
  - (c) leasing, renting, hiring, or allowing the use of, any asset; or
  - (d) packaging, transporting or storing any property; or
  - (e) providing insurance; or
  - (f) services provided, by a banker to a customer, in the course of the banker carrying on the business of banking; or
  - (g) lending money or providing any other form of financial accommodation.
- (2) It does not matter whether services covered by paragraph (1)(a) also involve supplying property.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 727-245

---

727-245 How to work out certain amounts for the purposes of sections 727-230 and 727-235

- (1) The costs mentioned in paragraph 727-230(b) or 727-235(1)(b) are to be worked out:
  - (a) in accordance with generally accepted accounting practices; and
  - (b) to the extent that the services are to be provided in the future, on the basis of a reasonable estimate of those costs.
- (2) To avoid doubt, the direct cost or indirect cost mentioned in paragraph 727-230(b) or 727-235(1)(b) does not include:
  - (a) to the extent that the services consist of or include lending money or providing any other form of financial accommodation—the amount of the loan or other accommodation; or
  - (b) to the extent that the services consist of or include leasing, renting, hiring, or allowing the use of, any asset:
    - (i) the cost of acquiring the asset; or
    - (ii) the cost of acquiring an interest in, or right in respect of, the asset in order to provide the services.

Example: Acme Ltd is the holding company of Group Financier Pty Ltd. Group Financier Pty Ltd borrows $20 million at 7% per annum, and on lends it to other subsidiaries of Acme Ltd at 8% per annum.

The $20 million does not form part of Group Financier Pty Ltd's direct cost of the services it provides to the other subsidiaries in the form of the on lending. However, the 7% interest that Group Financier Pty Ltd pays on the $20 million does form part of that direct cost.

- (3) The present values mentioned in paragraph 727-230(b) or 727-235(1)(b) are to be worked out using a discount rate equal to the rate that, for the purposes of section 109N of Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, is the benchmark interest rate for the income year in which the *IVS time occurs.

Note: That section is about distributions to entities connected with a private company.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Anti-overlap provisions*727-250 Distribution by an entity to a member or beneficiary

- (1) An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if:
- (a) the *greater benefits consist entirely of:
    - (i) a distribution of income or capital that the *losing entity makes to the *gaining entity; or
    - (ii) a right to a distribution of income or capital that the losing entity is to make to the gaining entity; because the gaining entity holds *primary equity interests in the losing entity; and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) an amount covered by one or more of subsections (2), (3) and (4); or
    - (ii) the total of 2 or more such amounts; equals or exceeds the amount of the distribution.

Conditions

- (2) This subsection covers an amount that the assessable income or exempt income of the gaining entity for any income year includes because of the distribution or right.
- (3) This subsection covers an amount by which the *cost base or *reduced cost base (or both) of some or all of the *primary equity interests referred to in subsection (1) changes because of the distribution or right.
- (4) This subsection covers an amount that, because of the distribution or right, is taken into account:
  - (a) under section 116-20 in working out the *capital proceeds of a *CGT event that happens during any income year to some or all of the *primary equity interests referred to in subsection (1); or
  - (b) in working out a *capital gain that an entity makes from CGT event E4 or G1 happening during any income year to some or all of those primary equity interests; or

Application of section to deemed dividend

- (5) If a *corporate tax entity makes a *distribution that is not otherwise a distribution of income or capital, this section applies as if the distribution were a distribution of income or capital the entity made.

Note: Subsection (5) extends this section to cover something that is taken to be a dividend paid by a company. Compare item 1 of the table in subsection 960-120(1).

Miscellaneous

727-260 Shift down a wholly-owned chain of entities

- (1) An *indirect value shift does not have consequences under this Division if the *gaining entity is a *wholly-owned subsidiary of the *losing entity throughout the *IVS period.

Exception: impact on market value of primary loan interest

- (2) However, subsection (1) does not apply if the *indirect value shift has produced a *disaggregated attributable decrease, in the *market value of an *affected interest in the *losing entity that is also a *primary loan interest in an entity covered by subsection (3), for the owner of the interest.
- (3) This subsection covers:
- (a) the *losing entity; and
  - (b) an entity that owns *primary equity interests in an entity that this subsection covers because of one or more previous applications of it.

Subdivision 727-D—Working out the market value of economic benefits

Table of sections

727-300	What the rules in this Subdivision are for
727-315	Transfer, for its adjustable value, of depreciating asset acquired for less than $1,500,000

727-300 What the rules in this Subdivision are for

This Subdivision is used in determining whether there has been an *indirect value shift and, if so:

- (a) whether it has consequences under this Division; and
- (b) if it does, the amount of it.

727-315 Transfer, for its adjustable value, of depreciating asset acquired for less than $1,500,000

(1) This Division applies to an economic benefit consisting of:

- (a) an entity transferring to another entity a *depreciating asset (except a building or structure) for which the transferring entity has deducted or can deduct an amount under Division 40; or
- (b) a right to have an entity transfer such a depreciating asset to another entity;

as if the economic benefit's *market value were equal to the greater (the residual value) of:

- (c) the asset's *adjustable value at the time when the economic benefit was or is *provided; and
- (d) the value assigned to the asset at that time in the transferring entity's books;

but only if:

- (e) as at that time, the *cost of the unit to the transferring entity is less than $1,500,000; and
- (f) it is reasonable for the transferring entity to conclude that the unit's actual market value at that time was, is, or will be, not less than 80%, and not more than 120%, of the residual value; and

- (g) both the transferring entity and the other entity choose to have the market value of that economic benefit treated as being equal to the residual value.

(2) If:

- (a) each of 2 or more economic benefits of the kind mentioned in subsection (1) has been, is being, is to be, or might be, provided by the same transferring entity, to the same other entity, *in connection with the same *scheme; and
- (b) it is reasonable for the transferring entity to conclude that the total of the *depreciating assets' actual *market values at the respective times when the economic benefits were or are *provided was, is, or will be, not less than 80%, and not more than 120%, of the total of their respective residual values under subsection (1); paragraph (1)(f) is taken to be satisfied for each of the economic benefits.

- (b) if the entity, or the entity and its *associates between them, have the right to receive (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) at least 40% of any distribution of trust income, or trust capital.

727-370 Preventing double counting for percentage stake tests

If an interest giving an entity, or an entity and its *associates:

- (a) the ability to exercise, or control the exercise of, any of the voting power in a company; or
- (b) the right to receive dividends that a company may pay; or
- (c) the right to receive a distribution of capital of a company; or
- (d) the right to receive a distribution of trust income or trust capital; is both direct and indirect, and (apart from this section) would be counted more than once in applying subsection 727-355(1) or (2) or section 727-360, only the direct interest is to be counted.

727-375 Tests in this Subdivision are exhaustive

An entity does not control (for value shifting purposes) a company or trust except as provided in this Subdivision.

Common-ownership nexus and ultimate stake of a particular percentage

727-400 When 2 entities have a common-ownership nexus within a period

- (1) 2 entities have a common-ownership nexus within a period if, and only if, they satisfy the test in any of the one or more items in the table applicable to them.

Item	If the entities are:	This is the test:
5	a *fixed trust and a *non-fixed trust	There must be 2 or more *ultimate owners: (a) each of whom *controls (for value shifting purposes) the non-fixed trust because of section 727-365 at the same time during that period; and (b) who, at that or a different time during that period, have *ultimate stakes, of percentages totalling at least 80%, in the fixed trust because of the same test in section 727-410

---

Additional condition about profile of percentage ultimate stakes held by 2 or more ultimate owners

- (2) In order to satisfy the test in item 1, 2 or 3 in the table in subsection (1), at least one of subsections (3), (4) and (5) must be satisfied.
- (3) For at least one of the *ultimate owners referred to in that item, the percentage of the *ultimate stake that owner has as mentioned in paragraph (a) in the last column of that item must be at least 40%, and so must the percentage of the ultimate stake that owner has as mentioned in paragraph (b) in the last column of that item.
- (4) Alternatively, for each of those *ultimate owners, the percentage of the *ultimate stake that owner has as mentioned in that paragraph (a) must be the same as the percentage of the ultimate stake that owner has as mentioned in that paragraph (b).
- (5) Alternatively, the number of those *ultimate owners must not exceed 16.

727-405 Ultimate stake of a particular percentage in a company

- (1) This section sets out 3 tests of whether an entity has an ultimate stake of a particular percentage (the test percentage) in a company.

Note: In applying the tests, follow the rules in section 727-415.

Voting power

- (2) The first test is that, after tracing, to the *ultimate owners who ultimately hold it, the direct and indirect ownership of all *shares in the company that carry the right to exercise voting power in the company, that ownership is held by the entity to the extent of the test percentage of that voting power.

Dividends

- (3) The second test is that, after tracing, to the *ultimate owners who ultimately hold it, the direct and indirect ownership of all *shares in the company that carry the right to receive any dividends that the company may pay, that ownership is held by the entity to the extent of the test percentage of those dividends.

Capital distributions

- (4) The third test is that, after tracing, to the *ultimate owners who ultimately hold it, the direct and indirect ownership of all *shares in the company that carry the right to receive any distribution of capital of the company, that ownership is held by the entity to the extent of the test percentage of the distribution.

Certain shares ignored

- (5) In tracing the ownership of *shares in a company, ignore *shares whose *dividends can reasonably be regarded as being equivalent to the payment of interest on a loan having regard to:
- (a) how the dividends are calculated; and
  - (b) the conditions applying to the payment of the dividends; and
  - (c) any other relevant matters.

727-410 Ultimate stake of a particular percentage in a fixed trust

- (1) This section sets out 2 tests of whether an entity has an ultimate stake of a particular percentage (the test percentage) in a *fixed trust.

Capital distributions

- (3) The second test is that, after tracing, to the *ultimate owners who ultimately hold them, the direct and indirect rights to receive distributions of trust capital, those rights are held by the entity to the extent of the test percentage of each such distribution.

727-415 Rules for tracing

- (1) In applying sections 727-400, 727-405 and 727-410, follow the rules in this section.

Interposed entities

- (2) Tracing is to be done through any interposed entities.

Ownership or rights held jointly

- (3) If some of the ownership or rights of a particular kind in relation to a company or trust are held by 2 or more entities jointly or in common, each of the entities is treated as holding a proportion of the ownership or rights so held. The proportion is to be worked out on a reasonable basis, so that the total of the proportions equals the total of the ownership or rights so held.

Ownership or rights held by associate

- (4) If, at a particular time:

- (c) to the extent of a particular percentage, may be treated as being instead held by the other ultimate owner; and
  - (d) to the extent so treated, cannot be treated as being instead held by any other ultimate owner of whom the first ultimate owner is an associate.
- (5) If one or more applications of subsection (4) are necessary to establish that an *ultimate owner is one of 2 or more ultimate owners because of whom the conditions in an item in the table in section 727-400 are satisfied, that subsection must be applied accordingly.

Subdivision 727-F—Consequences of an indirect value shift

Guide to Subdivision 727-F

727-450 What this Subdivision is about

- which interests, and which owners, are affected.

Operative provisions

727-455 Consequences of the indirect value shift

The consequences (if any) of an *indirect value shift must be worked out using the *realisation time method unless the *adjustable value method is chosen in accordance with section 727-550.

Note: Later provisions of this Subdivision set out the interests to which those consequences apply (see sections 727-460 to 727-525), which are in turn determined by who are the affected owners (see section 727-530).

Affected interests

727-460 *Affected interests in the losing entity

These are the affected interests in the *losing entity:

- (a) each *equity or loan interest that an *affected owner owns in the losing entity immediately before the *IVS time; and
- (b) each equity or loan interest that:
  - (i) an affected owner owns in another affected owner immediately before the IVS time; and
  - (ii) is an *indirect equity or loan interest in the losing entity; (except one covered by an exception in section 727-470).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

727-465 Affected interests in the gaining entity

If immediately before the *IVS time the *gaining entity is a company or trust (except one listed in section 727-125 (about superannuation entities)), these are the affected interests in the gaining entity:

- (a) each *equity or loan interest that an *affected owner owns in the gaining entity immediately before the *IVS time; and
- (b) each equity or loan interest that:
  - (i) an affected owner owns in another affected owner immediately before the IVS time; and
  - (ii) is an *indirect equity or loan interest in the gaining entity;

(except one covered by an exception in section 727-470).

727-470 ExceptionsMere active participants*

- (1) An *equity or loan interest that an *active participant in the *scheme owns in another active participant immediately before the *IVS time is not an *affected interest in the *losing entity or in the *gaining entity unless one of the active participants is also covered by 1, 2, 3 or 4 in the table in subsection 727-530(1) (about who is an affected owner).

Entity that is a small business entity, or satisfies the maximum net asset value test for small business relief

- (2) An *equity or loan interest that an entity (the owner) owns immediately before the *IVS time is not an *affected interest in the *losing entity or in the *gaining entity if the owner:
  - (a) is a *small business entity for each income year that includes any of the *IVS period; or
  - (b) would satisfy the maximum net asset value test in section 152-15 throughout the *IVS period.
- (3) If the owner is not in existence for part of the *IVS period, disregard that part in applying subsection (2).

727-520 Equity or loan interest and related terms

- (1) An equity or loan interest in an entity is a *primary interest, or a *secondary interest, in the entity.
- (2) A primary interest in an entity is a *primary equity interest, or a *primary loan interest, in the entity.
- (3) The meaning of primary equity interest in an entity is set out in the table.

- (a) to *acquire an existing *primary equity interest in the entity;
  - or
  - (b) to have the entity issue a new primary equity interest.

- (a) to *acquire an existing *primary loan interest in the entity; or
  - (b) to have the entity issue a new primary loan interest.

727-525 Indirect equity or loan interest

An *equity or loan interest in an entity is an indirect equity or loan interest in another entity if, and only if:

- (b) the first entity owns an equity or loan interest that is an indirect equity or loan interest in the other entity because of one or more other applications of this section.

Note: Subsections 727-110(2) and (3) contain rules about when an entity is treated as having or not having 300 or more members or beneficiaries.

Choices about method to be used

727-550 Choosing the adjustable value method

- (1) This section sets out rules for:
- (a) choosing to use the *adjustable value method to work out the consequences of an *indirect value shift; or

Item	In this case:	The choice must be made by:
1	If the conditions in section 727-110 (common-ownership nexus test) are satisfied	jointly by the *ultimate owners because of whom the condition in the applicable item of the table in section 727-400 is satisfied
2	Item 1 does not apply, and there is an entity: (a) who is the sole *ultimate controller because of whom the conditions in section 727-105 (ultimate controller test) are satisfied; or (b) who would be that sole ultimate controller if sections 727-355 to 727-375 were applied ignoring that entity's *associates	that entity
3	Neither of items 1 and 2 applies	jointly by the 2 or more *ultimate controllers because of whom the conditions in section 727-105 (ultimate controller test) are satisfied

---

When choice must be made

- (3) The choice must be made within 2 years after the first *realisation event that happens to an *affected interest at or after the IVS time.

727-555 Giving other affected owners information about the choice

- (1) An entity that makes a choice under section 727-550 (including a choice made jointly with one or more other entities) must inform all entities that it knows to be *affected owners for the *indirect value shift about the content of the choice. The entity must do so in writing within one month after making the choice.

Penalty: 30 penalty units.

- (2) If:
- (a) a choice under section 727-550 is made jointly by 2 or more entities; and
  - (b) one of the entities complies with subsection (1);
- no other entity need comply with that subsection in relation to that choice.
- (3) If an *affected owner for an *indirect value shift has reason to believe that an entity may have made a choice under section 727-550 (including a choice made jointly with one or more other entities), the affected owner may give the entity a written notice asking whether the entity has made such a choice.
- (4) Within one month after receiving a notice under subsection (3), an entity must inform the *affected owner in writing whether the entity has made a choice under section 727-550 and, if so, about the content of the choice.

Penalty: 30 penalty units.

- (5) The Commissioner may extend the period for complying with a provision of this section.

727-600 What this Subdivision is about

Under the realisation time method:

- losses on realisation of affected interests in the losing entity are reduced; and
- gains on realisation of affected interests in the gaining entity are reduced, within limits worked out by reference to the reductions in losses on affected interests in the losing entity; and
- certain 95% services indirect value shifts are disregarded.

This Subdivision also explains how its reduction of a loss or gain affects CGT assets, trading stock and revenue assets.

727-615	Reduction of loss on realisation event for affected interest in losing entity

- (1) This Subdivision sets out the realisation time method of working out the consequences (if any) of an *indirect value shift.
- (2) If those consequences are to be worked out using that method, this Subdivision applies to each *realisation event:
  - (a) by which a loss would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes; and
  - (b) that happens to an *affected interest in the *losing entity; and
  - (c) that is the first realisation event that happens to that interest at or after the *IVS time; and
  - (d) that happens:
    - (i) if the amount of the indirect value shift is $500,000 or more—at any time after the IVS time; or

- (3) If:

  - (b) the *gaining entity is a company or trust (except one listed in section 727-125 (about superannuation entities)) immediately before the *IVS time;

- (d) that happens to an *affected interest in the *gaining entity;
and
  - (e) that is the first realisation event that happens to that interest at or after the IVS time.
- (4) The consequences for the *affected interest depend on its character. There are consequences for the interest in its character as a *CGT asset. However, if the interest is also *trading stock or a *revenue asset, there are additional consequences for it in that character.
- (5) In working out the consequences for an *affected interest in the *losing entity or *gaining entity, in the interest's character as *trading stock, a *realisation event is disregarded for the purposes of identifying under paragraph (2)(c) or (3)(e) the first realisation event that happens to that interest at or after the *IVS time, if:
- (a) the realisation event consists of the ending of an income year;
and
  - (b) the *value of the interest as trading stock on hand of an entity at the end of the income year is the interest's *cost; and
  - (c) the interest became part of the entity's trading stock on hand during that income year, or the value of the interest as trading stock of the entity on hand at the start of the income year was also the interest's cost.

727-615 Reduction of loss on realisation event for affected interest in losing entity

If this Subdivision applies to a *realisation event that happens to an *affected interest in the *losing entity, a loss that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the event is reduced by an amount that is reasonable having regard to:

- (a) a reasonable estimate of the amount (if any) by which the *indirect value shift has reduced the interest's *market value;
and
- (b) if the interest is also an affected interest in the *gaining entity—a reasonable estimate of the extent (if any) to which the interest's market value at the time of the realisation event still reflects the effect of the indirect value shift on the market value of *equity or loan interests in the gaining entity.

727-620 Reduction of gain on realisation event for affected interest in gaining entity

If this Subdivision applies to a *realisation event that happens to an *affected interest in the *gaining entity, a gain that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the event is reduced by an amount that is reasonable having regard to:

- (a) a reasonable estimate of the amount (if any) by which the *indirect value shift has increased the interest's *market value; and
- (b) a reasonable estimate of the extent (if any) to which the interest's market value at the time of the realisation event still reflects the effect of the indirect value shift on the market value of *equity or loan interests in the gaining entity.

727-625 Total gain reductions not to exceed total loss reductions

- (1) This section ensures that the total (total gain reductions) of the amounts by which section 727-620 reduces gains *realised for income tax purposes by *realisation events happening at the same time does not exceed the total (total loss reductions) of:
  - (a) the amounts by which section 727-615 reduces losses that:
    - (i) would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by *realisation events happening before or at that time; and
    - (ii) have not already been taken into account in a previous application of this section; and
  - (b) the amounts by which section 727-850 (as applying to the *scheme from which the *indirect value shift results) reduces losses that:
    - (i) would, apart from this Division, be realised for income tax purposes by realisation events happening before the *IVS time to *equity or loan interests, or *indirect equity or loan interests, in the *losing entity; and
    - (ii) have not already been taken into account in a previous application of this section.
- (2) If, apart from this section, the total gain reductions would exceed the total loss reductions, the amount by which section 727-620 reduces each of the gains is itself reduced by the amount worked out using this formula:

$$\frac{(\text{Total gain reductions} - \text{Total loss reductions})}{\text{Number of interests}}$$ number of interests means the number of \*affected interests in the \*gaining entity to which \*realisation events happened at that time.

727-630 How cap in section 727-625 applies if affected interest is also trading stock or a revenue asset

- (1) This section affects how to work out the total gain reductions and the total loss reductions for the purposes of section 727-625 if:
- (a) a *realisation event covered by that section happens to an *equity or loan interest, or to an *indirect equity or loan interest, in the *losing entity or in the *gaining entity; and
  - (b) the interest is also *trading stock or a *revenue asset at the time of the event.

Trading stock

- (2) In the case of an *equity or loan interest, or an *indirect equity or loan interest, in the *losing entity that is *trading stock at that time:
- (a) the amount (if any) by which section 727-615 or 727-850 reduces a loss worked out under section 977-25 or 977-30 (about realisation events for trading stock) that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the event is taken into account; and
  - (b) the amount (if any) by which section 727-615 or 727-850 reduces a loss worked out under section 977-10 (about realisation events for CGT assets) that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the event is not taken into account;

If an *equity or loan interest in the *losing entity or in the *gaining entity is split into 2 or more equity or loan interests at or after the *IVS time:

- (a) each of the 2 or more interests inherits whatever characteristics would have been relevant to applying this Subdivision to the first interest if the split had not happened; and
- (b) those characteristics include characteristics the first interest has inherited because of any other application or applications of this section or section 727-640; and
- (c) if a characteristic of the first interest involves an amount or quantity, the amount or quantity for that characteristic as inherited by each of the 2 or more interests is a reasonable proportion of the amount or quantity for that characteristic of the first interest.

727-640 Merging equity or loan interests

If 2 or more *equity or loan interests (the original interests) in the *losing entity or in the *gaining entity are merged into 1 or more *equity or loan interests (the new interests) at or after the *IVS time:

- (a) each of the new interests inherits whatever characteristics would have been relevant to applying this Subdivision to the original interests if the merging had not happened; and

727-645 Effect of CGT roll-over

(1) If:

- (a) this Subdivision applies to a *realisation event that is a *CGT event that happens to an *affected interest in the *losing entity; and
- (b) section 727-615 reduces a loss that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the CGT event; and
- (c) there is a roll-over for the CGT event;

the interest's *reduced cost base at the time of the CGT event is taken to have been reduced by the amount by which section 727-615 reduces that loss, but is so taken only for the purposes of working out:

- (d) the interest's reduced cost base, from time to time after the roll-over, for the entity that *acquired the interest because of the CGT event; and
- (e) in the case of a *replacement-asset roll-over—the reduced cost base of the replacement CGT asset, from time to time after the roll-over, for the entity that *disposed of the interest.

Note: Because of the roll-over, the loss reduction under section 727-615 will have no tax effect. This subsection ensures that the loss reduction is passed on, through the reduction in reduced cost base, to prevent or reduce a loss arising on a later CGT event.

(2) If:

- (a) this Subdivision applies to a *realisation event that is a *CGT event that happens to an *affected interest in the *gaining entity; and
- (b) section 727-620 reduces a gain that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the CGT event; and
- (c) there is a roll-over for the CGT event;

the interest's *cost base at the time of the CGT event is taken to have been uplifted by the amount by which section 727-620 reduces that gain, but is so taken only for the purposes of working out:

Further exclusion for certain 95% services indirect value shifts if realisation time method must be used

727-700 When 95% services indirect value shift is excluded

- (1) If the *indirect value shift is a *95% services indirect value shift, this Subdivision does not apply to a *realisation event that:
  - (a) happens to an *affected interest in the *losing entity that is owned by an entity (the owner); and
  - (b) is covered by subsection 727-610(2);unless:
  - (c) the conditions in section 727-705 are met for the indirect value shift; or
  - (d) the conditions in section 727-710, 727-715 or 727-720 are met for the indirect value shift and for that realisation event.
- (2) An *indirect value shift is a 95% services indirect value shift if, and only if, to the extent of at least 95% of their total *market value, the *greater benefits consist entirely of:
  - (a) a right to have services that are covered by section 727-240 provided directly by the *losing entity to the *gaining entity; or
  - (b) services that are covered by section 727-240 and have been, are being, or are to be, so provided;or both.
- (3) This section does not limit any other exclusion in this Subdivision or in Subdivision 727-C.

95% services indirect value shifts that are not excluded*727-705 Another provision of the income tax law affects amount related to services by at least $100,000

The conditions in this section are met if:

- (a) the *losing entity or the *gaining entity lodges an *income tax return for an income year during some or all of which the owner owned the interest; and
- (b) a provision of this Act:
  - (i) reduces or excludes an amount that is included in the return; or
  - (ii) increases an amount that is so included; or
  - (iii) includes an amount not included in the return;for the purposes of working out the taxable income, a *tax loss, or a *net capital loss, of that entity for that income year; and
- (c) the amount is related to the right mentioned in paragraph 727-700(2)(a), or to some or all of the services mentioned in paragraph 727-700(2)(a) or (b), from the point of view of the losing entity providing the services or of the gaining entity receiving them; and
- (d) if the amount is so reduced or increased—the reduction or increase is at least $100,000; and
- (e) if the amount is so excluded or included—the amount is at least $100,000; and
- (f) at some time after the return is lodged, the entity that lodged it is aware, or ought reasonably to be aware, of the reduction, exclusion, increase or inclusion.

Example: If the Commissioner has notified an entity affected by a determination under Part IVA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, the entity ought reasonably to be aware of the effect of the determination.

727-710 Ongoing or recent service arrangement reduces value of losing entity by at least $100,000

- (1) Either or both of these must be true:
  - (a) when the *realisation event mentioned in subsection 727-700(1) happens, some or all of the services mentioned in paragraph 727-700(2)(a) or (b) have not yet been provided; or
  - (b) some or all of those services have been provided in the income year (of the *losing entity) in which the realisation event happens, or in the previous income year.
- (2) It must be reasonable to conclude that the total (the total market value) of the *market values, immediately before the *realisation event, of *primary interests in the *losing entity then owned by *affected owners is less than it would have been if none of the following had happened:
  - (a) the *95% services indirect value shift; and
  - (b) all other *predominantly-services indirect value shifts that satisfy subsection (1) (or that would satisfy it if they were *95% services indirect value shifts).
- (3) It must also be reasonable to conclude that the total *market value is less than it would have been by at least:
  - (a) $100,000, if the total of the *adjustable values, immediately before the *realisation event, of the *primary interests referred to in subsection (2) is less than or equal to $2,000,000; or
  - (b) 5% of the total of those *adjustable values, if that total is greater than $2,000,000 and less than or equal to $10,000,000; or
  - (c) $500,000, if that total is greater than $10,000,000.
- (4) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3), disregard an *indirect value shift referred to in paragraph (2)(a) or (b) if services are provided directly by the *losing entity to the *gaining entity under the *scheme before the income year (of the losing entity) before the one in which the *realisation event happened.

727-715 Service arrangements reduce value of losing entity that is a group service provider by at least $500,000

- (1) At some time during the period (the ownership period) when the owner owned the interest, the sole or dominant activity of the *losing entity must consist of providing services directly to one or more entities (the group entities) each of which is covered by one or more of the following paragraphs:
- (a) the *gaining entity;

  - (c) an entity that has at that time the same *ultimate controller as the losing entity or the gaining entity;
  - (d) if the conditions in section 727-110 (common-ownership nexus test) are satisfied for the *indirect value shift—an entity that has with the losing entity or with the gaining entity a *common-ownership nexus within that period.
- (2) It must be reasonable to conclude that the total (the total market value) of the *market values, immediately before the *realisation event, of *primary interests in the *losing entity then owned by *affected owners is less than it would have been if none of the following had happened:
- (a) the *95% services indirect value shift; and

Under the adjustable value method:

- the adjustable values of affected interests in the losing entity are reduced; and

- the adjustable values of affected interests in the gaining entity are uplifted, within limits worked out by references to the reductions in the adjustable values of affected interests in the losing entity.

The consequences of that are:

- the cost base and reduced cost base of the interests are reduced or uplifted (or both); and
- if the interests are also trading stock or revenue assets, there are further consequences for them in their character as such.

  - (b) if the *gaining entity is a company or trust (except one listed in section 727-125 (about superannuation entities)) immediately before the *IVS time, the *adjustable value of each *affected interest in the *gaining entity is uplifted as provided in this Subdivision.
- (3) The consequences for the *affected interest depend on its character. There are consequences for the interest in its character as a *CGT asset. However, if the interest is also *trading stock or a *revenue asset, there are additional consequences for it in that character.

Reductions of adjustable value

727-770 Reduction under the adjustable value method

- (1) This section sets out how to work out the amount (if any) by which the *adjustable value of an *affected interest in the *losing entity is reduced.
- (2) First, work out under section 727-775 whether the *indirect value shift has produced for the owner of the interest a *disaggregated attributable decrease in the *market value of the interest.
- (3) If it has not, the interest's *adjustable value is not reduced because of the *indirect value shift.
- (4) If it has, the amount (if any) by which the interest's *adjustable value is reduced is worked out on a *loss-focussed basis under section 727-780.
- (5) However, if a choice is made in accordance with section 727-550 for the reduction not to be worked out on a *loss-focussed basis, the reduction is equal to the *disaggregated attributable decrease.

Reduction not to exceed reasonable amount

- (6) If the reduction worked out as provided in subsection (4) or (5) is not reasonable in the circumstances, having regard to the objects of

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 727-775

this Division, the interest's *adjustable value is instead reduced by so much of that reduction as is reasonable in the circumstances, having regard to those objects.

Note: The main object of this Division is set out in section 727-95.

727-775 Has there been a disaggregated attributable decrease?

- (1) This section sets out how to determine whether an *indirect value shift has produced, for the owner of an *equity or loan interest, a disaggregated attributable decrease in the *market value of the interest and, if so, the amount of it.
- (2) Work out the *market value of the interest at the *IVS time, but disregarding:
  - (a) all effects on the market value of the interest during the *IVS period, except effects that are reasonably attributable to the *indirect value shift; and
  - (b) the effects (if any) of the indirect value shift on the market value of *equity or loan interests, or *indirect equity or loan interests, in the gaining entity.

(This result is called the notional resulting market value.)

Note: Paragraph (2)(b) is necessary because the market value of the interest may also have been affected by the increase in the market value of interests in the gaining entity, because the entity in which the interest is held had direct or indirect interests in both the losing entity and the gaining entity.

In such a case, the reduction in adjustable value under this Division will usually be offset by an uplift under this Division.

- (3) If the notional resulting *market value is less than the market value (the old market value) of the interest:
  - (a) at the start of the *IVS period; or
  - (b) if the owner last began to own the interest during that period—when the owner last began to own the interest;
 the difference is the disaggregated attributable decrease.

- (5) The *market value of the interest at a particular time may be worked out under subsection (2) or (3) by making a reasonable estimate of that market value.

727-780 Working out the reduction on a *loss-focussed basis

- (1) Use the table in subsection (2) of this section to work out on a loss-focussed basis the amount (if any) by which the interest's *adjustable value is reduced.
- (2) This involves comparing the old *market value, and the notional resulting market value, with the interest's *adjustable value (the old adjustable value) immediately before the *IVS time.

Reduction under the attributable decrease method
Item	If the old market value:	And the notional resulting market value:	This is the result:
1	is greater than or equal to the old adjustable value	is less than the old adjustable value	the *adjustable value is reduced to the notional resulting market value
2	is greater than or equal to the old adjustable value	is greater than or equal to the old adjustable value	the *adjustable value is not reduced because of the *indirect value shift
3	is less than the old adjustable value	is less than the old adjustable value	the *adjustable value is reduced by the amount of the *disaggregated attributable decrease

Note 1: Because of item 1, the indirect value shift cannot cause a loss to arise on disposal of the interest.

Note 2: Because of item 3 the loss already embedded in the interest is preserved, but the indirect value shift does not increase it.

Uplifts of adjustable value*727-800 Uplift under the attributable increase method

- (1) This section sets out how to work out the amount (if any) by which the *adjustable value of an *affected interest in the *gaining entity is uplifted.
- (2) First, work out under section 727-805 whether the *indirect value shift has produced for the owner of the interest a *disaggregated attributable increase in the *market value of the interest.
- (3) If it has not, the interest's *adjustable value is not uplifted because of the *indirect value shift.
- (4) If it has, the *adjustable value is uplifted by the amount worked out using the scaling-down formula in section 727-810, subject to the rest of this section.

Note: The uplift will be less than or equal to the disaggregated attributable increase.

Cap if interest has both a disaggregated attributable increase and a disaggregated attributable decrease

- (5) If the *indirect value shift has also produced for the owner of the interest a *disaggregated attributable decrease in the *market value of the interest, the interest's *adjustable value:
  - (a) is not uplifted if it is not also reduced under this Division because of the indirect value shift; and
  - (b) if it is also reduced under this Division because of the indirect value shift—is not uplifted by more than the reduction.

Cap based on notional distribution by gaining entity of dividends or capital equal to total reductions in adjustable value of affected interests in losing entity

- (6) However, the interest's *adjustable value is not uplifted by more than the greater of these amounts:

    - (i) the *gaining entity were to pay as *dividends, at the time (the payment time) immediately before the *IVS time, an amount (the total reduction amount) equal to the total of the amounts by which the *adjustable values of *equity or loan interests in the *losing entity are reduced under this Subdivision because of the *indirect value shift; and
    - (ii) those dividends were successively paid or distributed at the payment time by each entity interposed between the gaining entity and that affected owner; and
  - (b) the amount (if any) that the *affected owner of the interest would receive (directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) in respect of the interest if:
    - (i) the gaining entity were to pay the total reduction amount at the payment time as a distribution of capital; and
    - (ii) that capital was successively paid or distributed at the payment time by each entity interposed between the gaining entity and that affected owner.
- (6A) The reduction of *adjustable value that is to be taken into account under subparagraph (6)(a)(i) for an *equity or loan interest in the *losing entity is:
- (a) if the interest is *trading stock immediately before the *IVS time—the one worked out on the basis of the interest's adjustable value under subsection 727-835(2); or
  - (b) otherwise—the greater or greatest of these:
    - (i) the reduction of the interest's *cost base;
    - (ii) the reduction of the interest's *reduced cost base;
    - (iii) the reduction (if any) worked out on the basis of the interest's adjustable value under subsection 727-840(2) (about revenue assets).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Uplift not to exceed reasonable amount

- (7) If the uplift worked out as provided in subsections (4), (5) and (6) is not reasonable in the circumstances, having regard to the objects of this Division, the interest's *adjustable value is instead uplifted by an amount that is reasonable in the circumstances, having regard to those objects.

Note: The main object of this Division is set out in section 727-95.

727-805 Has there been a disaggregated attributable increase?

- (1) This section sets out how to determine whether an *indirect value shift has produced, for the owner of an *equity or loan interest, a disaggregated attributable increase in the *market value of the interest and, if so, the amount of it.
- (2) Make a reasonable estimate of the *market value of the interest at the *IVS time, but disregarding:
- (a) all effects on the market value of the interest during the *IVS period, except effects that are reasonably attributable to the *indirect value shift; and
  - (b) the effects (if any) of the indirect value shift on the market value of *equity or loan interests, or *indirect equity or loan interests, in the losing entity.
- (This result is called the notional resulting market value.)

Note: Paragraph (2)(b) is necessary because the market value of the interest may also have been affected by the decrease in the market value of interests in the losing entity, because the entity in which the interest is held had direct or indirect interests in both the losing entity and the gaining entity.

In such a case, the increase in adjustable value under this Division will usually be offset by a reduction under this Division.

- (3) If the notional resulting market value is greater than a reasonable estimate of the *market value (the old market value) of the interest:
- (a) at the start of the *IVS period; or
  - (b) if the owner last began to own the interest during that period—when the owner last began to own the interest;
- the difference is the disaggregated attributable increase.

Section 727-810

---

- (4) The *indirect value shift has not produced a disaggregated attributable increase for the owner of the interest if the notional resulting market value is less than or equal to the old market value.

727-810 Scaling-down formula

- (1) The scaling-down formula for the purposes of section 727-800 is:

$$\text{The * disaggregated attributable increase} \times \frac{\text{Total reductions for affected interests}}{\text{Total disaggregated attributable decreases}}$$

Note: The numerator in the fraction can never exceed the denominator. This means that the fraction can never exceed 1, so the uplift will never exceed the disaggregated attributable increase.

- (2) For the purposes of the formula:

total disaggregated attributable decreases means the total of:

- (a) all *disaggregated attributable decreases that the *indirect value shift has produced, in the *market values of *affected interests in the *losing entity, for the entities that owned those interests immediately before the *IVS time; and
- (b) if:
- (i) section 727-850 (as applying to the *scheme from which the indirect value shift results) reduces losses that are *realised for income tax purposes by *realisation events happening before the *IVS time to *equity or loan interests, or to *indirect equity or loan interests, in the losing entity; and
- (ii) the indirect value shift is the only indirect value shift, or is the greater or greatest of 2 or more indirect value shifts, that results from the scheme and for which the losing entity is the losing entity;
- for each of those realisation events, the amounts that would, if:
- (iii) the *presumed indirect value shift were an indirect value shift; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

(iv) the IVS time for the presumed indirect value shift were the time of that realisation event; be the disaggregated attributable decreases that the presumed indirect value shift has produced, in the market value of the equity or loan interests to which that realisation event happened, for the entities that owned those interests immediately before the time of that realisation event.

total reductions for affected interests means the total of:

- (a) all reductions under this Division, because of the indirect value shift, of *adjustable values of affected interests in the losing entity; and
- (b) if paragraph (b) of the definition of total disaggregated attributable decreases applies—the amounts by which section 727-850 reduces the losses (if any) referred to in that paragraph.

Consequences of the method for various kinds of assets

727-830 CGT assets

- (1) The *cost base of an *equity or loan interest is reduced or uplifted immediately before the *IVS time to the extent that this Division provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be reduced or uplifted.
- (2) The *reduced cost base of an *equity or loan interest is reduced or uplifted immediately before the *IVS time to the extent that this Division provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be reduced or uplifted.
- (3) However, the *cost base or *reduced cost base is uplifted only to the extent that the amount of the uplift is still reflected in the *market value of the interest when a later *CGT event happens to the interest.
- (4) To work out:
  - (a) whether the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the interest is reduced or uplifted; and
  - (b) if so, by how much;

assume that the adjustable value from time to time of that or any other *equity or loan interest is its cost base or reduced cost base, as appropriate.

- (5) If this Division provides for the *adjustable value of an *equity or loan interest to be both reduced and uplifted:
- (a) the reduction and uplift for which subsection (1) or (2) of this section provides offset each other to the extent of whichever of them is the lesser; but
  - (b) if subsection (3) of this section cancels or reduces the uplift, this subsection is taken always to have applied on that basis.

Reductions and uplifts also apply to pre-CGT assets

- (6) A reduction or uplift occurs regardless of whether the entity that owns the interest *acquired it before, on or after 20 September 1985.

727-835 Trading stock

- (1) This section deals with:
- (a) how this Division applies to an *equity or loan interest that is *trading stock of an entity at the time (the adjustment time) immediately before the *IVS time; and
  - (b) the income tax consequences of this Division reducing or uplifting the *adjustable value of the interest.
- (2) The interest's adjustable value at a particular time is:
- (a) if the interest has been *trading stock of the entity ever since the start of the income year of the entity in which that time occurs—its *value as trading stock at the start of the income year; or
  - (b) otherwise—its cost.
- (3) If this Division reduces or uplifts the interest's *adjustable value, the entity is treated as if:
- (a) immediately before the adjustment time, the entity had sold the interest to someone else (at *arm's length and in the ordinary course of business) for its *adjustable value immediately before that time; and

---

---

Section 727-840

- (b) immediately after the adjustment time, the entity had bought the interest back for the reduced or uplifted adjustable value.

Note: The notional sale and repurchase are separated in time. As a result, if this section is applied to another indirect value shift that happens later in the same income year, the interest's adjustable value will be the cost on the notional repurchase: see paragraph (2)(b).

- (4) However, the increase in the cost of an interest because of paragraph (3)(b) is taken into account from time to time only to the extent that the amount of the increase is still reflected in the *market value of the interest.

Note: The situations where the increase in cost would be taken into account include:

- in working out your deductions for the cost of trading stock acquired during the income year in which the increase happens; and
- the end of an income year if the interest's closing value as trading stock is worked out on the basis of its cost; and
- the start of the income year in which the interest is disposed of, if that happens in a later income year and the interest's closing value as trading stock at the end of the previous income year was worked out on the basis of its cost.

- (5) If this Division provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be both reduced and uplifted:

- (a) the reduction and uplift offset each other to the extent of whichever of them is the lesser, and subsection (3) of this section applies accordingly; but
- (b) to the extent that the amount of the uplift is no longer reflected in the *market value of the interest, this section is taken always to have applied on the basis that the amount of the uplift was reduced to the same extent.

727-840 Revenue assets

- (1) This section deals with:
- (a) how this Division applies to an *equity or loan interest that is a *revenue asset of an entity at the time (the adjustment time) immediately before the *IVS time; and
- (b) the income tax consequences of this Division reducing or uplifting the *adjustable value of the interest.

---

- (2) The interest's adjustable value at a particular time is the total of the amounts that would be subtracted from the gross disposal proceeds in calculating any profit or loss on disposal of the interest if the entity disposed of it at that time.
- (3) If this Division reduces or uplifts the interest's *adjustable value, the entity is treated as if:
- (a) immediately before the adjustment time, the entity had sold the interest to someone else (at *arm's length and in the ordinary course of business) for its adjustable value immediately before that time; and
  - (b) immediately after the adjustment time, the entity had bought the interest back for the reduced or uplifted adjustable value.
- Note: The notional sale and repurchase are separated in time. As a result, if this section is applied to another indirect value shift that happens later in the same income year, the interest's adjustable value will be based on the cost on the notional repurchase: see subsection (2).
- (4) However, an uplift in the *adjustable value of the interest is taken into account only to the extent that the amount of the uplift is still reflected in the *market value of the interest when it is disposed of or otherwise realised.
- (5) If this Division provides for the *adjustable value of the interest to be both reduced and uplifted:
- (a) the reduction and uplift offset each other to the extent of whichever of them is the lesser, and subsection (3) of this section applies accordingly; but
  - (b) to the extent that the amount of the uplift is no longer reflected in the *market value of the interest, this section is taken always to have applied on the basis that the amount of the uplift was reduced to the same extent.

727-850 Consequences of scheme under this Subdivision

(1) If:

- (a) as at the time when a *scheme is entered into, or a later time, an entity (the prospective losing entity) has *provided, is providing, is to provide, or might provide, one or more economic benefits *in connection with the scheme; and
- (b) the prospective losing entity is a company or trust (except one listed in section 727-125 (about superannuation entities)); and
- (c) a *realisation event happens to an *equity or loan interest, or to an *indirect equity or loan interest, in the prospective losing entity at a time when no *IVS time for the scheme has yet happened (whether or not one happens later); and
- (d) apart from this Division, a loss would be *realised for income tax purposes by the realisation event; and
- (e) because of section 727-855, the scheme results in a *presumed indirect value shift affecting the realisation event; and
- (f) section 727-860 (about prospective gaining entities) is satisfied; and
- (g) no exclusion in Subdivision 727-C applies to the presumed indirect value shift because of section 727-865; and
- (h) on the assumptions set out in subsection 727-865(3), the interest would be an *affected interest in the prospective losing entity;

the loss is reduced by an amount that is reasonable having regard to a reasonable estimate of the amount (if any) by which the scheme has reduced the interest's *market value during the period that ends at the time of the realisation event and started at the later of:

- (i) when the scheme was entered into; and
- (j) the time of the last realisation event that happened to the interest.

Note 1: This Subdivision does not reduce gains from realisation events, but loss reductions under this Subdivision are taken into account in working out:

- gain reductions under Subdivision 727-G for interests in a gaining entity that are realised after the IVS time for the scheme (see section 727-625); or
- uplifts under Subdivision 727-H in the adjustable values of interests in a gaining entity (see section 727-810).

Note 2: Section 727-865 provides for how other provisions of this Division apply for the purposes of this Subdivision.

Further exclusion for certain 95% services indirect value shifts

- (2) The loss is not reduced if the *presumed indirect value shift is a *95% services indirect value shift because of subsection 727-865(2), unless:
- (a) the conditions in section 727-705 (as applying because of that subsection) are met for the presumed indirect value shift; or
  - (b) the conditions in section 727-710, 727-715 or 727-720 (as applying because of that subsection) are met for the presumed indirect value shift and for the realisation event.

727-855 Presumed indirect value shift

- (1) The *scheme results in a presumed indirect value shift affecting the *realisation event if, and only if, as at the time of the realisation event, it is reasonable to conclude that the total *market value of the economic benefits (the greater benefits) that:
- (a) the *prospective losing entity has *provided, is providing, is to provide, or might provide, *in connection with the *scheme, to another entity, or to each of 2 or more other entities; and
  - (b) can be identified (even if the other entity or entities cannot be identified or are not all in existence, or the provision of some or all of the economic benefits is contingent);
- exceeds:
- (c) the total market value of the economic benefits (the lesser benefits) that:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 727-860

- (i) have been, are being, are to be, or might be, provided to the prospective losing entity in connection with the scheme; and
- (ii) can be identified (even if the entity or entities providing the benefits cannot be identified or are not all in existence, or the provision of some or all of the economic benefits is contingent); or
- (d) if there are no economic benefits covered by paragraph (c)—nil.

That excess is the amount of the presumed indirect value shift, which happens at the time of the realisation event.

- (2) The *market value of an economic benefit is to be determined as at the earliest time when it is reasonable to conclude that:
  - (a) the economic benefit can be identified; and
  - (b) paragraph 727-150(2)(b) is satisfied for that benefit; if that time is before the *realisation event.
- (3) Otherwise, the *market value of the economic benefit is to be determined as at the time immediately before the *realisation event, taking account of any contingency to which provision of the benefit is subject at that time.

For more rules affecting how the market value of an economic benefit is determined, see Subdivision 727-D (as applying because of subsection 727-865(1)).

- (4) An entity referred to in paragraph (1)(a) need not be a party to the *scheme. A benefit can be provided by act or omission.

727-860 Conditions about the prospective gaining entity

- (1) By the deadline set out in subsection (5), the conditions in subsections (2) and (3) must be satisfied for at least one of these entities:
  - (a) the entity or entities referred to in paragraph 727-855(1)(a);

- (2) Enough must be known about the identity of an entity covered by subsection (1) for it to be reasonable to conclude that, if:
- (a) the *presumed indirect value shift were an *indirect value shift resulting from the *scheme; and
  - (b) the *IVS period for the scheme ended at the time of the *realisation event; and
  - (c) that entity were the *gaining entity for the indirect value shift;
  - (d) the *prospective losing entity were the *losing entity for the indirect value shift; and

- (3) Enough must be known about the identity of the entity referred to in subsection (2) for it also to be reasonable to conclude that, in relation to either or both of the following:
- (a) the *prospective losing entity *providing one or more economic benefits to that entity *in connection with the *scheme; or
  - (b) that entity providing one or more economic benefits to the prospective losing entity in connection with the scheme;

- (4) Each entity that is covered by subsection (1), and for which subsections (2) and (3) are satisfied, is called a prospective gaining entity for the *scheme.

727-865 How other provisions of this Division apply to support this Subdivision

- (1) To avoid doubt, these provisions apply for the purposes of working out whether there has been a *presumed indirect value shift and, if so, the amount of it:
- (a) sections 727-155, 727-160 and 727-165 (about economic benefits);
  - (b) section 727-315 (Transfer, for its adjustable value, of depreciating asset acquired for less than $1,500,000).

- apply to the *presumed indirect value shift on the assumptions set out in subsection (3).
- (3) The assumptions are:
- (a) the *presumed indirect value shift is an *indirect value shift resulting from the *scheme; and
  - (b) the *prospective losing entity for the scheme is the *losing entity for that indirect value shift; and
  - (c) each *prospective gaining entity for the scheme is the *gaining entity for that indirect value shift; and
  - (d) the *greater benefits under the presumed indirect value shift are the greater benefits under that indirect value shift; and
  - (e) the *lesser benefits (if any) under the presumed indirect value shift are the lesser benefits under that indirect value shift; and
  - (f) the time of the realisation event mentioned in paragraph 727-850(1)(c) is the *IVS time for the scheme; and

727-870 Effect of CGT roll-over

- (1) If:
- (a) the *realisation event mentioned in paragraph 727-850(1)(c) is a *CGT event; and
  - (b) section 727-850 reduces a loss that would, apart from this Division, be *realised for income tax purposes by the CGT event; and
  - (c) there is a roll-over for the CGT event;
- the interest's *reduced cost base at the time of the CGT event is taken to have been reduced by the amount by which section 727-850 reduces that loss, but is so taken only for the purposes of working out:
- (d) the interest's reduced cost base, from time to time after the roll-over, for the entity that *acquired the interest because of the CGT event; and
  - (e) in the case of a *replacement-asset roll-over—the reduced cost base of the replacement CGT asset, from time to time after the roll-over, for the entity that *disposed of the interest.

Note: Because of the roll-over, the loss reduction under section 727-850 will have no tax effect. This subsection ensures that the loss reduction is passed on, through the reduction in reduced cost base, to prevent or reduce a loss arising on a later CGT event.

727-875 Application to CGT asset that is also trading stock or revenue asset

If an *equity or loan interest is also an item of *trading stock or a *revenue asset, this Subdivision applies to the interest once in its character as a CGT asset and again in its character as trading stock or a revenue asset.

Section 727-905

---

727-905 How this Subdivision affects the rest of this Division

(1) This Subdivision affects how the rest of this Division applies to a *scheme (the IVS scheme) that is or includes a scheme (the DVS scheme) under which there is a *direct value shift.

(2) If the *direct value shift:

(a) has consequences under Division 725 for an entity as an *affected owner of *down interests (or would do so apart from section 725-90 (about direct value shifts that will be reversed)); and

(b) also has consequences under that Division for another entity as an affected owner of *up interests (or would do so apart from section 725-90);

the rest of this Subdivision has effect, for the purposes of Subdivisions 727-A to 727-K, in order to determine:

(c) whether the IVS scheme results in an *indirect value shift, from the first entity to the other entity, that has consequences under this Division; and

(d) whether the IVS scheme has consequences under Subdivision 727-K because it results in a *presumed indirect value shift affecting a *realisation event happening to *equity or loan interests, or to *indirect equity or loan interests, in the first entity; and

(e) those consequences.

Note: Section 725-50 sets out when a direct value shift has consequences under Division 725.

(3) If:

(a) the IVS scheme is the DVS scheme; and

(b) subsection 725-145(2) is satisfied for the *direct value shift (because one or more equity or loan interests in the target entity are issued at a discount); but

(c) subsection 725-145(3) (about an increase in the market value of one or more equity or loan interests in the target entity) is not satisfied for the direct value shift;

Subdivisions 727-A to 727-K apply to the IVS scheme only as provided in this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) Otherwise, those Subdivisions apply to the IVS scheme as provided in this section in addition to any other application they have to the scheme.

727-910 Treatment of value shifted under the direct value shift

- (1) The first entity is treated as *providing economic benefits to the other entity, *in connection with the IVS scheme, at the time of a decrease (or future decrease) in the *market value of any of the *down interests, to the extent that the decrease is (or will be) covered by subsection 725-155(1).
- (2) Despite subsections 727-150(4) and 727-855(2) and (3), the *market value of all economic benefits that subsection (1) of this section treats the first entity as providing to the other entity:
- (a) is to be determined as at the time immediately before the *IVS time, or immediately before the *realisation event, as appropriate; and
  - (b) is equal to the total value shifted from the *down interests to the *up interests, as worked out under one or more applications of step 2 of the method statement in section 725-365 or 725-380.
- (3) The 2 entities are treated as not dealing with each other at *arm's length in relation to the providing of those benefits.
- (4) None of those benefits is treated as consisting of, or including, services provided or a right to have services provided.
- Note: This means that the exclusions in Subdivisions 727-C and 727-G for indirect value shifts involving services will not apply.
- (5) Except as provided in this section, none of the following is treated as the *providing of economic benefits *in connection with the IVS scheme:
- (a) a decrease (or future decrease) in the *market value of *down interests owned by the first entity or the other entity, to the extent that the decrease is (or will be) covered by subsection 725-155(1);
  - (b) an increase (or future increase) in the market value of *up interests owned by the first entity or the other entity, to the extent that the increase is (or will be) covered by subsection 725-145(3);

- (c) an issue of *up interests at a *discount to the first entity or the other entity, to the extent that the issue is (or will be) covered by subsection 725-145(2).

Note: Value shifted from down interests owned by the other entity to up interests owned by the first entity are dealt with by a separate application of this Subdivision to those interests (because of paragraphs 727-905(2)(a) and (b).

  - (b) the foreign company owns the asset at that time; and
  - (c) if at that time the foreign company is not an AFI subsidiary (within the meaning of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) whose sole or principal business is financial intermediary business (within the meaning of that Part)—the asset is not a foreign company derivative asset covered by subsection (2).

  - (d) subsection (4) does not apply in relation to the arrangement.

Voting percentages in a company

768-550 Direct voting percentage in a company

- (1) An entity's direct voting percentage at a particular time in a company is:
- (a) if the entity has a voting interest (within the meaning of section 334A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) in the foreign company at that time amounting to a percentage of the voting power of the company—that percentage; or
  - (b) otherwise—zero.
- (2) In applying section 334A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, assume that:
- (a) the entity is a company; and
  - (b) the entity is not the beneficial owner of a *share in the company if a trust or partnership is interposed between the entity and the company.

768-560 Total voting percentage in a company

An entity's total voting percentage at a particular time in a company is the sum of:

- (a) the entity's *direct voting percentage in the company at that time; and

Subdivision 768-R—Temporary residents

Guide to Subdivision 768-R

768-900 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision modifies the general tax rules for people in Australia who are temporary residents, whether Australian residents or foreign residents.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Generally foreign income derived by temporary residents is non-assessable non-exempt income and capital gains and losses they make are also disregarded for CGT purposes. There are some exceptions for employment-related income and capital gains on shares and rights acquired under employee share schemes.

Temporary residents are also partly relieved of record-keeping obligations in relation to the controlled foreign company and foreign investment fund rules.

Interest paid by temporary residents is not subject to withholding tax and may be non-assessable non-exempt income for a foreign resident.

Operative provisions

768-905 Objects

The objects of this Subdivision are to:

- (a) provide *temporary residents with tax relief on most foreign source income and capital gains; and
- (b) relieve the burdens associated with complying with certain record-keeping obligations and interest withholding tax obligations.

768-910 Income derived by temporary resident

- (1) The following are *non-assessable non-exempt income:
  - (a) the *ordinary income you *derive directly or indirectly from a source other than an *Australian source if you are a *temporary resident when you derive it;
  - (b) your *statutory income (other than a *net capital gain) from a source other than an Australian source if you are a temporary resident when you derive it.

This subsection has effect subject to subsections (3) and (5).

Note: A capital gain or loss you make may be disregarded under section 768-915.

- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(b):
  - (a) if you have statutory income because a particular circumstance occurs, you derive the statutory income at the time when the circumstance occurs; and
  - (b) if you have statutory income because a number of circumstances occur, you derive the statutory income at the time when the last of those circumstances occurs.

Exception to subsection (1)

- (3) However, the following are not *non-assessable non-exempt income under subsection (1):
  - (a) the *ordinary income you *derive directly or indirectly from a source other than an *Australian source to the extent that it is remuneration, for employment undertaken, or services provided, while you are a *temporary resident;

- (b) your *statutory income (other than a *net capital gain) from a source other than an Australian source to the extent that it relates to employment undertaken, or services provided, while you are a temporary resident;
- (c) an amount included in your assessable income under Division 86;
- (d) an amount that, but for subsection (1), would be included in your assessable income under Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Note: This subsection only makes an amount not non-assessable non-exempt income under subsection (1). It does not prevent that amount from being non-assessable non-exempt income under some other provision of this Act or the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Section 26AAC employee share schemes

- (4) This subsection applies if:
  - (a) an amount would otherwise be included in your assessable income under section 26AAC of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about shares and rights acquired by employees); and
  - (b) the applicable time mentioned in subsection 26AAC(15) of that Act for the relevant *share occurs while you are a *temporary resident.
- (5) If subsection (4) applies, the amount is *non-assessable non-exempt income to the extent to which you acquired the relevant *share under a scheme for the acquisition of shares by employees in respect of, or for or in relation (directly or indirectly) to:
  - (a) any employment you undertook outside Australia; or
  - (b) any services you provided outside Australia; prior to becoming a *temporary resident.
- (6) Subsection (5) does not limit paragraph (1)(b).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

768-915 Certain capital gains and capital losses of temporary resident to be disregarded

A *capital gain or *capital loss you make from a *CGT event is disregarded if:

- (a) you are a *temporary resident when, or immediately before, the CGT event happens; and
- (b) you would not make a capital gain or loss from the CGT event, or the capital gain or loss from the CGT event would have been disregarded under Division 855, if you were a foreign resident when, or immediately before, the CGT event happens.

768-920 Capital gains and losses on employee shares and rights where taxation of discount not deferred

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to a *share or right if:
  - (a) you *acquire the share or right under an *employee share scheme; and
  - (b) you engage in employment, or render services, that affect the holding or acquisition of the shares or rights while you are a *temporary resident; and
  - (c) the share or right is not *taxable Australian property; and
  - (d) either:
    - (i) the share or right is not a *qualifying share or *qualifying right; or
    - (ii) the share or right is a qualifying share or qualifying right and you have made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 covering the share or right; and
  - (e) a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or right; and
  - (f) if the CGT event is CGT event I1—you are not a temporary resident immediately before the event happens; and
  - (g) you would make a *capital gain or *capital loss from the CGT event, and the capital gain or capital loss would not be

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

disregarded, if you were an Australian resident (but not a temporary resident) when the CGT event happens; and

- (h) this section has not previously applied to you in relation to a CGT event in relation to the share or right.

Note 1: Paragraph (a)—section 139DQ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies for the purposes of this Subdivision to treat a matching share or right issued as part of a 100% takeover or restructure as a continuation of the share or right it matches.

Note 2: For a stapled security acquired under an employee share scheme, the operation of this Subdivision is affected by section 130-97.

- (2) This section also applies to a *share (the derived share) if:

- (a) you *acquire a right (the original right) under an *employee share scheme; and
- (b) you engage in employment, or render services, that affect the holding or acquisition of the original right, or the derived share, while you are a *temporary resident; and
- (c) you acquire the derived share by exercising the original right; and
- (d) the derived share is not *taxable Australian property; and
- (e) either:
- (i) the original right is not a *qualifying right; or
  - (ii) the original right is a qualifying right and you have made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 covering the original right; and
- (f) a *CGT event happens in relation to the derived share; and
- (g) if the CGT event is CGT event I1—you are not a temporary resident immediately before the event happens; and
- (h) you would make a *capital gain or *capital loss from the CGT event, and the capital gain or capital loss would not be disregarded, if you were an Australian resident (but not a temporary resident) when the CGT event happens; and
- (i) this section has not previously applied to you in relation to the original right or the derived share.

Note 1: Paragraph (a)—section 139DQ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies for the purposes of this Subdivision to treat a matching share or right issued as part of a 100% takeover or restructure as a continuation of the share or right it matches.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note 2: For a stapled security acquired under an employee share scheme, the operation of this Subdivision is affected by section 130-97.

- (3) To avoid doubt, paragraph (1)(e) or (2)(f) applies:
- (a) even if you are not a *temporary resident when the *CGT event happens; and
  - (b) whether you are an Australian resident or a foreign resident when the CGT event happens.

Capital gain or loss

- (4) If you are a *temporary resident or a foreign resident when the *CGT event happens, you make a *capital gain or *capital loss from the CGT event.

Note: If you are an Australian resident (but not a temporary resident) when the CGT event occurs, neither section 768-915 nor Division 855 prevents you having a capital gain or capital loss.

- (5) Subsection (4) has effect despite section 768-915 and Division 855.

Amount of capital gain or capital loss for temporary residents and foreign residents

- (6) If you are a *temporary resident or a foreign resident when the *CGT event happens, the amount of the *capital gain or *capital loss is the amount of your adjusted notional gain or loss worked out under subsection (9).

Amount of capital gain or capital loss for Australian residents

- (7) If you are an Australian resident (but not a *temporary resident) when the *CGT event happens, the amount of the *capital gain or *capital loss is the sum of:
- (a) the amount that would be the amount of your capital gain or capital loss if this section did not apply to you; and
  - (b) the amount of your adjusted notional gain or loss worked out under subsection (9).

Example: George, a New Zealander, is granted shares (with a total market value at the time of $100,000) under an employee share scheme on 20 January 2006. He comes to Australia as a temporary resident on 1 January 2007 and completes the rest of the employment to which the shares relate in Australia. George elects to have the discount assessed in that income year. He then ceases to be a temporary resident but remains an Australian resident on 8 May 2008. At that time the shares have a market value of $80,000. George disposes of the shares on 30 June 2009 for $115,000. George's capital gain for the purpose of paragraph (a) would be $35,000. Assume that the amount of the loss that accrued up to 8 May 2008 that is to be counted for the purpose of paragraph (b) is $9,000. For the year ending 30 June 2009, George would, as a result of subsection (7), make a capital gain of $26,000 (being $35,000 less $9,000).

- (8) If subsection (7) applies to the *CGT event, subsections 768-955(3) and 855-45(3) do not apply for the purposes of applying Division 115 in relation to the CGT event.

Adjusted notional gain or loss

- (9) To work out your adjusted notional gain or loss:
- (a) work out your notional gain or loss using section 768-925; and
  - (b) adjust your notional gain or loss using sections 768-930, 768-935 and 768-940.

768-925 Notional gain or loss

- (1) Your notional gain or loss is the *capital gain or *capital loss you would have had in relation to the *CGT event if, for the whole of the period set by subsections (2) and (3), you:
- (a) had been an Australian resident; and
  - (b) had not been a *temporary resident.
- (2) The period starts:
- (a) in the case of section 768-920 applying to the *share or right in relation to which the *CGT event happens because of subsection 768-920(1):
    - (i) if the share or right was acquired from an *employee share trust—when you first acquired a beneficial interest in the share or right; or
    - (ii) if subparagraph (i) does not apply—when you *acquired that share or right; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) in the case of section 768-920 applying to the *share in relation to which the *CGT event happens because of subsection 768-920(2):
  - (i) if the share was acquired from an *employee share trust—when you first acquired a beneficial interest in the original right; or
  - (ii) if subparagraph (i) does not apply—when you *acquired the original right.
- (3) The period ends when the *CGT event happens.
- (4) If you are an Australian resident (but not a *temporary resident) when the *CGT event happens, your notional gain or loss is reduced by the amount of the *capital gain or *capital loss that you would have made in relation to the *CGT event if section 768-920 did not apply to you.

768-930 Adjustment to notional gain or loss

- (1) If section 768-920 applies to the *share or right in relation to which the *CGT event happens because of subsection 768-920(1), adjust your notional gain or loss by:
  - (a) firstly, applying the factor worked out under subsection 768-935(1), (2) or (3) to the amount of your notional gain or loss; and
  - (b) secondly, applying the factor worked out under subsection 768-935(4) to the amount worked out under paragraph (a).
- (2) If section 768-920 applies to the *share in relation to which the *CGT event happens because of subsection 768-920(2), adjust your notional gain or loss by:
  - (a) firstly, applying the factor worked out under subsection 768-940(1), (2) or (3) to the amount of your notional gain or loss; and
  - (b) secondly, applying the factor worked out under subsection 768-940(4) to the amount worked out under paragraph (a).

768-935 Adjustment for share or right acquired under employee share scheme

(1) If:

- (a) the *CGT event happens on or after the *cessation time for the share or right; and
- (b) when, or immediately before, the CGT event happens you are either:
  - (i) a foreign resident; or
  - (ii) an Australian resident who is a temporary resident;

the factor to be applied for the purposes of paragraph 768-930(1)(a) is:

$$\frac{\text{Days before cessation time}}{\text{Days before CGT event}}$$

where:

days before cessation time is the number of days in the period that:

- (a) starts on the day on which you *acquired the *share or right or, if you acquired the share or right from an *employee share trust, on the day on which you first acquired a beneficial interest in the share or right; and
- (b) ends on the *cessation time for the share or right.

days before CGT event is the number of days in the period that:

- (a) starts on the day on which you *acquired the *share or right or, if you acquired the share or right from an *employee share trust, on the day on which you first acquired a beneficial interest in the share or right; and
- (b) ends on the day on which the *CGT event happens.

(2) If:

- (a) the *CGT event happens on or after the *cessation time for the share or right; and
- (b) when, or immediately before, the CGT event happens you are an Australian resident (but not a *temporary resident);

the factor to be applied for the purposes of paragraph 768-930(1)(a) is:

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) an amount is included in your assessable income, or you have a net capital loss, for a particular income year; and

- (4) If section 768-920 applies to the *share or right in relation to which the *CGT event occurs because of subsection 768-920(1), the amendment must be made before the end of the period of 4 years starting immediately after the income year during which the period

768-970 Modification of rules for accruals system of taxation of certain non-resident trust estates

At any time when you are a *temporary resident, you are taken not to be a resident for the purposes of section 102AAZD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Guide to Division 770

770-A Entitlement rules for foreign income tax offsets

770-B Amount of foreign income tax offset

770-C Rules about payment of foreign income tax

770-D Administration

Guide to Division 770

770-1 What this Division is about

You may get a non-refundable tax offset for foreign income tax paid on your assessable income.

There is a limit on the amount of the tax offset.

A resident of a foreign country does not get the offset for some foreign income taxes.

You may also get the offset for foreign income tax paid on some amounts that are not taxed in Australia.

770-5 Object

- (1) The object of this Division is to relieve double taxation where:
  - (a) you have paid foreign income tax on amounts included in your assessable income; and
  - (b) you would, apart from this Division, pay Australian income tax on the same amounts.
- (2) To achieve this object, this Division gives you a tax offset to reduce or eliminate Australian income tax otherwise payable on those amounts.

Subdivision 770-A—Entitlement rules for foreign income tax offsets

Table of sections

Basic entitlement rule for foreign income tax offset

770-10 Entitlement to foreign income tax offset

770-15 Meaning of foreign income tax, credit absorption tax and unitary tax

Basic entitlement rule for foreign income tax offset

770-10 Entitlement to foreign income tax offset

- (1) You are entitled to a *tax offset for an income year for *foreign income tax. An amount of foreign income tax counts towards the tax offset for the year if you paid it in respect of an amount that is all or part of an amount included in your assessable income for the year.

Note 1: The offset is for the income year in which your assessable income included an amount in respect of which you paid foreign income tax—even if you paid the foreign income tax in another income year.

Note 2: If the foreign income tax has been paid on an amount that is part non-assessable non-exempt income and part assessable income for you for the income year, only a proportionate share of the foreign income tax (the share that corresponds to the part that is assessable income) will count towards the tax offset (excluding the operation of subsection (2)).

Note 3: For offshore banking units, the amount of foreign income tax paid in respect of offshore banking income is reduced: see subsection 121EG(3A) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Taxes paid on section 23AI or 23AK amounts

- (2) An amount of *foreign income tax counts towards the *tax offset for you for the year if you paid it in respect of an amount that is your *non-assessable non-exempt income under either section 23AI or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 for the year.

Note 1: Sections 23AI and 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 provide that amounts paid out of income previously attributed from a controlled foreign company or a foreign investment fund are non-assessable non-exempt income.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 770-15

---

Note 2: Foreign income taxes covered by this subsection are direct taxes (for example, a withholding tax on a dividend payment) and not underlying taxes, only some of which are covered by section 770-135.

Exception for certain residence-based foreign income taxes

- (3) An amount of *foreign income tax you paid does not count towards the *tax offset for the year if you paid it:
- (a) to a foreign country because you are a resident of that country for the purposes of a law relating to the foreign income tax; and
  - (b) in respect of an amount derived from a source outside that country.

Exception for previously complying funds and previously foreign funds

- (4) An amount of *foreign income tax paid by a *superannuation provider in relation to a *superannuation fund does not count towards the *tax offset for the year if:
- (a) the tax was paid in respect of an amount included in the fund's assessable income under table item 2 or 3 in section 295-320; and
  - (b) the provider paid the tax before the start of the income year.

Note: Table items 2 and 3 in section 295-320 include additional amounts in the assessable income of superannuation funds that change their status from complying to non-complying or from foreign to Australian.

Exception for credit absorption tax and unitary tax

- (5) An amount of *credit absorption tax or *unitary tax you paid does not count towards the *tax offset for the year.

770-15 Meaning of foreign income tax, credit absorption tax and *unitary tax

- (1) Foreign income tax means tax that:
- (a) is imposed by a law other than an *Australian law; and
  - (b) is:
    - (i) tax on income; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) tax on profits or gains, whether of an income or capital nature; or
- (iii) any other tax, being a tax that is subject to an agreement having the force of law under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953.

Note: Foreign income tax includes only that which has been correctly imposed in accordance with the relevant foreign law or, where the foreign jurisdiction has a tax treaty with Australia (having the force of law under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953), has been correctly imposed in accordance with that tax treaty.

- (2) Credit absorption tax means a tax imposed by a law of a foreign country, or of any part of, or place in, a foreign country to the extent that the tax would not have been payable if the entity concerned or another entity had not been entitled to an offset in respect of the tax under this Division.
- (3) Unitary tax means a tax imposed by a law of a foreign country, or of any part of, or place in, a foreign country, being a law which, for the purposes of taxing income, profits or gains of a company derived from sources within that country, takes into account, or is entitled to take into account, income, losses, outgoings or assets of the company (or of a company that for the purposes of that law is treated as being associated with the company) derived, incurred or situated outside that country, but does not include tax imposed by that law if that law only takes those matters into account:
  - (a) if such an associated company is a resident of the foreign country for the purposes of the law of the foreign country; or
  - (b) for the purposes of granting any form of relief in relation to tax imposed on dividends received by one company from another company.

Subdivision 770-B—Amount of foreign income tax offset

Guide to Subdivision 770-B

770-65 What this Subdivision is about

The amount of your tax offset is based on the amount of foreign income tax you have paid.

However, there is a limit on the maximum amount of your offset. The limit is the greater of $1,000 and an amount worked out under this Subdivision. This amount is based on a comparison between your tax liability and the tax liability you would have if certain foreign-taxed and foreign-sourced income and related deductions were disregarded.

You may choose to use the limit of $1,000 and not work out this amount.

There is an increase in the limit to ensure foreign income tax paid on some amounts that are not taxed always forms part of the offset.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

770-70	Amount of foreign income tax offset
770-75	Foreign income tax offset limit
770-80	Increase in offset limit for tax paid on amounts to which section 23AI or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 apply

Operative provisions

770-70 Amount of foreign income tax offset

The amount of your *tax offset for the year is the sum of the *foreign income tax you paid that counts towards the offset for the year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note 1: The amount of foreign income tax you paid may be affected by Subdivision 770-C.

Note 2: The amount of the offset might be increased under section 770-230 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997, if you have pre-commencement excess foreign income tax.

770-75 Foreign income tax offset limit

- (1) There is a limit (the offset limit) on the amount of your *tax offset for a year. If your tax offset exceeds the offset limit, reduce the offset by the amount of the excess.
- (2) Your offset limit is the greater of:
  - (a) $1,000; and
  - (b) this amount:
    - (i) the amount of income tax payable by you for the income year; less
    - (ii) the amount of income tax that would be payable by you for the income year if the assumptions in subsection (4) were made.

Note 1: If you do not intend to claim a foreign income tax offset of more than $1,000 for the year, you do not need to work out the amount under paragraph (b).

Note 2: The amount of the offset limit might be increased under section 770-80.

- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(b), work out the amount of income tax payable by you, or that would be payable by you, disregarding any *tax offsets.
- (4) Assume that:
  - (a) your assessable income did not include:
    - (i) so much of any amount included in your assessable income as represents an amount in respect of which you paid *foreign income tax that counts towards the *tax offset for the year; and
    - (ii) any other amounts of *ordinary income or *statutory income from a source other than an *Australian source; and
  - (b) you were not entitled to any deductions that:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) are *debt deductions that are attributable to an *overseas permanent establishment of yours; or
- (ii) are deductions (other than debt deductions) that are reasonably related to amounts covered by paragraph (a) for that year.

Note: You must also assume you were not entitled to any deductions for certain converted foreign losses: see section 770-35 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Example: If an entity has paid foreign income tax on a capital gain that comprises part of its net capital gain, only that capital gain on which foreign income tax has been paid is disregarded.

770-80 Increase in offset limit for tax paid on amounts to which section 23AI or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 apply

Your offset limit under subsection 770-75(2) is increased by any amounts of *foreign income tax that count towards the *tax offset for you for the year because of subsection 770-10(2).

Subdivision 770-C—Rules about payment of foreign income tax

Table of sections

Rules about when foreign tax is paid

- 770-130 When foreign income tax is considered paid—taxes paid by someone else
- 770-135 Foreign income tax paid by CFCs and FIFs on attributed amounts

Rules about when foreign tax is considered not paid

- 770-140 When foreign income tax is considered not paid—anti-avoidance rule

Rules about when foreign tax is paid

770-130 When foreign income tax is considered paid—taxes paid by someone else

- (1) This Act applies to you as if you had paid an amount of *foreign income tax in respect of an amount (a taxed amount) that is all or part of an amount included in your *ordinary income or *statutory income if you are covered by subsection (2) or (3) for an amount of foreign income tax paid in respect of the taxed amount.

---

- (2) You are covered by this subsection for an amount of *foreign income tax paid in respect of a taxed amount if that foreign income tax has been paid in respect of the taxed amount by another entity under an *arrangement with you or under the law relating to the foreign income tax.

Example: You are a partner in a partnership and the partnership pays foreign income tax on the partnership income.

- (3) You are covered by this subsection for an amount of *foreign income tax paid in respect of the taxed amount to the extent that:
- (a) the taxed amount is taken, because of section 6B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (the 1936 Act), to be attributable to another amount of income of a particular kind or source; and
  - (b) foreign income tax has been paid in respect of the other amount of income; and
  - (c) the taxed amount is less than it would have been if that tax had not been paid.

Example: Aust Co (an Australian resident) is the sole beneficiary of an Australian resident trust H and is presently entitled to all the income of trust H. Trust H owns shares in For Co (a foreign company). For Co pays a dividend to trust H and the dividend is subject to withholding tax in For Co's country of residence.

Trust H allocates to Aust Co, the dividend, as well as other Australian source income trust H earned in the year (none of which was subject to foreign income tax). Aust Co is treated as having paid the foreign income tax paid by For Co under subsection 770-130(3). The foreign income tax is treated as paid in respect of the amount included in Aust Co's assessable income that is attributable to the dividend.

770-135 Foreign income tax paid by CFCs and FIFs on attributed amounts

- (1) This Division applies to an entity as if it had paid an amount of *foreign income tax worked out under subsection (7) in respect of an amount included in its assessable income if:
- (a) the amount is included in its assessable income as described in subsection (2); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the conditions in subsections (3), (5) and (6) are satisfied.
- (2) An amount is included in an entity's assessable income as described in this subsection if:
- (a) the entity is a company and the amount is included under:
    - (i) section 456 (a section 456 case) of the 1936 Act in relation to a *CFC and a statutory accounting period; or
    - (ii) section 457 (a section 457 case) of that Act in relation to a CFC; or
    - (iii) section 529 of that Act in relation to a foreign company (within the meaning of Part XI of that Act) (a foreign company case) in respect of a notional accounting period (within the meaning of that Part) (a notional accounting period); or
  - (b) the amount is included under section 529 of that Act in relation to a foreign trust (within the meaning of Part XI of that Act) (a foreign trust case) in respect of a notional accounting period.

Note: Section 456 of the 1936 Act includes, in the assessable income of certain Australian shareholders, amounts that are attributable to the profits of an Australian-controlled foreign company.

Section 457 does likewise when a controlled foreign company changes residence from an unlisted to a listed country or to Australia.

Section 529 includes, in the assessable income of resident taxpayers, amounts that are attributable to FIF interests held in foreign companies and in foreign trusts.

Tax paid condition

- (3) An amount of *foreign income tax, income tax or *withholding tax (the tax amount) must have been paid:
- (a) for a section 456 case—by the *CFC in respect of an amount included in the notional assessable income of the CFC for the statutory accounting period; or
  - (b) for a section 457 case—by the CFC; or
  - (c) for a foreign company case or a foreign trust case—by the foreign company or foreign trust in respect of an amount included in its notional income (within the meaning of Part XI of the 1936 Act) of the notional accounting period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: Section 770-130 deems foreign income tax to have been paid in certain circumstances.

- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(a) and (b), the tax amount includes an amount that is taken to have been paid by the *CFC under subsection 393(4) of the 1936 Act (about tax paid on reinsurance premiums).

Association condition

- (5) If the entity is a company, it must have an *attribution percentage of 10% or more:
- (a) for a section 456 case—in relation to the *CFC at the end of the statutory accounting period; or
  - (b) for a section 457 case—in relation to the CFC at the residence-change time (within the meaning of section 457 of the 1936 Act); or
  - (c) for a foreign company case—at the end of the notional accounting period.

Note: There is no association condition for a foreign trust case.

Calculation method condition for FIFs

- (6) For a foreign company case and a foreign trust case, the amount included under section 529 of the 1936 Act must have been determined by the application of the calculation method set out in Subdivision D of Division 18 of Part XI of that Act (the calculation method).

Amount of foreign income tax

- (7) The amount worked out under this subsection is:
- (a) for a section 456 case—the sum of all the tax amounts for the statutory accounting period multiplied by the company's *attribution percentage in relation to the *CFC at the time mentioned in paragraph (5)(a); or
  - (b) for a section 457 case—the sum of all the tax amounts to the extent they are attributable to the amount included in the company's assessable income under section 457 of the 1936 Act; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) for a foreign company case or a foreign trust case—an amount worked out using the following formula:

$$\frac{\text{Sum of all of the tax amounts for the notional accounting period}}{\text{Entity's share of calculated profit}} \times \frac{\text{Entity's share of calculated profit}}{\text{FIF's calculated profit}}$$

where:

entity's share of calculated profit means the share of the calculated profit of the foreign company or foreign trust in respect of the notional accounting period to which the entity is entitled as determined under the calculation method.

FIF's calculated profit means the calculated profit of the foreign company or foreign trust in respect of the notional accounting period as determined under the calculation method.

Grossing-up of attributed amount

- (8) For the purposes of this Act except this section and:
- (a) section 371 of the 1936 Act (for a section 456 case or a section 457 case); or
  - (b) section 605 of that Act (for a foreign company case or a foreign trust case);

the amount included in the entity's assessable income as described in subsection (2) is taken to be increased by the amount of tax worked out under subsection (7).

Note: Section 371 of the 1936 Act records an amount in an attribution account when the amount is included in the assessable income of an attributable taxpayer in relation to a CFC. Section 605 does the same thing for taxpayers with interests in FIFs.

Rules about when foreign tax is considered not paid

770-140 When foreign income tax is considered not paid—anti-avoidance rule

Despite anything else in this Division, this Act applies to you as if you had not paid an amount of *foreign income tax to the extent that you or any other entity become entitled to:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) a refund of the foreign income tax; or
- (b) any other benefit worked out by reference to the amount of the foreign income tax (other than a reduction in the amount of the foreign income tax).

Table of sections

770-190 Amendment of assessments

770-190 Amendment of assessments

- (1) Section 170 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 does not prevent the amendment of an assessment for the purpose of giving effect to this Division for an income year if:
  - (a) an event described in subsection (2) (an amendment event) happens after the time you lodged your *income tax return for that year; and
  - (b) the amendment is made at any time during the period of 4 years starting immediately after the amendment event.

Note: Section 170 of that Act specifies the periods within which assessments may be amended.

- (2) The following are amendment events:
  - (a) you pay an amount of *foreign income tax that counts towards your *tax offset for the year;
  - (b) there is an increase in an amount of foreign income tax you paid that counts towards your offset for the year;
  - (c) there is a reduction in an amount of foreign income tax you paid that counts towards your offset for the year.

- (1) Your assessable income for an income year includes a *forex realisation gain you make as a result of a *forex realisation event that happens during that year.

Exceptions

- (2) However, your assessable income does not include a *forex realisation gain to the extent that it:

- (b) if you issue an eligible security under the agreement otherwise than as a result of a roll-over—you are taken to have been given a loan (the notional loan); and
- (c) if an eligible security is rolled-over under the agreement—the period of the notional loan is extended by the term of the new security; and
- (d) forex realisation event 6 happens if you discharge your obligation under the notional loan; and
- (e) forex realisation event 7 happens if a material variation is made to the agreement.

Effect of roll-over

- (3) The table has effect if an *eligible security is rolled-over under a *facility agreement:

Roll-over of eligible security
Item	If the foreign currency face value of the new security...	this is the result...
1	equals the *foreign currency face value of the rolled-over security	(a) the period of each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security is extended by the term of the new security; and  (b) each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security is taken to be attached to the new security.
2	exceeds the *foreign currency face value of the rolled-over security	(a) you are taken to have been given an additional notional loan: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(i) of a foreign currency principal amount equal to the excess; and</li> <li>(ii) for a period equal to the term of the new security; and</li> <li>(iii) that is taken to be attached to the new security; and</li> <li>(iv) the start time of which is the time when you issued the new security; and</li> </ul> (b) the period of each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security is extended by the term of the new security; and  (c) each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security is taken to be attached to the new security.

Roll-over of eligible security

Item	If the foreign currency face value of the new security...	this is the result...
3	falls short of the *foreign currency face value of the rolled-over security, and there is only one notional loan attached to the rolled-over security	(a) you are taken to have paid a foreign currency amount equal to the shortfall in order to discharge so much of your obligation to pay the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan as equals the shortfall; and (b) the period of the notional loan is extended by the term of the new security; and (c) the notional loan is taken to be attached to the new security.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Roll-over of eligible security

Item	If the foreign currency face value of the new security...	this is the result...
4	falls short of the *foreign currency face value of the rolled-over security, and there are 2 or more notional loans attached to the rolled-over security	(a) you are taken to have paid a foreign currency amount equal to the shortfall in order to discharge your obligation to pay so much of the total foreign currency principal amounts of the notional loans as equals the shortfall, and to have done so on a first-in first-out basis, that is to say: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>(i) first, by fully or partly discharging (as the case requires) your obligation to pay the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan with the earliest start date; and</li><li>(ii) second, if your obligation to pay the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan with the earliest start date is fully discharged—by fully or partly discharging (as the case requires) your obligation to pay the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan with the next start date, and so on; and</li></ul> (b) the period of each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security that is not fully discharged is extended by the term of the new security; and (c) each notional loan attached to the rolled-over security that is not fully discharged is taken to be attached to the new security.

  - (b) the security is not rolled-over at the time of discharge; and
  - (c) you have made a choice for roll-over relief for the facility agreement, and that choice is in effect;
- then, for each notional loan attached to the security, you are taken to have paid a *foreign currency amount equal to the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan in order to discharge your obligation to pay the foreign currency principal amount of the notional loan.

Foreign currency

- (5) For the purposes of the application of this section to a particular *facility agreement that provides for the issue of *eligible securities, foreign currency is the *foreign currency in which the securities are denominated.

Note: For currency exchange rate effect, see section 775-105.

Forex realisation loss

Translation of foreign currency

- (4) For the purposes of the application of section 960-50 to this section, work out the *foreign currency equivalent of an amount of Australian currency as at a particular time in an income year by translating the foreign currency to Australian currency at the average exchange rate for the third month that preceded the income year.

Debit balances

- (5) For the purposes of this section, a debit balance is to be expressed as a positive amount.

- you are treated as:

Note: This means that forex realisation event 2 will happen when the account starts to pass the limited balance test.

Debit balance

- (2) For the purposes of this Division, if:
- (a) you hold a *qualifying forex account; and
  - (b) at a particular time:

Forex realisation event 2

- (1) If:
  - (a) forex realisation event 2 happens in relation to a *qualifying forex account that:

  - (b) apart from this subsection, the tax recognition time, worked out using the table in subsection 775-45(7), happened at a time when the account passed the limited balance test;section 775-45 applies to you as if the tax recognition time were the most recent time before the forex realisation event when the account ceased to pass the limited balance test (despite subsection 775-45(7)).

Forex realisation event 4

- (2) If:
  - (a) forex realisation event 4 happens in relation to a *qualifying forex account that:
    - (i) you hold at the time of the event; and

Table of sections

775-295	When this Subdivision applies
775-300	Tax consequences of choosing retranslation for arrangement
775-305	Retranslation of gains and losses relating to arrangement to which foreign exchange retranslation election applies—forex realisation event 9

Division 802—Foreign residents' income with an underlying foreign source

Table of Subdivisions

802-A Conduit foreign income

Subdivision 802-A—Conduit foreign income

Guide to Subdivision 802-A

802-5 What this Subdivision is about

A distribution that an Australian corporate tax entity makes to a foreign resident is not subject to dividend withholding tax, and is not assessable income, to the extent that the entity declares it to be conduit foreign income.

An Australian corporate tax entity has an amount that is non-assessable non-exempt income if it receives a distribution including conduit foreign income from another such entity and it makes a distribution including conduit foreign income.

This Subdivision sets out the method of working out an entity's conduit foreign income.

It also discourages streaming of distributions to entities that can take advantage of the receipt of conduit foreign income.

802-10 Objects

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to encourage the establishment in Australia of regional holding companies for foreign groups; and
- (b) to improve Australia's attractiveness as a continuing base for its multinational companies;

by providing relief from tax on *distributions by *Australian corporate tax entities to *members who are foreign residents or other Australian corporate tax entities if those distributions relate to *conduit foreign income.

802-15 Foreign residents—exempting CFI from Australian tax

- (1) So much of the *unfranked part of a *frankable distribution made by an *Australian corporate tax entity that the entity declares, in its *distribution statement, to be *conduit foreign income:

  - (b) is an amount to which section 128B (Liability to withholding tax) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 does not apply.
- (2) The declaration must be made on or before the day on which the *distribution is made.

Foreign resident beneficiaries

- (1) So much of a share of the net income of a trust as is reasonably attributable to the whole or a part of the *unfranked part of a *frankable distribution made by an *Australian corporate tax entity that the entity declares, in its *distribution statement, to be *conduit foreign income:
- (a) is not assessable income and is not *exempt income of a beneficiary of the trust who:
    - (i) is a foreign resident; and
    - (ii) is presently entitled to the share of the income of the trust; and
  - (b) is an amount to which section 128B (Liability to withholding tax) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 does not apply.

Note: A frankable distribution to which a part of the net income of a trust is reasonably attributable may be made by the Australian corporate tax entity to the trust directly, or to the trust indirectly through one or more interposed trusts.

- (2) The declaration must be made on or before the day on which the *distribution is made.

Note: For a private company, this rule may bring forward the time at which the company is required to make its distribution statement: see section 202-75.

non-assessable non-exempt income

- (1) An *Australian corporate tax entity (the receiving entity) has an amount that is not assessable income and is not *exempt income for an income year if:
- (a) it receives from another Australian corporate tax entity a *frankable distribution that has an *unfranked part; and
  - (b) the *distribution statement for the *distribution declares an amount (a received CFI amount) of the unfranked part to be *conduit foreign income; and
  - (c) the receiving entity, after the start of the income year but before the due day for lodging its *income tax return for that income year:
    - (i) makes a frankable distribution that has an unfranked part; and
    - (ii) declares an amount (a declared CFI amount) of the unfranked part to be conduit foreign income.
- (2) The amount that is not assessable income and is not *exempt income is the lesser of:
- (a) the sum of the received CFI amounts that the receiving entity receives during the income year (the total received CFI amounts); and
  - (b) the amount worked out using this formula:

$$\text{Total received CFI amounts} \times \frac{\text{Total declared CFI amounts}}{\text{Total received CFI amounts} - \text{Related expenses}}$$

Example: AusCo 1 and AusCo 2 are both Australian corporate tax entities.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

AusCo 1 pays an unfranked dividend of $80 to AusCo 2. AusCo 1 declares all of the $80 to be its conduit foreign income (so the $80 is a received CFI amount).

AusCo 2 has $5 of deductible expenses relating to the $80 dividend.

AusCo 2 pays an unfranked dividend of $30. AusCo 2 declares $15 of the $30 to be conduit foreign income (so the $15 is a declared CFI amount).

The amount that is not assessable income and is not exempt income for AusCo 2 (assuming there are no other received CFI amounts or declared CFI amounts) is:

$$$80 \times \frac{$15}{$75} = $16$$

The remaining $64 is included in AusCo 2's assessable income and it can deduct $4 (the part of the expenses related to the $64).

- (3) If the receiving entity's expenses that are reasonably related to the total received CFI amounts equal or exceed the total received CFI amounts for an income year, the total received CFI amounts is not assessable income and is not *exempt income of the receiving entity for the income year.
- (4) If a declared CFI amount is taken into account in working out an amount of *non-assessable non-exempt income of an entity for an income year, that amount cannot be taken into account for the entity for a later income year.
- (5) Work out how much *conduit foreign income in a *frankable distribution flows through a trust or a partnership in the same way that you work out the *share of a *franking credit on a *franked distribution that flows through a trust or a partnership. That amount is treated as a received CFI amount under this section.

Note: See sections 207-50, 207-55 and 207-57 for the share of a franking credit on a franked distribution that flows through a trust or a partnership.

802-25 Conduit foreign income of an Australian corporate tax entity

An *Australian corporate tax entity's conduit foreign income at a particular time (the relevant time) is worked out by applying sections 802-30 to 802-55.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 802-30

---

Note: Subdivision 715-U modifies the single entity and the entry history rule for the purposes of working out conduit foreign income for consolidated groups and MEC groups.

802-30 Foreign source income amounts

- (1) Work out the amount of the entity's *ordinary income and *statutory income derived by the entity that has been, is or will be included in an income statement or similar statement of the entity or of another entity and that would not be included in the entity's assessable income if the entity:
- (a) for a company or a *corporate limited partnership—were a foreign resident at the relevant time; or
  - (b) for a *corporate unit trust or *public trading trust—were not a *resident unit trust for the income year in which the relevant time occurs.

Note: Income statements are prepared under the Framework for the Preparation and Presentation of Financial Statements (which is referred to in the Australian Accounting Standards).

- (2) Reduce the subsection (1) amount by any part of that amount that is or will be included in the entity's assessable income (apart from section 802-20).
- (3) Add to the amount remaining after subsection (2) these amounts:
- (a) if the entity receives from another *Australian corporate tax entity a *frankable distribution that has an *unfranked part—any amount declared in the *distribution statement for that *distribution to be *conduit foreign income;
  - (b) an amount that is treated as a received CFI amount for the purposes of section 802-20 because of subsection 802-20(5);
  - (c) an amount that is *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 23AJ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 and that would be not be included under subsection (1).
- (4) Reduce the amount remaining after subsection (3) by these amounts:
- (a) an amount that is *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 23AI or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) an amount that is not included in the entity's assessable income because of the operation of paragraph 99B(2)(e) of that Act;
- (c) the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Available franking credit} \times \frac{(1 - \text{*Corporate tax rate})}{\text{*Corporate tax rate}}$$

where:

available franking credit means any part of the amount remaining after subsection (3) to the extent to which a *franking credit arises or will arise for the entity.

- (5) Reduce the amount remaining after subsection (4) by any of the entity's expenses that are reasonably related to that amount, except expenses the entity has deducted or can deduct under this Act. In applying this subsection to an amount covered by paragraph (3)(a), assume that amount is *non-assessable non-exempt income.
- (6) The result is an amount included in the entity's conduit foreign income.
- (7) This section applies to an entity as if it had derived an amount if the amount has been applied for its benefit (including by discharging all or part of a debt it owes) or as it directs.

802-35 Capital gains and losses

Capital gains

- (1) The entity's conduit foreign income includes these amounts:
  - (a) the amount by which a *capital gain of the entity is reduced because of the operation of section 768-505;
  - (b) a capital gain that is disregarded because of the operation of subsection 23AH(3) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (c) the amount of a capital gain that is disregarded as a result of the operation of an international tax sharing treaty (as defined in subsection 136AA(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Capital losses

- (2) The entity's conduit foreign income is reduced by these amounts:
- (a) the amount by which a *capital loss of the entity is reduced because of the operation of section 768-505;
  - (b) a capital loss that is disregarded because of the operation of subsection 23AH(4) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (c) the amount of a capital loss that is disregarded as a result of the operation of an international tax sharing treaty (as defined in subsection 136AA(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).

Timing rule

- (3) The adjustments are made under this section at the end of the income year in which the *CGT event occurred.

802-40 Effect of foreign income tax offset on conduit foreign income

The entity's conduit foreign income includes an amount if a tax offset arose for the entity under Division 770 for the income year immediately before the one in which the relevant time occurs. The amount is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Offset} \times \frac{(1 - \text{*Corporate tax rate})}{\text{*Corporate tax rate}}$$

802-45 Previous declarations of conduit foreign income

The entity's conduit foreign income is reduced if:

- (a) the entity makes a *frankable distribution that has an *unfranked part; and
- (b) the entity declares an amount of the unfranked part to be conduit foreign income.

The amount of the reduction is the amount so declared.

Note: If the amount declared is less than the amount available for declaration, the difference is available for a later declaration.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

802-50 Receipt of an unfranked distribution from another Australian corporate tax entity

- (1) The entity's conduit foreign income is reduced if:
  - (a) the entity (the receiving entity) receives from another *Australian corporate tax entity a *frankable distribution that has an *unfranked part; and
  - (b) the *distribution statement for the *distribution declares an amount (the declared amount) of the unfranked part to be conduit foreign income; and
  - (c) some or all of the declared amount is not *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 802-20.
- (2) The amount of the reduction is the amount that is not *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 802-20 less any expenses reasonably related to that amount.

802-55 No double benefits

An amount cannot be both:

- (a) an unfranked non-portfolio dividend credit for an entity under section 46FB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (b) counted towards:
  - (i) the entity's *conduit foreign income; and
  - (ii) the entity's *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 802-20.

802-60 No streaming of distributions

- (1) Subsection (2) has effect if:
  - (a) an *Australian corporate tax entity makes one or more *frankable distributions in a *franking period; and
  - (b) at least one of the *distributions has an *unfranked part; and
  - (c) the entity declares an amount of the unfranked part to be *conduit foreign income.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 802-60

---

- (2) If the entity does not, for that *franking period, declare the same proportion of *conduit foreign income for all *membership interests and *non-share equity interests then, instead of the amount that it declared to be conduit foreign income on those *distributions, it is taken to have declared under section 802-45 the greater amount that it would have declared had it declared that same proportion on all those distributions.

Note: Breaching subsection (2) may make the entity subject to a penalty under section 288-80 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (about over declaring conduit foreign income).

Example: There are 10,000 membership interests in AusCo Limited, 7,500 held by foreign residents and 2,500 held by Australian residents. It has $1,800 of conduit foreign income.

AusCo makes an unfranked distribution of 50 cents per membership interest to all of its members. It declares $1,500 of the distribution to be conduit foreign income for its 7,500 foreign membership interests (20 cents per membership interest or 40% of each distribution) and none for its Australian membership interests.

AusCo is taken to have declared the same proportion (40% of each distribution) of conduit foreign income for its Australian membership interests (which amounts to $500 of conduit foreign income). It is therefore taken to have declared $2,000 of conduit foreign income. This is an over-declaration of $200 and a penalty under section 288-80 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 will apply.

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), ignore *membership interests and *non-share equity interests that do not carry a right to receive *distributions (other than distributions on winding up).
- (4) Despite subsection (2), an entity that receives a *frankable distribution that has an *unfranked part is entitled to rely on the *distribution statement made by the entity that made the distribution.

Guide to Division 820

820-1 What this Division is about

This Division applies to foreign controlled Australian entities, Australian entities that operate internationally and foreign entities that operate in Australia.

Financing expenses that an entity can otherwise deduct from its assessable income may be disallowed under this Division in the following circumstances:

- for an entity that is not an authorised deposit-taking institution for the purposes of the Banking Act 1959 (an ADI)—the entity’s debt exceeds the prescribed level (and the entity is therefore “thinly capitalised”);
- for an entity that is an ADI—the entity’s capital is less than the prescribed level (and the entity is therefore “thinly capitalised”).

820-30 Object of Division

The Object of this Division is to ensure that the following entities do not reduce their tax liabilities by using an excessive amount of *debt capital to finance their Australian operations:

- (a) *Australian entities that operate internationally;
- (b) Australian entities that are foreign controlled;
- (c) *foreign entities that operate in Australia.

820-32 Exemption for private or domestic assets and non-debt liabilities

This Division does not apply to:

- (a) an asset that is used (or held for use) wholly or principally for private or domestic purposes; or
- (b) a *non-debt liability that is wholly or principally of a private or domestic nature.

820-35 Application—$250,000 threshold

Subdivision 820-B, 820-C, 820-D or 820-E does not apply to disallow any *debt deduction of an entity for an income year if the total debt deductions of that entity and all its *associate entities for that year are $250,000 or less.

820-37 Application—assets threshold

- (1) Subdivision 820-B, 820-C, 820-D or 820-E does not apply to disallow any *debt deduction of an entity for an income year if:
  - (a) the entity is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *outward investing entity (ADI) for a period that is all or any part of that year; and
  - (b) the entity is not also an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *inward investing entity (ADI) for all or any part of that period; and
  - (c) the result of applying the following formula is equal to or greater than 0.9:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

$$\frac{\text{Sum of the average Australian assets of the entity and the average Australian assets of each of the entity's *associates}}{\text{Sum of the average total assets of the entity and the average total assets of each of the entity's associates}}$$

where:

average Australian assets:

- (a) of an *Australian entity—is the average value, for that year, of all the assets of the entity, other than:
- (i) any assets attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments; or
  - (ii) any *debt interests held by the entity, to the extent to which any value of the interests is all or a part of the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity; or
  - (iii) any *equity interests or debt interests held by the entity, to the extent to which any value of the interests is all or a part of the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity; or
  - (iv) any debt interests that are *issued by *associates of the entity, that are *on issue, and that are held by the entity; or
  - (v) any equity interests that the entity holds in associates of the entity; and
- (b) of a *foreign entity—is the average value, for that year, of all the assets of the entity that are:
- (i) located in Australia; or
  - (ii) attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments; or
  - (iii) debt interests held by the entity, to the extent to which the interests are covered by subsection (2); or
  - (iv) equity interests held by the entity, to the extent to which the interests are covered by subsection (3);
- other than:
- (v) any debt interests that are issued by associates of the entity, that are on issue, and that are held by the entity; or
  - (vi) any equity interests that the entity holds in associates of the entity.

---

average total assets of an entity is the average value, for that year, of all the assets of the entity, other than:

- (a) any *debt interests that are *issued by *associates of the entity, that are *on issue, and that are held by the entity; or
- (b) any *equity interests that the entity holds in associates of the entity.

Foreign entity—debt interest issued by an Australian entity

- (2) If a *foreign entity holds a *debt interest that:

- (a) was *issued by an *Australian entity; and
- (b) is *on issue;

this subsection covers the interest to the extent to which the interest is not attributable to any *overseas permanent establishments of the Australian entity.

Foreign entity—equity interest in an Australian entity

- (3) If a *foreign entity holds an *equity interest in an *Australian entity, this subsection covers the interest to the extent to which the interest is not attributable to any *overseas permanent establishments of the Australian entity.

820-39 Exemption of certain special purpose entities

- (1) Subdivision 820-B, 820-C, 820-D or 820-E does not apply to disallow any *debt deduction of an entity for an income year if the entity meets the conditions in subsection (3) throughout the income year.
- (2) Subdivision 820-B, 820-C, 820-D or 820-E does not apply to disallow any *debt deduction of an entity for an income year that is an amount incurred by the entity during a part of that year, if the entity meets the conditions in subsection (3) throughout that part.
- (3) The conditions are:
  - (a) the entity is one established for the purposes of managing some or all of the economic risk associated with assets, liabilities or investments (whether the entity assumes the risk from another entity or creates the risk itself); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the total value of *debt interests in the entity is at least 50% of the total value of the entity's assets; and
  - (c) the entity is an insolvency-remote special purpose entity according to criteria of an internationally recognised rating agency that are applicable to the entity's circumstances.
- (4) The condition in paragraph (3)(c) can be met without the rating agency determining that the entity meets those criteria.

Note 1: While an entity meets the conditions in subsection (3), it is treated for the purposes of this Division as not being a member of a consolidated group or MEC group (see section 820-584).

Note 2: An entity that does not qualify for the exemption in this section may still be a securitisation vehicle under subsection 820-942(2), in which case the value of its securitised assets will count towards its zero-capital amount under Subdivision 820-K.

Multi-tier special purpose entities

- (5) An entity is taken to meet the conditions in subsection (3) throughout a period that is all or part of an income year, if the entity is one of 2 or more entities that together satisfy the condition that, assuming:
- (a) each of the entities had been a division or part of the same entity (the notional entity), rather than a separate entity, throughout that period; and
  - (b) the notional entity had consisted only of those divisions and parts throughout that period;
- the notional entity would meet the conditions in subsection (3) throughout that period.

820-40 Meaning of debt deduction

- (1) Debt deduction, of an entity and for an income year, is a cost incurred by the entity in relation to a *debt interest issued by the entity, to the extent to which:
- (a) the cost is:
    - (i) interest, an amount in the nature of interest, or any other amount that is calculated by reference to the time value of money; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) the difference between the *financial benefits received, or to be received, by the entity under the *scheme giving rise to the debt interest and the financial benefits provided, or to be provided, under that scheme; or
  - (iii) any amount directly incurred in obtaining or maintaining the financial benefits received, or to be received, by the entity under the scheme giving rise to the debt interest; or
  - (iv) any other expense incurred by the entity that is specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this subparagraph; and
- (b) the entity can, apart from this Division, deduct the cost from its assessable income for that year;
- (2) A cost covered by paragraph (1)(a) includes, but is not limited to, any of the following:
- (a) an amount in substitution for interest;
  - (b) a discount in respect of a security;
  - (c) a fee or charge in respect of a debt, including application fees, line fees, service fees, brokerage and stamp duty in respect of document registration or security for the debt interest;
  - (d) an amount that is taken under an *income tax law to be an amount of interest in respect of a lease, a hire purchase arrangement or any other *arrangement specified in that law;
  - (e) any loss in respect of:
    - (i) a reciprocal purchase agreement (otherwise known as a repurchase agreement);
    - (ii) a sell-buyback arrangement;
    - (iii) a securities loan arrangement;
  - (f) any amount covered by paragraph (1)(a) that has been assigned or is dealt with in any way on behalf of the party who would otherwise be entitled to that amount.
- (3) To avoid doubt, the following amounts that are incurred by an entity in relation to a *debt interest issued by the entity are not covered by paragraph (1)(a):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) losses and outgoings directly associated with hedging or managing the financial risk in respect of the debt interest;
  - (b) losses incurred by the entity in relation to which the following apply:
    - (i) the losses would otherwise be a cost covered by subparagraph (1)(a)(ii); but
    - (ii) the benefits mentioned in that subparagraph are measured in a foreign currency or a unit of account other than Australian currency (for example, ounces of gold) and the losses have arisen only because of changes in the rate of converting that foreign currency or that unit of account into Australian currency;
  - (c) salary or wages;
  - (d) rental expenses for a lease if the lease is not a debt interest;
  - (e) an expense specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this paragraph.

Subdivision 820-B—Thin capitalisation rules for outward investing entities (non-ADI)

Guide to Subdivision 820-B

820-65 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the thin capitalisation rules that apply to an Australian entity that has certain types of overseas investments and is not an authorised deposit-taking institution (an ADI). These rules deal with the following matters:

- how to work out the entity's maximum allowable debt for an income year;
- how all or a part of the debt deductions claimed by the entity may be disallowed if the maximum allowable debt is exceeded;
- how to apply these rules to a period that is less than an income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Operative provisions

820-85 Thin capitalisation rule for outward investing entities (non-ADI)

Thin capitalisation rule

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year (to the extent that it is not attributable to an *overseas permanent establishment of the entity) if, for that year:
- (a) the entity is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) (see subsection (2)); and
  - (b) the entity's *adjusted average debt (see subsection (3)) exceeds its *maximum allowable debt (see section 820-90).

Note 1: This Subdivision does not apply if the total debt deductions of that entity and all its associate entities for that year are $250,000 or less, see section 820-35.

Note 2: To work out the amount to be disallowed, see section 820-115.

Note 3: For the rules that apply to an entity that is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) for only a part of an income year, see section 820-120 in conjunction with subsection (2) of this section.

Note 4: A consolidated group or MEC group may be an outward investing entity (non-ADI) to which this Subdivision applies: see Subdivisions 820-FA and 820-FB.

Outward investing entity (non-ADI)

- (2) The entity is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period that is all or a part of an income year if, and only if, it is:
- (a) an *outward investor (general) for that period (as set out in items 1 and 3 of the following table); or
  - (b) an *outward investor (financial) for that period (as set out in items 2 and 4 of that table).

Outward investing entity (non-ADI)

Item	If:	and:	then:
1	the entity (the relevant entity ) is one or both of the following throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year: (a) an *Australian controller of at least one *Australian controlled foreign entity (not necessarily the same Australian controlled foreign entity throughout that period); (b) an Australian entity that carries on a *business at or through at least one *overseas permanent establishment (not necessarily the same permanent establishment throughout that period)	the relevant entity is not a *financial entity, nor an *ADI, at any time during that period	the relevant entity is an outward investor (general) for that period
2	the entity (the relevant entity ) satisfies this column in item 1	the relevant entity is a *financial entity throughout that period	the relevant entity is an outward investor (financial) for that period

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Outward investing entity (non-ADI)
Item	If:	and:	then:
3	(a) the entity (the relevant entity ) is an *Australian entity throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year; and (b) throughout that period, the relevant entity is an *associate entity of another Australian entity; and (c) that other Australian entity is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *outward investing entity (ADI) for that period	the relevant entity is not a *financial entity, nor an *ADI, at any time during that period	the relevant entity is an outward investor (general) for that period
4	the entity (the relevant entity ) and another Australian entity satisfy this column in item 3	the relevant entity is a *financial entity throughout that period	the relevant entity is an outward investor (financial) for that period

Note 1: To determine whether an entity is an Australian controller of an Australian controlled foreign entity, see Subdivision 820-H.

Note 2: The rules that apply to an outward investor (general) are different from those that apply to an outward investor (financial) in some instances. For example, see sections 820-95 and 820-100.

Adjusted average debt

- (3) The entity's adjusted average debt for an income year is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for that year (the relevant year), of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for the relevant year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for the relevant year, of all the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity.
- Step 4. If the entity is a *financial entity throughout the relevant year, add to the result of step 3 the average value, for the relevant year, of the entity's *borrowed securities amount.
- Step 5. Add to the result of step 4 the average value, for the relevant year, of the *cost-free debt capital of the entity. The result of this step is the adjusted average debt.

Note: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

- (4) The entity's *adjusted average debt does not exceed its *maximum allowable debt if the adjusted average debt is nil or a negative amount.

820-90 Maximum allowable debt

Entity is not also an inward investment vehicle (general) or inward investment vehicle (financial)

- (1) The entity's maximum allowable debt for an income year is the greatest of the following amounts if the entity is not also an *inward investment vehicle (general) or an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for all or any part of that year:
- (a) the *safe harbour debt amount;
  - (b) the *arm's length debt amount;
  - (c) unless the entity has *worldwide equity of a negative amount—the *worldwide gearing debt amount.

Note: The safe harbour debt amount and the worldwide gearing debt amount differ depending on whether the entity is an outward investor (general) or an outward investor (financial), see sections 820-95, 820-100 and 820-110.

---

Entity is also an inward investment vehicle (general) or inward investment vehicle (financial)

- (2) The entity's maximum allowable debt for an income year is the greater of the following amounts if the entity is also an *inward investment vehicle (general) or an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for all or any part of that year:
- (a) the *safe harbour debt amount;
  - (b) the *arm's length debt amount.

Note: The safe harbour debt amount differs depending on whether the entity is an outward investor (general) or an outward investor (financial), see sections 820-95 and 820-100.

820-95 Safe harbour debt amount—outward investor (general)

If the entity is an *outward investor (general) for the income year, the safe harbour debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this section. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity.
- Step 5. Reduce the result of step 4 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity.
- Step 6. Reduce the result of step 5 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 7. Multiply the result of step 6 by  $\frac{3}{4}$ .
- Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the safe harbour debt amount.

Example: AK Pty Ltd, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets (other than assets attributable to its overseas permanent establishments) of $100 million.

The average values of its relevant associate entity debt, associate entity equity, controlled foreign entity debt, controlled foreign entity equity and non-debt liabilities are \$10 million, \$8 million, \$5 million, \$2 million and \$5 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through the application of steps 2 to 6) leaves \$70 million. Multiplying \$70 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$52.5 million. As the average value of the company's associate entity excess amount is \$4.5 million, the safe harbour debt amount is therefore \$57 million.

820-100 Safe harbour debt amount—outward investor (financial)

- (1) If the entity is an *outward investor (financial) for the income year, the safe harbour debt amount is the lesser of the following amounts:
- (a) the *total debt amount (worked out under subsection (2));
  - (b) the *adjusted on-lent amount (worked out under subsection (3)).

However, if the 2 amounts are equal, it is the total debt amount.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Total debt amount

- (2) The total debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity.
- Step 5. Reduce the result of step 4 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity.
- Step 6. Reduce the result of step 5 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity.
- Step 7. Reduce the result of step 6 by the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 8. Multiply the result of step 7 by <sup>20/21</sup>.
- Step 9. Add to the result of step 8 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount.

---

---

Step 10. Add to the result of step 9 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the total debt amount.

Example: GLM Limited, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets (other than assets attributable to its overseas permanent establishments) of $160 million.

The average values of its relevant associate entity debt, associate entity equity, controlled foreign entity debt, controlled foreign entity equity, non-debt liabilities and zero capital amount are $5 million, $5 million, $9 million, $6 million, $5 million and $4 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 7) leaves $126 million. Multiplying $126 million by <sup>20/21</sup> results in $120 million. Adding the average zero capital amount of $4 million results in $124 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the total debt amount is therefore $124 million.

Adjusted on-lent amount

- (3) The adjusted on-lent amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity.
- Step 5. Reduce the result of step 4 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity.
- Step 6. Reduce the result of step 5 by the amount (the average on-lent amount) which is the average value, for that year, of the entity's *on-lent amount (other than *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity). If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 7. Multiply the result of step 6 by  $\frac{3}{4}$ .
- Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average on-lent amount.
- Step 9. Reduce the result of step 8 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 10. Add to the result of step 9 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the adjusted on-lent amount.

Example: GLM Limited, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets (other than assets attributable to its overseas permanent establishments) of $160 million.

The average values of its relevant associate entity equity, controlled foreign entity debt, controlled foreign entity equity, non-debt liabilities and on-lent amount are \$5 million, \$9 million, \$6 million, \$5 million and \$35 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 6) leaves \$100 million. Multiplying \$100 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$75 million. Adding the average on-lent amount of \$35 million results in \$110 million. Reducing the result of step 8 by the associate entity debt amount of \$5 million equals \$105 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the adjusted on-lent amount is therefore \$105 million.

820-105 Arm's length debt amount

- (1) The arm's length debt amount is a notional amount that, having regard to the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2) and the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3), would satisfy both paragraphs (a) and (b):
- (a) the amount represents a notional amount of *debt capital that:
    - (i) the entity would reasonably be expected to have throughout the income year; and
    - (ii) would give rise to an amount of *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year; and
    - (iii) would be attributable to the entity's Australian business as mentioned in subsection (2);
  - (b) commercial lending institutions that were not *associates of the entity (the notional lenders) would reasonably be expected to have entered into *schemes that would:
    - (i) give rise to *debt interests that constituted that notional amount of debt capital of the entity; and
    - (ii) provide for terms and conditions for the debt interests that would reasonably be expected to have applied if the entity and the notional lenders had been dealing at arm's length with each other throughout the income year mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(i).

Note: The entity must keep records in accordance with section 820-980 if the entity works out an amount under this section.

Factual assumptions

- (2) Irrespective of what actually happened during that year, the following assumptions must be made in working out that amount:
- (a) the entity's commercial activities in connection with Australia (the Australian business) during that year do not include:
    - (i) any *business carried on by the entity at or through its *overseas permanent establishments; and
    - (ii) the holding of any *associate entity debt, *controlled foreign entity debt or *controlled foreign entity equity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the entity had carried on the Australian business that it actually carried on during that year;
- (c) the nature of the entity's assets and liabilities (to the extent that they are attributable to the Australian business) had been as they were during that year;
- (d) except as stated in paragraph (1)(b) and paragraphs (e), (f) and (g) of this subsection, the entity had carried on the Australian business in the same circumstances as what actually existed during that year;
- (e) any guarantee, security or other form of credit support provided to the entity in relation to the Australian business during that year:
  - (i) by its *associates; or
  - (ii) by the use of assets of the entity that are attributable to the entity's overseas permanent establishments;is taken not to have been received by the entity;
- (f) the entity's only activities during that year were the Australian business;
- (g) the entity's only assets and liabilities during that year were those referred to in paragraph (c) of this subsection.

However, the assumptions set out in paragraphs (f) and (g) of this subsection are not to be made in taking into account the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3).

Relevant factors

- (3) On the basis of the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2), the following factors must be taken into account in determining whether or not an amount satisfies paragraphs (1)(a) and (b):
  - (a) the functions performed, the assets used, and the risks assumed, by the entity in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
  - (b) the terms and conditions of the *debt capital that the entity actually had in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
  - (c) the nature of, and title to, any assets of the entity attributable to the Australian business that were available to the entity

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

throughout that year as security for its debt capital for that business;

- (d) the purposes for which *schemes for debt capital had been actually entered into by the entity in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
- (e) the entity's capacity to meet all its liabilities in relation to the Australian business (whether during that year or at any other time);
- (f) the profit of the entity (within the meaning of the *accounting standards), and the return on its capital, in relation to the Australian business (whether during that year or at any other time);
- (g) the debt to equity ratios of the following throughout that year:
  - (i) the entity;
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
  - (iii) each of the entity's *associate entities that engage in commercial activities similar to the Australian business;
- (h) the commercial practices adopted by independent parties dealing with each other at arm's length in the industry in which the entity carries on the Australian business throughout that year (whether in Australia or in comparable markets elsewhere);
- (i) the way in which the entity financed its commercial activities (other than the Australian business) throughout that year;
- (j) the general state of the Australian economy throughout that year;
- (k) all of the above factors existing at the time when the entity last entered into a scheme that gave rise to an actual *debt interest attributable to the Australian business that remains *on issue throughout that year;
- (l) any other factors which are specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this section, including factors specific to an *outward investor (general) or an *outward investor (financial).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Commissioner's power

- (4) If the Commissioner considers an amount worked out by the entity under this section does not appropriately take into account the factual assumptions and the relevant factors, the Commissioner may substitute another amount that the Commissioner considers better reflects those assumptions and factors.

820-110 Worldwide gearing debt amount

Outward investor (general)

- (1) If the entity is an *outward investor (general) for the income year, the worldwide gearing debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Divide the average value of all the entity's *worldwide debt for the income year by the average value of all the entity's *worldwide equity for that year.
- Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by  $^{12}/_{10}$ .
- Step 3. Add 1 to the result of step 2.
- Step 4. Divide the result of step 2 by the result of step 3.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 in this method statement by the result of step 6 in the method statement in section 820-95.
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the worldwide gearing debt amount.

Example: AK Pty Ltd, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of worldwide debt of $83.4 million and an average value of worldwide equity of $27 million. The result of applying steps 1 and 2 is therefore 3.706. Dividing 3.706 by 4.706 (through applying steps 3 and 4) and multiplying the result by $70 million (which is the result of step 6 in the method statement in section 820-95) equals $55.13 million. As the average value of the company's associate entity excess amount is $4.5 million, the worldwide gearing debt amount is therefore $59.63 million.

---

Outward investor (financial)

- (2) If the entity is an *outward investor (financial) for that year, the worldwide gearing debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Divide the average value of all the entity's *worldwide debt for the income year by the average value of all the entity's *worldwide equity for that year.
- Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by  $12/10$ .
- Step 3. Add 1 to the result of step 2.
- Step 4. Divide the result of step 2 by the result of step 3.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 in this method statement by the result of step 7 in the method statement in subsection 820-100(2).
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount (other than any zero-capital amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments).
- Step 7. Add to the result of step 6 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the worldwide gearing debt amount.

Example: GLM Limited, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of worldwide debt of $120 million and an average value of worldwide equity of $40 million. The result of applying steps 1 and 2 is therefore 3.6. Dividing 3.6 by 4.6 (through applying steps 3 and 4) and multiplying the result by $126 million (which is the result of step 7 of the method statement in subsection 820-100(2)) equals $98.61 million. The average value of zero-capital amount (see step 7 of the method statement in subsection 820-100(2)) is $4 million. Adding that amount to $98.61 million results in $102.61 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the worldwide gearing debt amount is therefore $102.61 million.

820-115 Amount of debt deduction disallowed

The amount of *debt deduction disallowed under subsection 820-85(1) is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Debt deduction} \times \frac{\text{Excess debt}}{\text{Average debt}}$$

where:

average debt means the sum of:

- (a) the average value, for the income year, of the entity's *debt capital that is covered by step 1 of the method statement in subsection 820-85(3); and
- (b) the average value, for that year, of the entity's *cost-free debt capital that is covered by step 5 of that method statement; (disregarding any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments in working out the average values).

debt deduction means each *debt deduction covered by subsection 820-85(1).

excess debt means the amount by which the entity's *adjusted average debt for that year (see subsection 820-85(3)) exceeds its *maximum allowable debt for that year.

Note: The disallowed amount also does not form part of the cost base of a CGT asset. See section 110-54.

820-120 Application to part year periods

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year that is an amount incurred by the entity during a period that is a part of that year (to the extent that it is not attributable to an *overseas permanent establishment of the entity), if:
  - (a) the entity is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) for that period; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the entity's *adjusted average debt for that period exceeds the entity's *maximum allowable debt for that period.

Note: To determine whether an entity is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) for that period, see subsection 820-85(2).

- (2) The entity's adjusted average debt for that period is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for that period, of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that period, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that period, of all the *controlled foreign entity debt of the entity.
- Step 4. If the entity is a *financial entity throughout that period, add to the result of step 3 the average value, for that period, of the entity's *borrowed securities amount.
- Step 5. Add to the result of step 4 the average value, for that period, of the *cost-free debt capital of the entity. The result of this step is the adjusted average debt.

- (3) The entity's *adjusted average debt does not exceed its *maximum allowable debt if the adjusted average debt is nil or a negative amount.
- (4) For the purposes of determining:
- the *maximum allowable debt for the period mentioned in subsection (1); and
  - the amount of each *debt deduction to be disallowed;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 820-180

sections 820-90 to 820-115 apply in relation to that entity and that period with the modifications set out in the following table:

Modifications of sections 820-90 to 820-115
Item	Provisions	Modifications
1	Sections 820-90 to 820-115	A reference to an income year is taken to be a reference to that period
2	Section 820-115	A reference to subsection 820-85(1) is taken to be a reference to subsection (1) of this section
3	Section 820-115	adjusted average debt is taken to have the meaning given by subsection (2) of this section average debt is taken to be the sum of: (a) the average value, for that period, of the entity's *debt capital that is covered by step 1 of the method statement in subsection (2) of this section; and (b) the average value, for that period, of the entity's *cost-free debt capital that is covered by step 5 of that method statement; (disregarding any amount that is attributable to the entity's *overseas permanent establishments in working out the average values).

Subdivision 820-C—Thin capitalisation rules for inward investing entities (non-ADI)

Guide to Subdivision 820-C

820-180 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the thin capitalisation rules that apply to a foreign entity or a foreign controlled Australian entity that is not an authorised deposit-taking institution (an ADI). These rules deal with the following matters:

- how to work out the entity's maximum allowable debt for an income year;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- how all or a part of the debt deductions claimed by the entity may be disallowed if the maximum allowable debt is exceeded;
- how to apply these rules to a period that is less than an income year.

Table of sections

820-185 Thin capitalisation rule for inward investing entities (non-ADI)

Thin capitalisation rule

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year if:
  - (a) the entity is an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) for that year (see subsection (2)), but is not also an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) (see section 820-85) for all or any part of that year; and
  - (b) for that year, the entity's *adjusted average debt (see subsection (3)) exceeds its *maximum allowable debt (see section 820-190).

- Note 1: This Subdivision does not apply if the total debt deductions of that entity and all its associate entities for that year are $250,000 or less, see section 820-35.
- Note 2: To work out the amount to be disallowed, see section 820-220.
- Note 3: For the rules that apply to an entity that is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) as well as an inward investing entity (non-ADI), see Subdivision 820-B.
- Note 4: For the rules that apply to an entity that is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) for only a part of an income year, see section 820-225 in conjunction with subsection (2) of this section.
- Note 5: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.
- Note 6: A consolidated group or MEC group may be an inward investing entity (non-ADI) to which this Subdivision applies: see Subdivisions 820-FA and 820-FB.

Inward investing entity (non-ADI)

- (2) The entity is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period that is all or a part of an income year if, and only if, it is:
- (a) an *inward investment vehicle (general) for that period (as set out in item 1 of the following table); or
  - (b) an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that period (as set out in item 2 of that table); or
  - (c) an *inward investor (general) for that period (as set out in item 3 of that table); or
  - (d) an *inward investor (financial) for that period (as set out in item 4 of that table).

Inward investing entity (non-ADI)
Item	If the entity is a:	and the entity:	the entity is an:
1	*foreign controlled Australian entity throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year	is not a *financial entity, nor an *ADI, at any time during that period	inward investment vehicle (general) for that period
2	*foreign controlled Australian entity throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year	is a *financial entity throughout that period	inward investment vehicle (financial) for that period

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Inward investing entity (non-ADI)

Item	If the entity is a:	and the entity:	the entity is an:
3	*foreign entity throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year	is not a *financial entity, nor an *ADI, at any time during that period	inward investor (general) for that period
4	*foreign entity throughout a period that is all or a part of an income year	is a *financial entity throughout that period	inward investor (financial) for that period

Note 1: To determine whether an entity is a foreign controlled Australian entity, see Subdivision 820-H.

Note 2: The rules that apply to these 4 types of entities are different in some instances. For example, see sections 820-195 to 820-210.

Note 3: An entity covered by item 3 or 4 of the table may be required to keep certain records, see Subdivision 820-L.

Adjusted average debt

- (3) The entity's adjusted average debt for an income year is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for that year (the relevant year), of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.

Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for the relevant year, of:

- (a) if the entity is an *inward investment vehicle (general) or an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that year—all the *associate entity debt of the entity; or

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) if the entity is an *inward investor (general) or an *inward investor (financial) for that year—all the associate entity debt of the entity, to the extent that it is attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments.

Step 3. If the entity is a *financial entity throughout the relevant year, add to the result of step 2 the average value, for the relevant year, of the entity's *borrowed securities amount.

Step 4. Add to the result of step 3 the average value, for the relevant year, of the *cost-free debt capital of the entity. The result of this step is the adjusted average debt.

Note: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

- (4) The entity's *adjusted average debt does not exceed its *maximum allowable debt if the adjusted average debt is nil or a negative amount.

820-190 Maximum allowable debt

The entity's maximum allowable debt for an income year is the greater of the following amounts:

- (a) the *safe harbour debt amount;
(b) the *arm's length debt amount.

Note: The safe harbour debt amount differs depending on whether the entity is an inward investment vehicle (general), inward investment vehicle (financial), inward investor (general) or inward investor (financial), see sections 820-195 to 820-215.

820-195 Safe harbour debt amount—inward investment vehicle (general)

If the entity is an *inward investment vehicle (general) for the income year, the safe harbour debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 by  $\frac{3}{4}$ .
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the safe harbour debt amount.

Example: ALWZ Ltd, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets of $100 million.

The average values of its associate entity debt, associate entity equity and non-debt liabilities are \$10 million, \$5 million and \$5 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 4) leaves \$80 million. Multiplying \$80 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$60 million. As the average value of the company's associate entity excess amount is \$2 million, the safe harbour debt amount is therefore \$62 million.

820-200 Safe harbour debt amount—inward investment vehicle (financial)

- (1) If the entity is an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for the income year, the safe harbour debt amount is the lesser of the following amounts:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the *total debt amount (worked out under subsection (2));
- (b) the *adjusted on-lent amount (worked out under subsection (3)).

However, if the 2 amounts are equal, it is the total debt amount.

Total debt amount

- (2) The total debt amount is the result of the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity.
- Step 5. Reduce the result of step 4 by the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 6. Multiply the result of step 5 by <sup>20</sup>/<sub>21</sub>.
- Step 7. Add to the result of step 6 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount.
- Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the total debt amount.

---

---

Example: KJW Finance Pty Ltd, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets of $120 million.

The average values of its associate entity debt, associate entity equity, its non-debt liabilities and its zero-capital amount are $5 million, $3 million, $2 million and $5 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 5) leaves $105 million. Multiplying $105 million by <sup>20</sup>/<sub>21</sub> results in $100 million. Adding the zero-capital amount of $5 million to $100 million results in $105 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the total debt amount is therefore $105 million.

Adjusted on-lent amount

- (3) The adjusted on-lent amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the assets of the entity.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the amount (the average on-lent amount) which is the average value, for that year, of the entity's *on-lent amount. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 by <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub>.
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average on-lent amount.
- Step 7. Reduce the result of step 6 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the adjusted on-lent amount.

Example: KJW Finance Pty Ltd, a company that is an Australian entity, has an average value of assets of $120 million.

The average values of its associate entity equity, non-debt liabilities and on-lent amount are \$3 million, \$2 million and \$35 million respectively. Deducting these amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 4) leaves \$80 million. Multiplying \$80 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$60 million. Adding the average on-lent amount of \$35 million results in \$95 million. Reducing \$95 million by the associate entity debt amount of \$5 million results in \$90 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the adjusted on-lent amount is therefore \$90 million.

820-205 Safe harbour debt amount—inward investor (general)

If the entity is an *inward investor (general) for the income year, the safe harbour debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this section.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all of the following assets of the entity (the Australian investments):

- (a) assets that are attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments;
- (b) other assets that are held for the purposes of producing the entity's assessable income.

Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.

Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity that have arisen because of the Australian investments. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 by  $\frac{3}{4}$ .
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the safe harbour debt amount.

Example: RJ Corporation is a company that is not an Australian entity. The average value of its Australian investments is $100 million.

The average value of its relevant associate entity debt, associate entity equity and non-debt liabilities is \$10 million, \$5 million and \$5 million respectively. Deducting those amounts from the result of step 1 leaves \$80 million. Multiplying \$80 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$60 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the safe harbour debt amount is therefore \$60 million.

820-210 Safe harbour debt amount—inward investor (financial)

- (1) If the entity is an *inward investor (financial) for that year, the safe harbour debt amount is the lesser of the following amounts:
- (a) the *total debt amount (worked out under subsection (2));
  - (b) the *adjusted on-lent amount (worked out under subsection (3)).

However, if the 2 amounts are equal, it is the total debt amount.

Total debt amount

- (2) The total debt amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all of the following assets of the entity (the Australian investments):
- (a) assets that are attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments;
  - (b) other assets that are held for the purposes of producing the entity's assessable income.
- Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity that have arisen because of the Australian investments.
- Step 5. Reduce the result of step 4 by the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount that has arisen because of the Australian investments. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 6. Multiply the result of step 5 by <sup>20</sup>/<sub>21</sub>.
- Step 7. Add to the result of step 6 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *zero-capital amount that has arisen because of the Australian investments.

---

---

Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the total debt amount.

Example: FXS Financial SA is a company that is not an Australian entity. The average value of its Australian investments is $120 million.

The average value of its relevant associate entity debt, associate entity equity, non-debt liabilities and zero-capital amount are $5 million, $2 million, $3 million and $5 million respectively. Deducting those amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 5) leaves $105 million. Multiplying $105 million by <sup>20/21</sup> results in $100 million. Adding the average zero-capital amount of $5 million results in $105 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the total debt amount is therefore $105 million.

Adjusted on-lent amount

- (3) The adjusted on-lent amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all of the following assets of the entity (the Australian investments):

- (a) assets that are attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments;
- (b) other assets that are held for the purposes of producing the entity's assessable income.

Step 1A. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of all the *excluded equity interests in the entity.

Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1A by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity equity of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 2 by the average value, for that year, of all the *non-debt liabilities of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments.
- Step 4. Reduce the result of step 3 by the amount (the average on-lent amount) which is the average value, for that year, of the *on-lent amount of the entity (to the extent that it is the value of all or a part of the Australian investments). If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 5. Multiply the result of step 4 by  $\frac{3}{4}$ .
- Step 6. Add to the result of step 5 the average on-lent amount.
- Step 7. Reduce the result of step 6 by the average value, for that year, of all the *associate entity debt of the entity that has arisen because of the Australian investments. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.
- Step 8. Add to the result of step 7 the average value, for that year, of the entity's *associate entity excess amount. The result of this step is the adjusted on-lent amount.

Example: FXS Financial SA is a company that is not an Australian entity. The average value of its Australian investments is $120 million.

The average value of its relevant associate entity equity, non-debt liabilities and on-lent amount are \$2 million, \$3 million and \$35 million respectively. Deducting those amounts from the result of step 1 (through applying steps 2 to 4) leaves \$80 million. Multiplying \$80 million by  $\frac{3}{4}$  results in \$60 million. Adding the average on-lent amount of \$35 million results in \$95 million. Reducing the result of step 6 by the associate entity debt amount of \$5 million results in \$90 million. As the company does not have any associate entity excess amount, the adjusted on-lent amount is therefore \$90 million.

820-215 Arm's length debt amount

- (1) The arm's length debt amount is a notional amount that, having regard to the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2) and the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3), would satisfy both paragraphs (a) and (b):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the amount represents a notional amount of *debt capital that:
    - (i) the entity would reasonably be expected to have throughout the income year; and
    - (ii) would give rise to an amount of *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year; and
    - (iii) would be attributable to the entity's Australian business as mentioned in subsection (2);
  - (b) commercial lending institutions that were not *associates of the entity (the notional lenders) would reasonably be expected to have entered into *schemes that would:
    - (i) give rise to *debt interests that constituted that notional amount of debt capital of the entity; and
    - (ii) provide for terms and conditions for the debt interests that would reasonably be expected to have applied if the entity and the notional lenders had been dealing at arm's length with each other throughout the income year mentioned in subparagraph (1)(a)(i).

Note: The entity must keep records in accordance with section 820-980 if the entity works out an amount under this section.

Factual assumptions

- (2) Irrespective of what actually happened during that year, the following assumptions must be made in working out that amount:
  - (a) the entity's commercial activities in connection with Australia (the Australian business) during that year:
    - (i) if the entity is an *inward investment vehicle (general) or *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that year—do not include the holding of any *associate entity debt; and
    - (ii) if the entity is an *inward investor (general) or *inward investor (financial) for that year—consist only of its Australian investments (within the meaning of section 820-205 or 820-210, as appropriate), other than the holding of any associate entity debt that is attributable to its *Australian permanent establishments;
  - (b) the entity had carried on the Australian business that it actually carried on during that year;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the nature of the entity's assets and liabilities (to the extent that they are attributable to the Australian business) had been as they were during that year;
- (d) except as stated in paragraph (1)(b) and paragraphs (e), (f) and (g) of this subsection, the entity had carried on the Australian business in the same circumstances as what actually existed during that year;
- (e) any guarantee, security or other form of credit support provided to the entity in relation to the Australian business during that year:
  - (i) by its *associates; or
  - (ii) by the use of assets of the entity that are attributable to the entity's overseas permanent establishments;is taken not to have been received by the entity;
- (f) the entity's only activities during that year were the Australian business;
- (g) the entity's only assets and liabilities during that year were those referred to in paragraph (c) of this subsection.

However, the assumptions set out in paragraphs (f) and (g) of this subsection are not to be made in taking into account the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3).

Relevant factors

- (3) On the basis of the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2), the following factors must be taken into account in determining whether or not an amount satisfies paragraphs (1)(a) and (b):
  - (a) the functions performed, the assets used, and the risks assumed, by the entity in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
  - (b) the terms and conditions of the *debt capital that the entity actually had in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
  - (c) the nature of, and title to, any assets of the entity attributable to the Australian business that were available to the entity throughout that year as security for its debt capital for that business;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) the purposes for which *schemes for debt capital had been actually entered into by the entity in relation to the Australian business throughout that year;
- (e) the entity's capacity to meet all its liabilities in relation to the Australian business (whether during that year or at any other time);
- (f) the profit of the entity (within the meaning of the *accounting standards), and the return on its capital, in relation to the Australian business (whether during that year or at any other time);
- (g) the debt to equity ratios of the following throughout that year:
  - (i) the entity;
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
  - (iii) each of the entity's *associate entities that engage in commercial activities similar to the Australian business;
- (h) the commercial practices adopted by independent parties dealing with each other at arm's length in the industry in which the entity carries on the Australian business throughout that year (whether in Australia or in comparable markets elsewhere);
- (i) the general state of the Australian economy throughout that year;
- (j) all of the above factors existing at the time when the entity last entered into a *scheme that gave rise to an actual *debt interest attributable to the Australian business that remains *on issue throughout that year;
- (k) any other factors which are specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this section, including factors that are specific to an *inward investment vehicle (general), an *inward investment vehicle (financial), an *inward investor (general) or an *inward investor (financial).

Commissioner's power

- (4) If the Commissioner considers an amount worked out by the entity under this section does not appropriately take into account the factual assumptions and the relevant factors, the Commissioner

---

---

may substitute another amount that the Commissioner considers better reflects those assumptions and factors.

820-220 Amount of debt deduction disallowed

The amount of *debt deduction disallowed under subsection 820-185(1) is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Debt deduction} \times \frac{\text{Excess debt}}{\text{Average debt}}$$

where:

average debt means the sum of:

- (a) the average value, for the income year, of the entity's *debt capital that is covered by step 1 of the method statement in subsection 820-185(3); and
- (b) the average value, for that year, of the entity's *cost-free debt capital that is covered by step 4 of that method statement.

debt deduction means each *debt deduction of the entity for that year.

excess debt means the amount by which the *adjusted average debt (see subsection 820-185(3)) exceeds the entity's *maximum allowable debt for that year.

Note: The disallowed amount also does not form part of the cost base of a CGT asset. See section 110-54.

820-225 Application to part year periods

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year that is an amount incurred by the entity during a period that is a part of that year, if:
  - (a) the entity is an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) for that period, but is not also an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) for all or any part of that period; and
  - (b) the entity's *adjusted average debt for that period exceeds the entity's *maximum allowable debt for that period.

Note: To determine whether an entity is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period, see subsection 820-185(2).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The entity's adjusted average debt for that period is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for that period, of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.
- Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1 by the average value, for that period, of:
- (a) if the entity is an *inward investment vehicle (general) or an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that period—all the *associate entity debt of the entity; or
  - (b) if the entity is an *inward investor (general) or an *inward investor (financial) for that period—all the associate entity debt of the entity, to the extent that it is attributable to the entity's *Australian permanent establishments.
- Step 3. If the entity is a *financial entity throughout that period, add to the result of step 2 the average value, for that period, of the entity's *borrowed securities amount.
- Step 4. Add to the result of step 3 the average value, for that period, of the *cost-free debt capital of the entity. The result of this step is the adjusted average debt.

Note: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

- (2A) The entity's *adjusted average debt does not exceed its *maximum allowable debt if the adjusted average debt is nil or a negative amount.
- (3) For the purposes of determining:
- (a) the *maximum allowable debt for the period mentioned in subsection (1); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) the amount of each *debt deduction to be disallowed; sections 820-190 to 820-220 apply in relation to that entity and that period with the modifications set out in the following table:

Modifications of sections 820-190 to 820-220
Item	Provisions	Modifications
1	Sections 820-190 to 820-220	A reference to an income year is taken to be a reference to that period
2	Section 820-220	A reference to subsection 820-185(1) is taken to be a reference to subsection (1) of this section
3	Section 820-220	adjusted average debt is taken to have the meaning given by subsection (2) of this section average debt is taken to be the sum of: (a) the average value, for that period, of the entity's *debt capital that is covered by step 1 of the method statement in subsection (2) of this section; and (b) the average value, for that period, of the entity's *cost-free debt capital that is covered by step 4 of that method statement.

Subdivision 820-D—Thin capitalisation rules for outward investing entities (ADI)

Guide to Subdivision 820-D

820-295 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the thin capitalisation rules that apply to an entity that is both an authorised deposit-taking institution (an ADI) and an Australian entity that has certain types of overseas investments. These rules deal with the following matters:

- how to work out the entity's minimum capital amount for an income year;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- how all or a part of the debt deductions claimed by the entity may be disallowed if the minimum capital amount is not reached;
- how to apply these rules to a period that is less than an income year.

Table of sections

820-300	Thin capitalisation rule for outward investing entities (ADI)
820-305	Minimum capital amount
820-310	Safe harbour capital amount
820-315	Arm's length capital amount

Operative provisions

820-300 Thin capitalisation rule for outward investing entities (ADI)

Thin capitalisation rule

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year (to the extent that it is not attributable to an *overseas permanent establishment of the entity) if, for that year:
- (a) the entity is an *outward investing entity (ADI) (see subsection (2)); and
  - (b) the entity's *adjusted average equity capital (see subsection (3)) is less than the entity's *minimum capital amount (see section 820-305).

Note 1: This Subdivision does not apply if the total debt deductions of that entity and all its associate entities for that year are $250,000 or less, see section 820-35.

Note 2: To work out the amount to be disallowed, see section 820-325.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 820-300

---

Note 3: For the rules that apply to an entity that is an outward investing entity (ADI) for only part of an income year, see section 820-330 in conjunction with subsection (2) of this section.

Note 4: A consolidated group or MEC group may be an outward investing entity (ADI) to which this Subdivision applies: see Subdivisions 820-FA and 820-FB.

Outward investing entity (ADI)

- (2) The entity is an outward investing entity (ADI) for a period that is all or a part of an income year if, and only if, throughout that period, the entity is an *ADI to which at least one of the following paragraphs applies:
- (a) the entity is an *Australian controller of at least one *Australian controlled foreign entity (not necessarily the same Australian controlled foreign entity throughout that period);
  - (b) the entity is an *Australian entity that carries on a *business at or through at least one *overseas permanent establishment (not necessarily the same permanent establishment throughout that period);
  - (c) the entity is:
    - (i) an Australian entity; and
    - (ii) an *associate entity of another entity that is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *outward investing entity (ADI) for that period.

Note: To determine whether an entity is an Australian controller of an Australian controlled foreign entity, see Subdivision 820-H.

Adjusted average equity capital

- (3) The entity's adjusted average equity capital for an income year is:
- (a) the average value, for that year, of all the *ADI equity capital of the entity (other than ADI equity capital attributable to its *overseas permanent establishments); minus
  - (b) the average value, for that year, of all the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity (other than controlled foreign entity equity attributable to its overseas permanent establishments).

Note: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

820-305 Minimum capital amount

The entity's minimum capital amount for an income year is the least of the following amounts:

- (a) the *safe harbour capital amount;
- (b) the *arm's length capital amount;
- (c) the *worldwide capital amount.

Note: The entity cannot use the worldwide capital amount if the entity is also a foreign controlled Australian entity throughout that year, see section 820-320.

820-310 Safe harbour capital amount

The safe harbour capital amount is the result of applying the method statement in this section.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the *risk-weighted assets of the entity, other than risk-weighted assets attributable to any of the following:

- (a) the entity's *overseas permanent establishments;
- (b) assets comprised by the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity (other than controlled foreign entity equity attributable to the entity's overseas permanent establishments);
- (c) assets for which *prudential capital deductions must be made by the entity (other than prudential capital deductions attributable to the entity's overseas permanent establishments).

Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by 4%.

---

Step 3. Add to the result of step 2 the average value, for that year, of all the *tier 1 prudential capital deductions for the entity (to the extent that they are not attributable to any of the entity's *overseas permanent establishments or any *Australian controlled foreign entities of which the entity is an *Australian controller). The result of this step is the safe harbour capital amount.

Example: The Southern Cross Bank is an Australian bank that carries on its banking business through its overseas permanent establishments and through foreign entities that it controls. For the income year, its average value of risk-weighted assets is $150 million (having discounted those risk-weighted assets that are excluded by step 1) and the average value of its relevant tier 1 prudential capital deductions is $2 million. Multiplying $150 million by 4% equals $6 million, which is the result of step 2. Adding $2 million to $6 million equals $8 million, which is the safe harbour capital amount.

820-315 Arm's length capital amount

- (1) The arm's length capital amount is a notional amount that, having regard to:
- (a) the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2); and
  - (b) the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3);
- would represent the minimum amount of *equity capital that the entity would reasonably be expected to have in carrying on the Australian business mentioned in subsection (2) throughout the income year if, throughout that year:
- (c) the part of the entity carrying on that business had operated as if it were a separate entity; and
  - (d) that separate entity had been dealing at arm's length with:
    - (i) the other part of the entity; and
    - (ii) all the *Australian controlled foreign entities of which the entity is an *Australian controller.

Note: The entity must keep records in accordance with section 820-980 if the entity works out an amount under this section.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Factual assumptions

- (2) Irrespective of what actually happened during that year, the following assumptions must be made in working out that minimum amount:
- (a) the entity's commercial activities in connection with Australia (the Australian business) during that year do not include:
    - (i) any *business carried on by the entity at or through its *overseas permanent establishments; or
    - (ii) the holding of any *controlled foreign entity equity;
  - (b) the entity had carried on the Australian business that it actually carried on during that year;
  - (c) the nature of the entity's assets and liabilities (to the extent that they are attributable to the Australian business) had been as they were during that year;
  - (d) except as mentioned in subsection (1), the entity had carried on the Australian business in the same circumstances as what actually existed during that year.

Relevant factors

- (3) On the basis of the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2), the following factors must be taken into account in determining that minimum amount:
- (a) the functions performed, the assets used, and the risks assumed, throughout that year, by:
    - (i) the entity; and
    - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
  - (b) the credit rating of the entity throughout that year, including the effect of that credit rating on all of the following:
    - (i) the entity's ability to borrow in relation to the Australian business;
    - (ii) the interest rate at which the entity borrowed in relation to that business;
    - (iii) the entity's gross profit margin in relation to that business;
  - (c) the capital ratios of the following throughout that year:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) the entity;
- (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
- (iii) each of the entity's *associate entities that engage in commercial activities similar to the Australian business;
- (d) the purposes for which *schemes for *debt capital and for *equity capital had been actually entered into, throughout that year, by:
  - (i) the entity; and
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
- (e) the profit (within the meaning of the *accounting standards), and the return on capital, whether during that year or at any other time, of:
  - (i) the entity; and
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
- (f) the commercial practices adopted by independent parties dealing with each other at arm's length in the industry in which the entity carries on the Australian business throughout that year (whether in Australia or in comparable markets elsewhere);
- (g) the way in which the entity financed its business (other than the Australian business) throughout that year;
- (h) the general state of the Australian economy throughout that year;
- (i) any other factors which are specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this section.

Commissioner's power

- (4) If the Commissioner considers an amount worked out by the entity under this section does not appropriately take into account the factual assumptions and the relevant factors, the Commissioner may substitute another amount that the Commissioner considers better reflects those assumptions and factors.

820-320 Worldwide capital amount

- (1) This section only applies if the entity is not also a *foreign controlled Australian entity throughout the income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The worldwide capital amount is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of all the *risk-weighted assets of the entity, other than risk-weighted assets attributable to any of the following:
- (a) the entity's *overseas permanent establishments;
  - (b) assets comprised by the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity;
  - (c) assets for which *prudential capital deductions must be made by the entity.
- Step 2. Multiply the entity's worldwide group capital ratio for that year (see subsection (3)) by  $\frac{8}{10}$ .
- Step 3. Multiply the result of step 1 by the result of step 2.
- Step 4. Add to the result of step 3 the average value, for that year, of all the *tier 1 prudential capital deductions for the entity (to the extent that they are not attributable to any of the entity's *overseas permanent establishments or to any *Australian controlled foreign entities of which the entity is an *Australian controller). The result of this step is the worldwide capital amount.

Example: Southern Cross Bank has an average value of risk-weighted assets of \$150 million (having discounted those risk-weighted assets that are excluded by step 1) and the average value of its relevant tier 1 prudential capital deductions is \$2 million. The entity's worldwide group capital ratio is 0.0875. Multiplying that ratio by  $\frac{8}{10}$  equals 0.07, which is the result of step 2. Multiplying \$150 million by 0.07 equals \$10.5 million, which is the result of step 3. Adding that amount to the average value of the relevant tier 1 prudential capital deductions equals \$12.5 million, which is the worldwide capital amount.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Worldwide group capital ratio

- (3) The entity's worldwide group capital ratio for the income year is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of the tier 1 capital (within the meaning of the *prudential standards) of the consolidated group of which the entity is a member (within the meaning of those standards) in accordance with those standards.
- Step 2. Divide the result of step 1 by the average value, for that year, of the *risk-weighted assets of that group in accordance with the *prudential standards. The result is the worldwide group capital ratio.

Example: For the Southern Cross Bank, the average value of the tier 1 capital for the relevant consolidated group is $14 million. Dividing $14 million by the group's risk weighted assets of $160 million equals 0.0875, which is the worldwide group capital ratio.

820-325 Amount of debt deduction disallowed

The amount of *debt deduction disallowed under subsection 820-300(1) is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Debt deduction} \times \frac{\text{Capital shortfall}}{\text{Average debt}}$$

where:

average debt means the average value, for the income year, of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year (other than any debt capital that is attributable to any of the entity's *overseas permanent establishments).

capital shortfall means the amount by which the *adjusted average equity capital of the entity for that year (see subsection 820-300(3)) is less than the entity's *minimum capital amount for that year.

---

debt deduction means each *debt deduction covered by subsection 820-300(1).

Note: The disallowed amount also does not form part of the cost base of a CGT asset. See section 110-54.

820-330 Application to part year periods

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year that is an amount incurred by the entity during a period that is a part of that year (to the extent that it is not attributable to an *overseas permanent establishment of the entity) if, for that period:
- the entity is an *outward investing entity (ADI); and
  - the *adjusted average equity capital of the entity is less than the entity's *minimum capital amount.

Note: To determine whether an entity is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) for that period, see subsection 820-300(2).

- (2) The entity's adjusted average equity capital for that period is:
- the average value, for that period, of all the *ADI equity capital of the entity (other than ADI equity capital attributable to any of its *overseas permanent establishments); minus
  - the average value, for that period, of all the *controlled foreign entity equity of the entity (other than controlled foreign entity equity attributable to any of its overseas permanent establishments).
- (3) For the purposes of determining:
- the entity's *minimum capital amount for that period; and
  - the amount of each *debt deduction to be disallowed;
- sections 820-305 to 820-325 apply in relation to that entity and that period with the modifications set out in the following table:

Subdivision 820-E—Thin capitalisation rules for inward investing entities (ADI)

Guide to Subdivision 820-E

820-390 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision applies to a foreign entity that is an authorised deposit-taking institution (an ADI). These rules deal with the following matters:

- how to work out the entity's minimum capital amount for an income year;
- how all or a part of the debt deductions claimed by the entity may be disallowed if the minimum capital amount is not reached;
- how to apply these rules to a period that is less than an income year.

Operative provisions*820-395 Thin capitalisation rule for inward investing entities (ADI)Thin capitalisation rule*

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year if, for that year:
- (a) the entity is an *inward investing entity (ADI) (see subsection (2)); and
  - (b) the entity's *average equity capital (see subsection (3)) is less than its *minimum capital amount (see section 820-400);
- to the extent that the debt deduction:
- (c) is attributable to an *Australian permanent establishment of the entity at or through which it carries on its banking business; and
  - (d) is not an *allowable OB deduction.

Note 1: This Subdivision does not apply if the total debt deductions of that entity and all its associate entities for that year are $250,000 or less, see section 820-35.

Note 2: To work out the amount to be disallowed, see section 820-415.

Note 3: For the rules that apply to an entity that is an inward investing entity (ADI) for part of an income year, see section 820-420 in conjunction with subsection (2) of this section.

Note 4: A consolidated group or MEC group may be an inward investing entity (ADI) to which this Subdivision applies: see Subdivision 820-FB.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Inward investing entity (ADI)

- (2) The entity is an inward investing entity (ADI) for a period that is all or a part of an income year if, and only if, throughout that period, the entity is a *foreign bank that carries on its banking business in Australia at or through one or more of its *Australian permanent establishments.

Note: The entity is required to keep certain records, see Subdivision 820-L.

Average equity capital

- (3) The entity's average equity capital for an income year is the sum of the following:
- (a) the average value, for that year, of the *ADI equity capital of the entity that:
    - (i) is attributable to the *Australian permanent establishments at or through which it carries on its banking business in Australia; but
    - (ii) has not been allocated to the *OB activities of the Australian permanent establishments;
  - (b) the average value, for that year, of the total amounts that:
    - (i) are made available by the entity to the Australian permanent establishments of the entity as loans to the Australian permanent establishments; and
    - (ii) do not give rise to any *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.

Note: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

820-400 Minimum capital amount

The entity's minimum capital amount for an income year is the lesser of the following amounts:

- (a) the *safe harbour capital amount;
- (b) the *arm's length capital amount.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

820-405 Safe harbour capital amount

The entity's safe harbour capital amount for the income year is the result of applying the method statement in this section.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the average value, for the income year, of that part of the *risk-weighted assets of the entity that:
- (a) is attributable to the *Australian permanent establishments at or through which it carries on its banking business in Australia; but
  - (b) is not attributable to the *OB activities of the Australian permanent establishments.
- Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by 4%. The result of this step is the safe harbour capital amount.

Example: The Global Bank is a foreign bank that carries on its banking business in Australia through a permanent establishment. The average value of its relevant risk-weighted assets is $140 million. Multiplying that amount by 4% results in $5.6 million, which is the safe harbour capital amount.

820-410 Arm's length capital amount

- (1) The arm's length capital amount is a notional amount that, having regard to:
- (a) the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2); and
  - (b) the relevant factors mentioned in subsection (3);
- would represent the minimum amount of *equity capital that the entity would reasonably be expected to have in carrying on the Australian business mentioned in subsection (2) throughout the income year if, throughout that year:
- (c) the part of the entity carrying on that business had operated as if it were a separate entity; and
  - (d) that separate entity had been dealing at arm's length with the other part of the entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: The entity must keep records in accordance with section 820-980 if the entity works out an amount under this section.

Factual assumptions

- (2) Irrespective of what actually happened during that year, the following assumptions must be made in working out that minimum amount:
- (a) the entity's commercial activities in connection with Australia (the Australian business) during that year consist only of banking business attributable to its *Australian permanent establishments (other than its *OB activities);
  - (b) the entity had carried on the Australian business that it actually carried on during that year;
  - (c) the nature of the entity's assets and liabilities (to the extent that they are attributable to the Australian business) had been as they were during that year;
  - (d) except as mentioned in subsection (1), the entity had carried on the Australian business in the same circumstances as what actually happened during that year.

Relevant factors

- (3) On the basis of the factual assumptions set out in subsection (2), the following factors must be taken into account in determining that minimum amount:
- (a) the functions performed, the assets used, and the risks assumed, throughout that year, by:
    - (i) the entity; and
    - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
  - (b) the credit rating of the entity throughout that year, including the effect of that credit rating on all of the following:
    - (i) the entity's ability to borrow in relation to the Australian business;
    - (ii) the interest rate at which the entity borrowed in relation to that business;
    - (iii) the entity's gross profit margin in relation to that business;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the capital ratios of the following throughout that year:
  - (i) the entity;
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
  - (iii) each of the entity's *associate entities that engage in commercial activities similar to the Australian business;
- (d) the purposes for which *schemes for *debt capital and for *equity capital had been actually entered into, throughout that year, by:
  - (i) the entity; and
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
- (e) the profit (within the meaning of the *accounting standards or any other accounting standards that would otherwise apply to the entity), and the return on capital, whether during that year or at any other time, of:
  - (i) the entity; and
  - (ii) the entity in relation to the Australian business;
- (f) the commercial practices adopted by independent parties dealing with each other at arm's length in the industry in which the entity carries on the Australian business throughout that year (whether in Australia or in comparable markets elsewhere);
- (g) the general state of the Australian economy throughout that year;
- (h) any other factors which are specified in the regulations made for the purposes of this section.

Commissioner's power

- (4) If the Commissioner considers an amount worked out by the entity under this section does not appropriately take into account the factual assumptions and the relevant factors, the Commissioner may substitute another amount that the Commissioner considers better reflects those assumptions and factors.

820-415 Amount of debt deduction disallowed

The amount of *debt deduction disallowed under subsection 820-395(1) is worked out using the following formula:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

$$\text{Debt deduction} \times \frac{\text{Capital shortfall}}{\text{Average debt}}$$

where:

average debt means the average value, for the income year, of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to *debt deductions of the entity (other than *allowable OB deductions) for that or any other income year.

capital shortfall means the amount by which the entity's *average equity capital for that year (see subsection 820-395(3)) is less than the entity's *minimum capital amount for that year.

debt deduction means each *debt deduction of the entity (other than *allowable OB deduction) for the income year.

Note: The disallowed amount also does not form part of the cost base of a CGT asset. See section 110-54.

820-420 Application to part year periods

- (1) This subsection disallows all or a part of each *debt deduction of an entity for an income year that is an amount incurred by the entity during a period that is a part of that year if, for that period:
  - (a) the entity is an *inward investing entity (ADI); and
  - (b) the entity's *average equity capital is less than its *minimum capital amount;to the extent that the debt deduction:
  - (c) is attributable to an *Australian permanent establishment of the entity at or through which it carries on its banking business; and
  - (d) is not an *allowable OB deduction.

Note: To determine whether an entity is an inward investing entity (ADI) for that period, see subsection 820-395(2).

- (2) The entity's average equity capital for that period is the sum of the following:
  - (a) the average value, for that period, of the *equity capital of the entity that:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) is attributable to its *Australian permanent establishments at or through which it carries on its banking business in Australia; but
- (ii) has not been allocated to the *OB activities of the Australian permanent establishments;
- (b) the average value, for that period, of the total amounts that:
  - (i) are made available by the entity to the Australian permanent establishments of the entity as loans to the Australian permanent establishments; and
  - (ii) do not give rise to any *debt deductions of the entity for that or any other income year.
- (3) For the purposes of determining:
  - (a) the entity's *minimum capital amount for that period; and
  - (b) the amount of each *debt deduction to be disallowed;
 sections 820-400 to 820-415 apply in relation to that entity and that period with the modifications set out in the following table:

---

Modifications of sections 820-400 to 820-415

---

Item	Provisions	Modifications
1	Sections 820-400 to 820-415	A reference to an income year is taken to be a reference to that period
2	Section 820-415	The reference to subsection 820-395(1) is taken to be a reference to subsection (1) of this section
3	Section 820-415	average debt is taken to be the average value, for that period, of all the *debt capital of the entity that gives rise to its *debt deductions (other than *allowable OB deductions) for that year that are amounts incurred by the entity during that period  average equity capital has the meaning given by subsection (2) of this section

Subdivision 820-EA—Some financial entities may choose to be treated as ADIs

Table of sections

820-430	When choice can be made, and what effect it has
820-435	Conditions
820-440	Revocation of choice
820-445	How this Subdivision interacts with Subdivision 820-FA

820-430 When choice can be made, and what effect it has

- (1) An entity may choose to be treated, for the purposes of this Division (except this Subdivision), as set out in the table. However, the entity can make the choice only if subsection (5) is satisfied.

---

Choice by financial entity to be treated as an ADI
	Column 1	Column 2
Item	For a period that the choice covers, and for which the entity would, apart from this Subdivision, have been:	The entity is treated as if it had instead been:
1	an *outward investor (financial)	an *outward investing entity (ADI)
2	an *inward investor (financial)	an *inward investing entity (ADI)
3	an *inward investment vehicle (financial)	an *outward investing entity (ADI)

---

- (2) The choice:
- (a) has effect accordingly, except as provided in subsection (4); and
  - (b) ceases to have effect only as provided in this Subdivision; and
  - (c) covers each period:
    - (i) that started on or after a day specified in the choice (or on the day the choice is made if no day is specified); and
    - (ii) that is all or part of an income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (3) Subdivision 820-E applies to the entity, in relation to a period for which this section treats it as an *inward investing entity (ADI), as if all the entity's *business were banking business of the entity.
- (4) The choice does not have effect for the purposes of determining whether the entity is covered by paragraph 820-910(2)(a) (about working out the associate entity debt of another entity).

Conditions for making the choice

- (5) For the income year that is or includes the first period for which the entity would be treated in accordance with the choice, the entity must satisfy:
  - (a) subsection 820-435(1); or
  - (b) subsections 820-435(2) and (3).

Also, the entity must not have made a previous choice under this section that has ceased to have effect.

Conditions are retested every 3 years

- (6) The choice ceases to have effect, or is taken to have ceased to have effect, as appropriate, at the end of an income year covered by subsection (7) of this section, unless the entity:
  - (a) satisfies subsection 820-435(1) for that income year; or
  - (b) satisfies subsections 820-435(2) and (3) for that income year.
- (7) This subsection covers every third income year after the one referred to in subsection (5).

820-435 Conditions

- (1) An entity satisfies this subsection for an income year if the average value, for that income year, of the entity's *on-lent amount is at least 80% of the average value, for that income year, of all the entity's assets.
- (2) An entity satisfies this subsection for an income year if the first period that is all or part of that income year, and for which the entity would be treated in accordance with a choice under section 820-430, consists of one or more periods, each of which is either or both of these:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) a period throughout which the entity is a *financial entity because of paragraph (d) of the definition of financial entity in subsection 995-1(1) (which covers licensed (or exempt) dealers in derivatives);
- (b) a period throughout which:
- (i) the entity is the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
  - (ii) at least one *member of the group is a financial entity because of that paragraph.
- (3) An entity satisfies this subsection for an income year if it satisfies subsection (2) and the amount worked out using this formula is greater than or equal to 0.8:

$$\frac{\text{On-lent amount} + \left( \text{UG on derivatives} - \text{UL on derivatives} \right)}{\text{Total assets} - \text{UL on derivatives}}$$

where:

on-lent amount means the average value, for that income year, of the entity's *on-lent amount.

total assets means the average value, for that income year, of all the entity's assets.

UG on derivatives means the average value, for that income year, of the entity's assets consisting of unrealised gains on trading derivatives within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001.

UL on derivatives means the lesser of:

- (a) the average value, for that income year, of the entity's liabilities consisting of unrealised losses on trading derivatives within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001; and
- (b) the average value, for that income year, of the entity's assets consisting of unrealised gains on trading derivatives within the meaning of that Act.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

On-lent amount increased for financial entity whose assets include precious metals

- (4) In working out whether an entity satisfies subsection (1) or (3) for an income year, the average value, for that income year, of the entity's *on-lent amount is increased by the average value, for that income year, of the entity's assets that consist of *precious metals, but only if the entity satisfies subsection (5) for that income year.
- (5) An entity satisfies this subsection for an income year if the first period that is all or part of that income year, and for which the entity would be treated in accordance with a choice under section 820-430, consists of one or more periods, each of which is either or both of these:
  - (a) a period throughout which the entity is a *financial entity;
  - (b) a period throughout which:
    - (i) the entity is the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
    - (ii) at least one *member of the group is a financial entity.

820-440 Revocation of choice

- (1) A choice under section 820-430 can be revoked only with the written approval of the Commissioner. The Commissioner may approve a revocation only if satisfied that the entity's circumstances have changed significantly since the choice was made.
- (2) If revoked, the choice does not have effect for a period that starts on or after the day on which the Commissioner's approval is given, unless the revocation is expressed to take effect on an earlier day. In that case, it does not have effect for a period that starts on or after the earlier day.

820-445 How this Subdivision interacts with Subdivision 820-FA

A choice under section 820-430 does not have effect for so much of a period as happens while the entity is a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: If the head company of the group makes a choice under that section, that choice will have effect instead.

Operative provisions

820-581 How this Division applies to head company for income year in which group comes into existence or ceases to exist

If a *consolidated group or *MEC group:

- (a) comes into existence at a time during an income year that is not the start of the income year; or
- (b) ceases to exist at a time during an income year that is not the end of the income year; then, for each of the following periods during that income year:

- (c) a period throughout which a company is the *head company of that group; or
- (d) a period throughout which that company is the head company of a different consolidated group or MEC group; or
- (e) a period throughout which that company is a *member of no consolidated group or MEC group;

this Division (except this section) is to have either:

- (f) a single application in relation to the whole of the period; or
- (g) 2 or more applications, each in relation to a part of that period.

Example: Austco Ltd is not a member of a consolidated group for the first 6 months of an income year, but then becomes the head company of a consolidated group which continues in existence for the rest of the income year.

For those first 6 months Austco is an outward investor (general) under section 820-85. For the rest of the income year Austco is an outward investor (general) under subsection 820-583(2).

This section ensures that section 820-120 (about part year periods) applies to Austco instead of section 820-85, so that Subdivision 820-B has 2 separate applications to Austco: one for the first 6 months and the other for the rest of the income year. Under the second application, account is taken of the position of the subsidiary members that are taken to be part of Austco as head company of the consolidated group.

820-583 Classification of head company

Outward investing entity (non-ADI)

- (1) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period that is all or part of an income year if, and only if, it is:
  - (a) an *outward investor (general) for that period (because of subsection (2)); or
  - (b) an *outward investor (financial) for that period (because of subsection (3)).

Outward investor (general)

- (2) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an outward investor (general) for a period that is all or part of an income year if:
  - (a) for that period, the head company satisfies the condition in the second column of item 1 or 3 of the table in subsection 820-85(2); and
  - (b) no *member of the group is a *financial entity or *ADI at any time during that period.

Outward investor (financial)

- (3) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an outward investor (financial) for a period that is all or part of an income year if:
  - (a) for that period, the head company satisfies the condition in the second column of item 1 or 3 of the table in subsection 820-85(2); and
  - (b) throughout that period, there is at least one *member of the group that is a *financial entity; and
  - (c) no *member of the group is an *ADI at any time during that period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Inward investing entity (non-ADI)

- (4) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period that is all or part of an income year if, and only if, it is:
- (a) an *inward investment vehicle (general) for that period (because of subsection (5)); or
  - (b) an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that period (because of subsection (6)).

Inward investment vehicle (general)

- (5) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an inward investment vehicle (general) for a period that is all or part of an income year if:
- (a) throughout that period, the head company is a *foreign controlled Australian entity; and
  - (b) no member of the group is a *financial entity or *ADI at any time during that period;
- unless the head company is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) for all or part of that period.

Inward investment vehicle (financial)

- (6) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an inward investment vehicle (financial) for a period that is all or part of an income year if:
- (a) throughout that period, the head company is a *foreign controlled Australian entity; and
  - (b) throughout that period, there is at least one *member of the group that is a *financial entity; and
  - (c) no member of the group is an *ADI at any time during that period;
- unless the head company is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) for all or part of that period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Outward investing entity (ADI)

- (7) The *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group is an outward investing entity (ADI) for a period that is all or part of an income year if, and only if:
- (a) apart from Part 3-90 (about consolidation of groups) and this Subdivision, at least one *member of the group would be an *outward investing entity (ADI) for that period; or
  - (b) these conditions are met:
    - (i) at least one member of the group would, apart from that Part and this Subdivision, be an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) for that period; and
    - (ii) at least one member of the group is an *ADI throughout that period.

820-584 Exempt special purpose entities treated as not being member of group

While an entity meets the conditions in subsection 820-39(3) (about insolvency-remote special purpose entities established to manage economic risk), the entity is treated for the purposes of this Division (except this section) as not being a *member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group of which it is a member.

Note: This section has the effect that the circumstances of the entity are not taken into account in applying this Division to the head company of the group. The entity itself is exempt from this Division because of section 820-39.

820-585 Exemption for consolidated group headed by foreign-controlled Australian ADI or its holding company

- (1) This Division does not disallow any of a *debt deduction for an income year if:
- (a) the debt deduction is of the *head company of a *consolidated group and the head company satisfies subsection (2) for that income year; or
  - (b) the debt deduction is an amount incurred by the head company of a consolidated group during a period that is part of that income year, and the head company satisfies subsection (2) for that period.

---

- (2) The *head company satisfies this subsection for a period that is all or part of an income year if, throughout that period:
- (a) the head company is both a *foreign controlled Australian company and an *ADI (and would also be an ADI apart from Part 3-90 (about consolidation of groups)); or
  - (b) the head company:
    - (i) is a *foreign controlled Australian company; and
    - (ii) beneficially owns all the *membership interests in a *member of the group that is both a *foreign controlled Australian entity and an *ADI throughout that period; and
    - (iii) would, apart from Part 3-90 (about consolidation of groups), have no other assets and no *debt capital; unless at least one member of the group would, apart from that Part and this Subdivision, be an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or *outward investing entity (ADI) for all or part of that period.
- (3) Subsection (1) does not apply if, at each time in the period mentioned in subsection (2), all the *ADIs that are *members of the group then are *specialist credit card institutions.

820-587 Additional application of Subdivision 820-D to MEC group that includes foreign-controlled Australian ADI

Subdivision 820-D applies to the *head company of a *MEC group as if it were an *outward investing entity (ADI) for a period that is all or part of an income year if:

- (a) the head company is not an outward investing entity (ADI) for that period; and
- (b) throughout that period, at least one *member of the group is both a *foreign controlled Australian entity and an *ADI; and
- (c) throughout that period, there is at least one *eligible tier-1 company of the *top company for the group that:
  - (i) is a member of the group; and
  - (ii) is not an ADI; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(iii) has no *wholly-owned subsidiary that is an ADI.

820-588 Choice to treat specialist credit card institutions as being financial entities and not ADIs

- (1) If the conditions in subsection (2) are met in relation to a *consolidated group or *MEC group and a period that is all or part of an income year, this Division (except this section) has effect as if:
- (a) none of the *members of the group were an *ADI at any time in the period; and
  - (b) each member of the group that is an ADI (ignoring paragraph (a)) at any time in the period were a financial entity at that time.

Note 1: One result of this Division having effect in that way is that Subdivision 820-D (and related provisions, such as section 820-589) will not apply in relation to the head company, because:

- (a) the head company of the group will not be classified under section 820-583 as an outward investing entity (ADI); and
- (b) section 820-587 will not apply that Subdivision.

Note 2: Another result of this Division having effect in that way is that Subdivision 820-B or 820-C may apply in relation to the head company, because it may be classified under section 820-583 as either:

- (a) an outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an outward investor (financial); or
- (b) an inward investing entity (non-ADI) and an inward investment vehicle (financial).

- (2) The conditions are that:
- (a) at all times in the period at least one *member of the *consolidated group or *MEC group is an *ADI; and
  - (b) each ADI that is a member of the group at any time in the period is a *specialist credit card institution at that time; and
  - (c) the *head company of the group for the period chooses, before lodging its *income tax return for the income year, that this Division should have effect in that way in relation to the group and every period for which the conditions in paragraphs (a) and (b) are met in the income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (3) An *ADI is a specialist credit card institution at a time if, at that time, the ADI's authority under section 9 of the Banking Act 1959 to carry on banking business (as defined in that Act) authorises the ADI to carry on only banking business that:
- (a) is participation in a payment system (as defined in the Payment Systems (Regulation) Act 1998) that is a credit card scheme and is designated under section 11 of that Act; and
  - (b) is either or both of the following:
    - (i) credit card acquiring (as defined in regulations made for the purposes of the Banking Act 1959);
    - (ii) credit card issuing (as defined in those regulations).
- (4) To avoid doubt, a choice for the purposes of paragraph (2)(c) cannot be revoked.

820-589 How Subdivision 820-D applies to a MEC group

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out the *adjusted average equity capital of the *head company of a *MEC group for a period (the test period) that is all or part of an income year if Subdivision 820-D applies to the head company in relation to that period.

Note: Section 820-587 extends the application of Subdivision 820-D.

- (2) The *head company's *ADI equity capital at a particular time during the test period is to be worked out:
- (a) taking into account an *equity interest or *debt interest in the head company only if it is held at that time by an entity that is not a member of the group; and
  - (b) on the basis that an equity interest or debt interest in an *eligible tier-1 company (other than the head company) that is a member of the group at that time is treated as an equity interest or debt interest (as appropriate) in the head company, but only if it is held at that time by an entity that is not a member of the group; and
  - (c) on the basis of the information that would be contained in a set of consolidated accounts:
    - (i) prepared, in accordance with the *accounting standard on consolidated accounts, as at that time; and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) covering the members of the group as at that time.

- (a) the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group; or
- (b) an Australian company that cannot consolidate;

Choice to group with branches of foreign banks and foreign financial entities

820-597 Choice by head company of consolidated group or MEC group

- (1) This section applies if there is a period (the grouping period) for which all these conditions are met:
- (a) the period was all or part of an income year of the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group;
  - (b) the consolidated group or MEC group existed throughout the period;
  - (c) the head company and an entity (the establishment entity) covered by one of the following subparagraphs are both members of the same *wholly-owned group throughout the period:
    - (i) a *foreign bank that carried on its banking *business in Australia through at least one *Australian permanent establishment at each time in the period;
    - (ii) a *foreign entity that was a *financial entity and had at least one Australian permanent establishment at each time in the period;
  - (d) there is not a longer period in the income year for which the conditions in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) are met in relation to the head company and the establishment entity.
- Note: It does not matter whether the income year ended on the same day for the head company and the establishment entity.
- (2) The *head company may choose to have all of the *Australian permanent establishments of the establishment entity treated as part of the head company for the grouping period for the purposes of this Division.
- (3) If the conditions in subsection (1) are met in relation to the *head company and more than one other establishment entity, the head company may make a different choice in relation to each of the other establishment entities.

820-599 Choice by Australian resident company outside consolidatable group and MEC group

- (1) This section applies if there is a period (also the grouping period) for which all these conditions are met:
- (a) the period was all or part of an income year of a company (the single company);
  - (b) throughout the period the single company:
    - (i) was an *Australian entity; and
    - (ii) was not a *prescribed dual resident; and
    - (iii) was not a *member of a *consolidatable group; and
    - (iv) was not a member of a *consolidated group; and
    - (v) was not a member of a *MEC group;
  - (c) the single company and an entity (the establishment entity) covered by one of the following subparagraphs are both members of the same *wholly-owned group throughout the period:
    - (i) a *foreign bank that carried on its banking *business in Australia through at least one *Australian permanent establishment at each time in the period;
    - (ii) a *foreign entity that was a *financial entity and had at least one Australian permanent establishment at each time in the period;
  - (d) there is not a longer period in the income year for which the conditions in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) are met in relation to the single company and the establishment entity.
- Note: It does not matter whether the income year ended on the same day for the single company and the establishment entity.
- (2) The single company may choose to have all of the *Australian permanent establishments of the establishment entity treated as part of the single company for the grouping period for the purposes of this Division.
- (3) If the conditions in subsection (1) are met in relation to the single company and more than one other establishment entity, the single company may make a different choice in relation to each of the other establishment entities.

Effect of choice

820-601 Application

Sections 820-603 to 820-615 apply if a choice is made under section 820-597 or 820-599.

820-603 General

- (1) The choice cannot be revoked in relation to the grouping period. It binds the *head company or the single company, as appropriate, and the establishment entity.
- (2) The rest of this section applies:
  - (a) to each *Australian permanent establishment that:
    - (i) was an Australian permanent establishment of the establishment entity; and
    - (ii) if the establishment entity was a *foreign bank—was an Australian permanent establishment through which the entity carried on banking *business in Australia at any time in the grouping period; and
  - (b) in relation to each time (the test time) that was in the grouping period and was when the Australian permanent establishment:
    - (i) was an Australian permanent establishment of the establishment entity; and
    - (ii) if the establishment entity was a foreign bank—was an Australian permanent establishment through which the entity carried on banking business in Australia.
- (3) In the case of a choice under section 820-597, this Division (except Subdivision 820-FA, this Subdivision and Subdivision 820-L) applies as if, at the test time, the *Australian permanent establishment:
  - (a) had been part of the *head company; and
  - (b) had not been part of the establishment entity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (c) were a *subsidiary member of the *consolidated group or *MEC group.
- (4) In the case of a choice under section 820-599, this Division (except Subdivision 820-FA, this Subdivision and Subdivision 820-L) applies as if, at the test time:
- (a) the *Australian permanent establishment had been part of the single company and had not been part of the establishment entity; and
  - (b) the single company were a *consolidated group of which the single company was the *head company and the Australian permanent establishment was a *subsidiary member.
- (5) In either case, without limiting subsection (3) or (4), this Division (except Subdivision 820-FA, this Subdivision and Subdivision 820-L) applies as if:
- (a) the *Australian permanent establishment were an entity at that time; and
  - (b) each asset and liability of the establishment entity at the test time that is attributable to the Australian permanent establishment were an asset or liability of the Australian permanent establishment at that time; and
  - (c) without limiting paragraph (b) of this subsection, each cost that:
    - (i) is a *debt deduction of the establishment entity incurred at the test time; and
    - (ii) is attributable to the Australian permanent establishment;were a cost incurred by the Australian permanent establishment at that time;
- For the effects of disallowing debt deductions, see section 820-605.
- (6) However, the application of this Division because of this section is subject to the modifications set out in sections 820-607 to 820-615.
- (7) For the purposes of this Division (as applying because of this Subdivision), this Act (except this Division) applies as if the matters referred to in subsections (3), (4) and (5) of this section were the case.

---

---

Note: For example, this means that a head company is treated for the purposes of this Division as if it had debt deductions based on the actual costs incurred by an Australian permanent establishment while it is treated as part of the head company because of this section.

820-605 Effect on establishment entity if certain debt deductions disallowed

If:

- (a) apart from this Division, a *debt deduction would be a deduction of the establishment entity for an income year; and
- (b) this Division (as applying because of this Subdivision) disallows all or part of the deduction (treated as a deduction of the *head company or single company); this section disallows the deduction of the establishment entity, or that part of it, as appropriate.

Note 1A: The disallowed amount also does not form part of the cost base of a CGT asset. See section 110-54.

Note 1: This Division does not disallow a debt deduction that the establishment entity incurs during the grouping period and that consists of a cost that is:

- attributable to an Australian permanent establishment covered by the choice under section 820-597 or 820-599; and
- paid or owed to the head company or single company.

The cost is not a debt deduction of the head company or single company for the purposes of this Division as applying because of this Subdivision. This is because subsection 820-603(3) or (4) treats the Australian permanent establishment as being part of the head company or single company, so the cost is treated as being paid or owed by the head company or single company to itself.

Because subsection 820-603(3) or (4) also treats the Australian permanent establishment as not being part of the establishment entity, the cost is not a debt deduction of the establishment entity, so it is not disallowed by this Division as applying to the establishment entity.

Note 2: This Division also does not disallow a debt deduction that the head company or single company incurs during the grouping period and that consists of a cost that is:

- paid or owed to the establishment entity; and
- is attributable to an Australian permanent establishment covered by the choice under section 820-597 or 820-599.

The cost is not a debt deduction of the head company or single company for the purposes of this Division as applying because of this

Subdivision. This is because subsection 820-603(3) or (4) treats the Australian permanent establishment as being part of the head company or single company, so the cost is treated as being paid or owed by the head company or single company to itself.

820-607 Effect on test periods under this Division

If, apart from this section, this Division (except this Subdivision) would have a single application to the *head company or single company, or to the establishment entity, in relation to a period (the test period) that:

- (a) is all or part of an income year of that entity; and
- (b) overlaps the grouping period;

this Division (except this section) is to have separate applications to that entity as follows:

- (c) a single application in relation to the period of overlap; and
- (d) a single application in relation to the part (if any) of the test period that is before the period of overlap; and
- (e) a single application in relation to the part (if any) of the test period that is after the period of overlap.

820-609 Effect on classification of head company or single company

- (1) The *head company or single company is an outward investing entity (ADI) for a period (the trial period) that is all or part of the grouping period if:

- (a) apart from this Subdivision, the head company or single company would be an *outward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period; or
- (b) apart from this Subdivision, the head company or single company would be:
  - (i) an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an *outward investor (financial) for the trial period; or
  - (ii) an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an *outward investor (general) for the trial period; and at least one of the *Australian permanent establishments is a *permanent establishment through which a *foreign bank carries on banking *business in Australia.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The *head company is also an outward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period if, apart from this Subdivision:
- (a) section 820-585 would prevent the disallowance of a *debt deduction for the income year including the trial period; or
  - (b) section 820-587 would apply Subdivision 820-D to the head company as if it were an *outward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period.
- (3) The single company is also an outward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period if it is both a *foreign controlled Australian company and an *ADI for that period.
- (4) The *head company or single company is an inward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period if:
- (a) apart from this Subdivision, it would be an *inward investment vehicle (general) or an *inward investment vehicle (financial), and not an *outward investor (general) or an *outward investor (financial), for the trial period; and
  - (b) at least one of the *Australian permanent establishments is a *permanent establishment through which a *foreign bank carries on banking *business in Australia.
- (5) The *head company or single company is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an outward investor (financial) for the trial period if, apart from this Subdivision, it would be an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) and:
- (a) an *outward investor (financial); or
  - (b) an *outward investor (general);
- for that period, and:
- (c) at least one of the *Australian permanent establishments is a *permanent establishment of a *foreign entity that is a *financial entity; and
  - (d) none of the Australian permanent establishments is a permanent establishment through which a *foreign bank carries on banking *business in Australia.
- (6) The *head company or single company is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) and an inward investment vehicle (financial) for the trial period if, apart from this Subdivision, it would be an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) and:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) an *inward investment vehicle (financial); or
- (b) an *inward investment vehicle (general);

for that period and not an *outward investor (general) or an *outward investor (financial) for that period and:

- (c) at least one of the *Australian permanent establishments is a *permanent establishment of a *foreign entity that is a *financial entity; and
  - (d) none of the Australian permanent establishments is a permanent establishment through which a *foreign bank carries on banking *business in Australia.
- (7) This section has effect despite any other provision of this Division, except Subdivision 820-EA and section 820-610.

Note: If the head company or single company is an outward investor (financial) or inward investment vehicle (financial) under this section and satisfies subsection 820-430(5), it may choose under Subdivision 820-EA to be treated as an outward investing entity (ADI). Section 820-603 affects whether the company satisfies that subsection, by treating as part of the company each relevant foreign financial entity's Australian permanent establishment.

820-610 Choice not to be outward investing entity (ADI) or inward investing entity (ADI)

(1) This section applies if:

- (a) apart from this section, the *head company or single company would, under section 820-609, be an *outward investing entity (ADI) or an *inward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period; and
- (b) at all times in the trial period, each of the following entities that is an *ADI is a *specialist credit card institution:
  - (i) the head company or single company;
  - (ii) an establishment entity whose *Australian permanent establishments the head company or single company has chosen under section 820-597 or 820-599 to have treated as part of the company for the period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (2) The *head company or single company is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an outward investor (financial) for the trial period if:
- (a) apart from this section, the company would, under section 820-609, be an *outward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period; and
  - (b) the company chooses, before lodging its *income tax return for the income year including the trial period, to be an outward investing entity (non-ADI) and an outward investor (financial) for that period.
- (3) The *head company or single company is an inward investing entity (non-ADI) and an inward investment vehicle (financial) for the trial period if:
- (a) apart from this section, the company would, under section 820-609, be an *inward investing entity (ADI) for the trial period; and
  - (b) the company chooses, before lodging its *income tax return for the income year including the trial period, to be an inward investing entity (non-ADI) and an inward investment vehicle (financial) for that period.
- (4) This section has effect despite sections 820-85, 820-185 and 820-609.

820-611 Values to be based on what would be in consolidated accounts for group

- (1) For the purposes of this Division as applying because of this Subdivision, the value or amount of a particular matter as at a particular time during the grouping period is to be worked out, so far as practicable, on the basis of the information that would be contained in a set of consolidated accounts:
- (a) prepared, in accordance with the *accounting standard on consolidated accounts, as at that time; and
  - (b) covering the *consolidated group, *MEC group or single company, as appropriate, and each *Australian permanent establishment that section 820-603 treats as part of the *head company or single company at that time.

---

---

Note: This subsection does not depend on whether such a set of consolidated accounts was prepared, or had to be prepared, for other purposes.

- (2) To avoid doubt, subsection (1) also applies to working out the value or amount, as at a particular time, of a matter mentioned in any of sections 820-613 to 820-615.

820-613 How Subdivision 820-D applies

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of applying Subdivision 820-D to the *head company or single company in relation to a period (the test period) that is all or part of the grouping period.

Note: Subdivision 820-D applies to the head company or single company if it is classified as an outward investing entity (ADI) because of section 820-609, either alone or in conjunction with a choice made by the company under section 820-430.

Adjusted average equity capital

- (2) The *adjusted average equity capital of the *head company or single company for the test period is increased by the average value, for the period, of the amount worked out under subsection (3).

Note 1: In the case of a choice under section 820-599, paragraph 820-603(4)(b) treats the single company and the relevant Australian permanent establishments as a consolidated group.

Note 2: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

- (3) The amount worked out under this subsection as at a particular day is the total of the amounts worked out under the following paragraphs for each of the establishment entity's *Australian permanent establishments that section 820-603 treats as part of the *head company or single company on that day:

- (a) so much of the establishment entity's *ADI equity capital, at the end of the day, as:
- (i) is attributable to that Australian permanent establishment; and
  - (ii) has not been allocated to the *OB activities of the entity;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the amounts that, as at the end of that day:
- (i) are made available by the establishment entity to the Australian permanent establishment as loans to it; and
  - (ii) do not give rise to any *debt deductions of the entity for the income year or any other income year.

Note: The amounts are to be worked out, so far as practicable, on the basis of the information that would be contained in a set of consolidated accounts. See section 820-611.

Risk-weighted assets

- (4) For each of the establishment entity's *Australian permanent establishments that is covered by the choice, the *risk-weighted assets of the *head company or single company include that part of the entity's risk-weighted assets that:
- (a) is attributable to that Australian permanent establishment; and
  - (b) is not attributable to the entity's *OB activities.

820-615 How Subdivision 820-E applies

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of applying Subdivision 820-E to the *head company or single company in relation to a period (the test period) that is all or part of the grouping period.

Note: Subdivision 820-E applies to the head company or single company if it is classified as an inward investing entity (ADI) because of section 820-609.

Average equity capital

- (2) The average equity capital of the *head company or single company for the test period is:
- (a) the average value, for that period, of all the *ADI equity capital of the company; plus
  - (b) the average value, for that period, of the amount worked out under subsection 820-613(3).

Note 1: In the case of a choice under section 820-599, paragraph 820-603(4)(b) treats the single company and the relevant Australian permanent establishments as a consolidated group.

---

Note 2: To calculate an average value for the purposes of this Division, see Subdivision 820-G.

Safe harbour capital amount

- (3) The safe harbour capital amount of the *head company or single company for the test period is worked out using the following method statement.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the average value, for the test period, of the *head company's or single company's *risk-weighted assets.

Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by 4%. The result of this step is the safe harbour capital amount.

Risk-weighted assets

- (4) For each of the establishment entity's *Australian permanent establishments covered by the choice, the *risk-weighted assets of the *head company or single company include that part of the entity's risk-weighted assets that:
- (a) is attributable to that Australian permanent establishment; and
  - (b) is not attributable to the entity's *OB activities.

Subdivision 820-G—Calculating the average values

Guide to Subdivision 820-G

820-625 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the methods of calculating the average values for the purposes of this Division. It also includes special rules about values and valuation that are relevant to that calculation.

How to calculate the average values

820-630 Methods of calculating average values

Methods of calculation for entities that are not ADIs

- (1) An entity to which Subdivision 820-B or 820-C applies for a period that is all or a part of an income year must use one of the following methods to calculate the average value of a matter mentioned in that Subdivision for the purposes of that application:
  - (a) the method set out in section 820-635 (the opening and closing balances method);
  - (b) the method set out in section 820-640 (the 3 measurement days method);

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(c) the method set out in section 820-645 (the frequent measurement method).

Note 1: This subsection therefore applies only to an outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an inward investing entity (non-ADI).

Note 2: An entity cannot apply the 3 measurement days method if it is unable to meet the requirements in subsection 820-640(1). An entity's ability to apply that method may therefore be limited.

(2) The entity must use the same method to calculate all such average values for that period for the purposes of that application.

Commissioner's power

(3) If the entity fails to comply with subsection (2), the Commissioner may, irrespective of the methods used by the entity, recalculate all the average values for the entity and that period by using the opening and closing balances method.

Method of calculation for ADIs

(4) An entity to which Subdivision 820-D or 820-E applies for a period that is all or a part of an income year must use the frequent measurement method to calculate the average value of a matter mentioned in that Subdivision for the purposes of that application.

Note: This subsection therefore applies only to an outward investing entity (ADI) or an inward investing entity (ADI).

820-635 The opening and closing balances method

An entity that uses the opening and closing balances method for a period must apply the following method statement to calculate the average value of a matter for that period.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the value of the particular matter as at the first day of that period.

Step 2. Work out the value of the particular matter as at the last day of that period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Step 3. Add the results of steps 1 and 2.

Step 4. Divide the result of step 3 by 2. The result of this step is the average value.

Example: ALWZ Corporation, a company that is an Australian entity, held assets valued at $95 million on the first day of an income year. It held assets valued at $105 million at the end of that year. Adding those amounts and dividing the result by 2 gives the average value of its assets for that year, which is $100 million.

820-640 The 3 measurement days method

Application

- (1) An entity must not use the 3 measurement days method for a period that is a part of an income year unless the following days occur during that period:
  - (a) the last day of the first half of the income year;
  - (b) one or both of the following days:
    - (i) the first day of that year;
    - (ii) the last day of that year.

Method statement

- (2) An entity that uses the 3 measurement days method for a period must apply the following method statement to calculate the average value of a matter for that period.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the value of the particular matter as at the first measurement day (see subsection (3)).

Step 2. Work out the value of the particular matter as at the second measurement day (see subsection (3)).

Step 3. Work out the value of the particular matter as at the third measurement day (see subsection (3)).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Step 4. Add the results of steps 1, 2 and 3.

Step 5. Divide the result of step 4 by 3. The result of this step is the average value.

Example: RJ Corporation held assets valued at $115 million on the first day of an income year. It held assets valued at $105 million on the last day of the first half of that year, and $80 million on the last day of that year. Adding these amounts and dividing the result by 3 gives the average value of its assets for that year, which is $100 million.

Measurement days

- (3) The following are the first, second and third measurement days:
- (a) the first measurement day is the first day of the income year if it occurs during that period, otherwise it is the first day of that period;
  - (b) the second measurement day is the last day of the first half of that year;
  - (c) the third measurement day is the last day of that year if it occurs during that period, otherwise it is the last day of that period.

820-645 The frequent measurement method

- (1) An entity that uses the frequent measurement method for a period (the measurement period) must calculate the average value of a matter for that period by applying:
- (a) the method statement in subsection (2) (generally based on quarterly periods); or
  - (b) the method statement in subsection (4) (generally based on regular intervals).

This section does not prevent the entity from applying the method statement in subsection (2) for one matter and the method statement in subsection (4) for another matter in relation to that period.

- (2) This is the method statement for the purposes of paragraph (1)(a).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the value of the particular matter as at each of the following measurement days:
- (a) the first day of the measurement period;
  - (b) the last day of each quarterly period of that income year (see subsection (3)) that occurs during the measurement period (if any);
  - (c) the last day of the measurement period if it is not a day covered by paragraph (b).
- Step 2. Add up those values.
- Step 3. Divide the result of step 2 by the number of measurement days. The result of this step is the average value.

Example: KJW Finance Corporation, a company that is an Australian entity, held assets valued at $130 million on the first day of an income year. On the last day of each quarterly period for that year it held assets valued at $140 million, $120 million, $110 million and $100 million respectively. Adding these amounts and dividing the result by 5 gives the average value of its assets for that year, which is $120 million.

Quarterly period

- (3) The quarterly periods of the income year are:
- (a) the period consisting of the first, second and third months of that year; and
  - (b) each successive period of 3 months that occurs after that period during that year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) This is the method statement for the purposes of paragraph (1)(b):

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the value of the particular matter as at each of the following measurement days:
- (a) the first day of the measurement period;
  - (b) the last day of each regular interval for the measurement period (see subsection (5));
  - (c) the last day of the measurement period if it is not a day mentioned in paragraph (b).
- Step 2. Add up those values.
- Step 3. Divide the result of step 2 by the number of measurement days. The result of this step is the average value.

Example: TW Corporation, a company that is an Australian entity, adopts a weekly interval for the purposes of this subsection. The measurement period is a period of 12 weeks. On the first day of that period it had $70 million of debt capital. Its debt capital was $80 million on the last day of each of the first 7 weeks, and $95 million on the last day of the remaining 5 weeks. Adding these amounts and dividing the result by 13 (the number of measurement days) gives the average value of its debt capital for that period, which is $85 million.

Regular intervals

- (5) The regular intervals for the measurement period are:
- (a) a period which consists of a fixed number of days or months (not less than one day and not more than 3 months) adopted by the entity and begins at the start of the first day of the measurement period; and
  - (b) each successive period of the same duration that occurs during the measurement period.

Note: Examples of a regular interval therefore include a daily, weekly, fortnightly, monthly or quarterly interval.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (6) The entity must use the same regular intervals when calculating the average values of different matters under subsection (4) for that period.

Special rules about values and valuation

820-675 Amount to be expressed in Australian currency

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, an amount (including a value used in a calculation under this Division) is to be expressed in Australian currency.
- (2) An entity must comply with the *accounting standards in converting an amount into Australian currency.
- (3) Subsection (2) has effect whether the *accounting standard would otherwise apply to the entity or not.

820-680 Valuation of assets, liabilities and equity capital

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, an entity must comply with the *accounting standards in determining what are its assets and liabilities and in calculating:
- (a) the value of its assets (including revaluing its assets for the purposes of that calculation); and
  - (b) the value of its liabilities (including its *debt capital); and
  - (c) the value of its *equity capital.

Note: This requirement to comply with the accounting standards is modified in certain cases (see sections 820-682, 820-683 and 820-684).

- (1A) In particular, for the purposes of this Division, the entity has an asset or liability at a particular time if, and only if, according to the *accounting standards, the asset or liability can or must be recognised at that time.

Note: This application of the accounting standards is modified in certain cases (see sections 820-682 and 820-683).

Requirements for revaluation of assets

- (2) A revaluation of assets mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) must be made by a person:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) who is an expert in valuing such assets; and
- (b) whose pecuniary or other interests could not reasonably be regarded as being capable of affecting the person's ability to give an unbiased opinion in relation to that revaluation.

Note 1: The entity must also keep records in accordance with section 820-985 about the revaluation, unless the exception in subsection (2A) of this section applies.

Note 2: This subsection also applies to some revaluations that are not allowed by the accounting standards (see subsection 820-684(5)).

Revaluation reflected in statutory financial statements for the same period

- (2A) A revaluation of an asset need not comply with subsection (2) if:
- (a) the revaluation is for the purpose of the entity calculating the value of its assets for the purposes of this Division as applying to the entity for a particular period; and
  - (b) the entity is required by an Australian law to prepare financial statements for a period that is or includes all or part of that period; and
  - (c) those financial statements reflect the revaluation.

External validation of a revaluation made internally

- (2B) A revaluation of assets mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) may be made by a person (the internal expert) if:
- (a) apart from this subsection, paragraph (2)(b) would prevent the internal expert from making the revaluation, but only because, in making it, he or she would be:
    - (i) performing duties as an employee of the entity; or
    - (ii) providing services under an *arrangement with the entity that is substantially similar to a contract of employment; and
  - (b) another person (the external expert):
    - (i) is not prevented by subsection (2) from making the revaluation; and
    - (ii) has reviewed the methodology for making it (including the validity of any assumptions to be made, and the accuracy and reliability of the data and other information to be used); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(iii) has agreed that that methodology is suitable for making it; and

(c) the internal expert makes the revaluation in accordance with that methodology.

Note: This subsection also applies to some revaluations that are not allowed by the accounting standards (see subsection 820-684(5)).

Revaluation of individual assets

(2C) Subsection (1) does not prevent the entity from revaluing one or more assets in a class of assets (as distinct from revaluing all the assets in the class) if the value of no asset in that class has fallen since the entity last calculated the total value of all the assets in that class in accordance with the *accounting standards.

When further revaluation of assets required

(2D) If:

(a) the entity revalues one or more assets (whether constituting a class of assets or not) for the purpose of calculating the value of its assets for the purposes of this Division as applying to the entity for a particular period (the first period); and

(b) the revaluation is not required by the *accounting standards; and

(c) if the revaluation had been required by the accounting standards, the entity could have relied on it in preparing financial statements that the entity is required by an Australian law to prepare for a period (the later period) that ends after the first period;

the entity may also rely on the revaluation in calculating the value of its assets for the purposes of this Division as applying to the entity for a period that is or includes all or part of the later period.

(2E) If subsection (2D) does not permit the entity to rely on the revaluation in calculating the value of its assets for the purposes of this Division as applying to the entity for a period that is later than the first period, the revaluation is disregarded in determining whether subsection (1) requires the entity to revalue the one or more assets in calculating the value of its assets for those purposes.

---

Note: As a result, the entity may not be required to make a further revaluation of the one or more assets. However, if the entity does not, it must use the value of the one or more assets that is reflected in financial statements for the relevant period that comply with the accounting standards.

Accounting standards need not otherwise apply to the entity

- (3) Subsection (1) has effect whether the *accounting standard would otherwise apply to the entity or not.

820-682 Recognition of assets and liabilities—modifying application of accounting standards

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities

- (1) Despite subsections 820-680(1) and (1A), an entity must not recognise:
- (a) a deferred tax liability (within the meaning of the *accounting standards) as a liability for the purposes of this Division; or
  - (b) a deferred tax asset (within the meaning of the accounting standards) as an asset for the purposes of this Division.

Note: Subsections 820-680(1) and (1A) require compliance with accounting standards.

Surpluses and deficits in defined benefit superannuation plans

- (2) Despite subsections 820-680(1) and (1A), an entity must not recognise an amount relating to a defined benefit plan (within the meaning of the *accounting standards) as:
- (a) a liability for the purposes of this Division; or
  - (b) an asset for the purposes of this Division.

Note: Subsections 820-680(1) and (1A) require compliance with accounting standards.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Not applicable to ADIs

- (3) This section does not apply in relation to an entity for a period if, for the period, the entity is an *outward investing entity (ADI) or an *inward investing entity (ADI).

Not applicable to records about Australian permanent establishments

- (4) This section does not apply for the purposes of section 820-960.

820-683 Recognition of internally generated intangible items— modifying application of accounting standards

Accounting standards prevent recognition of some items

- (1) Subsection (2) applies in relation to an item, other than internally generated goodwill (within the meaning of *accounting standard AASB 138), if:
- (a) the item cannot be recognised under that standard as an internally generated intangible asset (within the meaning of that standard) because that standard determines that the cost of the item cannot be distinguished from the cost of developing the entity's business as a whole; and
  - (b) the item would otherwise meet criteria under that standard for recognition as such an asset.

Note 1: As a general rule, an entity must comply with the accounting standards when recognising its assets for the purposes of this Division (see subsections 820-680(1) and (1A)).

Note 2: This section does not apply to ADIs (see subsection (6)).

Entity may choose to recognise the item as an intangible asset

- (2) Despite subsections 820-680(1) and (1A), the entity may choose to recognise the item as such an asset for a period for the purposes of this Division (other than section 820-960).

Note: Section 820-960 is about records for Australian permanent establishments.

- (3) A choice under subsection (2):
- (a) must be in writing and may cover more than one item; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) must be made before the due day for lodging the entity's *income tax return for the income year that is, or that includes, the period; and
  - (c) subject to subsection (4), has effect, for the entity and the item, for the period and each later period.
- (4) The entity may, in writing, revoke a choice under subsection (2). The revocation has effect:
- (a) for each period in the income year for which the entity is next required to lodge an *income tax return; and
  - (b) for each later period.
- (5) When:
- (a) recognising an item as an asset under this section; and
  - (b) calculating the value of the asset (including revaluing the asset);

the entity must, to the maximum extent possible, comply with the *accounting standards as if the recognition were allowed by those standards. This subsection has effect subject to section 820-684.

Note: Section 820-684 will allow the entity to revalue the asset even if accounting standard AASB 138 would prevent this because of the absence of an active market.

Choice not available to ADIs

- (6) An entity cannot make a choice under subsection (2) for a period if, for the period, the entity is an *outward investing entity (ADI) or an *inward investing entity (ADI).

820-684 Valuation of intangible assets if no active market—modifying application of accounting standards

Accounting standards prevent revaluation of some assets

- (1) Subsection (2) applies if complying with *accounting standard AASB 138 would prevent an entity from revaluing an intangible asset (within the meaning of that standard) because of the absence of an active market (within the meaning of that standard).

---

---

Note 1: As a general rule, an entity must comply with the accounting standards when revaluing its assets for the purposes of this Division (see subsection 820-680(1)).

Note 2: This section does not apply to ADIs (see subsection (7)).

Entity may choose to revalue the asset

- (2) Despite subsection 820-680(1), the entity may choose to revalue the asset for a period for the purposes of this Division (other than section 820-960).

Note: Section 820-960 is about records for Australian permanent establishments.

- (3) A choice under subsection (2):

- (a) must be in writing and may cover more than one asset; and
- (b) must be made before the due day for lodging the entity's *income tax return for the income year that is, or that includes, the period; and
- (c) subject to subsection (4), has effect, for the entity and the item, for the period and each later period.

- (4) The entity may, in writing, revoke a choice under subsection (2). The revocation has effect:

- (a) for each period in the income year for which the entity is next required to lodge an *income tax return; and
- (b) for each later period.

Requirements for such revaluations

- (5) Subsections 820-680(2) and (2B) apply in relation to a revaluation under subsection (2) in a corresponding way to the way they apply in relation to a revaluation mentioned in paragraph 820-680(1)(a).

Note 1: Subsections 820-680(2) and (2B) set out requirements and other matters in relation to revaluations under subsection 820-680(1).

Note 2: The entity must also keep records in accordance with section 820-985 about the revaluation.

- (6) When revaluing an asset under subsection (2), the entity must, to the maximum extent possible, comply with the *accounting standards as if the revaluation were allowed by those standards.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Choice not available to ADIs

- (7) An entity cannot make a choice under subsection (2) for a period if, for the period, the entity is an *outward investing entity (ADI) or an *inward investing entity (ADI).

820-685 Valuation of debt capital

For the purposes of this Division, the regulations may make additional provisions for the valuation of the *debt capital of an entity.

820-690 Commissioner's power

If the Commissioner considers that, in relation to a calculation under this Division, an entity has:

- (a) overvalued its assets; or
- (b) undervalued its liabilities (including its *debt capital);

the Commissioner may, having regard to the *accounting standards and this Subdivision, substitute a value that the Commissioner considers is appropriate.

Subdivision 820-H—Control of entities

Guide to Subdivision 820-H

820-740 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out rules about the following:

- the meaning of an Australian controller of a foreign entity (for the purpose of determining whether or not an entity is an outward investing entity (non-ADI) or outward investing entity (ADI));
- the meaning of a foreign controlled Australian entity (for the purpose of determining whether or not an entity is an inward investing entity (non-ADI));

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- the method of working out the extent to which one entity is controlled by another entity for those purposes.

820-795 What is a foreign controlled Australian partnership?

Corporate limited partnership

Thin capitalisation control interest

820-815 General rule about thin capitalisation control interest in a company, trust or partnership

Meaning of TC control interest

- (1) The thin capitalisation control interest (or TC control interest) that an entity holds in a company, trust or partnership at a particular time is the total of the following interests:
  - (a) the *TC direct control interest (if any) held by the entity in the company, trust or partnership at that time;
  - (b) the *TC indirect control interest (if any) held by the entity in the company, trust or partnership at that time;
  - (c) the TC direct control interests (if any) held by the entity's *associate entities in the company, trust or partnership at that time;
  - (d) the TC indirect control interests (if any) held by the entity's associate entities in the company, trust or partnership at that time.

This section has effect subject to sections 820-820 to 820-835 (which set out special rules to avoid double counting).

Note: For the rules about a TC direct control interest, see sections 820-855 to 820-865. For the rules about a TC indirect control interest, see sections 820-870 to 820-875.

- (2) This section does not apply to an *associate entity of the entity if:
  - (a) the associate entity is a *foreign entity and the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3A); or
  - (b) the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3B).

820-820 Special rules about calculating TC control interest held by an entity

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of calculating the *TC control interest that an entity holds in a company, trust or partnership.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) Disregard a *TC indirect control interest held by the entity to the extent to which it is calculated by reference to:
  - (a) a *TC direct control interest taken into account under paragraph 820-815(c); or
  - (b) a TC indirect control interest taken into account under paragraph 820-815(d).
- (3) Disregard a *TC indirect control interest held by an *associate entity of the entity to the extent to which it is calculated by reference to:
  - (a) a *TC direct control interest taken into account under paragraph 820-815(a) or (c); or
  - (b) a TC indirect control interest taken into account under paragraph 820-815(b) or (d).
- (3A) Subsection (3) does not apply to an *associate entity of the entity if:
  - (a) the associate entity is a *foreign entity and the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3A); or
  - (b) the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3B).
- (4) Take into account only one of the following things if both would otherwise be counted in calculating the *TC control interest:
  - (a) the holding of a *TC direct control interest by the entity or any other entity;
  - (b) an entitlement to acquire that TC direct control interest.
- (5) The operation of this section in relation to an entity does not prevent the operation of section 820-825 in relation to a group of entities that includes that entity.

820-825 Special rules about calculating TC control interests held by a group of entities

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of calculating the total *TC control interests that a group of entities holds in a company, trust or partnership.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) Take into account a particular *TC direct control interest or *TC indirect control interest only once if it would otherwise be counted more than once because the entity holding it is an *associate entity of one or more entities in the group.
- (2A) Subsection (2) does not apply to an *associate entity of one or more entities in the group if:
  - (a) the associate entity is a *foreign entity and the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3A); or
  - (b) the associate entity is such an associate entity only because of subsection 820-905(3B).
- (3) Take into account only one of the following things if both of them would otherwise be counted in calculating the total *TC control interests:
  - (a) the holding of a *TC direct control interest by an entity;
  - (b) an entitlement to acquire that TC direct control interest.
- (4) The operation of this section in relation to a group of entities does not prevent the operation of section 820-820 in relation to an entity that is a member of that group.

820-830 Special rules about determining percentage of TC control interest

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of determining whether an entity, or a group of entities, holds at least a particular percentage of *TC control interests for the purposes of a provision in this Subdivision.
- (2) If, apart from this subsection, an entity, or each of 2 or more entities, would hold a *TC direct control interest equal to 100%, or a *TC control tracing interest equal to 100%, in another entity (the controlled entity):
  - (a) only the entity, or one of the 2 or more entities, is to be taken to hold that particular interest in the controlled entity equal to 100%; and
  - (b) another entity is not to be taken to hold that particular interest in the controlled entity (whether or not it would, apart from

For the purposes of this Subdivision, the Commissioner may decide:

- (a) which one of 2 things is to be taken into account for the purposes of subsection 820-820(4) or subsection 820-825(3);
or
- (b) which one of 2 or more entities is to be chosen for the purposes of paragraph 820-830(2)(a).

- (3) In addition, for the purposes of determining whether or not an entity (other than a trust mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b)) is a *foreign controlled Australian entity:
- (a) if a trust is covered by paragraph 820-790(1)(c)—a foreign entity that is an object of the trust at a particular time is taken to hold, at that time, a TC direct control interest in the trust that is equal to 100%; and
  - (b) if a trust is covered by paragraph 820-790(1)(d)—a foreign entity that is in a position to control the trust at a particular time is taken to hold, at that time, a *TC direct control interest in the trust that is equal to 100%.

Note: The foreign entity therefore holds a TC control tracing interest in the trust (see section 820-875). That interest may then be taken into account in calculating any TC indirect control interest that the foreign entity holds in another entity in relation to which the trust is an interposed entity (see section 820-870). As a result, that other entity may become a foreign controlled Australian entity.

820-865 TC direct control interest in a partnership

A thin capitalisation direct control interest (or a TC direct control interest) that an entity holds in a partnership at a particular time is whichever of the following percentages is applicable, and if there are 2 or more such percentages, the greatest of them:

- (a) in the case of a *corporate limited partnership—100% if the entity is a *general partner of the partnership;
- (b) in the case of a partnership that is not a corporate limited partnership—the percentage of the control of voting power in the partnership that the entity has at that time;
- (c) in any case—the percentage that the entity holds, or is entitled to acquire, at that time, of any of the following:
  - (i) the total amount of assets or capital contributed to the partnership;
  - (ii) the total rights of partners to distributions of capital, assets or profits on the dissolution of the partnership;
  - (iii) the total rights of partners to distributions of capital, assets or profits otherwise than on the dissolution of the partnership.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

820-870 TC indirect control interest in a company, trust or partnership

What is a TC indirect control interest?

- (1) An entity holds a thin capitalisation indirect control interest (or a TC indirect control interest) in a company, trust or partnership at a particular time if, and only if:
- (a) there is an interposed entity, or a continuous series of at least 2 interposed entities, between that entity and the company, trust or partnership; and
  - (b) the interposed entity, or each of the interposed entities, is:
    - (i) a *foreign controlled Australian entity if this section is used for the purposes of determining whether or not an entity is a foreign controlled Australian entity; or
    - (ii) an *Australian controlled foreign entity if this section is used for the purposes of determining whether or not an entity is an Australian controlled foreign entity or an *Australian controller of such an entity.

Note: In the case of a continuous series of interposed entities between an entity and a company, trust or partnership, the entity must hold a TC control tracing interest in the first interposed entity (see subsection (2)). In addition, under subsection (2), each interposed entity in the series must hold a TC control tracing interest in the next interposed entity (except in the case of the last one, which holds a TC control tracing interest in the company, trust or partnership).

What is an interposed entity?

- (2) For the purposes of this section, an entity (the middle entity) is interposed between 2 other entities at a particular time if, and only if, at that time:
- (a) the first of those 2 entities holds a *TC control tracing interest in the middle entity; and
  - (b) the middle entity holds a TC control tracing interest in the second of those 2 entities.

Note: For the rules about a TC control tracing interest, see section 820-875.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

How to calculate a TC indirect control interest

- (3) The *TC indirect control interest that an entity (the top entity) holds in a company, trust or partnership at a particular time is calculated in accordance with subsection (4), (5) or (6) (as appropriate).

One interposed entity only

- (4) The *TC indirect control interest is the result of applying the following method statement if there is only one interposed entity between the top entity and the company, trust or partnership at that time.

Method statement

- Step 1. Calculate the *TC control tracing interest that the top entity holds in the interposed entity at that time.
- Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by the *TC control tracing interest that the interposed entity holds in the company, trust or partnership at that time.

2 interposed entities

- (5) The *TC indirect control interest is the result of applying the following method statement if there are 2 interposed entities between the top entity and the company, trust or partnership at that time.

Method statement

- Step 1. Calculate the *TC control tracing interest that the top entity holds in the first of those interposed entities at that time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by the *TC control tracing interest that the first interposed entity holds in the next interposed entity (the second interposed entity) at that time.

Step 3. Multiply the result of step 2 by the *TC control tracing interest that the second interposed entity holds in the company, trust or partnership at that time.

More than 2 interposed entities

- (6) The *TC indirect control interest is the result of applying the following method statement if there are more than 2 interposed entities between the top entity and the company, trust or partnership at that time.

Method statement

Step 1. Calculate the *TC control tracing interest that the top entity holds in the first of those interposed entities at that time.

Step 2. Multiply the result of step 1 by the *TC control tracing interest that the first interposed entity holds in the next interposed entity (the second interposed entity) at that time.

Step 3. Multiply the result of step 2 by the *TC control tracing interest that the second interposed entity holds in the next interposed entity at that time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Step 4. Continue this pattern of multiplying the result of the last multiplication by the *TC control tracing interest in the next interposed entity held by the preceding entity, ending with a multiplication by the TC control tracing interest held by the last interposed entity in the company, trust or partnership.

820-875 TC control tracing interest in a company, trust or partnership

- (1) A thin capitalisation control tracing interest (or a TC control tracing interest) that an entity holds in a company, trust or a partnership at a particular time is equal to the *TC direct control interest in the company, trust or partnership that the entity holds at that time.
- (2) Despite subsection (1), an entity is taken to hold a *TC control tracing interest in a company, trust or partnership that is equal to 100% at a particular time if, at that time:
  - (a) the entity and its *associate entities hold a total of *TC direct control interests in the company, trust or partnership that is 50% or more; or
  - (b) the following subparagraphs apply:
    - (i) the entity (the controlling entity) and its associate entities hold a total of TC direct control interests that is 40% or more in the company, trust or partnership;
    - (ii) no other entity or entities (except the controlling entity, its associate entities or entities including the controlling entity or its associate entities) control the company, trust or partnership; or
  - (c) the entity (whether or not together with associate entities) controls the company, trust or partnership.
- (3) Paragraph (2)(b) does not apply if the *TC direct control interests mentioned in subparagraph (2)(b)(i) are held in a *corporate limited partnership.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), take into account the value of an *equity interest in, or a *debt interest issued by, a controlled entity of the relevant entity only to the extent that the interest is not attributable to any of the following assets that are held by the controlled entity throughout the relevant period:
- (a) assets attributable to the controlled entity's *Australian permanent establishments;

Subdivision 820-I—Associate entities

Guide to Subdivision 820-I

820-900 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the meaning of various concepts about associate entities for the purposes of this Division.

Table of sections

820-905	Associate entity
820-910	Associate entity debt
820-915	Associate entity equity
820-920	Associate entity excess amount

820-905 Associate entity

Meaning of associate entity

- (1) An entity (the first entity) that is not an individual is an associate entity of another entity at a particular time if, at that time, the first entity is an *associate of that other entity and at least one of the following paragraphs applies:
- (a) that other entity holds an *associate interest of 50% or more in the first entity (see subsections (4) to (8));
  - (b) the first entity is accustomed or under an obligation (whether formal or informal), or might reasonably be expected, to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of that other entity in relation to:
    - (i) the distribution or retention of the first entity's profits; or
    - (ii) the financial policies relating to the first entity's assets, *debt capital or *equity capital;

---

whether those directions, instructions or wishes are, or might reasonably be expected to be, communicated directly or through interposed entities.

However, this subsection does not apply to the first entity in its capacity as the *responsible entity of a *registered scheme (see subsection (2A)).

- (2) An entity (the first entity) that is an individual is an associate entity of another entity at a particular time if, at that time:
- (a) the first entity is an *associate of that other entity; and
  - (b) the first entity:
    - (i) is accustomed or under an obligation (whether formal or informal); or
    - (ii) might reasonably be expected; to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of that other entity in relation to the first entity's financial affairs, whether those directions, instructions or wishes are, or might reasonably be expected to be, communicated directly or through interposed entities.
- (2A) An entity (the first entity), in its capacity as the *responsible entity of a *registered scheme at a particular time, is an associate entity of another entity at that time if the first entity, in that capacity, is an *associate of that other entity at that time and at least one of the following paragraphs applies at that time:
- (a) that other entity holds an *associate interest of 50% or more in the registered scheme (see subsections (4) to (8));
  - (b) that other entity holds an associate interest of 20% or more in the registered scheme and the first entity, in that capacity, is accustomed or under an obligation (whether formal or informal), or might reasonably be expected, to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of that other entity in relation to:
    - (i) the distribution or retention of the profits of the registered scheme; or
    - (ii) the financial policies relating to the assets, *debt capital or *equity capital of the registered scheme;

---

---

whether those directions, instructions or wishes are, or might reasonably be expected to be, communicated directly or through interposed entities.

Note: The first entity, in another capacity, may also be an associate entity of an entity under another provision of this section (see also section 960-100).

- (3) Subsection (1) or (2A) also has effect as if the first entity satisfies paragraph (b) of that subsection at a particular time if any of the following is expected to act in the manner mentioned in that paragraph at that time:
- (a) a director of the first entity if it is a company;
  - (b) a partner of the first entity if it is a partnership;
  - (c) the *general partner of the first entity if it is a *corporate limited partnership;
  - (d) the trustee of the first entity if it is a trust;
  - (e) a member of the first entity's committee of management if it is an unincorporated association or body.
- (3A) If:
- (a) an entity (the first entity) is an *associate entity of another entity (the head entity) under subsection (1), (2), (2A) or (3) at a particular time; and
  - (b) a third entity is also an associate entity of the head entity under subsection (1), (2), (2A) or (3) at that time;
- the first entity is an associate entity of the third entity at that time.
- (3B) If an entity (the first entity) is an *associate entity of another entity under subsection (1), (2), (2A), (3) or (3A) at a particular time, that other entity is also an associate entity of the first entity at that time.
- (3C) However, an entity in its capacity as the *responsible entity of a *registered scheme (the responsible entity) is not an *associate entity of another entity under subsection (3B) at a particular time if, at that time, the responsible entity:
- (a) would be an associate entity of that other entity under subsection (3B) (apart from the effect of this subsection); but
  - (b) is not an associate entity of that other entity under subsection (2A).

- (7) For the purposes of subsection (6), provisions of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 are applied with the modifications set out in the following table:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

1	Section 351 (including any other provision in Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that defines a term used in the section)	The section applies for the purposes of this subsection rather than only for the purposes of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

- (a) in the case of a *corporate limited partnership—100% if the entity is a *general partner of the partnership;
  - (b) in the case of a partnership that is not a corporate limited partnership—the percentage of the control of voting power in the partnership that the entity has at that time;
  - (c) in any other case—the percentage that the entity holds, or is entitled to acquire, at that time, of any of the following:
    - (i) the total amount of assets or capital contributed to the partnership;
    - (ii) the total rights of partners to distributions of capital, assets or profits on the dissolution of the partnership;

820-910 Associate entity debt

- (1) This section applies to an entity (the relevant entity) that is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI), or an *inward investing entity (non-ADI), for a period (the relevant period) that is all or a part of an income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) This section also applies, for the relevant entity, to an *associate entity (a relevant associate entity) of the relevant entity, if:
- (a) either:
    - (i) the associate entity is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI), an *inward investment vehicle (general), or an *inward investment vehicle (financial), for the relevant period; or
    - (ii) the associate entity is an *inward investor (general) or an *inward investor (financial) for the relevant period, and the condition in subsection (2A) of this section is satisfied; and
  - (b) neither section 820-35 ($250,000 debt deductions threshold) nor section 820-37 (exemption for entity with 90% Australian assets) prevents Subdivision 820-B, 820-C, 820-D or 820-E from disallowing any *debt deduction of the relevant associate entity for the income year; and
  - (c) for some or all of the relevant period, the relevant associate entity does not meet the conditions in subsection 820-39(3) (about exemption of certain special purpose entities); and
  - (d) the relevant associate entity is not an *exempt entity for the income year.
- (2A) The condition referred to in subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) is that the relevant period consists of one or more periods each of which is either or both of these:
- (a) a period throughout which the *associate entity carries on its *business in Australia at or through one or more of its *Australian permanent establishments;
  - (b) a period throughout which the associate entity holds any of the following assets:
    - (i) assets that are attributable to the associate entity's Australian permanent establishments;
    - (ii) other assets that are held for the purposes of producing the associate entity's assessable income.
- (3) The relevant entity's associate entity debt at a particular time during the relevant period is the total value of all the *debt interests held by the relevant entity at that time that satisfy all of the following:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the interests are *on issue at that time;
  - (b) each of the interests was *issued by a relevant associate entity;
  - (c) each of the interests gives rise to costs:
    - (i) that are *debt deductions, for an income year, of the relevant associate entity that issued the interest; and
    - (ii) to the extent that the costs are not amounts mentioned in paragraph 820-40(2)(c) and are costs ordinarily payable to an entity other than the relevant entity—that are assessable income of the relevant entity for an income year;
  - (d) the terms and conditions for each of the interests are those that would apply if the relevant entity and the relevant associate entity that issued the interest were dealing at arm's length with each other.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), take into account the value of a *debt interest issued by a *foreign entity only to the extent that the interest is attributable to any of the following assets that are held by the foreign entity throughout the relevant period:
- (a) assets that are attributable to the foreign entity's *Australian permanent establishments;
  - (b) other assets held by the foreign entity for the purposes of producing the foreign entity's assessable income.

820-915 Associate entity equity

- (1) This section applies to an entity (the relevant entity) that is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period (the relevant period) that is all or a part of an income year.
- (2) This section also applies, for the relevant entity, to each entity (relevant associate entity) that is an *associate entity of the relevant entity and that is:
  - (a) an *Australian entity; or
  - (b) a *foreign entity that, throughout the relevant period, holds any of the following assets:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) assets that are attributable to the foreign entity's
*Australian permanent establishments;
  - (ii) other assets that are held for the purposes of producing the foreign entity's assessable income.
- (3) The relevant entity's associate entity equity at a particular time during the relevant period is the total value of:
- (a) all the *equity interests that the entity holds, at that time, in relevant associate entities; and
  - (b) all the *debt interests *on issue and held by the relevant entity at that time that satisfy all of the following:
    - (i) the interests were *issued by relevant associate entities;
    - (ii) neither the value of each of the interests, nor any part of that value, is all or a part of any *cost-free debt capital of the issuer of the interest at that time;
    - (iii) none of the interests gives rise to any cost, at any time, that is covered by paragraph 820-40(1)(a); and
  - (c) all the debt interests on issue and held by the relevant entity at that time that satisfy both of the following:
    - (i) the interests were issued by relevant associate entities;
    - (ii) each of the interests gives rise to a cost, at any time, that is covered by paragraph 820-40(1)(a), but the cost is not deductible from the assessable income of the issuer of the interest for any income year.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), take into account the value of an *equity interest in, or a *debt interest issued by, a *foreign entity only to the extent that the interest is attributable to assets covered by subparagraph (2)(b)(i) or (ii) that are held by the foreign entity throughout the relevant period.

820-920 Associate entity excess amount

- (1) This section applies to an entity (the relevant entity) that is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or an *inward investing entity (non-ADI) for a period that is all or a part of an income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (2) The relevant entity's associate entity excess amount at a particular time during that period is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the premium excess amount (see subsection (3)), as at that particular time, for an *associate entity of the relevant entity that is the issuer of an *equity interest or a *debt interest any value of which is all or a part of the relevant entity's *associate entity equity at that time.
- Step 2. Add to the result of step 1 the attributable safe harbour excess amount (see subsection (4)) for that *associate entity as at that time.
- Step 3. Apply steps 1 and 2 to all such *associate entities of the relevant entity and add all the results that are positive amounts. The result of this step is the associate entity excess amount.

- (3) An *associate entity's premium excess amount at a particular time during that period is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to an entity's *overseas permanent establishments if it is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) at that time.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the value, as at that particular time, of all the *associate entity equity of the relevant entity that is attributable to the *associate entity (disregarding the value of any *debt interest *issued by the associate entity that is held by the relevant entity at that time).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 2. Work out the value, as at that time, of all the *equity capital of the *associate entity that is attributable to *equity interests that the relevant entity holds in the associate entity at that time (except equity interests whose value is all or a part of the relevant entity's *controlled foreign entity equity at that time).
- Step 3. Reduce the result of step 1 by the result of step 2. However, if the result of step 2 is a negative amount, the result of step 2 is taken to be nil for the purpose of this step.
- Step 4. Multiply the result of step 3 by:
- (a)  $\frac{20}{21}$  if the \*associate entity excess amount is applied for the purpose of working out the \*total debt amount of the relevant entity for that period under subsection 820-100(2), 820-200(2) or 820-210(2); or
  - (b)  $\frac{3}{4}$  if the associate entity excess amount is applied for the purpose of working out the \*adjusted on-lent amount of the relevant entity for that period under subsection 820-100(3), 820-200(3) or 820-210(3); or
  - (c)  $\frac{3}{4}$  if the associate entity excess amount is applied for the purpose of working out the \*safe harbour debt amount of the relevant entity for that period under section 820-95, 820-195 or 820-205; or
  - (d) the result of step 4 of the method statement in subsection (1) or (2) of section 820-110 (as appropriate) if the associate entity excess amount is applied for the purpose of working out the *worldwide gearing debt amount of the relevant entity for that period.

The result of this step is the premium excess amount.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) The *associate entity's attributable safe harbour excess amount at a particular time during that period is the result of applying the method statement in this subsection. In applying the method statement, disregard any amount that is attributable to an entity's *overseas permanent establishments if it is an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) at that time.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the *safe harbour debt amount of the *associate entity for the day during which that particular time occurs, as if:
- (a) the associate entity were an *outward investing entity (non-ADI) or *inward investing entity (non-ADI), as appropriate, for the period consisting only of that day; and
  - (b) if the associate entity would otherwise be treated as an *outward investor (financial) for that day and the relevant entity is not a *financial entity throughout that day—the associate entity were an *outward investor (general) for that day; and
  - (c) if the associate entity would otherwise be treated as an *inward investment vehicle (financial) for that day and the relevant entity is not a financial entity throughout that day—the associate entity were an *inward investment vehicle (general) for that day; and
  - (d) if the associate entity would otherwise be treated as an *inward investor (financial) for that day and the relevant entity is not a financial entity throughout that day—the associate entity were an *inward investor (general) for that day.

Step 2. Reduce the result of step 1 by the value of the *adjusted average debt of the *associate entity for that day as if it had been the kind of entity that it is taken to be under step 1 for that day. If the result of this step is a negative amount, it is taken to be nil.

Step 3. Multiply the result of step 2 by the sum of:

- (a) the value, as at that time, of all the *equity capital of the *associate entity that is attributable to the relevant entity at that time; and
- (b) the value, as at that time, of all the *debt interests *issued by the associate entity that are covered by subsection (5), and held by the relevant entity, at that time; and
- (c) the value, as at that time, of all the debt interests issued by the associate entity that are covered by subsection (6), and held by the relevant entity, at that time.

Step 4. Divide the result of step 3 by the sum of:

- (a) the value, as at that time, of all the *equity capital of the *associate entity; and
- (b) the value, as at that time, of all the *debt interests *issued by the associate entity that are covered by subsection (5) at that time; and
- (c) the value, as at that time, of all the debt interests issued by the associate entity that are covered by subsection (6) at that time.
