- Note 5: The reduced cost base may be modified for a roll-over happening after a demerger: see section 125-170.
- (4) If you *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired each new asset before that day.

Note: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see Division 149.

---

- (5) However, subsection (4) is taken never to have applied to a *share to which subsection 104-195(6) applies (CGT event J4).

124-15 Your ownership of more than one CGT asset ends

- (1) There are these consequences (in most cases) if you can obtain a roll-over when your ownership of more than one *CGT asset (the original assets) ends and you acquire one or more CGT assets (the new assets) in a situation covered by this Division.

Example: You own 100 shares in a company. The company cancels these shares and issues you with 10 shares in return.

- (1A) A *car, motor cycle or similar vehicle must not be one of the new assets.
- (2) A *capital gain or a *capital loss you make from each original asset is disregarded.
- (3) If you *acquired all the original assets on or after 20 September 1985, the first element of each new asset's cost base is:

The total of the cost bases of all the original assets
(worked out when your ownership of them ended)

Number of new assets

The first element of each new asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Note 1: No other elements of the cost base of the new asset are affected by the roll-over.

Note 2: There are special indexation rules for roll-overs: see Division 114.

- (4) If you *acquired all the original assets before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired each new asset before that day.

Note: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see Division 149.

- (5) If you *acquired some of the original assets before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired a number of new assets before that day. It is the maximum possible that does not exceed:

$$\text{The number of new assets} \times \frac{\text{The number of original assets you} \\ \text{*acquired before 20 September 1985}}{\text{The total number of original assets}}$$

If the result is less than one, none of the new assets are taken to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985.

Example: To continue the example, suppose you acquired 67 of the 100 original shares before 20 September 1985. The number of new shares that you are taken to have acquired before that day cannot exceed:

$$10 \times \frac{67}{100} = 6.7$$

So, you are taken to have acquired 6 of the 10 shares before that day.

Note: Subdivision 124-O provides a different rule for FSR transitions.

- (6) These rules are relevant to each remaining new asset. The first element of each one's *cost base is:

The total of the cost bases of all the original assets
that you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985
(worked out when your ownership of them ended)

Number of remaining new assets

The first element of each one's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Note: There are special indexation rules for roll-overs: see Division 114.

Example: To continue the example, suppose the total of the cost bases of the 33 shares you acquired on or after 20 September 1985 is $400.

The first element of the cost base of each of the remaining 4 shares is:

$$\frac{$400}{4} = $100$$

The first element of the reduced cost base of those 4 shares is worked out similarly.

- (7) However, subsections (4) and (5) are taken never to have applied to a *share to which subsection 104-195(6) applies (CGT event J4).

Subdivision 124-B—Asset compulsorily acquired, lost or destroyed

Table of sections

When a roll-over is available

124-70	Events giving rise to a roll-over
124-75	Other requirements if you receive money
124-80	Other requirements if you receive an asset

The consequences of a roll-over being available

124-85	Consequences for receiving money
124-90	Consequences for receiving an asset
124-95	You receive both money and an asset

When a roll-over is available

124-70 Events giving rise to a roll-over

- (1) You may be able to choose a roll-over if one of these events happens to a *CGT asset (the original asset) you own:
  - (a) it is compulsorily *acquired by an *Australian government agency;
  - (aa) it is compulsorily acquired by an entity (other than an Australian government agency or a *foreign government agency) under a power of compulsory acquisition conferred by a law covered under subsection (1A);
  - (b) it, or part of it, is lost or destroyed;
  - (c) you *dispose of it to an entity (other than a foreign government agency) in circumstances meeting all of these conditions:
    - (i) the disposal takes place after a notice was served on you by or on behalf of the entity;
    - (ii) the notice invited you to negotiate with the entity with a view to the entity acquiring the asset by agreement;

- (iii) the notice informed you that if the negotiations were unsuccessful, the asset would be compulsorily acquired by the entity;
- (iv) the compulsory acquisition would have been under a power of compulsory acquisition conferred by a law covered under subsection (1A);
- (ca) you dispose of it to an entity (other than a foreign government agency) in circumstances meeting all of these conditions:
  - (i) the asset is land over which a mining lease was compulsorily granted;
  - (ii) the lease significantly affected your use of the land;
  - (iii) the lease was in force just before the disposal;
  - (iv) the entity to which you dispose of the land was the lessee under the lease;
- (cb) you dispose of it to an entity (other than a foreign government agency) in circumstances meeting all of these conditions:
  - (i) the asset is land over which a mining lease would have been compulsorily granted if you had not disposed of it;
  - (ii) that lease would have significantly affected your use of the land;
  - (iii) the entity to which you dispose of the land would have been the lessee under the lease.
- (d) if it is a lease granted to you by an *Australian government agency under an *Australian law—the lease expires and is not renewed.

Note 1: There are no roll-over consequences if you make a capital loss from the event.

Note 2: Section 103-25 tells you when you have to make the choice.

- (1A) A law is covered under this subsection if it is:
- (a) an *Australian law (other than Chapter 6A of the Corporations Act 2001); or
  - (b) a *foreign law (other than a foreign law corresponding to Chapter 6A of the Corporations Act 2001).

---

Section 124-75

---

- (2) You must receive money or another *CGT asset (except a *car, motor cycle or similar vehicle), or both:
- (a) as compensation for the event happening; or
  - (b) under an insurance policy against the risk of loss or destruction of the original asset.

Note: There are other requirements that must be satisfied if:

- you receive money: see section 124-75; or
- you receive another CGT asset: see section 124-80.

- (3) The requirement in subsection (4) must be satisfied if:
- (a) you are a foreign resident just before the event happens; or
  - (b) you are the trustee of a trust that is a *foreign trust for CGT purposes for the income year in which the event happens.
- (4) The original asset must be *taxable Australian property just before the event happens. The other asset must be taxable Australian property just after you *acquire it.

124-75 Other requirements if you receive money

- (1) If you receive money for the event happening, you can choose to obtain a roll-over only if these other requirements are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are set out in section 124-85.

- (2) You must:
- (a) incur expenditure in *acquiring another *CGT asset (except a *depreciating asset whose decline in value is worked out under Division 40 or deductions for which are calculated under Division 328); or
  - (b) if part of the original asset is lost or destroyed—incur expenditure of a capital nature in repairing or restoring it.
- (3) At least some of the expenditure must be incurred:
- (a) no earlier than one year, or within such further time as the Commissioner allows in special circumstances, before the event happens; or
  - (b) no later than one year, or within such further time as the Commissioner allows in special circumstances, after the end of the income year in which the event happens.

Special rules if you acquire another asset

- (4) If just before the event happened the original asset:
- (a) was used in your *business; or
  - (b) was *installed ready for use in your business; or
  - (c) was in the process of being *installed ready for use in your business;

the other asset must be used in the business, or be installed ready for use in the business, for a reasonable time after you *acquired it.

Otherwise, you must use the other asset (for a reasonable time after you *acquired it) for the same purpose as, or for a similar purpose to, the purpose for which you used the original asset just before the event happened.

- (5) The other asset cannot become an item of your *trading stock just after you *acquire it, nor can it be a *depreciating asset whose decline in value is worked out under Division 40 or deductions for which are calculated under Division 328.

124-80 Other requirements if you receive an asset

- (1) If you receive another *CGT asset for the event happening, you can choose to obtain a roll-over only if these other requirements are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are set out in section 124-90.

- (2) The other asset cannot become an item of your *trading stock just after you *acquire it, nor can it be a *depreciating asset whose decline in value is worked out under Division 40 or deductions for which are calculated under Division 328.
- (3) The *market value of the other asset (when you *acquire it) must be more than the *cost base of the original asset just before the event happens.

---

The consequences of a roll-over being available

124-85 Consequences for receiving money

- (1) If you receive money for the event happening, there are these consequences if you choose to obtain a roll-over.

Original asset acquired on or after 20 September 1985

- (2) If you make a *capital gain from the event, this table sets out in what situations the gain is reduced, not reduced or disregarded.

It also sets out in what situations the expenditure you incurred to *acquire another *CGT asset or to repair or restore the original asset is reduced.

You make a capital gain from the event

Item	In this situation:	There are these consequences
1	The money exceeds the expenditure you incurred to *acquire another CGT asset or to repair or restore the original asset	If the gain is more than the excess: (a) the gain is reduced to the amount by which the money exceeds that expenditure; and (b) that expenditure is reduced by the amount by which the gain (before it is reduced) is more than the excess
2	The money exceeds that expenditure	If the gain is less than or equal to the excess, the gain is not reduced
3	The money does not exceed that expenditure	The gain is disregarded in working out your *net capital gain or *net capital loss for the income year. That expenditure is reduced by the amount of the gain

Example: In 1999 Simon bought a small factory. In 2000 a fire destroys part of it. He receives $100,000 under an insurance policy.

The capital gain is worked out under section 112-30.

Suppose the factory's cost base at the time of the fire is $75,000 and the market value of the part that is not destroyed is $150,000. The cost base of the part that is destroyed is:

$$$75,000 \times \frac{$100,000}{$100,000 + $150,000} = $30,000$$

The capital gain is:

$$$100,000 - $30,000 = $70,000$$

Case 1

Suppose Simon spent $80,000 on repairing the factory. The money he received under the insurance policy exceeds the repair cost by $20,000. The gain exceeds that by $50,000.

The result is that the gain is reduced to $20,000 and the $80,000 he spent on repairs is reduced to $30,000.

Suppose Simon spent $15,000 on repairs instead. The money he received under the policy exceeds that amount by $85,000. This is more than the gain he made.

The gain is relevant to working out Simon's net capital gain or loss for the income year and the $15,000 he spent on repairs forms part of the factory's cost base.

Suppose Simon spent $120,000 on repairs instead. The gain is disregarded and the $120,000 is reduced to $50,000.

Original asset acquired before 20 September 1985

- (3) If you *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985 and you incurred expenditure in acquiring another *CGT asset, you are taken to have acquired the other asset before that day if:
- (a) the expenditure is not more than 120% of the *market value of the original asset when the event happened; or
  - (b) a natural disaster happened so that the original asset, or part of it, is lost or destroyed and it is reasonable to treat the other asset as substantially the same as the original asset.
- (4) If you *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985 and you incurred expenditure of a capital nature in repairing or

---

Section 124-90

restoring it, you are taken to have acquired the original asset (as repaired or restored) before that day.

124-90 Consequences for receiving an asset

- (1) If you receive another *CGT asset for the event happening, there are these consequences if you choose to obtain a roll-over.
- (2) A *capital gain you make from the original asset is disregarded.
- (3) If you *acquired the original asset on or after 20 September 1985:
  - (a) the first element of the other asset's *cost base is the original asset's cost base at the time of the event; and
  - (b) the first element of the other asset's *reduced cost base is the original asset's reduced cost base at the time of the event.

Note: There are special indexation rules for roll-overs: see Division 114.

Example: Steven bought land in 1999 for $100,000. In 2001 the government compulsorily acquires the land and gives him new land in return.

A capital gain he makes from the original land is disregarded. Suppose the original land's cost base when it is acquired is $120,000. The first element of the new land's cost base becomes $120,000.

- (4) If you acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have *acquired the other asset before that day.

124-95 You receive both money and an asset

- (1) If you receive both money and another *CGT asset for the event happening and choose to obtain a roll-over, the requirements and consequences are different for each part of the compensation attributable to the original asset (having regard to the amount of money and the *market value of the other asset).

The other asset as a part of compensation

- (2) The *market value of the other asset (when you *acquire it) must be more than that part of the *cost base of the original asset that is attributable to the new asset.

Note: This requirement is different to that in subsection 124-80(3). It requires a proportional attribution of the cost base of the original asset.

- (3) If you *acquired the original asset on or after 20 September 1985:
- (a) the first element of the other asset's *cost base is that part of the original asset's cost base at the time of the event that is attributable to the new asset; and
  - (b) the first element of the other asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Note: These consequences are different to those in subsection 124-90(3). They require a proportional attribution of the cost base of the original asset.

- (4) If you *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired the new asset before that day.

Money as a part of compensation

- (5) If you make a *capital gain from the event, this table sets out in what situations that part of the gain on the original asset that is attributable to the amount of money you received is reduced, not reduced or disregarded.

It also sets out in what situations the expenditure you incurred to *acquire another *CGT asset or to repair or restore the original asset is reduced.

You make a capital gain from the event

Item	In this situation:	There are these consequences
1	The money exceeds the expenditure you incurred to *acquire another CGT asset or to repair or restore the original asset	If that part of the gain that is attributable to the amount of money is more than the excess: (a) that part of the gain is reduced to the amount by which the money exceeds that expenditure; and (b) that expenditure is reduced by the amount by which that part of the gain (before it is reduced) is more than the excess
2	The money exceeds that expenditure	If that part of the gain that is attributable to the amount of money is less than or equal to the excess, the gain is not reduced

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

You make a capital gain from the event

Item	In this situation:	There are these consequences
3	The money does not exceed that expenditure	That part of the gain that is attributable to the amount of money is disregarded in working out your *net capital gain or *net capital loss for the income year. That expenditure is reduced by the amount of that part of the gain

Note: These consequences are different to those in subsection 124-85(2). They require a proportional attribution of capital gain on the original asset.

- (6) If you *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985 and you incurred expenditure in acquiring another *CGT asset, you are taken to have acquired the other asset before that day if:
- (a) the expenditure you incurred in acquiring the other asset is not more than 120% of the *market value of that part of the original asset that is attributable to the other asset when the event happened; or
  - (b) a natural disaster happened so that the original asset, or part of it, is lost or destroyed and it is reasonable to treat the other asset as substantially the same as that part of the original asset that is attributable to the new asset.

Note 1: The consequences in paragraph (6)(a) are different to those in paragraph 124-85(3)(a). They require a proportional attribution of the market value of the original asset.

Note 2: The consequences in paragraph (6)(b) are different to those in paragraph 124-85(3)(b). They require a proportional attribution of the original asset.

Example: Kris owns land, which he acquired in 1998. It is compulsorily acquired, and Kris receives $80,000 in cash and replacement land with a market value of $80,000.

The cost base of the original land is $150,000.

Kris buys additional land for $80,000.

Subsection (2) is satisfied because the market value of the replacement land ($80,000) is more than the part of the cost base of the original land that is attributable to the replacement land:

$$50\% \times $150,000 = $75,000$$

Applying subsection (5), the other part of the gain is disregarded, and the first element of the cost base of the replacement land is the part of the cost base of the original land that is attributable to the replacement land:

$$50\% \times $150,000 = $75,000$$

Applying subsection (3), the money he received ($80,000) is the same as the expenditure he incurred to buy the additional land. Item 3 in the table applies. The part of the gain that is attributable to that money is disregarded:

$$50\% \times $10,000 = $5,000$$

The expenditure is reduced by $5,000.

Subdivision 124-C—Statutory licences

124-140 New statutory licences

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) your ownership of one or more *statutory licences (each of which is an original licence) ends, resulting in *CGT event C2 happening to the licence (or to each of the licences as part of an *arrangement); and
  - (b) as a result of the CGT event or events, you are issued one or more new licences (each of which is a new licence) for the original licence (or original licences); and
  - (c) the new licence authorises (or the new licences taken together authorise) substantially similar activity as that authorised by the original licence (or by the original licences taken together).

Note: If there has been a capital improvement to the original licence: see section 108-75.

- (1A) If:
- (a) you are a foreign resident just before the *CGT event happens (or just before one or more of the CGT events happens); or

---

- (b) you are the trustee of a trust that is a *foreign trust for CGT purposes for the income year in which the event happens (or for an income year in which one or more of those events happens);

there is no roll-over under this section unless the conditions in subsection (1B) are satisfied.

(1B) The conditions are that:

- (a) if there was only one original licence—the licence must be *taxable Australian property just before the *CGT event happens; and
  - (b) if there was more than one original licence—each original licence must be taxable Australian property just before the CGT event in relation to it happens; and
  - (c) if there is only one new licence—the licence must be taxable Australian property just after you *acquire it; and
  - (d) if there is more than one new licence—each new licence must be taxable Australian property just after you acquire it.
- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the new licence includes any amount you paid to get it (which can include giving property: see section 103-5).
- (3) A statutory licence is an authority, licence, permit or quota (except a lease or a *mining entitlement or *prospecting entitlement) granted by:
- (a) an *Australian government agency under an *Australian law; or
  - (b) a *foreign government agency under a *foreign law.

124-145 Rollover consequences—capital gain or loss disregarded

A *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the original licence (or from each of the original licences) is disregarded.

124-150 Rollover consequences—partial roll-over

- (1) You can obtain only a partial roll-over in relation to an original licence if the *capital proceeds for that licence includes something (the ineligible proceeds) other than a new licence or new licences.

There is no roll-over for that part (the ineligible part) of the licence for which you received the ineligible proceeds.

Note: If there is more than one original licence, some or all of those original licences may each have an ineligible part.

- (2) The *cost base of the ineligible part is that part of the cost base of the original licence as is reasonably attributable to the ineligible part.
- (3) The *reduced cost base of the ineligible part is that part of the reduced cost base of the original licence as is reasonably attributable to the ineligible part.
- (4) For the purposes of sections 124-155 and 124-165, for each original licence that has an ineligible part:
  - (a) reduce the *cost base of that licence (just before the *CGT event that happened in relation to it) by so much of that cost base as is attributable to that ineligible part; and
  - (b) reduce the *reduced cost base of that licence (just before the CGT event that happened in relation to it) by so much of that reduced cost base as is attributable to that ineligible part.

124-155 Roll-over consequences—all original licences were post-CGT

- (1) This section applies if you *acquired the original licence (or all of the original licences) on or after 20 September 1985.
- (2) The first element of the *cost base of the new licence (or of each of the new licences) is such amount as is reasonable having regard to:
  - (a) the total of the cost bases of all the original licences; and
  - (b) the number, *market value and character of the original licences; and
  - (c) the number, market value and character of the new licences.
- (3) The first element of the *reduced cost base of the new licence (or of each of the new licences) is such amount as is reasonable having regard to:
  - (a) the total of the reduced cost bases of all the original licences; and

---

---

- (b) the number, *market value and character of the original licences; and
- (c) the number, market value and character of the new licences.

124-160 Roll-over consequences—all original licences were pre-CGT

If you *acquired the original licence (or all of the original licences) before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired the new licence (or all of the new licences) before that day.

124-165 Roll-over consequences—some original licences were pre-CGT, others were post-CGT

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) there was more than one original licence; and
  - (b) you *acquired one or more of the original licences before 20 September 1985; and
  - (c) you acquired one or more of the original licences on or after that day.
- (2) Each new licence is taken to be 2 separate *CGT assets that are both *statutory licences:
  - (a) one (which you are taken to have *acquired on or after 20 September 1985) representing the extent to which you acquired the original licences on or after that day; and
  - (b) another (which you are taken to have acquired before that day) representing the extent to which you acquired the original licences before that day.
- (3) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *CGT asset mentioned in paragraph (2)(a) in relation to a new licence is worked out under the formula:

$$\text{Total post-CGT cost base} \times \frac{\text{Market value of new licence}}{\text{Market value of all new licences}}$$

where:

market value of all new licences is the total of the *market values of all of the new licences.

---

market value of new licence is the *market value of the new licence to which the *CGT asset mentioned in paragraph (2)(a) relates.

total post-CGT cost base is the total of the *cost bases of all the original licences that you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985.

Subdivision 124-D—Strata title conversion

124-190 Strata title conversion

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over if:
- (a) you own property that gives you a right to occupy a unit in a building; and
  - (b) the building's owner subdivides it into *stratum units; and
  - (c) the owner transfers to you the stratum unit that corresponds to the unit you had the right to occupy just before the subdivision.

Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in section 124-10. The original asset is the property that gave you the right to occupy a unit in the building. The new asset is the stratum unit.

Note 2: Section 103-25 tells you when you have to make the choice.

- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *stratum unit includes any amount you paid to get it (which can include giving property: see section 103-5).

Note: The rest of the first element is worked out under Subdivision 124-A.

- (3) A stratum unit is a lot or unit (however described in an *Australian law or a *foreign law relating to strata title or similar title) and any accompanying common property.

- (3) The second case is if your shares in one company are redeemed or cancelled and another company issues you with new shares in return. You can find the specific rules relevant to this case in sections 124-370 and 124-375.

- (4) There are some rules that apply in both cases: see section 124-380.
- (5) There are also consequences for the other company if you can choose to obtain the roll-over: see section 124-385.

Disposal case

124-360 Disposal of shares in one company for shares in another one

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over if:
  - (a) you are a *member of a company (the original company); and
  - (b) you and at least one other entity (the exchanging members) own all the *shares in it; and
  - (c) under a *scheme for reorganising its affairs, the exchanging members *dispose of all their shares in it to another company (the interposed company) in exchange for shares in the interposed company (and nothing else);and the requirements in sections 124-365 and 124-380 are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. The original assets are your shares in the original company. The new assets are your new shares in the interposed company.

- (2) You are taken to have chosen to obtain the roll-over if:
  - (a) immediately before the time referred to in section 124-365 as the completion time, the original company is the *head company of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) immediately after the completion time, the interposed company is the head company of the group.

Note: The consolidated group continues in existence because of section 703-70.

124-365 Other requirements to be satisfied

- (1) The interposed company must own all the *shares in the original company just after all the exchanging members have *disposed of their shares in the original company (the completion time).

- (2) Just after the completion time, each exchanging member must own:
- (a) a whole number of *shares in the interposed company; and
  - (b) a percentage of the *shares in the interposed company that were issued to all the exchanging members that is equal to the percentage of the shares in the original company (that were *disposed of to the interposed company) that the member owned.

- (3) The ratio of:

- the *market value of each exchanging member's *shares in the interposed company to the market value of the shares in the interposed company issued to all the exchanging members (worked out just after the completion time);

must equal the ratio of:

- the market value of that member's shares in the original company that were *disposed of to the interposed company to the market value of all the shares in the original company that were disposed of to the interposed company (worked out just before the first disposal).

Example: There are 100 shares in A Pty Ltd (the original company), all having the same rights. B Pty Ltd (the interposed company) acquires all the shares in A by issuing each shareholder in A 10 shares in itself for each share they have in A. All shares in B have the same rights. Bill owned 15 shares in A and received 150 shares in B in exchange.

- (4) Either:

- (a) you are an Australian resident at the time you *disposed of your *shares in the original company; or
- (b) if you are a foreign resident at that time:
  - (i) your shares in the original company were *taxable Australian property just before that time; and
  - (ii) your shares in the interposed company are taxable Australian property just after the completion time.

Redemption or cancellation case

124-370 Redemption or cancellation of shares in one company for shares in another one

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over if you are a *member of a company (the original company) and under a *scheme for reorganising its affairs:
- (a) another company (the interposed company) *acquires no more than 5 *shares in the original company; and
  - (b) these are the first shares that the interposed company acquires in the original company; and
  - (c) you and at least one other entity (the exchanging members) own all the remaining shares in the original company; and
  - (d) the original company redeems or cancels those remaining shares; and
  - (e) each exchanging member receives shares (and nothing else) in the interposed company in return for their shares in the original company being redeemed or cancelled;
- and the requirements in sections 124-375 and 124-380 are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. The original assets are your shares in the original company. The new assets are your new shares in the interposed company.

- (1A) You are taken to have chosen to obtain the roll-over if:
- (a) immediately before the time referred to in section 124-375 as the completion time, the original company is the *head company of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) immediately after the completion time, the interposed company is the head company of the group.

Note: The consolidated group continues in existence because of section 703-70.

- (2) The original company can issue other *shares in itself to the interposed company as part of the scheme.

Note: Some of the interposed company's shares in the original company may be taken to be acquired before 20 September 1985: see section 124-385.

124-375 Other requirements to be satisfied

- (1) The interposed company must own all the *shares in the original company just after all the exchanging members have had their shares in the original company redeemed or cancelled (the completion time).
  - (2) Just after the completion time, each exchanging member must own:
    - (a) a whole number of *shares in the interposed company; and
    - (b) a percentage of the *shares in the interposed company that were issued to all the exchanging members that is equal to the percentage of the shares in the original company (that were redeemed or cancelled) that the member owned.
  - (3) The ratio of:
    - the *market value of each exchanging member's *shares in the interposed company to the market value of the shares in the interposed company issued to all the exchanging members (worked out just after the completion time);must equal the ratio of:
    - the market value of that member's shares in the original company that were redeemed or cancelled to the market value of all the shares in the original company that were redeemed or cancelled (worked out just before the first redemption or cancellation).
- Example: There are 100 shares in X Pty Ltd (the original company), all having the same rights. X issues 2 shares to Y Pty Ltd (the interposed company) and cancels all other shares in itself. Y issues each shareholder in X 10 shares in itself for each share they had in X. All shares in Y have the same rights. Wil owned 10 shares in X and received 100 shares in Y in exchange.
- (4) Either:
    - (a) you are an Australian resident at the time your *shares in the original company are redeemed or cancelled; or

Rules applying to both cases

124-380 Requirements to be satisfied in both cases

- (1) The *shares issued in the interposed company must not be *redeemable shares.
- (2) Each exchanging member who is issued *shares in the interposed company must own the shares from the time they are issued to the completion time.
- (3) Just after the completion time:
  - (a) the exchanging members must own all the *shares in the interposed company; or
  - (b) entities other than those members must own no more than 5 *shares in the interposed company and the *market value of those shares expressed as a percentage of the market value of all the shares in the interposed company is such that it is reasonable to treat the exchanging members as owning all the shares.

Choice to be made by interposed company

- (5) If:
  - (a) immediately before the completion time, the original company is the *head company of a *consolidated group; and
  - (b) immediately after the completion time, the interposed company is the head company of a *consolidatable group consisting only of itself and the *members of the group immediately before the completion time;

the interposed company must choose that the consolidated group is to continue in existence at and after the completion time.

Note: Sections 703-65 to 703-80 deal with the effects of the choice for the consolidated group.

- (6) If subsection (5) of this section does not apply, the interposed company must choose that section 124-385 apply.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 124-382

Certain foreign-owned shares disregarded

Note: Generally, a capital gain or capital loss you make from a CGT asset that you acquired before 20 September 1985 can be disregarded: see Division 104.

  - the total of the cost bases (as at the completion time) of the original company's assets that it acquired on or after that day;
less:
    - its liabilities (if any) in respect of those assets.
- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base of the interposed company's *shares is worked out similarly.

Trading stock

- (2) The amount included in your assessable income because of the *disposal, redemption or cancellation of each of your *shares in the original company that is your *trading stock at that time is equal to:

- (i) its *value as trading stock at the start of the income year; and
- (ii) the amount (if any) by which its cost has increased since the start of the income year; or
- (b) otherwise—its cost at that time.

- (3) For each of the *shares in the interposed company that you acquired in return for those of your shares in the original company that were your *trading stock at that time, you are taken to have paid:

$$\frac{\text{Total of the amounts included in your assessable income under subsection (2) for those shares in the original company}}{\text{Number of those shares in the interposed company}}$$

Note: The amount worked out under the formula becomes the cost of each of those shares in the interposed company.

Revenue assets

- (4) For each of your *shares in the original company that is a *revenue asset at that time, your assessable income includes the total of the amounts that (apart from this subsection) would be subtracted from the gross disposal proceeds in calculating any profit or loss on your disposing of, or ceasing to own, that share at that time.

124-440 Summary of rules

- (1) This Subdivision deals with 2 cases in which you can choose to obtain a roll-over because of the reorganisation of a unit trust's affairs.
Note: Section 103-25 tells you when you have to make the choice.
- (2) The first case is if you dispose of units in a unit trust to a company and the company issues you with shares. You can find the specific rules about this case in sections 124-445 and 124-450.
- (3) The second case is if your units in a unit trust are redeemed or cancelled and a company issues you with shares. You can find the specific rules about this case in sections 124-455 and 124-460.
- (4) There are some rules that apply in both cases: see section 124-465.
- (5) There are also consequences for the company if you can choose to obtain a roll-over: see section 124-470.

Disposal case

124-445 Disposal of units in a unit trust for shares in a company

You can choose to obtain a roll-over if:

- (a) you are a member of a unit trust; and
  - (b) you and at least one other entity (the exchanging members) own all the units in it; and
  - (c) under a *scheme for reorganising its affairs, the exchanging members *dispose of their units in it to a company in exchange for *shares in the company (and nothing else);
- and the requirements in sections 124-450 and 124-465 are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are out in Subdivision 124-A. The original assets are your units in the unit trust. The new assets are your new shares in the company.

124-450 Other requirements to be satisfied

- (1) The company must own all the units in the unit trust just after all the exchanging members have *disposed of their units in the unit trust (the completion time).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 124-450

---

- (2) Just after the completion time, each exchanging member must own:
- (a) a whole number of *shares in the company; and
  - (b) a percentage of the *shares in the company that were issued to all the exchanging members that is equal to the percentage of the units in the unit trust (that were *disposed of to the company) that the member owned.

- (3) The ratio of:

- the *market value of each exchanging member's *shares in the company to the market value of the shares in the company issued to all the exchanging members (worked out just after the completion time);

must equal the ratio of:

- the market value of that member's units in the unit trust that were disposed of to the company to the market value of all the units that were disposed of to the company (worked out just before the first disposal).

Example: There are 1,000 units in the A unit trust, all having the same rights. B Pty Ltd acquires all the units in A by issuing each unitholder in A 10 shares in itself for each 100 units they have in A. All shares in B have the same rights. Brian owned 300 units in A and received 30 shares in B in exchange.

- (4) Either:

- (a) you are an Australian resident at the time you *disposed of your units in the unit trust; or
- (b) if you are a foreign resident at that time:
  - (i) your units were *taxable Australian property just before that time; and
  - (ii) your *shares in the company are taxable Australian property just after the completion time.

  - (c) you and at least one other entity (the exchanging members) own all the remaining units in the trust; and

  - (e) each exchanging member receives *shares (and nothing else) in the company in return for their units being redeemed or cancelled;

and the requirements in sections 124-460 and 124-465 are satisfied.

Note: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. The original assets are your units in the unit trust. The new assets are your new shares in the company.

- (2) The trustee of the unit trust can issue other units to the company as part of the scheme.

Note: Some of the company's units in the unit trust may be taken to be acquired before 20 September 1985: see section 124-470.

124-460 Other requirements to be satisfied

- (1) The company must own all the units in the unit trust just after all the exchanging members have had their units in the unit trust redeemed or cancelled (the completion time).
- (2) Just after the completion time, each exchanging member must own:
- (a) a whole number of *shares in the company; and
  - (b) a percentage of the *shares in the company that were issued to all the exchanging members that is equal to the percentage of the units in the unit trust (that were redeemed or cancelled) that the member owned.

(3) The ratio of:

- the *market value of each exchanging member's *shares in the company to the market value of the shares in the company issued to all the exchanging members (worked out just after the completion time);

must equal the ratio of:

- the market value of that member's units in the unit trust that were redeemed or cancelled to the market value of all the units that were redeemed or cancelled (worked out just before the first redemption or cancellation).

Example: There are 1,000 units in the A unit trust, all having the same rights. 2 new units in A are issued to B Pty Ltd, and all other units in A are cancelled. Each unitholder in A is issued 10 shares in B for each 100 units they have in A. All shares in B have the same rights. Alison owned 200 units in A and received 20 shares in B in exchange.

(4) Either:

- (a) you are an Australian resident at the time your units in the unit trust are redeemed or cancelled; or
- (b) if you are a foreign resident at that time:
  - (i) your units were *taxable Australian property just before that time; and
  - (ii) your *shares in the company are taxable Australian property just after the completion time.

Rules applying to both cases

124-465 Requirements to be satisfied in both cases

- (1) The *shares issued in the company must not be *redeemable shares.
- (2) Each exchanging member who is issued *shares in the company must own the shares from the time they are issued to the completion time.
- (3) Just after the completion time:
  - (a) the exchanging members must own all the *shares in the company; or

---

- (b) entities other than those members must own no more than 5 *shares in the company and the *market value of those shares expressed as a percentage of the market value of all the shares in the company is such that it is reasonable to treat the exchanging members as owning all the shares.

Choice to be made by company

- (5) The company must choose that the rules in section 124-470 apply. It must make its choice within 2 months after the completion time, or within such further time as the Commissioner allows.

Note: This is an exception to the general rule about choices in section 103-25.

Consequences for the company

124-470 Consequences for the company

- (1) A whole number of the units that the company owns in the unit trust (just after the completion time) are taken to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985 if any of the unit trust's assets as at the completion time were acquired by it before that day.

Note: Generally, a capital gain or capital loss you make from a CGT asset that you acquired before 20 September 1985 can be disregarded: see Division 104.

- (2) The number (worked out as at the completion time) is the greatest possible that (when expressed as a percentage of all the units) does not exceed:

- the *market value of the unit trust's assets that it *acquired before 20 September 1985 less its liabilities (if any) in respect of those assets;

expressed as a percentage of:

- the market value of all the unit trust's assets less all of its liabilities.

- (3) The first element of the *cost base of the company's units in the unit trust that are not taken to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985 is:

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- the total of the cost bases (as at the completion time) of the unit trust's assets that it acquired on or after that day;
- less:
- its liabilities (if any) in respect of those assets.
- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base of the company's units is worked out similarly.
- (5) A liability of the unit trust that is not a liability in respect of a specific asset or assets of the trust is taken to be a liability in respect of all the assets of the trust.
- Note: An example is a bank overdraft.
- (6) If a liability is in respect of 2 or more assets, the proportion of the liability that is in respect of any one of those assets is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{The *market value of the asset}}{\text{The total of the market values of all the assets that the liability is in respect of}}$$

Subdivision 124-I—Conversion of a body to an incorporated company

124-520 Conversion of a body to an incorporated company

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over if:
- (a) you are a member of a body that is incorporated under a law (other than the Corporations Act 2001 or a similar *foreign law relating to companies); and
  - (b) the body is converted into a company incorporated under the Corporations Act 2001 or a similar foreign law relating to companies (without creating a new legal entity); and
  - (c) the company issues you with *shares (and you receive nothing else) in substitution for your interest in the body just before the conversion; and
  - (d) there is no significant difference in:
    - (i) the ownership of the body just before the conversion and the ownership of the company just after the conversion; or

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) the mix of ownership of the body just before the conversion and the mix of ownership of the company just after the conversion; and
- (e) this requirement is satisfied:
  - (i) you are an Australian resident at the time of the conversion; or
  - (ii) if you are a foreign resident at that time—your interest in the body was *taxable Australian property just before that time and the *shares are taxable Australian property when they are issued.

Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. The original asset is your interest in the body. The new asset is your shares in the company.

Note 2: Section 103-25 tells you when you have to make the choice.

- (2) This section does not apply if the body is a mutual entity that is being demutualised and to whose demutualisation Division 326 in Schedule 2H of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies.

Subdivision 124-J—Crown leases

Guide to Subdivision 124-J

124-570 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the situations in which the holder of a Crown lease over land obtains a replacement asset roll-over when the lease is, among other things, renewed, extended or converted to an estate in fee simple.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

124-575	Extension or renewal of Crown lease
124-580	Meaning of Crown lease
124-585	Original right differs in area from new right
124-590	Part of original right excised
124-595	Treating parts of new right as separate assets

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- 124-600 What is the roll-over?
124-605 Change of lessor

Operative provisions

124-575 Extension or renewal of Crown lease

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) you hold one or more *CGT assets that are *Crown leases over land (the original right); and
  - (b) the original right expires or you surrender it; and
  - (c) you are granted one or more new Crown leases over land or one or more estates in fee simple in land, or both (the new right); and
  - (d) the new right relates to the same land as the original right.
- Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. They might be modified: see section 124-600.
- Note 2: If there has been a capital improvement to the Crown lease: see section 108-75.
- (2) The new right must have been granted in one of these ways:
- (a) by renewing or extending the term of the original right where the renewal or extension is mainly due to your having held the original right; or
  - (b) by changing the purpose for which the land to which the original right related can be used; or
  - (c) by converting the original right to a *Crown lease in perpetuity; or
  - (d) by converting the original right to an estate in fee simple; or
  - (e) by consolidating, or consolidating and dividing, the original right; or
  - (f) by subdividing the original right; or
  - (g) by excising or relinquishing a part of the land to which the original right related; or
  - (h) by expanding the area of that land.

---

124-580 Meaning of *Crown lease

A Crown lease is:

- (a) a lease of land granted by the Crown under an *Australian law (other than the common law); or
- (b) a similar lease granted under a *foreign law.

124-585 Original right differs in area from new right

- (1) Even if the new right relates to different land to that to which the original right related, this Subdivision applies as if it relates to the same land in these cases:
  - (a) the difference in area is not significant;
  - (b) the difference in *market value is not significant;
  - (c) the new right was granted to correct errors in or omissions from the original right;
  - (d) the new right relates to a significantly different area of land but you had made reasonable efforts to ensure that the area was the same;
  - (e) it is otherwise reasonable for this Subdivision to apply in that way.
- (2) However, the rule in subsection (1) does not apply if section 124-590 applies.

124-590 Part of original right excised

- (1) There is a partial roll-over if you *acquired the original right on or after 20 September 1985 and:
  - (a) the land to which the new right relates is different in area to the land the subject of the original right because a part (the excised part) of the land to which the original right related was excised or you relinquished it; and
  - (b) you received a payment for the expiry or surrender of the original right.

The payment can include giving property: see section 103-5.

Note: Section 124-600 sets out the effect on your cost base.

---

---

- (2) There is no roll-over for the excised part. The *cost base of the excised part is so much of the *cost base of the relevant *Crown lease as is attributable to the excised part.

Its *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Note: You may make a capital gain or loss on the excised part because of CGT event C2.

124-595 Treating parts of new right as separate assets

- (1) Each part of a *Crown lease or an estate in fee simple that is part of the new right is taken to be a separate *CGT asset to the extent that it relates to:
- (a) land to which a Crown lease (that was part of the original right) related where you *acquired the lease before 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) land to which a Crown lease (that was part of the original right) related where you acquired the lease on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (c) other land.
- (2) You are taken to have *acquired each asset that is a separate *CGT asset because of paragraph (1)(a) before 20 September 1985.

124-600 What is the roll-over?

- (1) The roll-over is mainly as specified in Subdivision 124-A.
- (2) However, you work out the *cost base and *reduced cost base of *CGT assets (that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985) and that are part of the new right a bit differently where section 124-590 or 124-595 applies.
- (3) The first element of your *cost base for each of those assets is:

$$\text{CB of post-CGT original right} \times \frac{\text{Market value of separate asset}}{\text{Market value of all new assets}}$$

where:

---

CB of post-CGT original right is the sum of the *cost bases of the *Crown leases (that were part of the original right) and that you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 (just before the original right expired or was surrendered) reduced, if there is an excised part, by so much of those cost bases as is attributable to the excised part.

market value of all new assets is the *market value of all *CGT assets (that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985) that are part of the new right just after you acquired them.

market value of separate asset is the *market value of the particular asset just after you *acquired it.

- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base of each of those assets is worked out similarly.

124-605 Change of lessor

- (1) You treat a lease of land (whether or not it is a *Crown lease) granted to you (the fresh lease) as being a renewal of your original right if:
- (a) after the grant of the original right, the land (the original land) to which it related became vested in an *Australian government agency (other than the one that granted the original right); and
  - (b) the second agency granted you the fresh lease over:
    - (i) the original land; or
    - (ii) the original land less an excised area; or
    - (iii) the original land and other land; and
  - (c) the fresh lease was granted under an *Australian law (other than the common law).
- (2) You do this even if there is a period between the end of the original right and the grant of the fresh lease if you continued to occupy the original land during that period under a permission, licence or authority granted by the second agency.

Subdivision 124-K—Depreciating assets

Table of sections

124-655	Roll-over for depreciating assets
124-660	Right granted to associate

124-655 Roll-over for depreciating assets

There is a roll-over for a *depreciating asset if:

- (a) the asset is attached to land you hold under a *quasi-ownership right granted by an *exempt Australian government agency or an *exempt foreign government agency; and
- (b) you *hold the asset because of section 40-40; and
- (c) the quasi-ownership right expires or is terminated or you surrender it; and
- (d) you are granted a new quasi-ownership right over the land or an estate in fee simple in the land; and
- (e) there is no roll-over for you under Subdivision 124-J (about Crown leases) or Subdivision 124-L (about prospecting and mining entitlements).

Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A.

Note 2: This section provides a roll-over for a depreciating asset in the limited circumstances where Subdivision 124-J cannot because a quasi-ownership right over land covers situations that a Crown lease does not (for example, an easement over land).

Note 3: If there has been a capital improvement to the quasi-ownership right: see section 108-75.

124-660 Right granted to associate

If the *quasi-ownership right or estate in fee simple is instead granted to an *associate or an *associated government entity of yours:

- (a) your *reduced cost base of the *depreciating asset is reduced by the *adjustable value of the asset just before the original quasi-ownership right expired or was surrendered or terminated; and

---

- (b) there is no roll-over.

Subdivision 124-L—Prospecting and mining entitlements

Guide to Subdivision 124-L

124-700 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out the situations in which there is a roll-over if a prospecting or mining entitlement expires or is surrendered and it is replaced by a new one.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 124-705 Extension or renewal of prospecting or mining entitlement
124-710 Meaning of prospecting entitlement and mining entitlement
124-715 Original entitlement differs in area from new entitlement
124-720 Part of original entitlement excised
124-725 Treating parts of new entitlement as separate assets
124-730 What is the roll-over?

Operative provisions

124-705 Extension or renewal of prospecting or mining entitlement

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) you hold one or more *CGT assets that are *prospepecting entitlements or *mining entitlements (the original entitlement); and
  - (b) the original entitlement expires or you surrender it; and
  - (c) you are granted one or more new prospecting entitlements or mining entitlements (the new entitlement); and
  - (d) the new entitlement relates to the same land as the original entitlement.

Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. They might be modified: see section 124-730.

---

---

Note 2: If there has been a capital improvement to the entitlement: see section 108-75.

- (2) The new entitlement must have been granted in one of these ways:
- (a) by renewing or extending the term of the original entitlement where the renewal or extension is mainly due to your having held the original entitlement; or
  - (b) by consolidating, or consolidating and dividing, the original entitlement; or
  - (c) by subdividing the original entitlement; or
  - (d) by converting a *prospecting entitlement to a *mining entitlement, or a mining entitlement to a prospecting entitlement; or
  - (e) by excising or relinquishing a part of the land to which the original entitlement related; or
  - (f) by expanding the area of that land.

124-710 Meaning of prospecting entitlement and mining entitlement

- (1) A prospecting entitlement is:
- (a) an authority, licence, permit or entitlement under an *Australian law or *foreign law to prospect or explore for minerals in an area; or
  - (b) a lease of land that allows the lessee to prospect or explore for minerals on the land; or
  - (c) an interest in a thing referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).
- (2) A mining entitlement is:
- (a) an authority, licence, permit or entitlement under an *Australian law or *foreign law to mine for *minerals in an area; or
  - (b) a lease of land that allows the lessee to mine for minerals on the land; or
  - (c) an interest in a thing referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).

124-715 Original entitlement differs in area from new entitlement

- (1) Even if the new entitlement relates to different land to that to which the original entitlement related, this Subdivision applies as if it relates to the same land in these cases:
  - (a) the difference in area is not significant;
  - (b) the difference in *market value is not significant;
  - (c) the new entitlement was granted to correct errors in or omissions from the original entitlement;
  - (d) it is otherwise reasonable for this Subdivision to apply in that way.
- (2) However, the rule in subsection (1) does not apply if section 124-720 applies.

124-720 Part of original entitlement excised

- (1) There is partial roll-over if you *acquired the original entitlement on or after 20 September 1985 and:
  - (a) the land to which the new entitlement relates is different in area to the land the subject of the original entitlement because a part (the excised part) of the land to which the original entitlement related was excised or you relinquished it; and
  - (b) you received a payment for the expiry or surrender of the original entitlement.

The payment can include giving property: see section 103-5.

Note: Section 124-730 sets out the effect on your cost base.

- (2) There is no roll-over for the excised part. The *cost base of the excised part is so much of the *cost base of the original entitlement as is attributable to the excised part.

Its *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Note: You may make a capital gain or loss on the excised part because of CGT event C2.

124-725 Treating parts of new entitlement as separate assets

- (1) Each part of a *prospecting entitlement or *mining entitlement that is part of the new entitlement is taken to be a separate *CGT asset to the extent that it relates to:
  - (a) land to which a prospecting entitlement or mining entitlement (that was part of the original entitlement) related where you *acquired the entitlement before 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) land to which a prospecting entitlement or mining entitlement (that was part of the original entitlement) related where you acquired the entitlement on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (c) other land.
- (2) You are taken to have *acquired each asset that is a separate *CGT asset because of paragraph (1)(a) before 20 September 1985.

124-730 What is the roll-over?

- (1) The roll-over is mainly as specified in Subdivision 124-A.
- (2) However, you work out the *cost base and *reduced cost base of *CGT assets (that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985) and that are part of the new entitlement a bit differently where section 124-720 or 124-725 applies.
- (3) The first element of your *cost base for each of those assets is:

$$\text{CB of post-CGT original entitlement} \times \frac{\text{Market value of separate asset}}{\text{Market value of all new assets}}$$

where:

CB of post-CGT original entitlement is the sum of the *cost bases of the prospecting entitlements or mining entitlements (that were part of the original entitlement) and that you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 (just before the original entitlement expired or was surrendered) reduced, if there is an excised part, by so much of those cost bases as is attributable to the excised part.

market value of all new assets is the *market value of all *CGT assets (that you are not taken to have *acquired before

market value of separate asset is the *market value of the particular asset just after you *acquired it.

- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base of each of those assets is worked out similarly.

This Subdivision allows you to choose a roll-over where post-CGT shares or trust interests you own are replaced with other shares or trust interests, for example, where there is a company takeover.

- 124-810 Certain companies and trusts not regarded as having 300 members or beneficiaries

Operative provisions

124-780 Replacement of shares

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
  - (a) an entity (the original interest holder) exchanges:
    - (i) a *share (the entity's original interest) in a company (the original entity) for a share (the holder's replacement interest) in another company; or
    - (ii) an option, right or similar interest (also the holder's original interest) issued by the original entity that gives the holder an entitlement to acquire a share in the original entity for a similar interest (also the holder's replacement interest) in another company; and
  - (b) the exchange is in consequence of a single *arrangement that satisfies subsection (2); and
  - (c) the conditions in subsection (3) are satisfied; and
  - (d) if subsection (4) applies, the conditions in subsection (5) are satisfied.

Note 1: There are some exceptions: see section 124-795.

Note 2: The original interest holder can obtain only a partial roll-over if the capital proceeds for its original interest include something other than its replacement interest: see section 124-790.

Note 3: A trustee who gets a roll-over under this Subdivision for an original interest consisting of shares issued as part of a demutualisation may be eligible for a further roll-over under Subdivision 126-E when a beneficiary becomes absolutely entitled to the replacement shares.

Example 1: You can get a roll-over if you exchange your shares in one entity for shares in another entity or if you exchange options in one entity for options in another entity. You cannot get a roll-over if you exchange options for shares.

Example 2: Examples of arrangements that could be involved include:

- a company takeover, whether or not it is regulated by the Corporations Act 2001, resulting in a company owning 80% or more of another company's shares.

- a scheme of arrangement governed by the Corporations Act 2001 that involves a cancellation of some interests in an original entity resulting in another entity owning 80% or more of the interests in the original entity.

Conditions for arrangement

- (2) The *arrangement must:
- (a) result in:
- (i) a company (the acquiring entity) that is not a member of a *wholly-owned group becoming the owner of 80% or more of the *voting shares in the original entity; or
  - (ii) a company (also an acquiring entity) that is a member of such a group increasing the percentage of voting shares that it owns in the original entity, and that company or members of the group becoming the owner of 80% or more of those shares; and
- (b) be one in which at least all owners of *voting shares in the original entity (except a company referred to in paragraph (a)) could participate; and
- (c) be one in which participation was available on substantially the same terms for all of the owners of interests of a particular type in the original entity.

Note 1: The 80% or more requirement is satisfied if the acquiring entity ends up owning at least 80% of the voting shares in the original entity. This may include shares held before the arrangement started.

Note 2: Participation will be on substantially the same terms if, for example, matters such as those referred to in subsections 619(2) and (3) of the Corporations Act 2001 affect the capital proceeds that each participant can receive.

Conditions for roll-over

- (3) The conditions are:
- (a) the original interest holder *acquired its original interest on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) apart from the roll-over, it would make a *capital gain from a *CGT event happening in relation to its original interest; and
  - (c) its replacement interest is in a company (the replacement entity) that is:

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) the company referred to in subparagraph (2)(a)(i); or
- (ii) in any other case—the *ultimate holding company of the *wholly-owned group; and
- (d) the original interest holder chooses to obtain the roll-over or, if section 124-782 applies to it for the arrangement, it and the replacement entity jointly choose to obtain the roll-over; and
- (e) if that section applies, the original interest holder informs the replacement entity in writing of the *cost base of its original interest worked out just before a CGT event happened in relation to it.

Note: If the original interest holder also exchanges a CGT asset that it acquired before 20 September 1985, the cost base of any interest received in exchange for it is worked out under section 124-800.

Further roll-over conditions in certain cases

- (4) The conditions specified in subsection (5) must be satisfied if the original interest holder and an acquiring entity did not deal with each other at *arm's length and:
  - (a) neither the original entity nor the replacement entity had at least 300 *members just before the *arrangement started; or
  - (b) the original interest holder, the original entity and an acquiring entity were all members of the same *linked group just before that time.

Note: There are some cases where a company will not be regarded as having 300 members: see section 124-810.

- (5) The conditions are:
  - (a) the *market value of the original interest holder's *capital proceeds for the exchange is at least substantially the same as the market value of its original interest; and
  - (b) its replacement interest carries the same kind of rights and obligations as those attached to its original interest.

CUFS

- (6) This section applies to the holder of a Chess Unit of Foreign Security as if the holder held the underlying interests that the unit represents.

---

Note: A Chess Unit of Foreign Security is an interest, traded on the stock market operated by ASX Limited, in a foreign share, unit or interest.

- (7) A company is the ultimate holding company of a *wholly-owned group if it is not a *100% subsidiary of another company in the group.

124-781 Replacement of trust interests

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) an entity (also the original interest holder) exchanges:
    - (i) a unit or other interest (also the holder's original interest) in a trust (also the original entity) for a unit or other interest (also the holder's replacement interest) in another trust (also the acquiring entity); or
    - (ii) an option, right or similar interest (also the holder's original interest) issued by the original entity that gives the holder an entitlement to acquire a unit or other interest in the original entity for a similar interest (also the holder's replacement interest) in another trust (also the acquiring entity); and
  - (b) entities have *fixed entitlements to all of the income and capital of the original entity and the acquiring entity; and
  - (c) the exchange is in consequence of an *arrangement that satisfies subsection (2); and
  - (d) the conditions in subsections (3) and (4) are satisfied.

Note 1: There are some exceptions: see section 124-795.

Note 2: The original interest holder can obtain only a partial roll-over if the capital proceeds for its original interest include something other than its replacement interest: see section 124-790.

Conditions for arrangement

- (2) The *arrangement must:
- (a) result in the acquiring entity owning 80% or more of the *trust voting interests in the original entity or, if there are none, 80% or more of the units or other interests in the original entity; and

---

- (b) be one in which at least all owners of trust voting interests (or of units or other interests) in the original entity (except the acquiring entity) could participate; and
- (c) be one in which participation was available on substantially the same terms for all of the owners of interests or units of a particular type in the original entity.

Conditions for roll-over

- (3) The conditions are:
  - (a) the original interest holder *acquired its original interest on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) apart from the roll-over, it would make a *capital gain from a *CGT event happening in relation to its original interest; and
  - (c) it chooses to obtain the roll-over or, if section 124-782 applies to it for the *arrangement, it and the trustee of the acquiring entity jointly choose to obtain the roll-over; and
  - (d) if that section applies to it, it informs that trustee in writing of the *cost base of its original interest as at the time just before a CGT event happened in relation to it.

Note: If the original interest holder also exchanges a CGT asset that it acquired before 20 September 1985, the cost base of any interest received in exchange for it is worked out under section 124-800.

Further roll-over conditions in certain cases

- (4) These conditions must be satisfied if the original interest holder and the trustee of the acquiring entity did not deal with each other at *arm's length and neither the original entity nor the acquiring entity had at least 300 beneficiaries just before the *arrangement started:
  - (a) the *market value of the original interest holder's *capital proceeds for the exchange is at least substantially the same as the market value of its original interest; and
  - (b) its replacement interest carries the same kind of rights and obligations as those attached to its original interest.

Note: There are some cases where a trust will not be regarded as having 300 beneficiaries: see section 124-810.

---

CUFS

- (5) This section applies to the holder of a Chess Unit of Foreign Security as if the holder held the underlying interests that the unit represents.

Note: A Chess Unit of Foreign Security is an interest, traded on the stock market operated by ASX Limited, in a foreign share, unit or interest.

Meaning of trust voting interest

- (6) A trust voting interest in a trust is an interest in the trust that confers rights of the same or a similar kind as the rights conferred by a *voting share in a company.

124-782 Transfer or allocation of cost base of shares acquired by acquiring entity etc.

Transfer of cost base

- (1) The *cost base of an original interest *acquired by an acquiring entity under the *arrangement from an original interest holder becomes the first element of the cost base and *reduced cost base of the acquiring entity for the interest if:
- (a) the original interest holder obtains a roll-over; and
  - (b) the holder is a *significant stakeholder or a *common stakeholder for the arrangement.

Note 1: For other interests, for example, interests for which the roll-over is not chosen, the cost base will be worked out under the ordinary cost base rules in Divisions 110 and 112.

Note 2: There is a special rule to determine the cost base of equity or debt given to an ultimate holding company by an acquiring entity under an arrangement: see section 124-784.

Allocation of cost base in cancellation case

- (2) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of any interests (the new interests) issued by the original entity to an acquiring entity under the *arrangement is worked out under subsection (3) if:
- (a) original interests of an original interest holder are cancelled under the arrangement; and

---

---

- (b) the holder obtains a roll-over for the cancellation; and
  - (c) the holder is a *significant stakeholder or a *common stakeholder for the arrangement.
- (3) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the new interests of an acquiring entity is that part of the cost base of the cancelled interests as can be reasonably allocated to the new interests, having regard to:
- (a) the nature of the *arrangement; and
  - (b) the number, type and relative *market values of the cancelled interests and the new interests; and
  - (c) any other relevant matters.

Example: Robert Co has 3 shareholders: Antill Co with 300 shares, Rachael Co 400 shares and Margaret Co 300 shares. The cost base of each share is $1 and market value is $2. Margaret Co is owned by two shareholders, John and Paul, who each have 50 shares. The market value of each share is $20.

Under an arrangement, Robert Co cancels the shares of Antill Co and Rachael Co. They receive 30 and 40 shares respectively in Margaret Co, which becomes the sole shareholder in Robert Co. The market value of Antill Co's and Rachael Co's shares in Margaret Co is equivalent to the market value of their cancelled shares in Robert Co.

Robert Co also issues 700 shares to Margaret Co, reflecting the $1,400 total market value of the shares issued by Margaret Co to Antill Co and Rachael Co. Before and after the arrangement, Margaret Co's shares in Robert Co were worth $2 each.

It is necessary to reasonably allocate the cost bases of the cancelled shares (700 x $1) to the 700 shares issued by Robert Co to Margaret Co. In this case, an allocation of $1 per share would be reasonable.

Note: If no new shares are issued by Robert Co, the cost base of the original shares that Margaret Co holds would not be adjusted.

- (4) The amount allocated to a new interest under subsection (3) must not be more than its *market value just after the *arrangement was completed.

---

124-783 Meaning of significant stakeholder, common stakeholder, significant stake and *common stake

Significant stakeholder

- (1) An original interest holder is a significant stakeholder for an *arrangement if it had:
  - (a) a *significant stake in the original entity just before the arrangement started; and
  - (b) a significant stake in the replacement entity just after the arrangement was completed.
- (2) Also, if an original interest holder is an acquiring entity, any other original interest holder is a significant stakeholder for an *arrangement if it:
  - (a) had a *significant stake in the original entity just before the *arrangement started; and
  - (b) is an *associate of the replacement entity just after the arrangement was completed.

Common stakeholder

- (3) An original interest holder is a common stakeholder for an *arrangement if it had:
  - (a) a *common stake in the original entity just before the arrangement started; and
  - (b) a common stake in the replacement entity just after the arrangement was completed.
- (4) If an acquiring entity for an *arrangement is an original interest holder, each other original interest holder that has a replacement interest is a common stakeholder for the arrangement.
- (5) No original interest holder is a common stakeholder for an *arrangement if either the original entity or the replacement entity had at least 300 *members (for a company) or 300 beneficiaries (for a trust) just before the arrangement started.

---

Significant stake

- (6) An entity has a significant stake in a company at a time if the entity, or the entity and the entity's *associates between them:
- (a) have at that time *shares carrying 30% or more of the voting rights in the company; or
  - (b) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit 30% or more of any *dividends that the company may pay; or
  - (c) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit 30% or more of any distribution of capital of the company.

Note: The tests are applied to interests held directly by an entity and its associates.

Example: There are 4 shareholders in YZT Company: Sonja has 60%, Mario has 20%, Peter has 10% and Dave has 10%.

Sonja, Mario and Peter are associates. They each have a significant stake in YZT because, on an associate inclusive basis, they each have a 90% stake in YZT. Dave does not have a significant stake because his total stake, on an associate inclusive basis, is 10%.

- (7) An entity has a significant stake in a trust at a time if the entity, or the entity and the entity's *associates between them, had at that time the right to receive for their own benefit 30% or more of any distribution to beneficiaries of the trust of income or capital of the trust.
- (8) No original interest holder has a significant stake in a company that has at least 300 *members or a trust that has at least 300 beneficiaries if it is reasonable for the company or the trustee of the trust to conclude that this is the case on the information available to it.

Note: There are some cases where a company or trust will not be regarded as having 300 members or beneficiaries: see section 124-810.

Common stake

- (9) If the original entity and the acquiring entity are companies, an entity, or 2 or more entities, have a common stake in the original entity just before the *arrangement started and in the acquiring entity just after the arrangement was completed if the entity or entities, and their *associates, between them:
- (a) had 80% or more of:

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the voting rights in the original entity just before the arrangement started; and
    - (ii) the voting rights in the replacement entity just after the arrangement was completed; or
  - (b) had the right to receive for their own benefit 80% or more of:
    - (i) any *dividends that the original entity may pay just before the arrangement started; and
    - (ii) any dividends that the replacement entity may pay just after the arrangement was completed; or
  - (c) had the right to receive for their own benefit 80% or more of:
    - (i) any distribution of capital of the original entity just before the arrangement started; and
    - (ii) any distribution of capital of the replacement entity just after the arrangement was completed.
- (10) If the original entity and the acquiring entity are trusts, an entity, or 2 or more entities, have a common stake in the original entity just before the *arrangement started and in the acquiring entity just after the arrangement was completed if the entity or entities, and their *associates, between them:
  - (a) had, just before the arrangement started, the right to receive for their own benefit 80% or more of any distribution to beneficiaries of the original entity of income or capital of the original entity; and
  - (b) had, just after the arrangement was completed, the right to receive for their own benefit 80% or more of any distribution to beneficiaries of the replacement entity of income or capital of that entity.

124-784 Cost base of equity or debt given by acquiring entity to ultimate holding company

Purpose

- (1) This section allocates an appropriate *cost base to equity issued, or new debt owed, by an acquiring entity under the *arrangement to the *ultimate holding company where the cost base of an original interest was transferred or allocated under section 124-782 because

---

Section 124-784A

the original interest holder is a *significant stakeholder or a *common stakeholder for the arrangement.

Allocation of cost base

- (2) The first element of the *cost base of the equity or debt for the *ultimate holding company is that part of the cost base of the original interest transferred or allocated under section 124-782 as:
- (a) may be reasonably allocated to the equity or debt; and
  - (b) is not more than the *market value of the equity or debt just after the arrangement was completed.

No capital gain on debt repayment

- (3) Any *capital gain of the *ultimate holding company from the repayment of new debt owed by an acquiring entity under the *arrangement is disregarded to the extent that it relates to the difference between the part of the *cost base transferred or allocated under section 124-782 and the *market value of the debt just after the arrangement was completed.

Note: If the debt is assigned or exchanged, there may be a capital gain.

124-784A When arrangement is a restructure

- (1) This section applies in relation to a single *arrangement if:
- (a) the replacement entity for the arrangement knows, or could reasonably be expected to know:
    - (i) that a roll-over under section 124-780 has been, or will be, obtained in relation to the arrangement; and
    - (ii) that there is a *common stakeholder for the arrangement (disregarding subsections 124-783(4) and (5)); and
  - (b) subsection (2) is satisfied for the arrangement.

Note: If this section applies, the first element of the cost base and reduced cost base of interests in the original entity acquired under the arrangement is worked out under section 124-784B.

- (2) This subsection is satisfied for the *arrangement if the result of step 2 is more than 80% of the result of step 3.

Method statement

- Step 1. Add up the *market value just after the *arrangement was completed (the completion time) of all of the replacement interests issued by the replacement entity under the arrangement in exchange for the following interests (the qualifying interests):
- (a) original interests in the original entity;
  - (b) any interests issued by the original entity to an acquiring entity under the arrangement in respect of other original interests in the original entity cancelled under the arrangement.
- Step 2. Add to the result of step 1 the *market value at the completion time of all of the replacement interests issued by the replacement entity under any earlier arrangement for which this section applied in exchange for qualifying interests in the original entity.
- Step 3. Add up the *market value at the completion time of all of the:
- (a) *shares *on issue by the replacement entity; and
  - (b) options, rights and similar interests issued by the replacement entity that give the holder an entitlement to acquire a share in the replacement entity at or after the completion time.

Application if an entity is listed

- (3) For the purposes of:
- (a) subsection (2); and
  - (b) step 5 of the method statement in subsection 124-784B(2);
- if interests in an entity are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange at the completion time, then the replacement entity may choose that the *market value at that time of an interest in the first-mentioned entity is taken to be the *officially quoted price of the interest at that time.

Application if more than one original entity

- (4) If qualifying interests in more than one original entity are *acquired under the *arrangement, then, for the purposes of subsections (1) and (2):
- (a) those interests of each of those original entities are taken to have been acquired under separate arrangements; and
  - (b) those separate arrangements are taken to have happened in the same order as the acquisitions.
- (5) If qualifying interests in more than one original entity:
- (a) would be taken by subsection (4) to have been *acquired under separate *arrangements happening at the same time; or
  - (b) are acquired under separate arrangements that commence at the same time;
- then, for the purposes of subsections (1) and (2), the replacement entity must choose the order in which those separate arrangements are to have happened.

Meaning of officially quoted price

- (6) An interest in an entity has an officially quoted price at a particular time if, during the one week period starting on the day in which that time occurred, there was at least one transaction on the relevant stock exchange in interests of that class. That price is the weighted average of the prices at which those interests were traded on that stock exchange during that period.
- (7) For the purposes of subsection (6), if an interest is quoted on 2 or more *approved stock exchanges on that day, the officially quoted price of the interest is determined under subsection (6) in respect of whichever of those the entity chooses.

124-784B What is the cost base and reduced cost base when arrangement is a restructure?

- (1) This section applies in relation to each qualifying interest in the original entity:
- (a) *acquired by an acquiring entity under an *arrangement to which section 124-784A applies; and
  - (b) for which the first element of the *cost base of the acquiring entity is not worked out under section 124-782.

Note: Section 124-782 applies when an original interest holder is a significant stakeholder or a common stakeholder.

First element of cost base—qualifying interests acquired in exchange for replacement interests only

- (2) The first element of the *cost base of the acquiring entity for the qualifying interest in the original entity is worked out as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Add up:

- (a) the *market value, at the completion time, of the original entity's *pre-CGT assets (except *trading stock); and
- (b) the *cost bases, at the completion time, of the original entity's *post-CGT assets (except trading stock); and
- (c) for the original entity's *CGT assets (except trading stock) that had no cost base—the maximum amount of consideration the original entity would need to receive if it were to dispose, at the completion time, of those assets without an amount being assessable income of, or deductible to, the original entity; and
- (d) the amount worked out under steps 2 and 3.

Step 2. For the original entity's *trading stock, add up:

- (a) the *value of the trading stock at the start of the income year containing the completion time; and
- (b) for *livestock acquired by natural increase during that income year but before the completion time—the *cost of that livestock; and
- (c) the amount of any outgoing incurred in connection with acquiring an item of trading stock during that income year but before the completion time (except livestock acquired by natural increase); and
- (d) the amount of any outgoings forming part of the cost of the trading stock incurred by the entity during its current holding of the trading stock but before the completion time.

Step 3. For any asset of the original entity not covered by steps 1 and 2, work out the amount that would be the asset's *cost base at the completion time if it were a *CGT asset.

Step 4. Subtract from the result of step 1 the original entity's liabilities (if any) at the completion time in respect of those assets.

Step 5. If there is one class of *membership interests in the original entity, divide the result of step 4 by the total number of those membership interests at the completion time.

If there are 2 or more classes of membership interests in the original entity, allocate a portion of the result of step 4 to each class in proportion to the *market value of all the membership interests in that class and divide that result by the total number of membership interests in that class at the completion time.

Note 1: For the purposes of this subsection, Division 701 (Core rules for consolidated groups) is disregarded for an original entity that becomes a subsidiary member of a consolidated group or MEC group under the arrangement (see paragraph 715-910(1)(a)).

Note 2: If the original entity is the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group, then subsection 701-1(1) (the single entity rule) and section 701-5 (the entry history rule) apply in relation to that group when working out steps 1 and 2 (see subsection 715-910(2)).

Note 3: For step 5, the replacement entity may choose to use the officially quoted price of the qualifying interests as their market value (see subsection 124-784A(3)).

First element of cost base—interests acquired in exchange for replacement interests and cash etc.

- (3) However, if the qualifying interest was acquired under the *arrangement partly in exchange for one or more replacement interests and partly for something else, subsection (2) applies only for working out the first element of that part of the *cost base of the qualifying interest that is attributable to the replacement interests.

Note 1: This means that the acquiring entity will have to apportion the cost base amount worked out under subsection (2) according to the relative values of the replacement interests and the other component.

Note 2: The first element of that part of the cost base, and reduced cost base, of the qualifying interest that is attributable to cash etc. is worked out using the general rules about cost base.

Liabilities

- (4) For the purposes of step 4 of subsection (2), a liability of the original entity that is not a liability in respect of a specific asset or assets of the entity is taken to be a liability in respect of all the assets of the entity.
- (5) If a liability is in respect of 2 or more assets, the proportion of the liability that is in respect of any one of those assets is equal to:

$$\frac{\text{The *market value of the asset}}{\text{The total of the *market values of all the assets that the liability is in respect of}}$$

Section 124-784C

First element of reduced cost base

- (6) The first element of the *reduced cost base of the acquiring entity for the qualifying interest in the original entity is worked out similarly.

Rights and options to acquire membership interests

- (7) For the purposes of step 5 of subsection (2), if at the completion time a person holds an option, right or similar interest (including a contingent option, right or interest), created or issued by the original entity, to acquire a *membership interest in the original entity, that option, right or interest is treated as if it were a membership interest in the original entity.

124-784C Cost base of equity or debt given by acquiring entity to ultimate holding company

Purpose

- (1) This section allocates an appropriate *cost base to equity issued, or new debt owed, by an acquiring entity under the *arrangement to the *ultimate holding company of a *wholly-owned group where the cost base of the acquiring entity for a qualifying interest was worked out under section 124-784B.

Allocation of cost base

- (2) The first element of the *cost base of the equity or debt for the *ultimate holding company is that part of the cost base of the qualifying interest worked out under section 124-784B as:
- (a) may be reasonably allocated to the equity or debt; and
  - (b) is not more than the *market value of the equity or debt at the completion time.

No capital gain on debt repayment

- (3) Any *capital gain of the *ultimate holding company from the repayment of new debt owed by an acquiring entity under the *arrangement is disregarded to the extent that it relates to the difference between the part of the *cost base worked out under section 124-784B and the *market value of the debt at the completion time.

---

Note: If the debt is assigned or exchanged, there may be a capital gain.

124-785 What is the roll-over?

- (1) A *capital gain you make from your original interest is disregarded.
- (2) You work out the first element of the *cost base of each *CGT asset you received as a result of the exchange by reasonably attributing to it the cost base (or the part of it) of your original interest for which it was exchanged and for which you obtained the roll-over.
- (3) In applying subsection (2), you reduce the *cost base of your original interest (just before you stop owning it) by so much of that cost base as is attributable to an ineligible part (see section 124-790).
- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Example 1: Lyn exchanges 1 share with a cost base of $10 for another share. The cost base of the new share is $10.

Example 2: Glenn exchanges 2 shares with cost bases of $10 and $11 respectively for one new share. The cost base of the new share is $21.

Example 3: Wayne exchanges 1 share with a cost base of $9 for share A with a market value of $5 and share B with a market value of $10. The cost base of share A is $3 and the cost base of share B is $6.

124-790 Partial roll-over

- (1) The original interest holder can obtain only a partial roll-over if its *capital proceeds for its original interest include something (the ineligible proceeds) other than its replacement interest. There is no roll-over for that part (the ineligible part) of its original interest for which it received ineligible proceeds.
- (2) The *cost base of the ineligible part is that part of the cost base of your original interest as is reasonably attributable to it.

Example: Ken owns 100 shares in Aim Ltd. Those shares have a cost base of $2.

Ken accepts an offer from LBZ Ltd to acquire those shares. The offer is 1 share in LBZ (market value $4) plus $1 for each Aim share.

---

Ken chooses the roll-over to the extent that he can.

The cost base of the ineligible part is  $[$100 \times $200] \div $500 = $40$ .

Ken makes a capital gain of  $$100 - $40 = $60$ .

124-795 Exceptions

- (1) You cannot obtain the roll-over if, just before you stop owning your original interest, you are a foreign resident unless, just after you *acquire your replacement interest, the replacement interest is *taxable Australian property.
- (2) You cannot obtain the roll-over if:
  - (a) any *capital gain you might make from your replacement interest would be disregarded (except because of a roll-over); or
  - (b) you and the acquiring entity are members of the same *wholly-owned group just before you stop owning your original interest and the acquiring entity is a foreign resident.

Example: An example of a capital gain or loss being disregarded as mentioned in paragraph (2)(a) is because the asset is trading stock.

Note: A roll-over may be available under Subdivision 126-B in the circumstances mentioned in paragraph (2)(b).

- (3) You cannot obtain the roll-over for the *CGT event happening in relation to the exchange of your original interest if you can choose a roll-over under Division 122 or Subdivision 124-G for that event.

Note: Division 122 deals with the disposal of assets to a wholly-owned company, and Subdivision 124-G deals with company reorganisation.

- (4) You cannot obtain the roll-over for the *CGT event happening in relation to the exchange of your qualifying interest if:
  - (a) the replacement entity makes a choice to that effect under this subsection; and
  - (b) that entity or the original entity notifies you in writing of the choice before the exchange.

124-800 Interest received for pre-CGT interest

- (1) If, in consequence of the *arrangement, you exchange an interest that you *acquired before 20 September 1985 for an interest in the replacement entity, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the interest in the replacement entity is its *market value just after you acquired it.

- (2) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the interest in the replacement entity is reduced if all or part of a *capital gain from *CGT event K6 happening is disregarded because of subsection 104-230(10). The amount of the reduction is the amount of the *capital gain you disregard under that subsection.

Note 1: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

Note 2: Subsection 104-230(10) provides that a capital gain from CGT event K6 is disregarded to the extent that you could have chosen a roll-over under this Subdivision if your original interest had been post-CGT.

124-810 Certain companies and trusts not regarded as having 300 members or beneficiaries

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, a company is treated as if it did not have at least 300 *members if subsection (3) or (5) applies to it.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, a trust is treated as if it did not have at least 300 beneficiaries if subsection (4) or (5) applies to it.

Concentrated ownership

- (3) This subsection applies to a company if an individual owns, or up to 20 individuals own between them, directly or indirectly (through one or more interposed entities) and for their own benefit, *shares in the company:
- (a) carrying fixed entitlements to:
    - (i) at least 75% of the company's income; or
    - (ii) at least 75% of the company's capital; or
  - (b) carrying at least 75% of the voting rights in the company.
- (4) This subsection applies to a trust if an individual owns, or up to 20 individuals own between them, directly or indirectly (through one or more interposed entities) and for their own benefit, units or other fixed interests in the trust:

Section 124-810

---

- (a) carrying *fixed entitlements to:
  - (i) at least 75% of the trust's income; or
  - (ii) at least 75% of the trust's capital; or
- (b) if beneficiaries of the trust have a right to vote in respect of activities of the trust—carrying at least 75% of those voting rights.

Possible variation of rights etc.

- (5) This subsection applies to a company or trust if, because of:
  - (a) any provision in the entity's constituent document, or in any contract, agreement or instrument:
    - (i) authorising the variation or abrogation of rights attaching to any of the *shares, units or other fixed interests in the entity; or
    - (ii) relating to the conversion, cancellation, extinguishment or redemption of any of those interests; or
  - (b) any contract, *arrangement, option or instrument under which a person has power to acquire any of those interests; or
  - (c) any power, authority or discretion in a person in relation to the rights attaching to any of those shares, units or interests;it is reasonable to conclude that the rights attaching to any of those interests are capable of being varied or abrogated in such a way (even if they are not in fact varied or abrogated in that way) that, directly or indirectly, subsection (3) or (4) would apply to the entity.

Single individual

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (4), all of the following are taken to be a single individual:
  - (a) an individual, whether or not the individual holds *shares, units or other interests in the entity concerned;
  - (b) the individual's *associates;
  - (c) for any shares, units or interests in respect of which other individuals are nominees of the individual or of the individual's associates—those other individuals.

Subdivision 124-N—Disposal of assets by a trust to a company

Guide to Subdivision 124-N

124-850 What this Subdivision is about

Entities can choose to obtain a roll-over if:

- (a) a trust disposes of all of its assets to a company;
and
- (b) units and interests in the trust are replaced by shares in the company.

The roll-over may also be available for 2 or more trusts disposing of all their assets to a single company.

Note: The effect of the roll-over may be reversed if the trust does not cease to exist within 6 months: see section 104-195.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

124-855	What this Subdivision deals with
124-860	Requirements for roll-over
124-865	Entities both choose the roll-over
124-870	Roll-over for owner of units or interests in a trust
124-875	Effect on the transferor and transferee

Operative provisions

124-855 What this Subdivision deals with

- (1) A roll-over may be available for a restructuring (a trust restructure) if:
  - (a) a trust, or 2 or more trusts, (the transferor) *dispose of all of their *CGT assets to a company limited by *shares (the transferee); and

---

- (b) *CGT event E4 is capable of applying to all of the units and interests in the transferor; and
- (c) the requirements in section 124-860 are met.

Note: A roll-over is not available for a restructure undertaken by a discretionary trust.

- (2) For 2 or more transferors, units and interests in each transferor must be owned in the same proportions by the same beneficiaries.

Example: Matthew and Jaclyn each own 50% of the units in the Spring Unit Trust and the Dale Unit trust. All of the assets of both trusts are disposed of to Jonathon Pty Ltd. A roll-over for a trust restructure is available if the other requirements of this Subdivision are met.

124-860 Requirements for roll-over

- (1) All of the *CGT assets owned by the transferor must be disposed of to the transferee during the *trust restructuring period. However, ignore any CGT assets retained by the transferor to pay existing or expected debts of the transferor.
  - (2) The trust restructuring period for a trust restructure:
    - (a) starts just before the first *CGT asset is *disposed of to the transferee under the trust restructure, which must happen on or after 11 November 1999; and
    - (b) ends when the last CGT asset of the transferor is disposed of to the transferee.
  - (3) The transferee must not be an *exempt entity.
  - (4) The transferee must be a company that:
    - (a) has never carried on commercial activities; and
    - (b) has no *CGT assets other than small amounts of cash or debt; and
    - (c) has no losses of any kind.
- Example: It could be a shelf company.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not apply to a transferee that is the trustee of the transferor.
  - (6) Just after the end of the *trust restructuring period:

- (a) each entity that owned interests in a transferor just before the start of the trust restructuring period must own replacement interests in the transferee in the same proportion as it owned those interests in that transferor; and
- (b) the *market value of the replacement interests each of those entities owns in the transferee must be at least substantially the same as the market value of the interests it owned in the transferor or transferors just before the start of the trust restructuring period.

Note: Any assets in the company just before the start of the trust restructuring period may affect the ability of owners of units or interests to comply with paragraph (6)(b).

- (7) For the purposes of subsection (6), ignore any *shares in the transferee that:
  - (a) just before the start of the *trust restructuring period, were owned by entities who together owned no more than 5 shares; and
  - (b) just after the end of that period, represented such a low percentage of the total *market value of all the shares that it is reasonable to treat other entities as if they owned all the shares in the transferee.

Example: To continue the example in subsection 124-855(2), assume that Jonathon Pty Ltd was a shelf company organised for Matthew and Jaclyn by their solicitor, Indira.

Indira owned the 2 shares in Jonathon Pty Ltd before the trust restructuring period. The company issues Matthew and Jaclyn 5,000 shares each.

In these circumstances, it is reasonable to treat Matthew and Jaclyn as if they owned all the shares in Jonathon Pty Ltd.

124-865 Entities both choose the roll-over

A roll-over is only available for the transferor and transferee if both the transferor and transferee choose to obtain it.

Note 1: If they do so, the consequences for the transferor and transferee are set out in section 124-875.

Note 2: An entity that owns a unit or interest in the transferor can also choose to obtain a roll-over: see section 124-870.

124-870 Roll-over for owner of units or interests in a trust

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over (whether or not the transferor and transferee choose to obtain a roll-over, and even if *CGT event J4 applies) if:
- (a) you own units or interests in the transferor (your original interests); and
  - (b) the ownership of all your units or interests ends under a trust restructure in exchange for *shares in the transferee (your replacement interests).

Note 1: The roll-over consequences are set out in Subdivision 124-A. The original assets are your units and interests in the transferor. The new assets are your shares in the transferee.

Note 2: The effect of the roll-over may be reversed if the transferor does not cease to exist within 6 months: see section 104-195.

- (2) You must make the choice for each of your original interests.
- (3) An entity that is a foreign resident cannot choose a roll-over under this section unless the replacement interests the entity *acquires in the transferee are *taxable Australian property just after their acquisition.
- (4) If you choose a roll-over, you cannot make a *capital loss from a *CGT event that happens to your original interests during the *trust restructuring period.

Note: The rule in subsection (4) prevents a capital loss arising on your units or interests after the trust assets have been disposed of to the company but before your shares are issued to you.

Exception: trading stock

- (5) This section does not apply to your ownership of an original interest ending if:
- (a) the interest was an item of your *trading stock and the corresponding replacement interest becomes an item of your trading stock when you *acquire it; or
  - (b) the interest was not an item of your trading stock but the corresponding replacement interest becomes an item of your trading stock when you acquire it.

124-875 Effect on the transferor and transferee

Capital gains and losses disregarded

- (1) Any *capital gain or *capital loss from *CGT event A1 happening to the transferor under the trust restructure is disregarded (even if *CGT event J4 applies).

Note: The effect of the roll-over may be reversed if the transferor does not cease to exist within 6 months: see section 104-195.

Cost base is transferred

- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base (for the transferee) of each *CGT asset that the transferee *acquires under the trust restructure is the same as the cost base and reduced cost base of that asset (for the transferor) just before that acquisition.

Note: For the cost base and reduced cost base of interests in the transferee: see Subdivision 124-A.

Pre-CGT assets retain their status

- (3) If the transferor *acquired any of the *CGT assets *disposed of to the transferee under the trust restructure before 20 September 1985, the transferee is taken to have acquired it before that day.
- (4) However, subsection (3) is taken never to have applied to such an asset of the transferee if subsection 104-195(4) (CGT event J4) applies to the transferee in relation to the asset.

Exception: trading stock

- (5) This section does not apply to a *CGT asset if:
- (a) the asset was an item of *trading stock of the transferor and becomes an item of trading stock of the transferee; or
  - (b) the asset was not an item of trading stock of the transferor but becomes an item of trading stock of the transferee when the transferee *acquires it.

---

---

Exception: asset must be taxable Australian property for foreign resident transferee

- (6) For a transferee that is a foreign resident, this section only applies to a *CGT asset that is *taxable Australian property just after the transferee *acquires it under the trust restructure.

124-930 Special extension of the 10 March 2004 cut-off date (new owner roll-overs)

Same owner roll-overs

124-880 Old licence roll-over (same owner)

There is a roll-over if:

- (a) you apply for an *Australian financial services licence during the period beginning on 11 March 2002 and ending on 10 March 2004; and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) at the time you make the application, you hold one or more licences, registrations, approvals, authorities or other similar things (the old licence or licences) that give you the status of a regulated principal within the meaning of section 1430 of the Corporations Act 2001; and
- (c) you are granted an Australian financial services licence as a result of the application; and
- (d) that licence covers some or all of the activities that the old licence or licences authorised you to carry on; and
- (e) the old licence or licences cease to have effect (whether wholly or partly):
  - (i) when the Australian financial services licence is granted to you; or
  - (ii) if the Australian financial services licence is granted to you after 10 March 2004—on 10 March 2004.

Note: The period in paragraph (a) may be extended in special circumstances: see section 124-925. If it is extended, the day in subparagraph (e)(ii) changes too.

124-885 Qualified licence roll-over (same owner)

There is a roll-over if:

- (a) you apply for an *Australian financial services licence during the period beginning on 11 March 2002 and ending on 10 March 2004; and
- (b) at the time you make the application, you hold an Australian financial services licence to which section 1434 of the Corporations Act 2001 applies (the qualified licence); and
- (c) you are granted an Australian financial services licence as a result of the application (the new licence); and
- (d) if the new licence is granted on or before 10 March 2004—the qualified licence is revoked as a result of the new licence being granted to you; and
- (e) if the new licence is granted after 10 March 2004:
  - (i) the qualified licence ceases to have effect on 10 March 2004; and

---

- (ii) if the new licence had been granted on or before 10 March 2004, the qualified licence would have been revoked as a result of the new licence being granted.

Note: The period in paragraph (a) may be extended in special circumstances: see section 124-925. If it is extended, the day in paragraphs (d) and (e) changes too.

124-890 Rights roll-over (same owner)

There is a roll-over if:

- (a) one or more intangible *CGT assets owned by you cease to exist during the period beginning on 11 March 2002 and ending on 10 March 2004; and
- (b) the asset or assets cease to exist because of the termination of one or more contracts; and
- (c) the termination is directly connected with Chapter 7 of the Corporations Act 2001 (as amended by the Financial Services Reform Act 2001) beginning to apply to you; and
- (d) you acquire one or more intangible CGT assets by entering into one or more contracts in substitution (whether wholly or partly) for the contract or contracts that were terminated.

Note: The period in paragraph (a) may be extended in special circumstances: see section 124-925.

124-895 Consequences of a same owner roll-over

- (1) In each situation covered by section 124-880, 124-885 or 124-890, where:
  - (a) your ownership of one or more *CGT assets (the original asset or assets) comes to an end; and
  - (b) you acquire one or more CGT assets (the replacement asset or assets);the consequences of that section applying are the consequences specified in Subdivision 124-A, with the modifications set out below.
- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of each replacement asset includes any amount you paid to get the replacement asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5). This subsection does not apply if subsection (3) applies.

---

Note: If subsection (3) applies, any amount you paid to get the replacement asset is included in the cost base and reduced cost base by subsection (5).

- (3) In a situation where subsection 124-15(5) would otherwise apply (where you *acquired some original assets before 20 September 1985 and some on or after that date), use subsections (4) to (7) of this section instead of subsections 124-15(5) and (6).
- (4) Each replacement asset, or part of a replacement asset, to the extent that it relates to one or more original assets that were *acquired before 20 September 1985, is taken to be:
  - (a) a separate asset; and
  - (b) acquired before 20 September 1985.
- (5) The first element of the *cost base of each replacement asset that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985 is the sum of:
  - (a) the amount worked out under the formula in subsection (6); and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) any amount you paid to get the replacement asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5); or
    - (ii) for a replacement asset, part of which is treated as a separate asset under subsection (4)—such part of any amount you paid to get the asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5) as is reasonably attributable to the part of the asset that you are not taken to have acquired before 20 September 1985.
- (6) The formula is:
$$\frac{\text{The total of the *cost bases of the original assets that you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985}}{\text{The number of replacement assets that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985}}$$

Note: If an original asset is an old licence that ceases to have effect only partly, subsection (8) modifies this formula.

---

---

- (7) The first element of each replacement asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
- (8) If, in a situation covered by section 124-880, an old licence mentioned in that section ceases to have effect only partly, then:
  - (a) a reference in Subdivision 124-A to the original asset's *cost base; and
  - (b) the reference in subsection (6) of this section to the total of the *cost bases of the original assets;is taken to be a reference to such part of the cost base of the old licence as is reasonably attributable to the part of the old licence that ceases to have effect.

New owner roll-overs

124-900 Old licence roll-over (new owner)

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
  - (a) a person (the new owner) applies for an *Australian financial services licence during the period beginning on 11 March 2002 and ending on 10 March 2004; and
  - (b) at the time the application is made, another person (the original owner) holds one or more licences, registrations, approvals, authorities or other similar things (the old licence or licences) that give the original owner the status of a regulated principal within the meaning of section 1430 of the Corporations Act 2001; and
  - (c) the new owner is granted an Australian financial services licence as a result of the application; and
  - (d) if the Australian financial services licence is granted on or before 10 March 2004—the old licence or licences cease to have effect (whether wholly or partly) because, as a result of the Australian financial services licence being granted to the new owner, the original owner starts to be covered by an exemption under subsection 911A(2) of the Corporations Act 2001 (or would be so covered by an exemption if that subsection applied) in respect of the original owner's regulated activities (within the meaning of section 1430 of the Corporations Act 2001); and

- (e) if the Australian financial services licence is granted after 10 March 2004:
  - (i) the old licence or licences cease to have effect (whether wholly or partly) on 10 March 2004; and
  - (ii) if the Australian financial services licence had been granted before 10 March 2004, the old licence or licences would have ceased to have effect (whether wholly or partly) for the reason mentioned in paragraph (d); and
- (f) subsection (2) or (3) applies.

Note: The period in paragraph (1)(a) may be extended in special circumstances: see section 124-930. If it is extended, the day in paragraphs (d) and (e) changes too.

- (2) This subsection applies if the new owner and the original owner are members of the same *consolidatable group at the time that the new owner *acquires the *Australian financial services licence.
- (3) This subsection applies if:
  - (a) at the time that the new owner *acquires the *Australian financial services licence, all of the following apply:
    - (i) the new owner is a company or a trust;

    - (iii) all of the *membership interests in the new owner are owned by the original owner; and
  - (b) the original owner is an individual who, at the same time as, or just after, the new owner acquires the Australian financial services licence:
    - (i) becomes an authorised representative (within the meaning of section 761A of the Corporations Act 2001) of the new owner; or
    - (ii) becomes an employee of the new owner; or
    - (iii) becomes a director (within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001) of the new owner.

---

124-905 Qualified licence roll-over (new owner)

- (a) a person (the new owner) applies for an *Australian financial services licence during the period beginning on 11 March 2002 and ending on 10 March 2004; and
  - (b) at the time the application is made, another person (the original owner) holds an Australian financial services licence to which section 1434 of the Corporations Act 2001 applies (the qualified licence); and
  - (c) the new owner is granted an Australian financial services licence as a result of the application (the new licence); and
  - (d) if the new licence is granted on or before 10 March 2004—the qualified licence is revoked as a result of the new licence being granted to the new owner; and
  - (e) if the new licence is granted after 10 March 2004:
    - (i) the qualified licence ceases to have effect on 10 March 2004; and
    - (ii) if the new licence had been granted on or before 10 March 2004, the qualified licence would have been revoked as a result of the new licence being granted; and
  - (f) subsection (2) or (3) applies.
- Note: The period in paragraph (1)(a) may be extended in special circumstances: see section 124-930. If it is extended, the day in paragraphs (d) and (e) changes too.
- (2) This subsection applies if the new owner and the original owner are members of the same *consolidatable group at the time that the new owner *acquires the new licence.
- (3) This subsection applies if:
- (a) at the time that the new owner *acquires the new licence, all of the following apply:
    - (i) the new owner is a company or a trust;
    - (ii) if the new owner is a trust—*CGT event E4 is capable of applying to all of the units and interests in the trust;

  - (b) the asset or assets cease to exist because of the termination of one or more contracts; and
  - (c) the termination is directly connected with the original owner choosing that another person (the new owner) will conduct, in place of the original owner, the business of the original owner in relation to which Chapter 7 of the Corporations Act 2001 (as amended by the Financial Services Reform Act 2001) is to apply; and

124-915 Consequences of a new owner roll-over (where one CGT asset comes to an end)

- (1) In each situation covered by section 124-900, 124-905 or 124-910, where:
- (a) a person's (the original owner's) ownership of one *CGT asset (the original asset) comes to an end; and
  - (b) another person (the new owner) acquires one or more *CGT assets (the replacement asset or assets);
- the consequences of that section applying are the consequences specified in this section.
- (2) A *capital gain or a *capital loss that the original owner makes from a *CGT event happening to the original asset is disregarded.
- (3) If the original owner *acquired the original asset on or after 20 September 1985, the first element of each replacement asset's *cost base is the sum of:

---

---

- (a) the amount worked out under the formula in subsection (4);
and
  - (b) any amount the new owner paid to get the replacement asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5).
- (4) The formula is:
- $$\frac{\text{The original asset's *cost base (worked out when the original owner's ownership of it ended)}}{\text{The number of replacement asstes}}$$
- Note: If the original asset is an old licence that ceases to have effect only partly, subsection (7) modifies this formula.
- (5) The first element of each replacement asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
  - (6) If the original owner *acquired the original asset before 20 September 1985, the new owner is taken to have acquired each replacement asset before that day.
  - (7) If, in a situation covered by section 124-900, an old licence mentioned in that section ceases to have effect only partly, then the reference in subsection (4) of this section to the original asset's *cost base is taken to be a reference to such part of the cost base of the old licence as is reasonably attributable to the part of the old licence that ceases to have effect.

124-920 Consequences of a new owner roll-over (where more than one CGT asset comes to an end)

- (1) In each situation covered by section 124-900, 124-905 or 124-910, where:
  - (a) a person's (the original owner's) ownership of more than one *CGT asset (the original asset or assets) comes to an end; and
  - (b) another person (the new owner) acquires one or more *CGT assets (the replacement asset or assets);the consequences of that section applying are the consequences set out in this section.

Section 124-920

- (2) A *capital gain or a *capital loss that the original owner makes from a *CGT event happening to any of the original assets is disregarded.
- (3) If the original owner *acquired all the original assets on or after 20 September 1985, the first element of each replacement asset's *cost base is the sum of:
- (a) the amount worked out under the formula in subsection (4); and
  - (b) any amount the new owner paid to get the replacement asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5).
- (4) The formula is:
- $$\frac{\text{The total of the *cost bases of all the original assets (worked out when the original owner's ownership of them ended)}}{\text{The number of replacement assets}}$$
- Note: If an original asset is an old licence that ceases to have effect only partly, subsection (11) modifies this formula.
- (5) The first element of each replacement asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
- (6) If the original owner *acquired all the original assets before 20 September 1985, the new owner is taken to have acquired each replacement asset before that day.
- (7) If the original owner *acquired some of the original assets before 20 September 1985, each replacement asset, or part of a replacement asset, to the extent that it relates to one or more original assets that were *acquired before 20 September 1985, is taken to be:
- (a) a separate asset; and
  - (b) acquired before 20 September 1985.
- (8) If subsection (7) applies, the first element of the *cost base of each replacement asset that is not taken to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985 is the sum of:
- (a) the amount worked out under the formula in subsection (9); and

---

(b) either:

- (i) any amount the new owner paid to get the replacement asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5); or
- (ii) for a replacement asset, part of which is treated as a separate asset under subsection (7)—such part of any amount the new owner paid to get the asset (which can include giving property: see section 103-5) as is reasonably attributable to the part of the asset that is not taken to have been acquired before 20 September 1985.

(9) The formula is:

$$\frac{\text{The total of the *cost bases of the original assets that the original owner *acquired on or after 20 September 1985}}{\text{The number of replacement assets that are not taken to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985}}$$

Note: If an original asset is an old licence that ceases to have effect only partly, subsection (11) modifies this formula.

- (10) The first element of each replacement asset's *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
- (11) If, in a situation covered by section 124-900, an old licence mentioned in that section ceases to have effect only partly, then a reference in subsection (4) or (9) of this section to the original asset's *cost base is taken to be a reference to such part of the cost base of the old licence as is reasonably attributable to the part of the old licence that ceases to have effect.

- (b) subparagraph 124-880(e)(ii) and paragraphs 124-885(d) and (e) are modified in their application to you so that the day mentioned in those subparagraphs is the last day of the period declared by the Commission.

124-930 Special extension of the 10 March 2004 cut-off date (new owner roll-overs)

If the Australian Securities and Investments Commission makes a declaration that provides for the relevant old legislation (within the meaning of section 1430 of the Corporations Act 2001) to continue to apply to a person who is an original owner mentioned in section 124-900, 124-905 or 124-910 until the end of the period declared by the Commission, then:

- (a) the period mentioned in paragraphs 124-900(1)(a), 124-905(1)(a) and 124-910(1)(a) is modified in its application to that person so that it ends on the last day of the period declared by the Commission; and

Guide to Subdivision 124-P

You can choose a roll-over if you exchange your interest as a member of an MDO for an interest as a member of another MDO.

You can only choose the roll-over if you would have made a capital gain from the exchange.

124-985	What the roll-over is for post-CGT interests
124-990	Partial roll-over
124-995	Pre-CGT interests

Operative provisions

124-980 Exchange of membership interests in an MDO

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
  - (a) an entity exchanges:
    - (i) an interest (the original interest) in an *MDO (the original MDO) as a member of the original MDO; for
    - (ii) a similar interest (the replacement interest) in another MDO (the new MDO) as a member of the new MDO; and
  - (b) both the original MDO and the new MDO are companies limited by guarantee; and
  - (c) the exchange is in consequence of a single *arrangement that satisfies subsection (3); and
  - (d) apart from the roll-over, the entity would make a *capital gain from a *CGT event happening in relation to its original interest; and
  - (e) the entity chooses to obtain the roll-over; and
  - (f) the entity acquired the original interest on or after 20 September 1985.

Note: The entity can obtain only a partial roll-over if the capital proceeds for its original interest include something other than its replacement interest: see section 124-990.

---

---

- (2) In working out whether an original interest is exchanged for a similar interest, disregard a difference that consists only of a right to receive distributions of income or capital.

Conditions for arrangement

- (3) The *arrangement must:
  - (a) result in the new *MDO becoming the sole *member of the original MDO; and
  - (b) be one in which participation was available on substantially the same terms for all of the holders of interests as members of the original MDO of a particular type.

124-985 What the roll-over is for post-CGT interests

- (1) A *capital gain the entity makes from an original interest *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 is disregarded.
- (2) The entity works out the first element of the *cost base of each replacement interest the entity received as a result of the exchange by reasonably attributing to it the cost base (or the part of it) of the entity's original interest for which it was exchanged and for which the entity obtained the roll-over.
- (3) In applying subsection (2), the entity reduces (but not below zero) the *cost base of the original interest (just before stopping owning it) by so much of that cost base as is attributable to an ineligible part (see section 124-990).
- (4) The first element of the *reduced cost base of a replacement interest is worked out similarly.

124-990 Partial roll-over

- (1) The entity can obtain only a partial roll-over if its *capital proceeds for its original interest include something (the ineligible proceeds) other than its replacement interest. There is no roll-over for that part (the ineligible part) of its original interest for which it received ineligible proceeds.

---

---

- (2) The *cost base of the ineligible part is that part of the cost base of the original interest as is reasonably attributable to it.

124-995 Pre-CGT interests

If the entity exchanges an original interest that the entity *acquired before 20 September 1985 for its replacement interest, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the replacement interest is zero.

Operative provisions

124-1045 Exchange of stapled securities

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) you own *ownership interests in 2 or more trusts, or in one or more companies and one or more trusts, and those interests are stapled together to form stapled securities; and
  - (b) at least one of the trusts is a trust whose trustee is not assessed and liable to pay tax under Division 6B or 6C of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
  - (c) if no company is involved—at least one of the trusts is a trust whose trustee is assessed and liable to pay tax under Division 6B or 6C of Part III of that Act; and
  - (d) under a *scheme for reorganising the affairs of the relevant *stapled entities, you and the other entities that own the ownership interests in the stapled entities (together the exchanging members):
    - (i) stop being the owner of those ownership interests and acquire ownership interests in a new unit trust (the interposed trust) and nothing else (a new trust case); or
    - (ii) retain their ownership interests in one of those trusts (also the interposed trust), stop being the owner of the remaining ownership interests that form the stapled securities and receive nothing other than ownership interests in the interposed trust, or an increase in value of their existing ownership interests in the interposed trust, or both (an existing trust case); and
  - (e) under the scheme, the interposed trust becomes the owner of:
    - (i) for a new trust case—all of the ownership interests in the stapled entities; or
    - (ii) for an existing trust case—all of the ownership interests in the other stapled entities; and
  - (f) the conditions in section 124-1050 are satisfied.

Note: Division 6B of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 deals with taxing corporate unit trusts in the same way as companies. Division 6C has the same effect in relation to public trading trusts.

---

- (2) An entity is a stapled entity in relation to stapled securities if *ownership interests in the entity form part of the stapled securities.
- (3) Ignore for the purposes of subsection (1) *ownership interests held by one *stapled entity in another stapled entity as at the start of the day on which the Bill for this Act was introduced into the Parliament.

124-1050 Conditions

- (1) Just after the *scheme is completed (the completion time), each exchanging member must own a percentage of the *ownership interests in the interposed trust that reasonably equates to the percentage of the ownership interests that the member owned in the *stapled entities.

Example: Public Company A, Unit Trust No. 1 and Unit Trust No. 2 are stapled entities. Each stapled entity has 4,000 ownership interests on issue. There are no ownership interests in any of the stapled entities other than shares in the company and units in the trusts.

Under a scheme for reorganising the stapled entities, Unit Trust No. 3 is interposed between the stapled entities and the owners of the interests in those entities. Unit Trust No. 3 (the interposed trust) becomes the owner of all of the interests in each of the three stapled entities. Exchanging members receive one unit in the interposed trust for each stapled security they owned. All units in the interposed trust are of the same class.

Naomi owned 200 shares in Public Company A, 200 units in Unit Trust No. 1 and 200 units in Unit Trust No. 2. Naomi therefore owned 5% of the ownership interests in each of the stapled entities. Under the scheme, Naomi receives 100 units in Unit Trust No. 3 (out of a total of 2,000 units) in exchange for her ownership interests in the stapled entities. Naomi now owns 5% of the ownership interests in the interposed trust and meets the condition in subsection (1).

- (2) Just after the completion time, each exchanging member must have the same, or as nearly as practicable the same, proportionate *market value of *ownership interests in the interposed trust as the member had in the *stapled entities just before that time.
- (3) In working out whether an exchanging member complies with subsection (2), an anticipated reasonable approximation of the *market value of *ownership interests just after the completion time is sufficient.

---

---

Note: An anticipated reasonable approximation of market values of ownership interests may include valuations provided to exchanging members in scheme documents.

- (4) You must be an Australian resident at the completion time or, if you are a foreign resident at that time:
- (a) some or all of your *ownership interests in the *stapled entities must have been *taxable Australian property just before that time; and
  - (b) your ownership interests in the interposed trust must be taxable Australian property just after that time.

124-1055 Consequences of the roll-over for exchanging members

- (1) A *capital gain or *capital loss you make as a result of the *scheme from each of your *ownership interests is disregarded.
- (2) If you *acquired all of your *ownership interests in the *stapled entities on or after 20 September 1985, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of each of your ownership interests in the interposed trust is such amount as is reasonable having regard to:
  - (a) the total of the *cost bases of all of your ownership interests in the *stapled entities; and
  - (b) the number, *market value and character of your ownership interests in the interposed trust.

Example: Naomi had a cost base of $2.00 for each of her 200 Public Company A shares, $1.50 for each of her 200 Unit Trust No. 1 units and $0.50 for each of her 200 Unit Trust No. 2 units. The total of the cost bases of all of her membership interests is $800.00.

It is reasonable to allocate $8.00 to each of the 100 units in the interposed trust that she receives under the reorganisation.

- (3) If you *acquired all of your *ownership interests in the *stapled entities before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired all of your ownership interests in the interposed trust before that day.
- (4) If you *acquired some of your *ownership interests in the *stapled entities before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired so many of your ownership interests in the interposed trust as is reasonable before that day having regard to:

- (a) the number, *market value and character of your ownership interests in the stapled entities; and
- (b) the number, market value and character of your ownership interests in the interposed trust.

Note: Generally, a capital gain or capital loss from a CGT asset acquired before 20 September 1985 can be disregarded: see Division 104.

- (5) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of each of your *ownership interests in the interposed trust that is not taken by subsection (4) to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985 (your post-CGT interests) is such amount as is reasonable having regard to:
  - (a) the total of the cost bases of your ownership interests in the *stapled entities that you acquired on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) the number, *market value and character of your post-CGT interests.

124-1060 Consequences of the roll-over for interposed trust

- (1) Apply this section separately for the interposed trust in relation to the *ownership interests in each *stapled entity that the trustee of the interposed trust *acquires under the *scheme.
- (2) A whole number of *ownership interests in a *stapled entity that the trustee *acquires under the *scheme are taken to have been acquired before 20 September 1985 if any of the stapled entity's assets as at the completion time were acquired by it before that day.

Note: Generally, a capital gain or capital loss from a CGT asset acquired before 20 September 1985 can be disregarded: see Division 104.
- (3) The number (worked out as at the completion time) is the greatest possible that (when expressed as a percentage of all the *ownership interests in the *stapled entity *acquired by the trustee) does not exceed:
  - (a) the *market value of the stapled entity's assets that it acquired before 20 September 1985; less

---

- (b) its liabilities (if any) in respect of those assets; expressed as a percentage of the market value of all the stapled entity's assets less all of its liabilities. The amounts in paragraphs (a) and (b) are to be worked out as at the completion time.
- (4) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of each of the trustee's *ownership interests in that *stapled entity that are not taken by subsection (3) to have been *acquired before 20 September 1985 is such proportion as is reasonable of the total of the cost bases (as at the completion time) of that stapled entity's assets that it acquired on or after that day less its liabilities (if any) in respect of those assets.
- (5) In applying this section:
  - (a) a liability of a *stapled entity that is not a liability in respect of a specific asset or assets of the stapled entity is a liability in respect of all the assets of the stapled entity; and
  - (b) if a liability is in respect of 2 or more assets, the proportion of the liability that is in respect of any one of those assets is such amount as is reasonable having regard to the *market values of each of those assets.

124-1065 Certain foreign holders disregarded

- (1) This section has effect if:
  - (a) *ownership interests are owned by a foreign holder within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001; and
  - (b) an agent or nominee is appointed by (or on behalf of) the foreign holder; and
  - (c) the interests are *disposed of to the interposed trust, or are cancelled; and
  - (d) as a result, the agent or nominee acquires new units or new options, rights or similar interests, or both, in the interposed trust; and
  - (e) the agent or nominee disposes of those ownership interests in the interposed trust (whether separately or together with other ownership interests covered by paragraph (d)); and
  - (f) the agent or nominee:

---

- (i) gives the foreign holder an amount equivalent to the *capital proceeds of the disposal (less expenses); or
  - (ii) if the ownership interests are disposed of together with other ownership interests covered by paragraph (d)— gives the foreign holder an amount equivalent to the foreign holder's proportion of the capital proceeds of the disposal (less expenses).
- (2) This Subdivision has effect as if the foreign holder were not an exchanging member.

Entities can obtain CGT relief for a demerger.

Owners of ownership interests in the head entity of a demerger group can obtain a roll-over to defer CGT consequences for the CGT events that happen to their interests under the demerger (see Subdivision 125-B).

Capital gains and capital losses made by members of the demerger group from certain CGT events that happen under the demerger are disregarded (see Subdivision 125-C).

Note: Dividend relief is also available: see section 44 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Operative provisions

125-55 When a roll-over is available for a demerger

- (1) You can choose to obtain a roll-over if:
- (a) you own an *ownership interest in a company or trust (your original interest); and
  - (b) the company or trust is the *head entity of a *demerger group; and
  - (c) a *demerger happens to the demerger group; and
  - (d) under the demerger, a *CGT event happens to your original interest and you *acquire a new or replacement interest (your new interest) in the *demerged entity.

Note 1: Section 125-80 sets out what the roll-over is.

Note 2: You have to make cost base adjustments even if there is no CGT event: see section 125-90.

Example: Peter owns shares (his original interests) in Company A, a public company. Company B is a wholly owned subsidiary of Company A. Company A announces a demerger utilising a proportionate capital reduction and the disposal of all its shares in Company B to its 320,000 shareholders. Following the demerger all of the shareholders in Company A, including Peter, will own all of the shares in Company B (their new interests).

- (2) You cannot choose to obtain a roll-over under this Subdivision for an original interest if:
- (a) you are a foreign resident; and
  - (b) the new interest you *acquire under the *demerger in exchange for that original interest is not *taxable Australian property just after you acquire it.

Note: For taxable Australian property, see section 855-15.

125-60 Meaning of ownership interest and related terms

- (1) An ownership interest in a company or trust is:
- (a) for a company, a *share in the company or an option, right or similar interest issued by the company that gives the owner an entitlement to *acquire a share in the company; and

- (b) for a trust, a unit or other interest in the trust or an option, right or similar interest issued by the trustee that gives the owner an entitlement to acquire a unit or other interest in the trust.
- (2) However, this Subdivision applies to a *dual listed company voting share in a company that is the *head entity of a *demerger group as if it were not an ownership interest if there are not more than 5 of those *shares in the company.
- (3) A dual listed company voting share is a *share in a company:
- (a) issued:
    - (ii) as part of a *dual listed company arrangement; and
    - (iii) mainly for the purpose of ensuring that shareholders of both companies involved in the arrangement vote as a single decision-making body on matters affecting them; and
  - (b) that does not carry rights to financial entitlements (except the return of the amount paid up on the share and a dividend that is the equivalent of a dividend paid on an ordinary share).
- (4) A dual listed company arrangement is an *arrangement under which 2 publicly listed companies, while maintaining their separate legal entity status, shareholdings and listings, align their strategic directions and the economic interests of their respective shareholders through:
- (a) the appointment of common (or almost identical) boards of directors; and
  - (b) management of the operations of the 2 companies on a unified basis; and
  - (c) the shareholders of both companies voting in effect as a single decision-making body on substantial issues affecting their combined interests; and
  - (d) equalised distributions to shareholders in accordance with an equalisation ratio applying between the 2 companies, both generally and in the event of a winding up of one or both of the companies; and
  - (e) cross-guarantees as to, or similar financial support for, each other's substantial obligations or operations, except where the effect of the relevant regulatory requirements prevents those guarantees or that financial support.

- (5) However, an arrangement is not a dual listed company arrangement unless one but not both of the companies is an Australian resident.

125-65 Meanings of demerger group, head entity and *demerger subsidiary

- (1) A demerger group comprises the *head entity of the group and one or more *demerger subsidiaries.

Note: An entity may be a member of one or more demerger groups.

- (2) A trust cannot be a member of a demerger group unless *CGT event E4 is capable of applying to all of the units and interests in the trust.

Note: A discretionary trust cannot be a member of a demerger group.

- (3) A company or trust is the head entity of a *demerger group if no other member of the group owns *ownership interests in the company or trust.

- (4) If apart from this subsection, a company or trust would be the *head entity of a *demerger group and the company or trust, and all of its *demerger subsidiaries, are also demerger subsidiaries of another company or trust in another demerger group, the first-mentioned company or trust is not the head entity of a demerger group.

- (5) A company or trust (the first company or trust) that would, apart from this subsection, be a member of a demerger group is not a member of the demerger group if:

- (a) the first company or trust owns, either alone or together with another company or trust that would, apart from this subsection, be a member of the *demerger group, more than 20% but less than 80% of the *ownership interests in a *listed public company or *listed widely held trust; and

- (b) the listed public company or listed widely held trust chooses that the first company or trust not be a member of the demerger group.
- (6) A company is a demerger subsidiary of another company or a trust that is a member of a *demerger group if the other company or the trust, either alone or together with other members of the group, owns, or has the right to *acquire, *ownership interests in the company that carry between them:
  - (a) the right to receive more than 20% of any distribution of income or capital by the company; or
  - (b) the right to exercise, or control the exercise of, more than 20% of the voting power of the company.
- (7) A trust is a demerger subsidiary of another trust or a company that is a member of a *demerger group if the other trust or the company, either alone or together with other members of the group, owns, or has the right to *acquire, *ownership interests in the trust that carry between them the right to receive more than 20% of any distribution of income or capital by the trustee.

125-70 Meanings of demerger, demerged entity and *demerging entity

- (1) A demerger happens to a *demerger group if:
  - (a) there is a restructuring of the demerger group; and
  - (b) under the restructuring:
    - (i) members of the demerger group *dispose of at least 80% of their total *ownership interests in another member of the demerger group to owners of original interests in the *head entity of the demerger group; or
    - (ii) at least 80% of the total ownership interests of members of the demerger group in another member of the demerger group end and new interests are issued to owners of original interests in the head entity; or
    - (iii) the demerged entity issues sufficient new ownership interests in itself with the result that owners of original interests in the head entity own at least 80% of the total ownership interests in the demerged entity; or

---

---

---

- (iv) some combination of the processes referred to in subparagraphs (i), (ii) and (iii) happens with the effect that members of the demerger group stop owning at least 80% of the total ownership interests owned by members of the demerger group in another member of the group; and

Note: CGT event C2 and CGT event C3 are the only relevant CGT events in a subparagraph (ii) case.

- (c) under the restructuring:
  - (i) a *CGT event happens to an original interest owned by an entity in the head entity of the group and the entity *acquires a new interest and nothing else; or
  - (ii) no CGT event happens to an original interest owned by an entity in the head entity of the group and the entity acquires a new interest and nothing else; and
- (d) the acquisition by entities of new interests happens only because those entities own or owned original interests; and
- (e) the new interests acquired are:
  - (i) if the head entity is a company—ownership interests in a company; or
  - (ii) if the head entity is a trust—ownership interests in a trust; and
- (g) neither the original interests nor the new interests are in a trust that is a *superannuation fund; and
- (h) the requirements of subsection (2) are met.

Example: To continue the example from subsection 125-55(1), Peter owns 400 post-CGT shares in Company A. Companies A and B are both members of a demerger group. Company A is the head entity of the demerger group and Company B is a demerger subsidiary.

Company A proceeds to demerge 100% of its shares in Company B to its shareholders.

Company A enters into a proportionate capital reduction, returning 40 cents per share to its ordinary shareholders. Peter is entitled to $160 (40c times 400 shares) under the capital reduction.

For Peter, the capital reduction amount of $160 is compulsorily applied to acquire Company A's shares in Company B, at $6.75 (a discount of 10% to current market value). Company A rounds up the fractional amounts in calculating the number of whole shares to be distributed to each shareholder. This gives Peter 24 shares in

---

Company B (160 divided by 6.75, rounded up to the nearest whole number).

Note: Acquiring new interests by an owner of original interests may include the allocation of the owner's entitlement to new interests to a nominee:

- to sell on the owner's behalf; or
- to hold pending the owner being located.

- (2) Each owner (an original owner) of original interests in the *head entity of the *demerger group must:
- (a) *acquire, under the *demerger, the same proportion, or as nearly as practicable the same proportion, of new interests in the *demerged entity as the original owner owned in the head entity just before the demerger; and
  - (b) just after the demerger, have the same proportionate total *market value of *ownership interests in the head entity and demerged entity as the original owner owned in the head entity just before the demerger.

Note 1: There is an exception: see section 125-75.

Note 2: Dual listed company voting shares are not treated as ownership interests: see section 125-60.

Note 3: Fractional interests will generally not affect your ability to choose a roll-over.

Example: To continue the example from subsection (1), Company A concludes, given the circumstances of the demerger, that the market values of Peter's and the other shareholders' shares in A and B are expected to be in proportion with their original interests in Company A, and advises the shareholders of this position.

- (3) In working out whether an original owner complies with subsection (2):
- (a) disregard *ownership interests that are original interests the owner owns in the *demerged entity; and
  - (b) an anticipated reasonable approximation of the *market value of ownership interests is sufficient.

Example: An anticipated reasonable approximation of market values of ownership interests may include:

- valuations provided to shareholders in scheme documents;
- the price selected for use under a sale facility;

and may be made by reference to long-term value.

Section 125-70

Exception: off-market buy-backs

- (4) A buy-back of *shares that is an off-market purchase for the purposes of Division 16K of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is not a *demerger.

Exception: roll-over available under another provision

- (5) Circumstances where an owner of original interests can obtain a roll-over under a provision of this Act outside this Division for all of the CGT events that happened to the owner's original interests under the circumstances cannot be a demerger.

Note: An owner might be able to obtain a roll-over for the CGT events under Subdivision 124-E, 124-G, 124-H or 124-M.

Meaning of demerged entity

- (6) An entity that is a former member of a *demerger group is a demerged entity if, under a *demerger that happens to the group, *ownership interests in the entity are acquired by:
- (a) shareholders in the *head entity of the group; or
  - (b) unitholders or holders of interests in the head entity of the group.

Meaning of demerging entity

- (7) An entity that is a member of a *demerger group just before the *CGT event referred to in section 125-155 happens is a demerging entity if, under a *demerger that happens to the group:
- (a) the entity (either alone or together with other members of the demerger group) *dispose of at least 80% of their total *ownership interests in another member of the demerger group to owners of original interests in the *head entity of the demerger group; or
  - (b) at least 80% of the total ownership interests of that entity and of other members of the demerger group in another member of the demerger group end and new interests are issued to owners of original interests in the head entity; or

Note: CGT event C2 and CGT event C3 are the only relevant CGT events.

- (c) the demerged entity issues sufficient new ownership interests in itself with the result that owners of original interests in the head entity own at least 80% of the total ownership interests in the demerged entity; or
- (d) some combination of the processes referred to in paragraphs (a), (b) and (c) happens with the effect that members of the demerger group stop owning at least 80% of the total ownership interests owned by members of the demerger group in another member of the group.

125-75 Exceptions to subsection 125-70(2)

Employee share schemes

- (1) In working out whether the requirements in subsection 125-70(2) are met, disregard each of the *ownership interests described in subsections (2) and (3) if, just before the *demerger, those interests (taking into account either or both of their number and value) represented not more than 3% of the total *ownership interests in the entity.
- (2) An *ownership interest in a company that is owned by an entity is disregarded under subsection (1) if the ownership interest:
  - (a) is:
    - (i) a *qualifying share or a *qualifying right *acquired under an *employee share scheme; or
    - (ii) a *share acquired under a *scheme to which section 26AAC of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies; and
  - (b) is not a fully-paid ordinary share.
- (3) An *ownership interest in a trust that is owned by an entity is disregarded under subsection (1) if the ownership interest:
  - (a) either:
    - (i) would be a *qualifying share or a *qualifying right *acquired under an *employee share scheme if Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied to ownership interests in a trust; or

Section 125-75

---

- (ii) forms part of a stapled security (within the meaning of that Division) that is treated as a qualifying share because of Subdivision DB of that Division; and
- (b) is not a fully-paid unit.

Adjusting instruments

- (4) In working out whether the requirements in subsection 125-70(2) are met, disregard each of the *ownership interests described in subsection (5) (adjusting instruments) if, just before the *demerger, those interests represented not more than 10%, or such greater percentage (not exceeding 17%) as is prescribed, of the ownership interests in the entity.
- (5) An *ownership interest in a *listed public company or a *listed widely held trust that is the *head entity of a *demerger group is disregarded under subsection (4) if:
  - (a) the adjusting instrument was issued on terms that ensure that its value is not adversely affected by an *arrangement undertaken by the company or trust in relation to other ownership interests in the company or trust; and
  - (b) if the adjusting instrument can be converted into an ordinary *share in the company or an ordinary unit in the trust, any conversion will occur on a basis:
    - (i) that is set out in the terms of the issue of the instrument; and
    - (ii) that is adjusted to take into account a capital reduction or a capital reconstruction; and
  - (c) before conversion, the owner of the adjusting instrument does not have a right to participate in distributions of profit or capital except as set out in the terms of the issue of the instrument; and
  - (d) the adjusting instrument deals with the effect of a *demerger that happens to the demerger group on the value of the instrument.

Example: Some examples of adjusting instruments are:

- convertible preference shares, including reset preference shares;
- convertible notes;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- partly paid shares where the paid-up amount is adjusted to reflect a capital reduction.

Additional exceptions

- (6) The regulations may provide that, in working out whether the requirements in subsection 125-70(2) are met, other *ownership interests of a kind specified in the regulations are to be disregarded if, just before the *demerger, those interests represented not more than a prescribed percentage of the ownership interests in the entity.
- (7) However, the total percentage of *ownership interests to be disregarded under this section must not exceed 20% of the ownership interests in the entity.

125-80 What is the roll-over?

- (1) If you choose the roll-over, a *capital gain or *capital loss you make from a *CGT event happening under the *demerger to an original interest you own is disregarded.
- (2) If you choose the roll-over, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of:
  - (a) each new interest that you are not taken to have *acquired before 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) if not all of your original interests ended under the *demerger—each of your remaining original interests that you acquired on or after 20 September 1985; is such proportion of the sum of the cost bases of all your original interests that you acquired on or after 20 September 1985 (worked out just before the demerger) as is reasonable having regard to the matters specified in subsection (3).

Note 1: These rules replace the cost base and reduced cost base adjustments in CGT event E4 and CGT event G1.

Note 2: The head entity or the demerging entity may advise you of the proportions.

---

---

Section 125-80

---

- (3) The matters are:
- (a) the *market values of your remaining original interests just after the *demerger, or an anticipated reasonable approximation of those market values; and
  - (b) the market values of your new interests just after the demerger, or an anticipated reasonable approximation of those market values.

Example: To continue the example from subsection 125-70(2), Company A advises its shareholders that Company B at that time represents 5% of the market value of the group as a whole. Peter's cost base for each of his shares in A is $4.60, and Peter recalculates his cost base as follows:

to be spread over 400 shares in A and 24 shares in B.

$$5\% \text{ of } 1840 = 92$$

$$92 \div 24 \text{ shares} = $3.83 \text{ per B share}$$

$$1840 - 92 = 1748$$

$$1748 \div 400 = $4.37 \text{ per A share}$$

Pre-CGT interests

- (4) The following subsections apply if you choose the roll-over and you *acquired some or all of your original interests before 20 September 1985.
- (5) If you *acquired all of your original interests before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired all of your new interests before that day.
- (6) If you *acquired some of your original interests before 20 September 1985, you are taken to have acquired a reasonable whole number of your new interests before that day having regard to:
  - (a) the *market values of your original interests and your remaining original interests just after the *demerger, or an anticipated reasonable approximation of those market values; and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the market values of your new interests just after the demerger, or an anticipated reasonable approximation of those market values.
- (7) If a proportion, but not all, of your original interests ends under the *demerger and you *acquired some of your original interests before 20 September 1985, that same proportion of those interests you acquired before that day ends.

Note: CGT event K6 may be relevant if you later dispose of your interests that are treated as being pre-CGT.

Example: Bert owned 100 shares in a company of which 50 were acquired pre-CGT. Under a demerger 20 of Bert's 100 shares were cancelled in exchange for new interests. As 20% of his shares were cancelled, 10 of his pre-CGT shares are taken to have been cancelled.

Partial roll-over

- (8) If you choose a roll-over for some but not all of your original interests, you apply the rules in this section as if your original interests for which you chose the roll-over were your only original interests.

125-85 Cost base adjustments where CGT event happens but no roll-over chosen

- (1) You must adjust the *cost base and *reduced cost base of an *ownership interest you own in a company or trust if:
- (a) a *demerger happens to a *demerger group of which the company or trust is a member; and
  - (b) you owned an original interest in the *head entity of the demerger group just before the demerger; and
  - (c) a *CGT event happens to the original interest and you *acquire a new interest under the demerger; and
  - (d) you do not choose a roll-over under this Subdivision for the original interest.
- (2) The adjustments you must make are the same as the adjustments you would have to make under section 125-80 for the *cost bases and *reduced cost bases of the remaining original interests and new interests just after the *CGT event if you could have chosen a roll-over under this Subdivision for the *demerger and you had done so.

---

Section 125-90

---

125-90 Cost base adjustments where no CGT event

- (1) You must adjust the *cost base and *reduced cost base of an *ownership interest you own in a company or trust if:
  - (a) a *demerger happens to a *demerger group of which the company or trust is a member; and
  - (b) you owned an original interest in the *head entity of the demerger group just before the demerger; and
  - (c) no *CGT event happens to the original interest, but you *acquire a new interest under the demerger.
- (2) The adjustments you must make are the same as the adjustments you would have to make under section 125-80 if you could have chosen a roll-over under this Subdivision for the *demerger and you had done so.

125-95 No other cost base adjustment after demerger

If you have to make adjustments to the *cost base and *reduced cost base of your *ownership interests under section 125-80, 125-85 or 125-90 because of a *demerger, no other adjustment can be made under this Act to those cost bases and reduced cost bases because of something that happens under the demerger.

Note: Those sections deal with any value shift that might occur under the demerger and avoid the need for the general value shifting regime to apply.

125-100 No further demerger relief in some cases

This Division does not apply to the remaining *ownership interests in a *demerged entity if one or more members of the *demerger group *disposed of or cancelled less than 100% of the total ownership interests of that group in the demerged entity.

Note: After the demerger, a former member of the demerger group can undertake a further demerger to which this Division can apply.

Operative provisions

125-155 Certain capital gains or losses disregarded for demerging entity

Any *capital gain or *capital loss a *demerging entity makes from *CGT event A1, *CGT event C2, *CGT event C3 or *CGT event K6 happening to its *ownership interests in a *demerged entity under a *demerger is disregarded.

Note 1: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

Note 2: This section will not apply if section 125-100 applies.

125-165 Adjusted capital loss for value shift under a demerger

A *capital loss made by an entity that was a member of a *demerger group from a *CGT event happening to a *CGT asset under a *demerger or after a demerger is reduced to the extent that the capital loss is reasonably attributable to a reduction in the *market value of the asset because of the demerger.

Example: The market value of equity or loan interests in the demerging entity may be reduced by the disposal, for inadequate value, of ownership interests of another member of the demerger group to owners of original interests in the head entity of the group.

125-170 Reduced cost base reduction if demerger asset subject to roll-over

- (1) The *reduced cost base of a *CGT asset is reduced if:
  - (a) the *market value of the asset is reduced because of a *demerger; and
  - (b) after the demerger the asset is *acquired by an entity from another entity (the transferor) in a situation where the transferor obtained a roll-over for the disposal; and
  - (c) the reduction occurred when the transferor owned the asset.
- (2) The *reduced cost base of the asset as determined under the roll-over is reduced just after the roll-over to the extent of the reduction in *market value caused by the *demerger.

Note: The rules in section 125-165 and this section deal with any value shift that might occur under the demerger and avoid the need for the general value shifting regime to apply.

- (3) If the *reduced cost base of a *CGT asset is reduced under this section because of a *demerger, no other adjustment can be made under this Act to that reduced cost base because of something that happens under the demerger.

126-5 CGT event involving spouses

- (1) There is a roll-over if a *CGT event (the trigger event) happens involving an individual (the transferor) and his or her *spouse (the transferee), or a former *spouse (also the transferee), because of:
- (a) a court order under the Family Law Act 1975 or under a *State law, *Territory law or *foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between spouses; or
  - (b) a maintenance agreement approved by a court under section 87 of the Family Law Act 1975 or a corresponding agreement approved by a court under a corresponding *foreign law; or
  - (d) something done under:
    - (i) a financial agreement made under Part VIIIA of the Family Law Act 1975 that is binding because of section 90G of that Act; or
    - (ii) a corresponding written agreement that is binding because of a corresponding foreign law; or
  - (da) something done under:
    - (i) a Part VIIIAB financial agreement (within the meaning of the Family Law Act 1975) that is binding because of section 90UJ of that Act; or
    - (ii) a corresponding written agreement that is binding because of a corresponding foreign law; or
  - (e) something done under:
    - (i) an award made in an arbitration referred to in section 13H of the Family Law Act 1975; or
    - (ii) a corresponding award made in an arbitration under a corresponding State law, Territory law or foreign law; or
  - (f) something done under a written agreement:
    - (i) that is binding because of a State law, Territory law or foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between spouses; and
    - (ii) that, because of such a law, prevents a court making an order about matters to which the agreement applies, or that is inconsistent with the terms of the agreement in relation to those matters, unless the agreement is varied or set aside.

- (2) Only these *CGT events are relevant:
- (a) CGT events A1 and B1 (a disposal case); and
  - (b) CGT events D1, D2, D3 and F1 (a creation case).
- Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.
- (3) However, there is no roll-over if:
- (a) the *CGT asset involved is *trading stock of the transferor; or
  - (b) for *CGT event B1—title in the CGT asset does not pass to the transferee at or before the end of the agreement.
- (3A) There is no roll-over because of paragraph (1)(d), (da) or (f) unless the conditions set out in section 126-25 are met.
- (4) A *capital gain or a *capital loss the transferor makes from the *CGT event is disregarded.

Consequences for the transferee (disposal case)

- (5) For a disposal case where the transferor *acquired the asset on or after 20 September 1985:
- (a) the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the transferee) is the asset's cost base (in the hands of the transferor) at the time the transferee acquired it; and
  - (b) the first element of the asset's *reduced cost base (in the hands of the transferee) is worked out similarly.

Example: Your spouse transfers land to you because of a court order under the Family Law Act 1975. Any capital gain or loss your spouse makes is disregarded.

If the land's cost base at the time you acquired it is $10,000, the first element of the land's cost base in your hands becomes $10,000.

Note 1: There are special indexation rules for roll-overs: see Division 114.

Note 2: A roll-over under this Subdivision may have an effect on the transferee's main residence exemption: see sections 118-178 and 118-180.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (6) For a disposal case where the transferor *acquired the asset before 20 September 1985, the transferee is taken to have acquired it before that day.

Note: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see Division 149.

- (7) For a disposal case where the transferor *disposed of a *collectable or *personal use asset, the transferee is taken to have *acquired one.

Note 1: Capital losses from collectables can be subtracted only from capital gains from collectables: see section 108-10.

Note 2: Capital losses from personal use assets are disregarded: see section 108-20.

Consequences for the transferee (creation case)

- (8) For a creation case, the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the transferee) is the amount applicable under this table. The first element of its *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Creation case
Event No.	Applicable amount
D1	the *incidental costs the transferor incurred that relate to the trigger event
D2	the expenditure the transferor incurred to grant the option
D3	the expenditure the transferor incurred to grant the right
F1	the expenditure the transferor incurred on the grant, renewal or extension of the lease

The expenditure can include giving property: see section 103-5.

126-15 CGT event involving company or trustee

- (1) There are the roll-over consequences in section 126-5 if the trigger event involves a company (the transferor) or a trustee (also the transferor) and a *spouse or former spouse (the transferee) of another individual because of:

Section 126-15

- (a) a court order under the Family Law Act 1975 or under a *State law, *Territory law or *foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between spouses; or
- (b) a maintenance agreement approved by a court under section 87 of the Family Law Act 1975 or a corresponding agreement approved by a court under a corresponding *foreign law; or
- (d) something done under:
  - (i) a financial agreement made under Part VIIIA of the Family Law Act 1975 that is binding because of section 90G of that Act; or
  - (ii) a corresponding written agreement that is binding because of a corresponding foreign law; or
- (da) something done under:
  - (i) a Part VIIIAB financial agreement (within the meaning of the Family Law Act 1975) that is binding because of section 90UJ of that Act; or
  - (ii) a corresponding written agreement that is binding because of a corresponding foreign law; or
- (e) something done under:
  - (i) an award made in an arbitration referred to in section 13H of the Family Law Act 1975; or
  - (ii) a corresponding award made in an arbitration under a corresponding State law, Territory law or foreign law; or
- (f) something done under a written agreement:
  - (i) that is binding because of a State law, Territory law or foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between spouses; and
  - (ii) that, because of such a law, prevents a court making an order about matters to which the agreement applies, or that is inconsistent with the terms of the agreement in relation to those matters, unless the agreement is varied or set aside.

- (2) There are other consequences if:
- (a) just before the time of the trigger event, an entity (including the transferee) owned another *CGT asset of a kind covered by this table; and
  - (b) the entity *acquired it on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (c) a *CGT event happens in relation to it.

Relevant CGT assets

---

Item	For this transferor:	The entity can own these assets:
1	Company	(a) a *share in the company; or (b) a loan to the company; or (c) an indirect interest (through one or more interposed companies or trusts) in a *share in, or loan to, the company
2	Trustee	(a) an interest or unit in the trust; or (b) a loan to the trustee; or (c) an indirect interest (through one or more interposed companies or trusts) in an interest or unit in the trust or in a loan to the trustee

Example: An individual owns all the shares in a company. The company owns land. The individual's marriage breaks down. The Family Court orders that the company transfer the land it owns to the individual's spouse. The individual later sells the shares.

- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the other asset are reduced by an amount that reasonably reflects the fall in its *market value because of the trigger event. The reduction occurs at the time of the trigger event.
- (4) If the entity owning the other asset is also the transferee, the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the other asset are then increased by any amount that is included in the entity's assessable income for any income year because of the trigger event.

Note: The reduced cost base may be modified for a roll-over happening after a demerger: see section 125-170.

- (5) There is no roll-over because of paragraph (1)(d), (da) or (f) unless the conditions set out in section 126-25 are met.

126-20 Subsequent CGT event happening to roll-over asset where transferor was a CFC or a non-resident trust

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) there is a roll-over for the trigger event under section 126-15; and
  - (b) the transferor was:
    - (i) a *CFC; or
    - (ii) a trustee of a trust that is a non-resident trust estate within the meaning of section 102AAB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 for the income year of the trigger event; and
  - (c) section 126-15 is relevant to:
    - (i) the calculation of the *attributable income of the CFC under Division 7 of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
    - (ii) the calculation of the attributable income of the trust under Subdivision D of Division 6AAA of Part III of that Act; because (ignoring the residency assumptions in that Division or Subdivision) the roll-over asset was not *taxable Australian property; and
  - (d) a subsequent *CGT event happens in relation to the roll-over asset.
- (2) In working out the amount of any *capital gain or *capital loss the transferee (or a subsequent owner of the roll-over asset if there is a series of roll-overs until there is no roll-over) makes when a subsequent *CGT event happens in relation to the asset, the modifications specified in Division 7 of Part X, or Subdivision D of Division 6AAA of Part III, of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 apply.

126-25 Conditions for the purposes of subsections 126-5(3A) and 126-15(5)

- (1) The conditions referred to in subsections 126-5(3A) and 126-15(5) are that:
  - (a) at the time of the trigger event:

---

- (i) the *spouses, or former spouses, involved are separated;
and
  - (ii) there is no reasonable likelihood of cohabitation being resumed; and
  - (b) the trigger event happened because of reasons directly connected with the breakdown of the relationship between the spouses or former spouses.
- (2) For the purposes of this section, the question whether *spouses or former spouses have separated is to be determined in the same way as it is for the purposes of section 48 of the Family Law Act 1975 (as affected by sections 49 and 50 of that Act).

Guide to Subdivision 126-B

126-40 What this Subdivision is about

A roll-over may be available for the transfer of a CGT asset between 2 companies, or the creation of a CGT asset by one company in another, if:

- (b) at least one of the companies is a foreign resident.

Operative provisions

126-45 Roll-over for members of wholly-owned group

- (1) There may be a roll-over if a *CGT event (the trigger event) happens involving a company (the originating company) and another company (the recipient company) in the circumstances set out in section 126-50.
- (2) Only these *CGT events are relevant:
  - (a) CGT events A1 and B1 (a disposal case); and
  - (b) CGT events D1, D2, D3 and F1 (a creation case).

Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

- (3) However, there is no roll-over for *CGT event B1 if title in the *CGT asset does not pass to the transferee at or before the end of the agreement.

Note: CGT event J1 can happen if the recipient company stops being a 100% subsidiary of a company in the relevant group: see section 104-175.

126-50 Requirements for roll-over

- (1) The originating company and recipient company must be members of the same *wholly-owned group at the time of the trigger event.

Note: This requirement is taken to be satisfied in the case of the transfer of the life insurance business of a life insurance company: see section 121AS of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (2) The *CGT asset involved (the roll-over asset) must not be *trading stock of the recipient company just after the time of the trigger event.
- (3) If:
  - (a) the roll-over asset is a right or *convertible interest referred to in Division 130, or an option referred to in Division 134, or an *exchangeable interest; and
  - (b) the recipient company *acquires another *CGT asset by exercising the right or option or by converting the convertible

---

- interest or in exchange for the disposal or redemption of the exchangeable interest; the other asset cannot become *trading stock of the recipient company just after the recipient company acquired it.
- (4) The *ordinary income and *statutory income of the recipient company must not be exempt from income tax because it is an *exempt entity for the income year of the trigger event.
- (5) The requirements in one of the items in this table must be satisfied.

Additional requirements

Item	At the time of the trigger event the originating company must be:	At the time of the trigger event the recipient company must be:	The roll-over asset must be taxable Australian property:
1	Either: (a) a foreign resident; or (b) an Australian resident but not a *prescribed dual resident	A foreign resident	Either: (a) just before and just after the trigger event, for a disposal case; or (b) just after that event, for a creation case
2	A foreign resident	An Australian resident but not a *prescribed dual resident	Either: (a) just before the trigger event, for a disposal case; or (b) just after that event, for a creation case

- (6) If the originating company or the recipient company is an Australian resident at the time of the trigger event, that company must:
- (a) be a *member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group at that time; or
- (b) not be a member of a *consolidatable group at that time.
- (7) If the originating company is a foreign resident, it must not have *acquired the *CGT asset described in subsection (8) because of:

---

- (a) a single *CGT event giving rise to a roll-over under a previous application of this Subdivision (as amended by the New Business Tax System (Consolidation) Act (No. 1) 2002) involving an Australian resident originating company other than the company that is the recipient company for the current application of this Subdivision; or
  - (b) a series (whether or not it is the longest possible series) of consecutive CGT events giving rise to roll-overs under previous applications of this Subdivision (as amended by the New Business Tax System (Consolidation) Act (No. 1) 2002), the earliest involving an Australian resident originating company other than the company that is the recipient company for the current application of this Subdivision.
- (8) Subsection (7) operates in relation to the *CGT asset:
- (a) that was involved in the trigger event in a disposal case; or
  - (b) because of which the originating company was able to create the CGT asset that was involved in the trigger event in a creation case.
- (9) Subsection (7) does not apply if each of the following companies mentioned in that subsection:
- (a) the recipient company for the roll-over under the current application of this Subdivision;
  - (b) the Australian resident originating company for the roll-over under:
    - (i) for paragraph (7)(a)—the previous application of this Subdivision; or
    - (ii) for paragraph (7)(b)—the earliest previous application of this Subdivision for that series of consecutive *CGT events;
- was, at the time of its roll-over, the *head company of the same *MEC group.

126-55 When there is a roll-over

Capital gain or no loss

- (1) There is a roll-over if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) either:
- (i) the trigger event would have resulted in the originating company making a *capital gain, or making no *capital loss and not being entitled to a deduction; or
  - (ii) the originating company *acquired the roll-over asset before 20 September 1985; and
- (b) the originating company and recipient company both choose to obtain it.

Note: Section 103-25 sets out when the choice must be made.

126-60 Consequences of roll-over

Consequences for the originating company in all cases

- (1) A *capital gain the originating company makes from the trigger event is disregarded.

Consequences for the recipient company (disposal case)

- (2) For a disposal case, if the originating company *acquired the roll-over asset on or after 20 September 1985:
- (a) the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the recipient company) is the asset's cost base (in the hands of the originating company) when the recipient company acquired it; and
  - (b) the first element of the asset's *reduced cost base (in the hands of the recipient company) is worked out similarly.

Note 1: There are special indexation rules for roll-overs: see Division 114.

Note 2: The reduced cost base may be modified for a roll-over happening after a demerger: see section 125-170.

- (3) If the originating company *acquired the roll-over asset before 20 September 1985, the recipient company is taken to have acquired it before that day.

Note 1: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see, for example, Division 149.

Note 2: Under section 716-855, where there have been certain roll-overs, the cost base and reduced cost base of pre-CGT assets for the purposes of Part 3-90 (Consolidated groups) are worked out by applying subsection (2), rather than subsection (3), of this section.

- (4) If the trigger event involved a *personal use asset of the originating company, the recipient company is taken to have *acquired one.

Consequences for the recipient company (creation case)

- (5) For a creation case, the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the recipient company) is the amount applicable under this table. The first element of its *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

Creation case
Event No.	Applicable amount
D1	the *incidental costs the originating company incurred that relate to the trigger event
D2	the expenditure the originating company incurred to grant the option
D3	the expenditure the originating company incurred to grant the right
F1	the expenditure the originating company incurred on the grant, renewal or extension of the lease

The expenditure can include giving property: see section 103-5.

Note: CGT event J1 may occur if the recipient company stops being a member of the wholly-owned group while still owning the roll-over asset: see section 104-175.

126-75 Originating company is a CFC

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) there is a roll-over for the trigger event under this Subdivision; and
  - (b) the originating company was a *CFC at the time of the trigger event; and
  - (c) this Subdivision is relevant to the calculation of the *attributable income of the originating company under Division 7 of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- because (ignoring the residency assumptions in that Division) the roll-over asset was not *taxable Australian property for the originating company; and
- (d) a subsequent *CGT event happens in relation to the roll-over asset.
- (2) In working out the amount of any *capital gain or *capital loss the recipient company (or a subsequent owner of the roll-over asset if there is a series of roll-overs until there is no roll-over) makes when a subsequent *CGT event happens in relation to the asset, the modifications specified in Division 7 of Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 apply.

126-85 Effect of roll-over on certain liquidations

- (1) A *capital gain a company (the holding company) makes because *shares in its *100% subsidiary are cancelled (an example of *CGT event C2: see section 104-25) on the liquidation of the subsidiary is reduced if the conditions in subsection (2) are satisfied. The reduction is worked out under subsection (3).
- (2) These conditions must be satisfied:
- (a) there must be a roll-over under this Subdivision for at least one *CGT asset that the subsidiary *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 (the CGT roll-over asset) being *disposed of by the subsidiary to the holding company in the course of the liquidation of the subsidiary;
  - (c) the disposals must either:
    - (i) be part of the liquidator's final distribution in the course of the liquidation; or
    - (ii) have occurred within 18 months of the dissolution of the subsidiary if they are part of an interim distribution in the course of the liquidation;
  - (d) the holding company must have beneficially owned all of the shares in the subsidiary for the whole period from the time of the disposal, or the first disposal, of a CGT roll-over asset until the cancellation of the shares;
  - (e) the *market value of the CGT roll-over asset or assets must comprise at least part of the *capital proceeds for the cancellation of the shares in the subsidiary that are beneficially owned by the holding company;

---

- (f) one or more of the shares that were cancelled (the post-CGT shares) must have been acquired by the holding company on or after 20 September 1985.

- (3) The reduction of the *capital gain is worked out in this way.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out (disregarding this section) the sum of the *capital gains and the sum of the *capital losses the holding company would make on the cancellation of its shares in the subsidiary.

Step 2. Work out (disregarding this Subdivision):

- (a) the sum of the *capital gains the subsidiary would make on the *disposal of its CGT roll-over assets to the holding company; and
- (b) the sum of the *capital losses it would make except for Subdivision 170-D on the disposal of its *CGT assets to the holding company; in the course of the liquidation assuming the *capital proceeds were the assets' *market values at the time of the disposal.

Step 3. If, after subtracting the sum of the *capital losses from the sum of the *capital gains, there is an overall capital gain from step 1 and an overall capital gain from step 2, then continue. Otherwise there is no adjustment.

Step 4. Express the number of post-CGT shares as a fraction of the total number of shares the holding company owned in the subsidiary.

Step 5. Multiply the overall *capital gain from Step 2 by the fraction from Step 4.

---

Step 6. Reduce the overall *capital gain from Step 1 by the amount from Step 5. The result is the *capital gain the holding company makes from the cancellation of its shares in the subsidiary.

Note: This Subdivision is modified in calculating the attributable income of a CFC: see section 419 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Subdivision 126-C—Changes to trust deeds

Guide to Subdivision 126-C

126-125 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out when there is a roll-over for a CGT event that happens because of an amendment to or replacement of the trust deed of a complying approved deposit fund, a complying superannuation fund or a fund that accepts worker entitlement contributions.

Table of sections

126-130	Changes to trust deeds
126-135	Consequences of roll-over

126-130 Changes to trust deeds

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
  - (a) *CGT event E1 or E2 happens in relation to a *CGT asset because the trust deed of a *complying approved deposit fund or *complying superannuation fund is amended or replaced; and
  - (b) the amendment or replacement is done for the purpose of:
    - (i) complying with the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993; or
    - (ii) enabling a *complying approved deposit fund to become a *complying superannuation fund; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 126-135

---

- (c) the assets and members of the fund do not change as a consequence of the amendment or replacement.

Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

(2) There is a roll-over if:

- (a) *CGT event E1 or E2 happens in relation to a *CGT asset because the trust deed of a fund is amended or replaced; and
- (b) the amendment or replacement is done for the purpose of having the fund approved as an approved worker entitlement fund under subsection 58PB(2) of the Fringe Benefits Tax Assessment Act 1986; and
- (c) the assets and members of the fund do not change as a consequence of the amendment or replacement.

Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

126-135 Consequences of roll-over

- (1) A *capital gain or *capital loss made from the *CGT event is disregarded.
- (2) If the fund that owned the *CGT asset just before the time of the *CGT event *acquired it before 20 September 1985, the asset retains its status as a *pre-CGT asset in the hands of the fund that owned it after the time of the event.
- (3) If the fund that owned the *CGT asset just before the time of the *CGT event *acquired it on or after 20 September 1985:
  - (a) the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the fund that owned the asset after the time of the event) is its cost base just before that time; and
  - (b) the first element of the asset's *reduced cost base asset is worked out similarly; and
  - (c) the fund that owned the asset after the time of the event is taken to have acquired the asset at that time.

126-140 CGT event involving small superannuation funds

Payment splits under Family Law Act

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
- (a) an interest in a *small superannuation fund is subject to a *payment split; and
  - (b) the *non-member spouse in relation to that interest serves a waiver notice under section 90MZA of the Family Law Act 1975 in respect of that interest; and
  - (c) as a result of serving the notice, the trustee (the transferor) of the fund transfers a *CGT asset to the trustee (the transferee) of another *complying superannuation fund for the benefit of the non-member spouse.

Note: CGT event E2 may apply to the transfer.

Payment splits under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations

- (2) There is also a roll-over if:
- (a) an interest in a *small superannuation fund (the first fund) is subject to a *payment split; and
  - (b) as a result of the payment split, there is a transfer or roll over of benefits, for the benefit of the *non-member spouse, from the first fund to another *complying superannuation fund; and
  - (c) the transfer is under provisions of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Regulations 1994 dealing with superannuation interests that are subject to payment splits; and
  - (d) in order to give effect to the payment split, the trustee (the transferor) of the first fund transfers a *CGT asset to the trustee (the transferee) of the other fund for the benefit of the non-member spouse.

Note: CGT event E2 may apply to the transfer.

---

---

Transfer of own interest in a small superannuation fund

- (2A) There is also a roll-over if:
- (a) an individual has an interest in a *small superannuation fund (the first fund); and
  - (b) the individual's *spouse, or former spouse, also has an interest in the first fund; and
  - (c) the trustee (the transferor) of the first fund transfers a *CGT asset to the trustee (the transferee) of another *complying superannuation fund for the benefit of the individual; and
  - (d) the transfer is in accordance with an award, order or agreement mentioned in subsection (2B); and
  - (e) if the transfer is part of a series of transfers in accordance with the award, order or agreement—the individual will no longer have an interest in the first fund when the series of transfers is complete; and
  - (f) if the transfer is not part of a series of transfers in accordance with the award, order or agreement—as a result of the transfer, the individual no longer has an interest in the first fund; and
  - (g) there has not been a roll-over under subsection (1) or (2) or this subsection in relation to the transfer of another CGT asset from the first fund, where the transfer was:
    - (i) made because of the award, order or agreement; and
    - (ii) for the benefit of that spouse, or former spouse; and
  - (h) if the transfer is in accordance with an agreement mentioned in paragraph (2B)(d), (da) or (e), the conditions in subsection (2C) are satisfied.

Note: CGT event E2 may apply to the transfer.

- (2B) The awards, orders and agreements are:
- (a) an award made in an arbitration referred to in section 13H of the Family Law Act 1975 or a corresponding award made in an arbitration under a corresponding *State law, *Territory law or *foreign law; or
  - (b) a court order made under section 79, subsection 90AE(2) or 90AF(2) or section 90SM of the Family Law Act 1975; or

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) a court order made under a State law, Territory law or foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between *spouses that corresponds to an order made under subsection 90AE(2) or 90AF(2) or section 90SM of the Family Law Act 1975; or
  - (d) a financial agreement made under Part VIIIA of the Family Law Act 1975 that is binding because of section 90G of that Act or a corresponding written agreement that is binding because of a corresponding foreign law; or
  - (da) a Part VIIIAB financial agreement (within the meaning of the Family Law Act 1975) that is binding because of section 90UJ of that Act; or
  - (e) a written agreement:
    - (i) that is binding under a State law, Territory law or foreign law relating to breakdowns of relationships between spouses; and
    - (ii) that, because of such a law, prevents a court making an order about matters to which the agreement applies, or that is inconsistent with the terms of the agreement in relation to those matters, unless the agreement is varied or set aside.
- (2C) The conditions are that:
- (a) at the time of the transfer:
    - (i) the *spouses, or former spouses, involved are separated; and
    - (ii) there is no reasonable likelihood of cohabitation being resumed; and
  - (b) the transfer happened because of reasons directly connected with the breakdown of the relationship between the spouses or former spouses.
- (2D) For the purposes of subsection (2C), the question whether *spouses, or former spouses, have separated is to be determined in the same way as it is for the purposes of section 48 of the Family Law Act 1975 (as affected by sections 49 and 50 of that Act).

Roll-over consequences

- (3) A *capital gain or *capital loss the transferor makes from the transfer of the asset is disregarded.
- (4) If the transferor *acquired the asset on or after 20 September 1985:
  - (a) the first element of the asset's *cost base (in the hands of the transferee) is the asset's cost base (in the hands of the transferor) at the time the transferee acquired it; and
  - (b) the first element of the asset's *reduced cost base (in the hands of the transferee) is worked out similarly.
- (5) If the transferor *acquired the asset before 20 September 1985, the transferee is taken to have acquired it before that day.

Note: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see Division 149.

Subdivision 126-E—Entitlement to shares after demutualisation and scrip for scrip roll-over

Guide to Subdivision 126-E

126-185 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out when there is a roll-over for a CGT event that happens because a beneficiary becomes absolutely entitled to a share as against the trustee where the trustee obtained a roll-over under Subdivision 124-M following a demutualisation.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 126-190 When there is a roll-over
- 126-195 Consequences of roll-over

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Operative provisions

126-190 When there is a roll-over

There is a roll-over if:

- (a) an insurance company demutualises; and
- (b) the trustee of a trust holds a *share issued under the demutualisation in trust for an entity to whom the share would have been issued if the entity could, and were in a position to, prove the entity's entitlement to the share; and
- (c) the trustee obtains a roll-over under Subdivision 124-M of this Act (Scrip for scrip roll-over) for the share because the trustee exchanges the share for a share (the replacement share) in another company (whether or not the trustee receives something in addition to the replacement share); and
- (d) a *CGT event happens in relation to the replacement share because the entity becomes absolutely entitled to the share as against the trustee.

Note: This Subdivision does not apply to the demutualisation of a private health insurer: see section 315-160.

126-195 Consequences of roll-over

- (1) A *capital gain or *capital loss the trustee makes from the *CGT event is disregarded.
- (2) The first element of the *cost base of the replacement share for the entity is the cost base of the replacement share in the hands of the trustee just before the *CGT event happened. The first element of the *reduced cost base of the replacement share for the entity is worked out similarly.

Example: The JB mutual insurance company demutualises, issuing shares in JB Limited to its policyholders. It is unable to locate some of its policyholders so it establishes a trust and issues shares to the trustee on behalf of those policyholders. Steve is one of those policyholders (being potentially entitled to 50 shares).

JB Limited is taken over by PVDM Limited. Members of JB are issued with 2 shares in PVDM for each share they have in JB. The trustee obtains a roll-over under Subdivision 124-M for the exchange. Each PVDM share held by the trustee has a cost base and reduced cost base of $15.

Section 126-200

---

Steve writes to the trustee and proves his entitlement to the shares held in trust for him.

There is a roll-over under this Subdivision so that any capital gain or loss made by the trustee is disregarded. The first element of the cost base and reduced cost base of each of Steve's PVDM shares is $15.

Subdivision 126-F—Transfer of assets of superannuation funds to meet licensing requirements

Guide to Subdivision 126-F

126-200 What this Subdivision is about

There is a roll-over for the transfer of assets of a superannuation fund to one or more other superannuation funds that is made between 30 June 2004 and 1 July 2006 because the trustee of the first fund will not be licensed by 1 July 2006 and the other funds have or will have licensed trustees.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 126-205 Object of this Subdivision
- 126-210 When there is a roll-over and what its effects are

Operative provisions

126-205 Object of this Subdivision

The object of this Subdivision is to encourage compliance with the requirements of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 for the licensing of trustees of registrable superannuation entities.

---

126-210 When there is a roll-over and what its effects are

When there is a roll-over

- (1) There is a roll-over if:
  - (a) after 30 June 2004 and before 1 July 2006, one or more *CGT events happen because the trustee (the first RSE trustee) of a registrable superannuation entity, as defined in section 10 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, ceases to hold all its *CGT assets; and
  - (b) because of the cessation, CGT assets (the identical assets) that, together, are identical to all the first RSE trustee's CGT assets just before the CGT events start to be held after 30 June 2004 and before 1 July 2006 by:
    - (i) the trustee (the successor RSE trustee) of another such registrable superannuation entity; or
    - (ii) the trustees (each of whom is a successor RSE trustee) of 2 or more other such registrable superannuation entities;(whether or not all the identical assets were the first RSE trustee's assets just before the CGT events); and
  - (c) the cessation and starting occur because:
    - (i) it is reasonable to assume that the first RSE trustee will not have an RSE licence under Part 2A of that Act by 1 July 2006; and
    - (ii) each successor RSE trustee has such an RSE licence, or it is reasonable to assume that each successor RSE trustee will have such an RSE licence by 1 July 2006.

Note: Under section 10 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, registrable superannuation entity is defined as covering certain kinds of superannuation funds, approved deposit funds and pooled superannuation trusts.

Effects of the roll-over

- (2) A *capital gain or *capital loss the first RSE trustee makes from each of the *CGT events is disregarded.
- (3) For a successor RSE trustee, the first element of the *cost base of each of the identical assets the successor RSE trustee holds is the cost base of the corresponding asset for the first RSE trustee at the time of the relevant *CGT event.

---

- (4) For a successor RSE trustee, the first element of the *reduced cost base of each of the identical assets the successor RSE trustee holds is the reduced cost base of the corresponding asset for the first RSE trustee at the time of the relevant *CGT event.

Example: There is a roll-over if the first RSE trustee had a block of land and 10,000 units in a unit trust and the following events happen on 30 June 2006 because the first RSE trustee does not have an RSE licence but each of the 2 successor RSE trustees (successor RSE trustee A and successor RSE trustee B) does:

- (a) the first RSE trustee transfers the block to successor RSE trustee A;
- (b) the first RSE trustee's units in the unit trust are cancelled at the first RSE trustee's request;
- (c) 10,000 identical units in the unit trust are issued to successor RSE trustee B because of the cancellation.

The first RSE trustee disregards any capital gain or capital loss from the transfer of the block or the cancellation of the units.

The first element of successor RSE trustee A's cost base and reduced cost base for the block is the same as the first RSE trustee's cost base and reduced cost base respectively for the block at the time of the transfer.

The first element of successor RSE trustee B's cost base and reduced cost base for the units issued to successor RSE trustee B is the same as the first RSE trustee's cost base and reduced cost base respectively for its units at the time they were cancelled.

- (5) A successor RSE trustee that starts to hold one of the identical assets because of the cessation is taken to have *acquired the asset before 20 September 1985 if the first RSE trustee acquired the corresponding asset before that day.

Note 1: A capital gain or loss you make from a CGT asset you acquired before 20 September 1985 is generally disregarded: see Division 104. This exemption is removed in some situations: see Division 149.

Note 2: Subsection (5) cannot apply if the first RSE trustee was the trustee of a complying superannuation fund, complying approved deposit fund or pooled superannuation trust. This is because section 295-90 treats such a trustee as having acquired on 30 June 1988 any assets it owned on that day.

---

No roll-over if successor RSE trustee not licensed

- (6) A roll-over under this section is taken never to have happened if each successor RSE trustee does not have an RSE licence under Part 2A of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 by 1 July 2006.

---

Division 128—Effect of death

Guide to Division 128

128-1 What this Division is about

This Division sets out what happens when you die and a CGT asset you owned just before dying devolves to your legal personal representative or passes to a beneficiary in your estate.

It also contains rules about what happens when a joint tenant dies.

General rules

- 128-10 Capital gain or loss when you die is disregarded
128-15 Effect on the legal personal representative or beneficiary
128-20 When does an asset pass to a beneficiary?
128-25 The beneficiary is a trustee of a superannuation fund etc.

Special rules for joint tenants

- 128-50 Joint tenants

General rules

128-10 Capital gain or loss when you die is disregarded

When you die, a *capital gain or *capital loss from a *CGT event that results for a *CGT asset you owned just before dying is disregarded.

Note 1: Section 104-215 sets out an exception to this rule if the CGT asset passes to a beneficiary in your estate who is:

- an exempt entity; or
- the trustee of a complying superannuation entity; or
- a foreign resident.

Note 2: There is a special indexation rule for deceased estates: see section 114-10.

---

128-15 Effect on the legal personal representative or beneficiary

- (1) This section sets out what happens if a *CGT asset you owned just before dying:
- (a) devolves to your *legal personal representative; or
  - (b) *passes to a beneficiary in your estate.

Note 1: Section 128-25 has different rules if the asset passes to a beneficiary in your estate who is the trustee of a complying superannuation entity.

Note 2: If the beneficiary is an exempt entity, Division 57 of Schedule 2D to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 has rules about exempt entities that become taxable. It sets out what the entity is taken to have purchased its assets for when it becomes taxable.

Note 3: If the beneficiary is a foreign resident, Subdivision 855-B sets out what happens if the beneficiary becomes an Australian resident. The beneficiary is taken to have acquired each asset owned just before becoming an Australian resident for the market value of the asset at that time.

- (2) The *legal personal representative, or beneficiary, is taken to have *acquired the asset on the day you died.

Special rule for legal personal representative

- (3) Any *capital gain or *capital loss the *legal personal representative makes if the asset *passes to a beneficiary in your estate is disregarded.

Cost base rules for both

- (4) This table sets out the modifications to the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *CGT asset in the hands of the *legal personal representative or beneficiary.

Section 128-15

Modifications to cost base and reduced cost base

Item	For this kind of CGT asset:	The first element of the asset's cost base is:	The first element of the asset's reduced cost base is:
1	One you *acquired on or after 20 September 1985, except one covered by item 2, 3 or 3A	the *cost base of the asset on the day you died	the *reduced cost base of the asset on the day you died
2	One that was *trading stock in your hands just before you died	the amount worked out under section 70-105	the amount worked out under section 70-105
3	A *dwelling that was your main residence just before you died, and was not then being used for the *purpose of producing assessable income	the *market value of the *dwelling on the day you died	the market value of the *dwelling on the day you died
3A	If you were a foreign resident just before you died—an asset that was not *taxable Australian property just before you died, except one covered by item 2	the *market value of the asset on the day you died	the market value of the asset on the day you died
4	One you *acquired before 20 September 1985	the *market value of the asset on the day you died	the market value of the asset on the day you died

Note 1: Section 70-105 has a general rule that the person on whom the trading stock devolves is taken to have bought it for its market value. There are some exceptions though.

Note 2: Subdivision 118-B contains other rules about dwellings acquired through deceased estates.

Note 3: The rule in item 3 in the table does not apply to a dwelling that devolved to your legal personal representative, or passed to a beneficiary in your estate, on or before 7.30 pm on 20 August 1996: see section 128-15 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Further rule for a beneficiary

- (5) A beneficiary can include in the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the asset any expenditure that the *legal personal representative would have been able to include at the time the asset *passes to the beneficiary. The beneficiary can include the expenditure on the day the representative incurred it.

Example: You die on 1 May 1995 owning land. On 15 June 1995 your legal personal representative pays $500 council rates for the land.

On 31 July 1995 your representative transfers it to a beneficiary in your estate, who is taken to have acquired it on 1 May 1995.

The beneficiary can include the $500 in the third element of the cost base of the land. It is included on 15 June 1995.

Collectables and personal use assets

- (6) The *legal personal representative or beneficiary is taken to have *acquired a *collectable or a *personal use asset if:
- (a) you acquired it on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) it was a *collectable or a *personal use asset (as appropriate) in your hands when you died.

Note 1: Capital losses from collectables can be used only to reduce capital gains from collectables: see section 108-10.

Note 2: Capital losses from personal use assets are disregarded: see section 108-20.

128-20 When does an asset pass to a beneficiary?

- (1) A *CGT asset passes to a beneficiary in your estate if the beneficiary becomes the owner of the asset:
- (a) under your will, or that will as varied by a court order; or
  - (b) by operation of an intestacy law, or such a law as varied by a court order; or
  - (c) because it is appropriated to the beneficiary by your legal personal representative in satisfaction of a pecuniary legacy or some other interest or share in your estate; or
  - (d) under a deed of arrangement if:
    - (i) the beneficiary entered into the deed to settle a claim to participate in the distribution of your estate; and

---

---

---

- (ii) any consideration given by the beneficiary for the asset consisted only of the variation or waiver of a claim to one or more other *CGT assets that formed part of your estate.

(It does not matter whether the asset is transmitted directly to the beneficiary or is transferred to the beneficiary by your *legal personal representative.)

- (2) A *CGT asset does not pass to a beneficiary in your estate if the beneficiary becomes the owner of the asset because your *legal personal representative transfers it under a power of sale.

128-25 The beneficiary is a trustee of a superannuation fund etc.

- (1) This section has rules about *cost base and *reduced cost base that are relevant if you die and a *CGT asset you owned just before dying *passes to a beneficiary in your estate who (when the asset passes) is the trustee of a *complying superannuation entity.

Note: A capital gain or loss is also made: see section 104-215.

- (2) The beneficiary is taken to have *acquired the asset on the day you died. The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset is its *market value on that day.
- (3) The beneficiary can include in the *cost base or *reduced cost base of the asset any expenditure that your *legal personal representative would have been able to include at the time the asset *passes to the beneficiary. The beneficiary can include the expenditure on the day the representative incurred it.

Special rules for joint tenants

128-50 Joint tenants

- (1) This section has rules that are relevant if a *CGT asset is owned by joint tenants and one of them dies.
- (2) The survivor is taken to have *acquired (on the day the individual died) the individual's interest in the asset. If there are 2 or more survivors, they are taken to have acquired that interest in equal shares.

---

Note: Joint tenants are treated as owning a CGT asset in equal shares: see section 108-7.

- (3) If the individual who died *acquired his or her interest in the asset on or after 20 September 1985, the first element of the *cost base of the interest each survivor is taken to have acquired is:

Cost base of the interest of the individual who died
(worked out on the day the individual died)

Number of survivors

The first element of the *reduced cost base of the interest each survivor is taken to have *acquired is worked out similarly.

Example: In 1999 2 individuals buy land for $50,000 as joint tenants. Each one is taken to have a 50% interest in it. On 1 May 2001 one of them dies.

The survivor is taken to have acquired the interest of the individual who died on 1 May 2001. If the cost base of that interest on that day is $27,000, the survivor is taken to have acquired that interest for that amount.

- (4) If the individual who died *acquired his or her interest in the asset before 20 September 1985, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the interest each survivor is taken to have acquired is:

*Market value of the interest of the individual who died
(worked out on the day the individual died)

Number of survivors

Note: There is a special indexation rule for surviving joint tenants: see section 114-10.

Operative provisions

130-20 Issue of bonus shares or units

- (1) This section sets out what happens if:
  - (a) you own *shares in a company or units in a unit trust (the original equities); and
  - (b) the company issues other shares, or the trustee issues other units, (the bonus equities) to you in relation to the original equities.

- (2) The first element of your *cost base and *reduced cost base for the bonus equities includes:
- (a) for *shares—any part of the shares that are a *dividend (or taken to be a dividend under subsection 45(2) or 45C(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); and
  - (b) for units—any part of the other units that are or will be included in your assessable income.

You are taken to have *acquired the bonus equities when they were issued.

Note 1: There are special indexation rules for cost base modifications: see Division 114.

Note 2: The amounts of calls you pay on partly-paid equities will also form part of the first element of their cost base and reduced cost base.

Note 3: There is a special rule for shares issued on or before 30 June 1987: see subsection 130-20(2) of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note 4: Certain capital distributions are taken to be dividends under subsections 45(2) and 45C(1) if a company has entered into a capital streaming or dividend substitution arrangement.

- (3) This table sets out what happens if:
- (a) none of the shares are a *dividend (or taken to be a dividend under subsection 45(2) or 45C(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); or
  - (b) none of the other units are or will be included in your assessable income.

1	You *acquire the original equities on or after 20 September 1985	You *acquired the original equities	You apportion the first element of your *cost base and *reduced cost base for the original equities in a reasonable way over both the original and bonus equities

Note 2: There is a special rule for bonus equities issued on or before 1 pm on 10 December 1986 that affects item 2 of the table: see subsection 130-20(3) of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

- (3A) If only a part of a capital benefit that is bonus equities is a *dividend, or is taken to be a dividend under subsection 45(2) or 45C(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, you apportion the first element of your *cost base and *reduced cost base for the original equities in a reasonable way over both the original equities and the bonus equities.

Special rule for unit trusts

- (4) The modifications in this section are not made if, for the income year in which the bonus equities are issued, the unit trust is:
- (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of section 102J of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or

  - (b) the condition in subsection (4) is satisfied.
- The payment can include giving property: see section 103-5.

Modifications on exercise of rights

Item	In this situation:	The modification is...
3	You exercise rights issued to you to *acquire the *shares, units or options, and you acquired the original shares or *convertible interests, or the original units or convertible interests, before 20 September 1985.	The first element of your *cost base for the shares, units or options is the sum of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) the *market value of the rights when they were exercised; and</li> <li>(b) any amount paid to exercise the rights, except to the extent that the amount is represented in the paragraph (a) amount; and</li> <li>(c) all the amounts to be added under subsection (6A).</li> </ul> The first element of their *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

(6A) An amount is to be added under this subsection if a *capital gain made from the right has been reduced under section 118-20. This is so even though a capital gain that is made on exercise is disregarded under subsection (7). The amount to be added is the amount of the reduction.

Note: For example, a capital gain made on the exercise of the right under section 118-20 may be reduced because an amount is included in the owner's assessable income under subsection 26BB(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about assessing a gain on disposal or redemption of a traditional security) or section 159GS of that Act (about balancing adjustments on transfer of a qualifying security).

(7) A *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the exercise of the rights is disregarded.

Note 1: The exercise of the rights would be an example of CGT event C2 (about a CGT asset ending).

Note 2: There are transitional rules for some rights: see section 130-40 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note 3: The effect of this Subdivision is modified in 2 cases by sections 102AAZBA (about non-resident trusts) and 414 (about CFC's) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

130-45 Timing rules

Acquisition of rights

- (1) If you *acquired the rights from the company or trustee, you are taken to have acquired the rights when you acquired the original shares or interests or the original units or interests.

Acquisition of shares, units or options on exercise of rights

- (2) You are taken to have *acquired the new *shares, units or options when you exercise the rights.

130-50 Application to options

This Subdivision applies to options in the same way that it applies to rights.

Subdivision 130-C—Convertible interests

130-60 Shares or units acquired by converting a convertible interest

- (1) This table sets out the modification to the rules about *cost base and *reduced cost base that happens if you *acquire *shares, or units in a unit trust, by converting a *convertible interest.

Conversion of a convertible interest

Item	In this situation:	The modification is...
3	You *acquire units in a unit trust by converting a *convertible interest (except one that is a *traditional security) that was issued by the trustee of the unit trust after 28 January 1988.	The first element of the *cost base of the units is the sum of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>(a) the cost base of the convertible interest at the time of conversion; and</li> <li>(b) any amount paid to convert the convertible interest, except to the extent that the amount is represented in the paragraph (a) amount; and</li> <li>(c) all the amounts to be added under subsection (1A).</li> </ul> The first element of their *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

(1A) An amount is to be added under this subsection if a *capital gain from the *convertible interest has been reduced under section 118-20. This is so even though a capital gain that is made on conversion is disregarded under subsection (3). The amount to be added is the amount of the reduction.

Note: For example, a capital gain made on the conversion under section 118-20 may be reduced because an amount is included in the owner's assessable income under subsection 26BB(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (about assessing a gain on disposal or redemption of a traditional security) or section 159GS of that Act (about balancing adjustments on transfer of a qualifying security).

(1B) The payment to convert the convertible interest can include giving property (see section 103-5).

(2) You are taken to have *acquired the shares or units when the conversion of the convertible interest happened.

(3) A *capital gain or *capital loss you make from converting the convertible interest is disregarded.

Note 1: The conversion of the convertible interest would be an example of CGT event C2 (about a CGT asset ending).

Note 2: There are transitional rules for some convertible notes: see section 130-60 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Subdivision 130-D—Employee share schemes

Table of sections

130-80	Share or right acquired under employee share scheme
130-83	Qualifying shares and qualifying rights
130-85	Share or right acquired under employee share scheme involving your associate
130-90	Share or right acquired under an employee share trust—beneficiary absolutely entitled
130-95	Share or right acquired under an employee share trust—100% takeover or restructure
130-97	Stapled securities

130-80 Share or right acquired under employee share scheme

- (1) This section sets out what happens if you:
- (a) *acquire a *share or right at a discount (within the meaning of Subdivision C of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) under an *employee share scheme; or
  - (b) acquire a share or right that, because of section 139DQ of that Act, is treated, for the purposes of Division 13A of Part III of that Act, as if it were a continuation of a share or right acquired under an employee share scheme.

Note: The fact that you made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 does not prevent a share or right from being treated as a continuation of a share or right acquired under an employee share scheme.

- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *share or right is its *market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) when you *acquired it.
- (3) However, if:
- (a) the *share or right was *acquired from an *employee share trust; and
  - (b) if the share is a *qualifying share or the right is a *qualifying right—the acquirer made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;

the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or right is its *market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) when you first acquired a beneficial interest in the share or right.

Note: Section 130-80 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 may affect the cost base or reduced cost base for shares or rights held by a trust at 5 pm (by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory) on 27 February 2001.

- (4) This section does not apply to a *share or right if:
- (a) you become an Australian resident; and
  - (aa) you are not a *temporary resident immediately after you become an Australian resident; and
  - (b) you owned, or held a beneficial interest in, the share or right just before you became an Australian resident; and
  - (c) the share or right is not *taxable Australian property; and
  - (d) either:
    - (i) the share or right is not a *qualifying share or a *qualifying right; or
    - (ii) you have made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 covering the share or right.

Note 1: Sections 768-955 and 855-45 deal with shares or rights that are not taxable Australian property.

Note 2: Paragraph (aa)—see also section 768-920.

130-83 Qualifying shares and qualifying rights

- (1) There is an exception if:
- (a) the *share is a *qualifying share or the right is a *qualifying right; and
  - (b) you do not make an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 covering the share or right.

Note: If you do not make an election of this kind, the amount is included in your assessable income for the income year in which the cessation time occurs: for example, when restrictions on disposing of the share cease.

Section 130-83

(1A) If:

- (a) a *CGT event happens in relation to the *share or right (the original share or right); and
- (b) it happens in connection with an acquisition (within the meaning of Subdivision C of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of another share or right (the matching share or right); and
- (c) under section 139DQ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 the matching share or right is treated, for the purposes of Division 13A of Part III of that Act, as if it were a continuation of the original share or right; any *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the CGT event is disregarded.

- (2) If *CGT event A1, C2, E1, E2, E5 or I1 happens in relation to the *share or right (or any *share you *acquired by exercising the right) in an arm's length transaction at the *cessation time, or within 30 days after that time, any *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the event is disregarded.

Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.

- (3) If that event does not happen in relation to the *share or right (or any *share you *acquired by exercising the right) in an arm's length transaction at the *cessation time, or within 30 days after that time, the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or right is its market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) at that time.

- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply to a *share or right if:

- (a) you become an Australian resident; and
- (aa) you are not a *temporary resident immediately after you become an Australian resident; and
- (b) you owned, or held a beneficial interest in, the share or right just before you became an Australian resident; and
- (c) the share or right is not *taxable Australian property; and
- (d) the cessation time for the share or right had occurred before you became an Australian resident.

Note: Sections 768-955 and 855-45 deal with shares or rights that are not taxable Australian property.

- (a) you *acquire a *share or right at a discount (within the meaning of Subdivision C of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) under an *employee share scheme; and
  - (b) an amount is included, under section 139D of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, in:
    - (i) your *associate's assessable income; or
    - (ii) the assessable income of a company (an affiliate company) where you own an indirect interest in a *share in the company or in a right to acquire a share in it through one or more interposed companies, partnerships or trusts.
- (2) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *share or right is its market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) when you *acquired it.
- (3) However, if:
- (a) the *share or right was *acquired from an employee share trust; and
  - (b) if the share is a *qualifying share or the right is a *qualifying right—the acquirer made an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
- the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or right is its market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) when you first acquired a beneficial interest in the share or right.
- Note: Section 130-80 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 may affect the cost base or reduced cost base for shares or rights held by a trust at 5 pm (by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory) on 27 February 2001.

  - (1A) The beneficiary must be:

    - (b) an *associate or affiliate company of such an individual; or
    - (c) an individual who is engaged in foreign service (within the meaning of section 139GBA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936), or an *associate or affiliate company of such an individual.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the share or right must, because of section 139DQ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, be a share or right that is treated, for the purposes of Division 13A of Part III of that Act, as if it were a continuation of a share or right acquired under an employee share scheme;
- (c) if the share was acquired as a result of exercising a right, the right must, because of section 139DQ of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, be a right that is treated, for the purposes of Division 13A of Part III of that Act, as if it were a continuation of a right acquired under an employee share scheme.
- (4) The * individual, *associate or affiliate company must not have *acquired the *share or right for more than the *cost base of the share or right (in the hands of the trustee) at the time of the transfer.
- Note: There are transitional rules for some shares or rights acquired under employee share schemes: see Subdivision 130-D of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.
- (5) This subsection covers a *withholding payment covered by any of the provisions in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 listed in the table.

  - (b) is a right to *acquire a stapled security (within the meaning of that Division).
- (7) For the purposes of that application, a *withholding payment from a stapled entity (within the meaning of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) for the stapled security is taken to be a withholding payment from the company.

130-95 Share or right acquired under an employee share trust—
100% takeover or restructure

If:

- (a) a *CGT event happens in relation to a *share or right (the original share or right); and
  - (b) it happens in connection with an acquisition (within the meaning of Subdivision C of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of another share or right (the matching share or right) by the beneficiary of an *employee share trust; and

130-97 Stapled securities

- (1) This section sets out what happens if you *acquire a stapled security (within the meaning of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) that:

- (i) a qualifying share acquired under an *employee share scheme; or
  - (ii) another stapled security (within the meaning of that Division) that is treated as a qualifying share because of Subdivision DB of that Division.
- (2) The provisions (the applied provisions) of Part 3-1, this Part (except this section), Subdivision 768-R and Division 855 apply, with the modifications set out in subsections (3), (4) and (5), in relation to each *CGT asset that forms part of the stapled security in the same way as the applied provisions apply in relation to:
- (a) a CGT asset that is a *share *acquired under an *employee share scheme; and
  - (b) a CGT asset that is a *qualifying share.
- Note 1: The assets that form part of a stapled security are an ordinary share and one or more other interests that are either shares or units in a unit trust: see section 139GCD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- Note 2: There are modifications to this application in subsections 115-30(1A) and (1B).
- (3) The applied provisions apply as if an election under section 139E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 in relation to the stapled security were an election in relation to each of the assets.
- (4) The applied provisions apply as if the *cessation time for the stapled security were the cessation time for each of the assets.

Modification relating to cost base and reduced cost base

- (5) Subsection (6) applies for the purposes of the application, in relation to a *CGT asset that forms part of a stapled security, of a provision of this Subdivision providing that the first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a *share is its market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) at a time.
- (6) The first element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a *CGT asset that forms part of the stapled security is so much of the market value (worked out under sections 139FA to 139FF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of the stapled security at that time as is reasonably attributable to the asset.

Exchange of an exchangeable interest

Item	In this situation:	The rules about cost base and reduced cost base are modified in this way...
1	You *acquire shares in a company in exchange for the disposal of an *exchangeable interest, and the disposal of the exchangeable interest was to: (a) the issuer of the exchangeable interest; or (b) a *connected entity of the issuer of the exchangeable interest.	The first element of the *cost base of the shares is the sum of: (a) the cost base of the exchangeable interest at the time of the disposal; and (b) any amount paid for the exchange, except to the extent that the amount is represented in the paragraph (a) amount; and (c) all the amounts to be added under subsection (2).  The first element of their *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
2	You *acquire shares in a company in exchange for the redemption of an *exchangeable interest.	The first element of the *cost base of the shares is the sum of: (a) the cost base of the exchangeable interest at the time of the redemption; and (b) any amount paid for the exchange, except to the extent that the amount is represented in the paragraph (a) amount; and (c) all the amounts to be added under subsection (2).  The first element of their *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.

- (2) An amount is to be added under this subsection if a *capital gain on the disposal or redemption of the exchangeable interest has been reduced under section 118-20. This is so even though a capital gain that is made on the disposal or redemption of the exchangeable interest is disregarded under subsection (4). The amount to be added is the amount of the reduction.

Section 130-105

- (3) The payment for the exchange can include giving property (see section 103-5).

(a) you are taken to have acquired the shares when the disposal of the exchangeable interest happened; and (b) a *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the disposal of the exchangeable interest is disregarded.
2	You *acquire shares in a company in exchange for the redemption of an *exchangeable interest.	(a) you are taken to have acquired the shares when the redemption of the exchangeable interest happened; and (b) a *capital gain or *capital loss you make from the redemption of the exchangeable interest is disregarded.

132-10	Grant of a long-term lease
132-15	Lessee of land acquires reversionary interest of lessor

132-1 Lessee incurs expenditure to get lease term varied or waived

If the lessee of property incurs expenditure in obtaining the consent of the lessor to vary or waive a term of the lease, the fourth element of the lease's *cost base and *reduced cost base includes the amount of that expenditure.

The expenditure can include giving property: see section 103-5.

132-5 Lessor pays lessee for improvements

The fourth element of the *cost base and *reduced cost base of property that was subject to a lease includes any payment (because of the lease expiring or being surrendered or forfeited) by the lessor to the lessee for expenditure of a capital nature incurred by the lessee in making improvements to the lease property.

The payment or expenditure can include giving property: see section 103-5.

132-10 Grant of a long-term lease

Section 132-15

- (b) the *cost of any *depreciating asset for which the lessor has deducted or can deduct an amount for the asset's decline in value under this Act.

Note: Subdivision 108-D sets out when a building, structure or improvement is treated as a separate CGT asset.

- (3) The fourth element of the property's *cost base and *reduced cost base includes any payment by the lessor to the lessee to vary or waive a term of the lease or for the forfeiture or surrender of the lease, reduced by the amount of any *input tax credit to which the lessor is entitled for the variation or waiver.
- (4) The expenditure or payment can include giving property: see section 103-5.

132-15 Lessee of land acquires reversionary interest of lessor

- (1) This table sets out what happens if:
  - (a) the lessee of land *acquires the reversionary interest of the lessor in the land; and
  - (b) Subdivision 124-J (roll-over provisions for Crown leases) does not apply to the acquisition.

Division 134—Options

134-1 Exercise of options

- (1) This table sets out the effects of the exercise of an option (including an option that has been renewed or extended) on the *cost bases and *reduced cost bases of the grantor and the entity that exercises the option (the grantee).

Exercise of options
Item	In this situation:	Effect on cost base and reduced cost base:
1	Option binds grantor to: (a) *dispose of a *CGT asset; or (b) create (including grant or issue) a CGT asset (call option)	For the grantee The first element of the grantee's *cost base and *reduced cost base for the CGT asset is what the grantee paid for the option (or to renew or extend it) plus any amount the grantee paid to exercise it For the grantor See section 116-65
2	Option binds grantor to *acquire a *CGT asset (put option)	For the grantor The first element of the grantor's *cost base and *reduced cost base for the asset acquired is any amount paid to exercise the option reduced by any payment received by the grantor for the option (or to renew or extend it) For the grantee The second element of the grantee's cost base and reduced cost base for the asset acquired by the grantor includes any payment the grantee made to acquire the option (or to renew or extend it)

Note 1: If you granted, renewed or extended an option, CGT event C3 or D2 may happen.

Note 2: Item 1 in the table is modified for certain options granted before 20 September 1985: see section 134-1 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note 3: Item 1 in the table is modified for shares or rights acquired at a discount (within the meaning of Subdivision C of Division 13A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) under an employee share scheme—in certain circumstances you can be taken to have paid the market value for an option: see Subdivision 130-D and section 112-15.

(2) All the payments can include giving property: see section 103-5.

Example 1: Steven obtains an option to buy a yacht (for $75,000) from Tom. Steven pays $5,000 for the option.

Steven exercises the option. The first element of his cost base and reduced cost base for the yacht includes the expenditure he incurred for the option.

So, the first element of his cost base and reduced cost base for the yacht is:

$$$75,000 + $5,000 = $80,000$$

Example 2: An entity owns 1,000 shares in a company. Bill grants the entity an option which, if exercised, would require him to buy the shares for $2 each. The entity pays Bill 10 cents per share for the option.

The entity exercises the option. Bill paid $2,000 for the shares. He received $100 from the entity for granting the option.

The first element of Bill's cost base and reduced cost base for the shares is:

$$$2,000 - $100 = $1,900$$

In working out whether the entity made a capital gain or loss on the sale of the shares, the second element of its cost base (and reduced cost base) includes the $100 the entity paid for the option.

(4) A *capital gain or *capital loss the grantee makes from exercising the option is disregarded. However, this rule does not apply if the grantee *acquired the option under a trust restructure (see Subdivision 124-N) and, on exercising the option, held the resulting asset as an item of *trading stock.

Note 1: The exercise of the option would be an example of CGT event C2 (about a CGT asset ending).

Note 2: There is an exemption for the grantor if the option is exercised: see subsection 104-40(5).

- (5) This Division does not apply to rights or options to which Subdivision 130-B applies.

Note: Subdivision 130-B deals (amongst other things) with rights and options issued by a company or trust where you did not pay or give anything to acquire them.

- (6) This Division does not apply to:
- (a) an option to the extent that the option binds the grantor to *dispose of *foreign currency; or
  - (b) an option to the extent that the option binds the grantor to *acquire *foreign currency.

- 149-B When asset of non-public entity stops being a pre-CGT asset
- 149-C When asset of public entity stops being a pre-CGT asset

Subdivision 149-A—Key concepts

Table of sections

- 149-10 What is a pre-CGT asset?
- 149-15 Majority underlying interests in a CGT asset

149-10 What is a pre-CGT asset?

A *CGT asset that an entity owns is a pre-CGT asset if, and only if:

- (a) the entity last acquired the asset before 20 September 1985; and
- (b) the entity was not, immediately before the start of the 1998-99 income year, taken under:
  - (i) former subsection 160ZZS(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (ii) Subdivision C of Division 20 of former Part IIIA of that Act;to have acquired the asset on or after 20 September 1985; and
- (c) the asset has not stopped being a pre-CGT asset of the entity because of this Division.

Note: There are transitional rules for assets that stopped being pre-CGT assets under the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936: see section 149-5 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

149-15 Majority underlying interests in a CGT asset

- (1) Majority underlying interests in a *CGT asset consist of:
  - (a) more than 50% of the beneficial interests that *ultimate owners have (whether directly or *indirectly) in the asset; and
  - (b) more than 50% of the beneficial interests that ultimate owners have (whether directly or indirectly) in any *ordinary income that may be *derived from the asset.
- (2) An underlying interest in a *CGT asset is a beneficial interest that an *ultimate owner has (whether directly or *indirectly) in the asset or in any *ordinary income that may be *derived from the asset.
- (3) An ultimate owner is:
  - (a) an individual; or
  - (b) a company whose *constitution prevents it from making any distribution, whether in money, property or otherwise, to its members; or
  - (c) the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory; or
  - (d) a municipal corporation; or
  - (e) a local governing body; or
  - (f) the government of a foreign country, or of part of a foreign country.
- (4) An *ultimate owner indirectly has a beneficial interest in a *CGT asset of another entity (that is not an ultimate owner) if he, she or it would receive for his, her or its own benefit any of the capital of the other entity if:
  - (a) the other entity were to distribute any of its capital; and
  - (b) the capital were then successively distributed by each entity interposed between the other entity and the ultimate owner.
- (5) An *ultimate owner indirectly has a beneficial interest in *ordinary income that may be *derived from a *CGT asset of another entity (that is not an ultimate owner) if he, she or it would receive for his, her or its own benefit any of a *dividend or income if:
  - (a) the other entity were to pay that dividend, or otherwise distribute that income; and

Subdivision 149-B—When asset of non-public entity stops being a pre-CGT asset

Table of sections

149-25	Which entities are affected
149-30	Effects if asset no longer has same majority underlying ownership
149-35	Cost base elements of asset that stops being a pre-CGT asset

149-25 Which entities are affected

This Subdivision provides for when a *CGT asset of an entity stops being a *pre-CGT asset (unless the entity is covered by section 149-50).

Note: Subdivision 149-C deals with when an asset of such an entity stops being a pre-CGT asset.

149-30 Effects if asset no longer has same majority underlying ownership

- (1) The asset stops being a *pre-CGT asset at the earliest time when *majority underlying interests in the asset were not had by *ultimate owners who had *majority underlying interests in the asset immediately before 20 September 1985. Also, Part 3-1 and this Part (except this Division) apply to the asset as if the entity had acquired it at that earliest time.
- (2) If the Commissioner is satisfied, or thinks it reasonable to assume, that at all times on and after 20 September 1985 and before a particular time *majority underlying interests in the asset were had by *ultimate owners who had *majority underlying interests in the asset immediately before that day, subsection (1) applies as if that were in fact the case.

---

Section 149-35

New owner standing in shoes of former owner

- (3) Subsection (4) affects how the *majority underlying interests in the asset are worked out if an *ultimate owner (the new owner) has acquired a percentage (the acquired percentage) of the *underlying interests in the asset because of an event described in column 2 of an item in the table. The former owner is the entity described in column 3 of that item.

---

Events leading to new owner standing in for former owner

---

Item	For this kind of event:	The former owner is:
1	*CGT event A1 or B1 if there is a roll-over under Subdivision 126-A (about marriage or relationship breakdowns) for the event	the entity that, immediately before the event happened, owned the *CGT asset to which the event relates
2	the death of a person	that person

- (4) This section applies as if the new owner had (in addition to any other *underlying interests), at any time when the former owner had a percentage (the former owner's percentage) of the underlying interests in the asset, a percentage of the underlying interests in the asset equal to the acquired percentage, or the former owner's percentage at that time, whichever is the less.

149-35 Cost base elements of asset that stops being a pre-CGT asset

- (1) This section affects the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset if it stops being a *pre-CGT asset.
- (2) The first element of each is the asset's *market value at the time referred to in subsection 149-30(1).

- 149-75 Cost base elements of asset that stops being a pre-CGT asset
- 149-80 No more evidence needed after asset stops being a pre-CGT asset

149-50 Which entities are affected

- (1) This Subdivision provides for when a *CGT asset of an entity of any of these kinds stops being a *pre-CGT asset:
  - (a) a company *shares in which (except shares that carry the right to a fixed rate of *dividend) are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange;
  - (b) a *publicly traded unit trust;
  - (c) a *mutual insurance company;
  - (d) a *mutual affiliate company;
  - (e) a company (other than one covered by paragraph (a)) all the *shares in which are beneficially owned, whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, by one or more of the following:
    - (i) a company covered by paragraph (a);
    - (ii) a *mutual insurance company;
    - (iii) a *mutual affiliate company;
    - (iv) a *publicly traded unit trust;
- (2) A publicly traded unit trust is a unit trust the units in which:
  - (a) are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange; or
  - (b) are ordinarily available for subscription or purchase by the public.
- (3) This Division applies as if what is done or not done by the trustee of a *publicly traded unit trust had been done or not done by the trust.

---

---

149-55 Entity to give the Commissioner evidence periodically as to whether asset still has same majority underlying ownership

- (1) Within 6 months after each *test day, the entity must give the Commissioner written evidence about the *majority underlying interests in the asset at the end of that day. (The Commissioner can extend the period for doing so.)
- (1A) The evidence must be given in a form that makes the information about those interests readily apparent.
- (1B) The only consequences of failing to give the evidence are those set out in section 149-70. It is not an offence to fail to give the evidence.

Test days

- (2) Each of these days is a test day:
  - (aa) 30 June 1999;
  - (a) a day that is 5 years (or a multiple of 5 years) after 30 June 1999 (but see subsection (3));
  - (b) if the entity is covered by paragraph 149-50(1)(a) or (e)—a day on which there is *abnormal trading in *shares in the company;
  - (c) if the entity is a *publicly traded unit trust—a day on which there is *abnormal trading in units in the trust;
  - (d) if the entity is a company all the *shares in which are beneficially owned, whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, by one or more of the following:
    - (i) a company *shares in which (except shares that carry the right to a fixed rate of *dividend) are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange;
    - (ii) a *publicly traded unit trust;a day on which there is *abnormal trading in *shares in the other company or in units in that unit trust.

Note: Subsections (6) and (7) change the normal rules about abnormal trading.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) If a day (the fifth anniversary) that would otherwise be a *test day because of paragraph (2)(a) is:
- (a) a Saturday; or
  - (b) a Sunday; or
  - (c) a day that is a public holiday or a bank holiday in the place where the records of ownership of shares or other interests in the entity are kept;
- the next day that is not covered by a paragraph of this subsection is a test day instead of the fifth anniversary.

Determining the end of a day

- (4) For the purposes of this section, the end of a day is determined according to legal time in the place where the records of ownership of shares or other interests in the entity are kept.

Special rules about abnormal trading

- (5) Subsections (6) and (7) change how Subdivision 960-H applies for the purposes of determining under this section whether there is *abnormal trading in *shares in a company or in units in a unit trust.
- (6) An issue, redemption or transfer, or any other dealing, is a trading if, and only if, it changes the respective proportions in which *ultimate owners have *underlying interests in *CGT assets of the company or trust.
- (7) Section 960-235 (about suspected transactions involving 5% or more of *shares in the company or units in the trust) is disregarded.

149-60 What the evidence must show

- (1A) To avoid the consequences in section 149-70, the following condition must be complied with.
- (1) On the basis solely of the evidence given to the Commissioner under subsection 149-55(1), the Commissioner must be satisfied that, or think it reasonable to assume that, at the end of the *test day, *majority underlying interests in the asset were had by

---

Section 149-60

---

*ultimate owners who also had *majority underlying interests in the asset at the end of the starting day. The starting day is:

- (a) a day the entity chooses under subsection (2); or
- (b) if no day is so chosen—19 September 1985.

(2) The day chosen:

- (a) must be no earlier than 1 July 1985 and no later than 30 June 1986; and
- (b) must be one the choice of which will allow evidence to be given that enables a reasonable approximation of the *ultimate owners who had *underlying interests in the assets of the entity at the end of 19 September 1985.

How unidentified owners are treated

(3) So far as the evidence does not show who had *underlying interests in the asset at the end of the *starting day, the evidence must be treated on the assumption that those interests were then had by *ultimate owners who did not have *underlying interests in the asset at the end of the *test day.

New owner standing in the shoes of former owner

(4) Subsection (5) affects how the evidence must be treated if an *ultimate owner (the new owner) has acquired a percentage (the acquired percentage) of the *underlying interests in the asset because of an event described in column 2 of an item in the table. The former owner is the entity described in column 3 of that item.

---

Events leading to new owner standing in for former owner

---

Item	For this kind of event:	The former owner is:
1	*CGT event A1 or B1 if there is a roll-over under Subdivision 126-A (about marriage or relationship breakdowns) for the event	the entity that, immediately before the event happened, owned the *CGT asset to which the event relates
2	the death of a person	that person

---

---

- (5) The evidence must be treated on the assumption that the new owner had (in addition to any other *underlying interests), at any time when the former owner had a percentage (the former owner's percentage) of the *underlying interests in the asset, a percentage of the underlying interests in the asset equal to the acquired percentage, or the former owner's percentage at that time, whichever is the less.

Determining the end of a day

- (6) For the purposes of this section, the end of a day is determined according to legal time in the place where the records of ownership of shares or other interests in the entity are kept.

149-70 Effects if asset no longer has same majority underlying ownership

- (1) The asset stops being a *pre-CGT asset if the condition in subsection 149-60(1) is not satisfied.
- (2) Also, Part 3-1 and this Part (except this Division) apply to the asset as if the entity had acquired it at the end of the *test day (as determined under subsection 149-55(4)).

149-75 Cost base elements of asset that stops being a pre-CGT asset

- (1) This section affects the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the asset if it stops being a *pre-CGT asset.
- (2) The first element of each is the asset's *market value at the time referred to in subsection 149-70(2).

149-80 No more evidence needed after asset stops being a pre-CGT asset

After the asset stops being a *pre-CGT asset, the entity need not give the Commissioner any more evidence about it under section 149-55.

Subdivision 149-F—How to treat a “demutualised” public entity

Table of sections

149-162	Subdivision applies only if entity gives sufficient evidence
149-165	Members treated as having underlying interests in assets until demutualisation
149-170	Effect of demutualisation of interposed company

149-162 Subdivision applies only if entity gives sufficient evidence

- (1) This Subdivision applies only if, on the basis solely of evidence the entity gives the Commissioner, the Commissioner is satisfied, or thinks it reasonable to assume, that this Subdivision applies to the entity.
- (2) The evidence must be given in a form that makes it readily apparent whether this Subdivision applies.

149-165 Members treated as having underlying interests in assets until demutualisation

- (1) This section modifies the treatment of evidence that an entity gives the Commissioner under section 149-55 as to the *ultimate owners who had *underlying interests in the asset at a particular time if the entity:
  - (a) was:
    - (i) a *mutual insurance company; or
    - (ii) a *mutual affiliate company;at the end of the *starting day (as determined under subsection 149-60(6)); and
  - (b) has since stopped being a company of either of those kinds, but has continued in existence as either a company covered by paragraph 149-50(1)(a) or (e) or a *publicly traded unit trust; and
  - (c) when it stopped being an entity of either of those kinds (the stopping time), had more than 50 members.

---

- (2) The entity may require the Commissioner to treat the evidence on the assumption that an *ultimate owner who:
- (a) immediately before the stopping time was a member of the entity; and
  - (b) immediately after the stopping time had an *underlying interest in the asset;
- had the interest at all times from and including the end of the *starting day until immediately after the stopping time.

149-170 Effect of demutualisation of interposed company

- (1) This section modifies the treatment of evidence that an entity (the head entity) gives the Commissioner under section 149-55 as to the *ultimate owners who had *underlying interests in the asset at a particular time if another entity (the interposed company):
- (a) was:
    - (i) a *mutual insurance company; or
    - (ii) a *mutual affiliate company;at the end of the *starting day (as determined under subsection 149-60(6)) for the head entity; and
  - (b) has since stopped being a company of either of those kinds, but has continued in existence as either a company covered by paragraph 149-50(1)(a) or (e) or a *publicly traded unit trust; and
  - (c) when it stopped being an entity of either of those kinds (the stopping time), had more than 50 members.
- (2) The head entity may require the Commissioner to treat the evidence on the assumption that an *ultimate owner who:
- (a) immediately before the stopping time was a member of the interposed company; and
  - (b) immediately after the stopping time had, through the interposed company, an *underlying interest in the asset;
- had the interest at all times from and including the end of the *starting day until immediately after the stopping time.

Division 152—Small business relief

Guide to Division 152

152-1 What this Division is about

To help small business, if the basic conditions for relief are satisfied, capital gains can be reduced by the various concessions in this Division. Those basic conditions are in Subdivision 152-A. Some of the concessions have additional, specific conditions that must also be satisfied.

The 4 available small business concessions are:

- (a) the 15-year exemption (in Subdivision 152-B);
- (b) the 50% reduction (in Subdivision 152-C);
- (c) the retirement concession (in Subdivision 152-D);
- (d) the roll-over (in Subdivision 152-E).

A capital gain that qualifies for the 15-year exemption is disregarded entirely and is not taken into account under the method statement in subsection 102-5(1). By contrast, the other concessions are only activated by step 4 of that method statement. This means that you must apply all available capital losses against your capital gains (under steps 1 and 2) before you can reduce them using those 3 concessions.

Table of Subdivisions

152-A	Basic conditions for relief under this Division
152-B	Small business 15-year exemption
152-C	Small business 50% reduction

152-E Small business roll-over

Subdivision 152-A—Basic conditions for relief under this Division

Guide to Subdivision 152-A

152-5 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision sets out some basic conditions for relief. If the basic conditions are satisfied, an entity may be able to reduce its capital gains using the small business concessions in this Division.

The 3 major basic conditions are:

- (a) the entity must be a small business entity or a partner in a partnership that is a small business entity, or the net value of assets that the entity and related entities own must not exceed $6,000,000;
- (b) the CGT asset must be an active asset;
- (c) if the asset is a share or interest in a trust, there must be a CGT concession stakeholder just before the CGT event, and the entity claiming the concession must be a CGT concession stakeholder in the company or trust or CGT concession stakeholders in the company or trust must have a small business participation percentage in the entity of at least 90%.

Some of the concessions have additional, specific conditions that also must be satisfied. For example, the 15-year exemption applies only if you have held the CGT asset for at least 15 years and you retire.

There are limitations on the availability of the small business concessions for CGT events J2, J5 and J6.

You do not need to satisfy the basic conditions for the retirement exemption in relation to CGT events J5 and J6.

CGT event happens to asset or interest within 2 years of an individual's death

152-80 CGT event happens to an asset or interest within 2 years of individual's death

Basic conditions for relief

152-10 Basic conditions for relief

(1) A *capital gain (except a capital gain from *CGT event K7) you make may be reduced or disregarded under this Division if the following basic conditions are satisfied for the gain:

(a) a *CGT event happens in relation to a *CGT asset of yours in an income year;

Note: This condition does not apply in the case of CGT event D1: see section 152-12.

(b) the event would (apart from this Division) have resulted in the gain;

(c) at least one of the following applies:

(i) you are a *small business entity for the income year;

(ii) you satisfy the maximum net asset value test (see section 152-15);

(iii) you are a partner in a partnership that is a small business entity for the income year and the CGT asset is an interest in an asset of the partnership;

(iv) the conditions mentioned in subsection (1A) or (1B) are satisfied in relation to the CGT asset in the income year;

Note: For determining whether an entity is a small business entity, see Subdivision 328-C (as affected by section 152-48).

(d) the CGT asset satisfies the active asset test (see section 152-35).

Note: This condition does not apply in the case of CGT event D1: see section 152-12.

Passively held assets—affiliates and entities connected with you

(1A) The conditions in this subsection are satisfied in relation to the *CGT asset in the income year if:

---

Section 152-10

---

- (a) your *affiliate, or an entity that is *connected with you, is a *small business entity for the income year; and
- (b) you do not carry on a *business in the income year (other than in partnership); and
- (c) if you carry on a business in partnership—the CGT asset is not an interest in an asset of the partnership; and
- (d) in any case—the small business entity referred to in paragraph (a) is the entity that, at a time in the income year, carries on the business (as referred to in subparagraph 152-40(1)(a)(ii) or (iii) or paragraph 152-40(1)(b)) in relation to the CGT asset.

Note 1: For determining whether an entity is a small business entity, see Subdivision 328-C (as affected by section 152-48).

Note 2: For businesses that are winding up, see section 152-49 and subsection 328-110(5).

Passively held assets—partnerships

- (1B) The conditions in this subsection are satisfied in relation to the *CGT asset in the income year if:
- (a) you are a partner in a partnership in the income year; and
  - (b) the partnership is a *small business entity for the income year; and
  - (c) you do not carry on a *business in the income year (other than in partnership); and
  - (d) the CGT asset is not an interest in an asset of the partnership; and
  - (e) the business you carry on as a partner in the partnership referred to in paragraph (a) is the business that you, at a time in the income year, carry on (as referred to in subparagraph 152-40(1)(a)(i) or paragraph 152-40(1)(b)) in relation to the CGT asset.

Note 1: For determining whether an entity is a small business entity, see Subdivision 328-C (as affected by section 152-48).

Note 2: For businesses that are winding up, see section 152-49 and subsection 328-110(5).

Additional basic conditions for shares in a company or interests in a trust

- (2) If the *CGT asset is a *share in a company or an interest in a trust (the object company or trust), one of these additional basic conditions must be satisfied just before the *CGT event:
- (a) you are a *CGT concession stakeholder in the object company or trust; or
  - (b) CGT concession stakeholders in the object company or trust together have a *small business participation percentage in you of at least 90%.

Example: A discretionary trust sells shares in an operating company (the object company). Anna receives 90% of the distributions from the trust, and the trust has a 50% interest in the object company.

The trust cannot be a CGT concession stakeholder in the object company because it is not an individual and therefore cannot satisfy paragraph (2)(a).

However, the trust can satisfy paragraph (2)(b) because Anna is a CGT concession stakeholder in the object company (because her small business participation percentage in the object company is 45%, which is greater than 20%) and her small business participation percentage in the trust is 90%.

Extra conditions for some concessions

- (3) In addition to the basic conditions in this section, some of the concessions in this Division have extra conditions that must be satisfied for the concession to be available. These extra conditions are set out in the relevant Subdivisions.

Special rules for certain CGT events

- (4) Subdivisions 152-B and 152-C do not apply to *CGT events J2, J5 and J6. In addition, Subdivision 152-E does not apply to CGT events J5 and J6.

Note 1: Those CGT events are about previous applications of the roll-over in Subdivision 152-E.

Note 2: This Subdivision does not apply to CGT events J5 and J6 in relation to the retirement exemption (see subsection 152-305(4)).

---

152-12 Special conditions for CGT event D1

- (1) Paragraphs 152-10(1)(a) and (d) do not apply in the case of *CGT event D1.
- (2) Instead, it is a basic condition that the right you create that triggers the *CGT event must be inherently connected with a *CGT asset of yours that satisfies the active asset test (see section 152-35).

Maximum net asset value test

152-15 Maximum net asset value test

You satisfy the maximum net asset value test if, just before the *CGT event, the sum of the following amounts does not exceed $6,000,000:

- (a) the *net value of the CGT assets of yours;
- (b) the net value of the CGT assets of any entities *connected with you;
- (c) the net value of the CGT assets of any *affiliates of yours or entities connected with your affiliates (not counting any assets already counted under paragraph (b)).

Note: Some assets are not included in the definition of net value of the CGT assets: see subsections 152-20(2), (3) and (4).

152-20 Meaning of net value of the CGT assets

Meaning of net value of the CGT assets

- (1) The net value of the CGT assets of an entity is the amount (whether positive, negative or nil) obtained by subtracting from the sum of the *market values of those assets the sum of:
  - (a) the liabilities of the entity that are related to the assets; and
  - (b) the following provisions made by the entity:
    - (i) provisions for annual leave;
    - (ii) provisions for long service leave;
    - (iii) provisions for unearned income;
    - (iv) provisions for tax liabilities.

---

Assets to be disregarded

- (2) In working out the net value of the CGT assets of an entity:
- (a) disregard *shares, units or other interests (except debt) in another entity that is *connected with the first-mentioned entity or with an *affiliate of the first-mentioned entity, but include any liabilities related to any such shares, units or interests; and
  - (b) if the entity is an individual, disregard:
    - (i) assets being used solely for the personal use and enjoyment of the individual, or the individual's *affiliate (except a *dwelling, or an *ownership interest in a dwelling, that is the individual's main residence, including any adjacent land to which the main residence exemption can extend because of section 118-120); and
    - (ii) except for an amount included under subsection (2A), the *market value of a dwelling, or an ownership interest in a dwelling, that is the individual's main residence (including any relevant adjacent land); and
    - (iii) a right to, or to any part of, any allowance, annuity or capital amount payable out of a *superannuation fund or an *approved deposit fund; and
    - (iv) a right to, or to any part of, an asset of a superannuation fund or of an approved deposit fund; and
    - (v) a policy of insurance on the life of an individual.

Individual's dwelling

- (2A) In working out the net value of the CGT assets of an individual, if:
- (a) a *dwelling of the individual, an *ownership interest in such a dwelling or any relevant adjacent land, was used, during all or part of the *ownership period of the dwelling, by the individual to produce assessable income to a particular extent; and
  - (b) the individual satisfied paragraph 118-190(1)(c) (about interest deductibility) at least to some extent;
- include such amount as is reasonable having regard to the extent to which that paragraph was satisfied.

---

---

Section 152-35

---

Note: The net value of the CGT assets of the individual will be reduced by the same proportion of the individual's liabilities related to the dwelling, ownership interest or adjacent land.

Net value of the CGT assets of others

(3) In working out the net value of the CGT assets of:

- (a) your *affiliate; or
- (b) an entity that is *connected with your affiliate;

include only those assets that are used, or held ready for use, in the carrying on of a *business by you or another entity *connected with you (whether the business is carried on alone or jointly with others).

(4) However, disregard assets under subsection (3) that are used, or held ready for use, in the carrying on of a *business by an entity that is *connected with you only because of your *affiliate.

Example: You and your husband sell a florist's business that you jointly carry on. Your husband also wholly owns a company that carries on a newsagency business. You yourself have no other involvement with the newsagency business.

Under subsection (4), you disregard the newsagency company's assets in working out whether you satisfy the maximum net asset value test because, although the company is "connected" with you, it is so connected only because of your affiliate (your husband).

Active asset test

152-35 Active asset test

(1) A *CGT asset satisfies the active asset test if:

- (a) you have owned the asset for 15 years or less and the asset was an *active asset of yours for a total of at least half of the period specified in subsection (2); or
- (b) you have owned the asset for more than 15 years and the asset was an active asset of yours for a total of at least 7<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> years during the period specified in subsection (2).

(2) The period:

- (a) begins when you *acquired the asset; and
- (b) ends at the earlier of:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the *CGT event; and
- (ii) if the relevant business ceased to be carried on in the 12 months before that time or any longer period that the Commissioner allows—the cessation of the business.

152-40 Meaning of *active asset

- (1) A *CGT asset is an active asset at a time if, at that time:
  - (a) you own the asset (whether the asset is tangible or intangible) and it is used, or held ready for use, in the course of carrying on a *business that is carried on (whether alone or in partnership) by:
    - (i) you; or
    - (ii) your *affiliate; or
    - (iii) another entity that is *connected with you; or
  - (b) if the asset is an intangible asset—you own it and it is inherently connected with a business that is carried on (whether alone or in partnership) by you, your affiliate, or another entity that is connected with you.

Note 1: An intangible asset need satisfy only paragraph (a) or paragraph (b).

Note 2: The meaning of connected with in subparagraph (1)(a)(iii) and paragraph (b) is affected by section 152-42.

Note 3: An example of an asset that is inherently connected with a business is goodwill or the benefit of a restrictive covenant.

Note 4: For businesses that are winding up, see section 152-49 and subsection 328-110(5).

- (2) Subsection 392-20(1) is disregarded in determining, for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section, whether an entity is carrying on a *business.

Note: An entity would be taken to be carrying on a primary production business under subsection 392-20(1) if the business is carried on by a trust and the entity is presently entitled to trust income.

- (3) A *CGT asset is also an active asset at a given time if, at that time, you own it and:
  - (a) it is either a *share in a company that is an Australian resident at that time or an interest in a trust that is a *resident

---

Section 152-40

---

trust for CGT purposes for the income year in which that time occurs; and

- (b) the total of:
- (i) the *market values of the active assets of the company or trust; and
  - (ii) the market value of any financial instruments of the company or trust that are inherently connected with a business that the company or trust carries on; and
  - (iii) any cash of the company or trust that is inherently connected with such a business; is 80% or more of the market value of all of the assets of the company or trust.

- (3A) A *share in a company, or an interest in a trust, mentioned in paragraph (3)(a) is an active asset at a time (the later time) if:
- (a) the share or interest was an active asset at an earlier time; and
  - (b) it is reasonable to conclude that the share or interest is still an active asset at the later time.

Note: This ensures that the 80% test does not need to be applied on a day to day basis.

- (3B) A *share in a company, or an interest in a trust, mentioned in paragraph (3)(a) is an active asset at a time if:
- (a) the share or interest fails to meet the requirements under subsection (3) at that time; and
  - (b) the failure is of a temporary nature only.

Note: If a share in a company or an interest in a trust is chosen as a replacement asset, this ensures that a temporary failure of the 80% test does not automatically lead to CGT event J2 happening.

Exceptions

- (4) However, the following *CGT assets cannot be active assets:
- (a) interests in an entity that is *connected with you, other than *shares and interests covered by subsection (3);
  - (b) shares in a company, other than:
    - (i) shares in a *widely held company that are covered by subsection (3), (3A) or (3B) and held by a *CGT concession stakeholder of the company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) shares in any other company that are covered by subsection (3), (3A) or (3B);
- (c) interests in a trust, other than:
  - (i) interests in a trust to which subsection (5) applies that are covered by subsection (3), (3A) or (3B) and held by a CGT concession stakeholder of the trust; and
  - (ii) interests in any other trust that are covered by subsection (3), (3A) or (3B);
- (d) financial instruments (such as loans, debentures, bonds, promissory notes, futures contracts, forward contracts, currency swap contracts and a right or option in respect of a share, security, loan or contract);
- (e) an asset whose main use by you is to *derive interest, an annuity, rent, royalties or foreign exchange gains unless:
  - (i) the asset is an intangible asset and has been substantially developed, altered or improved by you so that its *market value has been substantially enhanced; or
  - (ii) its main use for deriving rent was only temporary.

Example: A company uses a house purely as an investment property and rents it out. The house is not an active asset because the company is not using the house in the course of carrying on a business. If, on the other hand, the company ran the house as a guest house the house would be an active asset because the company would be using it to carry on a business and not to derive rent.

- (4A) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(e), in determining the main use of an asset:
  - (a) disregard any personal use or enjoyment of the asset by you; and
  - (b) treat any use by your *affiliate, or an entity that is *connected with you, as your use.
- (5) This subsection applies to a trust if:
  - (a) interests in the trust are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange; or
  - (b) the trust has more than 50 *members, unless the trust is a discretionary trust or a trust where at least one of the following conditions is met during an income year:

---

Section 152-42

- (i) no more than 20 persons held, or had the right to acquire or become the holders of, *membership interests representing at least 75% of the value of the membership interests in the trust;
- (ii) if there are *trust voting interests in the trust—at least 75% of the trust voting interests in the trust was capable of being controlled by no more than 20 persons;
- (iii) at least 75% of the amount of any distribution made by the trustee during the year was made to no more than 20 persons;
- (iv) if no distribution was made by the trustee during the year—the Commissioner is of the opinion that, if a distribution had been made during the year, at least 75% of the distribution would have been made to no more than 20 persons.

152-42 Trustee of discretionary trust may nominate beneficiaries to be controllers of trust

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of determining, for the purposes of subparagraph 152-40(1)(a)(iii) or paragraph 152-40(1)(b), whether an entity is *connected with you.

Note: This affects whether a CGT asset that you own satisfies the active asset test.

- (2) The trustee of a discretionary trust may nominate not more than 4 beneficiaries as being controllers of the trust for an income year (the relevant income year) for which the trustee did not make a distribution of income or capital if the trust had a *tax loss, or no taxable income, for that year.

- (3) A nomination under subsection (2) has effect as if each nominated beneficiary controlled the trust for the relevant income year in a way described in section 328-125.

Note: This means each nominated beneficiary is connected with the trust.

- (4) A nomination under subsection (2) must:
- (a) be in writing; and
  - (b) be signed by the trustee and by each nominated beneficiary.

152-45 Continuing time periods for involuntary disposals

Asset compulsorily acquired, lost or destroyed

- (1) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) you acquired to satisfy the requirement in subsection 124-70(2) or 124-75(2) for a roll-over under Subdivision 124-B, then the active asset test in section 152-35 applies as if:
- (a) you had acquired the new asset when you acquired the old asset; and
  - (b) the new asset had been your *active asset at all times when the original asset was your active asset; and
  - (c) the new asset had not been your active asset at all times when the original asset was not your active asset.

Note 1: Subdivision 124-B allows you to choose a roll-over if your CGT asset is compulsorily acquired, lost or destroyed.

Note 2: If this subsection applies to a CGT asset, then section 152-115 (which is about continuing time periods) will apply for the 15-year exemption.

Assets replaced during FSR transition (same owner roll-overs)

- (1A) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) you acquired in a situation covered by section 124-880, 124-885 or 124-890, then the active asset test in section 152-35 applies as if:
- (a) you had acquired the new asset when you acquired the original asset; and
  - (b) the new asset had been your *active asset at all times when the original asset was your active asset; and
  - (c) the new asset had not been your active asset at all times when the original asset was not your active asset.

Note 1: Subdivision 124-O provides a roll-over for certain CGT assets that come to an end as a result of an FSR transition.

Note 2: If this subsection applies to a CGT asset, then section 152-115 (which is about continuing time periods) will apply for the 15-year exemption.

---

---

Section 152-45

---

Assets replaced during FSR transition (new owner roll-overs)

- (1B) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) acquired in a situation covered by section 124-900, 124-905 or 124-910, then the active asset test in section 152-35 applies as if:
- (a) the new owner had acquired the new asset when the original owner acquired the original asset; and
  - (b) the new asset had been the *active asset of the new owner at all times when the original asset was the original owner's active asset; and
  - (c) the new asset had not been the active asset of the new owner at all times when the original asset was not the original owner's active asset.

Note 1: Subdivision 124-O provides a roll-over for certain CGT assets that come to an end as a result of an FSR transition.

Note 2: If this subsection applies to a CGT asset, then section 152-115 (which is about continuing time periods) will apply for the 15-year exemption.

Marriage or relationship breakdowns

- (2) If you were the transferee of a *CGT asset for which there has been a roll-over under Subdivision 126-A, then you may choose that the active asset test in section 152-35 applies as if:
- (a) you had acquired the asset when the transferor acquired the asset; and
  - (b) the asset had been an *active asset of yours at all times when the asset was an active asset of the transferor; and
  - (c) the asset had not been an active asset of yours at all times when the asset was not an active asset of the transferor.

Note 1: Section 103-25 tells you when the choice must be made.

Note 2: There is a roll-over under Subdivision 126-A if CGT assets are transferred because of a marriage or relationship breakdown.

Note 3: If you don't make the choice, the time of acquisition is simply the time of the transfer.

Note 4: Making the choice here has certain consequences for the 15-year exemption: see section 152-115.

Treatment of passively held CGT assets

152-47 Spouses or children taken to be affiliates for certain passively held CGT assets

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) one entity (the asset owner) owns a *CGT asset (whether the asset is tangible or intangible); and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) the asset is used, or held ready for use, in the course of carrying on a *business in an income year by another entity (the business entity); or
    - (ii) the asset is inherently connected with a business that is carried on in an income year by another entity (the business entity); and
  - (c) the business entity is not (apart from this section) an *affiliate of, or *connected with, the asset owner.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, in determining whether the business entity is an *affiliate of, or is *connected with, the asset owner, take the following to be affiliates of an individual:
  - (a) a *spouse of the individual;
  - (b) a *child of the individual, being a child who is under 18 years.
- (3) If an entity is an *affiliate of, or *connected with, another entity as a result of subsection (2), then the *spouse or *child mentioned in that subsection is, in addition, taken to be an affiliate of the individual for the purposes of this Subdivision, and for the purposes of sections 328-110 to 328-125 to the extent that they relate to this Subdivision.

Example: The spouse or child mentioned in subsection (2) is taken to be an affiliate of the individual for the purposes of working out which entities are affiliates of or connected with entities under section 152-48.
- (4) To avoid doubt, subsection (2) applies:
  - (a) for the purposes of reducing or disregarding, under this Division, any *capital gain from any *CGT asset; but

---

---

(b) only while:

- (i) a *spouse remains a spouse; or
- (ii) a *child remains a child who is under 18 years.

152-48 Working out an entity's aggregated turnover for passively held CGT assets

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of section 328-115 to determine whether an entity (the test entity) is a *small business entity for the purposes of subsection 152-10(1A) or (1B).
- (2) An entity (the deemed entity) is taken to be an *affiliate of, or *connected with, the test entity (as the case requires) if:
  - (a) the deemed entity is an affiliate of, or connected with, the entity that owns the *CGT asset referred to in subsection 152-10(1A) or (1B); and
  - (b) the deemed entity is not (apart from this section) an affiliate of, or connected with, the test entity.
- (3) If:
  - (a) the entity that owns the *CGT asset referred to in subsection 152-10(1B) is a partner in 2 or more partnerships; and
  - (b) the asset is:
    - (i) used, or held ready for use, in the course of carrying on a *business that is carried on by at least 2 of those partnerships; or
    - (ii) inherently connected with businesses that are carried on by at least 2 of those partnerships;then, each partnership referred to in paragraph (b) that is not (apart from this section) *connected with the test entity is taken to be connected with the test entity.

152-49 Businesses that are winding up

- (1) This section applies to an entity in an income year (the CGT event year) if:
  - (a) a *business that the entity previously carried on (including in partnership) is being wound up in that year; and
  - (b) either:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the asset was used, or held ready for use, in the course of carrying on the business at a time in the income year in which the business stopped being carried on; or
  - (ii) if the asset is an intangible asset—the asset was inherently connected with the business that was carried on at a time in the income year in which the business stopped being carried on.
- (2) For the purposes of paragraphs 152-40(1)(a) and (b) as they apply for the purposes of paragraphs 152-10(1A)(d) and (1B)(e):
- (a) the entity is taken to carry on the *business at a time in the CGT event year; and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) the *CGT asset is taken to be used, or held ready for use, in the course of carrying on the business at that time; or
    - (ii) if the asset is an intangible asset—the CGT asset is taken to be inherently connected with the business at that time.

Note: The entity might also be taken to be a small business entity in the CGT event year (see subsection 328-110(5)).

Significant individual test

152-50 Significant individual test

An entity satisfies the significant individual test if the entity had at least one *significant individual just before the *CGT event.

152-55 Meaning of significant individual

An individual is a significant individual in a company or a trust at a time if, at that time, the individual has a *small business participation percentage in the company or trust of at least 20%.

---

---

CGT concession stakeholder

152-60 Meaning of CGT concession stakeholder

An individual is a CGT concession stakeholder of a company or trust at a time if the individual is:

- (a) a *significant individual in the company or trust; or
- (b) a spouse of a significant individual in the company or trust, if the spouse has a *small business participation percentage in the company or trust at that time that is greater than zero.

Small business participation percentage

152-65 Small business participation percentage

An entity's small business participation percentage in another entity at a time is the percentage that is the sum of:

- (a) the entity's *direct small business participation percentage in the other entity at that time; and
- (b) the entity's *indirect small business participation percentage in the other entity at that time.

152-70 Direct small business participation percentage

- (1) An entity holds a direct small business participation percentage at the relevant time in an entity equal to the percentage worked out using this table:

An entity's direct small business participation percentage

3 A trust (where entities do not have entitlements to all the income and capital of the trust)	This percentage: (a) if the trustee makes distributions of income during the income year (the current year ) in which that time occurs—the percentage of the distributions to which the entity was beneficially entitled; or (b) if the trustee makes distributions of capital during the current year—the percentage of the distributions to which the entity was beneficially entitled; or, if 2 different percentages are applicable, the smaller.

(2) For item 1 in the table, ignore *redeemable shares.

152-75 Indirect small business participation percentage

- (1) Work out the indirect small business participation percentage that an entity (the holding entity) holds at a particular time in another entity (the test entity) by multiplying:
- (a) the holding entity's *direct small business participation percentage (if any) in another entity (the intermediate entity) at that time; by
  - (b) the sum of:
    - (i) the intermediate entity's direct small business participation percentage (if any) in the test entity at that time; and

- (ii) the intermediate entity's indirect small business participation percentage (if any) in the test entity at that time (as worked out under one or more other applications of this section).

Note: When testing an intermediate entity's indirect small business participation percentage in another entity, the intermediate entity becomes the holding entity.

- (2) If there is more than one intermediate entity to which paragraph (1)(a) applies at that time, the holding entity's indirect small business participation percentage is the sum of the percentages worked out under subsection (1) in relation to each of those intermediate entities.

Example: The individual mentioned in the diagram has an indirect small business participation percentage in the unit trust.

Multiplying the percentages as mentioned in subsection (1) produces small business participation percentage of 43.2%.

If the individual had a direct small business participation percentage of 10% in the unit trust, that would be added to the individual's indirect small business participation percentage to produce a small business participation percentage in the trust of 53.2%.

CGT event happens to asset or interest within 2 years of an individual's death

152-80 CGT event happens to an asset or interest within 2 years of individual's death

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) a *CGT asset:
    - (i) forms part of the estate of a deceased individual; or
    - (ii) was owned by joint tenants and one of them dies; and
  - (b) any of the following applies:
    - (i) the asset devolves to the individual's *legal personal representative;
    - (ii) the asset *passes to a beneficiary of the individual;
    - (iii) an interest in the asset is *acquired by the surviving joint tenant or tenants (as the case may be) as mentioned in section 128-50;
    - (iv) the asset devolves to a trustee of a trust established by the will of the individual; and
  - (c) the deceased individual referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) would have been entitled to reduce or disregard a *capital gain under this Division if a *CGT event had happened in relation to the CGT asset immediately before his or her death; and
  - (d) a CGT event happens in relation to the CGT asset within 2 years of the individual's death.
- (2) A person mentioned in subsection (2A) is entitled to reduce or disregard a *capital gain under this Division in the same way as the deceased individual would have been entitled to as if:
  - (a) paragraph 152-105(d) only required the deceased individual to have been 55 or over, or permanently incapacitated, at the time of the *CGT event referred to in paragraph (1)(c) of this section; and
  - (b) paragraph 152-305(1)(b) did not apply.

Section 152-100

- (2A) The following persons (as the case requires) are entitled to reduce or disregard a *capital gain under this Division in accordance with subsection (2):
- (a) the *legal personal representative of the individual;
  - (b) the beneficiary of the individual;
  - (c) the surviving joint tenant or tenants;
  - (d) the trustee or a beneficiary of the trust.
- (3) The Commissioner may extend the time limit in paragraph (1)(d).

Subdivision 152-B—Small business 15-year exemption

Guide to Subdivision 152-B

152-100 What this Subdivision is about

A small business entity can disregard a capital gain arising from a CGT asset that it has owned for at least 15 years if certain conditions are met. Capital losses are not affected.

Also, any amount of income a company or trust derives from a CGT event covered by this Subdivision is neither assessable income nor exempt income. If the company or trust makes payments to its CGT concession stakeholders that are attributable to the exempt amount, the payments will not be taken into account in determining the taxable income of the company, trust or recipient.

The main conditions are that:

- the basic conditions for relief in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied;
- the entity continuously owned the asset for the 15-year period leading up to the CGT event;
- if the entity is an individual, the individual retires or is permanently incapacitated;

---

- if the entity is a company or trust, the entity had a significant individual for a total of at least 15 years during which the entity owned the asset and the individual who was the significant individual just before the CGT event retires or is permanently incapacitated.

The Subdivision also allows time periods to continue to run if there has been a roll-over because of marriage or relationship breakdown or compulsory acquisition.

Table of sections

152-105	15-year exemption for individuals
152-110	15-year exemption for companies and trusts
152-115	Continuing time periods for involuntary disposals
152-120	Discretionary trusts need not have a significant individual in a loss year or nil income year
152-125	Payments to company's or trust's CGT concession stakeholders are exempt

152-105 15-year exemption for individuals

If you are an individual, you can disregard any *capital gain arising from a *CGT event if all of the following conditions are satisfied:

- (a) the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain;
- (b) you continuously owned the *CGT asset for the 15-year period ending just before the CGT event;

Note: Section 152-115 allows for continuation of the period if there is an involuntary disposal of the asset.

- (c) if the CGT asset is a *share in a company or an interest in a trust—the company or trust had a *significant individual for a total of at least 15 years (even if the 15 years was not continuous and it was not always the same significant individual) during which you owned the CGT asset;

Note: There is an exception for discretionary trusts that have tax losses or no taxable income for an income year: see section 152-120.

- (d) either:
  - (i) you are 55 or over at the time of the CGT event and the event happens in connection with your retirement; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) you are permanently incapacitated at the time of the CGT event.

152-110 15-year exemption for companies and trusts

- (1) An entity that is a company or trust can disregard any *capital gain arising from a *CGT event if all of the following conditions are satisfied:
  - (a) the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain;
  - (b) the entity continuously owned the *CGT asset for the 15-year period ending just before the CGT event;
    - Note: Section 152-115 allows for continuation of the period if there is an involuntary disposal of the asset.
  - (c) the entity had a *significant individual for a total of at least 15 years (even if the 15 years was not continuous and it was not always the same significant individual) during which the entity owned the CGT asset;
    - Note: There is an exception for discretionary trusts that have tax losses or no taxable income for an income year: see section 152-120.
  - (d) an individual who was a significant individual of the company or trust just before the CGT event either:
    - (i) was 55 or over at that time and the event happened in connection with the individual's retirement; or
    - (ii) was permanently incapacitated at that time.
- (2) Any *ordinary income or *statutory income the company or trust *derives from a *CGT event that would be covered by subsection (1) (assuming the event gave rise to a *capital gain, even if it didn't) is neither assessable income nor *exempt income.

Exception

- (3) However, subsection (2) does not apply to income *derived by a company or trust as a result of a *balancing adjustment event occurring to a *depreciating asset:
  - (a) whose decline in value is worked out under Division 40; or
  - (b) deductions for which are calculated under Division 328.

152-115 Continuing time periods for involuntary disposals

Asset compulsorily acquired, lost or destroyed

- (1) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) you acquired to satisfy the requirement in subsection 124-70(2) or 124-75(2) for a roll-over under Subdivision 124-B, then paragraphs 152-105(b) and 152-110(1)(b) and (c) (the 15-year and significant individual rules) apply as if you had acquired the new asset when you acquired the original asset.

Note: Subdivision 124-B allows you to choose a roll-over if your CGT asset is compulsorily acquired, lost or destroyed.

Assets replaced during FSR transition (same owner roll-overs)

- (1A) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) you acquired in a situation covered by section 124-880, 124-885 or 124-890, then paragraphs 152-105(b) and 152-110(1)(b) and (c) (the 15-year and significant individual rules) apply as if you had acquired the new asset when you acquired the original asset.

Note: Subdivision 124-O provides a roll-over for certain CGT assets that come to an end as a result of an FSR transition.

Asset replaced during FSR transition (new owner roll-overs)

- (1B) If a *CGT asset is an asset (the new asset) acquired in a situation covered by section 124-900, 124-905 or 124-910, then paragraphs 152-105(b) and 152-110(1)(b) and (c) (the 15-year and significant individual rules) apply as if the new owner had acquired the new asset when the original owner acquired the original asset.

Note: Subdivision 124-O provides a roll-over for certain CGT assets that come to an end as a result of an FSR transition.

Marriage or relationship breakdowns

- (2) If you made the choice mentioned in subsection 152-45(2) for a *CGT asset, then paragraphs 152-105(b) and (c) and 152-110(1)(b) and (c) (the 15-year and significant individual rules) apply as if you had acquired the asset when the transferor acquired it.

Note: There is a roll-over under Subdivision 126-A if CGT assets are transferred because of a marriage or relationship breakdown.

152-120 Discretionary trusts need not have a significant individual in a loss year or nil income year

Paragraphs 152-105(c) and 152-110(1)(c) apply for a trust referred to in item 3 of the table in subsection 152-70(1) as if the trust had a *significant individual during an income year for which the trustee did not make a distribution of income or capital, if the trust had a *tax loss, or no taxable income, for that income year.

Note: This is because the trust might not have had the funds to make a distribution during that income year, which would prevent it from having a significant individual in that year.

152-125 Payments to company's or trust's CGT concession stakeholders are exempt

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) one of the following applies:
    - (i) under section 152-110, a *capital gain (the exempt amount) of a company or trust is disregarded;
    - (ii) under section 152-110, an amount of income (the exempt amount) is *non-assessable non-exempt income of a company or trust;
    - (iii) subparagraph (i) of this paragraph would have applied to an amount (the exempt amount) except that the capital gain was disregarded anyway because the relevant *CGT asset was *acquired before 20 September 1985; and
  - (b) the company or trust makes one or more payments (whether directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) in relation to the exempt amount within 2 years after the relevant *CGT event to an individual who was a *CGT concession stakeholder of the company or trust just before the event.

Note: A normal business payment, for example, a payment of wages, would not be made "in relation to the exempt amount".

- (2) In determining the taxable income of the company, the trust, the individual, or any of the interposed entities, disregard the total amount of the payment or payments made to the *CGT concession stakeholder, up to the following limit:

---

Stakeholder's participation percentage  $\times$  Exempt amount

where:

stakeholder's participation percentage means:

- (a) in the case of a company or a trust referred to in item 2 of the table in subsection 152-70(1)—the stakeholder's *small business participation percentage in the company or trust just before the relevant *CGT event; or
- (b) in the case of a trust referred to in item 3 of that table—the amount (expressed as a percentage) worked out using the following formula:

$$\frac{100}{\text{Number of *CGT concession stakeholders of the trust just before the *CGT event}}$$

- (3) If a company makes such a payment, this Act applies to the payment, to the extent that it is less than or equal to the limit mentioned in subsection (2), as if:
  - (a) it were not a *dividend; and
  - (b) it were not a *frankable distribution.
- (4) The Commissioner may extend the time limit under paragraph (1)(b).

Subdivision 152-C—Small business 50% reduction

Guide to Subdivision 152-C

152-200 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision tells you how to apply the small business CGT concessions mentioned in step 4 of the method statement in subsection 102-5(1).

---

A capital gain is reduced by 50% if the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied.

If the capital gain has already been reduced by the discount percentage, the 50% reduction under this Subdivision applies to that reduced gain.

The capital gain may be further reduced by the small business retirement exemption or a small business rollover, or both.

Alternatively, you may choose not to apply the 50% reduction and instead apply the small business retirement exemption or small business rollover.

None of these rules apply if the 15-year exemption already applies to the capital gain, since such a gain is disregarded anyway.

Table of sections

152-205	You get the small business 50% reduction
152-210	You may also get the small business retirement exemption and small business roll-over relief
152-215	15-year rule has priority
152-220	You may choose not to apply this Subdivision

152-205 You get the small business 50% reduction

The amount of a *capital gain remaining after applying step 3 of the method statement in subsection 102-5(1) is reduced by 50%, if the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain.

Example: For an individual (other than one who opts to claim indexation instead of the discount), the discount percentage that applies under step 3 of the method statement is 50%. Therefore, the combined effect of the discount percentage and this section would be to reduce the original capital gain by a total of 75%.

For an individual who opts to claim indexation, or a company, there is no discount percentage, so the individual or company would simply get the 50% reduction under this section.

152-210 You may also get the small business retirement exemption and small business roll-over relief

- (1) The *capital gain, as reduced under section 152-205, may also qualify for:
  - (a) the small business retirement exemption (see Subdivision 152-D); or
  - (b) a small business roll-over (see Subdivision 152-E); or both.
- (2) If it qualifies for both of those concessions, you may choose which order to apply them in.

152-215 15-year rule has priority

This Subdivision does not apply to a *capital gain to which Subdivision 152-B (15-year exemption) applies.

Note: Under that Subdivision, such a gain is entirely disregarded, so there is no need for any further concession to apply.

152-220 You may choose not to apply this Subdivision

You may choose not to apply the reduction mentioned in section 152-205 to a particular *capital gain.

Note: Making this choice might allow a company or trust to make larger tax-free payments under the small business retirement exemption: see section 152-325.

Subdivision 152-D—Small business retirement exemption

Guide to Subdivision 152-D

152-300 What this Subdivision is about

You can choose to disregard a capital gain from a CGT event happening to a CGT asset of your small business if the capital proceeds from the event are used in connection with your retirement.

Section 152-305

There is a lifetime limit of $500,000 for all choices that can be made in respect of an individual under this Subdivision.

You may choose not to apply the concession in section 152-205 (small business 50% reduction) before this one. For an additional concession, see also Subdivision 152-E (small business roll-over).

You do not need to satisfy the basic conditions for this exemption in relation to CGT events J5 and J6.

Table of sections

152-305	Choosing the exemption
152-310	Consequences of choice
152-315	Choosing the amount to disregard
152-320	Meaning of CGT retirement exemption limit
152-325	Company or trust conditions
152-330	15-year rule has priority

152-305 Choosing the exemption

Individual

- (1) If you are an individual, you can choose to disregard all or part of a *capital gain if:
- (a) the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain; and
  - (b) if you are under 55 just before you make the choice—you contribute an amount equal to the asset's *CGT exempt amount to a *complying superannuation fund or an *RSA; and
- Note: For the non-deductibility of the contribution, see subsection 290-150(4).
- (c) the contribution is made:
    - (i) if the relevant CGT event is CGT event J2, J5 or J6—when you made the choice; or
    - (ii) otherwise—at the later of when you made the choice and when you received the proceeds.

Note 1: Section 103-25 tells you when the choice must be made.

---

- (1A) If you receive the *capital proceeds from the *CGT event in instalments, paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) apply to each instalment in succession (up to the asset's *CGT exempt amount).

Company or trust

- (2) A company or a trust (except a public entity—see subsection (3)) can also choose to disregard such an amount if:
- (a) the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the *capital gain; and
  - (b) the entity satisfies the significant individual test (see section 152-50); and
  - (c) the company or trust conditions in section 152-325 are satisfied.

Note: Section 103-25 tells you when the choice must be made.

- (3) Entities of a kind referred to in subsection 328-125(8) cannot make the choice.
- (4) Paragraphs (1)(a) and (2)(a) do not apply if the *capital gain arose from *CGT event J5 or J6.

152-310 Consequences of choice

Consequences in all cases

- (1) If the individual, company or trust makes the choice mentioned in section 152-305 for any part of the *capital gain from the *CGT asset, that part of the capital gain equal to its *CGT exempt amount is disregarded.

Additional consequences in relation to company or trust

- (2) Any payment or part of one the company or trust makes to comply with section 152-325:
- (a) is exempt from income tax for the *CGT concession stakeholder to whom it is made; and
  - (b) cannot be deducted from the company's or trust's assessable income.

---

---

Additional consequences in relation to interposed entities

- (3) If:
- (a) an entity (the paying entity) receives a payment (whether directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) that a company or trust makes to comply with section 152-325; and
  - (b) the paying entity passes on the payment to the *CGT concession stakeholder or another interposed entity;
- then:
- (c) the payment cannot be deducted from the paying entity's assessable income; and
  - (d) the payment received by the paying entity is not assessable income and is not *exempt income.

152-315 Choosing the amount to disregard

- (1) You can choose to disregard all or part of each *capital gain to which this Subdivision applies.
- Note 1: You make capital gains equal to any parts that you do not choose to disregard.
- Note 2: Section 103-25 tells you when the choice must be made.
- (2) However, the choice must be made in a way that ensures that:
- (a) for an individual—your *CGT retirement exemption limit is not exceeded; or
  - (b) for a company or trust—the CGT retirement exemption limit of each individual for whom the choice is made is not exceeded.
- (3) The amount chosen for the asset is its CGT exempt amount.
- (4) The *CGT exempt amount must be specified in writing.
- (5) If a company or trust is making the choice and it has more than one *CGT concession stakeholder, it must specify in writing the percentage of each *CGT asset's *CGT exempt amount that is attributable to each of those stakeholders. One or more of the percentages may be nil, but all of the percentages must add up to 100%.

---

---

Example: Daryl is a significant individual in a company. The company specifies 90% for Daryl under subsection (5) (which means that the percentage specified for the other stakeholder must be 10%). Daryl's retirement exemption limit is $500,000.

To determine whether subsection (2) is complied with, Daryl would take 90% of the asset's CGT exempt amount, add that to amounts previously specified in choices made by or for him under this Subdivision and see whether the total exceeds $500,000.

Note: Subsections (4) and (5) are exceptions to the general rule about choices in section 103-25.

152-320 Meaning of *CGT retirement exemption limit

- (1) An individual's CGT retirement exemption limit at a time is $500,000 reduced by the *CGT exempt amounts of *CGT assets specified in choices previously made by or for the individual under this Subdivision.
- (2) If the individual was one of at least 2 *CGT concession stakeholders of a company or trust, and the company or trust made a choice for the individual, only the individual's percentage (see subsection 152-315(5)) of the assets' *CGT exempt amounts is taken into account under subsection (1) for that choice.

152-325 Company or trust conditions

Company or trust to make payments

- (1) A company or trust must make a payment (whether directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) to at least one of its *CGT concession stakeholders if:
  - (a) the company or trust makes a choice under this Subdivision to disregard a *capital gain from *CGT event J2, J5 or J6; or
  - (b) the company or trust receives an amount of *capital proceeds from a *CGT event for which it makes a choice under this Subdivision.
- (2) If the company or trust receives the *capital proceeds from the CGT event in instalments, subsection (1) applies to each instalment in succession (up to the relevant *CGT exempt amount).

---

---

---

Amount and timing of payments

- (3) If a payment is made to more than one *CGT concession stakeholder, the amount of each such payment is to be worked out by reference to each individual's percentage (see subsection 152-315(5)) of the relevant *CGT exempt amount.
- (3A) If the *CGT concession stakeholder to whom the payment is made is an employee of the company or trust, the payment must not be of a kind mentioned in section 82-135 (disregarding paragraph (fa) of that section).
- (4) The payment must be made by:
  - (a) if paragraph (1)(a) applies—7 days after the company or trust makes the choice; and
  - (b) otherwise—the later of:
    - (i) 7 days after the company or trust makes the choice; and
    - (ii) 7 days after the company or trust receives an amount of *capital proceeds from the *CGT event.
- (5) The amount of the payment, or the sum of the amounts of the payments, required to be made under this section must be equal to the lesser of:
  - (a) either:
    - (i) if paragraph (1)(a) applies—the amount of the *capital gain from the *CGT event that the company or trust disregarded; or
    - (ii) otherwise—the amount of *capital proceeds received; and
  - (b) the relevant *CGT exempt amount.

Payments may be joint or separate

- (6) If this section requires the company or trust to make 2 or more payments to a single *CGT concession stakeholder (whether or not by the same time), the company or trust may meet that requirement by making one payment or by making separate payments.
- (7) If a *CGT concession stakeholder is under 55 just before a payment is made under this section in relation to him or her:

---

- (a) the company or trust must make the payment to the CGT concession stakeholder by contributing it for the stakeholder to a *complying superannuation fund or an *RSA in respect of the stakeholder; and
- (b) the company or trust must notify the trustee of the fund or the *RSA provider at the time the contribution is made that the contribution is made in accordance with this section.

Note: For the non-deductibility of the contribution, see subsection 290-150(4).

- (8) For the purposes of Part 3-30, treat a payment mentioned in paragraph (7)(a), made in accordance with this section, as a contribution made by the *CGT concession stakeholder.

Payments are not dividends or frankable distributions

- (9) Subsection (10) applies if:
  - (a) a company makes a payment to comply with subsection (1) to:
    - (i) a *CGT concession stakeholder; or
    - (ii) an interposed entity, in relation to a CGT concession stakeholder; or
  - (b) both of the following apply:
    - (i) an interposed entity receives a payment (whether directly or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) that a company or trust makes to comply with subsection (1), in relation to a CGT concession stakeholder;
    - (ii) the interposed entity passes on the payment to the CGT concession stakeholder or another interposed entity.
- (10) This Act applies to the payment, to the extent that it is less than or equal to the amount mentioned in subsection (3) for the stakeholder, as if:
  - (a) it were not a *dividend; and
  - (b) it were not a *frankable distribution.
- (11) Subsection (10) applies in relation to the payment despite section 109 and Division 7A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

152-330 15-year rule has priority

This Subdivision does not apply to a *capital gain to which Subdivision 152-B (15-year exemption) applies.

Note: Under that Subdivision, such a gain is entirely disregarded, so there is no need for any further concession to apply.

Subdivision 152-E—Small business roll-over

Guide to Subdivision 152-E

152-400 What this Subdivision is about

A small business roll-over allows you to defer the making of a capital gain from a CGT event happening in relation to one or more small business assets if the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain.

You may choose not to apply the concession in section 152-205 (small business 50% reduction) before this one. For an additional exemption, see also Subdivision 152-D (small business retirement exemption).

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 152-410 When you can obtain the roll-over
- 152-415 What the roll-over consists of
- 152-420 Rules where an individual who has obtained a roll-over dies
- 152-430 15-year rule has priority

Operative provisions

152-410 When you can obtain the roll-over

You can choose to obtain a roll-over under this Subdivision for a *capital gain if the basic conditions in Subdivision 152-A are satisfied for the gain.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Note 1: You can choose the roll-over even if you have not yet acquired a replacement asset or incurred fourth element expenditure, but:
- (a) CGT event J5 happens if, by the end of the replacement asset period, you do not acquire the asset or incur the expenditure (see section 104-197); and
  - (b) CGT event J6 happens if, by the end of the replacement asset period, the cost of the replacement asset or the amount of fourth element expenditure incurred (or both) is less than the amount of the capital gain that you disregarded (see section 104-198).
- Note 2: If you have acquired a replacement asset or incurred fourth element expenditure but there is a change in relation to the replacement asset or improved asset after the end of the replacement asset period, CGT event J2 may happen: see section 104-185.

152-415 What the roll-over consists of

If you choose the roll-over, you can choose to disregard all or part of each *capital gain to which this Subdivision applies.

Note: If you choose to disregard only some of the capital gain, you make a capital gain equal to the remaining amount.

Example: The original capital gain was $100,000. You have reduced it to $25,000 under other concessions (apart from the roll-over). If you choose to disregard $20,000, you are left with a final capital gain of $5,000.

152-420 Rules where an individual who has obtained a roll-over dies

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) a replacement asset, or an asset in relation to which *fourth element expenditure has been incurred, formed part of the estate of an individual who has died; and
  - (b) either or both of the following apply:
    - (i) the asset has devolved to the deceased's *legal personal representative;
    - (ii) the asset has *passed to a beneficiary of the deceased; and
  - (c) a change covered by subsection 104-185(2) or (3) did not happen while the deceased owned it or, if the asset has passed to a beneficiary, while the asset was in the hands of the deceased's legal personal representative.

---

---

Section 152-430

- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, anything done or not done by the deceased in relation to the asset is treated as though it had been done or not done by the *legal personal representative.
- (3) For the purposes of this Subdivision, if the asset has *passed to a beneficiary, anything done or not done by the deceased or by the deceased's *legal personal representative (including because of the operation of subsection (2)) in relation to the asset is treated as though it had been done or not done by the beneficiary.

152-430 15-year rule has priority

This Subdivision does not apply to a *capital gain to which Subdivision 152-B (15-year exemption) applies.

Note: Under that Subdivision, such a gain is entirely disregarded, so there is no need for any further concession to apply.

Part 3-5—Corporate taxpayers and corporate distributions

Division 164—Non-share capital accounts for companies

Guide to Division 164

164-1 What this Division is about

A company that issues non-share equity interests will have a notional account called a non-share capital account. This account records contributions to the company in relation to those non-share equity interests and returns made by the company of those contributions.

A non-share distribution that represents a return of contributions is not taxed as a dividend (subject to the anti-avoidance provisions dealing with dividend substitution). In certain circumstances a company may use its share capital account as the source for such distributions.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

164-5	Object
164-10	Non-share capital account
164-15	Credits to non-share capital account
164-20	Debits to non-share capital account

Operative provisions

164-5 Object

- (1) This Division provides for the *non-share capital account through which a company records contributions made to it in respect of *non-share equity interests and returns by it of those contributions.

---

Section 164-10

---

- (2) This allows a *non-share distribution to be characterised as either:
- (a) a *non-share dividend; or
  - (b) a *non-share capital return.

164-10 Non-share capital account

- (1) A company has a non-share capital account if:
- (a) the company issues a *non-share equity interest in the company on or after 1 July 2001; or
  - (b) the company has issued a non-share equity interest in the company before 1 July 2001 that is still in existence on 1 July 2001; or
  - (c) a *debt interest in the company changes at a particular time (the change time) to an *equity interest in the company because of subsection 974-110(1) or (2); or
  - (d) the following conditions are satisfied in relation to an interest in the company:
    - (i) immediately before subsection 974-75(4) ceases to have effect, the interest is taken to be a debt interest in the company because of that subsection;
    - (ii) the interest is an equity interest in the company at the time (the change time) that is immediately after that cessation;
    - (iii) subsection 974-75(6) does not apply to the interest in relation to the income year that includes the change time; or
  - (e) the following conditions are satisfied in relation to an interest in the company:
    - (i) subsection 974-75(6) applies to the interest in relation to a particular income year;
    - (ii) that subsection does not apply to the interest in relation to the next income year;
    - (iii) the interest is an equity interest in the company at the time (the change time) that is the start of that next income year.
- (2) The account continues in existence even if the company ceases to have any *non-share equity interests on issue.

---

---

- (3) The balance of the account cannot fall below nil.
- (4) The only credits and debits that may be made to the account are those provided for in sections 164-15 and 164-20.

164-15 Credits to non-share capital account

- (1) If the company issues a *non-share equity interest in the company on or after 1 July 2001, there is a credit to the *non-share capital account equal to:

Amount received – Share capital account credit

where:

amount received is the *market value, when it is provided, of the consideration the company receives for the issue of the interest.

share capital account credit is the amount of any credit made to the company's *share capital account in respect of the issue of the interest.

Note: The issue of a non-share equity interest can give rise to a credit to the company's share capital account if the interest consists, for example, of a stapled security that includes a share in the company's capital.

- (2) If paragraph 164-10(1)(c), (d) or (e) applies in relation to a particular interest in the company, there is a credit to the *non-share capital account at the change time referred to in that paragraph of an amount equal to:

Amount received – Share capital account credit – Amount returned

where:

amount received is the *market value, when it was provided, of the consideration the company received for the issue of the interest.

amount returned is so much of the amount received as has been returned to a holder of the interest before the change time.

share capital account credit is the amount of any credit made to the company's *share capital account in respect of the issue of the interest.

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-5 Corporate taxpayers and corporate distributions

Division 164 Non-share capital accounts for companies

- (3) If the company has a *non-share capital account at the beginning of 1 July 2001 because of a *non-share equity interest the company issued before 1 July 2001, there is a credit to the non-share capital account on that day for each non-share equity interest in the company that:
- (a) was issued before 1 July 2001; and
  - (b) is still in existence on 1 July 2001.

- (4) The amount of the credit under subsection (3) is:

$$\text{Amount received} - \frac{\text{Return of}}{\text{amount received}} - \frac{\text{Share capital}}{\text{account credit}}$$

where:

amount received is the *market value, when it is provided, of the consideration the company receives for the issue of the interest.

return of amount received is the sum of the amounts paid before 1 July 2001 by way of return, in whole or in part, of the amount received.

share capital account credit is the sum of any amounts credited before 1 July 2001 to the company's *share capital account in respect of the issue of the interest.

- (5) To avoid doubt, if:
- (a) it appears that a credit to the company's *non-share capital account has arisen under this section because an interest in the company appears to be, or have become, an *equity interest at a time in a particular income year; and
  - (b) because subsection 974-75(6) or 974-110(1A) is subsequently found to apply in relation to the interest and that income year, the interest was not in fact, or did not in fact become, an equity interest at that time;
- the credit referred to in paragraph (a) is taken never to have arisen.

---

164-20 Debits to non-share capital account

- (1) The company may debit the whole or a part of a *non-share distribution against the company's *non-share capital account:
  - (a) to the extent to which the distribution is made as consideration for the surrender, cancellation or redemption of a *non-share equity interest in the company; or
  - (b) to the extent to which:
    - (i) the distribution is made in connection with a reduction in the *market value of a non-share equity interest in the company; and
    - (ii) the amount of the distribution is equal to the amount of the reduction in market value.
- (2) The total of the amounts debited to the account in respect of a particular *non-share equity interest must not exceed the total of the amounts credited to the account in respect of the interest.
- (3) If:
  - (a) an *equity interest in the company changes at a particular time (the change time) to a *debt interest in the company because of subsection 974-110(1) or (2); or
  - (b) an equity interest in the company changes to a debt interest in the company, with effect from a time (the change time) that is the start of a particular income year, because of subsection 974-110(1A); or
  - (c) the following conditions are satisfied in relation to an interest in the company:
    - (i) subsection 974-75(6) does not apply to the interest in relation to a particular income year;
    - (ii) the interest is an equity interest in the company at the end of that income year;
    - (iii) subsection 974-75(6) applies to the interest from the time (the change time) that is the start of the next income year;there is, or is taken to have been, a debit to the *non-share capital account at the change time equal to:

Credits in relation to the interest    –    Debits in relation to the interest

where:

credits in relation to the interest is the sum of all the credits that have been made to the *non-share capital account in relation to the interest before the change time.

debits in relation to the interest is the sum of all the debits that have been made to the *non-share capital account in relation to the interest before the change time.

- (4) To avoid doubt, if:
- (a) it appears that a debit to the company's *non-share capital account has arisen because an interest in the company appears to be, or have become, a *debt interest at a time in a particular income year; and
  - (b) because subsection 974-75(6) or 974-110(1A) is subsequently found not to apply in relation to the interest and that income year, the interest was not in fact, or did not in fact become, a debt interest at that time;

- (a) it meets the conditions in section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners); or

Note: See section 165-215 for a special alternative to these conditions.

- (b) it meets the condition in section 165-13 (which is about the company satisfying the same business test).

Note: In the case of a widely held or eligible Division 166 company, Subdivision 166-A modifies how this Subdivision applies, unless the company chooses otherwise.

165-12 Company must maintain the same owners

Ownership test period

- (1) In determining whether section 165-10 prevents a company from deducting a *tax loss, the ownership test period is the period from the start of the *loss year to the end of the income year.

Note: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete test periods.

Voting power

- (2) There must be persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company at all times during the *ownership test period.

Note: See section 165-150 to work out who had more than 50% of the voting power.

Rights to dividends

- (3) There must be persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends at all times during the *ownership test period.

Note: See section 165-155 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's dividends.

Rights to capital distributions

- (4) There must be persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions at all times during the *ownership test period.

Section 165-12

When to apply the primary test

- (5) To work out whether a condition in this section was satisfied at all times during the *ownership test period, apply the primary test for that condition unless subsection (6) requires the alternative test to be applied.

Note: For the primary test, see subsections 165-150(1), 165-155(1) and 165-160(1).

When to apply the alternative test

- (6) Apply the alternative test for that condition if one or more other companies beneficially owned *shares or interests in shares in the company at any time during the *ownership test period.

Note: For the alternative test, see subsections 165-150(2), 165-155(2) and 165-160(2).

Conditions in subsections (2), (3) and (4) may be treated as having been satisfied in certain circumstances

- (7) If any of the conditions in subsections (2), (3) and (4) have not been satisfied, those conditions are taken to have been satisfied if:
- (a) they would have been satisfied except for the operation of section 165-165; and
  - (b) the company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that less than 50% of the *tax loss has been reflected in deductions, capital losses, or reduced assessable income, that occurred, or could occur in future, because of the happening of any *CGT event in relation to any *direct equity interests or *indirect equity interests in the company during the *ownership test period.
- (7A) If the company is:
- (a) a *non-profit company; or
  - (b) a *mutual affiliate company; or
  - (c) a *mutual insurance company;
- during the whole of the *ownership test period, the conditions in subsections (3) and (4) are taken to have been satisfied by the company.

---

Time of happening of CGT event

- (8) The happening of a *CGT event in relation to a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest in the company that results in the failure of the company to satisfy a condition in subsection (2), (3) or (4) is taken, for the purposes of paragraph (7)(b), to have occurred during the *ownership test period.

165-13 Alternatively, the company must satisfy the same business test

- (1) This section sets out the condition that a company must meet to be able to deduct the *tax loss if:
- (a) the company fails to meet a condition in subsection 165-12(2), (3) or (4); or
  - (b) it is not practicable to show that the company meets the conditions in those subsections.

Note Other provisions may treat the company as meeting, or failing to meet, the conditions in subsections 165-12(2), (3) and (4).

- (2) The company must satisfy the *same business test for the income year (the same business test period). Apply the test to the *business the company carried on immediately before the time (the test time) shown in the relevant item of the table.

Test time
Item	If:	The test time is:
1	It is practicable to show there is a period that meets these conditions:  (a) the period starts at the start of the *ownership test period or, if the company came into being during the *loss year, at the time the company came into being;  (b) the company would meet the conditions in subsections 165-12(2), (3) and (4) if the period were the ownership test period for the purposes of this Act	The latest time that it is practicable to show is in the period
2	Item 1 does not apply and the company was in being throughout the *loss year	The start of the loss year

Test time
Item	If:	The test time is:
3	Item 1 does not apply and the company came into being during the *loss year	The end of the loss year

For the same business test: see Subdivision 165-E.

165-15 The same people must control the voting power, or the company must satisfy the same business test

- (1) Even if a company meets the conditions in section 165-12 or 165-13, it cannot deduct the *tax loss if:
  - (a) for some or all of the part of the *ownership test period that started at the end of the *loss year, a person controlled, or was able to control, the voting power in the company (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); and
  - (b) for some or all of the *loss year, that person did not control, and was not able to control, that voting power (directly, or indirectly in that way); and
  - (c) that person began to control, or became able to control, that voting power (directly, or indirectly in that way) for the purpose of:
    - (i) getting some benefit or advantage in relation to how this Act applies; or
    - (ii) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else; or for purposes including that purpose.
- Note: A person can still control the voting power in a company that is in liquidation etc.: see section 165-250.
- (2) However, that person's control of the voting power, or ability to control it, does not prevent the company from deducting the *tax loss if the company satisfies the *same business test for the income year (the same business test period).
- (3) Apply the *same business test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the time (the test time) when the person began to control that voting power, or became able to control it.

For the same business test: see Subdivision 165-E.

165-20 When company can deduct part of a tax loss

- (1) If section 165-10 (which is about deducting a tax loss) prevents a company from deducting a *tax loss, the company can deduct the part of the tax loss that was incurred during a part of the loss year.
- (2) However, the company can do this only if, assuming that part of the *loss year had been treated as the whole of the loss year for the purposes of section 165-10, the company would have been entitled to deduct the *tax loss.

165-25 Summary of this Subdivision

- (1) The company calculates its taxable income for the income year in this way:

Method statement

- Step 1. Divide the income year into periods: each change in ownership or control is a dividing point between periods.
- Step 2. Treat each period as if it were an income year and work out the notional loss or notional taxable income for that period.
- Step 3. Work out the taxable income for the year of the change by adding up:
  - each notional taxable income; and
  - any full year amounts (amounts of assessable income not taken into account at Step 2);and then subtracting any full year deductions (deductions not taken into account at Step 2).

Note: Do not take into account any notional loss.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) As well as a taxable income, the company will have a tax loss. It is the total of:
- each notional loss; and
  - excess full year deductions of particular kinds.
- (3) Special rules apply if the company was in partnership at some time during the income year.

For the special rules that apply if the company was in partnership: see sections 165-75 to 165-90.

When a company must work out its taxable income and tax loss under this Subdivision

165-35 On a change of ownership, unless the company satisfies the same business test

A company must calculate its taxable income and *tax loss under this Subdivision unless:

- (a) there are persons who had *more than a 50% stake in the company during the whole of the income year; or

Note: See section 165-220 for a special alternative to the condition in this paragraph.

- (b) there is only part of the income year (a part that started at the start of the income year) during which the same persons had *more than a 50% stake in the company, but the company satisfies the *same business test for the rest of the income year (the same business test period).

For the purposes of paragraph (b), apply the *same business test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the time (the test time) when that part ended.

Note 1: For the same business test, see Subdivision 165-E.

Note 2: In the case of a widely held or eligible Division 166 company, Subdivision 166-B modifies how this Subdivision applies, unless the company chooses otherwise.

165-37 Who has more than a 50% stake in the company during a period

(1) If:

- (a) there are persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company during the whole of a period (the ownership test period) consisting of the income year or a part of it; and
- (b) there are persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends during the whole of the ownership test period; and

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-5 Corporate taxpayers and corporate distributions

Division 165 Income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company

Section 165-37

(c) there are persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions during the whole of the ownership test period;

those persons had more than a 50% stake in the company during the ownership test period.

- (2) To work out whether a condition in subsection (1) was satisfied during the *ownership test period, apply the primary test for that condition unless subsection (3) requires the alternative test to be applied.

For the primary tests: see subsections 165-150(1), 165-155(1) and 165-160(1).

- (3) Apply the alternative test for that condition if one or more other companies beneficially owned *shares, or interests in shares, in the company at any time during the *ownership test period.

For the alternative tests: see subsections 165-150(2), 165-155(2) and 165-160(2).

Conditions in subsection (1) may be treated as having been satisfied in certain circumstances

- (4) If any of the conditions in subsection (1) have not been satisfied, those conditions are taken to have been satisfied if:

- (a) they would have been satisfied except for the operation of section 165-165; and
- (b) the company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that less than 50% of the *notional loss for the *ownership test period has been reflected in deductions, capital losses, or reduced assessable income, that occurred, or could occur in future, because of the happening of any *CGT event in relation to any *direct equity interests or *indirect equity interests in the company during that period.

- (4A) If the company is:

- (a) a *non-profit company; or
- (b) a *mutual affiliate company; or
- (c) a *mutual insurance company;

---

during the whole of the *ownership test period, the conditions in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are taken to have been satisfied by the company.

Time of happening of CGT event

- (5) The happening of a *CGT event in relation to a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest in the company that results in the failure of the company to satisfy a condition in subsection (1) is taken, for the purposes of paragraph (4)(b), to have occurred during the *ownership test period.

165-40 On a change of control of the voting power in the company, unless the company satisfies the same business test

- (1) A company must calculate its taxable income and tax loss under this Subdivision if, during the income year, a person begins to control, or becomes able to control, the voting power in the company (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) for the purpose, or for purposes including the purpose, of:
- (a) getting some benefit or advantage in relation to how this Act applies; or
  - (b) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else.

Note: A person can still control the voting power in a company that is in liquidation etc.: see section 165-250.

- (2) However, that person's control of the voting power, or ability to control it, does not require the company to calculate its taxable income under this Subdivision if the company satisfies the *same business test for the rest of the income year (the same business test period).
- (3) Apply the *same business test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the time (the test time) when the person began to control that voting power, or became able to control it.

For the same business test: see Subdivision 165-E.

Working out the company's taxable income

165-45 First, divide the income year into periods

- (1) Divide the income year into periods as follows.
- (2) The first period starts at the start of the income year. Each later period starts immediately after the end of the previous period.
- (3) The last period ends at the end of the income year. Each period (except the last) ends at the earlier of:
  - (a) the latest time that would result in persons having *more than a 50% stake in the company during the whole of the period; or
  - (b) the earliest time when a person begins to control, or becomes able to control, the voting power in the company (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) for the purpose, or for purposes including the purpose, of:
    - (i) getting some benefit or advantage to do with how this Act applies; or
    - (ii) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else.

Note: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete periods.

- (4) However, what would otherwise be 2 or more successive periods are treated as a single period if the company satisfies the *same business test for all of them, considered as a single period (the same business test period). Apply the same business test to the *business the company carried on immediately before the end of the first of the periods (the test time).

Note 1: For the same business test, see Subdivision 165-E.

Note 2: See section 165-225 for a special alternative to this section.

165-50 Next, calculate the notional loss or notional taxable income for each period

- (1) The company has a *notional loss for a period if the deductions attributed to the period under section 165-55 exceed the assessable income attributed to the period under section 165-60. The notional loss is the amount of the excess.

---

For a period during which the company was in partnership, the notional loss is worked out under section 165-75.

- (2) On the other hand, if that assessable income exceeds those deductions, the company has a notional taxable income for the period, equal to the excess.

For a period during which the company was in partnership, the notional taxable income is worked out under section 165-75.

- (3) If the company has a *notional loss for none of the periods in the income year, this Subdivision has no further application, and the company's taxable income for the income year is calculated in the usual way.

The usual way of working out taxable income is set out in section 4-15.

165-55 How to attribute deductions to periods

- (1) The company's deductions for the income year are attributed to periods in the income year as follows.
- (2) The following deductions are attributed to each period in proportion to the length of the period:
- (a) deductions for the decline in value of a *depreciating asset;
See Division 40.
  - (b) deductions for *exploration or prospecting, or *mining capital expenditure, in connection with mining or quarrying;
See section 40-80 and Subdivisions 40-H and 40-I.
  - (c) deductions for expenditure, deductions for which are spread over 2 or more income years, but not:
    - (i) deductions for exploration or prospecting, or capital expenditure, in connection with mining or quarrying; or See Subdivision 40-I.
    - (ii) *full year deductions (see subsection (5));
  - (d) deductions for expenditure of capital monies in connection with an Australian *film.
See section 124ZAFA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (3) All other deductions (except *full year deductions) are attributed to periods as if each period were an income year.

---

---

Section 165-60

---

- (4) *Full year deductions are not attributed to any of the periods. They are brought in at a later stage of the process of calculating the company's taxable income for the income year.
- (5) These are full year deductions:
- (a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) or section 25-35 (about bad debts);
  - (b) deductions for losses on debt/equity swaps under section 63E of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies to the company in relation to the income year;
  - (fa) deductions for payments of pensions, gratuities or retiring allowances under section 25-50;
  - (fb) deductions for gifts under Division 30;
  - (f) deductions for *tax losses of earlier income years;
See Division 36.
  - (j) deductions for Farm Management Deposits.
See Schedule 2G to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (6) However, a deduction for the balance of capital expenditure is not a full year deduction if the deduction results from the disposal, loss, lapse, termination of use or destruction of the property.

165-60 How to attribute assessable income to periods

- (1) The company's assessable income for the income year is attributed to periods in the income year as follows.
- (2) The following amounts are attributed to periods so far as they are reasonably attributable to those periods:
- (a) amounts included in the company's assessable income under section 97 (Beneficiary of a trust estate who is not under a legal disability) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (b) amounts included in the company's assessable income under section 98A (Non-resident beneficiaries assessable in respect of certain income) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2A) However, so much of an amount included in the company's assessable income under section 97 or 98A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as is a *capital gain that forms part of a *net capital gain is not attributed to a period.
- (3) The following items of assessable income are attributed to each period in proportion to the length of the period:
- (a) insurance recoveries for loss of livestock or trees;
See section 385-130.
  - (b) amounts included in assessable income as a result of elections relating to the forced disposal of livestock;
See Subdivision 385-E and section 385-160.
  - (c) recoupment of mains electricity connection expenditure.
See items 1.16 and 2.5 in section 20-30, which lists deductions for which recoupments are assessable under Subdivision 20-A.
- (4) An amount included in the company's assessable income under section 385-135 (Election to defer including profit on second wool clip) is attributed to the period when the wool would ordinarily have been shorn.
- (5) An amount included in the company's assessable income that is a *dividend under:
- (a) section 65 (Payments to associated persons); or
  - (c) section 109 (Excessive payments to shareholders and associates);
- of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is attributed to the period when the amount was paid or credited, whichever occurred first.
- (6) All other items of assessable income (except *full year amounts) are attributed to periods as if each period were an income year.
- (6A) A *net capital gain is not attributed to a period.
- Note: This is because Subdivision 165-CB provides for how the company must work out its net capital gain for the income year.
- (7) Full year amounts are amounts referred to in paragraphs (2)(a) and (b), so far as they are not reasonably attributable to a period, but do not include any part of a *capital gain that forms part of a *net capital gain. Full year amounts are brought in at a later stage of the process of calculating the company's taxable income for the income year.

165-65 How to calculate the company's taxable income for the income year

(1) The company's taxable income for the income year is calculated as follows.

(2) Add up the *notional taxable incomes (if any) worked out under section 165-50 or 165-75.

Note: A notional loss for a period is not taken into account, but counts towards the company's tax loss for the income year.

(3) Add the *full year amounts referred to in subsection 165-60(7) (if any) and any *net capital gain of the company for the income year.

(4) Subtract the company's *full year deductions of these kinds:

(a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) or section 25-35 (about bad debts);

(c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies to the company in relation to the income year;

unless they exceed the total of the *notional taxable incomes and the *full year amounts. (If they equal or exceed that total, the company does not have a taxable income for the income year.)

(5) If an amount remains, subtract from it the company's other *full year deductions, in the order shown in subsection 165-55(5), unless they exceed the amount remaining. (If they equal or exceed that amount, the company does not have a taxable income for the income year.)

(6) If an amount remains, it is the company's taxable income for the income year.

Working out the company's tax loss

165-70 How to calculate the company's tax loss for the income year

- (1) The company's tax loss for the income year is calculated as follows.
- (2) Total the *notional losses worked out under section 165-50 or 165-75.
- (3) Add to the total in subsection (2) the amount (if any) by which the company's *full year deductions of these kinds:
  - (a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) or section 25-35 (about bad debts);
  - (c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies to the company in relation to the income year;exceed the total of:
  - (d) the *notional taxable incomes (if any); and
  - (e) the *full year amounts referred to in section 165-60 (if any); and
  - (f) any *net capital gain of the company for the income year.
- (4) If the company *derived exempt income, subtract its *net exempt income (worked out under section 36-20).
- (5) Any amount remaining is the company's tax loss for the income year, which is called a loss year.

Note: The meanings of tax loss and loss year are modified by section 36-55 for a corporate tax entity that has an amount of excess franking offsets.

To find out how much of the tax loss can be deducted in later income years: see Subdivision 165-A.

To find out how to deduct it: see section 36-17.

Special rules that apply if the company is in partnership

165-75 How to calculate the company's notional loss or notional taxable income for a period when the company was a partner

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the company was a partner in one or more partnerships.
- (2) The company has a *notional loss for the period if the total (the loss total) of:
  - (a) the deductions attributed to the period under section 165-55; and
  - (b) the *company's share of each *notional loss (if any) of a partnership for the period;exceeds the total (the income total) of:
  - (c) the assessable income attributed to the period under section 165-60; and
  - (d) the *company's share of each *notional net income (if any) of a partnership for the period.

The notional loss is the amount of the excess.

Note: A notional loss is taken into account in working out the company's tax loss under section 165-70.

- (3) On the other hand, if the income total exceeds the loss total, the company has a notional taxable income for the period, equal to the excess.

Note: A notional taxable income is taken into account in working out the company's taxable income under section 165-65.

- (4) If the company has a *notional taxable income for all periods in the income year, this Subdivision has no further application, and the company's taxable income for the income year is calculated in the usual way.

Note: The usual way of working out taxable income is set out in section 4-15.

165-80 How to calculate the company's share of a partnership's notional loss or notional net income for a period if both entities have the same income year

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the company is a partner in a partnership that has an income year that starts and ends when the company's income year starts and ends.
- (2) The partnership's notional loss or notional net income for the period is calculated in the same way as the *notional loss or *notional taxable income of a company.
- (3) The company's share is calculated by dividing:
  - the company's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of the income year;by
  - the amount of that net income or partnership loss;and expressing the result as a percentage.
- (4) However, if the partnership had neither a net income nor a partnership loss, the company's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to the extent of the company's interest in the partnership.

165-85 How to calculate the company's share of a partnership's notional loss or notional net income for a period if the entities have different income years

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the company is a partner in a partnership that has an income year that starts and ends at a different time from when the company's income year starts and ends.
- (2) So much of the partnership's net income or partnership loss of an income year as was *derived during the period is a notional net income or notional loss of the partnership for the period. (For the purposes of this subsection, the partnership's net income or partnership loss is calculated without taking account of the partnership's *full year deductions for that income year.)

Note: The partnership's full year deductions are dealt with in section 165-90.

- (3) The company's share is calculated by dividing:
- the company's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of that income year;
- by
- the amount of that net income or partnership loss;
- and expressing the result as a percentage.

165-90 Company's full year deductions include a share of partnership's full year deductions

- (1) This section applies if at any time during the income year the company is a partner in a partnership that has one or more *full year deductions for the income year of the partnership that corresponds to the income year of the company.
- (2) The partnership's *full year deductions are treated as full year deductions of the company, but only to the extent of the *company's share.
- (3) If the partnership's income year is the same as the company's, the company's share is calculated by dividing:
- the company's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of the income year;
- by
- the amount of that net income or partnership loss;
- and expressing the result as a percentage.
- (4) However, if the partnership had neither a net income nor a partnership loss, the company's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to the extent of the company's interest in the partnership.
- (5) If the partnership's income year does not start and end at the same time as the company's income year, the company's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to all relevant circumstances.

Subdivision 165-CA—Applying net capital losses of earlier income years

Guide to Subdivision 165-CA

165-93 What this Subdivision is about

In working out its net capital gain for an income year, a company cannot apply a net capital loss for an earlier income year unless:

- (a) it has the same owners and the same control from the start of the loss year to the end of the income year; or
- (b) it satisfies the same business test by carrying on the same business, entering into no new kinds of transactions and conducting no new kinds of business.

- (1) In working out its *net capital gain for the *current year, a company cannot apply a *net capital loss it has for an earlier income year if Subdivision 165-A would prevent it from deducting the loss for the current year if:
  - (a) the loss were a *tax loss of the company for that earlier income year; and

Note 1: A company's net capital gain for an income year is usually worked out under section 102-5.

Note 2: Subdivision 165-A deals with the deductibility of a company's tax loss for an earlier income year if there has been a change in the ownership or control of the company in the period from the start of the loss year to the end of the income year.

Note 3: Subdivision 165-F may affect the application of Subdivision 165-A.

- (2) If subsection (1) prevents the company from applying the *net capital loss, it can apply the part of the loss that it made during a part of that earlier income year, but only if, assuming that part of that income year had been treated as the whole of it, the company would have been entitled to apply the net capital loss.

A company that has not had the same ownership and control during the income year, and has not satisfied the same business test, works out its net capital gain and net capital loss under this Subdivision.

165-114 How to work out the company's net capital loss

When a company must work out its net capital gain and net capital loss under this Subdivision

165-102 On a change of ownership, or of control of voting power, unless the company satisfies the same business test

A company must calculate its *net capital gain and *net capital loss for the income year under this Subdivision if:

- (a) it must calculate its taxable income and *tax loss for the income year under Subdivision 165-B; or

Note: Subdivision 165-F may affect the application of Subdivision 165-B.

- (b) it would be required to calculate them under that Subdivision but for subsection 165-50(3) (about cases where that Subdivision would make no difference to the taxable income).

Note: In the case of a widely held or eligible Division 166 company, Subdivision 166-B modifies how this Subdivision applies, unless the company chooses otherwise.

Working out the company's net capital gain and net capital loss

165-105 First, divide the income year into periods

Divide the income year into periods according to section 165-45 (which is about working out the company's taxable income under Subdivision 165-B).

165-108 Next, calculate the notional net capital gain or notional net capital loss for each period

- (1) The company has a notional net capital gain for a period if the total of the *capital gains it made during the period exceeds the total of the *capital losses it made during the period. The notional net capital gain is the amount of the excess.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 165-111

---

- (2) On the other hand, if the total of those losses exceeds the total of those gains, the company has a notional net capital loss for the period, equal to the excess.
- (3) If the company has a *notional net capital loss for none of the periods in the income year, this Subdivision has no further application, and the company's *net capital gain for the income year is calculated in the usual way.

The usual way of working out the net capital gain is set out in section 102-5.

Trust's capital gain attributed to company beneficiary

- (4) If some or all (the attributable amount) of an amount included in the company's assessable income for the income year under:
  - (a) section 97 (Beneficiary of a trust estate who is not under a legal disability) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (b) section 98A (Non-resident beneficiaries assessable in respect of certain income) of that Act;

is attributable to a *capital gain that the trust made at a particular time during the period, this section applies to the attributable amount as if it were a *capital gain made by the company at that time.

165-111 How to work out the company's net capital gain

The company's net capital gain for the income year is worked out in this way:

Working out the company's net capital gain

Step 1. Add up the *notional net capital gains (if any) worked out under section 165-108.

Note: A notional net capital loss for a period is not taken into account, but counts towards the company's net capital loss for the income year.

Step 2. Add to the Step 1 amount so much of each amount included in the company's assessable income for the income year under:

---

(a) section 97 (Beneficiary of a trust estate who is not under a legal disability) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or

(b) section 98A (Non-resident beneficiaries assessable in respect of certain income) of that Act;

as is attributable to a *capital gain that the trust made outside the income year.

Note: This is relevant only if the trust has an income year that starts and ends at a different time from when the company's income year starts and ends.

Step 3. If the Step 2 amount is more than zero, reduce it by applying any unapplied *net capital losses from previous income years. (If this reduces it to zero, the company has no net capital gain for the income year.)

Note: To apply net capital losses: see section 102-15.

Step 4. If the Step 3 amount is more than zero, it is the company's net capital gain.

Note : For exceptions and modifications to these rules: see section 102-30.

165-114 How to work out the company's net capital loss

The company's net capital loss for the income year is worked out in this way:

Working out the company's net capital loss

Step 1. Add up the *notional net capital losses (if any) worked out under section 165-108.

Step 2. If the Step 1 amount is more than zero, it is the company's net capital loss.

Note 1: The net capital loss can be applied against the company's capital gains for a later income year: see sections 102-5 and 102-15.

Note 2: For exceptions and modifications to these rules: see section 102-30.

Subdivision 165-CC—Change of ownership or control of company that has an unrealised net loss

Guide to Subdivision 165-CC

165-115 What this Subdivision is about

If a change occurs in the ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss, the company cannot, to the extent of the unrealised net loss, have capital losses taken into account, or deduct revenue losses, in respect of CGT events that happen to CGT assets that it owned at the time of the change, unless it satisfies the same business test.

165-115AA Special rules to save compliance costs

- (1) A company is exempt from these rules if, at the time of the change in ownership or control, it (together with certain related entities) has a net asset value of not more than $6,000,000 under the test in section 152-15 (for small business CGT relief).
- (2) In working out whether it has an unrealised net loss, a company can choose to work out the *market value of each of its assets individually, or of all of its assets together.
- (3) If a company works out the *market value of each of its assets individually, it may choose to exclude every asset that it acquired for less than $10,000, in which case:
  - (a) unrealised losses and gains on the excluded assets will not be taken into account in calculating the company's unrealised net loss; and
  - (b) losses on the excluded assets will be allowed without the company being subject to the same business test.

Operative provisions

165-115A Application of Subdivision

Application

- (1) This Subdivision applies to a company if:
  - (a) a changeover time has occurred or occurs in relation to the company after the commencement time; and
  - (b) at the changeover time the company had an unrealised net loss (see section 165-115E); and
  - (c) either of the following applies:
    - (i) the company makes a *capital loss, or apart from this Subdivision would be entitled to a deduction, in respect of a *CGT event that happens to a *CGT asset referred to in subsection (1A);
    - (ii) the company makes a *trading stock loss in respect of a CGT asset referred to in subsection (1A) that is an item of *trading stock; and
  - (d) the company would not, at the changeover time, satisfy the maximum net asset value test under section 152-15.

CGT assets in respect of which Subdivision applies

- (1A) The *CGT assets for the purposes of paragraph 165-115A(1)(c) are:
  - (a) any CGT asset that the company owned at the changeover time; and
  - (b) any CGT asset that the company did not own at the changeover time but had owned at a previous time, where:

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-5 Corporate taxpayers and corporate distributions

Division 165 Income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company

Section 165-115A

- (i) a deferral event referred to in subsection 170-255(1) happened before the changeover time; and
- (ii) the deferral event involved the company as the originating company referred to in that subsection; and
- (iii) the deferral event would have resulted in the company making a *capital loss, or becoming entitled to a deduction, in respect of the CGT asset except for section 170-270; and
- (iv) the company is not taken to have made a capital loss at or before the changeover time, or to have become entitled to a deduction at that time, under section 170-275 in respect of the asset.

Company may choose to disregard CGT assets acquired for less than $10,000

- (1B) A company may choose, for the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to it in respect of a particular changeover time, that every *CGT asset that has been acquired by it for less than $10,000 is to be disregarded.

However, the choice does not affect the application of the *global method of working out whether the company has an unrealised net loss (see subsection 165-115E(2)).

Time for making choice

- (1C) A choice under subsection (1B) must be made on or before:
- (a) the day on which the company lodges its *income tax return for the income year in which the relevant changeover time occurred; or
  - (b) such later day as the Commissioner allows.

Trading stock loss

- (1D) A company is taken to have made a trading stock loss in respect of an asset that is an item of *trading stock if, and only if:
- (a) one of the following applies:
    - (i) the company *disposes of the item;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) the item stops being trading stock (within the meaning of section 70-80);
- (iii) the item is revalued under Division 70; and
- (b) if subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) applies—the item's *market value at the time when it is disposed of or stops being trading stock is less than:
  - (i) in respect of an item that has been valued under Division 70—its latest value under the Division; or
  - (ii) otherwise—its cost at that time; and
- (c) if subparagraph (a)(iii) applies—the item's value under the revaluation is less than:
  - (i) in respect of an item that has previously been valued under Division 70—its latest value under that Division before the revaluation; or
  - (ii) otherwise—its cost at the time of the revaluation.

The difference worked out under paragraph (b) or (c), as the case may be, constitutes the amount of the *trading stock loss.

Commencement time

- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the commencement time of a company is:
  - (a) if the company was in existence at 1 pm (by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory) on 11 November 1999—that time; or
  - (b) if the company came into existence after that time—the time when it came into existence.

Reference time

- (2A) For the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to a company in relation to a particular time (the test time), the reference time is:
  - (a) if no changeover time occurred in respect of the company before the test time—the commencement time; or
  - (b) otherwise—the time immediately after the last changeover time that occurred in respect of the company before the test time.

Section 165-115B

---

Asset owned at more than one changeover time

- (3) If:
- (a) 2 or more changeover times have occurred or occur in relation to a company; and
  - (b) the company owned a particular asset at more than one of those changeover times;

this Subdivision applies to the company in respect of that asset only in relation to the later or latest of those changeover times.

Note: For changeover time see sections 165-115C and 165-115D.

165-115B What happens when the company makes a capital loss or becomes entitled to a deduction in respect of a CGT asset after a changeover time

Where capital loss or deduction is equal to or less than residual unrealised net loss

- (1) If the *capital loss or deduction referred to in subparagraph 165-115A(1)(c)(i) is equal to or less than the company's residual unrealised net loss at the time of the occurrence of the event that resulted in the capital loss or entitled the company to the deduction:
- (a) the capital loss is taken to have been a *net capital loss; or
  - (b) the deduction is taken to have been a *tax loss;
- of the company for the income year immediately before the income year in which the changeover time occurred.

Where capital loss or deduction is greater than residual unrealised net loss

- (2) If the *capital loss or deduction referred to in subparagraph 165-115A(1)(c)(i) is greater than the company's residual unrealised net loss at the time of the occurrence of the event that resulted in the capital loss or entitled the company to the deduction:
- (a) the part of the capital loss that is equal to the residual unrealised net loss is taken to have been a *net capital loss; or

(b) the part of the deduction that is equal to the residual unrealised net loss is taken to have been a *tax loss; of the company for the income year immediately before the income year in which the changeover time occurred.

Company does not meet certain conditions in relation to net capital loss or tax loss

- (3) The company is taken not to have met, at the changeover time, the conditions in subsections 165-12(2), (3) and (4) in relation to the *net capital loss or the *tax loss. The changeover time is the test time for applying section 165-13 to the company.

Need to meet same business test

- (4) The effect of subsection (3) is that the company cannot apply the *net capital loss (see section 165-10 as it applies because of section 165-96), or deduct the *tax loss (see section 165-10), unless it meets the condition in section 165-13 (the same business test).

Consequences for net capital loss

- (5) The *net capital loss cannot be applied against *capital gains made in an income year before the income year in which the company made the capital loss referred to in subparagraph 165-115A(1)(c)(i).

Consequences for tax loss

- (6) The *tax loss cannot be deducted from assessable income *derived in an income year before the income year in which the company would have been entitled to the deduction referred to in subparagraph 165-115A(1)(c)(i).

Note: For changeover time see sections 165-115C and 165-115D.

165-115BA What happens when a CGT event happens after a changeover time to a CGT asset of the company that is trading stock

Application

- (1) This section applies to the company if, after the changeover time, the company makes a *trading stock loss in respect of an item of *trading stock as mentioned in subparagraph 165-115A(1)(c)(ii).

Where trading stock loss is equal to or less than residual unrealised net loss

- (2) If the *trading stock loss is equal to or less than the company's residual unrealised net loss at the time of the occurrence of the trading stock loss, the amount of the trading stock loss is to be included in the company's assessable income.

Where trading stock loss is greater than unrealised net loss

- (3) If the *trading stock loss is greater than the company's residual unrealised net loss at the time of the occurrence of the trading stock loss, the part of the trading stock loss that is equal to the residual unrealised net loss is to be included in the company's assessable income.

No increase in assessable income if company satisfies the same business test

- (4) Neither subsection (2) nor (3) applies to the company if the company meets the condition in section 165-13 (the same business test).

Assumptions for purposes of same business test

- (5) In determining whether the company meets the condition in section 165-13, assume:
- (a) that the *trading stock loss (if subsection (2) applies) or the part of the trading stock loss (if subsection (3) applies) is a *net capital loss of the company for the income year

---

---

immediately before the income year in which the changeover time occurred; and

- (b) that the company failed, at the changeover time, to meet the condition in subsections 165-12(2), (3) and (4) in relation to the net capital loss referred to in paragraph (a); and
- (c) that the changeover time is the test time; and
- (d) that the same business test period is the income year in which the loss occurred.

165-115BB Order of application of assets: residual unrealised net loss

Order in which assets are to be applied

- (1) In applying subsection 165-115B(2) or 165-115BA(3) in respect of assets that the company owned at the changeover time:
  - (a) the company's *capital losses are taken to have been made, the company is taken to have become entitled to deductions and the company is taken to have made *trading stock losses in the order in which the events that resulted in the capital losses, deductions or trading stock losses occurred; and
  - (b) if 2 or more such events occurred at the same time, they are taken to have occurred in such order as the company determines.

Residual unrealised net loss

- (2) The company's residual unrealised net loss, at the time of an event (the relevant event) that resulted in the company making a *capital loss, becoming entitled to a deduction or making a *trading stock loss, in respect of an asset, is the amount worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{Unrealised net loss} - \begin{array}{l} \text{Previous capital losses, deductions} \\ \text{or trading stock losses} \end{array}$$

where:

previous capital losses, deductions or trading stock losses means the total of the following:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) capital losses that the company made, deductions to which the company became entitled, or trading stock losses that the company made, as a result of events earlier than the relevant event in respect of assets that the company owned at the *changeover time;
- (b) each reduction that section 715-105 (as applying to the company as the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group) makes in respect of such an asset because an entity ceased before the time of the relevant event to be a *subsidiary member of the group (but counting only the greater or greatest such reduction if 2 or more are made for the same asset); or nil if there are none.

unrealised net loss means the company's unrealised net loss at the last changeover time that occurred before the relevant event.

Note: For changeover time see sections 165-115C and 165-115D.

165-115C Changeover time—change in ownership of company

- (1) A time (the test time) is a changeover time in respect of a company if:
  - (a) persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company at the reference time do not have more than 50% of that voting power immediately after the test time; or
  - (b) persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends at the reference time do not have rights to more than 50% of those dividends immediately after the test time; or
  - (c) persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions at the reference time do not have rights to more than 50% of those distributions immediately after the test time.

Note 1: See section 165-150 to work out who had more than 50% of the voting power in the company.

Note 2: See section 165-155 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's dividends.

Note 3: See section 165-160 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's capital distributions.

---

Note 4: For reference time see subsection 165-115A(2A).

- (2) To work out whether paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c) applied at a particular time, apply the primary test unless subsection (3) requires the alternative test to be applied.

Note: For the primary test see subsections 165-150(1), 165-155(1) and 165-160(1).

- (3) Apply the alternative test if one or more other companies beneficially owned *shares or interests in shares in the company at any time during the period from the reference time to the *test time.

Note: For the alternative test see subsections 165-150(2), 165-155(2) and 165-160(2).

- (4) A *test time that would, apart from this subsection, be a changeover time in respect of the company because of the application of subsection (1) is taken not to be a changeover time if:

- (a) that subsection would not have applied except for the operation of section 165-165; and
- (b) the company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that less than 50% of the company's unrealised net loss at the test time has been reflected in deductions, capital losses, or reduced assessable income, that occurred, or could occur in future, because of the happening of any *CGT event in relation to any *direct equity interests or *indirect equity interests in the company during the period from the reference time to the test time.

- (4A) If the company is:

- (a) a *non-profit company; or
- (b) a *mutual affiliate company; or
- (c) a *mutual insurance company;

during the whole of the period from the reference time to the *test time, the test time is taken not to be a *changeover time in respect of the company because of the application of paragraphs (1)(b) and (c).

- (5) The happening of any *CGT event in relation to a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest in the company that results in the time of the happening of the event being a changeover time in respect of the company is taken, for the purposes of paragraph (4)(b), to have occurred during the period referred to in that paragraph.

Section 165-115D

165-115D Changeover time—change in control of company

- (1) A time (the test time) is also a changeover time in respect of a company if, at the test time:
  - (a) a person or persons who did not control, and were not able to control, the voting power in the company at the reference time began to control, or became able to control, that voting power immediately after the test time; and
  - (b) that person or those persons so began, or became able, to control that voting power for the purpose of:
    - (i) getting some benefit or advantage in relation to how this Act applies; or
    - (ii) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else; or for purposes including that purpose.

Note: A person can still control the voting power in a company that is in liquidation etc.: see section 165-250.

- (2) In this section:

control of the voting power in a company means control of that voting power either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities.

165-115E What is an unrealised net loss

- (1) The question whether a company has an unrealised net loss at a particular time (the relevant time) is worked out in this way (the individual asset method), unless the company chooses to work it out using the *global method (set out in subsection (2)).

---

---

Method statement

Step 1. Work out under section 165-115F in respect of each *CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant time any notional capital gain or notional revenue gain or any notional capital loss or notional revenue loss that the company has at that time in respect of the asset.

The sum of the notional capital gains is the company's unrealised capital gain at the relevant time.

The sum of the notional capital losses is the company's unrealised capital loss at the relevant time.

The sum of the notional revenue gains is the company's unrealised revenue gain at the relevant time.

The sum of the notional revenue losses is the company's unrealised revenue loss at the relevant time.

Step 2. Add up the unrealised capital gain and the unrealised revenue gain at the relevant time. The total is the unrealised gross gain at that time.

Step 3. Add up the unrealised capital loss and the unrealised revenue loss at the relevant time. The total is the unrealised gross loss at that time.

Step 4. If the unrealised gross loss at the relevant time exceeds the unrealised gross gain at that time, the excess is the company's preliminary unrealised net loss at that time.

Step 5. Add up the company's preliminary unrealised net loss and any *capital loss, deduction or share of a deduction disregarded under section 170-270 in relation to an asset referred to in paragraph 165-115A(1A)(b). The total is the company's unrealised net loss at the relevant time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The global method of working out whether the company has an unrealised net loss at the relevant time is as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the total *market value of all *CGT assets that the company owned at the relevant time (including those it *acquired for less than $10,000), using a valuation method that would generally be regarded as appropriate in the circumstances.

Step 2. Work out the total of the *cost bases of those *CGT assets at the relevant time.

Note: If a CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant time was also trading stock or a revenue asset at that time, see subsection (3) of this section.

Step 3. If the step 2 amount exceeds the step 1 amount, the excess is the company's preliminary unrealised net loss at the relevant time.

Step 4. Add up the company's preliminary unrealised net loss and any *capital loss, deduction or share of a deduction disregarded under section 170-270 in relation to an asset referred to in paragraph 165-115A(1A)(b). The total is the company's unrealised net loss at the relevant time.

- (3) If:

- (a) a *CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant time was also *trading stock or a *revenue asset at that time; and
- (b) the asset's *cost base at the relevant time is less than the amount that would be compared under section 165-115F with the asset's *market value in working out a notional revenue gain or notional revenue loss that the company has at the relevant time in respect of the asset;

then, for the purposes of step 2 of the method statement in subsection (2) of this section, the amount that would be so compared is to be taken into account instead of that cost base.

- (4) A choice to use the *global method must be made on or before:
  - (a) the day on which the company lodges its *income tax return for the income year in which the relevant time occurred; or
  - (b) such later day as the Commissioner allows.

165-115F Notional gains and losses

- (1) This section applies for the purpose of calculating whether a company has at a particular time (the relevant time) a notional capital gain, a notional capital loss, a notional revenue gain or a notional revenue loss in respect of a *CGT asset that it owned at that time.
- (2) The calculation is to be made on the assumption that the company disposed of the asset at its *market value at the relevant time.
- (3) In relation to an asset other than an item of trading stock:
  - (a) if the company would make a *capital gain in respect of the disposal of the asset—the company has at the relevant time in respect of the asset a notional capital gain equal to the amount of the capital gain; or
  - (b) if an amount (other than a capital gain) would be included in the company's assessable income in respect of the disposal of the asset—the company has at the relevant time in respect of the asset a notional revenue gain equal to the amount so included; or
  - (c) if the company would make a *capital loss in respect of the disposal of the asset—the company has at the relevant time in respect of the asset a notional capital loss equal to the amount of the capital loss; or
  - (d) if the company would be entitled to a deduction in respect of the disposal of the asset—the company has at the relevant time in respect of the asset a notional revenue loss equal to the amount of the deduction.

Section 165-115F

- (4) In relation to an asset that is an item of trading stock:
  - (a) if the item's *market value at the relevant time exceeds:
    - (i) in respect of an item that has been valued under Division 70—the item's latest valuation under that Division; or
    - (ii) otherwise—the *cost of the item at the relevant time; the company has at the relevant time in respect of the article a notional revenue gain equal to the excess; or
  - (b) if the item's market value at the relevant time is less than:
    - (i) in respect of an item that has been valued under Division 70—the item's latest valuation under that Division; or
    - (ii) otherwise—the *cost of the item at the relevant time; the company has at the relevant time in respect of the article a notional revenue loss equal to the difference.
- (5) A company may choose that this section is to apply to the company at the relevant time in respect of an asset to which subsection (6) applied at that time as if references to the *market value of the asset were references to its *written down value.
- (6) This subsection applies to an asset at the relevant time if:
  - (a) the asset is a *depreciating asset (not a building or structure) for whose decline in value the company has deducted or can deduct an amount; and
  - (b) the expenditure incurred by the company to *acquire the asset was less than $1,000,000 (the expenditure can include the giving of property: see section 103-5); and
  - (c) it would be reasonable for the company to conclude that the *market value of the asset at that time was not less than 80% of its *written down value at that time.

Subdivision 165-CD—Reductions after alterations in ownership or control of loss company

Guide to Subdivision 165-CD

165-115GA What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision prevents multiple recognition of a company's losses when significant equity and debt interests that entities (not individuals) have in the company are realised.

165-115GB When adjustments must be made

- (1) The operation of this Subdivision is triggered at an alteration time, which is when:
  - (a) an alteration takes place in the ownership or control of the company; or
  - (b) a liquidator or administrator of the company declares that shares or financial instruments are worthless (CGT event G3).

- (2) An alteration time is the trigger for making reductions and other adjustments to the reduced cost base of significant equity and debt interests in the company that are owned by an entity (not an individual) that, alone or with its associates, has a controlling stake in the company and either:
  - (a) has a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest of at least 10% in the company; or
  - (b) is owed a debt of at least $10,000 by the company or by another entity that has a significant equity or debt interest in the company.

Deductions that relate to such interests held as trading stock or otherwise on revenue account are also reduced.

- (3) Adjustments may also be made when such an entity's interests in the company are partly realised within 12 months before an alteration time or if, under an arrangement, such interests are

---

---

Section 165-115GC

realised partly within that period or at the alteration time and partly at an earlier time.

- (4) However, entities in which there are no interests in respect of which the company's losses have been, or can be, duplicated are not affected by this Subdivision.

165-115GC How adjustments are calculated

- (1) Adjustments are based on the overall loss of the company. This comprises its realised losses and unrealised losses on CGT assets.
- (2) Special rules, directed at saving compliance costs, apply to determine whether unrealised losses have to be counted at an alteration time and, if so, how to work them out.
- (3) The company may not have to calculate its unrealised losses if the alteration time is not also a changeover time for the purposes of Subdivision 165-CC (about change of ownership or control of a company that has an unrealised net loss), and the company has no realised losses.
- (4) The company does not have to count unrealised losses at an alteration time if (together with certain related entities) it has a net asset value of not more than $6,000,000 under the test in section 152-15 (for small business CGT relief).
- (5) In working out its unrealised losses on CGT assets, the company can choose to work out the *market value of each of its assets individually, or of all of its assets together.
- (6) If the company works out the *market value of each of its assets individually, unrealised losses on assets acquired for less than $10,000 do not have to be calculated at any time.
- (7) Amounts (whether realised or unrealised) counted at a previous alteration time are not counted again at a later alteration time. (This does not apply to unrealised losses worked out by reference to the *market value of all the company's assets together.)

---

---

- (8) However, if unrealised amounts are not counted at a previous alteration time (for example, because of the $10,000 exclusion, or because you satisfy the maximum net asset value test in section 152-15) and are not required to be taken into account in adjustments made at that time, they may be counted at a later time as part of a realised loss.
- (9) A formula is provided for making adjustments in straightforward cases if applying the formula gives a reasonable result having regard to the object of the Subdivision. Otherwise, reasonable adjustments must be made having regard to a number of stated factors.
- (10) To help entities to make the adjustments, any entity that, in its own right, has a controlling stake in the company is required to provide a written notice to its associates setting out relevant information. In limited circumstances, the company itself may have to provide a written notice to entities that, to its knowledge, have a significant equity or debt interest in it.

165-115H How this Subdivision applies

- (1) This Subdivision provides for certain taxation consequences for an entity (not an individual) that had a significant equity or debt interest in a loss company immediately before an alteration time occurred in respect of the company.
- (2) The following flowchart explains how to work out whether this Subdivision applies to an entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 165-115H

---

Application of Subdivision

(3) If this Subdivision applies to an entity, reductions are made to:

- (a) the reduced cost base of the entity's equity or debt (see subsection 165-115ZA(3)); or
- (b) any deduction to which the entity is entitled in respect of the disposal of the equity or debt (see subsection 165-115ZA(4)); or
- (c) deductions in respect of, and the cost of, any of the equity or debt that is trading stock (see subsection 165-115ZA(5)).

Example: The following is an example of how this Subdivision operates:

Facts: Alpha Co acquired 80% of the shares in Beta Co on 5 May 1998 for $1,000.

---

Gamma Co owns 20% of the shares in Beta Co.

On 6 February 2000, Alpha Co disposed of its shares for $600.

At the beginning of the 1999-2000 income year, Beta Co had an unapplied net capital loss of $500 from the 1998-99 income year. This loss was fully reflected in the market value of shares in Beta Co.

Alpha Co and Gamma Co are not associated in any way.

Result:

- Step 1: An alteration time occurred in respect of Beta Co as a result of the change in ownership that occurred when Alpha Co sold its shares.
- Step 2: Beta Co was a loss company at the alteration time because it had an unapplied net capital loss from an earlier income year.
- Step 3: Alpha Co had a relevant equity interest in Beta Co immediately before the alteration time because it had a controlling stake and significant interest (80% equity interest). Gamma Co did not have a relevant equity interest in Beta Co because it did not have a controlling stake.
- Step 4: Because Alpha Co had a relevant equity interest in Beta Co, the reduced cost bases of its shares in Beta Co are reduced by 80% of Beta Co's net capital loss:

$$80\% \times $500 = $400$$

Alpha Co does not make a capital gain on the disposal of its shares in Beta Co because the capital proceeds ($600) are less than the cost bases ($1,000).

Nor did Alpha Co make a capital loss on the disposal of its shares in Beta Co because the capital proceeds ($600) are not less than the reduced cost bases as further reduced by this Subdivision ($600).

The net capital loss in Beta Co is not duplicated on the sale of Alpha Co's shares in Beta Co.

- Step 5. There are no notice requirements in this simple case. If Gamma Co and Alpha Co were associates (so that Gamma Co had a relevant equity interest in Beta Co), Alpha Co would need to provide the following information to Gamma Co:
- (a) the alteration time: 6 February 2000;
  - (b) Beta Co's overall loss at the alteration time: $500;
  - (c) details of the overall loss: a net capital loss of $500 for the 1998-99 income year.

Operative provisions

165-115J Object of Subdivision

The main object of this Subdivision is to make appropriate adjustments (under section 165-115ZA) to the tax values of significant equity and debt interests held directly or indirectly by entities other than individuals in a *loss company whose ownership or control alters.

The purpose of the adjustments is to prevent the duplication of the company's realised and unrealised losses when any of those interests are *disposed of or otherwise realised. This happens because the company's losses are reflected in the values of the interests.

165-115K Application and interpretation

Application

- (1) This Subdivision applies if:
- (a) an alteration time occurs in respect of a company; and
  - (b) the company is a *loss company at the alteration time; and
  - (c) one or more entities had relevant equity interests or relevant debt interests in the company immediately before the alteration time.

Note 1: For alteration time, see sections 165-115L, 165-115M, 165-115N, 165-115P and 165-115Q.

Note 2: For relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests, see sections 165-115X and 165-115Y.

Alteration time before commencement time to be disregarded

- (2) An alteration time does not include a time before the commencement time.

Commencement time

- (3) The commencement time for a company is:
- (a) if the company was in existence at 1 pm (by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory) on 11 November 1999—that time; or
  - (b) if the company came into existence after that time—the time when it came into existence.

Certain alteration times to be disregarded

- (4) If:
- (a) a time (the test time) would, apart from this subsection, be an alteration time in relation to a company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 165-115L

- (b) the company does not have any losses of the kinds referred to in paragraphs 165-115R(3)(a), (b), (c) and (d) and 165-115S(3)(a) and (b); and
- (c) the test time is not a changeover time in relation to the company under Subdivision 165-CC; and
- (d) if the test time were such a changeover time, it would be reasonable for the company to conclude that it would not have an unrealised net loss at that time under section 165-115E;

the test time is taken not to be an alteration time in relation to the company.

Application to CGT events other than disposals

- (5) This Subdivision applies to a *CGT event (other than a *disposal) happening in relation to a CGT asset (for example, an interest in a company that is constituted by an equity or debt):
  - (a) in the same way as it applies to a disposal of a CGT asset; and
  - (b) as if the asset had been disposed of at the time when the CGT event happens.

165-115L Alteration time—alteration in ownership of company

- (1) A time (the test time) is an alteration time in respect of a company if:
  - (a) persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company at the reference time do not have more than 50% of that voting power immediately after the test time; or
  - (b) persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends at the reference time do not have rights to more than 50% of those dividends immediately after the test time; or
  - (c) persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions at the reference time do not have rights to more than 50% of those distributions immediately after the test time.

Note 1: See section 165-150 to work out who had more than 50% of the voting power in the company.

---

---

Note 2: See section 165-155 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's dividends.

Note 3: See section 165-160 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's capital distributions.

(2) The reference time is:

- (a) if no alteration time occurred in respect of the company before the *test time—the commencement time; or
- (b) otherwise—the time immediately after the last alteration time.

(3) To work out whether paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c) applied at a particular time, apply the primary test unless subsection (4) requires the alternative test to be applied.

Note: For the primary test see subsections 165-150(1), 165-155(1) and 165-160(1).

(4) Apply the alternative test if one or more other companies beneficially owned *shares or interests in shares in the company at any time during the period from the reference time to the *test time.

Note: For the alternative test see subsections 165-150(2), 165-155(2) and 165-160(2).

(5) If the company is:

- (a) a *non-profit company; or
- (b) a *mutual affiliate company; or
- (c) a *mutual insurance company;

during the whole of the period from the reference time to the *test time, the test time is taken not to be an *alteration time in respect of the company because of the application of paragraphs (1)(b) and (c).

165-115M Alteration time—alteration in control of company

(1) A time (the test time) is also an alteration time in respect of a company if, at the test time:

- (a) a person or persons who did not control, and were not able to control, the voting power in the company at the reference time began to control, or became able to control, that voting power immediately after the test time; and

---

Section 165-115N

---

- (b) that person or those persons so began, or became able, to control that voting power for the purpose of:
  - (i) getting some benefit or advantage in relation to how this Act applies; or
  - (ii) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else; or for purposes including that purpose.

Note: A person can still control the voting power in a company that is in liquidation etc.: see section 165-250.

- (2) The reference time is:
  - (a) if no alteration time occurred in respect of the company before the *test time—the commencement time; or
  - (b) otherwise—the time immediately after the last alteration time.

- (3) In this section:

control of the voting power in a company means control of that voting power either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities.

165-115N Alteration time—declaration by liquidator or administrator

If a liquidator or administrator makes a declaration referred to in section 104-145 in relation to a company, the time of the declaration is also an alteration time in respect of the company.

165-115P Notional alteration time—disposal of interests in company within 12 months before alteration time

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) an alteration time occurs in respect of a *loss company; and
  - (b) an entity *disposed of an interest in the company (an equity) or a debt (a debt) at a time (the disposal time) within 12 months before the alteration time but not earlier than the commencement time; and
  - (c) immediately before the disposal time, the entity had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the

- company that included the equity or debt, or would have had such an interest if any previous disposals of interests or debts by the entity had not occurred; and
- (d) immediately before the alteration time, the entity had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the company, or would have had such an interest if any previous disposals of interests or debts by the entity had not occurred.
- (2) The references in paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) to previous *disposals of interests or debts by the entity are references to:
- (a) previous disposals within the period referred to in paragraph (1)(b); and
- (b) previous disposals before that period if those previous disposals and any one or more of the following:
- (i) the disposal of the equity or debt;
- (ii) a disposal referred to in paragraph (a);
- (iii) a disposal at the alteration time;
- occurred as part of an *arrangement.
- (3) The time immediately before the *disposal of the equity or debt is taken to have been an alteration time (a notional alteration time) in respect of the company.
- (4) The entity:
- (a) is taken to have had, immediately before the notional alteration time, a relevant equity interest in the company constituted by the equity or a relevant debt interest in the company constituted by the debt, as the case may be; and
- (b) is taken not to have had, immediately before the notional alteration time, any other relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in the company.
- (5) No entity (other than the entity referred to in paragraph (1)(b)) is taken to have had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the company immediately before the notional alteration time.
- (6) In applying this Subdivision in relation to the company in respect of a time after a notional alteration time, the notional alteration time is taken not to have occurred.

Section 165-115Q

Note: For relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests, see sections 165-115X and 165-115Y.

165-115Q Notional alteration time—disposal of interests in company earlier than 12 months before alteration time

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) an alteration time occurs in respect of a *loss company; and
  - (b) an entity that *disposed of an interest in the company (the later equity) or a debt (the later debt) at, or within 12 months before, the alteration time also disposed of an interest in the company (the earlier equity) or a debt (the earlier debt) at a time (the earlier disposal time) earlier than 12 months before the alteration time but not earlier than the commencement time; and
  - (c) the disposal of the later equity or later debt and the disposal of the earlier equity or earlier debt occurred as part of an *arrangement; and
  - (d) immediately before the earlier disposal time, the entity had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the company that included the earlier equity or earlier debt, or would have had such an interest if any previous disposals of interests or debts by the entity had not occurred; and
  - (e) immediately before the alteration time, the entity had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the company, or would have had such an interest if any previous disposals of interests or debts by the entity had not occurred.
- (2) The references in paragraphs (1)(d) and (e) to previous *disposals of interests or debts by the entity are references to:
- (a) previous disposals within the period referred to in paragraph (1)(b); and
  - (b) previous disposals before that period if those previous disposals and any one or more of the following:
    - (i) the disposal of the equity or debt;
    - (ii) a disposal referred to in paragraph (a);
    - (iii) a disposal at the alteration time; occurred as part of an *arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) The time immediately before the *disposal of the earlier equity or earlier debt is taken to have been an alteration time (a notional alteration time) in respect of the company.
- (4) The entity:
  - (a) is taken to have had, immediately before the notional alteration time, a relevant equity interest in the company constituted by the earlier equity or a relevant debt interest in the company constituted by the earlier debt, as the case may be; and
  - (b) is taken not to have had, immediately before the notional alteration time, any other relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in the company.
- (5) No entity (other than the entity referred to in paragraph (1)(b)) is taken to have had a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the company immediately before the notional alteration time.
- (6) In applying this Subdivision in relation to the company in respect of a time after a notional alteration time, the notional alteration time is taken not to have occurred.

Note: For relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests, see sections 165-115X and 165-115Y.

165-115R When company is a loss company at first or only alteration time in income year

Application

- (1) The question whether a company is a loss company at the first or only alteration time in a particular income year is to be worked out in this way.

Assumed income year

- (2) Assume that the period that started at the beginning of the income year and ended at the alteration time is an income year and apply paragraphs (3)(a), (b), (c) and (d) on that assumption.

---

---

What is a loss company

- (3) The company is a loss company at the alteration time if:
- (a) at the beginning of the income year it had an undeducted *tax loss or undeducted tax losses for an earlier income year or earlier income years; or
  - (b) at the beginning of the income year it had an unapplied *net capital loss or unapplied net capital losses for an earlier income year or earlier income years; or
  - (c) it has a tax loss for the income year, calculated as if the income year were a period for the purposes of Subdivision 165-B; or
  - (d) it has a net capital loss for the income year, calculated as if the income year were a period for the purposes of Subdivision 165-CB; or
  - (e) it has an adjusted unrealised loss at the alteration time.

Note: For adjusted unrealised loss, see section 165-115U.

How losses are to be calculated

- (4) In applying subsection (3):
- (a) an undeducted *tax loss or unapplied *net capital loss that was taken into account in working out under this section whether the company was a *loss company at an alteration time in a previous income year is to be disregarded; and
  - (b) Subdivision 170-D is to be disregarded.

Overall loss

- (5) The sum of:
- (a) the amount or amounts of any *tax loss or tax losses referred to in paragraph (3)(a); and
  - (b) the amount or amounts of any *net capital loss or net capital losses referred to in paragraph (3)(b); and
  - (c) the amount of any tax loss referred to in paragraph (3)(c); and
  - (d) the amount of any net capital loss referred to in paragraph (3)(d); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(e) the amount of any adjusted unrealised loss referred to in paragraph (3)(e); is the *loss company's overall loss at the alteration time.

Note: The loss company's overall loss is relevant for the purposes of subsections 165-115ZB(3) and (6).

Certain losses to be disregarded

(6) A reference in a paragraph of subsection (3) and in the corresponding paragraph of subsection (5) to a particular loss is a reference only to a loss to the extent to which it represents an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the company.

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

(6A) Subsection (6) does not apply to paragraphs (3)(e) and (5)(e) if the company has chosen to use the *global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at the alteration time.

Amounts of losses may be reduced

(7) The amounts referred to in paragraphs (5)(a) to (d) may be reduced under section 165-115T.

165-115S When company is a loss company at second or later alteration time in income year

Application

(1) The question whether a company is a loss company at an alteration time (the current alteration time) that is the second or a later alteration time in the same income year is to be worked out in this way.

Assumed income year

(2) Assume that the period that started immediately after the last alteration time and ended at the current alteration time is an income year and apply paragraphs (3)(a) and (b) on that assumption.

---

Section 165-115S

---

What is a loss company

- (3) The company is a loss company at the current alteration time if:
- (a) it has a *tax loss for the income year, calculated as if the income year were a period for the purposes of Subdivision 165-B; or
  - (b) it has a *net capital loss for the income year, calculated as if the income year were a period for the purposes of Subdivision 165-CB; or
  - (c) it has an adjusted unrealised loss at the current alteration time.

Note: For adjusted unrealised loss, see section 165-115U.

How losses are to be calculated

- (4) In applying subsection (3), Subdivision 170-D is to be disregarded.

Overall loss

- (5) The sum of:
- (a) the amount of any *tax loss referred to in paragraph (3)(a); and
  - (b) the amount of any *net capital loss referred to in paragraph (3)(b); and
  - (c) the amount of any adjusted unrealised loss referred to in paragraph (3)(c); is the *loss company's overall loss at the current alteration time.

Note: The loss company's overall loss is relevant for the purposes of subsections 165-115ZB(3) and (6).

Certain losses to be disregarded

- (6) A reference in a paragraph of subsection (3) and in the corresponding paragraph of subsection (5) to a particular loss is a reference only to a loss to the extent to which it represents an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the company.

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

- (6A) Subsection (6) does not apply to paragraphs (3)(c) and (5)(c) if the company has chosen to use the *global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at the current alteration time.

Amounts of losses may be reduced

- (7) The amounts referred to in paragraphs (5)(a) and (b) may be reduced under section 165-115T.

165-115T Reduction of certain amounts included in company's overall loss at alteration time

- (1) In working out under section 165-115R or 165-115S whether a company was a *loss company at an alteration time (the current alteration time), if a loss (the realised loss) referred to in paragraph 165-115R(3)(a), (b), (c) or (d) or 165-115S(3)(a) or (b) that the company had at the current alteration time reflected an amount of a notional revenue loss, a trading stock decrease or a notional capital loss included in an adjusted unrealised loss, that the company had at a previous alteration time, the realised loss is taken to be reduced by that amount.

Note 1: For notional revenue loss and notional capital loss see section 165-115V.

Note 2: For trading stock decrease see section 165-115W.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to an adjusted unrealised loss that the company had at a previous alteration time if the company has chosen to use the *global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at that previous time.

165-115U Adjusted unrealised loss

- (1) The question whether a company has an adjusted unrealised loss at an alteration time (the relevant alteration time) is worked out in this way (the individual asset method), unless the company chooses to work it out using the *global method (set out in subsection (1B)).

---

Method statement

Step 1. Work out under section 165-115V or 165-115W in respect of each *CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant alteration time any notional capital loss, notional revenue loss or trading stock decrease that the company has at that time in respect of the asset.

To the extent that a notional capital loss or a notional revenue loss in respect of an asset at the relevant alteration time reflected an amount that was counted at an earlier alteration time, do not count it again at the relevant alteration time.

Step 2. Add up the notional capital losses and the notional revenue losses that the company had at the relevant alteration time. The total is the company's nominal unrealised loss at that time.

Step 3. Add up the trading stock decreases that the company had at the relevant alteration time. The total is the company's overall trading stock decrease at that time.

Step 4. The sum of the company's nominal unrealised loss and overall trading stock decrease at the relevant time is the company's adjusted unrealised loss at that time.

Note: Certain alteration times are disregarded (see subsections 165-115K(2) and (4)).

(1A) Step 1 in the method statement in subsection (1) does not apply to an amount that was counted at an earlier alteration time if the company has chosen to use the *global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at that earlier time.

(1B) The global method of working out whether the company has an adjusted unrealised loss at the relevant alteration time is as follows:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the total *market value of all *CGT assets that the company owned at the relevant alteration time (including those it *acquired for less than $10,000), using a valuation method that would generally be regarded as appropriate in the circumstances.

Step 2. Work out the total of the *cost bases of those *CGT assets at the relevant time.

Note: If a CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant time was also trading stock or a revenue asset at that time, see subsection (1C) of this section.

Step 3. If the step 2 amount exceeds the step 1 amount, the excess is the company's adjusted unrealised loss at the relevant time.

(1C) If:

- (a) a *CGT asset that the company owned at the relevant alteration time was also *trading stock or a *revenue asset at that time; and
- (b) the asset's *cost base at the relevant alteration time is less than the amount that, if the relevant alteration time were a changeover time, would be compared under section 165-115F with the asset's *market value in working out a notional revenue gain or notional revenue loss that the company would have at the changeover time in respect of the asset;

then, for the purposes of step 2 of the method statement in subsection (1B) of this section, the amount that would be so compared is to be taken into account instead of that cost base.

(1D) A choice to use the *global method must be made on or before:

- (a) the day on which the company lodges its *income tax return for the income year in which the relevant alteration time occurred; or
- (b) such later day as the Commissioner allows.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 165-115V

---

- (2) However, the company does not have an adjusted unrealised loss at the relevant alteration time if the company would, at that time, satisfy the maximum net asset value test under section 152-15.

165-115V Notional losses

- (1) This section applies for the purpose of calculating whether a company has at an alteration time a notional capital loss or a notional revenue loss in respect of a *CGT asset that it owned at that time.
- (2) However, a company does not have a notional capital loss or a notional revenue loss at an alteration time in respect of a CGT asset that it *acquired for less than $10,000.
- (3) The calculation is to be made on the assumption that the company disposed of the asset at its *market value at the alteration time.
- (4) If the company would make a *capital loss in respect of the disposal of the asset, the company has at the alteration time in respect of the asset a notional capital loss equal to the amount of the capital loss.
- (5) If the company would be entitled to a deduction in respect of the disposal of the asset, the company has at the alteration time in respect of the asset a notional revenue loss equal to the amount of the deduction.
- (6) A company may choose that this section is to apply to the company at the alteration time in respect of an asset to which subsection (7) applied at that time as if the reference in subsection (3) to the *market value of the asset were a reference to its *written down value.
- (7) This subsection applies to an asset at the alteration time if:
  - (a) the asset is a *depreciating asset (not a building or structure) for whose decline in value the company has deducted or can deduct an amount; and
  - (b) the expenditure incurred by the company to *acquire the asset was less than $1,000,000 (the expenditure can include the giving of property: see section 103-5); and

---

---

- (c) it would be reasonable for the company to conclude that the *market value of the asset at the alteration time was not less than 80% of its *written down value at that time.

165-115W Calculation of trading stock decrease

- (1) The question whether there is a trading stock decrease in relation to a company at an alteration time for a *CGT asset of the company that was an item of *trading stock at that time is worked out in this way.

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out whether the item's *market value immediately before the alteration time was less than:
- (a) if there was no earlier alteration time in the income year in which that alteration time occurred—the item's value under subsection 70-40(1) at the start of that income year or its cost if subsection 70-40(2) applies; or
  - (b) if there was an earlier alteration time or there were earlier alteration times in that income year—the item's market value immediately before that earlier alteration time or the later or latest of those earlier alteration times, as the case may be, or its cost if the company did not own it at that time.

---

---

Section 165-115X

Step 2. If the item's *market value immediately before the alteration time was less than:

- (a) the item's value or cost referred to in paragraph (a) in step 1; or
- (b) its market value or cost (as applicable) in paragraph (b) in step 1;

as the case requires, the difference is the trading stock decrease for the item.

To the extent (if any) to which the difference reflects an amount counted at an earlier alteration time, do not count that amount again.

Note: Certain alteration times are disregarded (see subsections 165-115K(2) and (4)).

- (1A) Step 2 in the method statement in subsection (1) does not apply to an amount counted at an earlier alteration time if the company has chosen to use the *global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at that earlier time.
- (2) However, a company does not have a trading stock decrease at an alteration time in respect of an item of *trading stock that it *acquired for less than $10,000.

165-115X Relevant equity interest

- (1) An entity (not an individual) has a relevant equity interest in a *loss company at a particular time if:
  - (a) at that time the entity has a controlling stake in the loss company (see section 165-115Z); and
  - (b) at that time the entity has an interest (an equity) that gives, or interests (each of which is also called an equity) that between them give, the entity:
    - (i) the control of, or the ability to control, 10% or more of the voting power in the loss company (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) the right to receive (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) 10% or more of any dividends that the loss company may pay; or
  - (iii) the right to receive (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) 10% or more of any distribution of capital of the loss company; and
- (c) the equity or each equity is either:
  - (i) an interest (including a *share or shares, or an option or right to acquire a share or shares) in the loss company; or
  - (ii) an interest (including an option or right to acquire an interest) held by the entity directly in another entity that has a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in the loss company.
- (2) The equity or equities constitute the entity's relevant equity interest in the *loss company.
- (3) An entity (the first entity) that, apart from this subsection, would have a relevant equity interest in a *loss company at a particular time does not have such an interest if, at that time, there is no other entity that has a direct or indirect interest in, or is owed a debt by, the first entity, being an interest or debt in respect of which:
  - (a) the other entity could, if a *CGT event happened in respect of the interest or debt, make a *capital loss (other than a capital loss that would be disregarded) that reflects any part of the loss company's overall loss; or
  - (b) the other entity has deducted or can deduct, or could deduct at a later time:
    - (i) an amount in respect of the cost of the *acquisition of the interest or debt; or
    - (ii) a net loss on the *disposal of the interest or debt; where the deduction reflected, or would reflect, any part of the loss company's overall loss.
- (4) However, subsection (3) does not apply to the first entity in respect of a particular time if an entity that had a direct or indirect interest in, or was owed a debt by, the first entity at an earlier time:

Section 165-115Y

- (a) made a capital loss (other than a capital loss that was disregarded) because a *CGT event happened in respect of the interest or debt, where the capital loss reflected any part of the *loss company's overall loss; or
  - (b) has deducted or could have deducted at an earlier time, or could deduct at a later time, an amount in respect of the cost of the *acquisition, or a net loss on the *disposal, of the interest or debt, where the deduction reflected or would have reflected, or would reflect, as the case may be, any part of the company's overall loss.
- (5) An individual is not taken to have a relevant equity interest in a *loss company at any time.
- (6) A partnership that consists only of individuals is not taken to have a relevant equity interest in a *loss company at any time.
- (7) If section 106-30, 106-50 or 106-60 would treat an act referred to in that section that is done in relation to an interest as having been done by an individual, the interest is not a relevant equity interest.

165-115Y Relevant debt interest

- (1) An entity (not an individual) has a relevant debt interest in a *loss company at a particular time if, at that time:
- (a) the entity has a controlling stake in the loss company (see section 165-115Z); and
  - (b) the entity is owed by the loss company a debt of not less than $10,000 (a debt) or debts at least one of which is not less than $10,000 (each debt of not less than $10,000 is also called a debt).
- (2) An entity (not an individual) also has a relevant debt interest in a *loss company at a particular time if, at that time:
- (a) the entity has a controlling stake in the loss company; and
  - (b) the entity is owed by an entity (the debtor entity) other than the loss company a debt of not less than $10,000 (also a debt) or debts at least one of which is not less than $10,000 (each debt of not less than $10,000 is also called a debt); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the debtor entity has a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest in the loss company.
- (3) The total of the debts referred to in subsections (1) and (2) constitutes the entity's relevant debt interest in the *loss company.
- (4) An entity (the first entity) that, apart from this subsection, would have a relevant debt interest in a *loss company at a particular time does not have such an interest if, at that time, there is no other entity that has a direct or indirect interest in, or is owed a debt by, the first entity, being an interest or debt in respect of which:
- (a) the other entity could, if a *CGT event happened in respect of the interest or debt, make a *capital loss (other than a capital loss that would be disregarded) that reflects any part of the loss company's overall loss; or
  - (b) the other entity could deduct, or can deduct or could deduct at a later time:
    - (i) an amount in respect of the cost of the *acquisition of the interest or debt; or
    - (ii) a net loss on the *disposal of the interest or debt; where the deduction reflects, or would have reflected, any part of the loss company's overall loss.
- (5) However, subsection (4) does not apply to the first entity in respect of a particular time if an entity that had a direct or indirect interest in, or was owed a debt by, the first entity at an earlier time:
- (a) made a capital loss (other than a capital loss that would be disregarded) at an earlier time because a *CGT event happened in respect of the interest or debt, where the capital loss reflected any part of the *loss company's overall loss; or
  - (b) has deducted or could have deducted at an earlier time, or could deduct at a later time, an amount in respect of the cost of the *acquisition, or a net loss on the *disposal, of the interest or debt, where the deduction reflected or would have reflected, or would reflect, as the case may be, any part of the company's overall loss.
- (6) An individual is not taken to have a relevant debt interest in a *loss company at any time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 165-115Z

---

- (7) A partnership that consists only of individuals is not taken to have a relevant debt interest in a *loss company at any time.
- (8) If section 106-30, 106-50 or 106-60 would treat an act referred to in that section that is done in relation to a debt as having been done by an individual, the debt is not a relevant debt interest.

165-115Z What constitutes a controlling stake in a company

- (1) An entity has a controlling stake in a company at a particular time if the entity, or the entity and the entity's *associates between them:
  - (a) are able at that time to exercise, or control the exercise of, more than 50% of the voting power in the company (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); or
  - (b) have at that time the right to receive (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any dividends that the company may pay; or
  - (c) have at that time the right to receive (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any distribution of capital of the company.

Note: The effect of subsection (1) is that, if an entity has a controlling stake in a company, each associate of the entity also has a controlling stake in the company.

- (2) If:
  - (a) apart from this subsection, an interest that gives an entity and its *associates (if any):
    - (i) the ability to exercise, or control the exercise of, any of the voting power in a company; or
    - (ii) the right to receive dividends that a company may pay; or
    - (iii) the right to receive a distribution of capital of a company;would, in the application of paragraph (1)(a), (b) or (c), be counted more than once; and
  - (b) the interest is both direct and indirect;only the direct interest is to be counted.

165-115ZA Reductions and other consequences if entity has relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in loss company immediately before alteration time

Application of section

- (1) This section applies to an entity (an affected entity) that has a relevant equity interest or a relevant debt interest, or both, in a *loss company immediately before a time (a relevant time) that is an alteration time in respect of the loss company.

Note: This section and section 165-115ZB can apply differently for a company that has used the global method of working out whether it has an adjusted unrealised loss at an alteration time. See section 165-115ZD.

Application of section nullified in certain circumstances

- (2) However, if:
- (a) this section has applied to an entity in respect of a debt owed to the entity; and
  - (b) section 245-10 in Schedule 2C to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (which relates to the forgiveness of commercial debts) also applied in respect of the debt at the same time or at a later time; any reductions or other consequences affecting the entity in respect of the debt under this section are taken not to have occurred or to have been required to occur.

Note: An amendment of an assessment can be made at any time to give effect to this subsection (see subsection 170(10AA) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).

Reduction of reduced cost base

- (3) The *reduced cost base of an equity or debt that was *acquired on or after 20 September 1985 is to be reduced immediately before the relevant time by the adjustment amount calculated under section 165-115ZB.

---

Section 165-115ZA

Reduction of deduction—equity or debt is not trading stock

- (4) If an equity or debt is not an item of *trading stock of the affected entity immediately before the relevant time, any amount that the entity can deduct in respect of the disposal of any of the equity or debt is to be reduced by the adjustment amount calculated under section 165-115ZB.

Reduction of cost—equity or debt is trading stock

- (5) If:
- (a) an equity or debt is an item of *trading stock of the affected entity immediately before the relevant time; and
  - (b) the *cost for the purposes of Division 70 of the equity or debt exceeds its *market value immediately before the relevant time;

then, subject to any later application or applications of this Subdivision, the cost of the equity or debt for the purposes of Division 70, and any deduction for an outlay to *acquire it, are reduced by the lesser of the following amounts or, if they are equal, by one of them:

- (c) the adjustment amount calculated under section 165-115ZB;
- (d) the amount of the excess referred to in paragraph (b).

Subsection (4) to apply only in respect of certain income years

- (6) For the purpose of working out:
- (a) deductions under section 8-1; or
  - (b) whether an amount is included in assessable income under subsection 70-35(2); or
  - (c) whether an amount can be deducted under subsection 70-35(3); subsection (5) applies only in respect of income years ending after the later of the following:

- (d) the commencement time;
- (e) the time 12 months before the relevant time.

---

Further election to value trading stock

- (7) If an election has been made under section 70-45 to value an item of *trading stock on hand at the end of an income year otherwise than at its *cost and subsection (5) applies in respect of it, a further election may be made under that section to value the item of trading stock at cost.

Previous applications of this section in relation to trading stock to be taken into account

- (8) In applying this section to the affected entity in respect of an equity or debt that is *trading stock of the entity, any previous applications of this section to the entity in respect of the equity or debt are to be taken into account.

Cost of equity or debt that becomes trading stock after relevant time

- (9) If:
- (a) an equity or debt becomes an item of *trading stock of the affected entity after the relevant time; and
  - (b) had the equity or debt been an item of trading stock of the affected entity at an earlier time that was, or at 2 or more earlier times each of which was, the relevant time for the purposes of a previous application or previous applications of this section, its *cost for the purposes of Division 70 would have exceeded its *market value at the earlier time or at one of the earlier times;

its cost for the purposes of Division 70 is taken to be its market value at the earlier time or the smallest of its market values at the earlier times.

Reduction of proceeds of disposal of trading stock

- (10) If:
- (a) an equity or debt was an item of *trading stock of the affected entity immediately before a relevant time or became such an item of trading stock after a relevant time; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 165-115ZB

---

- (b) the equity or debt is *disposed of by the entity after the relevant time concerned; and
- (c) the equity or debt is an item of trading stock of the affected entity at the time of the disposal; and
- (d) the proceeds of the disposal exceed the *market value of the equity or debt immediately before the relevant time concerned or the market value of the equity or debt immediately before any previous relevant time;

the proceeds of the disposal are taken to be reduced by so much of the amount or the total of the amounts of any reductions made by any previous application or applications of subsection (5) in relation to the affected entity in respect of the equity or debt as does not exceed the excess amount or the greater or greatest of the excess amounts referred to in paragraph (d).

165-115ZB Adjustment amounts for the purposes of section 165-115ZA

- (1A) This section has effect for the purposes of:
  - (a) section 165-115ZA; and
  - (b) sections 715-255 and 715-270 (about effect of alteration time for head company on membership interests of leaving entity just before leaving time).

Calculation of adjustment amount

- (1) An adjustment amount in relation to an equity or debt is to be worked out by the affected entity, and applied by it in making reductions:
  - (a) if subsection (2) applies—in accordance with subsection (3); or
  - (b) otherwise—in accordance with subsection (6).

Selection of method of calculation

- (2) This subsection applies if:
  - (a) the affected entity has a relevant equity interest, but does not have a relevant debt interest, in the *loss company immediately before the alteration time and:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) all the *shares in the loss company are of the same class and have the same *market value; and
- (ii) the equity consists only of a share or shares in the loss company; or
- (b) the affected entity has both a relevant equity interest, and a relevant debt interest under subsection 165-115Y(1), in the loss company immediately before the alteration time and:
  - (i) all the shares in the loss company are of the same class and have the same market value; and
  - (ii) the equity consists only of a share or shares in the loss company; and
  - (iii) the debt consists of a single debt or 2 or more debts of the same kind;

and the reductions that would result from the application of subsection (3) would be reasonable in the circumstances.

Formula method

- (3) The adjustment amount to be worked out under this subsection is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{The number of shares in the loss company constituted by the equity immediately before the alteration time}}{\text{The total number of shares in the loss company immediately before the alteration time}} \times \text{The amount of the loss company's overall loss at the alteration time}$$ and the amount so worked out is to be applied in making reductions as follows:

- (a) the adjustment amount is to be applied in relation to the *share or shares constituting the equity; and
- (b) if there is an amount remaining after making reductions in relation to those shares—the amount remaining is to be applied in relation to any debt or, if there is a debt consisting of 2 or more separate debts, in relation to those debts.

---

Applying adjustment amount under formula method to shares

- (4) If the adjustment amount referred to in subsection (3) is to be applied in relation to an equity consisting of 2 or more *shares:
- (a) it is to be applied equally among the shares; and
  - (b) if there is any amount remaining after the application of part of the adjustment amount to a share, the amount remaining is to be applied to any other share, or equally among any other shares, to the maximum extent possible.

Applying adjustment amount under formula method to debt

- (5) If the adjustment amount referred to in subsection (3) or part of it is to be applied in relation to a debt (the overall debt) and the overall debt consists of 2 or more debts (the constituent debts), the amount to be applied in relation to each constituent debt is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{The adjustment amount or part of the adjustment amount}}{\text{The adjustment amount or part of the adjustment amount}} \times \frac{\text{The amount of the constituent debt}}{\text{The amount of the overall debt}}$$

Non-formula method

- (6) The adjustment amount to be worked out under this subsection is the amount that is appropriate having regard to:
- (a) the object of this Subdivision and other matters set out in section 165-115J; and
  - (b) the extent of the affected entity's relevant equity interests or relevant debt interests, as the case may be, in the *loss company immediately before the alteration time; and
  - (c) when, and under what circumstances, the relevant equity interests or relevant debt interests were *acquired by the affected entity; and
  - (d) the loss company's overall loss at the alteration time; and
  - (e) the extent to which that overall loss has reduced the *market values of the equity or debt; and
  - (f) to prevent double counting, the extent of any adjustments required under this Subdivision because of any application of this Subdivision to another loss company in which the affected entity has a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest; and the amount so worked out is to be applied in making reductions in an appropriate way.

How to work out the extent to which the overall loss has reduced the market value of an equity or debt

- (7) To avoid doubt in applying paragraph (6)(e) in relation to an equity or a debt, if factors other than an overall loss altered the *market value of the equity or debt, the extent to which the overall loss reduced that market value is taken to be the extent to which that market value would have been reduced apart from those other factors.

Note 1: For a company's overall loss see subsections 165-115R(5) and 165-115S(5).

Note 2: An example of a factor other than the overall loss is the unrealised value of assets (including assets in respect of which there is an unrealised gain) of the loss company, whether or not generated by outlays or economic losses reflected in the loss for income tax purposes.

165-115ZC Notices to be given

Application

- (1) This section applies when an alteration time occurs in respect of a *loss company.

Note: Section 165-115ZC of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 affects the operation of this section.

Controlling entity

- (2) For the purposes of this section, an entity is a controlling entity of a *loss company if:
- (a) the entity is not an individual; and
  - (b) the entity, disregarding any of its *associates, has a controlling stake in the loss company; and
  - (c) no other entity (except an individual or 2 or more individuals between them) has a controlling stake in the entity.

Foreign resident controlling entity to be disregarded in certain circumstances

(3) If:

- (a) apart from this subsection, an entity that is a foreign resident would be a controlling entity of a *loss company; and
- (b) there is an entity that is an Australian resident and would be a controlling entity of the loss company if all the foreign residents that held direct or indirect interests in the Australian resident were individuals;

then, for the purposes of this section, the entity referred to in paragraph (a) is taken not to be a controlling entity of the company but the Australian resident is taken to be a controlling entity of the company.

Notice by controlling entity of loss company

(4) An entity that was a controlling entity of the *loss company immediately before the alteration time must, before the end of 6 months after the latest of the following:

- (a) the alteration time;
- (b) the day on which the New Business Tax System (Miscellaneous) Act (No. 2) 2000 received the Royal Assent;
- (c) the time (if any) specified by the Commissioner;

give a written notice, setting out the information mentioned in subsection (6), to each of its *associates that, to the loss company's knowledge, had a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in the loss company immediately before the alteration time.

Penalty: 30 penalty units.

Notice by loss company

(5) If:

- (a) there was no controlling entity of the *loss company immediately before the alteration time; or
- (b) no entity that was a controlling entity of the loss company immediately before the alteration time told the loss company in writing, within 2 months after the later of the following:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the alteration time;
- (ii) the day on which the New Business Tax System (Miscellaneous) Act (No. 2) 2000 received the Royal Assent; that it had given, or proposed to give, notices to its associates under subsection (4);

the loss company must, before the end of 6 months after the latest of the following:

- (c) the alteration time;
- (d) the day on which the New Business Tax System (Miscellaneous) Act (No. 2) 2000 received the Royal Assent;
- (e) the time (if any) specified by the Commissioner;

give a written notice, setting out the information mentioned in subsection (6), to each entity that, to the loss company's knowledge, had a relevant equity interest or relevant debt interest in the company immediately before the alteration time.

Penalty: 30 penalty units.

Offences are strict liability

- (5A) An offence under subsection (4) or (5) is an offence of strict liability.

Note: For strict liability, see section 6.1 of the Criminal Code.

Information to be included in notice

- (6) The information to be contained in a notice given under subsection (4) or (5) must include:
- (a) the time that is the alteration time; and
  - (b) the amount of the *loss company's overall loss at that time; and
  - (c) for each income year for which the loss company had at that time a *tax loss or *net capital loss referred to in subsection 165-115R(3) or 165-115S(3)—the type and amount of the loss; and
  - (d) the amount of any adjusted unrealised loss that the loss company had at that time; and

Section 165-115ZC

- (e) particulars (for the purpose of assisting the entity to whom the notice is given (the recipient) to comply with the requirements of this Subdivision) of the amounts, proportions, and times of *acquisition, of all relevant equity interests and relevant debt interests in the loss company held by entities through which the recipient had relevant equity interests or relevant debt interests in the loss company.

Entity or loss company not required to give information about matters that are not known to it

- (7) An entity or *loss company is not required by this section to set out information in a notice unless:
  - (a) the information is known to the entity or company; or
  - (b) the entity or company could reasonably be expected to know the information and can readily obtain it.

Commissioner's power to specify a later time for giving notice

- (7A) The Commissioner may, by written notice given to an entity, or *loss company, that is required to give a notice under subsection (4) or (5), specify a time later than the alteration time as the start of the 6 months mentioned in the subsection.

Commissioner's power to waive requirement for notice

- (7B) The Commissioner may give an entity or *loss company a written declaration that subsection (4) or (5) does not apply to require the entity or company to give a notice relating to the alteration time. If the Commissioner does so, the subsection does not apply in relation to the alteration time.

Considerations relating to Commissioner's powers

- (7C) In deciding whether to specify a time for the purposes of subsection (4) or (5) or declare that the subsection does not apply, the Commissioner must consider:
  - (a) the consequences of doing so for each entity to which notice must be given under the subsection (apart from any such declaration); and
  - (b) any other matters that the Commissioner considers relevant.

---

Obligations of person not affected by failure to give notice

- (8) Any failure by an entity or the *loss company to give a notice to a person under this section does not affect any obligation of the person to comply with the requirements of this Subdivision.

165-115ZD Adjustment (or further adjustment) for interest realised at a loss after global method has been used

- (1) This section affects how sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB apply to an interest (the equity) in, or a debt owed by, a company if, apart from this section, a loss (the realised loss):
- (a) would be *realised for income tax purposes by a *realisation event that happens to the equity or debt; or
  - (b) would be so realised but for Subdivision 170-D (which defers realisation of capital losses and deductions);
- and the company chose to use the *global method of working out whether it had an adjusted unrealised loss at the last alteration time:
- (c) that happened for the company before the realisation event; and
  - (d) immediately before which the equity or debt was, or was part of:
    - (i) if the company was a *loss company at that alteration time—a relevant equity interest, or a relevant debt interest, that an entity had in the company; or
    - (ii) otherwise—what would have been such an interest if the company had been a loss company at that alteration time.

Note: If that last alteration time is before the day on which the New Business Tax System (Consolidation, Value Shifting, Demergers and Other Measures) Act 2002 received the Royal Assent, the owner of the equity or debt may choose to apply section 165-115ZD of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 instead of this section.

- (2) In addition to any application to the equity or debt, in relation to that last alteration time, that sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB have apart from this section, those sections apply (and are taken always to have applied) to the equity or debt, in relation to that last alteration time, as if:

Section 165-115ZD

- (a) the company had an adjusted unrealised loss at that time worked out under this section; and
  - (b) the company were therefore a *loss company at that time; and
  - (c) that adjusted unrealised loss were the company's overall loss at that time.
- (3) For the purposes of how sections 165-115ZA and 165-115ZB apply because of this section, the adjustment amount under section 165-115ZB is to be worked out and applied in accordance with subsection 165-115ZB(6) (the non-formula method).

Adjusted unrealised loss worked out under this section

- (4) The adjusted unrealised loss referred to in paragraph (2)(a) is worked out using this method statement:

Method statement

- Step 1. Add up the amount or value of each thing covered by subsection (5). (If the total exceeds the realised loss, reduce the total by the excess.)
- Step 2. Reduce the step 1 amount by so much of the realised loss as it is reasonable to conclude is attributable to none of these:
- (a) a notional capital loss, or a notional revenue loss, that the company has at that last alteration time in respect of a *CGT asset;
  - (b) a trading stock decrease in relation to that time for a CGT asset that was *trading stock of the company at that time.

Note: If the equity or debt is a revenue asset, the realised loss is different from the loss referred to in subsection (1): see subsection (9).

- (5) This subsection covers each thing covered by an item in the table, except to the extent that:
- (a) it is reasonable to conclude that the thing was not attributable to value that is reflected in what would, if that last alteration

    - (ii) otherwise—what would have been such an interest if the company had been a loss company at that last alteration time.
- (7) For the purposes of item 6 of the table in subsection (5), the *capital proceeds of the *CGT event are to be worked out:
- (a) under subsection 116-20(1) only; and
  - (b) disregarding subsection 103-10(1) and paragraph 103-10(2)(a) (about entitlement to receive money or property).

Notices under section 165-115ZC not affected

- (8) To avoid doubt:
- (a) a notice need not be given under section 165-115ZC because of this section; and
  - (b) this section does not affect the requirements that apply to a notice that otherwise must be given under that section.

If equity or debt is a revenue asset

- (9) If the equity or debt is a *revenue asset at the time of the *realisation event, subsection (4) applies on the basis that the realised loss is the total of:
- (a) the loss (if any) *realised for income tax purposes by the realisation event happening to the equity or debt in its character as a *CGT asset; and
  - (b) the loss (if any) realised for income tax purposes by the realisation event happening to the equity or debt in its character as a revenue asset.

Subdivision 165-C—Deducting bad debts

Guide to Subdivision 165-C

165-117 What this Subdivision is about

A company cannot deduct a bad debt unless:

- (a) if the debt was incurred in an earlier income year—the company had the same owners and the same control throughout the period from the day on which the debt was incurred to the end of the income year in which it writes off the debt as bad; or
- (b) if the debt was incurred in the current year—the company had the same owners and the same control during the income year both before and after the debt was incurred; or, if there has been a change of ownership or control, the company satisfies the same business test by carrying on the same business, entering into no new kinds of transactions and conducting no new kinds of business.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

165-119	Application of Subdivision
165-120	To deduct a bad debt
165-123	Company must maintain the same owners
165-126	Alternatively, the company must satisfy the same business test
165-129	Same people must control the voting power, or the company must satisfy the same business test
165-132	When tax losses resulting from bad debts cannot be deducted

Operative provisions

165-119 Application of Subdivision

This Subdivision applies to a debt only to the extent (if any) to which Subdivision 165-CC does not apply in respect of the debt.

Note: Subdivision 165-CC applies to certain capital losses or tax losses of a company to the extent to which the capital loss or tax loss does not exceed the company's unrealised net loss.

165-120 To deduct a bad debt

- (1) A company cannot deduct a debt (or part of a debt) that it writes off as bad in the *current year unless:
  - (a) it meets the conditions in section 165-123 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners); or
  - (b) the Commissioner thinks it would be unreasonable to require the company to meet the conditions in that section, having regard to the entities that beneficially owned the shares in the company when (in the Commissioner's opinion) the debt (or part) became bad; or
  - (c) the company meets the condition in section 165-126 (which is about the company satisfying the same business test).

Note 1: In the case of a widely held or eligible Division 166 company, Subdivision 166-C modifies how this Subdivision applies, unless the company chooses otherwise.

Note 2: Normally bad debts are deductible under section 8-1 or 25-35.

Note 3: Subdivisions 709-D and 719-I modify how this Subdivision operates in relation to a company that used to be a member of a consolidated group or MEC group and that writes off as bad a debt that used to be owed to a member of the group.

- (2) The conditions in section 165-123 or 165-126 apply to different periods, depending on whether the debt was incurred in the *current year or an earlier income year:

- (3) A company cannot deduct a debt (or part of a debt) that it writes off as bad on the last day of the *current year if the debt was also incurred on that day.

165-123 Company must maintain the same owners

Ownership test period

- (1) In determining whether section 165-120 prevents a company from deducting a debt or a part of a debt, the ownership test period is the period from the start of the *first continuity period to the end of the *second continuity period.

Note: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete test periods.

Voting power

- (2) There must be persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company at all times during the *ownership test period.

Note: See section 165-150 to work out who had more than 50% of the voting power.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Rights to dividends

- (3) There must be persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends at all times during the *ownership test period.

Note: See section 165-155 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's dividends.

Rights to capital distributions

- (4) There must be persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions at all times during the *ownership test period.

Note: See section 165-160 to work out who had rights to more than 50% of the company's capital distributions.

When to apply the primary test

- (5) To work out whether a condition in this section was satisfied at all times during the *ownership test period, apply the primary test for that condition unless subsection (6) requires the alternative test to be applied.

Note: For the primary test, see subsections 165-150(1), 165-155(1) and 165-160(1).

When to apply the alternative test

- (6) Apply the alternative test for that condition if one or more other companies beneficially owned *shares or interests in shares in the company at any time during the *ownership test period.

Note: For the alternative test, see subsections 165-150(2), 165-155(2) and 165-160(2).

Conditions in subsections (2), (3) and (4) may be treated as having been satisfied in certain circumstances

- (7) If any of the conditions in subsections (2), (3) and (4) have not been satisfied, those conditions are taken to have been satisfied if:
- (a) they would have been satisfied except for the operation of section 165-165; and
  - (b) the company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that less than 50% of the debt or of

(7A) If the company is:

- (a) a *non-profit company; or
- (b) a *mutual affiliate company; or
- (c) a *mutual insurance company;

during the whole of the *ownership test period, the conditions in subsections (3) and (4) are taken to have been satisfied by the company.

Time of happening of CGT event

- (8) The happening of any *CGT event in relation to a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest in the company that results in the failure of the company to satisfy a condition in subsection (2), (3) or (4) is taken, for the purposes of paragraph (7)(b), to have occurred during the *ownership test period.

165-126 Alternatively, the company must satisfy the same business test

- (1) This section sets out the condition that a company must meet to be able to deduct a debt or part of a debt that it writes off as bad in the *current year if:
- (a) either:
    - (i) the company fails to meet a condition in subsection 165-123(2), (3) or (4); or
    - (ii) it is not practicable to show that the company meets the conditions in those subsections; and
  - (b) paragraph 165-120(1)(b) (about the Commissioner thinking it is unreasonable to require the company to meet the conditions in section 165-123) does not apply.

Note Other provisions may treat the company as meeting, or failing to meet, the conditions in subsections 165-123(2), (3) and (4).

165-129 Same people must control the voting power, or the company must satisfy the same business test

- (1) Even if section 165-120 does not prevent a company from deducting a bad debt (or part of one), it cannot deduct the bad debt (or that part of it) if:
- (a) for some or all of the part of the *ownership test period that started at the end of the *first continuity period, a person controlled, or was able to control, the voting power in the company (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); and

---

- (b) for some or all of the *first continuity period, that person did not control, and was not able to control, that voting power (directly, or indirectly in that way); and
- (c) that person began to control, or became able to control, that voting power (directly, or indirectly in that way) for the purpose of:
  - (i) getting some benefit or advantage in relation to how this Act applies; or
  - (ii) getting such a benefit or advantage for someone else; or for purposes including that purpose.

Note: A person can still control the voting power in a company that is in liquidation etc.: see section 165-250.

- (2) However, that person's control of the voting power, or ability to control it, does not prevent the company from deducting the bad debt (or that part of it) if the company satisfies the *same business test for the *second continuity period (the same business test period).
- (3) Apply the *same business test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the time (the test time) when the person began to control that voting power, or became able to control it.

For the same business test: see Subdivision 165-E.

165-132 When tax losses resulting from bad debts cannot be deducted

- (1) If:
  - (a) a company can deduct a debt (or part of a debt) that it wrote off as bad in an income year; and
  - (b) because the company failed to meet a condition in section 165-123 (about the company maintaining the same owners), it could not have deducted the debt (or part) apart from section 165-126 (about the company satisfying the same business test); and
  - (c) the company wrote off the debt after the *test time worked out under section 165-126; and

(d) because of the deduction, the company has a *tax loss for that income year, or there was an increase in the amount of its *tax loss for that income year; and the company cannot deduct the *tax loss for a later income year, or cannot deduct it to the extent of the increase, unless it also satisfies the *same business test for the later income year (the same business test period).

(e) the company carried on a *business during that income year for the purpose, or for purposes including the purpose, of securing a deduction for the debt (or part) by relying on section 165-126;

(2) Apply the test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the *test time worked out for section 165-126.

Information required

- (1) The notice that the Commissioner may give if the requirements of subsections 165-235(2) to (5) are met must require the company to give the Commissioner specified information that is relevant in determining whether:
  - (a) if paragraph 165-235(2)(a) applies—the requirements of subsection 165-215(5); or
  - (b) if paragraph 165-235(2)(b) applies—the requirements of subsection 165-220(5); or

Application of Subdivision 165-B

- (5) If, because of subsection (4), the company is required to calculate under Subdivision 165-B its taxable income and *tax loss for the income year concerned, that Subdivision is to be applied as if it required the income year to be divided into such periods as would result in the highest possible taxable income for the income year.

Application of Subdivision 165-CB

- (6) If, because of subsection (4), the company is required to calculate under Subdivision 165-CB its *net capital gain and *net capital loss for the income year concerned, that Subdivision is to be applied as if it required the income year to be divided into such periods as would result in the highest net capital gain for the income year.

Division 166—Income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a widely held or eligible Division 166 company

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 166

- 166-AA The object of this Division
- 166-A Deducting tax losses of earlier income years
- 166-B Working out the taxable income, tax loss, net capital gain and net capital loss for the income year of the change
- 166-C Deducting bad debts
- 166-CA Changeover times and alteration times
- 166-D Tests for finding out whether the widely held or eligible Division 166 company has maintained the same owners
- 166-E Concessional tracing rules

Guide to Division 166

166-1 What this Division is about

This Division modifies the way the rules in Division 165 apply to a widely held or eligible Division 166 company by making it easier for the company to apply the rules.

If the company has maintained the same owners as between certain points of time, it does not need to prove it has maintained the same owners throughout the periods in between.

In certain cases, special concessional tracing rules deem entities to hold voting, dividend or capital stakes in the company so that the company does not have to trace through to the ultimate beneficial owners of the stakes.

---

Subdivision 166-AA—The object of this Division

166-3 The object of this Division

- (1) The object of this Division is to make it easier for a *widely held company, or an *eligible Division 166 company, to apply the rules in Division 165 (because of the difficulty the company might have under that Division in actually tracing through to the ultimate beneficial owners of *voting stakes, *dividend stakes and *capital stakes in the company).
- (2) This Division makes it easier to apply the rules in Division 165 by:
  - (a) making it unnecessary for the company to prove that it has maintained the same owners throughout a period, if the company had the same owners at certain test times; and
  - (b) making it unnecessary for the company to trace through to the ultimate beneficial owners of:
    - (i) *voting stakes, *dividend stakes and *capital stakes in the company held by certain entities (whether directly, or *indirectly through one or more interposed entities); and
    - (ii) small voting stakes, dividend stakes and capital stakes in the company.

- (1) This Subdivision modifies the way Subdivision 165-A applies to a company that is:
- (a) a *widely held company at all times during the income year; or
  - (b) an *eligible Division 166 company at all times during the income year; or
  - (c) a widely held company for a part of the income year and an eligible Division 166 company for the rest of the income year.

Note 1: Subdivision 165-A is about the conditions a company must meet before it can deduct a tax loss for an earlier income year.

Note 2: A company can choose that this Subdivision is not to apply to it: see section 166-15.

Note 3: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete income years.

Meaning of test period

- (2) The company's test period is the period consisting of the *loss year, the income year and any intervening period.

Note: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete test periods.

Substantial continuity of ownership

- (3) The company is taken to have met the conditions in section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners) if there is *substantial continuity of ownership of the company as between the start of the *test period and:
- (a) the end of each income year in that period; and
  - (b) the *end of each *corporate change in that period.

Note: See sections 166-145 and 166-175 to work out whether there is substantial continuity of ownership and a corporate change.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the end of an income year in that period; or
  - (b) the *end of a *corporate change in that period.

Satisfies the same business test

- (5) However, if the company satisfies the *same business test for the income year (the same business test period), it is taken to have satisfied the condition in section 165-13.

Note 1: For the same business test, see Subdivision 165-E.

Note 2: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete test periods.

- (6) Apply the *same business test to the *business that the company carried on immediately before the earlier of the following times (the test time):
- (a) the end of the first income year;
  - (b) the first time in the test period that a *corporate change in the company *ends;
- for which there is no *substantial continuity of ownership of the company as between the start of the *test period and that time.

166-15 Companies can choose that this Subdivision is not to apply to them

- (1) The company can choose that Subdivision 165-A is to apply to it for the income year without the modifications made by this Subdivision.
- (2) The company must choose on or before the day it lodges its *income tax return for the income year, or before a later day if the Commissioner allows.

then the company is taken to have failed to meet the condition in paragraph 165-35(a).

Satisfies the same business test

(4) However, if the company satisfies the *same business test for the rest of the income year (the same business test period) after the first time (the test time) in the *test period that a *corporate change in the company *ended, the company is taken to have satisfied the condition in paragraph 165-35(b).

Note 1: For the same business test, see Subdivision 165-E.

This Subdivision has the tests to work out whether a widely held or eligible Division 166 company has maintained the same owners as between different times. (Subdivision 166-E has rules which make it easier for the company to satisfy these tests.)

This Subdivision also defines when there has been a corporate change in the company.

166-145 The ownership tests: substantial continuity of ownership

- (1) There is substantial continuity of ownership of the company as between the start of the *test period and another time in the test period if (and only if) the conditions in this section are met.

Subdivision 166-E—Concessional tracing rules

Guide to Subdivision 166-E

166-215 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision has rules which make it easier for a widely held or eligible Division 166 company to satisfy the ownership tests in Subdivision 166-D.

Special concessional tracing rules deem entities to hold the following stakes in the company so that the company does not have to trace through to the beneficial owners of the stakes:

- (a) stakes of less than 10% in the company;
- (b) stakes of between 10% and 50% that are held by widely held companies;
- (c) stakes that are held by complying superannuation funds, complying approved deposit funds, special companies and managed investment schemes;
- (d) stakes in interposed foreign listed companies that are held as bearer shares;
- (e) stakes in interposed foreign listed companies that are held by depository entities.

Stakes of less than 10% in the tested company

166-225 Direct stakes of less than 10% in the tested company

- (1) This section modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 are applied to the tested company if:
- (a) a *voting stake that carries rights to less than 10% of the voting power in the company is held directly in the company; or
  - (b) a *dividend stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any dividends that the company may pay is held directly in the company; or
  - (c) a *capital stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any distribution of capital of the company is held directly in the company.

Note: Other rules might affect this provision: see sections 166-270, 166-275 and 166-280.

Notional shareholder

- (2) The tests are applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time, a single notional entity:
- (a) directly controlled the voting power that is carried by each such *voting stake; and
  - (b) had the right to receive, for its own benefit and directly:
    - (i) any *dividends the tested company may pay in respect of each such *dividend stake; and
    - (ii) any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of each such *capital stake; and
  - (c) were a person (other than a company).

Note: The persons who actually control the voting power and have rights to dividends and capital are taken not to control that power or have those rights: see section 166-265.

- (3) To avoid doubt, the single notional entity mentioned in subsection (2) is a different single notional entity from the one mentioned in section 165-207 and the one mentioned in section 166-255.

Section 166-230

166-230 Indirect stakes of less than 10% in the tested company

- (1) This section modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 are applied to the tested company if it is the case, or it is reasonable to assume that:
- (a) an entity (the stakeholder) indirectly holds any of these stakes in the tested company:
    - (i) a *voting stake that carries rights to less than 10% of the voting power in the company; or
    - (ii) a *dividend stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any dividends that the company may pay; or
    - (iii) a *capital stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any distribution of capital of the company; and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) the stakeholder indirectly holds the stake in the tested company by holding *shares directly in a company (the top interposed entity) that is interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company; or
    - (ii) the stakeholder indirectly holds the stake in the tested company by holding another interest directly in an entity (the top interposed entity) that is not a company and that is interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company.

Note 1: There might also be other entities interposed between the top interposed entity and the tested company.

Note 2: Other rules might affect this provision: see subsection (3) and sections 166-272, 166-275 and 166-280.

Top interposed entity deemed to hold stakes directly in the tested company

- (2) The tests are applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time:
- (a) if the stake is a *voting stake—the top interposed entity controls, or is able to control, the voting power in the tested company that is carried by that stake at that time; and
  - (b) if the stake is a *dividend stake—the top interposed entity *indirectly had the right to receive, for its own benefit, any

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

*dividends the tested company may pay in respect of that stake at that time; and

- (c) if the stake is a *capital stake—the top interposed entity indirectly had the right to receive, for its own benefit, any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of that stake at that time; and
- (d) in any case—the top interposed entity were a person (other than a company).

Note: The persons who actually control the voting power and have rights to dividends and capital are taken not to control that power or have those rights: see section 166-265.

Acquisition of top interposed entity by another entity

- (3) If:
  - (a) a new entity (the new interposed entity) acquires all the *shares or other interests in the top interposed entity (the old interposed entity); and
  - (b) the new interposed entity has the same classes of shares or other interests as the old interposed entity; and
  - (c) if the new interposed entity is a company—the shares are not *redeemable shares; and
  - (d) in any case—each stakeholder holds the same proportion of the total *voting stakes, *dividend stakes or *capital stakes in the new interposed entity immediately after the acquisition as the stakeholder held in the old interposed entity immediately before the acquisition;then, at all times that the old interposed entity held or is taken to have held a stake in the tested company, the new interposed entity is taken to have held that stake.
- (4) Except for the purposes of determining whether a time is an alteration time (within the meaning of section 165-115L), section 166-272 (which is about the same shares or interests) is to be disregarded when applying subsection (3).

166-235 Voting, dividend and capital stakes

Meaning of voting stake

- (1) An entity holds a voting stake in a company if:
  - (a) the entity is the registered holder of *shares in the company;
and
  - (b) the shares carry rights to exercise voting power in the company.
- (2) An entity (the stakeholder) also holds a voting stake in a company if:
  - (a) one or more other entities are interposed between the company and the stakeholder; and
  - (b) the stakeholder controls, or is able to control, voting power in the company indirectly through the interposed entity or entities.

Meaning of dividend stake

- (3) An entity holds a dividend stake in a company if:
  - (a) the entity is the registered holder of *shares in the company;
and
  - (b) the shares carry rights to all or any *dividends that the company may pay.
- (4) An entity (the stakeholder) also holds a dividend stake in a company if:
  - (a) one or more other entities are interposed between the company and the stakeholder; and
  - (b) the stakeholder has the right to receive, for its own benefit and *indirectly through the interposed entity or entities, all or any *dividends that the company may pay.

Meaning of capital stake

- (5) An entity holds a capital stake in a company if:
  - (a) the entity is the registered holder of *shares in the company;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) the shares carry rights to all or any of a distribution of capital of the company.
- (6) An entity (the stakeholder) also holds a capital stake in a company if:
  - (a) one or more other entities are interposed between the company and the stakeholder; and
  - (b) the stakeholder has the right to receive, for its own benefit and *indirectly through the interposed entity or entities, all or any of a distribution of capital of the company.

Stakes held by nominees

- (7) For the purposes of sections 166-225 and 166-230, if:
  - (a) an entity (the nominee entity) holds a *voting stake, a *dividend stake, or a *capital stake, in a company; and
  - (b) the nominee entity is itself a company; and
  - (c) the nominee entity holds the stake as a nominee for more than one other entity;then, for each entity for whom a part of the stake is held by the nominee entity, that entity's part of the stake may be treated instead as a separate stake.

Stakes held directly and/or indirectly by widely held companies

166-240 Stakes held directly and/or indirectly by widely held companies

- (1) This section modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 are applied to the tested company if a *widely held company directly or indirectly (through one or more interposed entities), or both directly and indirectly, holds any of the following:
  - (a) a *voting stake that carries rights to between 10% and 50% (inclusive) of the voting power in the company;

- (c) a *capital stake that carries the right to receive between 10% and 50% (inclusive) of any distribution of capital of the company.

Note: Other rules might affect this provision: see subsections (3) and (4) and sections 166-272, 166-275 and 166-280.

- (2) The tests are applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time:

- (a) if the stake is a *voting stake—the *widely held company controls, or is able to control, the voting power in the tested company that is carried by that stake at that time; and
- (b) if the stake is a *dividend stake—the widely held company had the right to receive (whether directly or *indirectly), for its own benefit, any *dividends the tested company may pay in respect of that stake at that time; and
- (c) if the stake is a *capital stake—the widely held company had the right to receive (whether directly or indirectly), for its own benefit, any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of that stake at that time; and
- (d) in any case—the widely held company were a person (other than a company).

Note: The persons who actually control the voting power and have rights to dividends and capital are taken not to control that power or have those rights: see section 166-265.

Exception

- (3) This section does not apply in respect of a *widely held company if the company is not a widely held company for the whole income year in which the *ownership test time occurs.

Note: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete periods.

Acquisition of widely held company by another entity

- (4) If:
  - (a) a new company acquires all the *shares in the *widely held company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) immediately before the acquisition, the shares in the widely held company were listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange; and

- (d) the new company has the same classes of shares (not being *redeemable shares) as the widely held company; and
- (e) each entity that held stakes in the widely held company immediately before the acquisition holds the same proportion of the total *voting stakes, *dividend stakes or *capital stakes in the new company immediately after the acquisition as the entity held in the widely held company immediately before the acquisition;

then, at all times that the widely held company held or is taken to have held a stake in the tested company, the new company is taken to have held that stake.

- (5) Except for the purposes of determining whether a time is an alteration time (within the meaning of section 165-115L), section 166-272 (which is about same shares or interests) is to be disregarded when applying subsection (4).

166-245 Stakes held by other entities

Note 2: Other rules might affect this provision: see sections 166-270, 166-275 and 166-280.

- (2) The tests are applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time, for each of those bearer shares whose owners have not been disclosed:
  - (a) a single notional entity controls, or is able to control, the voting power in the tested company that is carried by those shares at that time; and
  - (b) the entity *indirectly had the right to receive, for its own benefit:
    - (i) any *dividends the tested company may pay in respect of those shares at that time; and
    - (ii) any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of those shares at that time; and
  - (c) the entity were a person (other than a company).

Note: The persons who actually control the voting power and have rights to dividends and capital are taken not to control that power or have those rights: see section 166-265.

- (3) To avoid doubt, the single notional entity mentioned in subsection (2) is a different single notional entity from the one mentioned in section 165-207 and the one mentioned in section 166-225.

166-260 Depository entities holding stakes in foreign listed companies

- (1) This section modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 are applied to the tested company if:
- (a) at the *ownership test time, it is the case, or it is reasonable to assume, that persons (none of them companies or trustees) have a *voting stake, a *dividend stake or a *capital stake in the tested company; and
  - (b) an entity has not, under section 166-225, 166-230, 166-240, 166-245 or 166-255, been taken to control voting power or have rights in respect of the stake; and
  - (c) another company (the foreign listed company) is interposed, at that time, between those persons and the tested company; and
  - (d) at all times during the income year of the tested company in which the ownership test time occurs, the *principal class of shares in the foreign listed company is listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange; and
  - (e) at the ownership test time:
    - (i) voting stakes that carry rights to 50% or more of the voting power in the foreign listed company; or
    - (ii) dividend stakes that carry rights to receive 50% or more of any dividends that the foreign listed company may pay; or
    - (iii) capital stakes that carry rights to receive 50% or more of any distribution of capital of the foreign listed company; as the case requires, are directly held by one or more *depository entities (see subsection (3)); and
  - (f) a law of a foreign country, or a part of a foreign country, in which the approved stock exchange is located, prevents the disclosure of the beneficial owners of some or all of those shares that are held by the depository entities; and
  - (g) the beneficial owners of some or all of the shares held by the depository entities have not been disclosed to the foreign listed company.

Note 1: See section 165-255 for the rule about incomplete test periods.

---

---

Note 2: This rule might not apply in all circumstances: see sections 166-275 and 166-280.

- (2) The tests are applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time, for each of those *shares held by a *depository entity whose owners have not been disclosed, the depository entity:
- (a) controls, or is able to control, the voting power in the tested company that is carried by those shares at that time; and
  - (b) *indirectly had the right to receive, for its own benefit:
    - (i) any *dividends the tested company may pay in respect of those shares at that time; and
    - (ii) any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of those shares at that time; and
  - (c) were a person (other than a company).

Note: The persons who actually control the voting power and have rights to dividends and capital are taken not to control that power or have those rights: see section 166-265.

- (3) If the effect of subsection (2) is that the *depository entity is taken to hold:
- (a) a *voting stake that carries rights to less than 10% of the voting power in the tested company; or
  - (b) a *dividend stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any dividends that the tested company may pay; or
  - (c) a *capital stake that carries the right to receive less than 10% of any distribution of capital of the tested company;
- then neither section 166-225 nor section 166-230 applies in respect of that stake.
- (4) If the *depository entity (the old depository entity) is subsequently replaced by another depository entity (the new depository entity), then, at all times that the old depository entity held or is taken to have held a stake in the tested company, the new entity is taken to have held that stake.
- (5) A depository entity is an entity:
- (a) that is a central securities repository; and
  - (b) that provides custody of share certificates; and
  - (c) that provides services for the exchange of shares.

Other rules relating to voting power and rights

166-265 Persons who actually control voting power or have rights are taken not to control power or have rights

If any of sections 166-225, 166-230, 166-240, 166-245, 166-255 or 166-260 apply, the ownership tests in section 166-145 are also applied to the tested company as if, at the *ownership test time:

- (a) the persons who control, or are able to control, the voting power in the tested company (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) that is carried by each *voting stake in the tested company mentioned in that section had not had that control; and
- (b) the persons who have the right to receive for their own benefit (whether directly, or *indirectly through one or more interposed entities):
  - (i) any *dividends that the tested company may pay in respect of each *dividend stake in the tested company mentioned in that section; and
  - (ii) any distributions of capital of the tested company in respect of each *capital stake in the tested company mentioned in that section;had not had that right.

166-270 Single notional entity stakeholders taken to have minimum voting control, dividend rights and capital rights

Minimum control of voting power

- (1) If:
  - (a) the *ownership test time is after the start of the *test period; and
  - (b) a single notional entity mentioned in section 166-225 or 166-255 has voting power in a company; and
  - (c) the voting power that the entity has at the ownership test time is greater than the voting power that the entity had at the start of the test period;

---

then the entity is taken to have voting power in the company at the ownership test time only to the extent that it had it at the start of the test period.

Minimum percentage of rights to dividends and capital

(2) If:

- (a) the *ownership test time is after the start of the *test period; and
- (b) a single notional entity mentioned in section 166-225 or 166-255 has a percentage of rights to the *dividends or distributions of capital of a company; and
- (c) the percentage that the entity has rights to at the ownership test time is greater than the percentage (the lower percentage) of the dividends or distributions of capital of the company that the entity had rights to at the start of the test period;

then the entity is taken to have rights to the lower percentage of the dividends or distributions of capital at the ownership test time.

166-272 Same shares or interests to be held

Application

- (1) This section modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 are applied to a *voting stake, a *dividend stake or a *capital stake in the tested company held by one of the following entities (the stakeholder):
  - (a) a top interposed entity mentioned in section 166-230 (which is about indirect stakes of less than 10%);
  - (b) a *widely held company mentioned in section 166-240;
  - (c) an entity mentioned in subsection 166-245(2) (which is about stakes held by other entities);
  - (d) a *depository entity mentioned in section 166-260;(whether directly, or *indirectly through one or more interposed entities).

Exactly the same shares or interests must continue to be held

- (2) For the purpose of determining whether the tested company has satisfied a condition or whether a time is a changeover time or an alteration time in respect of the tested company:
- (a) a condition that has to be satisfied is not satisfied; or
  - (b) a time that, apart from this subsection, would not be a changeover time or alteration time is taken to be a changeover time or alteration time, as the case may be;
- unless, at all relevant times:
- (c) the only *shares in the tested company that are taken into account are exactly the same shares and are held by the same persons; and
  - (d) the only interests (including shares) in any other entity that is interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company that are taken into account are exactly the same interests and are held by the same persons.

What happens in case of share splitting

- (3) If:
- (a) a particular *share (an old share) in a company of which the stakeholder, or an entity interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company, is the holder at the start of the *test period is divided into 2 or more new shares during that period; and
  - (b) the stakeholder or entity becomes the holder of each of the new shares immediately after the division takes place and remains the holder until the end of that period;
- the new shares are taken to be exactly the same shares as the old share.

What happens in case of splitting of units in a unit trust

- (4) If:
- (a) a particular unit (an old unit) in a unit trust of which the stakeholder, or an entity interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company, is the holder at the start of the *test period is divided into 2 or more new units during that period;

and

- (b) the stakeholder or entity becomes the holder of each of the new units immediately after the division takes place and remains the holder until the end of that period;

the new units are taken to be exactly the same units as the old unit.

What happens in case of consolidation of shares

(5) If:

- (a) a particular *share (an old share) in a company of which the stakeholder, or an entity interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company, is the holder at the start of the *test period, and other shares (each of which is also called an old share) in the company of which the stakeholder or entity is the holder at the start of that period, are consolidated into a new share during that period; and

- (b) the stakeholder or entity becomes the holder of the new share immediately after the consolidation takes place;

the new share is taken to be exactly the same share as the old shares.

What happens in case of consolidation of units in a unit trust

(6) If:

- (a) a particular unit (an old unit) in a unit trust of which the stakeholder, or an entity interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company, is the holder at the start of the *test period and other units (each of which is also called an old unit) in the trust of which the stakeholder or entity is the holder at the start of that period are consolidated into a new unit during that period; and

- (b) the stakeholder or entity becomes the holder of the new unit immediately after the consolidation takes place;

the new unit is taken to be exactly the same unit as the old units.

Totals of shares or rights not affected

- (7) This section does not affect how *shares, and rights carried by shares, are counted for the purpose of determining:
- (a) the total voting power in the tested company; or
  - (b) the total dividends that the tested company may pay; or
  - (c) the total distributions of capital of the tested company.

Conditions in section 166-145 may be treated as having been satisfied in certain circumstances

- (8) If any of the conditions in section 166-145 have not been satisfied, those conditions are taken to have been satisfied if:
- (a) they would have been satisfied except for the operation of subsection (2) of this section; and
  - (b) the tested company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that less than 50% of:
    - (i) the *tax loss; or
    - (ii) the *notional loss; or
    - (iii) the bad debt; or
    - (iv) the unrealised net loss (within the meaning of section 165-115E);as the case requires, has been reflected in deductions, capital losses, or reduced assessable income, that occurred, or could occur in future, because of the happening of any *CGT event in relation to any *direct equity interests or *indirect equity interests held in the tested company by the stakeholder, or an entity interposed between the stakeholder and the tested company, during the *test period.

Subsection (8) not to apply for purpose of determining whether an alteration time has occurred

- (9) However, subsection (8) does not apply in relation to any of the conditions in section 166-145 in so far as those conditions have effect for the purpose of determining whether an alteration time (within the meaning of section 165-115L) has occurred.

---

---

Time of happening of CGT event

- (10) The happening of any *CGT event in relation to a *direct equity interest or *indirect equity interest in the tested company that results in the failure of the tested company to satisfy a condition in section 166-145 is taken, for the purposes of paragraph (8)(b), to have occurred during the *test period.

When the rules in this Subdivision do not apply

166-275 Rules in this Subdivision intended to be concessional

A company is taken to have met the conditions in section 165-12, paragraph 165-35(a) or section 165-123, or a changeover time or an alteration time is taken not to have occurred in respect of a company, (as the case requires), if:

- (a) a *tracing rule modifies how the ownership tests in section 166-145 apply to the tested company in respect of a *voting stake, a *dividend stake or a *capital stake; and
- (b) the company fails the tests (whether at the time of applying the tracing rule or at another time); and
- (c) the company believes, on reasonable grounds, that if the tracing rule did not modify how the tests apply to the company in respect of that stake, it would not fail the tests.

Example: 11 people own shareholdings of 9% in the listed company. Under section 166-225, one notional shareholder is deemed to hold all of those shareholdings. 2 of the people sell their shareholdings so that 9 of the original 11 people now own shareholdings of 11%. Without the rule in this section, the company would fail the ownership tests (as the rule in section 166-225 no longer applies).

166-280 Controlled test companies

- (1) A *tracing rule does not modify how the ownership tests in section 166-145 apply to the tested company in respect of all or part of the voting power in the tested company, or all or some of the rights to *dividends of, or capital in, the tested company, if:
- (a) either:
    - (i) an entity (the controlling entity) directly holds that power or has those rights; or

- (ii) an entity (the controlling entity) indirectly holds that power or has those rights through one or more interposed entities; and
- (b) the tested company is sufficiently influenced (within the meaning of paragraph 318(6)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) by the controlling entity.

Note: However, a tracing rule can modify how the ownership tests in section 166-145 apply to the tested company in respect of voting power or dividend or capital rights held by entities other than controlling entities.

- (2) A *tracing rule does not modify how the ownership tests in section 166-145 apply to the tested company in respect of all or part of the voting power in the tested company if:
  - (a) the tested company is a *widely held company; and
  - (b) that voting power:
    - (i) is more than 25% of the total voting power in the tested company and is controlled (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) by a natural person, together with his or her *associates; or
    - (ii) is more than 50% of the total voting power in the tested company and is controlled (whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) by a trustee or company, together with its associates.

- 170-70 Amendment of assessments

Australian permanent establishments of foreign financial entities

- 170-75 Treatment like Australian branches of foreign banks

170-5 Basic principles for transferring tax losses

- (1) A company can transfer a tax loss to another company so that the other company can deduct it in the income year of the transfer.
- (2) Both companies must be members of the same wholly-owned group. There are other eligibility requirements that they must also satisfy.
- (2A) One of the companies must be an Australian branch of a foreign bank. The other company must be:
  - (a) the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group; or
  - (b) not a member of a consolidatable group.

Note: This Subdivision applies to Australian permanent establishments of foreign entities that are financial entities in the same way as it applies to Australian branches of foreign banks. See section 170-75.
- (3) The transferred loss must be “surplus” in the sense that the transferring company cannot use it because there is not enough assessable income to offset it. The other company must have enough assessable income to offset the transferred tax loss.

---

---

- (4) Neither company must be prevented from deducting the loss by Division 165 or 175.

Note: Division 165 deals with the income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company. Division 175 deals with using a company's tax losses to avoid income tax.

- (5) The tax loss is transferred by an agreement between the 2 companies.

- (6) The tax loss can be transferred in the same year as it is incurred. In that case different rules apply.

Note: This Subdivision does not apply in some circumstances involving film licensed investment companies. These circumstances are set out in Subdivision 375-H.

Effect of transferring a tax loss

170-10 When a company can transfer a tax loss

- (1) A company (the loss company) can transfer an amount of its *tax loss for an income year (the loss year) to another company (the income company) if the conditions in this Subdivision are met.
- (2) The amount transferred can be the whole or part of the *tax loss.

Note: A PDF cannot transfer a tax loss, except one for a period before it became a PDF: see section 195-10.

170-15 Income company is taken to have incurred transferred loss

- (1) If an amount of a *tax loss is transferred, the amount is taken to be a tax loss incurred by the *income company in the *loss year.
- (2) However, if the *loss year is the same as the income year of the transfer, the *income company is taken to have incurred the *tax loss in the income year before the loss year.

Note: This rule is needed because Division 36 allows a tax loss to be deducted only if it was incurred in an earlier income year.

---

---

---

- (3) Despite subsection (1), if the *tax loss is transferred because the conditions in section 170-32 are met, the *income company is taken to have incurred the tax loss for the income year for which the first prior transferor mentioned in that section incurred the tax loss.
- (4) Despite subsection (1), if the *tax loss is transferred because the condition in subsection 170-42(4) is met, the *income company is taken to have incurred the tax loss for the income year for which that subsection assumes the income company incurred the tax loss.

170-20 Who can deduct transferred loss

- (1) If an amount of a *tax loss is transferred, the *income company can deduct the amount in accordance with section 36-17 (which is about how to deduct a tax loss), but only for the income year of the income company for which the amount is transferred. That income year is called the deduction year.
- (2) The *loss company can no longer deduct the transferred amount and is taken not to have incurred the *tax loss to the extent of that amount.

170-25 Tax treatment of consideration for transferred tax loss

- (1) If the *loss company receives any consideration from the *income company for the amount of the *tax loss:
  - (a) so much of the consideration as is given for the amount of the tax loss is neither assessable income nor exempt income of the loss company; and
  - (b) a *capital gain does not accrue to the loss company because of the receipt of the consideration.

Note: However, the consideration may affect how section 170-210 modifies the cost base of direct and indirect interests in the loss company.

- (2) If the *income company gives any consideration to the *loss company for the amount of the *tax loss:
  - (a) the income company cannot deduct the amount or value of the consideration; and

---

---

- (b) the income company does not incur a *capital loss because of the giving of the consideration.

Note: However, the consideration may affect how section 170-215 modifies the cost base of direct and indirect interests in the income company.

Conditions for transfer

170-30 Companies must be in existence and members of the same wholly-owned group etc.

- (1) Both companies must be in existence during at least part of each of the following income years:
- (a) the *loss year; and
  - (b) the *deduction year; and
  - (c) any intervening income year.

Note: In some cases, this condition may not apply, or may be taken to be met even if it is not actually met. See sections 170-32 and 170-33.

- (2) Also, both companies must be members of the same *wholly-owned group during the whole or part of those income years when both companies were in existence.

Note: In some cases, this condition may not apply, or may be taken to be met even if it is not actually met. See sections 170-32 and 170-33.

- (3) One of the companies must be an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank.

Note: The Australian branch can be taken to be a separate entity from the foreign bank for this Subdivision. See Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

- (4) The other company must be covered by an item of this table.

The other company
Item	The other company must:	At this time:
1	Be the *head company of a *consolidated group	The end of the *deduction year or, if the company ceases to be in existence during the deduction year, just before the cessation

170-32 Tax loss incurred by the loss company because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A

When the conditions in this section apply

- (1) The conditions in this section apply instead of the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) if:
  - (a) the *income company is an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank; and
  - (b) the *loss company incurred the *tax loss because of one or more transfers of the tax loss under Subdivision 707-A.

Conditions

- (2) Each transferor (prior transferor) of the *tax loss under Subdivision 707-A must have been a company.
- (3) It must have been possible to meet the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) in relation to the *loss company and the *income company assuming:
  - (a) the *loss year were so much of the income year in which the *tax loss was transferred to the loss company under Subdivision 707-A as occurred after the transfer; and
  - (b) so much (if any) of the *deduction year as occurred before the transfer were disregarded.

---

---

- (4) The *income company and each prior transferor must both be in existence during at least part of each of these periods:
- (a) the period consisting of:
    - (i) if the prior transferor incurred the *tax loss apart from Subdivision 707-A—the *loss year; or
    - (ii) if the prior transferor incurred the tax loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A (other than a transfer from the prior transferor to itself)—so much of the income year in which the transfer occurred as was after the transfer (but before any later transfer of the loss from the prior transferor under that Subdivision);
  - (b) so much of the income year during which the tax loss was transferred under Subdivision 707-A from the prior transferor to another company as occurs before the transfer (but after the start of the period described in paragraph (a));
  - (c) any intervening income year.
- (5) The *income company must be a member of the same *wholly-owned group as each prior transferor during the whole or part of the periods described in subsection (4) for the prior transferor when both were in existence.

170-33 Alternative test of relations between the loss company and other companies

- (1) The conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) are taken to be met in relation to the *loss company and the *income company if:
- (a) the loss company is an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank; and
  - (b) the income company is covered by item 1 or 2 of the table in subsection 170-30(4) (because the company is the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group at the time described in that item); and
  - (c) the relevant circumstances in this section exist.

---

---

Circumstances

- (2) One circumstance is that there is another company (the first link company) in relation to which all these conditions are met:
- (a) the first link company became a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group after the start of the *loss year but before the time described in the item of the table in subsection 170-30(4) that covers the *income company;
  - (b) the *tax loss could have been transferred from the *loss company to the first link company under this Subdivision (apart from subsection 170-30(4) and this section) for a *deduction year consisting of the *trial year for the first link company becoming a subsidiary member of that group had:
    - (i) the first link company continued to be *in existence as a separate entity (rather than being part of the head company of that group) when it was a subsidiary member of that group; and
    - (ii) the trial year not started before the start of the loss year; and
    - (iii) the first link company had enough assessable income for the trial year;
  - (c) the tax loss would have been incurred by the income company because of one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A assuming the tax loss had been made by the first link company (apart from that Subdivision) for the loss year.
- (3) If the condition in paragraph (2)(c) could be met only if there had been a transfer described in that paragraph involving a company other than the first link company and the *income company, another circumstance is that the other company and the *loss company were *in existence and members of the same *wholly-owned group for the period:
- (a) starting when the *tax loss would have been transferred under Subdivision 707-A to the other company as described in that paragraph; and
  - (b) ending when the tax loss would have been transferred under Subdivision 707-A from the other company as described in that paragraph.

---

---

- (4) It does not matter whether or not any of the transfers mentioned in subsection (3) would have involved the first link company or the *income company as well as the other company.
- (5) Another circumstance is that the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) would have been met for the *loss company and the *income company assuming:
  - (a) the *loss year consisted of the part of the income year in which the *tax loss would have been transferred to the income company under Subdivision 707-A as described in paragraph (2)(c) occurring after the time the transfer would have occurred; and
  - (b) so much (if any) of the *deduction year as occurred before the time the transfer would have occurred were disregarded.

170-35 The loss company

- (1) The *loss company:
  - (a) must be an Australian resident and not a *prescribed dual resident; and
  - (b) must not be a *dual resident investment company in either the *loss year or the *deduction year.
- (2) If the *loss year and the *deduction year are the same, it must be the case that the *loss company was not required to calculate the *tax loss:
  - (a) under section 165-70 (because of a change in ownership or control); or
  - (b) under section 175-35 (because of injected income or deductions).
- (3) Also, it must be the case that neither Subdivision 165-A nor Subdivision 175-A would have prevented the *loss company from deducting the *tax loss in the *deduction year if it had had enough assessable income (including *assessable film income) to offset the tax loss.

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-5 Corporate taxpayers and corporate distributions

Division 170 Treatment of certain company groups for income tax purposes

Section 170-40

Note 1: Subdivision 165-A deals with the deductibility of a company's tax loss for an earlier income year if there has been a change in the ownership or control of the company in the loss year or the income year. Subdivision 175-A is about the Commissioner preventing a company from getting certain tax benefits through its unused tax losses.

Note 2: Division 707 affects the operation of Subdivision 165-A if the loss company incurred the tax loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A.

170-40 The income company

- (1) The *income company must be an Australian resident and not a *prescribed dual resident.
- (2) It must not be prevented by Division 165 or 175 from deducting the transferred amount in the *deduction year. Those Divisions do not apply to the *income company if the *loss year and the *deduction year are the same.

Note 1: Division 165 deals with the income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company. Division 175 deals with using a company's tax losses to avoid income tax.

Note 2: The condition in subsection (2) may not apply in some cases. See section 170-42.

170-42 If the income company has become the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group

- (1) The condition in subsection (2) of this section applies to the *income company instead of the condition in subsection 170-40(2) if the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) are met in relation to the *loss company and the income company apart from section 170-33 and either:
  - (a) both these circumstances exist:
    - (i) after the start of the *loss year but before the relevant time described in subsection 170-30(4), the income company became the *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group that came into existence after the start of the loss year;
    - (ii) the loss year and *deduction year are not the same; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) all these circumstances exist:

- (i) the income company is, at the relevant time described in subsection 170-30(4), the head company of a MEC group;
- (ii) before that time but after the end of the loss year, the MEC group was involved in an application event described in section 719-300 (but not covered by subsection 719-300(4) or (5));
- (iii) the income company would be taken under section 719-305 to have transferred losses to itself under Subdivision 707-A, assuming it had made losses while head company of the group or of a consolidated group involved in the event;
- (iv) the MEC group or consolidated group came into existence before the start of the *loss year.

Note: An application event involves either expanding an existing MEC group by including extra eligible tier-1 companies of the top company for the group or creating a MEC group because more companies become eligible tier-1 companies of the top company of which the head company of a consolidated group is an eligible tier-1 company.

- (2) The *income company must have been able to deduct the *tax loss in the *deduction year assuming that it had incurred the tax loss for the *loss year.
- (3) The condition in subsection (4) of this section applies to the *income company instead of the condition in subsection 170-40(2) if the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) are met in relation to the *loss company and the income company because of section 170-33.
- (4) The *income company must have been able to deduct the *tax loss in the *deduction year assuming that it had incurred the tax loss, for the income year in which the loss would have been transferred to it as described in paragraph 170-33(2)(c), because of one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A described in that paragraph.

170-45 Maximum amount that can be transferred

Loss company can only transfer what it cannot use itself

- (1) The amount transferred cannot exceed the amount of the *loss company's *tax loss that, apart from the transfer, the loss company would carry forward to the next income year after deducting in the *deduction year the maximum amount of tax losses that the loss company can deduct under section 36-17.

Transferred loss must not exceed what the income company can use

- (2) The amount transferred also cannot exceed the amount worked out as follows:

Method statement

- Step 1. Add together the *income company's assessable income and *net exempt income (if any) for the *deduction year.
- Step 2. Subtract the *income company's deductions for the *deduction year, except deductions for amounts of *tax losses transferred to the income company (by the *loss company or any other company).
- Step 3. Subtract the *income company's deductions for the *deduction year for amounts of *tax losses transferred to the income company (by the *loss company or any other company) by agreements made before the agreement by which the first amount is transferred.

Example: In the deduction year:

- the income company has assessable income of $60,000, net exempt income of $10,000 and deductions of $25,000 (apart from the transferred loss); and
- another company, being a member of the same wholly-owned group as the income company, transferred a tax loss of $15,000 to the income company; and
- the loss company incurred a tax loss of $50,000.

Of the $50,000 loss, the loss company can transfer no more than $30,000 ( $$60,000 + $10,000 - $25,000 - $15,000$ ) to the income company.

---

- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply if the *tax loss is a *film loss. In that case, the amount transferred also cannot exceed the amount worked out as follows:

Method statement

- Step 1. Add together the *income company's *net assessable film income and *net exempt film income (if any) for the *deduction year.
- Step 2. Subtract the *income company's deductions for the *deduction year for amounts of *film losses transferred to the income company (by the *loss company or any other company) by agreements made before the agreement by which the first amount is transferred.

- (4) Subsections (2) and (3) do not apply if the transfer occurs because either or both of the conditions in subsections 170-42(2) and (4) are met. In that case, the amount transferred also cannot exceed the amount worked out as follows:

Method statement

- Step 1. Identify each *bundle of losses that, on the assumption in subsection 170-42(2) or (4) (as appropriate), would have included the *tax loss or *film loss (as appropriate).

Note 1: There will be 2 or more bundles of losses identified if both of the conditions in subsections 170-42(2) and (4) are met.

Note 2: There will be more than 1 bundle of losses identified on the basis of the assumption in paragraph 170-42(4) if the conditions in subsections 170-30(1) and (2) are met in relation to the loss company and the income company because of multiple applications of section 170-33 each involving a different first link company.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 170-50

---

- Step 2. For each *bundle identified, work out how much of the *tax loss or *film loss (as appropriate) the *income company would have been able to deduct in the *deduction year assuming that:
- (a) the loss could have been deducted in that year only after the deduction in that year of any other losses of that *sort that would have been included in the bundle, other than losses (the transferable losses) that could be transferred from the *loss company to the income company for that year; and
  - (b) if the bundle would have included 2 or more transferable losses of that sort—those losses could have been deducted only in the order in which the loss company incurred them.
- Note 1: If the assumption in subsection 170-42(2) is relevant to the bundle, it would have included losses incurred by the income company and transferred (or taken to be transferred) to the company (from itself) under Subdivision 707-A.
- Note 2: If the assumption in paragraph 170-42(4) is relevant to the bundle, it would have included losses actually incurred by the first link company and transferred (by one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A) to the income company.
- Step 3. Total every result of step 2 for the *tax loss or *film loss (as appropriate).

170-50 Transfer by written agreement

- (1) The transfer must be made by a written agreement between the *loss company and the *income company.
- (2) The agreement must:
  - (a) specify the income year of the transfer (which may be earlier than the income year in which the agreement is made); and
  - (b) specify the amount of the *tax loss being transferred; and
  - (c) be signed by the public officer of each company; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) be made on or before the day of lodgement of the *income company's *income tax return for the *deduction year, or within such further time as the Commissioner allows.

Note: The agreement will usually be made in the next income year after the one for which the income company will deduct the loss.

170-55 Losses must be transferred in order they are incurred

- (1) If the *loss company has 2 or more *tax losses (other than *film losses) that it can transfer in the *deduction year, it can transfer them only in the order in which it incurred them.
- (2) If the *loss company has 2 or more *film losses that it can transfer in the *deduction year, it can transfer them only in the order in which it incurred them.
- (3) If:
  - (a) the *loss company has 2 or more *tax losses, or 2 or more *film losses, it can transfer for the *deduction year; and
  - (b) it incurred at least one of those losses apart from Subdivision 707-A and at least one of those losses because of a transfer under that Subdivision;it can transfer under this Subdivision the losses it incurred because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A only after transferring under this Subdivision the losses it incurred apart from that Subdivision.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), treat a loss incurred by the company both apart from that Subdivision and because of a transfer under that Subdivision as a loss incurred because of a transfer under that Subdivision.
- (5) Subsections (1) and (2) have effect subject to subsection (3).

170-60 Income company cannot transfer transferred tax loss

The *income company cannot transfer an amount of a *tax loss transferred to it, or any part of the amount.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Effect of agreement to transfer more than can be transferred

170-65 Agreement transfers as much as can be transferred

- (1) If the amount specified in an agreement exceeds the maximum amount that the *loss company can transfer to the *income company in the *deduction year, only that maximum amount is taken to have been transferred.
- (2) One reason why an agreement might specify more than can be transferred is that an assessment has been amended since the agreement.

170-70 Amendment of assessments

The Commissioner may amend an assessment to disallow a deduction for a transferred amount of a *tax loss:

- (a) if the agreement to transfer the tax loss is ineffective because the *loss company did not actually incur the loss; or
- (b) to the extent that section 170-65 reduces the transferred amount of a tax loss because the loss company did not actually incur some of it.

The Commissioner may do so despite section 170 (Amendment of assessments) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Australian permanent establishments of foreign financial entities

170-75 Treatment like Australian branches of foreign banks

- (1) The object of this section is to let *tax losses be transferred under this Subdivision to and from *Australian permanent establishments of *foreign entities that are *financial entities in the same way as tax losses can be transferred to and from Australian branches of *foreign banks.
- (2) This Subdivision (except this section) applies to an *Australian permanent establishment of a *foreign entity that is a *financial entity in the same way as this Subdivision applies to an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank.

Subdivision 170-B—Transfer of net capital losses within certain wholly-owned groups of companies

Guide to Subdivision 170-B

170-101 What this Subdivision is about

A company can transfer a surplus amount of its net capital loss to another company so that the other company can apply the amount in working out its net capital gain for the income year of the transfer. One of the companies must be an Australian branch of a foreign bank, and both companies must be members of the same wholly-owned group.

170-170 Amendment of assessments

Australian permanent establishments of foreign financial entities

170-174 Treatment like Australian branches of foreign banks

170-105 Basic principles for transferring a net capital loss

- (1) A company can transfer a net capital loss (except a net capital loss from collectables) to another company so that the other company can apply it in working out its net capital gain for the income year of the transfer.
  - (2) Both companies must be members of the same wholly-owned group. There are other eligibility requirements that they must also satisfy.
  - (2A) One of the companies must be an Australian branch of a foreign bank. The other company must be:
    - (a) the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group; or
    - (b) not a member of a consolidatable group.
- Note: This Subdivision applies to Australian permanent establishments of foreign entities that are financial entities in the same way as it applies to Australian branches of foreign banks. See section 170-174.
- (3) The transferred loss must be “surplus” in the sense that, for the income year of the transfer, the transferring company does not have enough capital gains against which to apply it. The other company must have enough capital gains against which to apply it.
  - (5) Neither company must be prevented by Subdivision 165-CA or 175-CA from applying the loss in working out its net capital gain for the income year of the transfer.

Note: Subdivision 165-CA deals with the consequences of changing ownership or control of a company. Subdivision 175-CA deals with using a company’s net capital losses to avoid income tax.

---

---

- (6) The net capital loss is transferred by an agreement between the 2 companies.
- (7) The net capital loss can be transferred in the same year as it is made. In that case different rules apply.

Note: This Subdivision does not apply in some circumstances involving film licensed investment companies. These circumstances are set out in Subdivision 375-H.
- (8) The provisions of Subdivision 170-C (so far as they relate to the transfer of net capital losses) are to be disregarded in applying the provisions of this Subdivision where the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-150 was made before 22 February 1999.

Effect of transferring a net capital loss

170-110 When a company can transfer a net capital loss

- (1) A company (the loss company) can transfer an amount of its *net capital loss for an income year (the capital loss year) to another company (the gain company) if the conditions in this Subdivision are met.
- (2) The amount transferred can be the whole or part of the *net capital loss.

Note: A PDF cannot transfer a net capital loss, except one for a period before it became a PDF: see section 195-30 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

170-115 Who can apply transferred loss

- (1) If an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred, the gain company can apply the amount in working out its *net capital gain, but only for the income year of the gain company for which the amount is transferred. That income year is called the application year.

Note: A company's net capital gain or net capital loss for an income year is usually worked out under section 102-5 or 102-10.
- (2) The loss company can no longer apply the transferred amount and is taken not to have made the *net capital loss to the extent of that amount.

---

---

---

- (3) Despite subsection (1), if the *net capital loss is transferred because the conditions in section 170-132 are met, the gain company is taken to have made the net capital loss for the income year for which the first prior transferor mentioned in that section made the net capital loss.
- (4) Despite subsection (1), if the *net capital loss is transferred because the condition in subsection 170-142(4) is met, the gain company is taken to have made the net capital loss for the income year for which that subsection assumes the gain company made the net capital loss.

170-120 Gain company is taken to have made transferred loss

- (1) If an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred, the amount is taken to be a *net capital loss of the gain company for the capital loss year.
- (2) However, if the capital loss year is the same as the application year, the amount is taken to be a *capital loss of the gain company for the application year.

170-125 Tax treatment of consideration for transferred tax loss

- (1) If the loss company receives consideration from the gain company for the transferred amount:
  - (a) the consideration is neither assessable income nor *exempt income of the loss company; and
  - (b) the loss company does not make a *capital gain because of receiving the consideration.

Note: However, the consideration may affect how section 170-220 modifies the cost base of direct and indirect interests in the loss company.

- (2) If the gain company gives consideration to the loss company for the transferred amount:
  - (a) the gain company cannot deduct the consideration; and
  - (b) the gain company does not make a *capital loss because of giving the consideration.

Note: However, the consideration may affect how section 170-225 modifies the cost base of direct and indirect interests in the gain company.

Conditions for transfer

170-130 Companies must be in existence and members of the same wholly-owned group etc.

- (1) Both companies must be in existence during at least part of each of the following income years:
- (a) the capital loss year; and
  - (b) the application year; and
  - (c) any intervening income year.

Note: In some cases, this condition may not apply, or may be taken to be met even if it is not actually met. See sections 170-132 and 170-133.

- (2) Also, both companies must be members of the same *wholly-owned group at all times during those income years when both companies were in existence.

Note: In some cases, this condition may not apply, or may be taken to be met even if it is not actually met. See sections 170-132 and 170-133.

- (3) One of the companies must be an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank.

Note: The Australian branch can be taken to be a separate entity from the foreign bank for this Subdivision. See Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

- (4) The other company must be covered by an item of this table.

The other company
Item	The other company must:	At this time:
1	Be the *head company of a *consolidated group	The end of the application year or, if the company ceases to be in existence during the application year, just before the cessation
2	Be the *head company of a *MEC group	The end of the application year or, if the group ceases to exist during the application year because the company ceases to be in existence, just before the cessation

170-132 Net capital loss made by the loss company because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A

When the conditions in this section apply

- (1) The conditions in this section apply instead of the conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) if:
  - (a) the gain company is an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank; and
  - (b) the *loss company made the *net capital loss because of one or more transfers of the net capital loss under Subdivision 707-A.

Conditions

- (2) Each transferor (prior transferor) of the *net capital loss under Subdivision 707-A must have been a company.
- (3) It must have been possible to meet the conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) in relation to the *loss company and the gain company assuming:
  - (a) the capital loss year were so much of the income year in which the *net capital loss was transferred to the loss company under Subdivision 707-A as occurred after the transfer; and
  - (b) so much (if any) of the application year as occurred before the transfer were disregarded.
- (4) The gain company and each prior transferor must both be in existence during at least part of each of these periods:
  - (a) the period consisting of:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) if the prior transferor made the *net capital loss apart from Subdivision 707-A—the capital loss year; or
  - (ii) if the prior transferor made the net capital loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A (other than a transfer from the prior transferor to itself)—so much of the income year in which the transfer occurred as was after the transfer (but before any later transfer of the loss from the prior transferor under that Subdivision);
  - (b) so much of the income year during which the net capital loss was transferred under Subdivision 707-A from the prior transferor to another company as occurs before the transfer (but after the start of the period described in paragraph (a));
  - (c) any intervening income year.
- (5) The gain company must be a member of the same *wholly-owned group as each prior transferor during the whole or part of the periods described in subsection (4) for the prior transferor when both were in existence.

170-133 Alternative test of relations between the loss company and other companies

- (1) The conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) are taken to be met in relation to the *loss company and the gain company if:
- (a) the loss company is an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank; and
  - (b) the gain company is covered by item 1 or 2 of the table in subsection 170-130(4) (because the company is the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group at the time described in that item); and
  - (c) the relevant circumstances in this section exist.

Circumstances

- (2) One circumstance is that there is another company (the first link company) in relation to which all these conditions are met:
- (a) the first link company became a *subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or *MEC group after the start of the

- capital loss year but before the time described in the item of the table in subsection 170-130(4) that covers the gain company;
- (b) the *net capital loss could have been transferred from the *loss company to the first link company under this Subdivision (apart from subsection 170-130(4) and this section) for an application year consisting of the *trial year for the first link company becoming a subsidiary member of that group had:
- (i) the first link company continued to be in existence as a separate entity (rather than being part of the head company of that group) when it was a subsidiary member of that group; and
  - (ii) the trial year not started before the start of the capital loss year; and
  - (iii) the first link company had enough *capital gains for the trial year;
- (c) the net capital loss would have been made by the gain company because of one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A assuming the net capital loss had been made by the first link company (apart from that Subdivision) for the capital loss year.
- (3) If the condition in paragraph (2)(c) could be met only if there had been a transfer described in that paragraph involving a company other than the first link company and the gain company, another circumstance is that the other company and the *loss company were in existence and members of the same *wholly-owned group for the period:
- (a) starting when the *net capital loss would have been transferred under Subdivision 707-A to the other company as described in that paragraph; and
  - (b) ending when the net capital loss would have been transferred under Subdivision 707-A from the other company as described in that paragraph.
- (4) It does not matter whether or not any of the transfers mentioned in subsection (3) would have involved the first link company or the gain company as well as the other company.

---

---

- (5) Another circumstance is that the conditions in subsection 170-130(1) and (2) would have been met for the *loss company and the gain company assuming:
- (a) the capital loss year consisted of the part of the income year in which the *net capital loss would have been transferred to the gain company under Subdivision 707-A as described in paragraph (2)(c) occurring after the time the transfer would have occurred; and
  - (b) so much (if any) of the application year as occurred before the time the transfer would have occurred were disregarded.

170-135 The loss company

- (1) The loss company:
- (a) must be an Australian resident (but not a *prescribed dual resident) throughout the capital loss year; and
  - (b) must not be a *dual resident investment company in either the capital loss year or the application year.
- (2) It must be the case that the loss company was not required to calculate the *net capital loss:
- (a) under section 165-114 (because of a change in ownership or control); or
  - (b) under section 175-75 (because of an injected capital gain or loss).
- (3) Also, it must be the case that neither Subdivision 165-CA nor Subdivision 175-CA would have prevented the loss company from applying the *net capital loss in working out its *net capital gain for the application year if it had made enough *capital gains in that year.

Note 1: Subdivision 165-CA deals with the consequences of changing ownership or control of a company. Subdivision 175-CA deals with using a company's net capital losses to avoid income tax.

Note 2: Division 707 affects the operation of Subdivision 165-CA if the loss company made the net capital loss because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A.

Note 3: A company's net capital gain or net capital loss for an income year is usually worked out under section 102-5 or 102-10.

---

170-140 The gain company

- (1) The gain company must be an Australian resident throughout the application year.
- (2) If the capital loss year and the application year are not the same, the gain company must not be prevented by Subdivision 165-CA or 175-CA from applying the transferred amount in working out its *net capital gain for the application year.

Note 1: Subdivision 165-CA deals with the consequences of changing ownership or control of a company. Subdivision 175-CA deals with using a company's net capital losses to avoid income tax.

Note 2: A company's net capital gain or net capital loss for an income year is usually worked out under section 102-5 or 102-10.

Note 3: The condition in subsection (2) may not apply in some cases. See section 170-142.

- (3) If the capital loss year and the application year are the same, it must be the case that the gain company was not required to calculate its own *net capital gain or *net capital loss for the application year:
  - (a) under Subdivision 165-CB (because of a change in ownership or control); or
  - (b) under section 175-75 (because of an injected capital gain or loss).

Note: In deciding whether paragraph (b) applies, remember that the transferred amount is taken to be a capital loss of the gain company for the application year (because of subsection 170-120(2)).

170-142 If the gain company has become the head company of a consolidated group or MEC group

- (1) The condition in subsection (2) of this section applies to the gain company instead of the condition in subsection 170-140(2) if the conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) are met in relation to the *loss company and the gain company apart from section 170-133 and either:
  - (a) both these circumstances exist:
    - (i) after the start of the capital loss year but before the relevant time described in subsection 170-130(4), the gain company became the *head company of a *consolidated group or of a *MEC group that came into existence after the start of the capital loss year;

---

- (ii) the capital loss year and application year are not the same; or
- (b) all these circumstances exist:
  - (i) the gain company is, at the relevant time described in subsection 170-130(4), the head company of a MEC group;
  - (ii) before that time but after the end of the capital loss year, the MEC group was involved in an application event described in section 719-300 (but not covered by subsection 719-300(4) or (5));
  - (iii) the gain company would be taken under section 719-305 to have transferred losses to itself under Subdivision 707-A, assuming it had made losses while head company of the group or of a consolidated group involved in the event;
  - (iv) the MEC group or consolidated group came into existence before the start of the capital loss year.

Note: An application event involves either expanding an existing MEC group by including extra eligible tier-1 companies of the top company for the group or creating a MEC group because more companies become eligible tier-1 companies of the top company of which the head company of a consolidated group is an eligible tier-1 company.

- (2) The gain company must have been able to apply the *net capital loss in working out its *net capital gain for the application year assuming that it had made the net capital loss for the capital loss year.
- (3) The condition in subsection (4) of this section applies to the gain company instead of the condition in subsection 170-140(2) if the conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) are met in relation to the *loss company and the gain company because of section 170-133.
- (4) The gain company must have been able to apply the *net capital loss in working out its *net capital gain for the application year assuming that it had made the net capital loss, for the income year in which the loss would have been transferred to it as described in paragraph 170-133(2)(c), because of one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A described in that paragraph.

---

170-145 Maximum amount that can be transferred

Loss company can only transfer what it cannot use itself

- (1) The amount transferred cannot exceed the amount of the loss company's *net capital loss that, apart from the transfer, the loss company would carry forward to the next income year after the application year.

Note: If the capital loss year and the application year are the same, the loss company would carry forward the whole of the net capital loss, because section 102-5 does not allow a net capital loss to be applied in the income year in which it was made.

Example: In the application year the loss company has:

- a net capital loss from an earlier income year of $25,000; and
- other capital losses totalling $10,000; and
- capital gains totalling $20,000;

Of the $25,000 loss, the loss company can transfer to the gain company no more than:

$$$25,000 - \left( $20,000 - $10,000 \right) = $15,000$$

Transferred loss must not exceed what the gain company can use

- (5) No amount can be transferred if, apart from the operation of this section, the gain company would not have a *net capital gain for the application year.
- (6) The amount transferred also cannot exceed the amount worked out as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out what, apart from the operation of this section, would have been the gain company's *net capital gain for the application year.

---

Step 2. Subtract each amount that:

- (a) the gain company can apply under section 170-115 in working out its *net capital gain for the application year; and
- (b) was transferred to the gain company (by the loss company or any other company) by an agreement made before the agreement by which the first amount is transferred.

Example: In the application year:

- the gain company has capital gains totalling $60,000 and capital losses totalling $25,000; and
- another company, being a member of the same wholly-owned group as the gain company, transferred a net capital loss of $15,000 to the gain company; and
- the loss company incurred a net capital loss of $50,000.

Of the $50,000 loss, the loss company can transfer to the gain company no more than:

$$$60,000 - $25,000 - $15,000 = $20,000$$

- (7) Subsection (6) does not apply if the transfer occurs because either or both of the conditions in subsections 170-142(2) and (4) are met. In that case, the amount transferred also cannot exceed the amount worked out as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Identify each *bundle of losses that, on the assumption in subsection 170-142(2) or (4) (as appropriate), would have included the *net capital loss.

Note 1: There will be 2 or more bundles of losses identified if both of the conditions in subsections 170-142(2) and (4) are met.

---

---

Section 170-150

---

Note 2: There will be more than 1 bundle of losses identified on the basis of the assumption in paragraph 170-142(4) if the conditions in subsections 170-130(1) and (2) are met in relation to the loss company and the gain company because of multiple applications of section 170-133 each involving a different first link company.

Step 2. For each *bundle identified, work out how much of the *net capital loss the gain company would have been able to apply in working out its *net capital gain for the application year assuming that:

- (a) the loss could have been applied in that year only after the application in that year of any other losses of that *sort that would have been included in the bundle, other than losses (the transferable losses) that could be transferred from the *loss company to the gain company for that year; and
- (b) if the bundle would have included 2 or more transferable losses of that sort—those losses could have been applied only in the order in which the loss company made them.

Note 1: If the assumption in subsection 170-142(2) is relevant to the bundle, it would have included losses made by the gain company and transferred (or taken to be transferred) to the company (from itself) under Subdivision 707-A.

Note 2: If the assumption in paragraph 170-142(4) is relevant to the bundle, it would have included losses actually made by the first link company and transferred (by one or more transfers under Subdivision 707-A) to the gain company.

Step 3. Total every result of step 2 for the *net capital loss.

170-150 Transfer by written agreement

- (1) The transfer must be made by a written agreement between the loss company and the gain company.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The agreement must:
- (a) specify the income year of the transfer (which may be earlier than the income year in which the agreement is made); and
  - (b) specify the amount of the *net capital loss being transferred; and
  - (c) be signed by the public officer of each company; and
  - (d) be made on or before the day of lodgment of the gain company's *income tax return for the application year, or within such further time as the Commissioner allows.

Note: The agreement will usually be made in the next income year after the one for which the gain company will apply the loss.

170-155 Losses must be transferred in order they are made

- (1) If the loss company has 2 or more *net capital losses that it can transfer in the application year, it can transfer them only in the order in which it made them.
- (2) If:
- (a) the *loss company has 2 or more *net capital losses it can transfer for the application year; and
  - (b) it made at least one of those losses apart from Subdivision 707-A and at least one of those losses because of a transfer under that Subdivision;
- it can transfer under this Subdivision the losses it made because of a transfer under Subdivision 707-A only after transferring under this Subdivision the losses it made apart from that Subdivision.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), treat a loss made by the company both apart from Subdivision 707-A and because of a transfer under that Subdivision as a loss made because of a transfer under that Subdivision.
- (4) Subsection (1) has effect subject to subsection (2).

170-160 Gain company cannot transfer transferred net capital loss

The gain company cannot transfer an amount of a *net capital loss transferred to it, or any part of the amount.

---

---

Effect of agreement to transfer more than can be transferred

170-165 Agreement transfers as much as can be transferred

- (1) If the amount specified in an agreement exceeds the maximum amount that the loss company can transfer to the gain company in the application year, only that maximum amount is taken to have been transferred.
- (2) One reason why an agreement might specify more than can be transferred is that an assessment has been amended since the agreement.

170-170 Amendment of assessments

The Commissioner may amend an assessment to *disallow a transferred amount of a *net capital loss:

- (a) if the agreement to transfer the net capital loss is ineffective because the loss company did not actually make the loss; or
- (b) to the extent that section 170-165 reduces the transferred amount because the loss company did not actually make some of it.

The Commissioner may do so despite section 170 (Amendment of assessments) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Note: This Subdivision is disregarded in calculating the attributable income of a CFC: see section 410 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Australian permanent establishments of foreign financial entities

170-174 Treatment like Australian branches of foreign banks

- (1) The object of this section is to let *net capital losses be transferred under this Subdivision to and from *Australian permanent establishments of *foreign entities that are *financial entities in the same way as net capital losses can be transferred to and from Australian branches of *foreign banks.

---

---

- (2) This Subdivision (except this section) applies to an *Australian permanent establishment of a *foreign entity that is a *financial entity in the same way as this Subdivision applies to an Australian branch (as defined in Part IIIB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) of a *foreign bank.

Guide to Subdivision 170-C

170-201 What this Subdivision is about

If a tax loss or a net capital loss is transferred between companies in the same wholly-owned group, this Subdivision provides for adjustments to:

- (a) the cost base and reduced cost base of direct and indirect equity interests held by group companies in the loss company, or in the income company or gain company; and
- (b) the reduced cost base of direct and indirect debt interest held by group companies in the loss company; and
- (c) the cost base and reduced cost base of direct and indirect debt interests held by group companies in the income company or gain company.

170-225 Transfer of net capital loss: direct and indirect interests in the gain company

Operative provisions

170-205 Object of Subdivision

Interests in the loss company

- (1) The main object of this Subdivision is to ensure that, if an amount of a *tax loss or *net capital loss is transferred by a company to another company in the same *wholly-owned group, the loss transferred is not duplicated by a member of the group.
- (2) Duplication could occur by the making of a *capital loss, or the reduction of a *capital gain, from a *CGT event that happens in relation to an equity interest held (directly or indirectly) in the loss company or by the making of a capital loss in relation to a debt interest held (directly or indirectly) in the loss company.

Interests in the income company or gain company

- (3) This Subdivision may also require an adjustment to the cost base and reduced cost base of an equity or debt interest held (directly or indirectly) by a group company in the income company or gain company.
- (4) This adjustment is to reflect an increase in the *market value of the interest because of the transfer of the loss if the increase is still reflected in the market value of the interest when a *CGT event happens in relation to the interest.

170-210 Transfer of tax loss: direct and indirect interests in the loss company

- (1) If:
  - (a) an amount of a *tax loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
  - (b) Subdivision 170-A applies in respect of the transfer; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in the loss company or is owed a debt by the loss company in respect of a loan; and
  - (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (e) throughout the deduction year, the group company is a member of the same *wholly-owned group as the loss company (disregarding a period when either was not in existence); and
  - (f) a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt on or after the commencement of this section; and
  - (g) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-50 is made on or after that commencement;
- the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced in accordance with subsection (3).

(2) If:

- (a) an amount of a *tax loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
- (b) Subdivision 170-A applies in respect of the transfer; and
- (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in another company or is owed a debt by another company in respect of a loan; and
- (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
- (e) the money that the group company paid for the share, or the borrowed money, has been applied (directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities):
  - (i) in the other company or a third company acquiring shares in the loss company; or
  - (ii) in a *borrowing by the loss company from the other company or from a third company; and
- (f) throughout the deduction year, the group company, the other company and the third company (if any) are all members of the same *wholly-owned group as the loss company (disregarding, for a particular company, a period when it was not in existence); and

- (g) a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt on or after the commencement of this section; and
  - (h) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-50 is made on or after that commencement;
- the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced in accordance with subsection (3).
- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced by an amount that is appropriate having regard to:
    - (aa) the main object of this Subdivision and other matters mentioned in subsections 170-205(1) and (2); and
    - (a) the group company's direct or indirect interest in the loss company; and
    - (ba) any reduction in the reduced cost base made under Subdivision 165-CD; and
    - (b) the amount of the loss transferred; and
    - (c) the extent to which the loss reduced the *market value of the share or debt; and
    - (d) any consideration received by the loss company for the loss transferred; and
    - (e) whether, because of a dividend or dividends paid by the loss company, the consideration is no longer reflected (wholly or partly) in the market value of the share or debt when a *CGT event happens in relation to it.
  - (3A) To avoid doubt in applying paragraph (3)(c) in relation to a *share or debt, if factors other than the loss altered the *market value of the share or debt, the extent to which the loss reduced that market value is taken to be the extent to which that market value would have been reduced apart from those other factors.

Note: An example of a factor other than the loss is the unrealised value of assets (including assets in respect of which there is an unrealised gain) of the loss company, whether or not generated by outlays or economic losses reflected in the loss for income tax purposes.
  - (3B) This section applies to a *tax loss only to the extent that the loss represents an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the *loss company.

---

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

- (4) Any reduction is to be made immediately before a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt and is to have effect from that time or the end of the deduction year, whichever is the earlier.

Note 1: For deduction year see subsection 170-20(1).

Note 2: Subsection (4) is relevant for indexing elements of a cost base (see sections 114-1 and 114-15).

170-215 Transfer of tax loss: direct and indirect interests in the income company

- (1) If:

- (a) an amount of a *tax loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
- (b) Subdivision 170-A applies in respect of the transfer; and
- (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in the income company or is owed a debt by the income company in respect of a loan; and
- (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
- (e) throughout the deduction year, the group company is a member of the same *wholly-owned group as the income company (disregarding a period when either was not in existence); and
- (f) a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt on or after the commencement of this section; and
- (g) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-50 is made on or after that commencement; and
- (h) there are shares in, or debts owed by, the *loss company the *reduced cost base of at least one of which has been reduced by subsection 170-210(1) or (2);

the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or debt are increased in accordance with subsection (3).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 170-215

---

- (2) If:
- (a) an amount of a *tax loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
  - (b) Subdivision 170-A applies in respect of the transfer; and
  - (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in another company or is owed a debt by another company in respect of a loan; and
  - (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (e) the money that the group company paid for the share, or the borrowed money, has been applied (directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities):
    - (i) in the other company or a third company acquiring shares in the income company; or
    - (ii) in a *borrowing by the income company from the other company or from a third company; and
  - (f) throughout the deduction year, the group company, the other company and the third company (if any) are all members of the same *wholly-owned group as the income company (disregarding, for a particular company, a period when it was not in existence); and
  - (g) a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt on or after the commencement of this section; and
  - (h) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-50 is made on or after that commencement; and
  - (i) there are shares in, or debts owed by, the *loss company the *reduced cost base of at least one of which has been reduced by subsection 170-210(1) or (2);
- the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or debt are increased in accordance with subsection (3).
- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base are increased by an amount that is appropriate having regard to:
- (aa) the matters mentioned in subsections 170-205(3) and (4); and
  - (ab) the amounts of any reductions to the cost base and reduced cost base of *shares, and to the reduced cost base of debts, under subsection 170-210(3); and

---

- (a) the group company's direct or indirect interest in the income company; and
- (b) the amount of the loss transferred; and
- (c) any consideration given by the income company for the loss transferred.

Note: This is because the consideration may be less than the commercial value of the loss transferred.

- (4) However, the increase cannot exceed the increase in the *market value of the *share or debt that results from the transfer of the loss. (If no increase in that market value results, for example because the consideration paid for the transfer of the loss equals the commercial value of the loss transferred, then there is no increase in the *cost base and *reduced cost base.)
- (4A) No increase is to be made to the extent that the *tax loss transferred does not represent an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the company that transferred the tax loss.

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

- (5) Any increase is to be made immediately before a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt and is to have effect from that time or the end of the deduction year, whichever is the earlier.

Note: This subsection is relevant for indexing elements of a cost base (see sections 114-1 and 114-15).

- (6) No increase is to be made to the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a share or debt to the extent to which, because of a dividend or dividends paid by the income company, the increase in the *market value of the share or debt that resulted from the transfer of the loss is no longer in existence at the time when a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt.

Note: For deduction year see subsection 170-20(1).

170-220 Transfer of net capital loss: direct and indirect interests in the loss company

(1) If:

- (a) an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
- (b) Subdivision 170-B applies in respect of the transfer; and
- (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in the loss company or is owed a debt by the loss company in respect of a loan; and
- (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
- (e) throughout the application year, the group company is a member of the same *wholly-owned group as the loss company (disregarding a period when either was not in existence); and
- (f) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-150 is made on or after the commencement of this section;

the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced in accordance with subsection (3).

(2) If:

- (a) an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
- (b) Subdivision 170-B applies in respect of the transfer; and
- (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in another company or is owed a debt by another company in respect of a loan; and
- (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
- (e) the money that the group company paid for the share, or the borrowed money, has been applied (directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities):
  - (i) in the other company or a third company acquiring shares in the loss company; or
  - (ii) in a *borrowing by the loss company from the other company or from a third company; and

---

---

- (f) throughout the application year, the group company, the other company and the third company (if any) are all members of the same *wholly-owned group as the loss company (disregarding, for a particular company, a period when it was not in existence); and
  - (g) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-150 is made on or after the commencement of this section;
- the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced in accordance with subsection (3).
- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or the reduced cost base of the debt is reduced by an amount that is appropriate having regard to:
- (aa) the main object of this Subdivision and other matters mentioned in subsections 170-205(1) and (2); and
  - (a) the group company's direct or indirect interest in the loss company; and
  - (ba) any reduction in the reduced cost base made under Subdivision 165-CD; and
  - (b) the amount of the loss transferred; and
  - (c) the extent to which the loss reduced the *market value of the share or debt; and
  - (d) any consideration received by the loss company for the loss transferred; and
  - (e) whether, because of a dividend or dividends paid by the loss company, the consideration is no longer reflected (wholly or partly) in the market value of the share or debt when a *CGT event happens in relation to it.
- (3A) To avoid doubt in applying paragraph (3)(c) in relation to a *share or debt, if factors other than the loss altered the *market value of the share or debt, the extent to which the loss reduced that market value is taken to be the extent to which that market value would have been reduced apart from those other factors.

Note: An example of a factor other than the loss is the unrealised value of assets (including assets in respect of which there is an unrealised gain) of the loss company, whether or not generated by outlays or economic losses reflected in the loss for income tax purposes.

Section 170-225

- (3B) This section applies to a *net capital loss only to the extent that the loss represents an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the *loss company.

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

- (4) Any reduction is to be made immediately before a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt and is to have effect from that time or the end of the application year, whichever is the earlier.

Note 1: Subsection (4) is relevant for indexing elements of a cost base (see sections 114-1 and 114-15).

Note 2: Reductions under former subsection 160ZP(13) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 are also relevant: see section 170-220 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Note 3: For applicable year see subsection 170-115(1).

170-225 Transfer of net capital loss: direct and indirect interests in the gain company

- (1) If:
- (a) an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
  - (b) Subdivision 170-B applies in respect of the transfer; and
  - (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in the gain company or is owed a debt by the gain company in respect of a loan; and
  - (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (e) throughout the application year, the group company is a member of the same *wholly-owned group as the gain company (disregarding a period when either was not in existence); and
  - (f) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-150 is made on or after the commencement of this section; and

- (g) there are shares in, or debts owed by, the *loss company the *cost base and *reduced cost base of at least one of which have been reduced by subsection 170-220(1) or (2);
the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or debt are increased in accordance with subsection (3).
- (2) If:
- (a) an amount of a *net capital loss is transferred by a company to another company; and
  - (b) Subdivision 170-B applies in respect of the transfer; and
  - (c) a company (the group company) holds a *share in another company or is owed a debt by another company in respect of a loan; and
  - (d) the group company *acquired the share or debt on or after 20 September 1985; and
  - (e) the money that the group company paid for the share, or the borrowed money, has been applied (directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities):
    - (i) in the other company or a third company acquiring shares in the gain company; or
    - (ii) in a *borrowing by the gain company from the other company or from a third company; and
  - (f) throughout the application year, the group company, the other company and the third company (if any) are all members of the same *wholly-owned group as the gain company (disregarding, for a particular company, a period when it was not in existence); and
  - (g) the relevant agreement referred to in section 170-150 is made on or after the commencement of this section; and
  - (h) there are shares in, or debts owed by, the *loss company the *cost base and *reduced cost base of at least one of which have been reduced by subsection 170-220(1) or (2);
the *cost base and *reduced cost base of the share or debt are increased in accordance with subsection (3).
- (3) The *cost base and *reduced cost base are increased by an amount that is appropriate having regard to:
- (aa) the matters mentioned in subsections 170-205(3) and (4); and

- (ab) the amounts of any reductions to the cost base and reduced cost base of *shares, and to the reduced cost base of debts, under subsection 170-220(3); and
- (a) the group company's direct or indirect interest in the gain company; and
- (b) the amount of the loss transferred; and
- (c) any consideration given by the gain company for the loss transferred.

Note: This is because the consideration may be less than the commercial value of the loss transferred.

- (4) However, the increase cannot exceed the increase in the *market value of the *share or debt that results from the transfer of the loss. (If no increase in that market value results, for example because the consideration paid for the transfer of the loss equals the commercial value of the loss transferred, then there is no increase in the *cost base and *reduced cost base.)

- (4A) No increase is to be made to the extent that the *net capital loss transferred does not represent an outlay or loss of any of the economic resources of the company that transferred the net capital loss.

Note: Where the income tax law allows, as all or part of a loss, an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset that exceeds the actual economic depreciation or depletion of the asset concerned, the excess is not to be regarded for the purposes of this subsection as representing an outlay or loss of economic resources of the company.

- (5) Any increase is to be made immediately before a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt and is to have effect from that time or the end of the application year, whichever is the earlier.

Note: This subsection is relevant for indexing elements of a cost base (see sections 114-1 and 114-15).

- (6) No increase is to be made to the *cost base and *reduced cost base of a share or debt to the extent to which, because of a dividend or dividends paid by the gain company, the increase in the *market value of the share or debt that resulted from the transfer of the loss is no longer in existence at the time when a *CGT event happens in relation to the share or debt.

Subdivision 170-D—Transactions by a company that is a member of a linked group

Guide to Subdivision 170-D

170-250 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides that there is a deferral of a *capital loss or deduction if a company (the originating company) that is a member of a *linked group disposes of a *CGT asset to, or creates a CGT asset in, another entity that:

- (a) is a company that is also a member of the linked group; or
- (b) is a connected entity of the originating company or an *associate of such a connected entity; and the disposal or creation of the asset would have resulted in the originating company making a capital loss or becoming entitled to a deduction.

Operative provisions

170-255 Application of Subdivision

- (1) This Subdivision applies if:
- (a) an event (the deferral event) happens involving a company (the originating company) and another entity; and
  - (b) one or more of the following apply:
    - (i) the deferral event is a *CGT event that would have resulted in the originating company making a *capital loss (except a capital loss that would be disregarded under a provision of this Act other than this Subdivision);
    - (ii) the deferral event would have resulted in the originating company becoming entitled to a deduction in respect of the disposal of a CGT asset or of an interest in a CGT asset;
    - (iii) if the originating company is a partner in a partnership—the deferral event would have resulted in the partnership becoming entitled to a deduction in respect of the disposal of a CGT asset or of an interest in a CGT asset; and
  - (c) if subparagraph (b)(i) applies—the CGT event is one of the following:
    - (i) CGT events A1 and B1 (a disposal case);
    - (ii) CGT events D1, D2, D3 and F1 (a creation case); and

Note: The full list of CGT events is in section 104-5.
  - (d) one of the following applies:
    - (i) the originating company is an Australian resident at the time of the deferral event;
    - (ii) if the deferral event is a CGT event D1—the *CGT asset that is the subject of the creation of the contractual or other rights is *taxable Australian property;
    - (iii) if the deferral event is a CGT event A1, B1 or F1—the asset or the subject of the lease, as the case may be, was *taxable Australian property immediately before the deferral event;

---

---

- (iv) if the deferral event is a CGT event D2—the option was taxable Australian property immediately after the deferral event;
  - (v) if subparagraph (b)(ii) or (iii) applies—the originating company is a foreign resident at the time of the deferral event; and
- (e) at the time of the deferral event, the originating company is a member of a *linked group and one of the following applies:
- (i) the other entity is a company that is not a connected entity of the originating company and is a member of that linked group;
  - (ii) the other entity is a connected entity of the originating company;
  - (iii) the other entity is an *associate of such a connected entity.
- (2) Despite subsection (1):
- (a) this Subdivision does not apply because of *CGT event B1 if title in the *CGT asset does not pass to the other entity when the agreement ends; and
  - (b) this Subdivision does not apply if the deferral event involves the *acquisition of a greater than 50% interest in a CGT asset by an entity other than an entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(e)(i), (ii) or (iii).

170-260 Linked group

- (1) Companies that are linked to one another are a linked group.
- (2) Two companies are linked to each other if:
  - (a) one of them has a controlling stake in the other; or
  - (b) the same entity has a controlling stake in each of them.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, an entity has a controlling stake in a company at a particular time if the entity, or the entity and the entity's *associates between them:
  - (a) are able at that time to exercise, or control the exercise of, more than 50% of the voting power in the company (either

- directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); or
  - (b) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any dividends that the company may pay; or
  - (c) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any distribution of capital of the company.
- (4) If:
- (a) apart from this subsection, an interest that gives an entity and its *associates (if any):
    - (i) the ability to exercise, or control the exercise of, any of the voting power in a company; or
    - (ii) the right to receive dividends that a company may pay; or
    - (iii) the right to receive a distribution of capital of a company;would, in the application of paragraph (3)(a), (b) or (c), be counted more than once; and
  - (b) the interest is both direct and indirect; only the direct interest is to be counted.

170-265 Connected entity

- (1) An entity is a connected entity of the originating company at a particular time if, at that time:
  - (a) the entity is a trustee of a trust and either:
    - (i) if the trust is a *fixed trust—one or more companies that are members of the *linked group of which the originating company is a member, or one or more of those companies and their *associates, between them have the right to receive for their own benefit (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any distribution to

- beneficiaries of the trust of income or corpus of the trust; or
- (ii) if the trust is not a fixed trust—any company that is a member of the linked group of which the originating company is a member or any associate of such a company benefits or is capable of benefiting under the trust; or
  - (b) the entity is an individual who has a controlling stake in the company.
- (2) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(b), an individual has a controlling stake in a company at a particular time if the individual, or the individual and his or her *associates between them:
- (a) are able at that time to exercise, or control the exercise of, more than 50% of the voting power in the company (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities); or
  - (b) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any dividends that the company may pay; or
  - (c) have at that time the right to receive for their own benefit (either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities) more than 50% of any distribution of capital of the company.
- (3) If:
- (a) apart from this subsection, an interest that gives an entity and its *associates (if any):
    - (i) the ability to exercise, or control the exercise of, any of the voting power in a company; or
    - (ii) the right to receive dividends that a company may pay; or
    - (iii) the right to receive a distribution of capital of a company;would, in the application of paragraph (2)(a), (b) or (c), be counted more than once; and
  - (b) the interest is both direct and indirect;
only the direct interest is to be counted.

---

170-270 Immediate consequences for originating company

- (1) If, apart from this Subdivision:
  - (a) the originating company would have made a *capital loss (except a capital loss that would be disregarded under a provision of this Act other than this Subdivision) as a result of the deferral event; or
  - (b) the originating company would have become entitled to a deduction in respect of the deferral event; or
  - (c) where the originating company is a partner in a partnership—the partnership would have become entitled to a deduction in respect of the deferral event;the capital loss, the deduction or the partner's share of the deduction, as the case may be, is disregarded.
- (2) To avoid doubt, the amount of the *capital loss, deduction, or partnership deduction, referred to in this section is:
  - (a) the amount remaining after applying Division 723 or section 727-615; or
  - (b) nil, if none of the amount remains after applying that section or Division.

Note: Division 723 and section 727-615 reduce a loss realised for income tax purposes by a realisation event happening to a non-depreciating asset (in the case of Division 723) or an affected interest in a losing entity under an indirect value shift (in the case of section 727-615).

170-275 Subsequent consequences for originating company

- (1) If, at a time after the deferral event, any one or more of the following events (the new events) happens:
  - (a) the *CGT asset *acquired by the other entity referred to in paragraph 170-255(1)(a) (the relevant CGT asset), or a greater than 50% interest in it, ceases to exist;
  - (b) the relevant CGT asset, or a greater than 50% interest in it, is acquired by an entity that is none of the following:
    - (i) a member of the *linked group of which the originating company is a member;
    - (ii) a connected entity of the originating company;
    - (iii) an *associate of such a connected entity;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) if the relevant CGT asset is acquired by a company that is a member of that linked group—that company ceases to be a member of that linked group;
- (d) the originating company ceases to be a member of that linked group;
- (e) if the relevant CGT asset is acquired by an entity that is a connected entity of the originating company or is an associate of such a connected entity—that entity ceases to be such a connected entity or ceases to be an associate of such a connected entity, as the case may be;

the originating company is taken, immediately before the time of the happening of the new event or the earliest of the new events, as the case may be, to have made a *capital loss equal to the amount of the capital loss referred to in section 170-270 or to have become entitled to a deduction equal to the deduction, or the share of the deduction, referred to in that section, as the case may be.

- (2) If the *capital loss referred to in section 170-270 would have been made from a *personal use asset or from a *collectable, any corresponding capital loss that the originating company is taken by subsection (1) of this section to have made is taken to have been made from a personal use asset or from a collectable, as the case may be.

170-280 What happens if certain events happen in respect of the asset

- (1) This section applies if, as a result of the occurrence of a new event in respect of a *CGT asset, the originating company is taken by subsection 170-275(1) to have made a *capital loss or to be entitled to a deduction and, within 4 years after the occurrence of the new event, one of the following events (further events) occurs:
  - (a) the asset or a greater than 50% interest in it is *acquired by the originating company or by an entity that, at the time of the acquisition, is:
    - (i) a company that is a member of the *linked group of which the originating company is a member; or
    - (ii) a connected entity of the originating company; or
    - (iii) an *associate of such a connected entity;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 170-280

---

- (b) a company that owns the asset or a greater than 50% interest in it becomes a member of the linked group of which the originating company is a member;
  - (c) the originating company becomes a member of a linked group another member of which owns the asset or a greater than 50% interest in it;
  - (d) an entity that owns the asset or a greater than 50% interest in it becomes:
    - (i) a connected entity of the originating company; or
    - (ii) an associate of such a connected entity.
- (1A) If the originating company has information from which it would be reasonable to conclude that, if the *CGT asset involved were owned by the originating company immediately after the further event, *majority underlying interests in the asset immediately after the further event would not have been had by *ultimate owners who had majority underlying interests in the asset immediately before the deferral event, the further event is taken not to have occurred.
- (2) The company is taken not to have made the *capital loss or not to have been entitled to the deduction, as the case may be.
- (3) If, at a time after the further event, any one or more of the following events (the realisation events) happens:
- (a) the *CGT asset referred to in subsection (1) (the relevant CGT asset), or a greater than 50% interest in it, ceases to exist;
  - (b) the relevant CGT asset, or a greater than 50% interest in it, is *acquired by an entity that is none of the following:
    - (i) a member of the linked group of which the originating company is a member;
    - (ii) a connected entity of the originating company;
    - (iii) an *associate of such a connected entity;
  - (c) if the relevant CGT asset is acquired by a company that is a member of that linked group—that company ceases to be a member of that linked group;
  - (d) the originating company ceases to be a member of that linked group;

---

- (e) if the relevant CGT asset is acquired by an entity that is a connected entity of the originating company or is an associate of such a connected entity—that entity ceases to be such a connected entity or ceases to be an associate of such a connected entity, as the case may be;
- the originating company is taken, immediately before the time of the happening of the realisation event or the earliest of the realisation events, as the case may be, to have made a *capital loss equal to the amount of the capital loss referred to in subsection (2) or to have become entitled to a deduction equal to the deduction referred to in that subsection, as the case may be.
- (4) If the *capital loss referred to in subsection (2) would have been made from a *personal use asset or from a *collectable, any corresponding capital loss that the originating company is taken by subsection (3) to have made is taken to have been made from a personal use asset or from a collectable, as the case may be.

Division 175—Use of a company's tax losses or deductions to avoid income tax

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 175

- 175-A Tax benefits from unused tax losses
- 175-B Tax benefits from unused deductions
- 175-CA Tax benefits from unused net capital losses of earlier income years
- 175-CB Tax benefits from unused capital losses of the current year
- 175-C Tax benefits from unused bad debt deductions
- 175-D Common rules

Guide to Division 175

175-1 What this Division is about

The Commissioner can reverse the effect of schemes that, in order to avoid tax, bring together in the same company:

- assessable income; and
- tax losses, current year deductions, or deductions for bad debts, that apart from the scheme would not be fully used.

Subdivision 175-A—Tax benefits from unused tax losses

Table of sections

- 175-5 When Commissioner can disallow deduction for tax loss
- 175-10 First case: income or capital gain injected into company because of available tax loss
- 175-15 Second case: someone else obtains a tax benefit because of tax loss available to company

---

175-5 When Commissioner can disallow deduction for tax loss

- (1) This Subdivision sets out cases where the Commissioner may disallow some or all of a *tax loss (or of part of a tax loss) (the excluded loss) as a deduction in calculating a company's taxable income of an income year after the *loss year.
- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot disallow the *excluded loss if the company:
  - (a) fails to meet a condition in section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners) in respect of the *loss year or the income year; but
  - (b) meets the condition in section 165-13 (which is about the company satisfying the same business test) in respect of the income year.

175-10 First case: income or capital gain injected into company because of available tax loss

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow the *excluded loss if, during the income year, the company *derived assessable income, or a *capital gain accrued to the company, some or all of which (the injected amount) would not have been derived, or would not have accrued, if the excluded loss had not been available to be taken into account for the purposes of:
  - Division 36 (which is about tax losses of earlier years);
  - Division 165 (which is about the income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company);
  - Subdivision 375-G (which is about film losses).
- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot disallow the *excluded loss if the *continuing shareholders will benefit from the derivation or accrual of the *injected amount to an extent that the Commissioner thinks fair and reasonable having regard to their respective rights and interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow an excluded loss of an insolvent company.

Section 175-15

(3) The continuing shareholders are:

- (a) all of the persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company during the whole (or the relevant part) of the *loss year and during the whole of the income year; and
- (b) all of the persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends during the whole (or the relevant part) of the loss year and during the whole of the income year; and
- (c) all of the persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions during the whole (or the relevant part) of the loss year and during the whole of the income year.

To find out who they were, apply whichever tests are applied in order to determine whether the company can deduct the *tax loss (or the part of the tax loss) in the first place.

See section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners).

175-15 Second case: someone else obtains a tax benefit because of tax loss available to company

(1) The Commissioner may disallow the *excluded loss if:

- (a) a person has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and
- (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the excluded loss had not been available to be taken into account for the purposes of:
  - Division 36 (which is about tax losses of earlier years);
  - Division 165 (which is about the income tax consequences of changing ownership or control of a company);
  - Subdivision 375-G (which is about film losses).

(2) However, the Commissioner cannot disallow the *excluded loss if:

- (a) the person had a *shareholding interest in the company at some time during the income year; and

175-35	Tax loss resulting from disallowed deductions

175-20 Income or capital gain injected into company because of available deductions

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow deductions of a company (or parts of them) for an income year if:
- (a) the company has *derived assessable income, or a *capital gain accrued to the company, some or all of which (the injected amount) would not have been derived, or would not have accrued, if the company did not have those deductions; and
  - (b) the income was derived, or the capital gain accrued, in that income year.

The disallowed deductions and parts of deductions may exceed the *injected amount.

Note: The disallowance may result in a tax loss for the income year. See section 175-35.

- (2) The Commissioner cannot disallow the deductions or parts of the deductions if the *continuing shareholders will benefit from the derivation of the *injected amount to an extent that the Commissioner thinks fair and reasonable having regard to their respective *shareholding interests in the company.

Section 175-25

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow the whole or part of any deductions of an insolvent company.

- (3) The continuing shareholders are the individuals who had *shareholding interests in the company both immediately before the *injected amount was *derived, and immediately afterwards.

175-25 Deduction injected into company because of available income or capital gain

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow a deduction of a company for an income year to the extent that the company would not have incurred the loss, outgoing or expenditure that the deduction is for if it had not *derived some or all of the assessable income it derived in that income year, or had not made some or all of a *capital gain it made in that income year.

Note: The disallowance may result in a tax loss for the income year. See section 175-35.

- (2) The Commissioner cannot disallow any of the deduction if:
- (a) the *continuing shareholders will benefit from any profit or advantage that has arisen or might arise directly or indirectly from the loss, outgoing or expenditure being incurred; and
  - (b) the Commissioner thinks that the extent to which they will benefit is fair and reasonable having regard to their respective *shareholding interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow a deduction of an insolvent company.

- (3) The continuing shareholders are the individuals who had *shareholding interests in the company both immediately before the loss, outgoing or expenditure was incurred, and immediately afterwards.

175-30 Someone else obtains a tax benefit because of a deduction, income or capital gain available to company

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow a deduction of a company if:

- (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the company had not incurred some or all (the available expense) of the loss, outgoing or expenditure that the deduction is for.

However, the deduction may be disallowed only to the extent of the available expense.

- (2) The Commissioner may disallow deductions of a company (or parts of them) if:
  - (a) a person has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and
  - (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if some or all (the available amount) of the assessable income that the company *derived or of a *capital gain that accrued to the company:
    - (i) before it incurred the losses, outgoings or expenditure that the deductions were for; and
    - (ii) in the same income year as it incurred them;had not been derived or had not accrued, as the case may be.

The disallowed deductions and parts of deductions may exceed the available amount.

Note: The disallowance may result in a tax loss for the income year. See section 175-35.

- (3) An expression means the same in this section as in Part IVA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (4) The Commissioner cannot disallow under this section if:
  - (a) the person who has obtained or will obtain the tax benefit had a *shareholding interest in the company at some time during the income year; and
  - (b) the Commissioner considers the tax benefit to be fair and reasonable having regard to that shareholding interest.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow the whole or part of any deductions of an insolvent company.

175-35 Tax loss resulting from disallowed deductions

- (1) If a company has a taxable income for an income year because the Commissioner disallows under this Subdivision deductions of the company for the income year (or parts of them), the company may also have a *tax loss for the income year.
- (2) The company's tax loss for the income year is calculated as follows.
- (3) Total what the Commissioner has disallowed under this Subdivision.
- (4) If the company has *exempt income for the income year, subtract its *net exempt income.
- (5) Any amount remaining is the company's tax loss for the income year, which is called a loss year.

Note: The meanings of tax loss and loss year are modified by section 36-55 for a corporate tax entity that has an amount of excess franking offsets.

To find out how much of the tax loss can be deducted in later income years: see Subdivision 165-A.

To find out how to deduct it: see section 36-17.

175-40 When Commissioner can disallow net capital loss of earlier income year for an earlier income year (or of part of one) (the excluded loss). This is called disallowing the excluded loss.

Note: A company's net capital gain for an income year is usually worked out under section 102-5.

- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot *disallow the *excluded loss if, in determining (under section 165-96) whether Subdivision 165-A would prevent the company from deducting the loss (or the part of the loss) for the income year if the loss were a *tax loss of the company for that earlier income year, the company:
- (a) would fail to meet a condition in section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners) in respect of the income year; but
  - (b) would meet the condition in section 165-13 (which is about the company satisfying the same business test) in respect of the income year.

Note: Subdivision 165-A deals with the deductibility of a company's tax loss for an earlier income year if there has been a change in the ownership or control of the company in the period from the start of the loss year to the end of the income year.

175-45 First case: capital gain injected into company because of available net capital loss

- (1) The Commissioner may *disallow the *excluded loss if, during the income year, the company made a *capital gain some or all of which (the injected capital gain) it would not have made if the excluded loss had not been available to be applied in working out the company's *net capital gain for the income year (or for some other income year).
- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot *disallow the *excluded loss if the *continuing shareholders will benefit from the making of the injected capital gain to an extent that the Commissioner thinks fair and reasonable having regard to their respective rights and interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow an excluded loss of an insolvent company.

(3) The continuing shareholders are:

- (a) all of the persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company during the whole (or the relevant part) of the earlier income year and during the whole of the income year; and
- (b) all of the persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's dividends during the whole (or the relevant part) of the earlier income year and during the whole of the income year; and
- (c) all of the persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions during the whole (or the relevant part) of the earlier income year and during the whole of the income year.

To find out who they were, apply whichever tests are applied in order to determine (under section 165-96) whether Subdivision 165-A would prevent the company from deducting the loss for the current year if it were a *tax loss of the company for that earlier income year.

See section 165-12 (which is about the company maintaining the same owners).

175-50 Second case: someone else obtains a tax benefit because of net capital loss available to company

- (1) The Commissioner may *disallow the *excluded loss if:
  - (a) a person has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and
  - (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the excluded loss had not been available to be applied in working out the company's *net capital gain for the income year (or for some other income year).
- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot *disallow the *excluded loss if:
  - (a) the person had a *shareholding interest in the company at some time during the income year; and
  - (b) the Commissioner considers the tax benefit to be fair and reasonable having regard to that shareholding interest.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow an excluded loss of an insolvent company.

175-65	Capital loss injected into company because of available capital gain
175-70	Someone else obtains a tax benefit because of capital loss or gain available to company
175-75	Net capital loss resulting from disallowed capital losses

175-55 When Commissioner can disallow capital loss of current year

This Subdivision sets out cases where the Commissioner may prevent a company, in working out its *net capital gain or *net capital loss for an income year, from applying all or part of a *capital loss it made during the income year. This is called disallowing the capital loss or part.

175-60 Capital gain injected into company because of available capital loss

- (1) The Commissioner may *disallow *capital losses of a company (or parts of them) for an income year if:
- (a) the company has made a *capital gain some or all of which (the injected capital gain) it would not have made if it did not have those capital losses; and
  - (b) the injected capital gain was made in that income year.

The disallowed capital losses and parts of capital losses may exceed the amount of the injected capital gain.

Note: The disallowance may result in a net capital loss for the income year: see section 175-75.

- (2) The Commissioner cannot *disallow the *capital losses or parts of the capital losses if the *continuing shareholders will benefit from the making of the injected capital gain to an extent that the Commissioner thinks fair and reasonable having regard to their respective *shareholding interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow capital losses or parts of capital losses of an insolvent company.

- (3) The continuing shareholders are the individuals who had *shareholding interests in the company both immediately before the *injected capital gain was made, and immediately afterwards.

175-65 Capital loss injected into company because of available capital gain

- (1) The Commissioner may *disallow a *capital loss of a company for an income year to the extent that the company would not have made the loss if it had not also made some or all of a *capital gain it made in that income year.

Note: The disallowance may result in a tax loss for the income year: see section 175-75.

- (2) The Commissioner cannot *disallow any of the *capital loss if:
- (a) the *continuing shareholders will benefit from any profit or advantage that has arisen or might arise directly or indirectly from the loss being made; and
  - (b) the Commissioner thinks that the extent to which they will benefit is fair and reasonable having regard to their respective *shareholding interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow a capital loss of an insolvent company.

- (3) The continuing shareholders are the individuals who had *shareholding interests in the company both immediately before the *capital loss was made, and immediately afterwards.

175-70 Someone else obtains a tax benefit because of capital loss or gain available to company

- (1) The Commissioner may *disallow a *capital loss of a company if:
- (a) a person (other than the company) has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and

---

(b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the company had not made some or all (the available capital loss) of the capital loss.

However, the capital loss may be disallowed only to the extent of the available capital loss.

- (2) The Commissioner may *disallow *capital losses of a company (or parts of them) if:
- (a) a person has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and
  - (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the company had not made some or all (the available capital gains) of the *capital gains it made:
    - (i) before it made the capital losses; and
    - (ii) in the same income year as it made them.

The disallowed capital losses and parts of capital losses may exceed the amount of the available capital gains.

Note: The disallowance may result in a tax loss for the income year: see section 175-75.

- (3) An expression means the same in this section as in Part IVA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (4) The Commissioner cannot *disallow under this section if:
- (a) the person who has obtained or will obtain the tax benefit had a *shareholding interest in the company at some time during the income year; and
  - (b) the Commissioner considers the tax benefit to be fair and reasonable having regard to that shareholding interest.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow the whole or part of any capital losses of an insolvent company.

175-75 Net capital loss resulting from disallowed capital losses

If a company has a *net capital gain for an income year because the Commissioner *disallows under this Subdivision *capital losses of the company for the income year (or parts of them), the company also has a net capital loss for the income year equal to the total of those losses and parts of losses.

175-90	Second case: someone else obtains a tax benefit because of bad debt deduction available to company

175-80 When Commissioner can disallow deduction for bad debt

- (1) This Subdivision sets out cases where the Commissioner may disallow some or all of a deduction for a debt (or part of a debt) that is owed to a company and is written off as bad in the income year.
- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot disallow any of the deduction if:
  - (a) the company fails to meet a condition in section 165-123 (about the company maintaining the same owners) in respect of the *first continuity period or the *second continuity period; but
  - (b) meets the condition in section 165-126 (about the company satisfying the same business test).

175-85 First case: income or capital gain injected into company because of available bad debt

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow some or all of the deduction if the company would not have had some or all (the injected amount) of its assessable income or *capital gains for the income year if:
  - (a) the debt had not been incurred; and
  - (b) the debt (or the relevant part of the debt) had not been written off (or able to be written off) as bad.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) However, the Commissioner cannot disallow any of the deduction if the *continuing shareholders will benefit from the company having the injected amount to an extent that the Commissioner thinks fair and reasonable having regard to their respective rights and interests in the company.

Note: Section 175-100 allows the Commissioner to disallow some or all of a deduction of an insolvent company.

- (3) The continuing shareholders are:
- (a) all of the persons who had *more than 50% of the voting power in the company throughout the *first continuity period and the *second continuity period; and

  - (c) all of the persons who had rights to *more than 50% of the company's capital distributions throughout the *first continuity period and the *second continuity period.

To find out who they were, apply whichever tests are applied in order to determine whether the company can deduct the debt (or the relevant part of the debt) in the first place.

See section 165-123 (about the company maintaining the same owners).

175-90 Second case: someone else obtains a tax benefit because of bad debt deduction available to company

- (1) The Commissioner may disallow some or all of the deduction if:
- (a) a person has obtained or will obtain a tax benefit in connection with a *scheme; and
  - (b) the scheme would not have been entered into or carried out if the debt had not been incurred and the debt (or the relevant part of the debt) had not been written off (or able to be written off) as bad.

180-B Information relevant to Division 175

Guide to Division 180

180-1 What this Division is about

If a company would only avoid the tax consequences of Division 165 or 175 because of interests held by a foreign resident family trust, the Commissioner may require the company to give certain information about the family trust. If it is not given, the company does not avoid the tax consequences of that Division.

Notice about company

- (1) The Commissioner may give a company a notice in accordance with section 180-10 if the requirements of this section are met.

Tax detriment under Division 165

- (c) the company must have applied a *net capital loss from an earlier income year in working out its net capital gain where it would not have been allowed to apply the loss if it did not meet the condition in section 165-12 as applied on the assumption mentioned in subsection 165-96(1); or
- (d) the company must have deducted a debt that it wrote off as bad in the income year where it would not be allowed to deduct the debt if it did not satisfy the requirements of paragraph 165-120(1)(a) or (b).

Role of family trust

- (3) The Commissioner must be satisfied that the company:
  - (a) if paragraph (2)(a) applies—meets the conditions in section 165-12; or
  - (b) if paragraph (2)(b) applies—satisfies the requirements of paragraph 165-35(a); or
  - (c) if paragraph (2)(c) applies—meets the conditions in section 165-12 as applied on the assumption mentioned in subsection 165-96(1); or
  - (d) if paragraph (2)(d) applies—satisfies the requirements of paragraph 165-120(1)(a) or (b);but it would not do so unless one or more trusts were *family trusts.

180-10 Notice where requirements of section 180-5 are met

Information required

Working out a PDF's taxable income and tax loss

195-5 Deductibility of PDF tax losses

If a company is a *PDF at the end of an income year for which it has a *tax loss, it can deduct the tax loss in a later income year only if it is a PDF throughout the later income year.

195-10 PDF cannot transfer tax loss

If a company is a *PDF at the end of an income year for which it has a *tax loss, it cannot transfer any amount of the tax loss under Subdivision 170-A (which is about the transfer of tax losses within certain wholly-owned groups of companies).

195-15 Tax loss for year in which company becomes a PDF

- (1) This section applies if a company becomes a *PDF during an income year and is still a PDF at the end of it.
- (2) Divide the income year into periods as follows:
  - (a) the non-PDF period is the period beginning at the start of the income year and ending when the company becomes a *PDF;
  - (b) the PDF period is the rest of the income year.
- (3) For each period, work out whether the company has a taxable income or a *tax loss (or both), treating each period as if it were an income year.
- (4) If the company has:
  - (a) a taxable income for the non-PDF period; and
  - (b) a *tax loss for the PDF period;that tax loss is a tax loss of the company for the income year.

Note: The company can only deduct the tax loss while it is a PDF: see section 195-5.
- (5) If the company has a *tax loss for the non-PDF period:
  - (a) section 195-5 does not prevent the company from deducting its tax loss for the income year in a later income year; and

---

---

- (b) section 195-10 does not prevent the company from transferring an amount of the tax loss under Subdivision 170-A (which is about the transfer of tax losses within certain wholly-owned groups of companies); to the extent that the tax loss does not exceed the tax loss for the non-PDF period.
- (6) These rules apply in addition to the other rules about how *tax losses are applied or transferred.

The other rules start in Division 36 (which is about tax losses of earlier income years).

Working out a PDF's net capital gain and net capital loss

195-25 Applying a PDF's net capital losses

If a company is a *PDF at the end of an income year for which it has a *net capital loss, it can apply the loss in working out its *net capital gain for a later income year only if it is a PDF throughout the last day of the later income year.

195-30 PDF cannot transfer net capital loss

If a company is a *PDF at the end of an income year for which it has a *net capital loss, it cannot transfer any amount of the loss under Subdivision 170-B (which is about the transfer of net capital losses within certain wholly-owned groups of companies).

195-35 Net capital loss for year in which company becomes a PDF

- (1) This section applies if a company becomes a *PDF during an income year and is still a PDF at the end of it.
- (2) Divide the income year into periods according to subsection 195-15(2) (about working out the company's tax loss for the income year).
- (3) For each period, work out whether the company has a *net capital gain or a *net capital loss (or both), treating each period as if it were an income year.

---

---

- (4) If the company has:
- (a) a *net capital gain for the non-PDF period; and
  - (b) a *net capital loss for the PDF period;
- that loss is a net capital loss of the company for the income year.

Note: The company can only apply the loss while it is a PDF: see section 195-25.

- (5) If the company has a *net capital loss for the non-PDF period:
- (a) section 195-25 does not prevent the company from applying its *net capital loss for the income year in working out its *net capital gain for a later income year; and
  - (b) section 195-30 does not prevent the company from transferring an amount of its net capital loss for the income year under Subdivision 170-B (which is about the transfer of net capital losses within certain wholly-owned groups of companies);
- to the extent that its net capital loss for the income year does not exceed its net capital loss for the non-PDF period.
- (6) These rules apply in addition to the other rules about how *net capital losses are applied or transferred.

The other rules start in Division 102 (about net capital gains and losses).

Subdivision 195-B—Limited partnerships

- 197-40 Exclusion for post-demutualisation transfers relating to life insurance companies

197-5 Division generally applies to an amount transferred to share capital account from another account

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division applies to an amount (the transferred amount) that is transferred to a company's *share capital account from another of the company's accounts, if the company was an Australian resident immediately before the time of the transfer.

Note: If a company has 2 or more share capital accounts, those accounts are taken to be a single account (see subsection 975-300(2)).

- (2) The other provisions of this Subdivision may stop this Division from applying to some or all of the transferred amount. If those other provisions stop this Division from applying to only some of the transferred amount, this Division (other than this Subdivision) applies to the balance of the transferred amount as if only that balance of the amount had been transferred to the company's *share capital account.

197-10 Exclusion for amounts that could be identified as share capital

This Division does not apply to the transferred amount if it could, at all times before the transfer, be identified in the books of the company as an amount of share capital.

---

197-15 Exclusion for amounts transferred under debt/equity swaps

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:
  - (a) the transfer is under an *arrangement under which:
    - (i) a person discharges, releases or otherwise extinguishes the whole or a part of a debt that the company owes to the person; and
    - (ii) the discharge, release or extinguishment is in return for the company issuing *shares (other than redeemable preference shares) in the company to the person; and
  - (b) the transfer is a credit to the *share capital account that is made because of the issue of the shares in return for the discharge, release or extinguishment of the debt.
- (2) If the transferred amount exceeds the lesser of:
  - (a) the *market value of the *shares issued by the company; and
  - (b) so much of the debt as is discharged, released or extinguished in return for the shares;subsection (1) does not stop this Division from applying to the amount of the excess.

197-20 Exclusion for amounts transferred leading to there being no shares with a par value—non-Corporations Act companies

This Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:

- (a) immediately before the transfer of the amount, the company was not incorporated under the Corporations Act 2001; and
- (b) the transfer is under, or in accordance with, an *Australian law that requires or allows either or both of the following to become part of the company's *share capital account:
  - (i) the company's share premium account;
  - (ii) the company's capital redemption reserve; and
- (c) the transfer is made as part of a process that leads to there being no *shares in the company that have a par value; and
- (d) the amount is transferred from the company's share premium account or capital redemption reserve.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

197-25 Exclusion for transfers from option premium reserves

This Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:

- (a) it is transferred from an option premium reserve of the company; and
- (b) the transfer is because of the exercise of options to acquire *shares in the company; and
- (c) premiums in respect of those options were credited to the option premium reserve.

197-30 Exclusion for transfers made in connection with demutualisations of non-insurance etc. companies

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:
  - (a) the amount is transferred in connection with a demutualisation of the company; and
  - (b) Division 326 in Schedule 2H to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies to the demutualisation; and
  - (c) the transfer occurs within the limitation period in relation to the demutualisation (see subsection 326-20(3) in that Schedule).
- (2) If the sum of:
  - (a) the transferred amount; and
  - (b) any other amounts that were previously transferred to the company's *share capital account, from another account of the company, in connection with the demutualisation;exceeds the total capital contributions amount described in whichever of subsections (3) and (4) applies, subsection (1) does not stop this Division from applying to so much of the transferred amount as equals the lesser of the transferred amount and the amount of the excess.

Note: If there are several transfers of amounts to the company's share capital account in connection with the demutualisation, this section must be applied separately in relation to each transferred amount, in the order in which the transfers are made.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 197-35

---

  - (a) that were contributed to the company by *members of the company before its demutualisation; and
  - (b) in respect of which deductions are not allowable to the members; and
  - (c) that were not payments for goods or services provided by the company.
- (4) If the company was formed by the merger of 2 or more mutual entities, the total capital contributions amount referred to in subsection (2) is the sum of:
  - (a) all the capital amounts:
    - (i) that were contributed to the company, before its demutualisation, by persons who became *members of the company at or after the time when the merger took place; and
    - (ii) in respect of which deductions are not allowable to those members; and
    - (iii) that were not payments for goods or services provided by the company; and
  - (b) the *market values, at the time of the merger, of the entities that merged to form the company, as determined by a qualified valuer.

197-35 Exclusion for transfers made in connection with demutualisations of insurance etc. companies

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:
  - (a) the amount is transferred in connection with the demutualisation of a company; and
  - (b) the demutualisation is implemented in accordance with a demutualisation method specified in Division 9AA of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
  - (c) the transfer occurs within the listing period in relation to the demutualisation (see subsection 121AE(6) of that Act); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) the company (the issuing company) to whose *share capital account the amount is transferred is:
  - (i) if the demutualisation method is the method specified in section 121AF or 121AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936—the demutualising company; or
  - (ii) if the demutualisation method is the method specified in section 121AH, 121AI, 121AJ, 121AK or 121AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936—the company issuing the ordinary shares referred to in that section.
- (2) If the sum of:
  - (a) the transferred amount; and
  - (b) all amounts that were previously transferred to the issuing company's *share capital account, from another account of the company, in connection with the demutualisation; and
  - (c) all amounts that were previously transferred to the issuing company's retained profit account in connection with the demutualisation;

exceeds the listing day company valuation amount (see subsection (3)), subsection (1) does not stop this Division from applying to so much of the transferred amount as equals the lesser of the transferred amount and the amount of the excess.

Note: If there are several transfers of amounts to the issuing company's share capital account, this section must be applied separately in relation to each transferred amount, in the order in which the transfers are made.

- (3) The listing day company valuation amount has the same meaning as it has for the purposes of table 1 in section 121AS of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, as that table applies in relation to the demutualising company (see note 3 to that table).

197-37 Exclusion for transfers made in connection with demutualisations of private health insurers

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division does not apply to the transferred amount if:

- (a) by the issuing company under the demutualisation; and
  - (b) to an entity that is either:

    - (ii) the trustee of a trust covered by Subdivision 315-C (about the lost policy holders trust).
- (3) The amount worked out under this subsection for a share is:

  - (b) if the share is in a company covered by subparagraph 315-85(1)(a)(iii) that owns other assets in addition to the shares in the demutualising health insurer—worked out using the method stated in subsection 315-210(2).

197-40 Exclusion for post-demutualisation transfers relating to life insurance companies

    - (ii) if the demutualisation method was the method specified in section 121AH, 121AI, 121AJ, 121AK or 121AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936—the company (the issuing company) that issued the ordinary shares referred to in that section; and
  - (e) if subparagraph (d)(i) applies—the following conditions are satisfied in relation to the transferred amount:
    - (i) the amount is transferred from an account of the demutualised company consisting of shareholders' capital (within the meaning of the Life Insurance Act 1995) in relation to a statutory fund (within the meaning of that Act);
    - (ii) the amount was part of such an account at the time of the demutualisation; and
  - (f) if subparagraph (d)(ii) applies—the amount is transferred from a capital reserve created at the time of or in connection with the demutualisation.
- (2) If the sum of:
- (a) the transferred amount; and
  - (b) all amounts that were previously transferred to the demutualised company's *share capital account, from another account of the demutualised company, as described in subsection (1); and
  - (c) if the demutualisation method was the method specified in section 121AH, 121AI, 121AJ, 121AK or 121AL of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936—all amounts that were previously transferred to the issuing company's share capital account, from another account of the issuing company, as described in subsection (1); and

Section 197-45

(d) all amounts that were previously transferred, in connection with the demutualisation, to the share capital account of the issuing company (within the meaning of section 197-35) as described in subsection 197-35(1), or to its retained profit account as described in paragraph 197-35(2)(c);

exceeds the listing day company valuation amount (see subsection (3)), subsection (1) does not stop this Division from applying to so much of the transferred amount as equals the lesser of the transferred amount and the amount of the excess.

Note: If there are several transfers of amounts to the share capital account of the demutualised company or the issuing company, this section must be applied separately in relation to each transferred amount, in the order in which the transfers are made.

(3) The listing day company valuation amount has the same meaning as it has for the purposes of table 1 in section 121AS of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, as that table applies in relation to the demutualised company (see note 3 to that table).

Subdivision 197-B—Consequence of transfer: franking debit arises

Table of sections

197-45 A franking debit arises in relation to the transfer

197-45 A franking debit arises in relation to the transfer

- (1) A *franking debit arises in a company's *franking account if an amount (the transferred amount) to which this Division applies is transferred to the company's *share capital account. The debit arises immediately before the end of the *franking period in which the transfer of the amount occurs.
- (2) The amount of the *franking debit is calculated in accordance with the formula:

where:

---

applicable franking percentage means:

- (a) if, before the debit arises, the *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the transfer of the amount occurs has already been set by section 203-30— that percentage; or
- (b) otherwise—100%.

Subdivision 197-C—Consequence of transfer: tainting of share capital account

Table of sections

197-50	The share capital account becomes tainted (if it is not already tainted)
197-55	Choosing to untaint a tainted share capital account
197-60	Choosing to untaint—liability to untainting tax
197-65	Choosing to untaint—further franking debits may arise
197-70	Due date for payment of untainting tax
197-75	General interest charge for late payment of untainting tax
197-80	Notice of liability to pay untainting tax
197-85	Evidentiary effect of notice of liability to pay untainting tax

197-50 The share capital account becomes tainted (if it is not already tainted)

- (1) A company's *share capital account becomes tainted when an amount to which this Division applies is transferred to the account, if, at the time of the transfer, the account is not already tainted (because of the application of this section in relation to a previous transfer).

Note: If a company's share capital account is tainted, then a distribution from the account is taxed as a dividend in the hands of the shareholder. This is because a tainted share capital account does not count as a share capital account for the purposes of paragraph (d) of the definition of dividend in subsection 6(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (see subsection 975-300(3) of this Act). However, although the distribution is taxed as a dividend, the company cannot pass on to the shareholder the benefit of the tax it has paid, because a distribution from a share capital account (whether or not tainted) is unfrankable (see paragraphs 202-45(e) and 975-300(3)(ba) of this Act).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (2) The *share capital account remains tainted until the company chooses to untaint the account (see section 197-55).

Note: If, after a choice to untaint is made, the company's share capital account becomes tainted again, the account remains tainted until a fresh choice to untaint is made.

- (3) The tainting amount, for a company's *share capital account that is *tainted at a particular time, means the sum of:

- (a) the amount transferred to the company's share capital account that most recently caused the account to become tainted; and
- (b) any other amounts to which this Division applies that have been transferred to the company's share capital account since the transfer referred to in paragraph (a) and before the particular time.

197-55 Choosing to untaint a tainted share capital account

- (1) A company with a *share capital account that is *tainted may make a choice in the *approved form given to the Commissioner to untaint the account.

- (2) The choice can be made at any time, but cannot be revoked.

Note: The choice has no effect in relation to a subsequent tainting of the share capital account that occurs after the choice is made.

197-60 Choosing to untaint—liability to untainting tax

Definitions

- (1) For the purpose of this section:

- (a) a company whose *share capital account is *tainted is a company with only lower tax members in relation to the tainting period if, throughout the tainting period, all *members of the company were covered by one, or a combination of 2 or more, of the following subparagraphs:
- (i) other companies;
- (ii) *complying superannuation entities;
- (iii) foreign residents; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) a company whose share capital account is tainted is a company with higher tax members in relation to the tainting period if it is not a company with only lower tax members in relation to the tainting period.

For this purpose, the tainting period is the period beginning when the share capital account most recently became tainted and ending when the company chooses to untaint the account.

Liability to untainting tax

- (2) A company that chooses to untaint its *share capital account is liable to pay tax, known as untainting tax, equal to the amount calculated in accordance with the formula:

$$\text{Applicable tax amount} - \left( \begin{array}{c} \text{Section 197-45} \\ \text{franking debits} \end{array} + \begin{array}{c} \text{Section 197-65} \\ \text{franking debits} \end{array} \right)$$

where:

applicable tax amount has the meaning given by subsection (3).

section 197-45 franking debits means the total *franking debits arising under section 197-45 because of the transfer of the amounts that made up the *tainting amount at the time of the choice.

section 197-65 franking debits means the total (if any) *franking debits arising under section 197-65 because of the choice to untaint.

Note: The payment of untainting tax does not give rise to a franking credit.

- (3) In subsection (2), the applicable tax amount is the amount calculated in accordance with the formula:

$$\left( \begin{array}{c} \text{*Tainting amount} \\ \text{at time of choice} \\ \text{to untaint} \end{array} + \begin{array}{c} \text{Notional} \\ \text{franking amount} \end{array} \right) \times \text{Applicable tax rate}$$

where:

applicable tax rate means:

- (a) for a company with only lower tax members in relation to the tainting period—the *corporate tax rate; or

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 197-65

---

- (b) for a company with higher tax members in relation to the tainting period—the sum of:
- (i) the maximum rate specified in column 2 of the table in Part I of Schedule 7 to the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 that applies for the income year in which the choice is made; and
  - (ii) 2.5%.

Note: The 2.5% referred to in subparagraph (b)(ii) relates to rates of Medicare levy and surcharge.

notional franking amount has the meaning given by subsection (4).

- (4) In subsection (3), the notional franking amount is the amount calculated in accordance with the formula:

197-65 Choosing to untaint—further franking debits may arise

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) a company chooses to untaint its *share capital account; and
  - (b) the applicable franking percentage (within the meaning of subsection (3)) is higher than the percentage that was the *benchmark franking percentage in relation to the *franking period in which the transfer of an amount (the transferred amount) that is, or is part of, the *tainting amount occurred.

Note: If paragraph (b) is satisfied in relation to 2 or more amounts, this section is to be applied separately in relation to each of those amounts (so a separate franking debit will arise in relation to each of those amounts).

Franking debit arises in relation to making the choice

- (2) A *franking debit arises in the company's *franking account in relation to the transferred amount. The debit arises immediately before the end of the *franking period in which the choice to untaint is made.

---

- (3) The amount of the *franking debit is the amount by which the amount calculated in accordance with the following formula exceeds the amount of the franking debit that arose under section 197-45 in relation to the transferred amount:

where:

applicable franking percentage means:

- (a) if, before the debit arises, the *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the choice to untaint is made has already been set by section 203-30—that percentage; or
- (b) otherwise—100%.

197-70 Due date for payment of untainting tax

*Untainting tax is due and payable at the end of 21 days after the end of the *franking period in which the choice to untaint was made.

Note: For provisions about collection and recovery of untainting tax, see Part 4-15 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

197-75 General interest charge for late payment of untainting tax

If any of the *untainting tax that a company is liable to pay remains unpaid 60 days after the day by which it is due to be paid, the company is liable to pay the *general interest charge on the unpaid amount for each day in the period that:

- (a) started at the beginning of the 60th day after the day by which the untainting tax was due to be paid; and
- (b) ends at the end of the last day on which, at the end of the day, any of the following remains unpaid:
  - (i) the untainting tax;
  - (ii) general interest charge on any of the untainting tax.

---

197-80 Notice of liability to pay untainting tax

- (1) The Commissioner may give a company, by post or otherwise, a notice specifying:
  - (a) the amount of any *untainting tax that the Commissioner has ascertained is payable by the company; and
  - (b) the day on which that tax became or will become due and payable.

Effect of notice on liability etc.

- (2) Subject to section 197-85, the amount of the liability of a company to *untainting tax, and the due date for payment of the tax, are not dependent on, or in any way affected by, the giving of a notice.

Amendment of notice

- (3) The Commissioner may at any time amend a notice. An amended notice is a notice for the purposes of this section.

Inconsistency between notices

- (4) If there is an inconsistency between notices that relate to the same subject matter, the later notice prevails to the extent of the inconsistency.

Objections

- (5) A company that is dissatisfied with a notice made in relation to the company may object against the notice in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

197-85 Evidentiary effect of notice of liability to pay untainting tax

- (1) The production of:
  - (a) a notice given under section 197-80; or
  - (b) a document that is signed by the Commissioner and appears to be a copy of such a notice;is conclusive evidence that:
  - (c) the notice was duly given; and

---

---

- (d) the amount of *untainting tax specified in the notice became due and payable by the company to which it was given on the day specified in the notice.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply in proceedings under Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953 on a review or appeal relating to the review.

Part 3-6—The imputation system

Division 200—Guide to Part 3-6

Guide to Division 200

200-1 What this Division is about

This Division provides an overview of the imputation system.

Table of sections

200-5	The imputation system
200-10	Franking a distribution
200-15	The franking account
200-20	How a distribution is franked
200-25	A corporate tax entity must not give its members credit for more tax than the entity has paid
200-30	Benchmark rule
200-35	Effect of receiving a franked distribution
200-40	An Australian corporate tax entity can pass the benefit of having received a franked distribution on to its members
200-45	Special rules for franking by some entities

200-5 The imputation system

The *imputation system partially integrates the income tax liabilities of an Australian corporate tax entity and its members by:

- (a) allowing the entity, when distributing profits to its members, to pass to those members credit for income tax paid by the entity on those profits; and
- (b) allowing the entity's Australian members to claim a tax offset for that credit; and
- (c) allowing the entity's Australian members to claim a refund if they are unable to fully utilise the tax offset in reducing their income tax.

---

200-10 Franking a distribution

When an Australian corporate tax entity distributes profits to its members, the entity has the option of passing to those members credit for income tax paid by the entity on the profits. This is done by franking the distribution.

200-15 The franking account

- (1) A franking account is used to keep track of income tax paid by the entity, so that the entity can pass to its members the benefit of having paid that tax when a distribution is made.
- (2) Each corporate tax entity has a franking account.
- (3) Typically, a corporate tax entity receives a credit in the account if the entity pays income tax or receives a franked distribution. A credit in the franking account is called a franking credit.
- (4) Typically, a corporate tax entity receives a debit in the account if the entity receives a refund of tax or franks a distribution to its members. A debit in the franking account is called a franking debit.

200-20 How a distribution is franked

- (1) A corporate tax entity franks a distribution by allocating a franking credit to it.
- (2) The amount of the franking credit on the distribution is the amount specified in a statement that accompanies the distribution.
- (3) Only some kinds of distribution can be franked. These are called frankable distributions.

200-25 A corporate tax entity must not give its members credit for more tax than the entity has paid

- (1) A corporate tax entity must not frank a distribution from profits with a franking credit that exceeds the maximum amount of income tax that could have been paid by the entity on the profits distributed.

---

---

Section 200-30

---

- (2) If a distribution is franked in excess of this limit, the entity will be taken to have franked the distribution with the maximum franking credit for the distribution.

200-30 Benchmark rule

- (1) All frankable distributions made within a particular period must be franked to the same extent. This is the benchmark rule.
- (2) It is designed to ensure that one member of a corporate tax entity is not preferred over another by the manner in which distributions are franked.

200-35 Effect of receiving a franked distribution

- (1) Under Division 207, if an Australian member of a corporate tax entity receives a franked distribution, the member can usually offset, against the member's own income tax liability, income tax paid by the entity on the profits underlying the distribution.
- (2) The tax offset to which the member is entitled is equal to the franking credit on the distribution.

Note 1: A member may be entitled to a refund under Division 67 if the sum of the tax offset and certain other tax offsets exceeds the amount of income tax that the member would have to pay if the member had not got those tax offsets.

Note 2: If the member is not a resident, the tax effects of receiving a distribution will be dealt with under Division 11A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, and Subdivision 207-D of this Part.

200-40 An Australian corporate tax entity can pass the benefit of having received a franked distribution on to its members

If an Australian corporate tax entity receives a franked distribution, it can pass the benefit of having received a franking credit on the distribution to its own members by franking distributions to those members.

---

200-45 Special rules for franking by some entities

There are special rules to deal with:

- (a) venture capital franking by a pooled development fund; and
- (b) franking by life insurance companies; and
- (c) franking by exempting companies and former exempting companies; and
- (d) franking by co-operative companies; and
- (e) franking by companies that are NZ residents or members of the same wholly-owned group as one or more companies that are NZ residents.

---

Division 201—Objects and application of Part 3-6

Table of sections

201-1	Objects
201-5	Application of this Part

201-1 Objects

- (1) The main object of this Part is to allow certain *corporate tax entities to pass to their *members the benefit of having paid income tax on the profits underlying certain *distributions.
- (2) The other objects of this Part are to ensure that:
  - (a) the imputation system is not used to give the benefit of income tax paid by a *corporate tax entity to *members who do not have a sufficient economic interest in the entity; and
  - (b) the imputation system is not used to prefer some members over others when passing on the benefits of having paid income tax; and
  - (c) the *membership of a corporate tax entity is not manipulated to create either of the outcomes mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b).

201-5 Application of this Part

Subject to the rules on the application of this Part set out in the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997, this Part applies to events that occur on or after 1 July 2002.

An entity can only frank a distribution if certain conditions are met. These conditions are set out in this Subdivision.

Table of sections

Operative provisions
202-5	Franking a distribution

Operative provisions

202-5 Franking a distribution

An entity franks a *distribution if:

- (a) the entity is a *franking entity that satisfies the *residency requirement when the distribution is made; and
- (b) the distribution is a *frankable distribution; and
- (c) the entity allocates a *franking credit to the distribution.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 202-10

---

Note 1: Division 205 deals with a corporate tax entity's franking account and sets out when credits, known as franking credits, and debits, known as franking debits, arise in that account.

Note 2: The mechanism by which an entity allocates a franking credit to a distribution (for example, whether it is done by resolution or some other means) is determined by the entity.

Subdivision 202-B—Who can frank a distribution?

Guide to Subdivision 202-B

202-10 What this Subdivision is about

Generally, a corporate tax entity that is an Australian resident at the time a distribution is made, can frank the distribution.

There are some exceptions.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 202-15 Franking entities
- 202-20 Residency requirement when making a distribution

Operative provisions

202-15 Franking entities

An entity is a franking entity at a particular time if:

- (a) it is a *corporate tax entity at that time; and
- (b) it is not a *life insurance company that is a *mutual insurance company at that time; and
- (c) in a case where the entity is a company that is a trustee of a trust—it is not acting in its capacity as trustee of the trust at that time.

---

202-20 Residency requirement when making a distribution

An entity satisfies the residency requirement when making a *distribution if:

- (a) in the case of a company—the company is an Australian resident at that time; and
- (b) in the case of a *corporate limited partnership—the corporate limited partnership is an Australian resident at that time; and
- (c) in the case of a *corporate unit trust—the corporate unit trust is a *resident unit trust for the income year in which that time occurs; and
- (d) in the case of a *public trading trust—the public trading trust is a resident unit trust for the income year in which that time occurs.

Subdivision 202-C—Which distributions can be franked?

Guide to Subdivision 202-C

202-25 What this Subdivision is about

Generally, distributions that are made out of realised profits can be franked.

Those distributions that are not frankable are identified.

Table of sections

202-30 Frankable distributions

Operative provisions

202-35 Object

202-40 Frankable distributions

202-45 Unfrankable distributions

202-47 Distributions of certain ADI profits following restructure

---

202-30 Frankable distributions

Distributions and non-share dividends are frankable unless it is specified that they are unfrankable.

Operative provisions

202-35 Object

The object of this Subdivision is to ensure that only distributions equivalent to realised taxed profits can be franked.

202-40 Frankable distributions

- (1) A *distribution is a frankable distribution, to the extent that it is not unfrankable under section 202-45.
- (2) A *non-share dividend is a frankable distribution, to the extent that it is not unfrankable under section 202-45.

202-45 Unfrankable distributions

The following are unfrankable:

- (b) a distribution to which paragraph 24J(2)(a) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies that is taken under section 24J of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 to be *derived from sources in a prescribed Territory, as defined in subsection 24B(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (distributions by certain *corporate tax entities from sources in Norfolk Island);
- (c) where the purchase price on the buy-back of a *share by a *company from one of its *members is taken to be a dividend under section 159GZZZP of that Act—so much of that purchase price as exceeds what would be the market value (as normally understood) of the share at the time of the buy-back if the buy-back did not take place and were never proposed to take place;
- (d) a distribution in respect of a *non-equity share;
- (e) a distribution that is sourced, directly or indirectly, from a company's *share capital account;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (f) an amount that is taken to be an unfrankable distribution under section 215-10 or 215-15;
- (g) an amount that is taken to be a dividend for any purpose under any of the following provisions:
  - (i) unless subsection 109RB(6) or 109RC(2) applies in relation to the amount—Division 7A of Part III of that Act (distributions to entities connected with a *private company);
  - (iii) section 109 of that Act (excessive payments to shareholders, directors and associates);
  - (iv) section 47A of that Act (distribution benefits—CFCs);
- (h) an amount that is taken to be an unfranked dividend for any purpose:
  - (i) under section 45 of that Act (streaming bonus shares and unfranked dividends);
  - (ii) because of a determination of the Commissioner under section 45C of that Act (streaming dividends and capital benefits);
- (i) a *demerger dividend;
- (j) a distribution that section 152-125 or 220-105 says is unfrankable.

202-47 Distributions of certain ADI profits following restructure

- (1) This section applies to an amount paid by a body corporate if:
  - (a) the body corporate is a non-operating holding company within the meaning of the Financial Sector (Business Transfer and Group Restructure) Act 1999; and
  - (b) a restructure instrument under Part 4A of that Act is in force in relation to the body; and
  - (c) because of the restructure to which the instrument relates, an *ADI becomes a subsidiary (within the meaning of that Act) of the body; and
  - (d) the amount is sourced, directly or indirectly, from the profits of the ADI before the restructure instrument came into force; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 202-50

---

- (e) the amount would have been a *frankable distribution if it had been distributed by the ADI before the restructure instrument came into force.
- (2) The amount:
  - (a) is taken to be a dividend paid by the body, for the purposes of this Act (and so is a *distribution by the body); and
  - (b) is not taken to be an *unfrankable distribution by the body just because of paragraph 202-45(e) (which makes distributions from *share capital accounts unfrankable).

Subdivision 202-D—Amount of the franking credit on a distribution

Guide to Subdivision 202-D

202-50 What this Subdivision is about

The amount of the franking credit on a distribution is that stated in the distribution statement, unless the amount stated exceeds the maximum franking credit for the distribution.

In that case, the amount of the franking credit on the distribution is taken to be the maximum franking credit for the distribution, worked out under this Subdivision.

Table of sections

202-55 What is the maximum franking credit for a frankable distribution?

Operative provisions

202-60 Amount of the franking credit on a distribution

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

202-55 What is the maximum franking credit for a frankable distribution?

The maximum franking credit for a distribution is equivalent to the maximum amount of income tax that the entity making the distribution could have paid, at the current corporate tax rate, on the profits underlying the distribution.

Operative provisions

202-60 Amount of the franking credit on a distribution

- (1) The amount of the *franking credit on a *distribution is that stated in the *distribution statement for the distribution, unless that amount exceeds the *maximum franking credit for the distribution.
- (2) The maximum franking credit for a *distribution is worked out using the formula:

202-65 Where the franking credit stated in the distribution statement exceeds the maximum franking credit for the distribution

If the amount of a *franking credit stated in a *distribution statement for a *distribution exceeds the *maximum franking credit for the distribution, the amount of the franking credit on the distribution is taken to be the amount of the maximum franking credit for the distribution, and not the amount stated in the distribution statement.

Subdivision 202-E—Distribution statements

Guide to Subdivision 202-E

202-70 What this Subdivision is about

An entity that makes a frankable distribution must give the recipient a statement setting out details of the distribution.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

202-75	Obligation to give a distribution statement
202-80	Distribution statement
202-85	Changing the franking credit on a distribution by amending the distribution statement

Operative provisions

202-75 Obligation to give a distribution statement

- (1) An entity that makes a *frankable distribution must give the recipient a *distribution statement.
- (2) The statement must be given on or before the day on which the *distribution is made, unless the entity is allowed to give the statement at a later time under subsection (3).
- (3) If the entity is a *private company for the income year in which the *distribution is made, the statement must be given:
  - (a) before the end of 4 months after the end of the income year in which the distribution is made; or
  - (b) before the time determined by the Commissioner under subsection (5);whichever is later.
- (4) However, the entity is not allowed to give the statement at a later time under subsection (3) if the statement indicates that a *franking credit has been allocated to the *distribution and the franking credit would, either alone or when added to other franking credits allocated to other distributions made by the entity during the income year, result in the entity having a liability for *franking deficit tax, or an increased liability for franking deficit tax, at the end of the income year.

Note: The combined effect of subsections (3) and (4) is that a private company can retrospectively frank a distribution, but not so as to create or increase a liability for franking deficit tax.

- (5) The Commissioner may determine in writing that a *private company may give the statement before a time specified in the determination.

202-80 Distribution statement

- (1) A distribution statement is a statement made in accordance with this section.
- (2) The statement must be in the *approved form.
- (3) The statement must:
- (a) identify the entity making the distribution; and
  - (b) state the date on which the distribution is made; and
  - (c) state the amount of the distribution; and
  - (d) state that there is a *franking credit of an amount specified on the distribution; and
  - (e) state the *franking percentage for the distribution; and
  - (f) state the amount of any *withholding tax that has been deducted from the distribution by the entity; and
  - (g) include any other information required by the *approved form that is relevant to imputation generally or the distribution.

Note: Under the Taxation Administration Act 1953 it is an offence to fail to give a statement required under this Subdivision, or make a misleading statement in connection with a distribution (whether franked or not).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

202-85 Changing the franking credit on a distribution by amending the distribution statement

Changing the franking credit on a specified distribution

- (1) The Commissioner may, on application by an entity, determine in writing that the entity may change the *franking credit on a specified *distribution by amending the *distribution statement for the distribution.
- (2) In deciding whether to make a determination under subsection (1), the Commissioner must have regard to:
  - (a) whether the date for lodgment of an *income tax return by the recipient of the specified *distribution for the income year in which the distribution was made has passed; and
  - (b) whether, if the *franking credit on the specified distribution were changed in accordance with the entity's application, there would be any difference in the *withholding tax liability of the recipient; and
  - (c) whether amending the distribution statement as requested by the entity would lead to a breach of the *benchmark rule, or any of the rules in Division 204 (the anti-streaming rules); and
  - (d) whether amending the distribution statement as requested by the entity would lead to a new *benchmark franking percentage being set for the entity for the *franking period in which the distribution was made; and
  - (e) any other matters that the Commissioner considers relevant.

Changing the franking credits on a specified class of distributions

- (3) The Commissioner may, on application by an entity, determine in writing that the entity may change the *franking credits on *distributions of a specified class by amending the *distribution statements for the distributions.
- (4) In deciding whether to make a determination under subsection (3), the Commissioner must have regard to:
  - (a) the number of recipients to whom an amended *distribution statement would be made; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) whether the date for lodgment of *income tax returns by recipients of *distributions of the specified class for the income year in which the distributions were made has passed; and
- (c) whether, if the *franking credit on the specified distributions were changed in accordance with the entity's application, there would be any difference in the *withholding tax liability of the recipients; and
- (d) whether amending the distribution statements as requested by the entity would lead to a breach of the *benchmark rule, or any of the rules in Division 204 (the anti-streaming rules); and
- (e) whether amending the distribution statements as requested by the entity would lead to a new *benchmark franking percentage being set for the entity for the *franking period in which the distributions were made; and
- (f) any other matters that the Commissioner considers relevant.

Applying to the Commissioner

- (5) The entity must:
  - (a) make its application under this section in writing; and
  - (b) include in the application all information relevant to the matters to which the Commissioner must have regard under:
    - (i) subsection (2), if the application relates to a *distribution; or
    - (ii) subsection (4), if the application relates to a class of distributions.

Review

- (6) If the entity or a *member of the entity is dissatisfied with a determination under subsection (3), the entity or member may object to it in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Division 203—Benchmark rule

Guide to Division 203

203-1 What this Division is about

Distributions within a particular period must all be franked to the same extent.

Table of sections

203-5	Benchmark rule
203-10	Benchmark franking percentage

Operative provisions

203-15	Object
203-20	Application of the benchmark rule
203-25	Benchmark rule
203-30	Setting a benchmark franking percentage
203-35	Franking percentage
203-40	Franking periods—where the entity is not a private company
203-45	Franking period—private companies
203-50	Consequences of breaching the benchmark rule
203-55	Commissioner's powers to permit a departure from the benchmark rule

203-5 Benchmark rule

- (1) A corporate tax entity must frank all frankable distributions made within a particular period at a franking percentage set as the benchmark for that period. This is the benchmark rule.
- (2) The benchmark rule does not apply to some corporate tax entities. Those entities are identified in section 203-20.

---

203-10 Benchmark franking percentage

- (1) The benchmark franking percentage for an entity is set by reference to the franking percentage for the first frankable distribution made by the entity during the relevant period.
- (2) An entity has a benchmark franking percentage, even if it is not subject to the benchmark rule.

Operative provisions*203-15 Object

The object of this Subdivision is to ensure that one *member of a *corporate tax entity is not preferred over another when the entity *franks *distributions.

203-20 Application of the benchmark rule

- (1) The *benchmark rule does not apply to a company in a *franking period if either:
  - (a) the company satisfies each of the following criteria:
    - (i) at all times during the franking period, the company is a *listed public company;
    - (ii) the company cannot make a *distribution on one *membership interest during the franking period without making a distribution under the same resolution on all other membership interests;
    - (iii) the company cannot *frank a distribution made on one membership interest during the franking period without franking distributions made on all other membership interests under the same resolution with a *franking credit worked out using the same *franking percentage; or
  - (b) the entity is a *100% subsidiary of a company that satisfies the criteria set out in paragraph (a).
- (2) The following are examples of cases in which a company satisfies the criteria set out in paragraph (1)(a):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 203-25

---

- (a) the company is a *listed public company with a single *class of *membership interest at all times during the relevant *franking period;
- (b) the company is a listed public company that, under its constituent documents, must not:
  - (i) make a *distribution on one membership interest during the relevant franking period without making a distribution under the same resolution on all other membership interests; or
  - (ii) *frank a distribution made on one membership interest during the relevant franking period without franking distributions made on all other membership interests under the same resolution with a *franking credit worked out using the same *franking percentage;
- (c) the company is a listed public company with more than one class of membership interest, but the rights in relation to distributions and the franking of distributions are the same for each class of membership interest.

This is not an exhaustive list.

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), ignore *membership interests that do not carry a right to receive *distributions (other than distributions on the winding up of the company).

203-25 Benchmark rule

An entity must not make a *frankable distribution whose *franking percentage differs from the entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the distribution is made. This is the benchmark rule.

Note: If a corporate tax entity franks a distribution in breach of this rule, the distribution will still be a franked distribution, although consequences will flow under section 203-50.

203-30 Setting a benchmark franking percentage

The benchmark franking percentage for an entity for a *franking period is the same as the *franking percentage for the first *frankable distribution made by the entity within the period.

---

---

Note: If no frankable distribution is made during the period, there is no benchmark franking percentage for the period.

203-35 Franking percentage

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), the franking percentage for a *frankable distribution is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{*Franking credit allocated to the *frankable distribution}}{\text{*Maximum franking credit for the distribution}} \times 100$$

- (2) If the *franking percentage for a *frankable distribution would exceed 100% if it were worked out under subsection (1), it is taken to be 100%.

203-40 Franking periods—where the entity is not a private company

- (1) Use this section to work out the franking periods for an entity in an income year where the entity is not a *private company for the income year.
- (2) If the entity's income year is a period of 12 months, each of the following is a franking period for the entity in that year:
- (a) the period of 6 months beginning at the start of the entity's income year;
  - (b) the remainder of the income year.
- (3) If the entity's income year is a period of 6 months or less, the franking period for the entity in that year is the same as the income year.
- (4) If the entity's income year is a period of more than 6 months and less than 12 months, each of the following is a franking period for the entity in that year:
- (a) the period of 6 months beginning at the start of the entity's income year;
  - (b) the remainder of the income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 203-45

---

- (5) If the entity's income year is a period of more than 12 months, each of the following is a franking period for the entity in that year:
- (a) the period of 6 months beginning at the start of the entity's income year (the first franking period);
  - (b) the period of 6 months beginning immediately after the end of the first franking period;
  - (c) the remainder of the income year.

203-45 Franking period—private companies

The franking period for an entity that is a *private company for an income year is the same as the income year.

203-50 Consequences of breaching the benchmark rule

- (1) If an entity makes a *frankable distribution in breach of the *benchmark rule:
- (a) the entity is liable to pay over-franking tax imposed by the New Business Tax System (Over-franking Tax) Act 2002 if the *franking percentage for the *distribution exceeds the entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the distribution is made; and
  - (b) a *franking debit arises in the entity's *franking account if the franking percentage for the distribution is less than the entity's benchmark franking percentage for the franking period in which the distribution is made.
- (2) Use the following formula to work out:
- (a) in a case dealt with under paragraph (1)(a)—the amount of the *over-franking tax; and
  - (b) in a case dealt with under paragraph (1)(b)—the amount of the *franking debit:

$$\text{Franking \% differential} \times \text{Amount of the *frankable distribution} \times \frac{\text{*Corporate tax rate}}{100\% - \text{*Corporate tax rate}}$$

where:

---

franking % differential is the difference between:

- (a) the *franking percentage for the *frankable distribution; and
- (b) either:
  - (i) if subparagraph (ii) does not apply—the entity’s *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the *distribution is made; or
  - (ii) if the Commissioner in the exercise of the Commissioner’s powers under subsection 203-55(1), permits the entity to frank the distribution at a different franking percentage—that percentage.

Example: An entity makes 3 successive frankable distributions in a franking period. Each of those distributions is represented in the following diagram. The franking percentage for the first distribution is 40%, and so the entity’s benchmark franking percentage for the period is 40%.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note: Distribution 2 is under-franked to the extent of the franking % differential. This is used to work out the amount of the under-franking debit under subsection (2).

Distribution 3 is over-franked to the extent of the franking % differential. This is used to work out the amount of over-franking tax on the distribution under the New Business Tax System (Over-franking Tax) Act 2002. The amount of the tax is calculated using the same formula as that set out in subsection (2).

- (3) A *franking debit arising under paragraph (1)(b) is in addition to any franking debit that would otherwise arise for the entity because of the *distribution.
- (4) The *franking debit arises on the day on which the *frankable distribution is made.

203-55 Commissioner's powers to permit a departure from the benchmark rule

Powers of the Commissioner

- (1) The Commissioner may, on application by an entity, make a determination in writing permitting the entity to *frank a *distribution at a *franking percentage that differs from the entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the distribution is made.
- (2) Because the *benchmark rule is an integral part of the imputation system, the Commissioner's powers under this section may only be exercised in extraordinary circumstances.

Matters to which the Commissioner must have regard in exercising the power

- (3) In deciding whether there are extraordinary circumstances justifying the exercise of the Commissioner's power to make a determination under subsection (1), the Commissioner must have regard to:
  - (a) the entity's reasons for departing, or proposing to depart, from the *benchmark rule; and
  - (b) the extent of the departure, or proposed departure, from the benchmark rule; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) if the circumstances that give rise to the entity's application are within the entity's control, the extent to which the entity has sought the exercise of the Commissioner's powers under this section in the past; and
- (d) whether a *member of the entity has been or will be disadvantaged as a result of the departure, or proposed departure, from the benchmark rule; and
- (e) whether a *member of the entity will receive greater *imputation benefits than another member of the entity because a distribution *franked at a *franking percentage that differs from the *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period is made to one of them; and
- (f) any other matters that the Commissioner considers relevant.

When may the powers be exercised?

- (4) The Commissioner may make a determination under subsection (1) either before or after the *frankable distribution is made.

Consequence of the Commissioner exercising the power under this section

- (5) An allocation of a *franking credit at a percentage specified by the Commissioner in a determination under subsection (1) is taken to comply with the *benchmark rule.

Applying to the Commissioner

- (6) The entity must:
  - (a) make its application under this section in writing; and
  - (b) include in the application all information relevant to the matters to which the Commissioner must have regard under subsection (3).

Review

- (7) If the entity or a *member of the entity is dissatisfied with the determination under subsection (1), the entity or member may object to it in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

---

Subdivision 204-A—Objects and application

Table of sections

204-1	Objects
204-5	Application to non-share dividends

204-1 Objects

The objects of this Division are to ensure that:

- (a) an entity and its *members cannot avoid the effect of the *benchmark rule by exploiting the *benchmark franking percentage of another entity; and
- (b) an entity does not stream *franked distributions and *tax-exempt bonus shares; and
- (c) an entity does not stream *distributions to members of the entity who *derive a *greater benefit from franking credits than other members.

204-5 Application

- (1) The rules in this Division will apply to an entity even if it is not subject to the benchmark rule.
- (2) This Division applies to non-share dividends in the same way as it applies to distributions.

Subdivision 204-B—Linked distributions

Guide to Subdivision 204-B

204-10 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision prevents the exploitation of a corporate tax entity's benchmark franking percentage by another corporate tax entity, or that other entity's members, by imposing a franking debit where there is exploitation.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

204-15 Linked distributions

Operative provisions

204-15 Linked distributions

Franking debit arises where a distribution by one entity is substituted for a distribution by another

- (1) This section gives rise to a *franking debit if:
- (a) the exercise of a choice or selection by a *member of an entity (the first entity); or
  - (b) the member's failure to exercise a choice or selection; has the effect of determining (to any extent) that another entity makes to one of its members a *distribution (the linked distribution) that is:
    - (c) in substitution (in whole or in part) for a distribution by the first entity to that member or any other member of the first entity; and
    - (d) unfranked, or *franked at a *franking percentage that differs from the first entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the linked distribution is made.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 204-15

---

Note: Division 205 deals with a corporate tax entity's franking account and sets out when a debit, known as a franking debit, arises in that account.

Franking account in which the debit arises

- (2) The debit arises in the *franking account of the entity with the higher *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the linked distribution is made.

Amount of the debit

- (3) The debit is equal to the one that would arise in that *franking account if the entity had made a *franked distribution, equal to the linked distribution, with a *franking percentage equal to the *benchmark franking percentage for that entity.

When does the debit arise

- (4) The debit arises on the day on which the linked distribution is made.

Debit is in addition to any other franking debit arising because of the linked distribution

- (5) The debit is in addition to any other debit that arises in an entity's *franking account because of the linked distribution.

Where an entity has no benchmark franking percentage

- (6) If an entity has no *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the linked distribution is made, this section applies as if:
- (a) in a case where the linked distribution has a *franking percentage of less than 50%—the entity had a benchmark franking percentage of 100% for that period; and
  - (b) in a case where the linked distribution has a franking percentage equal to or greater than 50%—the entity had a benchmark franking percentage of 0% for that period.

---

Subdivision 204-C—Substituting tax-exempt bonus share for franked distributions

Guide to Subdivision 204-C

204-20 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision prevents the substitution of a tax-exempt bonus share for a franked distribution by imposing a franking debit on the issue of the share as if it were a franked distribution.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

204-25 Substituting tax-exempt bonus shares for franked distributions

Operative provisions

204-25 Substituting tax-exempt bonus shares for franked distributions

Franking debit arises if tax-exempt bonus shares are issued in substitution for a franked distribution

- (1) This section gives rise to a *franking debit in an entity's *franking account if:
  - (a) the exercise of a choice or selection by a *member of the entity; or
  - (b) the member's failure to exercise a choice or selection;has the effect of determining (to any extent) that the entity issues one or more *tax-exempt bonus shares, to that member or another member of the entity, in substitution (in whole or in part) for one or more *franked distributions by the entity to that member or another member.

---

---

Amount of the debit

- (2) The debit is equal to the one that would arise in the entity's *franking account if the entity made a *distribution, equal to the *franked distributions referred to in subsection (1), franked at the entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the shares are issued.

When does the debit arise

- (3) The debit arises on the day when the shares are issued.

Meaning of tax-exempt bonus share

- (4) For a company whose *shares have no par value, tax-exempt bonus share means a share issued by the company in the circumstances mentioned in subsection 6BA(6) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (5) For any other company, tax-exempt bonus share means a *share issued by the company to a *shareholder in the company where:
- (a) the amount or value of the share is debited against an amount standing to the credit of a share premium account of the company; and
  - (b) no part of the paid-up value of the share is a dividend; and
  - (c) the share is issued:
    - (i) as a bonus share; or
    - (ii) in the circumstances mentioned in subsection 6BA(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, as in force immediately before 1 July 1998.

Where a company has no benchmark franking percentage for the franking period

- (6) If a company has no *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the *tax-exempt bonus share is issued, this section applies as if the entity had a benchmark franking percentage of 100% for that period.

---

Subdivision 204-D—Streaming distributions

Guide to Subdivision 204-D

204-26 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision prevents the streaming of imputation benefits to one member of a corporate tax entity in preference to another by either imposing a franking debit or denying an imputation benefit where there is streaming.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

204-30	Streaming distributions
204-35	When does a franking debit arise if the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(a)
204-40	Amount of the franking debit
204-41	Amount of the exempting debit
204-45	Effect of a determination about distributions to favoured members
204-50	Assessment and notice of determination
204-55	Right to review where a determination made

Operative provisions

204-30 Streaming distributions

Commissioner's power to make a determination when distributions or distributions and other benefits are streamed

- (1) This section empowers the Commissioner to make determinations if an entity streams one or more *distributions (or one or more distributions and the giving of other benefits), whether in a single *franking period or in a number of franking periods, in such a way that:
- (a) an *imputation benefit is, or apart from this section would be, received by a *member of the entity as a result of the distribution or distributions; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 204-30

---

- (b) the member would *derive a *greater benefit from franking credits than another member of the entity; and
- (c) the other member of the entity will receive lesser imputation benefits, or will not receive any imputation benefits, whether or not the other member receives other benefits.

The member that derives the greater benefit from franking credits is the favoured member. The member that receives the lesser imputation benefits is the disadvantaged member.

Examples of other benefits

- (2) These are examples of the giving of other benefits:
  - (a) issuing bonus *shares;
  - (b) returning *paid-up share capital;
  - (c) forgiving a debt;
  - (d) the entity or another entity making a payment of any kind, or giving any property, to a *member or to another person on a member's behalf.

Nature of the determination that the Commissioner may make

- (3) The Commissioner may make one or more of these determinations:
  - (a) that a specified *franking debit arises in the *franking account of the entity, for a specified *distribution or other benefit to a disadvantaged member;
  - (b) that a specified *exempting debit arises in the *exempting account of the entity, for a specified *distribution or other benefit to a disadvantaged member;
  - (c) that no *imputation benefit is to arise in respect of a distribution that is made to a favoured member and specified in the determination.

A determination must be in writing.

- (4) The Commissioner may:
  - (a) specify the *franking debit under paragraph (3)(a) by specifying the *franking percentage to be used in working out the amount of the debit; and

- (b) specify the *exempting debit under paragraph (3)(b) by specifying the *exempting percentage to be used in working out the amount of the debit.
- (5) The Commissioner may specify the *distribution under paragraph (3)(a), (b) or (c) by specifying:
  - (a) the date on which the distribution was made, or the period during which the distribution was made; and
  - (b) the member, or class of members, to whom the distribution was made.

What is an imputation benefit?

- (6) A *member of an entity receives an imputation benefit as a result of a distribution if:
  - (a) the member is entitled to a *tax offset under Division 207 as a result of the distribution; or
  - (b) an amount would be included in the member's assessable income as a result of the distribution because of the operation of section 207-35; or
  - (c) a *franking credit would arise in the *franking account of the member as a result of the distribution; or
  - (d) an *exempting credit would arise in the *exempting account of the member as a result of the distribution; or
  - (e) the member would not be liable to pay *withholding tax on the distribution, because of the operation of paragraph 128B(3)(ga) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (f) the member is entitled to a *tax offset under section 210-170 as a result of the distribution.

When does a favoured member derive greater benefit from franking credits?

- (7) The following subsection lists some of the cases in which a *member of an entity *derives a greater benefit from franking credits than another member of the entity. It is not an exhaustive list.
- (8) A *member of an entity *derives a greater benefit from franking credits than another member of the entity if any of the following circumstances exist in relation to the other member in the income year in which the distribution giving rise to the benefit is made, and not in relation to the first member:

- (a) the other member is a foreign resident;
  - (b) the other member would not be entitled to any *tax offset under Division 207 because of the distribution;
  - (c) the amount of income tax that, apart from this Division, would be payable by the other member because of the distribution is less than the tax offset to which the other member would be entitled;
  - (d) the other member is a *corporate tax entity at the time the distribution is made, but no *franking credit arises for the entity as a result of the distribution;
  - (e) the other member is a *corporate tax entity at the time the distribution is made, but cannot use *franking credits received on the distribution to *frank distributions to its own members because:
    - (i) it is not a *franking entity; or
    - (ii) it is unable to make *frankable distributions;
  - (f) the other member is an *exempting entity.
- (9) A *member of an entity *derives a greater benefit from franking credits than another member of the entity if any of the following circumstances exist in relation to the first member in the income year in which the *distribution giving rise to the benefit is made, and not in relation to the other member:
- (a) a *franking credit arises for the first member under item 5, 6 or 7 of the table in section 208-130 (distributions by *exempting entities to exempting entities);
  - (b) a franking credit or *exempting credit arises for the first member because the distribution is *franked with an exempting credit;
  - (c) the first member is entitled to a *tax offset because:
    - (i) the distribution is a *franked distribution made by an exempting entity; or
    - (ii) the distribution is *franked with an exempting credit.

---

---

- (10) A *member of an entity *derives a greater benefit from franking credits than another member if the first member is entitled to a *tax offset under section 210-170 as a result of the *distribution, and the other member is not.

204-35 When does a franking debit arise if the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(a)

- (1) If the Commissioner makes a determination giving rise to a *franking debit in the *franking account of an entity under paragraph 204-30(3)(a), the debit arises in the franking account of the entity on the day on which the notice of determination is given to the entity in accordance with section 204-50.
- (2) If the Commissioner makes a determination giving rise to an *exempting debit in the *exempting account of an entity under paragraph 204-30(3)(b), the debit arises in the exempting account of the entity on the day on which the notice of determination is given to the entity in accordance with section 204-50.

204-40 Amount of the franking debit

- (1) The amount of the *franking debit arising because of a determination by the Commissioner under paragraph 204-30(3)(a) must not exceed:
- (a) if the specified *distribution has been *franked—the difference between the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution and an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest *franking percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
  - (b) if the specified distribution, although *frankable, has not been franked—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest franking percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
  - (c) if the specified distribution is *unfrankable—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest franking percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 204-41

---

- (d) if the specified benefit is the issue of bonus shares from a share premium account—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount debited to the share premium account in respect of the bonus shares by the highest franking percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
  - (e) if some other benefit is specified—an amount worked out by multiplying the value of the benefit by the highest franking percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked.
- (2) In specifying the *franking debit, the Commissioner must have regard to:
- (a) any *franking debit already arising in the *franking account of the entity under paragraph 203-50(1)(b) because the entity franked the specified *distribution in breach of the *benchmark rule; and
  - (b) any franking debit already arising in the franking account of the entity, because of the specified distribution or benefit, under section 204-15 (about linked distributions) or section 204-25 (about substituting *tax-exempt bonus shares for *franked distributions).

204-41 Amount of the exempting debit

The amount of the *exempting debit arising because of a determination by the Commissioner under paragraph 204-30(3)(b) must not exceed:

- (a) if the specified *distribution has been *franked with an exempting credit—the difference between the amount of the *exempting credit on the distribution and an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest *exempting percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
- (b) if the specified distribution, although *frankable, has not been franked with an exempting credit—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest exempting percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or

---

---

- (c) if the specified distribution is *unfrankable—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount of the distribution by the highest exempting percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
- (d) if the specified benefit is the issue of bonus shares from a share premium account—an amount worked out by multiplying the amount debited to the share premium account in respect of the bonus shares by the highest exempting percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked; or
- (e) if some other benefit is specified—an amount worked out by multiplying the value of the benefit by the highest exempting percentage at which a distribution to a favoured member is franked.

204-45 Effect of a determination about distributions to favoured members

If the Commissioner makes a determination denying an *imputation benefit under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) (about distributions to favoured members), the determination has effect according to its terms.

204-50 Assessment and notice of determination

- (1) A determination under subsection 204-30(3) does not form part of an assessment.
- (2) The Commissioner must give notice in writing of the determination:
  - (a) in a case where the Commissioner determines that a *franking debit is to arise in the *franking account of an entity under paragraph 204-30(3)(a)—to the entity; and
  - (b) in a case where the Commissioner determines that an *exempting debit is to arise in the *exempting account of an entity under paragraph 204-30(3)(b)—to the entity; and
  - (c) in a case where a favoured member is denied an *imputation benefit under paragraph 204-30(3)(c)—to the favoured member.

Section 204-55

---

- (3) If the Commissioner makes a determination denying an *imputation benefit under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) on a *distribution made by a *listed public company, the Commissioner is taken to have served notice in writing of the determination on the favoured member if the Commissioner causes a notice to be published in a daily newspaper that circulates generally in each State, the Australian Capital Territory and the Northern Territory. The notice is taken to have been served on the day on which the publication takes place.
- (4) A notice under this section may be included in a notice of assessment.

204-55 Right to review where a determination made

If a taxpayer to whom a determination relates is dissatisfied with the determination, the taxpayer may object to it in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Subdivision 204-E—Disclosure requirements

Guide to Subdivision 204-E

204-65 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision requires an entity to notify the Commissioner where there is a significant difference in its benchmark franking percentage over time, so that the Commissioner can assess whether there is streaming.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

204-70	Application of this Subdivision
204-75	Notice to the Commissioner
204-80	Commissioner may require information where the Commissioner suspects streaming

Operative provisions

204-70 Application of this Subdivision

This Subdivision does not apply to an entity to whom the benchmark rule does not apply.

Note: Section 203-20 identifies the entities to whom the benchmark rule does not apply.

204-75 Notice to the Commissioner

- (1) An entity must notify the Commissioner in writing if the *benchmark franking percentage for the entity for a *franking period (the current franking period) differs significantly from the benchmark franking percentage for the entity for the last franking period in which a *frankable distribution was made (the last relevant franking period).
- (2) An entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the current franking period differs significantly from its benchmark franking percentage for the last relevant franking period if it has increased or decreased by an amount that is greater than the amount worked out using the following formula:

- (3) The notice must also state:
  - (a) the *benchmark franking percentage for the current franking period; and
  - (b) the benchmark franking percentage for the last relevant franking period.
- (4) The notice must be in the *approved form and must be given to the Commissioner:
  - (a) if the entity is required to give the Commissioner a *franking return for the income year in which the current franking period occurs—with that return; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 204-80

---

- (b) otherwise—within one month after the end of the income year in which the current franking period occurs.

Note: See Subdivision 214-A for requirements to give the Commissioner franking returns.

204-80 Commissioner may require information where the Commissioner suspects streaming

- (1) If the *benchmark franking percentage for an entity for a *franking period (the current franking period) *differs significantly from the benchmark franking percentage for the entity for the last franking period in which a *frankable distribution was made (the last relevant franking period), the Commissioner may request the entity to give the Commissioner the following information:
  - (a) the entity's reasons for setting a benchmark franking percentage for the current franking period that differs significantly from the benchmark franking percentage for the last relevant franking period; and
  - (b) the *franking percentages for all *frankable distributions made in the current franking period and the last relevant franking period; and
  - (c) details of any other benefits given to the entity's *members, either by the entity or an *associate of the entity, during the period beginning at the beginning of the last relevant franking period and ending at the end of the current franking period; and
  - (d) whether any member of the entity has *derived, or will derive, a *greater benefit from franking credits than another member of the entity as a result of the variation in the benchmark franking percentage between the current franking period and the last relevant franking period; and
  - (e) any other information required by the *approved form that is relevant in determining whether the entity is streaming *distributions.
- (2) The entity must comply with the Commissioner's request.

Division 205—Franking accounts, franking deficit tax liabilities and the related tax offset

Guide to Division 205

205-1 What this Division is about

This Division:

- creates a franking account for each entity that is, or has been, a corporate tax entity; and
- identifies when franking credits and debits arise in those accounts and the amount of those credits and debits; and
- identifies when there is a franking surplus or deficit in the account; and
- creates a liability to pay franking deficit tax if the account is in deficit at certain times; and
- creates a tax offset for that liability.

Table of sections

205-5 Franking accounts, franking deficit tax liabilities and the related tax offset

Operative provisions

205-10 Each entity that is or has been a corporate tax entity has a franking account

205-15 Franking credits

205-20 Paying a PAYG instalment or income tax

205-25 Residency requirement for an event giving rise to a franking credit or franking debit

205-30 Franking debits

Section 205-5

---

205-50 Deferring franking deficit

205-70 Tax offset arising from franking deficit tax liabilities

205-5 Franking accounts, franking deficit tax liabilities and the related tax offset

- (1) Each entity that is, or has ever been, a corporate tax entity has a franking account.
- (2) The payment of a PAYG instalment or income tax will generate a franking credit in that account. The amount of the credit is equal to the amount of tax paid. The receipt of a franked distribution by an entity from another corporate tax entity will also generate a franking credit. There are other circumstances in which a franking credit arises.
- (3) The receipt of a refund of income tax or the payment of a franked distribution by a corporate tax entity will generate a franking debit. There are, however, other cases where a franking debit arises. For example, a franking debit might arise under a determination by the Commissioner because distributions have been streamed.
- (4) An entity must be a franking entity at certain times and satisfy certain residency requirements before a franking credit or debit arises in its account.
- (5) Franking deficit tax is payable if the franking account of an entity is in deficit at the end of the entity's income year, or when the entity ceases to be a franking entity.
- (6) A tax offset is available to an entity that has incurred a liability to pay franking deficit tax.

Operative provisions

205-10 Each entity that is or has been a corporate tax entity has a franking account

There is a franking account for each entity that is, or has at any time been, a *corporate tax entity.

---

Note: The balance in the franking account on 1 July 2002 will either be nil or, if the entity had a franking surplus or deficit immediately before 1 July 2002 under the imputation scheme existing at that time, an amount calculated under the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

205-15 Franking credits

- (1) The following table sets out when a credit arises in the *franking account of an entity and the amount of the credit. The credit is called a franking credit.

Credits in the franking account
Item	If:	A credit of:	Arises:
1	the entity *pays a PAYG instalment; and the entity satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year in relation to which the PAYG instalment is paid; and the entity is a *franking entity for the whole or part of the relevant *PAYG instalment period	that part of the payment that is attributable to the period during which the entity was a franking entity	on the day on which the payment is made
2	the entity *pays income tax; and the entity satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year for which the tax is paid; and the entity is a *franking entity for the whole or part of that income year	that part of the payment that is attributable to the period during which the entity was a franking entity	on the day on which the payment is made

Item	If:	A credit of:	Arises:
3	a *franked distribution is made to the entity; and the entity satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year in which the distribution is made; and the entity is a *franking entity when it receives the distribution; and the entity is entitled to a *tax offset because of the distribution under Division 207	the *franking credit on the distribution	on the day on which the distribution is made
4	a *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity through a partnership or the trustee of a trust; and the entity is a *franking entity when the franked distribution is made; and the entity is entitled to a *tax offset because of the distribution under Division 207	the entity's share of the *franking credit on the distribution	at the time specified in subsection (2)
5	the entity incurs a liability to pay *franking deficit tax under section 205-45 or 205-50	the amount of the liability	immediately after the liability is incurred

(2) A *franking credit covered by item 4 of the table arises at the end of the income year:

(a) that is an income year of the last partnership or trust interposed between:

(i) the entity; and

(ii) the *corporate tax entity that made the distribution; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) during which the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity.
- (3) Despite item 1 or 2 of the table in subsection (1), no credit arises on that part of the payment that is attributable to a payment of income tax in relation to either or both of the following:
  - (a) an *FHSA component;
  - (b) an *RSA component.

205-20 Paying a PAYG instalment or income tax

- (1) An entity pays a PAYG instalment if and only if:
  - (a) the entity has a liability to pay the instalment; and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) the entity makes a payment to satisfy the liability (in whole or in part); or
    - (ii) a credit, or an *RBA surplus, is applied to discharge or reduce the liability.

Note: The requirement in paragraph (a) means that the entity cannot generate franking credits by making a “voluntary” payment of income tax (that is, paying an amount on account of income tax for which the entity is not liable at the time when the payment is made).

- (2) If an entity:
  - (a) is liable to pay a *PAYG instalment; and
  - (b) has a *PAYG instalment variation credit;the PAYG instalment variation credit must be fully applied to reduce the liability for the PAYG instalment before any other credit or payment can be applied to reduce that liability.

- (3) An entity pays income tax if and only if:
  - (a) the entity has a liability to pay the income tax; and
  - (b) either:
    - (i) the entity makes a payment to satisfy the liability (in whole or in part); or
    - (ii) a credit, or an *RBA surplus, is applied to discharge or reduce the liability.

Note: The requirement in paragraph (a) means that the entity cannot generate franking credits by making a “voluntary” payment of income tax (that is, paying an amount on account of income tax for which the entity is not liable at the time when the payment is made).

- (4) Subparagraphs (1)(b)(ii) and (3)(b)(ii) do not apply to the application of a credit allowable under or by virtue of section 45-30 or 45-215 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (these sections deal with credits for *PAYG instalments payable and credit on using a varied rate in certain cases).
- (5) The amount of the *PAYG instalment or income tax paid is equal to:
  - (a) the amount of the liability, if it is satisfied in full; or
  - (b) the amount by which the liability is reduced, if it is not satisfied in full.
- (6) If:
  - (a) a surplus in an *RBA of an entity is applied to satisfy a liability of the entity to *pay a PAYG instalment in respect of an income year; and
  - (b) a credit allowable under section 45-30 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 in respect of that income year is included in the RBA; and
  - (c) the RBA does not include the liability to pay the *PAYG instalment; and
  - (d) the amount of the credit exceeds the income tax assessed to the entity in respect of that income year;the amount of the PAYG instalment paid by virtue of the application of the surplus is reduced by the amount of the excess mentioned in paragraph (d).

205-25 Residency requirement for an event giving rise to a franking credit or franking debit

- (1) An entity satisfies the residency requirement for an income year in which, or in relation to which, an event specified in a relevant table occurs if:
  - (a) the entity is a company, or a *corporate limited partnership, to which at least one of the following subparagraphs applies:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) the entity is an Australian resident for more than one half of the 12 months immediately preceding the event if the event occurs before the end of the income year;
  - (ii) the entity is an Australian resident at all times during the income year when the entity exists if the event occurs at or after the end of the income year;
  - (iii) the entity is an Australian resident for more than one half of the income year (whether or not the event occurs before the end of the income year); or
  - (b) the entity is a *corporate unit trust for the income year; or
  - (c) the entity is a *public trading trust for the income year.
- (2) The tables in sections 205-15 and 205-30 are relevant for the purposes of subsection (1).

205-30 Franking debits

- (1) The following table sets out when a debit arises in the *franking account of an entity and the amount of the debit. The debit is called a franking debit.

Debits in the franking account
Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises:
1	the entity *franks a *distribution	the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution	on the day on which the distribution is made
2	the entity *receives a refund of income tax; and the entity satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year to which the refund relates; and the entity was a *franking entity during the whole or part of the income year to which the refund relates	that part of the refund that is attributable to the period during which the entity was a franking entity	on the day on which the refund is received

Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises:
3	a *franking debit arises for the entity under paragraph 203-50(1)(b) (the entity *franks a *distribution in contravention of the *benchmark rule)	the franking debit worked out under paragraph 203-50(2)(b)	on the day specified in subsection 203-50(4)
4	the entity ceases to be a *franking entity; and the entity's *franking account is in *surplus immediately before ceasing to be a franking entity	the amount of the *franking surplus	on the day on which the entity ceases to be a franking entity
5	a *franking debit arises for the entity under section 204-15 (linked distributions)	the franking debit specified in subsection 204-15(3)	on the day specified in subsection 204-15(4)
6	a *franking debit arises under section 204-25 (debit for substituting *tax-exempt bonus shares for *franked distributions)	the amount of the debit specified in subsection 204-25(2)	on the day specified in subsection 204-25(3)
7	the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(a) giving rise to a *franking debit for the entity (streaming distributions)	the amount of the debit specified in the determination	on the day specified in section 204-35
7A	a *franking debit arises under subsection 197-45(1) because an amount to which Division 197 applies is transferred to a company's *share capital account	the amount of the debit specified in subsection 197-45(2)	at the time provided by subsection 197-45(1)

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Debits in the franking account

Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises:
7B	a *franking debit arises under subsection 197-65(2) because a company chooses to untaint its *share capital account	the amount of the debit specified in subsection 197-65(3)	at the time provided by subsection 197-65(2)
9	an *on-market buy-back by a company of a *membership interest in the company	an amount equal to the debit that would have arisen if: (a) the purchase of the interest were a *frankable distribution equal to the one that would have arisen if the company had purchased the interest *off-market; and (b) the distribution were *franked at the entity's *benchmark franking percentage for the *franking period in which the purchase was made or, if the entity does not have a benchmark franking percentage for the period, at a *franking percentage of 100%	on the day on which the interest is purchased

Note: For completeness, the table refers to some franking debits that arise under other sections of the Act. This does not mean that separate franking debits arise both under the relevant section and this table.

- (2) Despite item 2 of the table in subsection (1), no debit arises on that part of the refund that is attributable to a payment of income tax in relation to either or both of the following:
- an *FHSA component;
  - an *RSA component.

205-35 Refund of income tax

- (1) An entity receives a refund of income tax if and only if:
  - (a) either:
    - (i) the entity receives an amount as a refund; or
    - (ii) the Commissioner applies a credit, or an *RBA surplus, against a liability or liabilities of the entity; and
  - (b) the refund of the amount, or the application of the credit, represents in whole or in part a return to the entity of an amount paid or applied to satisfy the entity's liability to pay income tax.
- (2) The amount of the refund is so much of the amount refunded or applied as represents the return referred to in paragraph (1)(b).

205-40 Franking surplus and deficit

- (1) An entity's *franking account is in surplus at a particular time if, at that time, the sum of the *franking credits in the account exceeds the sum of the *franking debits in the account. The amount of the franking surplus is the amount of the excess.
- (2) An entity's *franking account is in deficit at a particular time if, at that time, the sum of the *franking debits in the account exceeds the sum of the *franking credits in the account. The amount of the franking deficit is the amount of the excess.

205-45 Franking deficit tax

Object

- (1) While recognising that an entity may anticipate *franking credits when *franking *distributions, the object of this section is to prevent those credits from being anticipated indefinitely by requiring the entity to reconcile its *franking account at certain times and levying tax if the account is in *deficit.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Franking deficit at end of income year

- (2) An entity is liable to pay franking deficit tax imposed by the New Business Tax System (Franking Deficit Tax) Act 2002 if its *franking account is in *deficit at the end of an income year.

Corporate tax entity ceases to be a franking entity

- (3) An entity is liable to pay *franking deficit tax imposed by the New Business Tax System (Franking Deficit Tax) Act 2002 if:
- (a) it ceases to be a *franking entity; and
  - (b) immediately before it ceases to be a franking entity, its *franking account is in *deficit.

Note: The tax is imposed in the New Business Tax System (Franking Deficit Tax) Act 2002 and the amount of the tax is set out in that Act.

205-50 Deferring franking deficitObject*

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that an entity does not avoid *franking deficit tax by deferring the time at which a *franking debit occurs in its *franking account.

End of year deficit deferred

- (2) An entity is taken to have *received a refund of income tax for an income year immediately before the end of that year for the purposes of subsection 205-45(2) if:
- (a) the refund is paid within 3 months after the end of that year; and
  - (b) the *franking account of the entity would have been in *deficit, or in deficit to a greater extent, at the end of that year if the refund had been received in that year.

Deficit on ceasing to be a franking entity deferred

- (3) If an entity ceases to be a *franking entity during an income year, the entity is taken to have *received a refund of income tax immediately before it ceased to be a franking entity for the purposes of subsection 205-45(3) if:

- (a) the refund is attributable to a period in the year during which the entity was a franking entity; and
- (b) the refund is paid within 3 months after the entity ceases to be a franking entity; and
- (c) the *franking account of the entity would have been in *deficit, or in deficit to a greater extent, immediately before it ceased to be a franking entity if the refund had been received before it ceased to be a franking entity.

205-70 Tax offset arising from franking deficit tax liabilities

When does the tax offset arise?

- (1) A *corporate tax entity is entitled to a *tax offset for an income year for which it satisfies the *residency requirement (the relevant year) if at least one of the following applies:
  - (a) the entity has incurred a liability to pay *franking deficit tax in the relevant year;
  - (b) the entity incurred such a liability in a previous income year for which it did not satisfy the residency requirement, and that liability has not been taken into account in working out a tax offset under this section;
  - (c) when the entity was last entitled to a tax offset under this section for a previous income year, some of the offset remained after applying section 63-10 (tax offset priority rules).

The amount of the tax offset

- (2) Work out the amount of the *tax offset for the relevant year as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the total amount of *franking deficit tax that is covered by paragraph (1)(a).

---

Then, subject to subsections (5) and (6), reduce so much of it as is attributable to *franking debits to which subsection (8) applies by 30% if that part exceeds 10% of the total amount of *franking credits that arose in the entity's *franking account for the relevant year.

Step 2. Work out the total amount of *franking deficit tax that is covered by paragraph (1)(b) for a previous income year.

Then, subject to subsections (5) and (6), reduce so much of it as is attributable to *franking debits to which subsection (8) applies by 30% if that part exceeds 10% of the total amount of *franking credits that arose in the entity's *franking account for that previous income year.

Step 3. Add up the results of step 2 for all the previous income years covered by paragraph (1)(b).

Step 4. Work out the remaining amount of a *tax offset covered by paragraph (1)(c).

Step 5. Add up the results of steps 1, 3 and 4. The result is the *tax offset to which the entity is entitled under this section for the relevant year.

Note: This method statement is modified for certain late balancing entities: see section 205-70 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

Example: The following apply to a corporate tax entity that satisfies the residency requirement for an income year:

- the entity's income tax liability for that year would be $100,000 if its tax offsets were disregarded;
- for that year, the entity has a tax offset of $60,000 under this section (the franking deficit offset) and a tax offset of $80,000 in respect of foreign income tax paid by the entity (the foreign income tax offset).

Under section 63-10 (about tax offset priority rules), the foreign income tax offset must be applied before the franking deficit offset is applied. As a result, that offset and $20,000 of the franking deficit offset combine to reduce the entity's income tax liability to nil. The remaining $40,000 of the franking deficit offset will be included in a franking deficit offset for the next income year for which the entity satisfies the residency requirement.

---

Residency requirement

- (4) To determine whether the entity satisfies the *residency requirement for the relevant year, section 205-25 has effect as if each of the following were an event specified in a relevant table for the purposes of that section:
- (a) the entity incurring a liability to pay *franking deficit tax in the relevant year;
  - (b) the assessment of the entity's income tax liability for the relevant year that is made on the *assessment day for that year.

30% reduction will generally not apply to private company's first year of tax liability

- (5) The 30% reductions in steps 1 and 2 of the method statement in subsection (2) do not apply in working out the amount of the *tax offset to which the entity is entitled for the relevant year if:
- (a) the entity is a *private company for the relevant year; and
  - (b) if the company did not have the tax offset (but had all its other tax offsets) it would have had an income tax liability for the relevant year; and
  - (c) the company has not had an income tax liability for any income year before the relevant year; and
  - (d) the amount of the liability referred to in paragraph (b) is at least 90% of the amount of the *deficit in the company's *franking account at the end of the relevant year.

Commissioner's discretion

- (6) The 30% reductions in steps 1 and 2 of the method statement in subsection (2) do not apply in working out the amount of the *tax offset to which the entity is entitled for the relevant year if the Commissioner determines in writing, on application by the entity in the *approved form, that the excess referred to in those steps was due to events outside the control of the entity.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (7) A determination under subsection (6) is not a legislative instrument.

Applicable franking debits

- (8) This subsection applies to *franking debits in the *franking account of an entity:
- (a) that arise under table item 1, 3, 5 or 6 in section 205-30 for an income year; and
  - (b) if the entity has franking debits covered by paragraph (a) for that income year—that arise under table item 2 in that section for that income year.

Division 207—Effect of receiving a franked distribution

Table of Subdivisions

207-A	Effect of receiving a franked distribution generally
207-B	Franked distribution received through certain partnerships and trustees
207-C	Residency requirements for the general rule
207-D	No gross-up or tax offset where distribution would not be taxed
207-E	Exceptions to the rules in Subdivision 207-D
207-F	No gross-up or tax offset where the imputation system has been manipulated

Guide to Division 207

Table of sections

207-5	Overview
-------	----------

207-5 Overview

- (1) If a corporate tax entity makes a franked distribution to one of its members, then, as a general rule:
  - (a) an amount equal to the franking credit on the distribution is included in the member's assessable income; and
  - (b) the member is entitled to a tax offset equal to the same amount.
- (2) In some cases a residency requirement must be satisfied for the general rule to apply.
- (3) If a franked distribution is made to a member that is a partnership or the trustee of a trust, an amount equal to the franking credit on the distribution is also included in the member's assessable income as mentioned in paragraph (1)(a).

---

- (4) However, a tax offset in relation to that distribution is only available to an entity (who may be a partner, beneficiary or a trustee) if the distribution flows indirectly to it and does not flow indirectly through it to another entity. The tax offset is equal to its share of the franking credit on the distribution.

Note: That share is a notional amount and the entity can have that share without actually receiving any of that franking credit or distribution.

- (5) There are exceptions to both the general rule mentioned in subsection (1) and the special rule mentioned in subsection (4). Basically, these exceptions are created:
- (a) where the relevant entity would not have paid tax on the distribution or a share of the distribution (see Subdivisions 207-D and 207-E); and
  - (b) where there is a manipulation of the imputation system in a manner that is not permitted under the income tax law (see Subdivision 207-F).

Subdivision 207-A—Effect of receiving a franked distribution generally

Guide to Subdivision 207-A

207-10 What this Subdivision is about

As a general rule, if a member of an entity receives a franked distribution:

- an amount equal to the franking credit on the distribution is included in the member's assessable income; and
- the member is entitled to a tax offset equal to the franking credit on the distribution.

207-20 General rule—gross-up and tax offset

Operative provisions

207-15 Applying the general rule

- (1) This Subdivision sets out, as a general rule, the tax effect of receiving a *franked distribution.
- (2) This Subdivision does not apply to:
  - (a) a partnership or trustee to whom a *franked distribution is made (except a partnership or trustee that is a *corporate tax entity, or a trustee of a trust that is a *complying superannuation entity or *FHSA trust, when the distribution is made); or
  - (b) an entity to whom a franked distribution *flows indirectly.

Note: Subject to the other provisions in this Division, Subdivision 207-B applies to an entity excluded from the application of this Subdivision because of this subsection.

- (3) This Subdivision applies subject to Subdivisions 207-C, 207-D, 207-E and 207-F.

Note 1: Subdivision 207-C sets out the residency requirements that must be satisfied by an individual or a corporate tax entity that receives a franked distribution.

Note 2: Subdivision 207-D sets out the cases in which the gross-up and tax offset rules in this Subdivision and Subdivision 207-B will not apply because the franked distribution (or a share of it) would not have been taxed in any case.

Note 3: Subdivision 207-E sets out the exceptions to the rules in Subdivision 207-D.

Note 4: Subdivision 207-F sets out the cases in which the gross-up and tax offset rules in this Subdivision and Subdivision 207-B will not apply because the imputation system has been manipulated in a way that is not permitted under the income tax law.

207-20 General rule—gross-up and tax offset

- (1) If an entity makes a *franked distribution to another entity, the assessable income of the receiving entity, for the income year in which the distribution is made, includes the amount of the

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

*franking credit on the distribution. This is in addition to any other amount included in the receiving entity's assessable income in relation to the distribution under any other provision of this Act.

- (2) The receiving entity is entitled to a *tax offset for the income year in which the distribution is made. The tax offset is equal to the *franking credit on the distribution.

Subdivision 207-B—Franked distribution received through certain partnerships and trustees

Guide to Subdivision 207-B

207-25 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision deals with an entity that receives a benefit of a franked distribution where:

- (a) the distribution is made to a partnership or the trustee of a trust; and
- (b) the benefit is received either directly or through other interposed partnerships or trusts.

The distribution is regarded as flowing indirectly to the entity under this Subdivision.

On the basis of a notional amount of the entity's share of the distribution, the entity may be entitled to have an amount included in its assessable income and/or a tax offset under this Subdivision.

Table of sections

Gross-up and tax offset

207-30	Applying this Subdivision
207-35	Gross-up—distribution made to, or flows indirectly through, a partnership or trustee
207-45	Tax offset—distribution flows indirectly to an entity

Key concepts

207-50 When a franked distribution flows indirectly to or through an entity

207-55 Share of a franked distribution

207-57 Share of the franking credit on a franked distribution

Gross-up and tax offset

207-30 Applying this Subdivision

This Subdivision applies subject to Subdivisions 207-D, 207-E and 207-F.

Note 1: Subdivision 207-D sets out the cases in which the gross-up and tax offset rules in this Subdivision and Subdivision 207-A will not apply because the franked distribution (or a share of it) would not have been taxed in any case.

Note 2: Subdivision 207-E sets out the exceptions to the rules in Subdivision 207-D.

Note 3: Subdivision 207-F sets out the cases in which the gross-up and tax offset rules in this Subdivision and Subdivision 207-A will not apply because the imputation system has been manipulated in a way that is not permitted under the income tax law.

207-35 Gross-up—distribution made to, or flows indirectly through, a partnership or trustee

Additional amount of assessable income

(1) If:

- (a) a *franked distribution is made in an income year to an entity that is a partnership or the trustee of a trust; and
- (b) the entity is not a *corporate tax entity when the distribution is made; and
- (c) if the entity is the trustee of a trust—the trust is not a *complying superannuation entity or *FHSA trust when the distribution is made;

the assessable income of the partnership or trust for that income year includes the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution.

---

- (2) The amount is in addition to any other amount included in that assessable income in relation to the distribution under any other provision of this Act.

Note: The amount will affect the income tax liability of a partner in the partnership, or a beneficiary or the trustee of the trust: see Divisions 5 and 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Allocation of the additional amount of assessable income

- (3) Despite any provisions in Divisions 5 and 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, if:
- (a) a *franked distribution is made, or *flows indirectly, to a partnership or the trustee of a trust in an income year; and
  - (b) the assessable income of the partnership or trust for that year includes an amount (the franking credit amount) that is all or a part of the additional amount of assessable income included under subsection (1) in relation to the distribution; and
  - (c) the distribution flows indirectly to an entity that is a partner in the partnership, or a beneficiary or that trustee of the trust; and
  - (d) the entity has an amount of assessable income for that year that is attributable to all or a part of the distribution;

then, the entity's assessable income for that year also includes so much of the franking credit amount as is equal to its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Example: A franked distribution of $70 is made to the trustee of a trust in an income year. The trust also has $100 of assessable income from other sources. Under subsection (1), the trust's assessable income includes an additional amount of $30 (which is the franking credit on the distribution). The trust has a net income of $200 for that income year.

There are 2 beneficiaries of the trust, P and Q, who are presently entitled to the trust's income. Under the trust deed, P is entitled to all of the franked distribution and Q is entitled to all other income.

The distribution flows indirectly to P (as P is entitled to a share of that net income and has a 100% share of the distribution under section 207-55). P therefore has an amount of assessable income that is equal to its share of the distribution. Under this subsection, P's assessable income also includes the full amount of the franking credit (as P's share of the franking credit on the distribution is $30 under section 207-57). Q's share of the net income therefore does not include any of the franking credit.

---

207-45 Tax offset—distribution flows indirectly to an entity

An entity to whom a *franked distribution *flows indirectly in an income year is entitled to a *tax offset for that income year that is equal to its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution, if it is:

- (a) an individual; or
- (b) a *corporate tax entity when the distribution flows indirectly to it; or
- (c) the trustee of a trust that is liable to be assessed on a share of, or all or a part of, the trust's *net income under section 98, 99 or 99A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 for that income year; or
- (ca) the trustee of an *FHSA trust; or
- (d) the trustee of a *complying superannuation fund, a *non-complying superannuation fund, a *complying approved deposit fund, a *non-complying approved deposit fund or a *pooled superannuation trust in relation to that income year.

Note: The entities covered by this section are the ultimate recipients of the distribution because the distribution does not flow indirectly through them to other entities. As a result they are also the ultimate taxpayers in respect of the distribution and are given the tax offset to acknowledge the income tax that has already been paid on the profits underlying the distribution.

Key concepts

207-50 When a franked distribution flows indirectly to or through an entity

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, this section sets out the only circumstances in which a *franked distribution:
  - (a) flows indirectly to an entity (subsection (2), (3) or (4)); or
  - (b) flows indirectly through an entity (subsection (5)).

Partners

- (2) A *franked distribution flows indirectly to a partner in a partnership in an income year if, and only if:
  - (a) during that income year, the distribution is made to the partnership, or *flows indirectly to the partnership as a

---

beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (3); and

- (b) the partner has an individual interest:
  - (i) in the partnership's *net income for that income year that is covered by paragraph 92(1)(a) or (b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
  - (ii) in a *partnership loss of the partnership for that income year that is covered by paragraph 92(2)(a) or (b) of that Act;(whether or not that individual interest becomes assessable income in the hands of the partner); and
- (c) the partner's *share of the distribution under section 207-55 is a positive amount (whether or not the partner actually receives any of that share).

Beneficiaries

- (3) A *franked distribution flows indirectly to a beneficiary of a trust in an income year if, and only if:
  - (a) during that income year, the distribution is made to the trustee of the trust, or *flows indirectly to the trustee as a partner or beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (2) or this subsection; and
  - (b) the beneficiary has this amount for that income year (the share amount):
    - (i) a share of the trust's *net income for that income year that is covered by paragraph 97(1)(a) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
    - (ii) an individual interest in the trust's net income for that income year that is covered by section 98A or 100 of that Act;(whether or not the share amount becomes assessable income in the hands of the beneficiary); and
  - (c) the beneficiary's *share of the distribution under section 207-55 is a positive amount (whether or not the beneficiary actually receives any of that share).

---

---

Section 207-50

---

Trustees

- (4) A *franked distribution flows indirectly to the trustee of a trust in an income year if, and only if:
- (a) during that income year, the distribution is made to the trustee, or *flows indirectly to the trustee as a partner or beneficiary because of a previous application of subsection (2) or (3); and
  - (b) the trustee is liable or, but for another provision in this Act, would be liable, to be assessed in respect of an amount (the share amount) that is:
    - (i) a share of the trust's *net income for that income year under section 98 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; or
    - (ii) all or a part of the trust's net income for that income year under section 99 or 99A of that Act;(whether or not the share amount becomes assessable income in the hands of the trustee); and
  - (c) the trustee's *share of the distribution under section 207-55 is a positive amount (whether or not the trustee actually receives any of that share).

Note: A trustee to whom a franked distribution flows indirectly under this subsection is entitled to a tax offset under section 207-45 and the distribution does not flow indirectly through the trustee to another entity.

- (5) A *franked distribution flows indirectly through an entity (the first entity) to another entity if, and only if:
- (a) the other entity is the focal entity in an item of the table in section 207-55 in relation to the distribution; and
  - (b) that focal entity's *share of the distribution is based on the first entity's share of the distribution as an intermediary entity in that or another item of the table.

Example: A franked distribution of $140 is made to a partnership. An amount equal to the franking credit on the distribution ($60) is included in the partnership's assessable income under section 207-35. Because the partnership has losses of $300 from other sources, it has a partnership loss of $100 for the income year.

The partnership has 2 equal partners. One partner is the trustee of a trust and the other partner is an individual. The distribution flows indirectly to each partner under subsection (2). Each partner has a share of the partnership loss ($50), a share of the distribution under sections 207-55 ($70) and a share of the franking credit under section 207-57 ($30).

---

The individual partner is allowed a tax offset of $30 under section 207-45.

Because the trust has $100 of income from other sources, it has a net income of $50 for that income year ($100 minus the share of the partnership loss of $50).

The trust has one individual as a beneficiary, to whom the distribution flows indirectly under subsection (3). The beneficiary's share of the franked distribution is $70 under sections 207-55 and its share of the franking credit is $30 under section 207-57. The beneficiary is therefore allowed a tax offset of $30 under section 207-45.

207-55 Share of a franked distribution

Object of section

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that:
  - (a) the amount of a *franked distribution made to a partnership or the trustee of a trust is allocated notionally amongst entities who *derive benefits from that distribution; and
  - (b) that allocation corresponds with the way in which those benefits were derived.
- (2) An entity's share of a *franked distribution is an amount notionally allocated to the entity as its share of the distribution, whether or not the entity actually receives any of that distribution.
- (3) That amount is equal to the entity's share of the distribution as the focal entity in column 3 of an item of the table.

Note: An entity can derive a benefit from the distribution (and therefore has a share of the distribution) without actually receiving any of the distribution: see subsection (2) of this section and the example at the end of section 207-50.

Note: An entity's share of the distribution is based on the share of the distribution of each preceding intermediary entity through which the distribution flows, starting from the intermediary entity to whom the distribution is made.

This means that in some cases (see items 2 and 4), more than one item of the table will need to be applied to work out the share of the distribution of an ultimate recipient of the distribution.

207-57 Share of the franking credit on a franked distribution

- (1) An entity's share of a *franking credit on a *franked distribution is an amount notionally allocated to the entity as its share of that credit, whether or not the entity actually receives any of that credit or distribution.
- (2) Work out that amount as follows:

$$\text{Amount of the *franking credit on the *franked distribution} \times \frac{\text{Entity's *share of the *franked distribution}}{\text{Amount of the *franked distribution}}$$

207-60 What this Subdivision is about

Some recipients of a franked distribution must satisfy a residency requirement if their assessable income is to include the franking credit on the distribution, and they are to be entitled to a tax offset, under the general rule.

207-65 Satisfying the residency requirement

- (1) This Subdivision sets out the residency requirements that must be satisfied by an individual or a corporate tax entity that receives a franked distribution, if the franking credit on the distribution is to be included in that entity's assessable income, or the entity is to be entitled to a tax offset, under the general rule.
- (2) It does not impose a residency requirement on other entities, because the significance of residency for those entities is dealt with elsewhere in this Act.
- (3) It does not impose a residency requirement where a distribution flows indirectly to an entity. This is also because the significance of residency is dealt with elsewhere, for the most part in Divisions 5 and 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Operative provisions

207-70 Gross-up and tax offset under section 207-20

If an entity makes a *franked distribution to an individual or a *corporate tax entity:

- (a) no amount is included in the receiving entity's assessable income under subsection 207-20(1); and
- (b) the receiving entity is not entitled to a *tax offset under subsection 207-20(2); unless the receiving entity satisfies the *residency requirement at the time the distribution is made.

207-75 Residency requirement

- (1) An entity that receives a *distribution satisfies the residency requirement at the time the distribution is made if:
  - (a) in the case of an individual—the individual is an Australian resident at that time; and
  - (b) in the case of a company—the company is an Australian resident at that time; and

- (c) in the case of a *corporate limited partnership—the corporate limited partnership is an Australian resident at that time; and
  - (d) in the case of a *corporate unit trust—the corporate unit trust is a *resident unit trust for the income year in which that time occurs; and
  - (e) in the case of a *public trading trust—the public trading trust is a resident unit trust for the income year in which that time occurs.
- (2) An entity that receives a *distribution also satisfies the residency requirement at the time the distribution is made if the entity at that time:
- (a) is a company or an individual; and
  - (b) is a foreign resident; and
  - (c) carries on business in Australia at or through a permanent establishment of the entity in Australia, being a permanent establishment within the meaning of:
    - (i) a double tax agreement (as defined in Part X of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936) that relates to a foreign country and affects the entity; or
    - (ii) subsection 6(1) of that Act, if there is no such agreement;and the distribution is attributable to the permanent establishment.

Subdivision 207-D—No gross-up or tax offset where distribution would not be taxed

Guide to Subdivision 207-D

207-80 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision creates the appropriate adjustment to cancel the effect of the gross-up and tax offset rules where a franked distribution (or a share of it) is, or would be, exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income in the relevant entity's hands (and therefore would not be taxed in any case).

Operative provisions

207-85 Applying this Subdivision

This Subdivision applies subject to Subdivisions 207-E and 207-F.

Note 1: Subdivision 207-E sets out exceptions to the rules in this Subdivision.

Note 2: Where both this Subdivision and Subdivision 207-F apply to an entity, the application of this Subdivision is subject to the rules in Subdivision 207-F: see subsections 207-145(3) and 207-150(7) and (8).

207-90 Distribution that is made to an entity

Whole of distribution not assessable

- (1) If:
- (a) a *franked distribution is made to an entity; and
  - (b) the distribution does not *flow indirectly through the entity to another entity; and
  - (c) the distribution is *exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income in the hands of the entity;
- then, for the purposes of this Act:
- (d) the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution is not included in the assessable income of the entity under section 207-20; and
  - (e) the entity is not entitled to a *tax offset under this Division because of the distribution.

Part of distribution not assessable

- (2) If:
- (a) a *franked distribution is made to an entity; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 207-95

---

- (b) the distribution does not *flow indirectly through the entity to another entity; and
- (c) a part of the distribution (the relevant part) is *exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income in the hands of the entity;

then, for the purposes of this Act:

- (d) the amount of the distribution is taken to have been reduced by the relevant part; and
- (e) the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution is to be worked out as follows:

207-95 Distribution that flows indirectly to an entity

Whole of share of distribution not assessable

- (1) If:
  - (a) a *franked distribution *flows indirectly to an entity in an income year; and
  - (b) the entity's *share of the distribution would, in its hands, be *exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income (whether or not it had actually received that share);

then, for the purposes of this Act:

- (c) subsection (2), (3) or (4) (as appropriate) applies to the entity in relation to that income year; and
- (d) the entity is not entitled to a *tax offset under this Division because of the distribution; and
- (e) if the distribution flows indirectly through the entity to another entity—subsection 207-35(3) and section 207-45 do not apply to that other entity.

Note: This section can therefore apply, for example, where the entity is a partner in a partnership that has a partnership loss and the entity does not actually receive any of the distribution.

---

Partner

- (2) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as a partner in a partnership under subsection 207-50(2), the entity can deduct an amount for that income year that is equal to its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Beneficiary

- (3) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as a beneficiary of a trust under subsection 207-50(3), the entity can deduct an amount for that income year that is equal to the lesser of:
- (a) its share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection; and
  - (b) its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Trustee

- (4) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as the trustee of a trust under subsection 207-50(4), the entity's share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection is to be reduced by the lesser of:
- (a) that share amount; and
  - (b) its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Example: A franked distribution of $70 is made to a partnership.

Under section 207-35, an additional amount of $30 is included in the partnership's assessable income because of the distribution.

The partnership has 2 equal partners, X and Y. X is a foreign resident individual whose share of partnership's net income for the income year is $50 (share of distribution of $35 and share of franking credit of $15). That share of distribution is not assessable income and not exempt income under section 128D of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

X's assessable income of $15 (share of franking credit) is reduced to nil because of the deduction of $15 under subsection (2). Because of subsection (1), X is not entitled to a tax offset under section 207-45.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Part of share of distribution not assessable

(5) If:

- (a) a *franked distribution *flows indirectly to an entity in an income year; and
- (b) a part of the entity's *share of the distribution (the relevant part) would, in its hands, be *exempt income or *non-assessable non-exempt income (whether or not it had actually received that part);

then, subsection (2), (3) or (4) (as appropriate) applies to the entity on the basis that the amount of its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution is worked out as follows:

(6) In addition, the following apply to an entity covered by subsection (5):

- (a) if the distribution would otherwise *flow indirectly through the entity—the entity's *share of the distribution for the purposes of this Act (other than subsection (2), (3) or (4)) is to be reduced by the relevant part mentioned in subsection (5);
- (b) if the entity would otherwise be entitled to a *tax offset under this Subdivision because of the distribution—the amount of the tax offset is to be worked out as follows:

$$\frac{\text{Entity's *share of the *franking credit on the *franked distribution apart from this section}}{\text{Amount worked out under subsection (5)}}$$

Operative provisions

207-110 Effect of non-assessable income on gross up and tax offset

- (1) This section applies to an entity to whom a *franked distribution is made, or *flows indirectly, in any of the following circumstances:
  - (a) the entity is an *exempt institution that is eligible for a refund and the distribution does not flow indirectly to the entity as a partner in a partnership under subsection 207-50(2);
  - (b) the distribution is, or the entity's *share of the distribution would have been, this kind of income in its hands:
    - (i) *exempt income under section 295-385 (about income from assets set aside to meet current pension liabilities), section 295-390 (about income from other assets used to meet current pension liabilities) or section 295-400 (about income of a PST attributable to current pension liabilities); or
    - (ii) *non-assessable non-exempt income under paragraph 320-37(1)(a) (segregated exempt assets of a life insurance company) or paragraph 320-37(1)(d) (certain amounts received by a friendly society) of this Act.
- (2) The following have effect in relation to the entity:
  - (a) section 207-90 or 207-95 (as appropriate) does not apply to the entity;
  - (b) if the entity would, apart from section 207-90 or 207-95, be entitled to a *tax offset under section 207-20 or 207-45 in relation to the distribution—the entity is entitled to that tax offset;
  - (c) if the entity would not be entitled to such a tax offset, the entity is entitled to a tax offset under this section that is equal to:
    - (i) if the distribution is made to the entity—the *franking credit on the distribution; or
    - (ii) if the distribution *flows indirectly to the entity—the entity's *share of the franking credit on the distribution;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) if the distribution flows indirectly through the entity to another entity—subsection 207-35(3) and section 207-45 do not apply to that other entity.

Note: Paragraph (2)(c) only applies to an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund and that is not entitled to a tax offset under section 207-20 or 207-45. An entity covered by paragraph (1)(b) will, in all cases, be entitled to a tax offset under section 207-20 or 207-45.

Exempt institutions

207-115 Which exempt institutions are eligible for a refund?

- (1) This section sets out the only circumstances in which an entity is an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund.

Income tax exempt charitable or other institutions

- (2) An entity is an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund if it:
- (a) is covered by item 1.1, 1.5, 1.5A or 1.5B of the table in section 50-5 or item 4.1 of the table in section 50-20; and
  - (b) is endorsed as exempt from income tax under Subdivision 50-B; and
  - (c) satisfies the *residency requirement.

Income tax exempt deductible gift recipients

- (a) is endorsed under paragraph 30-120(a); and
  - (b) satisfies the *residency requirement.

Income tax exempt specified deductible gift recipients

- (4) An entity is an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund if:
- (a) the entity's name is specified in a table in a section in Subdivision 30-B; and
  - (b) it has an ABN; and
  - (c) it satisfies the *residency requirement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 207-117

---

Income tax exempt relief funds

- (5) An entity is an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund if:
- (a) a declaration by the Treasurer is in force in relation to the institution under subsection 30-85(2); and
  - (b) the regulations do not provide that the entity is not an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund.

Prescribed income tax exempt entities

- (6) An entity is an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund if the entity is prescribed as an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund by the regulations.
- (7) This section has effect subject to sections 207-119 to 207-136.

207-117 Residency requirement

An entity satisfies the residency requirement for the purposes of determining whether, at the time a *franked distribution is made, the entity is an *exempt institution that is eligible for a refund if:

- (a) the entity has a physical presence in Australia; and
- (b) to that extent, incurs its expenditure and pursues its objectives principally in Australia;

at all times during the income year in which the distribution is made.

207-119 Entity not treated as exempt institution eligible for refund in certain circumstances

For the purposes of this Act:

- (a) an entity must not be treated as an *exempt institution that is eligible for a refund in relation to a *franked distribution if section 207-120, 207-122 or 207-124 applies to the entity in relation to the distribution; and
- (b) a beneficiary of a trust must not be treated as an exempt institution that is eligible for a refund in relation to a franked distribution made in an income year if section 207-126 applies to the beneficiary in relation to that income year.

---

207-120 Entity may be ineligible because of a distribution event

- (1) This section applies to an entity (the ineligible entity) if:
  - (a) a *franked distribution is made, or *flows indirectly under subsection 207-50(3) or (4), to the entity; and
  - (b) subsection (2) of this section applies because of a *distribution event in relation to the distribution.

- (2) Subject to subsection (3) and to section 207-128, this subsection applies if, because of a *distribution event in relation to the *franked distribution:
  - (a) the ineligible entity or another entity:
    - (i) makes, becomes liable to make, or may reasonably be expected to make or to become liable to make, a payment to any entity; or
    - (ii) transfers, becomes liable to transfer, or may reasonably be expected to transfer or to become liable to transfer, any property to any entity; or
    - (iii) incurs, becomes liable to incur, or may reasonably be expected to incur or to become liable to incur, any other detriment, disadvantage, liability or obligation; or
  - (b) if the distribution is made to the ineligible entity—the amount or value of the benefit *derived by the ineligible entity from the distribution is, will be, or may reasonably be expected to be, less than the amount or value of the distribution as at the time the distribution is made; or
  - (c) if the distribution *flows indirectly to the ineligible entity—the amount or value of the benefit derived by the ineligible entity from the ineligible entity's *trust share amount in relation to the distribution is, will be, or may reasonably be expected to be, less than the amount or value of the ineligible entity's trust share amount in relation to the distribution as at the time when that amount arises; or
  - (d) any of the following entities has obtained, will obtain or may reasonably be expected to obtain, a benefit, advantage, right or privilege:
    - (i) the entity making the distribution;
    - (ii) an entity through which the distribution flows indirectly to the ineligible entity;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 207-122

---

(iii) an *associate of any of those entities.

Note: For when paragraph (d) is satisfied, see also subsection 207-132(2).

Exception to paragraph (2)(b) or (c)

- (3) Paragraph (2)(b) or (c) does not apply if:
- (a) that paragraph would otherwise apply only because of expenses the ineligible entity has incurred, will incur, or may reasonably be expected to incur, for the purpose of obtaining the *franked distribution or *trust share amount mentioned in that paragraph; and
  - (b) the Commissioner considers the expenses to be reasonable.

Trust share amount

- (4) An entity's trust share amount in relation to a *franked distribution that *flows indirectly to the entity under subsection 207-50(3) or (4) is the entity's share amount that is mentioned in that subsection.

Distribution event

- (5) A distribution event in relation to a *franked distribution is an act, transaction or circumstance that has happened, will happen, or may reasonably be expected to happen, as part of, in relation to or as a result of:
- (a) the payment or receipt of the distribution; or
  - (b) if the distribution *flows indirectly to an entity under subsection 207-50(3) or (4)—the arising of, or the distribution or receipt of, the entity's *trust share amount in relation to the distribution; or
  - (c) an *arrangement entered into in association with a matter mentioned in paragraph (a) or (b).

207-122 Entity may be ineligible if distribution is in the form of property other than money

This section applies to an entity (the ineligible entity) to whom a *franked distribution is made, or *flows indirectly under subsection 207-50(3) or (4), if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) one of the following is in the form of property other than money:
  - (i) if the distribution is made to the ineligible entity—all or part of the distribution;
  - (ii) if the distribution flows indirectly to the ineligible entity through the trustee of a trust under subsection 207-50(3) or (4)—all or a part of a distribution (the trust distribution) made by the trustee of the trust that relates to the ineligible entity's *trust share amount in relation to the franked distribution; and
- (b) the terms and conditions on which the franked distribution or trust distribution is made are such that the ineligible entity:
  - (i) does not receive immediate custody and control of the property; or
  - (ii) does not have the unconditional right to retain custody and control of the property in perpetuity; or
  - (iii) does not obtain an immediate, indefeasible and unencumbered legal and equitable title to the property.

207-124 Entity may be ineligible if other money or property also acquired

Subject to section 207-128, this section applies to an entity (the ineligible entity) to whom a *franked distribution is made, or *flows indirectly under subsection 207-50(3) or (4), if:

- (a) the ineligible entity or another entity has entered into an *arrangement as part of, or in association with:
  - (i) the distribution; or
  - (ii) if the distribution flows indirectly to the ineligible entity—the ineligible entity's *trust share amount in relation to the distribution; and
- (b) because of the arrangement, the ineligible entity or another entity has acquired or will acquire (whether directly or indirectly) money or property, other than money or property comprising the distribution or the ineligible entity's trust share amount, from:
  - (i) the entity making the distribution; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 207-126

---

- (ii) an entity through which the distribution flows indirectly to the ineligible entity; or
- (iii) an *associate of any of those entities (other than the ineligible entity).

207-126 Entity may be ineligible if distributions do not match trust share amounts

- (1) This section applies to a beneficiary of a trust in relation to an income year if:
- (a) the sum of the distributions:
    - (i) made to the beneficiary during the income year by the trustee of the trust; and
    - (ii) that relate to the beneficiary's *trust share amount in relation to a *franked distribution made during the income year;
- is less than:
- (b) that trust share amount.

Commissioner's power to treat trust share amount as having been distributed during the income year

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply if the Commissioner, having regard to all the circumstances, considers that it would be reasonable to treat the *trust share amount as having been distributed to the beneficiary in the income year.

207-128 Reinvestment choice

- (1) If, apart from this section, paragraph 207-120(2)(a) or (d) or section 207-124 would apply to an entity (the receiving entity) to whom a *franked distribution is made or *flows indirectly, that paragraph or section is taken not to apply to the receiving entity if:
- (a) instead of receiving the distribution, or the *trust share amount concerned, by a payment of money, the receiving entity chooses to be issued with:
    - (i) if the distribution is made to the receiving entity—*shares in the *corporate tax entity making the distribution; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) if the distribution flows indirectly to the receiving entity—a fixed interest in the trust in relation to which the trust share amount arises; and
- (b) the choice is genuine and furthers the purpose for which the entity was established; and
- (c) the choice is not made for the purpose, or purposes that include the purpose, of benefiting the corporate tax entity, trust or any of their *associates (other than the receiving entity); and
- (d) any benefit *derived by the corporate tax entity, trust or any of their associates (other than the receiving entity) because of that choice is one which is an ordinary incident of issuing the shares or interests to the receiving entity or of the receiving entity's holding of those shares or interests; and
- (e) the parties that were involved in the *distribution event or *arrangement concerned deal with one another on an arm's length basis in relation to the event or arrangement.

A vested and indefeasible interest constitutes a fixed interest

- (2) The receiving entity's interest in a trust is a fixed interest if the interest is a vested and indefeasible interest in the trust's capital.

Special rule about whether interests in unit trusts are defeasible

- (3) If:
  - (a) the trust is a unit trust and the receiving entity holds units in the unit trust; and
  - (b) the units are redeemable or further units are able to be issued; and
  - (c) the units held by the receiving entity will be redeemed, or any further units will be issued:
    - (i) if units in the unit trust are listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange—for the price at which other units of the same kind in the unit trust are offered for sale on the exchange at the time of the redemption or issue; or

---

---

Section 207-130

---

- (ii) if the units are not listed as mentioned in subparagraph (i)—for their *market value at the time of the redemption or issue;

then the mere fact that the units are redeemable, or that the further units are able to be issued, does not mean that the receiving entity's interest, as a unit holder, in the trust's capital is defeasible.

Commissioner's power to treat an interest in a trust as being a fixed interest

- (4) If:
  - (a) the receiving entity has an interest in the trust's capital; and
  - (b) apart from this subsection, the interest would not be a vested or indefeasible interest; and
  - (c) the Commissioner considers that the interest should be treated as being vested and indefeasible, having regard to:
    - (i) the circumstances in which the interest is capable of not vesting, or the defeasance can happen; and
    - (ii) the likelihood of the interest not vesting or the defeasance happening; and
    - (iii) the nature of the trust; and
    - (iv) any other matter the Commissioner thinks relevant;the Commissioner may determine that the interest is to be taken to be vested and indefeasible.
- (5) A determination made under subsection (4) has effect according to its terms.

207-130 Controller's liability

- (1) A *controller (for imputation purposes) of an entity (the controlled entity) is liable to pay an amount under this section in respect of a refund paid to the controlled entity under Division 67 if:
  - (a) the controlled entity claimed the refund wholly or partly on the basis that:
    - (i) the controlled entity was entitled to a *tax offset under section 207-20, 207-45 or 207-110 in relation to a *franked distribution; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) the controlled entity was an *exempt institution that is eligible for a refund; and
- (b) because of the operation of section 207-120, 207-122, 207-124 or 207-126 in respect of a *distribution event or an *arrangement in relation to the distribution, the controlled entity is not entitled to the tax offset; and
- (c) the controller or an *associate of the controller benefited from that event or arrangement; and
- (d) some or all of the amount that the controlled entity is liable to pay in respect of the refund remains unpaid after the day on which the amount becomes due and payable; and
- (e) the Commissioner gives the controller written notice:
  - (i) stating that the controller is liable to pay an amount under this section; and
  - (ii) specifying that amount.

Except as provided for in subsection (5), this subsection does not affect any liability the controlled entity has in relation to the refund.

Note 1: Section 207-134 also provides that the controlled entity's present entitlement to a trust share amount is disregarded for the purposes of Division 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Note 2: For when paragraph (c) is satisfied, see also subsection 207-132(3).

- (2) The amount that the *controller (for imputation purposes) is liable to pay under subsection (1):
  - (a) is the amount specified under subparagraph (1)(e)(ii); and
  - (b) becomes due and payable at the end of the period of 14 days that starts on the day on which the notice mentioned in paragraph (1)(e) is given.
- (3) The amount that the *controller (for imputation purposes) is liable to pay under subsection (1) must not exceed the total amount or value of the benefit that the controller and its *associates obtained from the *distribution event or *arrangement.
- (4) The total of:
  - (a) the amounts that the Commissioner recovers under subsection (1) in relation to the refund from all of the controlled entity's *controllers (for imputation purposes); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) the amounts that the Commissioner recovers in relation to the refund from the controlled entity; must not exceed the amount that the controlled entity was liable to pay as mentioned in paragraph (1)(d).

Controller of a company

- (5) An entity is a controller (for imputation purposes) of a company if the entity is a *controller of the company (for CGT purposes).

Controller of an entity other than a company—basic meaning

- (6) Subject to subsections (7) and (8), an entity is a controller (for imputation purposes) of an entity other than a company (the controlled entity) if:
- (a) a group in relation to the entity has the power, by means of the exercise of a power of appointment or revocation or otherwise, to obtain beneficial enjoyment (directly or indirectly) of the capital or income of the controlled entity; or
  - (b) a group in relation to the entity is able (directly or indirectly) to control the application of the capital or income of the controlled entity; or
  - (c) a group in relation to the entity is capable, under a *scheme, of gaining the beneficial enjoyment mentioned in paragraph (a) or the control mentioned in paragraph (b); or
  - (d) the controlled entity or, if the controlled entity is a trust, the trustee of the trust:
    - (i) is accustomed; or
    - (ii) is under an obligation; or
    - (iii) might reasonably be expected; to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of a group in relation to the entity; or
  - (e) if the controlled entity is a trust—a group in relation to the entity is able (directly or indirectly) to remove or appoint the trustee of the trust; or
  - (f) a group in relation to the entity has more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the controlled entity; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (g) entities in a group in relation to the entity are the only entities that, under the terms of:
  - (i) the constitution of the controlled entity or the terms on which the controlled entity is established; or
  - (ii) if the controlled entity is a trust—the terms of the trust; can obtain the beneficial enjoyment of the income or capital of the controlled entity.

Group in relation to an entity

- (7) For the purposes of subsection (6), each of the following constitutes a group in relation to an entity:
  - (a) the entity acting alone;
  - (b) an *associate of the entity acting alone;
  - (c) the entity and one or more associates of the entity acting together;
  - (d) 2 or more associates of the entity acting together.

Commissioner's power to take an entity not to be a controller (for imputation purposes)

- (8) If:
  - (a) at a particular time, an entity (the first entity) would, but for this subsection, be a *controller (for imputation purposes) of an entity other than a company (the second entity); and
  - (b) the Commissioner, having regard to all relevant circumstances, considers that it is reasonable that the first entity be taken not to be such a controller of the second entity at the particular time;the first entity is taken not to be a controller (for imputation purposes) of the second entity at the particular time.
- (9) Without limiting paragraph (8)(b), if the second entity is a trust, the Commissioner may have regard under that paragraph to the identity of the beneficiaries of the trust at any time (whether before or after the first entity began to be a *controller (for imputation purposes) of the second entity).

207-132 Treatment of benefits provided by an entity to a controller

- (1) This section applies in relation to a benefit (the relevant benefit) given by an entity to a *controller (for imputation purposes) of the entity, or to an *associate of such a controller, if:
  - (a) the controller or associate:
    - (i) makes a *franked distribution to the entity; or
    - (ii) is the trustee of the trust in relation to which a *trust share amount of the entity arises in relation to a franked distribution that *flows indirectly to the entity; and
  - (b) the benefit is, or was, given to the controller or associate at any time during the period that starts 3 years before, and ends 3 years after, the distribution is made or the trust share amount arises (as appropriate).
- (2) For the purposes of paragraph 207-120(2)(d), the controller or *associate is taken to have obtained the relevant benefit because of a *distribution event in relation to the *franked distribution or *trust share amount.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph 207-130(1)(c), and at least to the extent of the relevant benefit, the controller or *associate is taken to have benefited from a *distribution event or *arrangement that caused section 207-120 to apply in relation to the *franked distribution or *trust share amount.

Commissioner's power not to apply subsection (2) or (3)

- (4) Subsection (2) or (3) does not apply in relation to a benefit if the Commissioner is satisfied, having regard to all the circumstances, that it would be unreasonable to apply that subsection.

207-134 Entity's present entitlement disregarded in certain circumstances

The present entitlement of a beneficiary of a trust to a share of trust income is disregarded for the purposes of Division 6 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 if:

- (a) the beneficiary has claimed a *tax offset under section 207-45 or 207-110 of this Act on the basis that the beneficiary was an *exempt institution that was eligible for a refund in relation to a *trust share amount that is that share of trust income; but

---

- (b) the beneficiary was not entitled to that tax offset because of the operation of section 207-120, 207-122, 207-124 or 207-126 in respect of a *distribution event, or an *arrangement, to which the trust share amount is related.

Note: This means that the trustee of the trust is liable to pay income tax on that share of the trust income.

207-136 Review of certain decisions

An entity that is dissatisfied with a decision of the Commissioner under any of the following provisions may object against it in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953:

- (a) paragraph 207-120(3)(b);
- (b) subsection 207-126(2);
- (c) subsection 207-128(4);
- (d) paragraph 207-130(1)(e);
- (e) paragraph 207-130(8)(b);
- (f) subsection 207-132(4).

Subdivision 207-F—No gross-up or tax offset where the imputation system has been manipulated

Guide to Subdivision 207-F

207-140 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision creates the appropriate adjustment to cancel the effect of the gross-up and tax offset rules where the entity concerned has manipulated the imputation system in a manner that is not permitted under the income tax law.

207-160	Distribution that is treated as an interest payment

Operative provisions

207-145 Distribution that is made to an entity

Whole of distribution manipulated

- (1) If a *franked distribution is made to an entity in one or more of the following circumstances:
- (a) the entity is not a qualified person in relation to the distribution for the purposes of Division 1A of former Part IIIAA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (b) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of that Act that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise in respect of the distribution for the entity;
  - (c) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) of this Act that no *imputation benefit is to arise in respect of the distribution for the entity;
  - (d) the distribution is made as part of a *dividend stripping operation;
- then, for the purposes of this Act:
- (e) the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution is not included in the assessable income of the entity under section 207-20 or 207-35; and
  - (f) the entity is not entitled to a *tax offset under this Subdivision because of the distribution; and
  - (g) if the distribution *flows indirectly through the entity to another entity—subsection 207-35(3) and section 207-45 do not apply to that other entity.

---

---

Part of share of distribution manipulated

- (2) If:
- (a) a *franked distribution is made to an entity; and
  - (b) the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise in respect of a specified part of the distribution (the specified part) for the entity;

then, for the purposes of this Act:

- (c) the amount of the distribution is taken to have been reduced by the specified part; and
- (d) the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution is to be worked out as follows:

Example: A franked distribution of $70 is made to the trustee of a trust. Apart from this section, the franking credit on the distribution ($30) would be included in the assessable income of the trust under section 207-35.

The Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise for the trustee in respect of $49 of the distribution.

Under this subsection, the amount included in the assessable income of the trust under section 207-35 because of the distribution is reduced from $30 to $9.

If there is a beneficiary of the trust that is presently entitled to the trust's income, the amount of the distribution that flows indirectly to the beneficiary is reduced from $70 to $21 under this subsection.

What happens if both subsection 207-90(2) and subsection (2) of this section would apply

- (3) If, apart from this subsection, both subsection 207-90(2) and subsection (2) of this section would apply to an entity in relation to a *franked distribution, then:
- (a) apply subsection 207-90(2) first; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) apply subsection (2) of this section on the basis that the amount of the *franked distribution had been reduced under subsection 207-90(2).

207-150 Distribution that flows indirectly to an entity

Whole of share of distribution manipulated

- (1) If a *franked distribution *flows indirectly to an entity in an income year in one or more of the following circumstances:
  - (a) the entity is not a qualified person in relation to the distribution for the purposes of Division 1A of former Part IIIAA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (b) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of that Act that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise in respect of the distribution for the entity;
  - (c) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) of this Act that no *imputation benefit is to arise in respect of the distribution for the entity;
  - (d) the distribution is treated as an interest payment for the entity under section 207-160 of this Act;
  - (e) the distribution is made as part of a *dividend stripping operation;then, for the purposes of this Act:
  - (f) subsection (2), (3) or (4) (as appropriate) applies to the entity in relation to that income year; and
  - (g) the entity is not entitled to a *tax offset under this Subdivision because of the distribution; and
  - (h) if the distribution *flows indirectly through the entity to another entity—subsection 207-35(3) and section 207-45 do not apply to that other entity.

Partner

- (2) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as a partner in a partnership under subsection 207-50(2), the entity can deduct an amount for that income year that is equal to its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

---

Beneficiary

- (3) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as a beneficiary of a trust under subsection 207-50(3), the entity can deduct an amount for that income year that is equal to the lesser of:
- (a) its share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection; and
  - (b) its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Trustee

- (4) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as the trustee of a trust under subsection 207-50(4), the entity's share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection is to be reduced by the lesser of:
- (a) that share amount; and
  - (b) its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Part of share of distribution manipulated

- (5) If:
- (a) a *franked distribution *flows indirectly to an entity in an income year; and
  - (b) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise in respect of a specified part of the distribution (the specified part) for the entity;

then, subsection (2), (3) or (4) (as appropriate) applies to the entity on the basis that the amount of its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution is worked out as follows:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 207-150

---

- (6) In addition, the following apply to an entity covered by subsection (5):
- (a) if the distribution would otherwise *flow indirectly through the entity—the entity's *share of the distribution for the purposes of this Act (other than subsection (2), (3) or (4)) is to be reduced by the specified part mentioned in subsection (5);
  - (b) if the entity would otherwise be entitled to a *tax offset under this Subdivision because of the distribution—the amount of the tax offset is to be worked out as follows:

Example: X is a partner in a partnership to which a franked distribution of $140 is made. The franking credit on the distribution ($60) is included in the assessable income of the partnership under section 207-35. X's share of the distribution is $70 and its share of the franking credit on the distribution is $30.

The Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that no imputation benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise for X in respect of $42 of the distribution.

Under subsection (5), X will be allowed a deduction of $18.

X is the trustee of a trust and the distribution will flow indirectly through X to beneficiaries of the trust. For the purposes of working out a beneficiary's share of the distribution and its share of the franking credit, X's share of the franked distribution is reduced to $28 under this subsection.

What happens if both subsection 207-95(1) and subsection (1) of this section would apply

- (7) If, apart from this subsection, both subsection 207-95(1) and subsection (1) of this section would apply to an entity in relation to a *franked distribution, then:
- (a) subsection (1) of this section applies to the entity; but
  - (b) subsection 207-95(1) does not apply to the entity.

---

What happens if both subsection 207-95(5) and subsection (5) of this section would apply

- (8) If, apart from this subsection, both subsection 207-95(5) and subsection (5) of this section would apply to an entity in relation to a *franked distribution, then:
- (a) apply subsections 207-95(5) and (6) first; and
  - (b) apply subsections (5) and (6) of this section on the basis that:
    - (i) the amount of the entity's *share of the *franking credit on the distribution had been reduced under subsection 207-95(5); and
    - (ii) the amount of the entity's *share of the distribution had been reduced under subsection 207-95(6).

207-155 When is a distribution made as part of a dividend stripping operation?

A distribution made to a *member of a *corporate tax entity is taken to be made as part of a dividend stripping operation if, and only if, the making of the distribution arose out of, or was made in the course of, a *scheme that:

- (a) was by way of, or in the nature of, dividend stripping; or
- (b) had substantially the effect of a scheme by way of, or in the nature of, dividend stripping.

207-160 Distribution that is treated as an interest payment

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, a *franked distribution is treated as an interest payment for an entity to whom the distribution *flows indirectly if:
- (a) all or a part of the entity's individual interest or share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in subsection 207-50(2), (3) or (4) could reasonably be regarded as the payment of interest on a loan, having regard to:
    - (i) the way in which that individual interest or share amount was calculated; and
    - (ii) the conditions applying to the payment or application of that individual interest or share amount; and
    - (iii) any other relevant matters; and

Section 207-160

---

- (b) the entity's interest in the last intermediary entity (see subsection (2)):
  - (i) was acquired, or was acquired for a period that was extended, at or after 7.30 pm by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory on 13 May 1997; or
  - (ii) was acquired as part of a *financing arrangement for the entity (including an arrangement extending to an earlier arrangement) that was entered into at or after that time.
- (2) The entity's interest in the last intermediary entity is:
  - (a) if the distribution *flows indirectly to the entity as a partner in a partnership under subsection 207-50(2)—the entity's interest in the partnership; or
  - (b) if the distribution flows indirectly to the entity as a beneficiary of a trust under subsection 207-50(3)—the entity's interest in the trust; or
  - (c) if the distribution flows indirectly to the entity as the trustee of a trust under subsection 207-50(4)—the entity's interest in the trust in respect of which the entity is liable to be assessed.

208-5	What is an exempting entity?
208-10	Former exempting entities
208-15	Distributions by exempting entities and former exempting entities

208-5 What is an exempting entity?

- (1) An exempting entity is a corporate tax entity that is effectively owned by entities that, either because they are not Australian residents or because they receive distributions as exempt income or non-assessable non-exempt income, would not be able to fully utilise franking credits on distributions by the corporate tax entity.
- (2) In deciding whether a corporate tax entity is effectively owned by such entities, these rules:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 208-10

---

- (a) look at the membership interests in the entity that involve the holder of the interest in bearing the risks and accruing the opportunities of ownership of the entity; and
- (b) ask whether at least 95% of those membership interests, and 95% of any interests in those membership interests, are held by Australian residents or entities that receive distributions as exempt income or non-assessable non-exempt income.

208-10 Former exempting entities

When an entity ceases to be an exempting entity, it becomes a former exempting entity.

208-15 Distributions by exempting entities and former exempting entities

To ensure that franking credits accumulated by an exempting entity are not the target of franking credit trading, these rules:

- (a) limit the circumstances in which a distribution franked with those credits can give rise to benefits under the imputation system; and
- (b) quarantine those credits by moving them into a separate account, called the exempting account, when the entity ceases to be an exempting entity; and
- (c) deny a recipient of a distribution franked with a credit from that account any benefit under the imputation system as a result of that distribution, unless the recipient was a member of the entity immediately before it became a former exempting entity.

208-20 Exempting entities

A *corporate tax entity is an exempting entity at a particular time if, at that time, the entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons.

Note: Prescribed persons are identified in sections 208-40 and 208-45.

208-25 Effective ownership of entity by prescribed persons

- (1) An entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons at a particular time if:
- (a) at that time:
    - (i) not less than 95% of the *accountable membership interests in the entity; or
    - (ii) not less than 95% of the *accountable partial interests in the entity;are held by, or held indirectly for the benefit of, prescribed persons; or
  - (b) paragraph (a) does not apply but it would nevertheless be reasonable to conclude that, at that time, the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding accountable membership interests, or accountable partial interests, in the entity that are not held by, or directly or indirectly for the benefit of, prescribed persons are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, prescribed persons.
- (2) In deciding whether it would be reasonable to conclude as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b):
- (a) have regard to any *arrangement in respect of *membership interests (including unissued membership interests), or in respect of *partial interests, in the entity (including any derivatives held or issued in connection with those membership interests or partial interests) of which the entity is aware; but
  - (b) do not have regard to risks involved in the ownership of membership interests, or partial interests, in the entity that are substantially borne by any person in the person's capacity as a secured creditor.

- (3) An entity has a partial interest in a *corporate tax entity if it has an interest in a *membership interest in the corporate tax entity.

208-30 Accountable membership interests

- (1) The purpose of this section is to identify which *membership interests in an entity are relevant in determining whether the entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (2) A *membership interest in an entity is an accountable membership interest if it is not an excluded membership interest.
- (3) A *membership interest in an entity is an excluded membership interest if, having regard to:
- (a) the purposes for which the membership interest was issued; and
  - (b) any special or limited rights connected with, arising from, or attached to:
    - (i) the membership interest; or
    - (ii) other membership interests in the entity held by the holder of the membership interest; or
    - (iii) membership interests in the entity held by persons other than the holder of the membership interest; or
    - (iv) interests in any of the above; including rights that are conferred or exercisable only if the holder of the membership interest or interests concerned is, or is not, a prescribed person; and
  - (c) the extent to which any such special or limited rights are similar to or differ from the rights that are normally attached to the ownership of *ordinary membership interests in *corporate tax entities; and
  - (d) the relationship between the value of the membership interest and the value of the entity; and
  - (e) any relationship or connection (whether of a personal or business nature) between holders of membership interests in the entity of which the entity is aware; and

- (f) any *arrangement in respect of membership interests (including unissued membership interests) in the entity, or interests in membership interests in the entity, of which the entity is aware;

it would be reasonable to conclude that the membership interest is not relevant in determining whether the entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons because holding the membership interest does not involve the holder bearing the risks, or result in the accrual to the holder of the opportunities, of ownership of the entity that ordinarily arise from, or are ordinarily attached to, the holding of ordinary membership interests in an entity.

- (4) In applying subsection (3), the fact that a person is a trustee is to be disregarded.
- (5) Without limiting subsection (3), a *membership interest in an entity held by a person who is not a prescribed person is an excluded membership interest if:
- (a) it is a finance membership interest; or
  - (b) it is a distribution access membership interest; or
  - (c) it does not carry the right to receive distributions; or
  - (d) it was issued, transferred or acquired for a purpose (other than an incidental purpose) of ensuring that the entity is not effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (6) A *membership interest is a finance membership interest if:
- (a) the membership interest is a *non-equity share in the entity; or
  - or
  - (b) having regard to the rights attached to the membership interest and to any *arrangement with respect to the membership interest of which the entity is aware, the membership interest is equivalent to a debt owed by the entity to the holder of the membership interest.
- (7) A *membership interest to which subsection (6) does not apply is a finance membership interest if:
- (a) the manner in which the *distributions payable in respect of the membership interest are calculated, and the conditions applying to the payment of such distributions, indicate that the distributions paid are equivalent to the receipt by the person to whom they are paid of interest or an amount in the nature of or similar to interest; or

- (b) the capital invested by the holder of the membership interest will be redeemed or, because of an *arrangement between the holder and the entity or an *associate of the entity, it is reasonable for the holder to expect that the capital will be redeemed, for an amount that is not less than, or for property (including other membership interests in the entity) the value of which is not less than, the amount paid for the membership interest; or
  - (c) the membership interest is redeemable by the entity by payment of a lump sum or by the transfer of property, or the membership interest has a preferred right to a repayment of capital on a winding up, where the amount of the lump sum or the value of the property, or the amount of the capital to be repaid, as the case may be, is to be calculated by reference to an implicit interest rate.
- (8) A *membership interest in an entity is a distribution access membership interest if, having regard to:
- (a) the terms of the issue of the membership interest, including any guarantee of payment of distributions; and
  - (b) the amounts of the *distributions paid on the membership interest relative to the issue price of the membership interest; and
  - (c) whether there is any guaranteed rate at which *franked distributions are to be paid on the membership interest; and
  - (d) the duration of the period within which the membership interest was issued; and
  - (e) the rights attached to other membership interests in the entity; and
  - (f) any other relevant matters;

it could be concluded that the membership interest was issued only for the purpose of paying distributions to the holder of the membership interest.

208-35 Accountable partial interests

- (1) The purpose of this section is to identify which *partial interests in an entity are relevant in determining whether the entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons.
- (2) A *partial interest in an entity is an accountable partial interest if it is not an excluded partial interest.
- (3) A *partial interest in an entity is an excluded partial interest if, having regard to:
  - (a) the purposes for which the interest was granted; and
  - (b) the nature of the interest; and
  - (c) any special or limited rights connected with or arising from:
    - (i) the interest; or
    - (ii) other *membership interests, or partial interests, in the entity held by the holder of the interest; or
    - (iii) membership interests, or partial interests, in the entity held by persons other than the holder of the interest; including rights that are conferred or exercisable only if the holder of the membership interests or partial interests concerned is, or is not, a prescribed person; and
  - (d) the extent to which the interest is similar to or differs from beneficial ownership; and
  - (e) the relationship between the value of the interest and the value of the entity; and
  - (f) any relationship or connection (whether of a personal or business nature) between holders of partial interests in the entity, and the holders of membership interests in the entity, of which the entity is aware; and
  - (g) any *arrangement in respect of membership interests (including unissued membership interests) in the entity, or partial interests in the entity, of which the entity is aware;it would be reasonable to conclude that the partial interest is not relevant in determining whether the entity is effectively owned by prescribed persons because holding the membership interest to which the partial interest relates does not involve the holder bearing the risks, or result in the accrual to the holder of the opportunities, of ownership of the entity that ordinarily arise from,

208-40 Prescribed persons

- (1) A company is a prescribed person in relation to another *corporate tax entity if:

- (7) Paragraph (4)(a) does not apply in relation to a trust if some of the beneficiaries receiving income from the trust are not prescribed persons and the Commissioner considers that it is reasonable to conclude that the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding the *membership interests or *partial interests in the relevant entity are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, as the case may be, one or more persons who are not prescribed persons.

- (b) the entity is a *franking entity that satisfies the *residency requirement when the distribution is made; and

Subdivision 208-C—Amount of the exempting credit on a distribution

Guide to Subdivision 208-C

208-70 Amount of the exempting credit on a distribution

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), the amount of the *exempting credit on a *distribution is that stated in the *distribution statement for the distribution.
- (2) If the sum of the *franking credit and the *exempting credit stated in the *distribution statement for a *distribution exceeds the *maximum franking credit for the distribution, the amount of the exempting credit on the distribution is taken to be nil.

Note: If the franking credit stated in the distribution statement exceeds the maximum franking credit for the distribution, the amount of the franking credit on the distribution is taken to equal that maximum under section 202-65.

208-80 Additional information to be included by a former exempting entity or exempting entity

- (1) A *former exempting entity that makes a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit must include in the *distribution statement given to the recipient, a statement that there is an *exempting credit of a specified amount on the distribution.
- (2) An *exempting entity that makes a *frankable distribution to a *member must include in the *distribution statement given to the member, a statement to the effect that members who are Australian residents are not entitled to a *tax offset or *franking credit as a result of the distribution, except for certain *corporate tax entities, and employees who receive the distribution in connection with certain *employee share schemes.

208-100 Consequences of breaching the rule in section 208-90

Operative provisions

208-90 All frankable distributions made within a franking period must be franked to the same extent with an exempting credit

- (1) If an entity *franks a *distribution with an exempting credit, it must frank each other *frankable distribution made within the same *franking period with an exempting credit worked out at the same *exempting percentage.
- (2) If an entity is not a *former exempting entity for the whole of a *franking period (the longer period), then, for the purposes of subsection (1), each period within that longer period during which the entity is a former exempting entity is taken to be a franking period.

208-95 Exempting percentage

The exempting percentage for a *frankable distribution is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of the} \\ \text{*exempting credit} \\ \text{on the distribution}}{\text{*Maximum franking credit} \\ \text{for the distribution}} \times 100$$

208-100 Consequences of breaching the rule in section 208-90

If an entity *franks a *distribution with an exempting credit in breach of section 208-90:

- (a) that distribution is taken not to have been franked with an exempting credit; and
- (b) each other *frankable distribution made by the entity within the relevant *franking period is taken not to have been franked with an exempting credit.

This Subdivision:

- creates an exempting account for each former exempting entity; and
- identifies when exempting credits and debits arise in those accounts and the amount of those credits and debits; and
- identifies when there is an exempting surplus or deficit in the account; and
- identifies when franking credits and debits arise in the franking account of an entity because it is an exempting entity, or former exempting entity.

208-135 Relationships that will give rise to a franking credit under item 5 of the table in section 208-130

- (1) A relationship between an entity making a *franked distribution and the recipient of the distribution is of a type that gives rise to a *franking credit under item 5 or 6 of the table in section 208-130 if either:
  - (a) both entities are members of the same effectively wholly-owned group; or
  - (b) the recipient holds more than 5% of the *membership interests in the entity making the distribution (other than finance membership interests or distribution access membership interests within the meaning of section 208-30 or membership interests that do not carry the right to receive distributions) and it would be reasonable to conclude that the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding those membership interests are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, the recipient.

- (2) In deciding whether it would be reasonable to make the conclusion mentioned in paragraph (1)(b):
  - (a) have regard to any *arrangement in respect of the *membership interests (including unissued membership interests) in the entity making the distribution (including derivatives held or issued in connection with those membership interests); and

---

- (b) do not have regard to risks involved in the ownership of membership interests in the entity making the distribution that are substantially borne by any person in the person's capacity as a secured creditor.

208-140 Membership of the same effectively wholly-owned group

- (1) Two *corporate tax entities are members of the same effectively wholly-owned group of entities on a particular day if:
  - (a) throughout that day, not less than 95% of the *accountable membership interests in each of the entities, and not less than 95% of the *accountable partial interests in each of the entities, are held by, or are held indirectly for the benefit of, the same persons; or
  - (b) paragraph (a) does not apply but it would nevertheless be reasonable to conclude, having regard to the matters mentioned in subsection (2), that, throughout that day, the risks involved in, and the opportunities resulting from, holding accountable membership interests, or accountable partial interests, in each of the entities are substantially borne by, or substantially accrue to, the same persons.
- (2) The matters to which regard is to be had as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) are:
  - (a) any special or limited rights attaching to *accountable membership interests, or *accountable partial interests, in each of the entities held by persons other than the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their *associates; and
  - (b) any special rights attaching only to accountable membership interests, or accountable partial interests, in each of the entities held by the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates; and
  - (c) the respective proportions:
    - (i) that accountable membership interests in each of the entities held by the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates, and other accountable membership interests in the entity

- concerned, bear to all the accountable membership interests in that entity; and
- (ii) that accountable partial interests in each of the entities held by the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates, and other accountable partial interests in the entity concerned, bear to all the accountable partial interests in that entity; and
- (d) the respective proportions that:
- (i) the total value of accountable membership interests in each of the entities held by the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates, and the total value of other accountable membership interests in the entity concerned, bear to the total value of all the accountable membership interests in that entity; and
  - (ii) the total value of accountable partial interests in each of the entities held by the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates, and the total value of other accountable partial interests in the entity concerned, bear to the total value of all the accountable partial interests in that entity; and
- (e) the purposes for which accountable membership interests, or accountable partial interests, in each of the entities were issued or granted to persons other than the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates; and
- (f) any *arrangement in respect of accountable membership interests, or accountable partial interests, in each of the entities held by persons other than the persons mentioned in paragraph (1)(b) or their associates (including any derivatives held or issued in connection with those membership interests or interests) of which the entity concerned is aware.

Note 1: Item 3 of the table is designed to reverse out franking credits that arise in relation to a period during which the entity is an exempting entity. The entity will receive an exempting credit instead.

Note 2: Item 5 of the table is designed to reverse out franking credits that arise under the core rules because an entity receives a franked distribution from an exempting entity. Only a recipient who is itself an exempting entity is entitled to a franking credit in these circumstances.

208-150 Residency requirement

The tables in sections 208-115, 208-120, 208-130 and 208-145 are relevant for the purposes of subsection 205-25(1).

Note 1: Subsection 205-25(1) sets out the residency requirement for an income year in which, or in relation to which, an event specified in one of the tables occurs.

Note 2: Section 207-75 sets out the residency requirement that must be satisfied by the entity receiving a distribution when the distribution is made.

208-155 Eligible continuing substantial member

- (1) A *member of a *former exempting entity is an eligible continuing substantial member in relation to a *distribution made by the entity if the following provisions apply.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) At both the time when the *distribution was made, and the time immediately before the entity ceased to be an *exempting entity, the *member was entitled to not less than 5% of:
- (a) where the entity is a company:
    - (i) if the voting shares (as defined in the Corporations Act 2001) in the relevant former exempting entity are not divided into classes—those voting shares; or
    - (ii) if the voting shares (as so defined) in the relevant former exempting entity are divided into 2 or more classes—the shares in one of those classes; and
  - (b) where the entity is a *corporate unit trust or *public trading trust—the units in the trust; and
  - (c) where the entity is a *corporate limited partnership—the income of the partnership.
- (3) At both the time when the *distribution was made, and the time immediately before the entity ceased to be an *exempting entity, the *member was a person referred to in one or more of the following paragraphs:
- (a) a person who is a foreign resident;
  - (b) a *life insurance company;
  - (c) an exempting entity;
  - (d) a *former exempting entity;
  - (e) a trustee of a trust in which an interest was held by a person referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (d);
  - (f) a partnership in which an interest was held by a person referred to in any of paragraphs (a) to (d).
- (4) If the assumptions set out in subsection (5) are made:
- (a) if the *member was a person referred to in any of paragraphs (3)(a) to (d)—the member; or
  - (b) if the member was a trustee of a trust or a partnership, being a trust or partnership in which a person referred to in any of those paragraphs held an interest—the holder of the interest; would (if a foreign resident) be exempt from *withholding tax on the distribution or (if an Australian resident) be entitled to a *franking credit or a *tax offset in respect of the distribution.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) The assumptions referred to in subsection (4) are that:
- (a) the relevant former exempting entity was an *exempting entity at the time it made the *distribution; and
  - (b) the distribution was a *franked distribution made to the member; and
  - (c) if the *member was a *former exempting entity—the member was an exempting entity; and
  - (d) if the member was a trustee of a trust or partnership in which a former exempting entity had an interest—the former exempting entity was an exempting entity.
- (6) A person is taken to hold an interest in a trust, for the purposes of paragraph (3)(e), if:
- (a) the person is a beneficiary under the trust; or
  - (b) the person *derives, or will derive, income indirectly, through interposed trusts or partnerships, from *distributions received by the trustee.
- (7) A person is taken to hold an interest in a partnership, for the purposes of paragraph (3)(f), if:
- (a) the person is a partner in the partnership; or
  - (b) the person *derives, or will derive, income indirectly, through interposed trusts or partnerships, from *distributions received by the partnership.

208-160 Distributions that are affected by a manipulation of the imputation system

For the purposes of item 2 of the table in section 208-115 and items 2 and 5 of the table in section 208-130, a *distribution to an entity is affected by a manipulation of the imputation system if:

- (a) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) that no *imputation benefit is to arise for the entity in respect of the distribution; or
- (b) the Commissioner has made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 that no franking credit benefit (within the meaning of that section) is to arise in respect of the distribution to the entity; or
- (c) the distribution is part of a *dividend stripping operation.

---

208-165 Amount of the exempting credit or franking credit arising because of a distribution franked with an exempting credit

- (1) Use the following formula to work out:
- (a) the amount of an *exempting credit arising under item 2 of the table in section 208-115 because a *former exempting entity receives a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit; or
  - (b) the amount of a *franking credit arising under item 2 of the table in section 208-130 because an *exempting entity receives a distribution franked with an exempting credit;

$$\text{*Exempting credit on the *distribution} \times \frac{\text{Amount of the distribution that is not *exempt income of the recipient}}{\text{Amount of the distribution}}$$

- (2) Use the following formula to work out the amount of a *franking credit arising under item 5 of the table in section 208-130 because an *exempting entity receives a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit:

$$\text{*Franking credit on the *distribution} \times \frac{\text{Amount of the distribution that is not *exempt income of the recipient}}{\text{Amount of the distribution}}$$

208-170 Where a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 affects part of the distribution

- (1) Use the following formula to work out:
- (a) the amount of an *exempting credit arising under item 3 of the table in section 208-115 because a *former exempting entity receives a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the amount of a *franking credit arising under item 3 of the table in section 208-130 because an *exempting entity receives a distribution franked with an exempting credit;

- (2) Use the following formula to work out the amount of a *franking credit arising under item 6 of the table in section 208-130 because an *exempting entity receives *a distribution *franked with an exempting credit:

$$\begin{array}{r}

208-175 When does a distribution franked with an exempting credit flow indirectly to an entity?

A *distribution *franked with an exempting credit is taken to flow indirectly to an entity if, had it been a *franked distribution, it would have been taken to have flowed indirectly to the entity under section 207-50.

---

208-180 What is an entity's share of the exempting credit on a distribution?

To work out an entity's share of the *exempting credit on a *distribution *franked with that credit, use sections 207-55 and 207-57 to work out what the entity's share of the credit would be if it were a *franking credit on a *franked distribution. The entity's share of the exempting credit is equal to that amount.

208-185 Minister may convert exempting surplus to franking credit of former exempting entity previously owned by the Commonwealth

- (1) The Minister may make a determination or determinations under this section if:
  - (a) at a particular time, a *corporate tax entity is an *exempting entity; and
  - (b) at that time all of the *membership interests in the entity are owned by the Commonwealth; and
  - (c) the Commonwealth has offered for sale or sold, or proposes to offer for sale, some or all of the membership interests; and
  - (d) the Minister is satisfied, having regard to the matters mentioned in subsection (2), that it is desirable to make a determination or determinations under this section in relation to the entity.
- (2) The matters to which the Minister must have regard under paragraph (1)(d) are:
  - (a) whether the making of the determination or determinations is necessary to enable the entity to make *distributions *franked at a *franking percentage of 100% after the sale; and
  - (b) the extent to which the success of the sale or proposed sale depended or will depend upon the ability of the entity to make *franked distributions; and
  - (c) the extent to which the reduction in receipts of income tax resulting from the making of the determination or determinations would be offset by the receipt of increased proceeds from the sale; and
  - (d) any other matters that the Minister thinks relevant.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) The following provisions of this section apply after the *exempting entity becomes a *former exempting entity.
- (4) If the *former exempting entity would, apart from this section, have an *exempting surplus at the end of an income year, the Minister may, in writing, determine that:
  - (a) an *exempting debit of the entity (not exceeding the exempting surplus) specified in the determination is taken to have arisen immediately before the end of that income year; and
  - (b) a *franking credit of the entity equal to the amount of the exempting debit is taken to have arisen immediately before the end of that income year.
- (5) A determination under this section may be expressed to be subject to compliance by the *former exempting entity with such conditions as are specified in the determination.
- (6) If a condition specified in a determination is not complied with, the Minister may revoke the determination and, if the Minister thinks it appropriate, make a further determination under subsection (4).
- (7) A determination, unless it is revoked, has effect according to its terms.

Subdivision 208-G—Tax effects of distributions by exempting entities

Guide to Subdivision 208-G

208-190 What this Subdivision is about

Generally, a franked distribution from an exempting entity will only generate a tax effect for the recipient under Division 207 if the recipient is also an exempting entity.

A concession is made to employees of the entity who receive a franked distribution because they hold shares under an eligible employee share scheme.

Operative provisions

208-195 Division 207 does not generally apply

Division 207 does not apply to a *distribution by an *exempting entity, unless expressly applied under this Subdivision.

208-200 Distributions to exempting entities

- (1) Division 207 applies to a *franked distribution made by an *exempting entity to another exempting entity if the distribution gives rise to a *franking credit for the other exempting entity under item 5 or 6 of the table in section 208-130.
- (2) Division 207 applies to a *franked distribution that is made by an *exempting entity and *flows indirectly to another exempting entity if the distribution gives rise to a *franking credit for that other entity under item 7 of the table in section 208-130.

208-205 Distributions to employees acquiring shares under an eligible employee share scheme

Division 207 also applies to a *franked distribution made by an *exempting entity if:

- (a) the distribution is made to a person who is an employee of the exempting entity, or of a company that is a *subsidiary of the exempting entity, at the time the distribution is made; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) the recipient acquired the *share on which the distribution is made under an *employee share scheme in circumstances specified as relevant in section 208-215; and
- (c) the recipient does not hold that share as a trustee.

208-210 Subsidiaries

The question whether a company is a subsidiary of another company is to be determined in the same way as the question whether a corporation is a subsidiary of another corporation is determined under the Corporations Act 2001.

208-215 Eligible employee share scheme

- (1) A *share in a company is acquired by a person under an *employee share scheme in circumstances that are relevant for the purposes of paragraph 208-205(b) and 208-235(b) if:
  - (a) the share is acquired by the person in respect of, or for or in relation directly or indirectly to, any employment of the person by the entity or by an entity that is a *subsidiary of the company; and
  - (b) all the shares available for acquisition under the scheme are ordinary shares or are preference shares to which are attached substantially the same rights as are attached to ordinary shares; and
  - (c) immediately after the acquisition of the shares:
    - (i) the person does not hold a legal or beneficial interest in more than 5% of the shares in the company; and

Guide to Subdivision 208-H

208-220 What this Subdivision is about

Generally, a distribution franked with an exempting credit will only generate a tax effect for the recipient under Division 207 if a tax effect would have been generated for the recipient had the recipient received a franked distribution when the distributing entity was an exempting entity.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 208-225 Division 207 does not generally apply

Operative provisions

208-225 Division 207 does not generally apply

Division 207 does not apply to a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit, unless the Division is expressly applied to the distribution under this Subdivision.

208-230 Distributions to exempting entities and former exempting entities

Division 207 applies to a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit by a *former exempting entity as if it were a *franked distribution if:

- (a) the recipient of the distribution is a former exempting entity and the distribution gives rise to an *exempting credit for the recipient; or
- (b) the recipient of the distribution is an *exempting entity and the distribution gives rise to a *franking credit for the recipient; or
- (c) the distribution *flows indirectly to a former exempting entity and gives rise to an exempting credit for that entity; or
- (d) the distribution flows indirectly to an exempting entity and gives rise to a franking credit for that entity.

208-235 Distributions to employees acquiring shares under an eligible employee share scheme

Division 207 also applies to a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit made by a *former exempting entity as if it were a *franked distribution if:

- (a) the distribution is made to a person who is an employee of the former exempting entity, or of a company that is a *subsidiary of the former exempting entity, at the time the distribution is made; and
- (b) the recipient acquired the *share on which the distribution is made under an *employee share scheme in circumstances specified as relevant in section 208-215; and
- (c) the recipient does not hold that share as a trustee.

208-240 Distributions to certain individuals

Division 207 also applies to a *distribution *franked with an exempting credit made by a *former exempting entity as if it were a *franked distribution if:

- (a) a *corporate tax entity other than a former exempting entity became an *exempting entity; and

- (f) all the accountable membership interests or accountable partial interests in the entity were, throughout the period beginning when the entity became an exempting entity and ending when the amount was received by the person, beneficially owned (directly or indirectly) by the person mentioned in paragraph (b); and

210-1 Purpose of venture capital franking

The purpose of these rules is to encourage venture capital investment by superannuation funds and other entities that deal with superannuation.

210-5 How is this achieved?

This is done by giving tax benefits to those entities when they invest in PDFs, which are the vehicles for venture capital investment. If the PDF makes a distribution franked with a venture capital credit, the relevant venture capital investor receives a certain part of a distribution from the PDF as exempt income and, in addition, is entitled to a tax offset equal to the venture capital credit.

210-10 What is a venture capital credit?

- (1) There is a venture capital franking sub-account in the franking account of each PDF.
- (2) Venture capital credits arise in the sub-account if the PDF pays income tax that is reasonably attributable to capital gains from venture capital investments.

210-15 What does the PDF have to do to distribute the credits?

Only a participating PDF can distribute venture capital credits. A PDF elects to participate by keeping a record of its venture capital sub-account.

210-20 Limits on venture capital franking

- (1) The venture capital credit on a distribution cannot exceed the franking credit on the distribution. It is, in this sense, a species of franking credit.
- (2) A PDF can only distribute venture capital credits if it does it so that all members of the PDF receive venture capital credits in proportion to their holdings.
- (3) If a PDF has a venture capital surplus when it makes a distribution, it must frank the distribution with venture capital credits.
- (4) There are measures to ensure that a PDF does not maintain a venture capital deficit over a prolonged period.

Subdivision 210-F—Rules affecting the allocation of venture capital credits

- (1) If a *participating PDF would otherwise have a *venture capital surplus at the time a *distribution that is *frankable with a venture capital credit is made, the PDF must either:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 210-81

---

- (a) allocate a *venture capital credit to the distribution that is equal to the *franking credit on the distribution; or
  - (b) allocate a venture capital credit to the distribution that either alone or when added to venture capital credits allocated to other distributions made under the resolution of the PDF under which the distribution in question is made, reduces the surplus to nil, or creates a *venture capital deficit.
- (2) A *venture capital debit arises for a *participating PDF when a *distribution is made if the PDF does not allocate a *venture capital credit in accordance with subsection (1). The amount of the debit is:

Subsection (1) franked amount – Actual franked amount

where:

actual franked amount is the amount of the *venture capital credit that is allocated to the *distribution by the PDF (this may be nil).

subsection (1) franked amount is the amount of the *venture capital credit that would have been allocated to the *distribution if the PDF had made the smallest allocation needed to satisfy subsection (1).

210-81 Distributions to be franked with venture capital credits to the same extent

- (1) If a *PDF *franks a *distribution with a venture capital credit, it must frank each other distribution made under the same resolution with a venture capital credit worked out using the same venture capital percentage.
- (2) The venture capital percentage for a *distribution is worked out using the formula:

210-82 Consequences of breaching the rule in section 210-81

If a *PDF *franks a *distribution with a venture capital credit in breach of section 210-81:

- (a) the distribution is taken not to have been franked with a venture capital credit; and
- (b) each other distribution made under the same resolution is taken not to have been franked with a venture capital credit.

Subdivision 210-G—Venture capital sub-account

Guide to Subdivision 210-G

210-85 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision:

- creates a venture capital sub-account for each PDF; and
- identifies when venture capital credits and debits arise in the sub-account and the amount of those credits and debits; and
- identifies when there is a venture capital surplus or deficit in the sub-account; and
- creates a liability to pay venture capital deficit tax if the account is in deficit at certain times.

- 210-115 Participating PDF may elect to have venture capital credits arise on its assessment day

- 210-125 Venture capital debit where CGT limit is exceeded

- 210-135 Venture capital deficit tax
- 210-140 Effect of a liability to pay venture capital deficit tax on franking deficit tax
- 210-145 Effect of a liability to pay venture capital deficit tax on the franking account
- 210-150 Deferring venture capital deficit

210-90 The venture capital sub-account

- (1) Each PDF has a venture capital sub-account in its franking account. The sub-account exists even if the PDF does not elect to become a participating PDF by keeping a record of it.
- (2) To the extent that income tax is reasonably attributable to capital gains from venture capital investments, it generates a venture capital credit in the sub-account. There are other circumstances in which a venture capital credit arises.
- (3) If a PDF receives a refund of that tax, a venture capital debit will arise for the PDF. There are other circumstances in which a venture capital debit will arise, such as on the payment of a distribution franked with a venture capital credit.

210-95 Venture capital deficit tax

- (1) Venture capital deficit tax is payable if a PDF's venture capital sub-account is in deficit at the end of the PDF's income year, or immediately before it ceases to be a PDF.
- (2) A PDF's venture capital sub-account may be in deficit, even if its franking account is not. This can happen because only income tax on income of a particular kind (capital gains on venture capital investments) gives rise to venture capital credits. This means that when a PDF anticipates a venture capital credit, it is not only anticipating that income tax will be paid, but that income tax on income of that kind will be paid. Although income tax may, in fact, later be paid, it will not necessarily be income of the kind that would give rise to a venture capital credit. This results in franking credits arising even while the venture capital sub-account remains in deficit.

---

- (3) The discrepancy between the franking account balance and the venture capital sub-account balance can also arise because venture capital credits do not necessarily arise at the same time as the relevant franking credits and debits (see item 1 of the table in section 210-105 and item 2 of the table in section 210-120).

Operative provisions

210-100 Venture capital sub-account

Each *PDF has a venture capital sub-account within its *franking account.

Note: The balance in the venture capital sub-account on 1 July 2002 will be either nil or, if the entity has a venture capital surplus or deficit immediately before 1 July 2002 under the imputation scheme existing at that time, an amount calculated under the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

210-105 Venture capital credits

The table sets out when a credit arises in the *venture capital sub-account of a *PDF. A credit in a PDF's venture capital sub-account is called a venture capital credit.

Credits in the venture capital sub-account
Item	If:	A credit of:	Arises on:
1	the *PDF has a *franking credit because it has *paid a PAYG instalment; and the whole or part of the instalment is reasonably attributable to a *CGT event in relation to a *qualifying SME investment of the PDF	that part of the franking credit that is reasonably attributable to the CGT event	the day on which the franking credit arises; or if the PDF elects to have the *venture capital credit arise on the assessment day under section 210-115—on that day

Credits in the venture capital sub-account
Item	If:	A credit of:	Arises on:
2	the *PDF has a *franking credit because it has *paid income tax; and the whole or part of the payment is reasonably attributable to a *CGT event in relation to a *qualifying SME investment of the PDF	that part of the franking credit that is reasonably attributable to the CGT event	the day on which the franking credit arises; or if the PDF elects to have the *venture capital credit arise on the assessment day under section 210-115—on that day
3	the *PDF incurs a liability to pay *venture capital deficit tax	the amount of the liability	immediately after the liability is incurred

210-110 Determining the extent to which a franking credit is reasonably attributable to a particular payment of tax

In determining the extent to which a *franking credit is reasonably attributable to a *CGT event in relation to a *qualifying SME investment of the *PDF, have regard to:

- (a) the extent to which the credit can reasonably be attributed to the *payment of a PAYG instalment or the payment of income tax by the PDF in relation to its *section 124ZZB SME assessable income for an income year; and
- (b) the extent to which the section 124ZZB SME assessable income can reasonably be attributed to the CGT event.

210-115 Participating PDF may elect to have venture capital credits arise on its assessment day

- (1) Before a *PDF's assessment day for an income year, the PDF may elect to have the *venture capital credits that arise because of the *payment of PAYG instalments and income tax during that income year arise on the assessment day.
- (2) The *PDF's assessment day for an income year is the earlier of:
  - (a) the day on which the PDF furnishes its *income tax return for the income year; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the day on which the Commissioner makes an assessment of the amount of the PDF's taxable income for that year under section 166 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

210-120 Venture capital debits

The table sets out when a debit arises in the *venture capital sub-account of a *PDF. A debit in a PDF's venture capital sub-account is called a venture capital debit.

Debits in the venture capital sub-account
Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises on:
1	the *PDF makes a *distribution *franked with a venture capital credit	the amount of the *venture capital credit	the day on which the distribution is made
2	the *PDF receives a *franking debit as a result of *receiving a refund of income tax; and all or part of the refund is attributable to a *payment of a PAYG instalment or a payment of income tax that gave rise to a *venture capital credit of the PDF	that part of the refund that is attributable to a payment of a PAYG instalment or a payment of income tax that gave rise to a venture capital credit of the PDF	the day on which the franking debit arises; or if the venture capital credit did not arise until a later day—that later day
3	a *venture capital debit arises for the *PDF under subsection 210-80(2)	the amount of the venture capital debit arising under that subsection	the day on which the *distribution giving rise to the venture capital debit is made

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 210-125

Debits in the venture capital sub-account
Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises on:
4	the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(a) giving rise to a *franking debit for the *PDF (streaming distributions); and the *imputation benefit underlying the determination is a *tax offset under section 210-170	the amount of the tax offset	on the day on which the franking debit arises
5	a *venture capital debit arises for the *PDF under section 210-125 because its net venture capital credits for an income year exceed certain limits	the amount of the excess	the last day of the income year

210-125 Venture capital debit where CGT limit is exceeded

- (1) A *venture capital debit arises for a *PDF where the PDF's net venture capital credits for the income year exceed whichever is the lesser of:
- the PDF's CGT limit for that income year; and
  - the tax paid by the PDF on its *SME income component for that income year.

Net venture capital credits

- (2) The *PDF's net venture capital credits for the income year is:
 Venture capital credits – Venture capital debits
 where:

---

venture capital credits is the total *venture capital credits of the *PDF that relate to tax in relation to taxable income of that income year.

venture capital debits is the total *venture capital debits of the *PDF that relate to tax in relation to taxable income of that income year.

CGT limit

- (3) The *PDF's CGT limit for the income year is worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Ordinary capital gains from venture capital CGT events}}{\text{Ordinary capital gains from all SME CGT events}} \times \frac{\text{*Section 124ZZB SME assessable income}}{\text{SME tax rate}}$$

where:

ordinary capital gains from all SME CGT events means the total of the *ordinary capital gains for the income year for *CGT events in relation to *SME investments of the *PDF.

ordinary capital gains from venture capital CGT events means the total of *ordinary capital gains for the income year for *CGT events in relation to shares in companies that are *qualifying SME investments.

SME tax rate is the tax rate applicable to the *SME income component of the *PDF for the income year.

Tax paid by the PDF on its SME income component

- (4) The tax paid by the PDF on its SME income component for the income year is the tax paid by the *PDF on its *SME income component after allowing *tax offsets referred to in section 4-10.

210-130 Venture capital surplus and deficit

- (1) A *PDF's *venture capital sub-account is in surplus at a particular time if, at that time, the sum of the *venture capital credits in the account exceeds the sum of the *venture capital debits in the account. The amount of the venture capital surplus is the amount of the excess.

- (2) A *PDF's *venture capital sub-account is in deficit at a particular time if, at that time, the sum of the *venture capital debits in the account exceeds the sum of the *venture capital credits in the account. The amount of the venture capital deficit is the amount of the excess.
- (3) A *PDF's *venture capital sub-account may be in *deficit even though its *franking account as a whole is in *surplus. Similarly, a PDF's venture capital sub-account may be in surplus even though its franking account as a whole is in deficit.

210-135 Venture capital deficit tax

- (1) While recognising that an entity may anticipate *venture capital credits when *franking *distributions, the object of this section is to prevent those credits from being anticipated indefinitely by requiring the entity to reconcile its *venture capital sub-account at certain times and levying tax if the account is in *deficit.
- (2) An entity is liable to pay *venture capital deficit tax imposed by the New Business Tax System (Venture Capital Deficit Tax) Act 2003 if its *venture capital sub-account is in *deficit at the end of an income year.
- (3) An entity is liable to pay *venture capital deficit tax imposed by the New Business Tax System (Venture Capital Deficit Tax) Act 2003 if:
  - (a) it ceases to be a *PDF; and
  - (b) immediately before it ceases to be a PDF, its *venture capital sub-account is in *deficit.

210-140 Effect of a liability to pay venture capital deficit tax on franking deficit tax

- (1) If an entity is liable to pay *venture capital deficit tax under subsection 210-135(2) because its *venture capital sub-account is in *deficit at the end of an income year, the amount (if any) of *franking deficit tax that the entity would otherwise be liable to pay under subsection 205-45(2) because its *franking account is in *deficit at that time is reduced by the amount of the liability for venture capital deficit tax.

- (2) If an entity is liable to pay *venture capital deficit tax under subsection 210-135(3) because it ceases to be a *PDF during an income year, the amount (if any) of *franking deficit tax that the entity would otherwise be liable to pay under subsection 205-45(3) because it ceases to be a *franking entity at that time is reduced by the amount of the liability for *venture capital deficit tax.

210-145 Effect of a liability to pay venture capital deficit tax on the franking account

- (1) If an entity incurs a liability to pay *venture capital deficit tax, a *franking credit arises for the entity immediately after the liability arises (the relevant day).
- (2) The amount of the *franking credit is equal to:
  - (a) if no liability to pay *franking deficit tax arises on the relevant day—the amount of the *venture capital deficit tax; or
  - (b) if a liability to pay franking deficit tax also arises on the relevant day—the amount of the venture capital deficit tax reduced by the amount of the franking deficit tax.

210-150 Deferring venture capital deficit

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that an entity does not avoid *venture capital deficit tax by deferring the time at which a *venture capital debit occurs.
- (2) An entity is taken to have *received a refund of income tax for an income year immediately before the end of that year for the purposes of subsection 210-135(2) if:

previous income year if the refund had been received in the previous income year.

- (3) If an entity ceases to be a *PDF during an income year, it is taken to have *received a refund of income tax immediately before it ceased to be a PDF for the purposes of subsection 210-135(3) if:
- (a) the refund is attributable to a period in the year during which the entity was a PDF; and
  - (b) the refund is paid within 3 months after the entity ceases to be a PDF; and
  - (c) the *venture capital sub-account of the entity would have been in *deficit, or in deficit to a greater extent, immediately before it ceased to be a PDF if the refund had been received before it ceased to be a PDF.

Guide to Subdivision 210-H

210-155 What this Subdivision is about

A superannuation fund or other entity that deals with superannuation that receives a distribution franked with a venture capital credit is entitled to a tax offset equal to the credit.

Table of sections

- 210-160 The significance of a venture capital credit
210-165 Recipients for whom the venture capital credit is not significant

Operative provisions

- 210-170 Tax offset for certain recipients of distributions franked with venture capital credits

---

210-160 The significance of a venture capital credit

- (1) The venture capital credit on a distribution is only significant in the hands of a relevant venture capital investor (basically a superannuation fund or other entity that deals with superannuation).
- (2) That investor receives a tax offset. In most cases, this will be equal to the venture capital credit.
- (3) Under section 124ZM of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, that part of the distribution that is franked with a venture capital credit is also treated as exempt income in the hands of the entity.

210-165 Recipients for whom the venture capital credit is not significant

- (1) For other entities, the fact that all or part of the franking credit on a distribution is also a venture capital credit can be ignored.
- (2) The franking credit will either generate a gross-up of the entity's assessable income and a corresponding tax offset under Division 207 or, if the right to make an election under section 124ZM of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 is exercised, the franked part of the distribution will be treated as exempt income.
- (3) The unfranked part of the distribution is treated as exempt income under section 124ZM of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Operative provisions

210-170 Tax offset for certain recipients of distributions franked with venture capital credits

- (1) The recipient of a *distribution *franked with a venture capital credit is entitled to a *tax offset for the income year in which the distribution is made if:
  - (a) the recipient is a relevant venture capital investor; and
  - (b) the recipient is not:
    - (i) a partnership; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) a trustee (other than the trustee of a *complying superannuation fund, a *non-complying superannuation fund, a *complying approved deposit fund, a *non-complying approved deposit fund or a *pooled superannuation trust); and
- (c) the recipient satisfies the *residency requirement for an entity receiving a distribution; and
- (d) the distribution is not *exempt income of the recipient (ignoring section 124ZM of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); and
- (e) the recipient is a qualified person in relation to the distribution for the purposes of Division 1A of former Part IIIAA of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (f) the distribution is not part of a *dividend stripping operation; and
- (g) the Commissioner has not made a determination under paragraph 204-30(3)(c) that no *imputation benefit is to arise for the receiving entity in respect of the distribution; and
- (h) the Commissioner has not made a determination under paragraph 177EA(5)(b) that no imputation benefit is to arise in respect of the distribution to the recipient.

Relevant venture capital investors

- (2) The following entities are relevant venture capital investors:
  - (a) the trustee of a fund that is a *complying superannuation fund in relation to the income year in which the *distribution is made and is not a self managed superannuation fund (within the meaning of the Superannuation Industry Supervision Act 1993);
  - (b) the trustee of a fund that is a *complying approved deposit fund in relation to the income year in which the distribution is made and is not a self managed superannuation fund (within the meaning of the Superannuation Industry Supervision Act 1993);
  - (c) the trustee of a unit trust that is a *pooled superannuation trust in relation to the income year in which the distribution is made;
  - (d) a *life insurance company.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

210-175 Amount of the tax offset

Where the recipient is not a life insurance company

- (1) If the entity receiving the *distribution is not a *life insurance company, the *tax offset is equal to the *venture capital credit on the distribution.

Where the recipient is a life insurance company

- (2) If the entity receiving the *distribution is a *life insurance company, the *tax offset is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Tax offset to which the entity would otherwise be entitled} \times \frac{\text{*Complying superannuation class of taxable income}}{\text{Total income}}$$

where:

complying superannuation/FHSA class of taxable income means the *complying superannuation/FHSA class of taxable income of the company for the income year in which the *distribution is made.

tax offset to which the entity would otherwise be entitled is the *tax offset that the company would be entitled to under subsection (1) if the entity were not a life insurance company.

total income is the company's assessable income for the income year.

210-180 Application of Division 207 where the recipient is entitled to a tax offset under section 210-170

If the recipient of a *distribution *franked with a venture capital credit is entitled to a *tax offset under section 210-170, Division 207 does not apply to that *part of the distribution that is venture capital franked.

Guide to Division 214

Table of sections

214-1	Purpose of the system
214-5	Key features

214-1 Purpose of the system

These provisions:

- (a) allow the Commissioner to gather sufficient information to determine whether tax is payable by a corporate tax entity under the imputation system; and
- (b) provide for the Commissioner to assess the amount of tax that is payable; and
- (c) specify when the tax is payable; and
- (d) establish systems to support the assessment and collection of the tax.

214-5 Key features

- (1) Initial information about a corporate tax entity's franking activities is provided by means of a return, called a franking return, given by the entity to the Commissioner.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) The Commissioner is able to require corporate tax entities to give a franking return for an income year by publishing a notice in the Gazette.
- (3) The Commissioner is also able to require a particular corporate tax entity to give a franking return for one or more income years. The Commissioner might do this, for example, if the Commissioner wishes to audit the corporate tax entity's franking activities over a number of years.
- (4) The Commissioner may assess whether tax is payable under the imputation system and the amount of that tax.
- (5) In most cases, this is done by treating the first franking return of a corporate tax entity for an income year as an assessment by the Commissioner. To this extent, there is self-assessment.
- (6) An assessment by the Commissioner is conclusive evidence of a corporate tax entity's tax liabilities under the imputation system, except for the purposes of objection, review and appeal processes under Part IVC of the Tax Administration Act 1953 (see section 177 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 and sections 214-50 and 214-85 of this Act).
- (7) Assessments can be amended by the Commissioner within certain time limits.

214-95 Amendments within 3 years of the original assessment

- (1) The Commissioner may amend a *franking assessment for a *corporate tax entity for an income year at any time during the period of 3 years after the *original franking assessment day for the entity for that year.
- (2) The original franking assessment day for a *corporate tax entity for an income year is the day on which the first *franking assessment for the entity for the income year is made.

---

214-100 Amended assessments are treated as franking assessments

Once an amended *franking assessment for a corporate tax entity for an income year is made, it is taken to be a franking assessment for the entity for the year.

214-105 Further return as a result of a refund affecting a franking deficit tax liability

(1) If:

- (a) a *franking assessment for a *corporate tax entity for an income year has been made; and
- (b) on a particular day (the further return day) the entity gives the Commissioner a further *franking return for the income year under subsection 214-45(1) (because the entity has *received a refund of income tax that affects its liability to pay *franking deficit tax);

the Commissioner is taken to have amended the entity's franking assessment on the further return day, and to have assessed:

- (c) the entity's *franking account balance at a particular time as that stated in the further return as the balance at that time; and
  - (d) the entity's *venture capital sub-account balance (if any) at a particular time as that stated in the further return as the balance at that time; and of 3 years after the *original franking assessment day for the entity for the year if, within that 3 year period:

- (a) the entity applies for the amendment; and
- (b) the entity gives the Commissioner all the information necessary for making the amendment.

214-115 Later amendments—failure to make proper disclosure

(1) If:

- (a) a *corporate tax entity does not make a full and true disclosure to the Commissioner of the information necessary for a *franking assessment for the entity for an income year; and
- (b) in making the assessment, the Commissioner makes an *under-assessment; and
- (c) the Commissioner is not of the opinion that the under-assessment is due to fraud or evasion;

the Commissioner may amend the assessment at any time during the period of 6 years after the *original franking assessment day for the entity for the year.

- (2) The Commissioner makes an under-assessment in a *franking assessment (the earlier assessment) if, in amending the earlier assessment, the Commissioner would have to do one or more of the following for the amended assessment to be correct:
  - (a) reduce the *franking surplus (including to a nil balance);
  - (b) increase the *franking deficit (including from a nil balance);
  - (c) increase *franking tax payable.

214-120 Later amendments—fraud or evasion

If:

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 214-125

---

- (c) the Commissioner is of the opinion that the under-assessment is due to fraud or evasion;
the Commissioner may amend the assessment at any time.

214-125 Further amendment of an amended particular

- (1) If:
- (a) a *franking assessment has been amended (the first amendment) in any particular; and
  - (b) the Commissioner is of the opinion that it would be just to further amend the assessment in that particular so as to *reduce the assessment;
- the Commissioner may do so within a period of 3 years after the first amendment.
- (2) The Commissioner reduces a franking assessment if the Commissioner amends the assessment by doing one or more of the following:
- (a) increasing the *franking surplus (including from a nil balance);
  - (b) decreasing the *franking deficit (including to a nil balance);
  - (c) decreasing *franking tax payable.

214-130 Other later amendments

In a case not covered by section 214-110, 214-115, 214-120 or 214-125, the Commissioner may amend the *franking assessment for a *corporate tax entity for an income year after the period of 3 years after the *original assessment day has expired, but not so as to *reduce the assessment.

214-135 Amendment on review etc.

Nothing in this Subdivision prevents the amendment of a *franking assessment:

- (a) to give effect to a decision on a review or appeal; or
- (b) to *reduce the assessment as a result of an objection made under this Act or pending an appeal or review.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (1) If the Commissioner amends an entity's *franking assessment, the Commissioner must give the entity notice of the amendment as soon as practicable after making the amendment.
- (2) The notice may be included in a notice of any other assessment under this Act.

- (2) *Franking tax payable because of an assessment under section 214-70 (a part-year assessment) is due and payable on the day specified in the notice of assessment as the day on which it is due and payable.

Amended assessments—other than because of deficit deferral

- (3) If:
- (a) the Commissioner amends a *franking assessment (the earlier assessment) other than because of the operation of section 214-105 (an amendment because of a refund of tax that affects *franking deficit tax liability); and
  - (b) the amount of *franking tax of a particular type payable under the amended assessment exceeds the amount of franking tax of that type payable under the earlier assessment;
- the excess amount is due and payable one month after the day on which the assessment was amended.

Tax payable because of deficit deferral

- (4) If:
- (a) a *corporate tax entity *receives a refund of income tax; and
  - (b) the receipt of the refund gives rise to a liability, or an increased liability, to pay *franking deficit tax because of the operation of subsection 205-50(2) or (3);
- the franking deficit tax or, if there is an increase in an existing liability to pay franking deficit tax, the difference between the original liability and the increased liability, is due and payable on:
- (c) if the entity accounts for the liability, or increased liability, in a *franking return that is *outstanding for the income year in which the liability arose—the day on which the outstanding return is required to be given to the Commissioner; or
  - (d) in any other case—14 days after the day on which the refund was received.

- (a) *franking tax of a particular type payable by a *corporate tax entity remains unpaid after the time by which it is due and payable; and
- (b) the Commissioner has not allocated the unpaid amount to an *RBA;

the entity is liable to pay the *general interest charge on the unpaid amount for each day in the period that:

- (c) starts at the beginning of the day on which the franking tax was due to be paid; and
- (d) ends at the end of the last day on which, at the end of the day, any of the following remains unpaid:
  - (i) the franking tax;
  - (ii) general interest charge on any of the franking tax.

Note: The general interest charge is worked out under Part IIA of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

214-160 Refunds of amounts overpaid

Division 215—Consequences of the debt/equity rules

Subdivision 215-A—Application of the imputation system to non-share equity interests

215-1 Application of the imputation system to non-share equity interests

- (1) The *imputation system applies to a *non-share equity interest in the same way as it applies to a *membership interest.
- (2) The *imputation system applies to an equity holder in an entity who is not a member of the entity in the same way as it applies to a member of the entity.

Subdivision 215-B—Non-share dividends that are unfrankable to some extent

Guide to Subdivision 215-B

215-5 What this Subdivision is about

While non-share dividends are, as a general rule, frankable, all or part of some non-share dividends are taken to be unfrankable by virtue of these rules.

Table of sections

215-10	Certain non-share dividends by ADIs unfrankable
215-15	Non-share dividends are unfrankable if profits are unavailable
215-20	Working out the available frankable profits
215-25	Anticipating available frankable profits

215-10 Certain non-share dividends by ADIs unfrankable

- (1) A *non-share dividend paid by an ADI (an authorised deposit-taking institution) for the purposes of the Banking Act 1959 is unfrankable if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the ADI is an Australian resident; and
  - (b) the non-share dividend is paid in respect of a *non-share equity interest that:
    - (i) by itself; or
    - (ii) in combination with one or more *schemes that are *related schemes to the scheme under which the interest arises; forms part of the ADI's Tier 1 capital either on a solo or consolidated basis (within the meaning of the *prudential standards); and
  - (c) the non-share equity interest is issued at or through a *permanent establishment of the ADI in a *listed country; and
  - (d) the funds from the issue of the non-share equity interest are raised and applied solely for one or more purposes permitted under subsection (2) in relation to the non-share equity interest.
- (2) The permitted purposes in relation to the *non-share equity interest (the relevant interest) are the following:
- (a) the purpose of the business of the ADI carried on at or through the permanent establishment other than the transfer of funds directly or indirectly to:
    - (i) the Australian head office of the permanent establishment; or
    - (ii) any *connected entity of the ADI that is an Australian resident; or
    - (iii) a permanent establishment of the ADI, or of a connected entity of the ADI, located in Australia;
  - (b) the purpose of redeeming:
    - (i) a *debt interest; or
    - (ii) a non-share equity interest;
that is issued, before the relevant interest is issued, at or through the permanent establishment and is held by a connected entity of the ADI that is an Australian resident;
  - (c) the purpose of returning funds to:
    - (i) the Australian head office of the permanent establishment; or

Section 215-15

---

- (ii) a permanent establishment of the ADI or of a connected entity of the ADI, located in Australia; if the funds are contributed, before the relevant interest is issued, for use in the business of the ADI carried on at or through the permanent establishment.

215-15 Non-share dividends are unfrankable if profits are unavailable

(1) If:

- (a) a *corporate tax entity pays a *non-share dividend; and
  - (b) immediately before the payment, the amount of the *available frankable profits of the entity is nil, or less than nil;
- the non-share dividend is unfrankable.

(2) If:

- (a) a *corporate tax entity pays a *non-share dividend that is not one of a number of non-share dividends paid at the same time; and
- (b) immediately before the payment, the amount of the *available frankable profits of the entity, although greater than nil, are less than the amount of the non-share dividend;

the entity is taken to have made a frankable distribution equal to the amount of the available frankable profits. The remainder of the dividend is taken to be an unfrankable distribution.

(3) If:

- (a) a *corporate tax entity pays a *non-share dividend that is one of a number paid at the same time; and
- (b) immediately before the payment, the amount of the *available frankable profits of the entity, although greater than nil are less than the sum of the amounts of the non-share dividends;

the entity is taken to have made a frankable distribution equal to the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of the *non-share dividend}}{\text{Sum of the amounts of all the non-share dividends}} \times \text{*Available frankable profits}$$

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

The remainder of the dividend is taken to be an unfrankable distribution.

215-20 Working out the available frankable profits

- (1) Use the following formula to work out the amount of a *corporate tax entity's available frankable profits at a particular time:

$$\text{Maximum frankable amount} - \left[ \begin{array}{l} \text{Committed share} \\ \text{dividends} \end{array} + \begin{array}{l} \text{Undebited non-share} \\ \text{dividends} \end{array} \right]$$

where:

committed share dividends means the sum of:

- (a) the amounts of any *distributions that are not *non-share dividends and are paid by the entity at that time; and
- (b) if the entity has announced that it will pay distributions that are not non-share dividends at a later time, or is committed or has resolved (formally or informally) to paying such distributions at a later time—the amounts of those distributions.

maximum frankable amount means the maximum amount of *frankable *distributions (other than *non-share dividends) that the *corporate tax entity could pay at that time having regard to its available profits at that time.

undebited non-share dividends means the sum of the amounts of the franked parts of the *non-share dividends (worked out under subsection (2)) that:

- (a) were not debited to available profits; and
  - (b) were paid within the preceding 2 income years or were paid under the same *scheme under which the entity pays the non-share dividend.
- (2) The amount of the franked part of a *non-share dividend is worked out using the following formula:

$$\text{*Franking credit on the dividend} \times \left( \frac{1 - \text{*Corporate tax rate}}{\text{Corporate tax rate}} \right)$$

---

215-25 Anticipating available frankable profits

- (1) A *corporate tax entity that pays a *non-share dividend may anticipate *available frankable profits if:
- (a) the entity:
    - (i) has announced the payment of; or
    - (ii) is committed or has resolved (formally or informally) to pay; *distributions other than non-share dividends (the committed distributions) after payment of the non-share dividend; and
  - (b) but for this subsection, section 215-15 would apply to the non-share dividend; and
  - (c) the entity's available frankable profits would be greater than nil at the relevant time if the committed distributions were ignored; and
  - (d) it is reasonable to expect that available profits will arise after payment of the non-share dividend and before payment of the committed distributions; and
  - (e) it is reasonable to expect that, having regard to the available profits mentioned in paragraph (d), the amount of the entity's *adjusted available frankable profits immediately after each of the committed distributions is paid will be greater than nil.
The available frankable profits immediately before the entity pays the non-share dividend is then the smallest of the amounts of the adjusted available frankable profits mentioned in paragraph (e).
- (2) The entity's adjusted available frankable profits immediately after a committed distribution is paid is the amount that would be its *available frankable profits at that time if all committed distributions to be paid after that time, and the *non-share dividend, were ignored.
- (3) A *franking debit arises for the entity if:
- (a) the entity anticipates *available frankable profits under subsection (1); and
  - (b) the available frankable profits of the entity are less than nil:
    - (i) immediately after the last of the committed distributions is made; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (ii) immediately before the end of the income year following the income year in which the *non-share dividend is paid;
- whichever is earlier.
- (4) The *franking debit is equal to the lesser of:
  - (a) the amount by which the *available frankable profits is below nil; and
  - (b) the amount of the franked part of the *non-share dividend (worked out using subsection 215-20(2)) or, if more than one non-share dividend is made at the relevant time, the sum of the amounts of the franked parts of those non-share dividends.
- (5) In working out the entity's *available frankable profits for the purposes of subsection (3) or (4), disregard:
  - (a) any *distributions that:
    - (i) the entity announces, or becomes committed to or resolves (formally or informally) to pay after the payment of the *non-share dividend; and
    - (ii) have not been paid; and
  - (b) any estimate made by the entity under subsection (1) after the non-share dividend is paid.

216-1 When a distribution made to a member of a corporate tax entity is treated as having been made to someone else

There are 2 situations in which a *franked distribution, or a distribution *franked with an exempting credit, that is made to a *member of a *corporate tax entity is taken to have been made to another entity.

216-5 First situation (cum dividend sales)

- (1) The first situation is one in which:
  - (a) the *corporate tax entity makes a *franked distribution, or a *distribution franked with an exempting credit, to a *member

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- of the entity in respect of a *membership interest in the entity; and
- (b) at the *distribution closing time, the member is under an obligation to transfer the membership interest to another person under a contract for the sale of the membership interest; and
  - (c) the contract:
    - (i) requires that the distribution be paid on to the other person; and
    - (ii) is entered into in the ordinary course of trading on an *approved stock exchange in Australia or elsewhere.
- (2) The *distribution is taken to have been made to the other person as a *member of the entity (and not to the member).
- Note: As the other person is the entity receiving the distribution, there may be tax effects for the other person under Division 207 or 208.
- (3) The *distribution referred to in paragraph (1)(a) includes a distribution that is taken to be made as a result of one or more previous applications of this section or section 216-10.

216-10 Second situation (securities lending arrangements)

- (1) The second situation is one in which:
- (a) the *corporate tax entity makes a *franked distribution, or a *distribution franked with an exempting credit, to a *member of the entity in respect of a *membership interest in the entity; and
  - (b) at the time the distribution was made, the member was under an obligation to pay the distribution to another person under a *securities lending arrangement; and
  - (c) the obligation was incurred in the member's capacity as the borrower under the securities lending arrangement; and
  - (d) the *distribution closing time occurred during the borrowing period.
- (2) The *distribution is taken to have been made to the other person as a *member of the entity (and not to the member).

- (3) The distribution referred to in paragraph (1)(a) includes a distribution that is taken to be made as a result of one or more previous applications of this section or section 216-5.

216-15 Distribution closing time

If *distributions by a *corporate tax entity are made to those *members who were members as at a particular time at or before the distribution is made, that time is the distribution closing time in relation to those distributions.

216-20	Cum dividend sale—statement by securities dealer
216-25	Cum dividend sale—statement by party

216-20 Cum dividend sale—statement by securities dealer

If:

- (a) section 216-5 applies in relation to a *franked distribution or a *distribution franked with an exempting credit (cum dividend sales); and
- (b) a *securities dealer has acted for a particular party to the contract concerned; the securities dealer must, as soon as practicable after the making of the distribution, give to the other party to the contract a statement in the *approved form setting out such information in relation to the distribution as is required by the approved form.

---

216-25 Cum dividend sale—statement by party

- (b) a particular party to the contract concerned has not had a *securities dealer acting for him or her;

that party must, as soon as practicable after the making of the distribution, give to the other party to the contract a statement in the *approved form setting out such information in relation to the distribution as is required by the approved form.

216-30 Securities lending arrangements—statement by borrower

If section 216-10 (*securities lending arrangements) applies in relation to a *franked distribution, or a *distribution franked with an exempting credit, the borrower must, as soon as practicable after the making of the distribution, give to the lender a statement in the *approved form setting out such information in relation to the distribution as is required by the approved form.

- (1) The *imputation system applies to a *co-operative company in the same way as it applies to any other company but with the modifications set out in this section.
- (2) Each reference to a *distribution is taken to include a reference to an amount distributed as mentioned in paragraph 120(1)(a) or (b) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (3) Despite subsection 202-75(1) (about giving distribution statements), a *co-operative company does not have to give the recipient of a *frankable distribution a *distribution statement unless the *franking percentage for the distribution is greater than zero.

Franking debits in the franking account

Item	If:	A debit of:	Arises:
2	the company *receives a refund of income tax; and  the company satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year to which the refund relates; and  the company was a *franking entity for the whole or part of that income year	that part of the refund that is attributable to:  (a) the *shareholders' share of the income tax liability of the company for that income year; and  (b) the period during which the company was a franking entity	on the day on which the refund is received

---

Note 1: On the assessment day, a franking debit that arises under item 1 of this table reverses the effect of a franking credit that arose under item 1 of the table in section 219-15.

Note 2: Section 219-50 tells you how to work out the part of an amount that is attributable to the shareholders' share of the income tax liability of the company for the income year.

219-40 Residency requirement

The tables in sections 219-15 and 219-30 are relevant for the purposes of subsection 205-25(1) (about the residency requirement).

219-45 Assessment day

A *life insurance company's assessment day for an income year is the earlier of:

- (a) the day on which the company furnishes its *income tax return for that income year; or
- (b) the day on which the Commissioner makes an assessment of the amount of the company's taxable income for that income year under section 166 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

---

219-50 Amount attributable to shareholders' share of income tax liability

- (1) Subsection (2) applies to a *life insurance company in relation to the payment or refund mentioned in an item of a table in this Subdivision (except item 1 of the table in section 219-15).

Note: The operation of this section is affected by section 219-75 if a tax offset under section 205-70 is applied to work out the company's income tax liability.

- (2) For the purposes of this Part, the part of the payment or refund that is attributable to the *shareholders' share of the income tax liability of the company for an income year must be worked out as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the part of the company's total income tax liability for the income year that is attributable to the company's shareholders.

The result of this step is the shareholders' share of the income tax liability of the company for the income year.

Step 2. Divide the step 1 result by that total income tax liability.

The result of this step is the shareholders' ratio for the income year.

Step 3. Multiply the amount of the payment or refund by the *shareholders' ratio.

The result of this step is the part of the payment or refund that is attributable to the *shareholders' share of the income tax liability of the company for the income year.

- (3) For the purposes of this Part, the estimate mentioned in item 1 of the table in section 219-15 (the part of a payment estimated to be attributable to the *shareholders' share of a company's income tax liability for an income year) must be worked out on the basis of:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) subject to paragraph (b), the method statement in subsection (2); and
  - (b) the company's reasonable estimate of the amounts that, on the company's *assessment day for the income year, will be:
    - (i) its total income tax liability for the income year; and
    - (ii) the part of that total income tax liability that is attributable to its shareholders.
- (4) In working out the part of the income tax liability of a *life insurance company that is attributable to the shareholders of the company for the purposes of this section, regard is to be had to the accounting records of the company.

219-55 Adjustment resulting from an amended assessment

- (1) This section applies in relation to the *franking account of a *life insurance company if:
- (a) the assessment of the company's income tax liability for an income year is amended on a particular day (the adjustment day); and
  - (b) the *shareholders' ratio (the new ratio) based on the amended assessment is different from the shareholders' ratio used previously in relation to that income year to work out a *franking credit or *franking debit for the company; and
  - (c) the franking account would have a different balance on the adjustment day if the new ratio had been used to work out all the franking credits and franking debits covered by paragraph (b).

Note: The operation of this section is affected by section 219-75 if a tax offset under section 205-70 is, or has been, applied to work out the company's income tax liability.

- (2) On the adjustment day, a *franking credit or *franking debit (as appropriate) of the amount worked out under subsection (3) arises in the *franking account.
- (3) The amount is an adjustment that will bring the *franking account to the balance that it would have on the adjustment day if the new ratio had been used to work out all the *franking credits and *franking debits covered by paragraph (1)(b).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 219-70

---

Example: On the basis of a shareholders' ratio of 60% for the income year, franking credits of the amounts of $6,000, $6,000, $6,000 and $6,000 arose under item 2 of the table in section 219-15 for Company X.

An amended assessment results in a new shareholders' ratio of 70%. Under this section, a franking credit of $4,000 arises on the day of the amended assessment to bring the balance of the franking account from $24,000 to $28,000, which would be the account's balance if the new shareholders' ratio had been used.

219-70 Tax offset under section 205-70

- (1) In applying section 205-70 to a *life insurance company, that section has effect as if:
  - (a) the reference in paragraph 205-70(1)(c) to the amount that would have been an entity's income tax liability for a previous income year were a reference to the part of such an amount in respect of the company that is attributable to its shareholders; and
  - (b) the reference in subsection 205-70(3) to the amount that would have been an entity's income tax liability for the relevant year were a reference to the part of such an amount in respect of the company that is attributable to its shareholders.
- (2) In working out the part of an amount that is attributable to the company's shareholders for the purposes of this section, regard is to be had to the accounting records of the company.

Example: The following apply to a life insurance company that satisfies the residency requirement for an income year:

- the company has a tax offset of $60,000 under section 205-70 (the franking deficit offset) for that year;
- the company's income tax liability for that year would be $100,000 if the franking deficit offset were disregarded;
- 20% of the $100,000 is attributable to the company's shareholders (the shareholders' part).

As a result of applying $20,000 of the franking deficit offset to reduce the shareholders' part to nil, the company's income tax liability becomes $80,000. The remaining $40,000 of the offset will be included in a franking deficit tax offset for the next income year for which the company satisfies the residency requirement.

---

219-75 Working out franking credits and franking debits where a tax offset under section 205-70 is applied

Revised shareholders' ratio—modification of section 219-50

- (1) Subsection (2) applies to a *life insurance company if a *tax offset under section 205-70 is applied to work out the company's income tax liability for an income year.

Note: This means subsection (2) applies if the tax offset is applied to reduce the part of the amount mentioned in paragraph 219-70(1)(b) in relation to the income year.

- (2) For the purposes of working out the amount of a *franking credit or *franking debit for the company in relation to the income year (other than a franking credit covered by item 1 of the table in section 219-15), section 219-50 has effect as if:
- (a) steps 1 and 2 of the method statement in section 219-50 were omitted; and
  - (b) the reference in step 3 of that method statement to the *shareholders' ratio were a reference to the revised shareholders' ratio worked out as follows:

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the remainder (if any) of the part of the amount mentioned in paragraph 219-70(1)(b) after the *tax offset is applied to reduce that part.

Note: The part mentioned in paragraph 219-70(1)(b) is the part of an amount of the company's income tax liability for the income year that is attributable to its shareholders.

- Step 2. Divide the step 1 result by the company's total income tax liability for the income year (after applying the *tax offset).

The result (which can be nil) is the company's revised shareholders' ratio for the income year.

Chapter 3 Specialist liability rules

Part 3-6 The imputation system

Division 219 Imputation for life insurance companies

Section 219-75

Example: For the 2002-2003 income year X Co (which is a life insurance company) has a tax offset of $68,000 under section 205-70. Its income tax liability for that year would have been $400,000 on the assessment day (1 February 2004) if the tax offset were disregarded. Of that liability, $80,000 is attributable to the shareholders. The step 1 result is therefore $12,000 ($80,000 minus $68,000).

X Co's income tax liability after applying the tax offset is $332,000 ($400,000 minus $68,000). The revised shareholders' ratio is therefore 3/83 ($12,000 divided by $332,000).

For that income year, the company paid $249,000 of PAYG instalments before the assessment day and $83,000 of income tax one month after that day.

On the assessment day, a franking credit of $9,000 arises under item 2 of the table in section 219-15 ($249,000 multiplied by 3/83). On the day the additional amount of tax is paid, another franking credit of $3,000 arises under item 4 of that table ($83,000 multiplied by 3/83).

Adjustment resulting from amended assessment—modification of section 219-55

- (3) Subsection (4) applies to a *life insurance company if:
- (a) the assessment of the company's income tax liability for an income year (the previous assessment) is amended; and
  - (b) at least one of the following applies:
    - (i) a *tax offset under section 205-70 is applied in making that amended assessment;
    - (ii) a tax offset under section 205-70 was applied in making the previous assessment.
- (4) Section 219-55 has effect in relation to the company as if:
- (a) if subparagraph (3)(b)(i) of this section applies—a reference in that section to the new ratio were a reference to the revised shareholders' ratio that is based on the amended assessment; and
  - (b) if subparagraph (3)(b)(ii) of this section applies—the reference in paragraph (1)(b) of that section to the *shareholders' ratio used previously were a reference to the revised shareholders' ratio that is based on the previous assessment.

Example: Continuing the example in subsection (2), the assessment of X Co for the 2002-2003 income year is amended on 31 March 2004. Under the amended assessment, X Co's income tax liability would be $300,000 if the tax offset were disregarded.

Of that liability, $60,000 is attributable to the shareholders. That amount is reduced by the tax offset of $68,000 to nil.

X Co's liability to pay income tax is therefore reduced to $240,000 ($300,000 minus $60,000) and it will receive a refund of $92,000 ($332,000 minus $240,000). As the revised shareholders' ratio has become nil, no franking debit arises from the refund.

The franking credits that previously arose from the payments of PAYG instalments and income tax would not have arisen if the new revised shareholders' ratio had been used. Section 219-55 (as applied by subsection (4) of this section) therefore operates to create an adjustment to cancel those franking credits. The adjustment is a franking debit of $12,000 that arises on the day of the amendment of the assessment.

Guide to Division 220

220-1 What this Division is about

A company resident in New Zealand may choose that the imputation system apply in relation to it. If it does, the rest of this Part applies in relation to it as if it were an Australian resident company, but with modifications. Some of the modifications also affect:

- (a) other companies that are members of the same wholly-owned group; or
- (b) entities that receive distributions from the company resident in New Zealand.

- (2) Another object of this Division is to prevent the benefits of the *imputation system from being inappropriately made available to or through a *member of a company that is a foreign resident, by modifying the way in which the rest of this Part applies to:
  - (a) a company that has chosen that the system apply in relation to it; and
  - (b) other companies that are members of the same *wholly-owned group as that company; and
  - (c) other entities that receive (directly or indirectly) *distributions from that company.

Natural person

- (2) A natural person is an NZ resident if he or she resides in New Zealand.

- (3) A natural person is also an NZ resident if his or her domicile is in New Zealand, unless the Commissioner is satisfied that the person's permanent place of abode is outside New Zealand.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 220-25

---

  - (b) the person does not intend to take up residence in New Zealand.

Not an NZ resident if an Australian resident

- (5) A person is not an NZ resident if the person is an Australian resident. This has effect despite subsections (1), (2), (3) and (4).

220-40 When is an NZ franking choice in force?

- (1) A company's *NZ franking choice comes into force:
  - (a) at the start of the company's income year in which the notice was given to the Commissioner; or
  - (b) at the start of a later income year specified in the notice.

Note: That Part provides for review of the cancellation objected against.

Effect of cancelling a choice on making another choice in future

- (4) If the company makes another *NZ franking choice, it does not come into force unless the Commissioner consents in writing to the choice coming into force.
- (5) In consenting, the Commissioner may specify when the choice is to come into force. The consent has effect according to its terms, despite section 220-40.

Franking NZ franking companies' distributions

220-100 Residency requirement for franking

- (1) An *NZ franking company satisfies the residency requirement when making a *distribution only if the distribution is made at least one month after the notice constituting the company's *NZ franking choice was given to the Commissioner.

Note: This section is relevant to both section 202-5 and section 208-60, which let a company frank a distribution, or frank a distribution with an exempting credit, only if the company satisfies the residency requirement when making the distribution.

- (2) Section 202-20, as applying because of section 220-25, has effect subject to this section.

Note: Section 202-20 sets out how a company satisfies the residency requirement when making a distribution.

220-105 Unfrankable distributions by NZ franking companies

- (1) These *distributions by an *NZ franking company are *unfrankable:
- (a) a conduit tax relief additional dividend (as defined in section OB1 of the Income Tax Act 1994 of New Zealand);
  - (b) a supplementary dividend (as defined in that section).
- (2) This section does not limit section 202-45 (about *unfrankable distributions).

220-110 Maximum franking credit under section 202-60

For the purposes of working out the *maximum franking credit for a *frankable distribution made by an *NZ franking company in a *foreign currency, translate the amount of the distribution into Australian currency at the exchange rate applicable at the time of the decision to make the *distribution.

---

---

NZ franking companies' franking accounts etc.

220-205 Franking credit for payment of NZ franking company's withholding tax liability

- (1) A *franking credit arises in the *franking account of a company on the day a payment is made of *withholding tax that the company is liable under section 128B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 to pay, if:
- (a) because of section 220-25, the company satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year in which it *derived the income on which it was liable to pay the withholding tax; and
  - (b) the company is a *franking entity for the whole or part of that income year.

The amount of the credit equals the amount of the payment.

- (2) For the purposes of determining whether the company satisfies the *residency requirement for the income year described in paragraph (1)(a), section 205-25 has effect as if the derivation of the income described in that paragraph were an event specified in a relevant table for the purposes of that section.

220-210 Effect of franked distribution to NZ franking company or flowing indirectly to NZ franking company

No tax offset for NZ franking company

- (1) An *NZ franking company to which a *franked distribution is made or *flows indirectly is not entitled under Division 207 to a *tax offset for the *distribution. That Division has effect subject to this section.

Denial of tax offset does not stop franking credit or debit arising

- (2) However, subsection (1) does not prevent a *franking credit or *franking debit from arising in the *NZ franking company's *franking account under Division 205 or 208. To avoid doubt, the amount of the credit or debit, and the time at which it arises, are the same as they would be apart from subsection (1).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 220-215

---

Note: This has the effect that the amount and timing of the credit or debit are worked out as if the NZ franking company had been entitled to the tax offset that subsection (1) prevents the company from being entitled to.

220-215 Effect on franking account if NZ franking choice ceases to be in force

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) a company has made an *NZ franking choice; and
  - (b) the choice is revoked or cancelled at a time (the end time); and
  - (c) immediately before the end time the company is a foreign resident.

Franking debit if franking surplus just before end time

- (2) A *franking debit arises in the company's *franking account on the day during which the end time occurs if the account was in *surplus immediately before that time. The amount of the debit equals the *franking surplus.

Franking deficit tax if franking deficit just before end time

- (3) If the company's *franking account was in *deficit immediately before the end time, subsection 205-45(3) applies in relation to the company as if it ceased to be a *franking entity at the end time.

Note: Subsection 205-45(3) makes an entity liable to pay franking deficit tax if the entity ceases to be a franking entity and had a franking deficit immediately before ceasing to be a franking entity.

- (4) Subsection (3) does not limit the effect of subsection 205-45(3).

Take account of franking debit arising under section 220-605

- (5) Take account of any *franking debit arising under section 220-605 because of the revocation or cancellation in working out for the purposes of this section whether the company's *franking account is in *surplus or *deficit immediately before the end time.

Note: Section 220-605 provides for a franking debit to arise in the company's franking account immediately before the end time if, immediately before the end time, the company was a former exempting entity and its exempting account was in deficit.

Franking accounts of NZ franking company and some of its 100% subsidiaries

220-300 NZ franking company's franking account affected by franking accounts of some of its 100% subsidiaries

- (1) This section has effect if all these conditions are met in relation to a company (the franking donor company) at a time:
  - (a) the franking donor company is at the time:
    - (i) an Australian resident or a *post-choice NZ franking company; and
    - (ii) a *100% subsidiary of a post-choice NZ franking company (the parent company) that is not a 100% subsidiary of another company that is a member of the same *wholly-owned group as the parent company;
  - (b) the franking donor company is at the time a 100% subsidiary of a post-choice NZ franking company (the NZ recipient company) in relation to which these requirements are met:
    - (i) there must be no companies that are *NZ residents and 100% subsidiaries of the NZ recipient company interposed between it and the franking donor company;
    - (ii) the NZ recipient company must be either the parent company or a 100% subsidiary of the parent company;
  - (c) there are interposed between the NZ recipient company and the franking donor company at the time one or more companies, each of which:
    - (i) is a 100% subsidiary of the NZ recipient company; and
    - (ii) is neither an Australian resident nor an NZ resident.

What is a post-choice NZ franking company?

- (2) A company is a post-choice NZ franking company at a time if:
  - (a) at the time, the company is an *NZ franking company; and
  - (b) the notice constituting the *NZ franking choice that makes the company an NZ franking company at the time was given to the Commissioner at or before the time.

---

Franking donor company's franking surplus when conditions met

- (3) If the franking donor company's *franking account is in *surplus at the first time all the conditions in subsection (1) are met:
- (a) a *franking debit equal to the surplus arises in the franking donor company's franking account immediately after that time; and
  - (b) a *franking credit equal to the surplus arises in the NZ recipient company's franking account immediately after that time.

Franking donor company's franking deficit when conditions met

- (4) If the franking donor company's *franking account is in *deficit at the first time all the conditions in subsection (1) are met, subsection 205-45(3) applies in relation to the franking donor company as if:
- (a) it ceased to be a *franking entity at that time; and
  - (b) its franking account had been in deficit to the same extent immediately before that cessation.

Note: Subsection 205-45(3) makes an entity liable to pay franking deficit tax if the entity ceases to be a franking entity and had a franking deficit immediately before ceasing to be a franking entity.

NZ recipient company's franking account after conditions are met

- (5) If, apart from paragraph (a), a *franking credit or *franking debit would arise in the franking donor company's *franking account at a time (the accounting time) that is a time when all the conditions in subsection (1) are met but after the first time at which all those conditions are met in relation to the franking donor company:
- (a) the credit or debit does not arise in the franking donor company's franking account; and
  - (b) a credit or debit of the same amount arises at the accounting time in the NZ recipient company's franking account instead.
- (6) However, subsection (5) does not apply in relation to:
- (a) a *franking debit arising in the franking donor company's *franking account under subsection (3); or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) a *franking credit arising in that account because of item 5 of the table in section 205-15 in conjunction with subsection (4) of this section; or
- (c) a franking debit arising in that account under paragraph 220-605(3)(a).

Note 1: Item 5 of the table in section 205-15 gives rise to a franking credit immediately after a liability to franking deficit tax arises. Subsection (4) of this section causes such a liability to arise under section 205-45.

Note 2: Paragraph 220-605(3)(a) gives rise to a franking debit if the NZ franking choice of a company that is a former exempting entity is revoked or cancelled and the company's exempting account is in deficit immediately before the revocation or cancellation.

Franking donor company's benchmark franking percentage

- (7) Subsection (5) does not affect the franking donor company's *benchmark franking percentage.

Special rules if franking donor company is former exempting entity

- (8) If the franking donor company becomes a *former exempting entity at the first time all the conditions in subsection (1) are met:
  - (a) subsections (3) and (4) do not apply; and
  - (b) subsection (5) does not apply in relation to:
    - (i) a *franking credit arising in the franking donor company's *franking account under item 1 of the table in section 208-130 immediately after that time; or
    - (ii) a *franking debit arising in the franking donor company's franking account under item 1 of the table in section 208-145 immediately after that time.

Note: Subsection (8) ensures that the franking donor company's franking account has a nil balance immediately after the company becomes a former exempting entity and that there is an appropriate balance in the company's exempting account that is not made available for use by the NZ recipient company in franking distributions.

Effect of NZ franking company making distribution that is non-assessable and non-exempt

220-350 Providing for a franking credit to arise

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) an *NZ franking company makes a *franked distribution to a company (the receiving company); and
  - (b) the distribution does not *flow indirectly through the receiving company to another entity; and
  - (c) because of section 23AI, 23AJ or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936:
    - (i) all of the distribution is *exempt income, or is *non-assessable non-exempt income, in the hands of the receiving company; or
    - (ii) part of the distribution is exempt income, or is non-assessable non-exempt income, in the hands of the receiving company.

- (2) A *franking credit arises in the receiving company's *franking account on the day on which the distribution is made.

Note: If only part of the distribution is exempt income or non-assessable non-exempt income:

- (a) a franking credit in relation to the distribution will arise under this section in relation to the part of the distribution that is exempt income, or that is non-assessable non-exempt income; and
  - (b) another franking credit in relation to the distribution will arise under item 3 of the table in subsection 205-15(1) in relation to the part of the distribution that is not exempt income, or that is not non-assessable non-exempt income (see also subsection 207-90(2)).
- (3) The amount of the *franking credit that so arises is:
- (a) if subparagraph (1)(c)(i) applies—the amount of the franking credit on the distribution made by the *NZ franking company; or
  - (b) if subparagraph (1)(c)(ii) applies—so much of the franking credit on the distribution made by the NZ franking company as is attributable to the part of the distribution referred to in that subparagraph.

- (4) The table in subsection 205-15(1) has effect subject to this section.

Effects of supplementary dividend from NZ franking company

220-400 Gross-up and tax offset for distribution from NZ franking company reduced by supplementary dividend

- (1) This section has effect if:
- (a) an *NZ franking company:
    - (i) makes a *franked distribution to an entity (the recipient) in an income year; and
    - (ii) pays a supplementary dividend (as defined in section OB1 of the Income Tax Act 1994 of New Zealand) to the recipient in connection with the franked distribution; and
  - (b) an amount is included in the recipient's assessable income for the income year under section 207-20, and the recipient is entitled to a *tax offset for the income year under that section or section 207-110; and
  - (c) the recipient is entitled to a tax offset under Division 770 because of the inclusion of the *distribution in the recipient's assessable income for the income year.

Reduced gross-up

- (2) The amount included in the recipient's assessable income under section 207-20 is reduced by the amount of the supplementary dividend (but not below zero).

Reduced tax offset

- (3) The amount of the *tax offset under section 207-20 is reduced by the amount of the supplementary dividend (but not below zero).

Section 220-405

---

What happens if certain provisions apply

- (4) Subsections (2) and (3) do not apply to the recipient in relation to the *franked distribution if one or more of the following provisions also apply to the recipient in relation to the distribution:
  - (a) subsection 207-90(1);
  - (b) subsection 207-90(2);
  - (c) subsection 207-145(1);
  - (d) subsection 207-145(2).
- (5) If subsection 207-90(2) or 207-145(2) would also apply to the recipient in relation to the *franked distribution, apply that subsection on the basis that:
  - (a) the amount of the *franking credit on the distribution; had been reduced by:
  - (b) so much of the supplementary dividend as does not exceed that amount of the franking credit.

Relationship with sections 207-20, 207-90 and 207-145

- (6) Sections 207-20, 207-90 and 207-145 have effect subject to this section.

220-405 Franked distribution and supplementary dividend flowing indirectly

- (1) This section has effect if:
  - (a) an *NZ franking company:
    - (i) makes a *franked distribution; and
    - (ii) pays a supplementary dividend (as defined in section OB1 of the Income Tax Act 1994 of New Zealand) in connection with the franked distribution; and
  - (b) the franked distribution and the supplementary dividend *flow indirectly to an entity (the recipient) in an income year because the recipient is a partner in a partnership or a beneficiary or trustee of a trust; and
  - (c) the recipient is entitled under section 207-45 to a *tax offset in connection with the *distribution; and

---

---

- (d) the recipient is entitled to a tax offset under Division 770 for the income year because of the distribution.

Recipient that is a partner or beneficiary

- (2) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the recipient under subsection 207-50(2) or (3), then:
  - (a) the recipient can deduct an amount for the income year that is equal to so much of its share of the supplementary dividend as does not exceed:
    - (i) if the distribution flows indirectly to the recipient under subsection 207-50(2)—the recipient's individual interest in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection; or
    - (ii) if the distribution flows indirectly to the recipient under subsection 207-50(3)—the recipient's share amount in relation to the distribution that is mentioned in that subsection; and
  - (b) the recipient's *tax offset under section 207-45 is reduced by so much of the deduction under paragraph (a) as does not exceed its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

Recipient that is a trustee

- (3) If the *franked distribution *flows indirectly to the recipient under subsection 207-50(4), then:
  - (a) the share amount mentioned in that subsection in relation to the distribution is reduced by so much of the recipient's share of the supplementary dividend as does not exceed that share amount; and
  - (b) the recipient's *tax offset under section 207-45 is reduced by so much of the reduction under paragraph (a) as does not exceed its *share of the *franking credit on the distribution.

What happens if certain provisions apply

- (4) Subsection (2) or (3) (as appropriate) does not apply to the recipient in relation to the *franked distribution if one or more of the following provisions also apply to the recipient in relation to the distribution:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 220-405

---

- (a) subsection 207-95(1);
  - (b) subsection 207-95(5);
  - (c) subsection 207-150(1);
  - (d) subsection 207-150(5).
- (5) If subsection 207-90(5) or 207-150(5) would also apply to the recipient in relation to the *franked distribution, apply that subsection on the basis that:
- (a) the amount of the recipient's *share of the *franking credit on the distribution; had been reduced by:
  - (b) so much of the recipient's share of the supplementary dividend as does not exceed the amount of that share of the franking credit.

When does a supplementary dividend flow to an entity?

- (6) A supplementary dividend flows indirectly to an entity if it would have *flowed indirectly to the entity under subsection 207-50(2), (3) or (4), if:
- (a) the dividend had been a *franked distribution; and
  - (b) a reference in that subsection to the entity's *share of the franked distribution had been a reference to the entity's share of the supplementary dividend.

Share of supplementary dividend

- (7) The entity's share of the supplementary dividend is worked out as follows:

$$\text{Amount of the supplementary dividend} \times \frac{\text{Entity's *share of the *franked distribution}}{\text{Amount of the *franked distribution}}$$

- (8) Nothing in this section has the effect of including in the entity's assessable income its share of the supplementary dividend.

Relationship with Subdivisions 207-B, 207-D, 207-E and 207-F

- (9) Subdivisions 207-B, 207-D, 207-E and 207-F have effect subject to this section.

---

220-410 Franking credit reduced if tax offset reduced

- (1) If, under section 220-400 or 220-405, a *corporate tax entity's *tax offset (the reduced tax offset) for the *franked distribution described in that section is less than it would be apart from that section, the *franking credit arising in that entity's *franking account because of the *distribution is equal to the reduced tax offset.
- (2) The following provisions have effect subject to this section:
  - (a) items 3 and 4 of the table in section 205-15;
  - (b) items 5 and 6 of the table in section 219-15.

Note: Each of those items gives rise to a franking credit for a franked distribution if the recipient is entitled under Division 207 to a tax offset for the distribution. Those items provide that the amount of the credit equals the amount of that offset.

Rules about exempting entities

220-500 Publicly listed post-choice NZ franking company and its 100% subsidiaries are not exempting entities

- (1) A company is not an *exempting entity at a particular time if:
  - (a) it is a *post-choice NZ franking company at the time; and
  - (b) the company is a *listed public company at the time.
- (2) A company (the non-exempting company) is not an *exempting entity at a particular time if at the time:
  - (a) the non-exempting company is a *100% subsidiary of a company (the listed company) that is not an exempting entity because of subsection (1); and
  - (b) the non-exempting company is an Australian resident or a *post-choice NZ franking company; and
  - (c) if:
    - (i) there are one or more companies interposed between the non-exempting company and the listed company; and
    - (ii) one or more of the interposed companies are *NZ residents;

Section 220-505

---

all of the interposed companies that are NZ residents are post-choice NZ franking companies.

- (3) This section has effect despite section 208-20 (about an entity being an *exempting entity).

220-505 Post-choice NZ franking company is not automatically prescribed person

- (1) A *post-choice NZ franking company is not a prescribed person under section 208-40 for the purposes of working out whether another *corporate tax entity is an *exempting entity at a particular time because it is effectively owned by prescribed persons within the meaning of section 208-25.
- (2) However, this section does not prevent the company from being taken under section 208-45 to be a prescribed person for those purposes.

220-510 Parent company's status as prescribed person sets status of all other members of same wholly-owned group

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of working out whether a company is an *exempting entity at a particular time because it is effectively owned by prescribed persons within the meaning of section 208-25, if:
- (a) at the time the company is a *100% subsidiary of another company (the parent company) that is not a 100% subsidiary of another member of the same *wholly-owned group; and
  - (b) at the time the parent company is a *post-choice NZ franking company; and
  - (c) there is at least one company (the non-Tasman company) that meets all these conditions:
    - (i) the non-Tasman company is neither an Australian resident nor an *NZ resident at the time;
    - (ii) the non-Tasman company is a member of the same wholly-owned group at the time;
    - (iii) the non-Tasman company is interposed between the parent company and a company that, at the time, is an Australian resident or a post-choice NZ franking company.

- (2) At the time, each company that is a *100% subsidiary of the parent company is a prescribed person if the parent company is a prescribed person at the time for those purposes because of section 208-40 or 208-45 (taking account of section 220-505, if relevant).
- (3) At the time, each company that is a *100% subsidiary of the parent company is not a prescribed person if the parent company is not a prescribed person for those purposes because of section 208-40 or 208-45 (taking account of section 220-505, if relevant).
- (4) This section has effect despite sections 208-40, 208-45 and 220-505 so far as those sections apply in relation to a *100% subsidiary of the parent company.

NZ franking companies' exempting accounts

220-605 Effect on exempting account if NZ franking choice ceases to be in force

- (1) This section has effect if:
  - (a) a company has made an *NZ franking choice; and
  - (b) the choice is revoked or cancelled at a time (the end time); and
  - (c) immediately before the end time:
    - (i) the company is a foreign resident; and
    - (ii) the company is a *former exempting entity.

Exempting debit if exempting surplus just before end time

- (2) An *exempting debit arises in the company's *exempting account at the end time if the account was in *surplus immediately before that time. The amount of the debit equals the *exempting surplus.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 220-700

---

If exempting deficit just before end time

- (3) If the company's *exempting account was in *deficit immediately before the end time:
  - (a) a *franking debit equal to that deficit arises in the company's *franking account immediately before the end time; and
  - (b) an *exempting credit equal to that deficit arises in the company's exempting account at the end time.

Tax effect of distribution franked by NZ franking company with an exempting credit

220-700 Tax effect of distribution franked by NZ franking company with an exempting credit

- (1) This section has effect if an *NZ franking company *franks with an exempting credit a *distribution the company makes when it is a *former exempting entity.
- (2) If, under Subdivision 208-H, Division 207 applies in relation to the *distribution, it applies subject to the provisions of this Division that modify the effect of that Division.

Note 1: Subdivision 208-H provides in some cases for the tax effect of a distribution franked with an exempting credit by applying Division 207 as if the distribution were a franked distribution.

Note 2: Sections 220-400 and 220-405 modify the effect of Division 207 so far as it relates to the tax effect of distributions by NZ franking companies that pay supplementary dividends in connection with the distributions.

- (3) Subdivision 208-H has effect subject to this section.

Joint and several liability for NZ resident company's unmet franking liabilities

220-800 Joint and several liability for NZ resident company's franking tax etc.

- (1) This section has effect if:

---

- (a) a company (the defaulter) became liable under another section to pay an amount described in subsection (2) because the company was an *NZ franking company; and
- (b) the amount was unpaid by the time (the defaulter's due time) it was due and payable by the defaulter; and
- (c) at any time during the period for the amount (see subsection (2)), the defaulter was a member of the same *wholly-owned group as one or more other companies (each of which is a contributor).
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the amount and period are shown in the table:

Amount and period
Item	For an amount of this kind:	The period is:
1	*Franking deficit tax	Whichever of these periods is relevant: (a) if the defaulter was liable to pay the tax because its franking account was in deficit at the end of an income year—that income year; (b) if the defaulter was liable to pay the tax because of another event—the period starting at the start of the income year in which the event occurred and ending when the event occurred
2	*Over-franking tax	The income year in which the defaulter made the *frankable distribution that made the defaulter liable to pay the tax
3	*General interest charge on *franking deficit tax or *over-franking tax	The period identified under item 1 or 2 for the tax

(3) Just after the defaulter's due time, these companies become jointly and severally liable to pay the unpaid amount:

- (a) the defaulter;
- (b) each contributor, other than one that, at that time:
  - (i) is neither an Australian resident nor an *NZ resident; or
  - (ii) is prohibited by an *Australian law or a law of New Zealand from entering into an *arrangement that would make the contributor jointly or severally liable for the unpaid amount.

(4) The joint and several liability of a particular contributor becomes due and payable by the contributor 14 days after the Commissioner gives it written notice of the liability.

Note 1: Two or more contributors will have different due and payable dates for the same liability if the Commissioner gives them notice of their liability on different days.

Note 2: This section does not affect the time at which the liability for the unpaid amount arose for, or became due and payable by, the defaulter.

(5) If:

- (a) the unpaid amount (the first interest amount) is *general interest charge for a day in relation to another unpaid amount (the primary liability) that consists of *franking deficit tax or *over-franking tax; and

- (b) on a day the Commissioner gives a particular contributor written notice under subsection (4) of the contributor's liability for the first interest amount; and
  - (c) general interest charge arises:
    - (i) for a day (the later day) after the days mentioned in paragraphs (a) and (b); and
    - (ii) in relation to the primary liability; and
  - (d) the general interest charge for the later day has not been paid or otherwise discharged in full by the time it became due and payable;
- the Commissioner is taken to have given the contributor written notice under subsection (4) of the general interest charge for the later day on that later day.
- (6) Section 254 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to the contributors' liability as if it were a liability for tax.
- Note: Section 254 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 deals with the payment of tax by agents and trustees.

Guide to Division 230

230-1 What this Division is about

This Division is about the tax treatment of gains and losses from your financial arrangements.

You recognise the gains and losses, as appropriate, over the life of a financial arrangement and ignore distinctions between income and capital unless specific rules apply.

---

---

If it is sufficiently certain that you will make a gain or loss, you use a compounding accruals method to recognise the gain or loss. Otherwise you use a realisation method. Instead of either, you may be able to choose to use a fair value or hedging method or to rely on your financial reports. You may also be able to choose to recognise foreign exchange gains and losses using a retranslation method.

230-5 Scope of this Division

- (1) You have a financial arrangement if you have one or more cash settleable legal or equitable rights and/or obligations to receive or provide a financial benefit.
- (2) This Division does not apply to all financial arrangements. The main exceptions are if:
  - (a) you are:
    - (i) an individual; or
    - (ii) a superannuation entity, managed investment scheme or an entity substantially similar to a managed investment scheme under foreign law with assets of less than $100 million; or
    - (iii) an ADI, securitisation vehicle or other financial sector entity with an aggregated turnover of less than $20 million; or
    - (iv) another entity with an aggregated turnover of less than $100 million, financial assets of less than $100 million and assets of less than $300 million;and either:
    - (iv) the arrangement is to end not more than 12 months after you start to have it; or
    - (v) the arrangement is not a qualifying security; or
  - (b) the arrangement is a financial arrangement under section 230-50 (equity interests etc.) and neither a fair value election, a hedging financial arrangement election nor an election to rely on financial reports applies to the arrangement.

---

---

Note: Section 230-455 provides for the exceptions referred to in paragraph (a).

Objects

230-10 Objects of this Division

The objects of this Division are:

- (a) to minimise the extent to which the tax treatment of gains and losses from your *financial arrangements distorts, by providing inappropriate impediments and stimulation, your trading, financing and investment decisions and your risk taking and risk management; and
- (b) to do so by aligning more closely the tax and commercial recognition of gains and losses from your financial arrangements in the following ways:
  - (i) by allocating the gains and losses to income years throughout the life of your financial arrangements on a reasonable basis;
  - (ii) by generally recognising gains and losses on revenue rather than capital account; and
- (c) to appropriately take account of, and minimise, your compliance costs.

Tax treatment of gains and losses from financial arrangements

230-15 Gains are assessable and losses deductible

Gains

- (1) Your assessable income includes a gain you make from a *financial arrangement.

Note: This Division does not apply to gains that are subject to exceptions under Subdivision 230-H.

Losses

- (2) You can deduct a loss you make from a *financial arrangement, but only to the extent that:
  - (a) you make it in gaining or producing your assessable income;
  - or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) you necessarily make it in carrying on a *business for the purpose of gaining or producing your assessable income.

Note: This Division does not apply to losses that are subject to exceptions under Subdivision 230-H.

- (3) You can also deduct a loss you make from a *financial arrangement if:

- (a) you are an *Australian entity; and
- (b) you make the loss in deriving income from a foreign source; and
- (c) the income is *non-assessable non-exempt income under section 23AI, 23AJ or 23AK of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936; and
- (d) the loss is, in whole or in part, a cost in relation to a *debt interest you issue that is covered by paragraph 820-40(1)(a).

You can deduct the loss only to the extent to which it is a cost in relation to a *debt interest you issue that is covered by paragraph 820-40(1)(a).

Note: This Division does not apply to losses that are subject to exceptions under Subdivision 230-H.

- (4) If the *financial arrangement is a *debt interest, the loss is not prevented from being deductible for an income year under subsection (2) merely because of either or both of the following:
- (a) one or more of the *financial benefits that are taken into account in working out the amount of the loss are *contingent on the economic performance (whether past, current or future) of:
    - (i) you or a part of your activities; or
    - (ii) a *connected entity of yours or a part of the activities of a connected entity of yours;
  - (b) one or more of the financial benefits that are taken into account in working out the amount of the loss secure a permanent or enduring benefit for you or a connected entity of yours.
- (5) Subject to subsection (6), subsection (4) does not apply to the loss to the extent to which the annually compounded internal rate of return on the *debt interest exceeds the *benchmark rate of return for the debt interest increased by 150 basis points.

- (6) If:
- (a) regulations made for the purposes of subsection 25-85(6) provide that a specified number of basis points is to apply for the purposes of applying subsection 25-85(5) in particular circumstances; and
  - (b) those circumstances exist in relation to the *debt interest; subsection (5) applies as if the reference in that subsection to 150 basis points were a reference to the number of basis points specified in the regulations.

Division does not affect foreign residence rules

- (7) Nothing in this Division affects the operation of the provisions of Division 6 that provide for the significance of foreign residence for the assessability of ordinary and statutory income.

Note 1: Gains that you make under this Division may be ordinary or statutory income for the purposes of Division 6.

Note 2: For the effect of a change of residence during an income year, see sections 230-485 and 230-490.

account only once under this Act in working out your taxable income.

Gain or loss to be taken into account only once

- (3) A gain or loss to which this section applies is not to be (to any extent):
- (a) included in your assessable income; or
  - (b) allowable as a deduction to you; or
  - (c) dealt with in accordance with subsection 230-310(4);
- again under this Division for the same or any other income year.
- (4) A gain or loss to which this section applies is not to be (to any extent):
- (a) included in your assessable income; or
  - (b) allowable as a deduction to you;
- under any provisions of this Act outside this Division for the same or any other income year.

Section does not give rise to exempt income

- (5) A gain is not to be treated as *exempt income merely because it is not included in your assessable income under this section.

230-25 Associated financial benefits to be taken into account only once under this Act

Application of section

- (1) This section applies to a *financial benefit whose amount or value is taken into account in working out whether you make, or the amount of, a gain or loss to which paragraph 230-20(1)(a), (b) or (c) applies.

under any provision of this Act outside this Division for the same or any other income year.

Exception for certain bad debts

- (3) If:
- (a) a *financial benefit has been included in your assessable income under a provision of this Act outside this Division; and
  - (b) a bad debt deduction would have been allowed under section 25-35 in relation to the financial benefit;
- subsection (2) does not prevent that bad debt deduction from being allowed under section 25-35 in relation to the financial benefit as if the debt were still outstanding.

Section does not give rise to exempt income

- (4) A *financial benefit is not to be treated as *exempt income merely because it is not included in your assessable income under this section.

230-30 Treatment of gains and losses related to exempt income and non-assessable non-exempt income

- (1) Despite section 230-15, a gain that you make from a *financial arrangement:
- (a) to the extent that it reflects an amount that would be treated, or would reasonably be expected to be treated, as *exempt income under a provision of this Act if this Division were disregarded—is exempt income; and
  - (b) to the extent that it reflects an amount that would be treated or would reasonably be expected to be treated, as *non-assessable non-exempt income under a provision of this Act if this Division were disregarded—is not assessable income and is not exempt income.
- (2) Despite section 230-15, a gain that you make from a *financial arrangement:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) to the extent that, if it had been a loss, you would have made it in gaining or producing *exempt income—is exempt income; and
  - (b) to the extent to which, if it had been a loss, you would have made it in gaining or producing *non-assessable non-exempt income—is not assessable income and is not exempt income.
- (3) A loss you make from a *financial arrangement is not allowable as a deduction to you under any provision of this Act (other than subsection 230-15(3)) to the extent that you make it in gaining or producing your:
- (a) *exempt income; or
  - (b) *non-assessable non-exempt income.

230-35 Treatment of gains and losses of private or domestic nature

Borrowings etc. used for private or domestic purpose

- (1) Subsections (2) and (3) apply if:
  - (a) a *borrowing is made by you, or credit is provided to you, under a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) you use some or all of the funds borrowed or the credit provided for a private or domestic purpose.
- (2) This Division does not apply to a gain you make from the arrangement to the extent that you use the funds raised or the credit provided for a private or domestic purpose.
- (3) A loss you make from the arrangement is not allowable as a deduction to you under any provision of this Act to the extent that you use the funds raised or the credit provided for a private or domestic purpose.

Derivative financial arrangement held for private or domestic purpose

- (4) Subsections (5) and (6) apply if:
  - (a) you are an individual; and
  - (b) you make a gain or loss from a *derivative financial arrangement; and

- (5) This Division does not apply to a gain you make from the arrangement to the extent that the arrangement is held or used for a private or domestic purpose.
- (6) A loss you make from the arrangement is not allowable as a deduction to you under any provision of this Act to the extent that the arrangement is held or used for a private or domestic purpose.

Method to be applied to take account of gain or loss

230-40 Methods for taking gain or loss into account

Methods available

  - (e) the method of relying on your financial reports provided for in Subdivision 230-F; or
  - (f) a balancing adjustment provided for in Subdivision 230-G.

Note: The methods referred to in paragraphs (b) to (e) only apply if you make an election under the relevant Subdivision and you must meet certain requirements before you can make such an election.

- (2) A gain or loss is not taken into account under any of the methods referred to in paragraphs (1)(a), (b), (c) and (e) to the extent to which it is taken into account under the method referred to in paragraph (1)(f) (balancing adjustment).
- (3) A gain or loss is not taken into account under the method referred to in paragraph (1)(f) (balancing adjustment) to the extent to which it is taken into account under the method referred to in paragraph (1)(d) (hedging financial arrangement method).

---

Note: The hedging financial arrangement method may take some account of the gain or loss by reference to the balancing adjustment method (see subsection 230-300(5)).

Elections override accruals and realisation methods

- (4) Subdivision 230-B (accruals and realisation method) does not apply to a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement:
- (a) if Subdivision 230-C (fair value method) applies to the arrangement; or
  - (b) to the extent that Subdivision 230-D (foreign exchange retranslation method) applies to the gain or loss; or

---

- (7) Subdivision 230-F (method of relying on financial reports) does not apply to a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement to the extent that Subdivision 230-E (hedging financial arrangements method) applies to the arrangement.

Financial arrangement concept

230-45 Financial arrangement

- (1) You have a financial arrangement if you have, under an *arrangement:
- (a) a *cash settleable legal or equitable right to receive a *financial benefit; or
  - (b) a cash settleable legal or equitable obligation to provide a financial benefit; or
  - (c) a combination of one or more such rights and/or one or more such obligations;
- unless:
- (d) you also have under the arrangement one or more legal or equitable rights to receive something and/or one or more legal or equitable obligations to provide something; and
  - (e) for one or more of the rights and/or obligations covered by paragraph (d):
    - (i) the thing that you have the right to receive, or the obligation to provide, is not a financial benefit; or
    - (ii) the right or obligation is not cash settleable; and
  - (f) the one or more rights and/or obligations covered by paragraph (e) are not insignificant in comparison with the right, obligation or combination covered by paragraph (a), (b) or (c).

The right, obligation or combination covered by paragraph (a), (b) or (c) constitutes the financial arrangement.

Note 1: Whether your rights and/or obligations under an arrangement constitute a financial arrangement can change over time depending on changes either to the terms of the arrangement or external circumstances (such as particular rights or obligations under the arrangement being satisfied by the parties). For example, a contract may provide for the transfer of a boat in 6 months time and payment of the contract price at the end of 2 years. Until the boat is delivered, there is no financial arrangement because of the operation of paragraphs (d), (e) and (f) above. Once the boat is delivered, there is a financial arrangement because those paragraphs are no longer applicable.

---

Note 2: The operative provisions of this Division do not apply to all financial arrangements, and only apply partially to some: see the exceptions in Subdivision 230-H.

Note 3: There are some rules in this Division that tell you what happens if an arrangement ceases to be a financial arrangement (see Subdivision 230-G and section 230-505).

- (2) A right you have to receive, or an obligation you have to provide, a *financial benefit is cash settleable if, and only if:
- (a) the benefit is money or a *money equivalent; or
  - (b) in the case of a right—you intend to satisfy or settle it by receiving money or a money equivalent or by starting to have, or ceasing to have, another *financial arrangement; or
  - (c) in the case of an obligation—you intend to satisfy or settle it by providing money or a money equivalent or by starting to have, or ceasing to have, another financial arrangement; or
  - (d) you have a practice of satisfying or settling similar rights or obligations as mentioned in paragraph (b) or (c) (whether or not you intend to satisfy or settle the right or obligation in that way); or
  - (e) you deal with the right or obligation, or with similar rights or obligations, in order to generate a profit from short-term fluctuations in price, from a dealer's margin, or from both; or
  - (f) none of paragraphs (a) to (e) applies but you satisfy subsection (3); or
  - (g) you are able to settle the right or obligation as mentioned in paragraph (b) or (c) (whether or not you intend to satisfy or settle the right or obligation in that way) and you do not have, as your sole or dominant purpose for entering into the arrangement under which you are to receive or provide the financial benefit, the purpose of receiving or delivering the financial benefit as part of your expected purchase, sale or usage requirements.

A reference in paragraph (b) or (c) to a financial arrangement does not include a reference to something that is a financial arrangement under section 230-50.

Note: Examples of dealing of the kind covered by paragraph (e) are:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-50

---

- (a) dealing with the right or obligation, or similar rights or obligations, on a frequent basis, a short-term basis or on a frequent and short-term basis; and
  - (b) acquiring the right or obligation, or similar rights or obligations, and managing the resulting risk by entering into offsetting arrangements that provide a profit margin.
- (3) You satisfy this subsection if:
- (a) the *financial benefit is readily convertible into money or a *money equivalent; and
  - (b) there is a market for the financial benefit that has a high degree of liquidity; and
  - (c) either:
    - (i) the amount of the money or money equivalent referred to in paragraph (a) is not subject to a substantial risk of change in value; or
    - (ii) your purpose, or one of your purposes, for entering into the arrangement under which you are to receive or provide the financial benefit, is to receive or deliver the financial benefit so that it may be converted or liquidated into money or a money equivalent (other than in the ordinary course of business).

230-50 Financial arrangement (equity interest or right or obligation in relation to equity interest)

- (1) You also have a financial arrangement if you have an *equity interest. The equity interest constitutes the financial arrangement.
- (2) You also have a financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you have, under an *arrangement:
    - (i) a legal or equitable right to receive something that is a financial arrangement under this section; or
    - (ii) a legal or equitable obligation to provide something that is a financial arrangement under this section; or
    - (iii) a combination of one or more such rights and/or obligations; and
  - (b) the right, obligation or combination does not constitute, or form part of, a financial arrangement under subsection 230-45(1).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

The right, obligation or combination referred to in paragraph (a) constitutes the financial arrangement.

Note 1: Paragraph 230-40(4)(e) prevents the accruals method or the realisation method being applied to something that is a financial arrangement under this section.

Note 2: Subsection 230-270(1) prevents the retranslation method being applied to something that is a financial arrangement under this section.

Note 3: Subsection 230-330(1) prevents the hedging method being applied to something that is a financial arrangement under this section.

230-55 Rights, obligations and arrangements (grouping and disaggregation rules)

Single right or obligation or multiple rights or obligations?

- (1) If you have a right to receive 2 or more *financial benefits, you are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have a separate right to receive each of those financial benefits.
- (2) If you have an obligation to provide 2 or more *financial benefits, you are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have a separate obligation to provide each of those financial benefits.
- (3) Subsections (1) and (2) apply for the avoidance of doubt.

Matters relevant to determining what rights and/or obligations constitute particular arrangements

- (4) For the purposes of this Division, whether a number of rights and/or obligations are themselves an *arrangement or are 2 or more separate arrangements is a question of fact and degree that you determine having regard to the following:
  - (a) the nature of the rights and/or obligations;
  - (b) their terms and conditions (including those relating to any payment or other consideration for them);
  - (c) the circumstances surrounding their creation and their proposed exercise or performance (including what can reasonably be seen as the purposes of one or more of the entities involved);

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-60

---

- (d) whether they can be dealt with separately or must be dealt with together;
- (e) normal commercial understandings and practices in relation to them (including whether they are regarded commercially as separate things or as a group or series that forms a whole);
- (f) the objects of this Division.

In applying this subsection, have regard to the matters referred to in paragraphs (a) to (f) both in relation to the rights and/or obligations separately and in relation to the rights and/or obligations in combination with each other.

Example 1: Your rights and obligations under a typical convertible note, including the right to convert the note into a share or shares, would constitute one arrangement.

Example 2: Your rights and obligations under a typical price-linked or index-linked bond would constitute one arrangement.

Note 1: If you raised funds by means of a contract that you would not have entered into without entering into another contract, and neither contract could be assigned to a third party without the other also being assigned, this would tend to indicate that your rights and obligations under the 2 contracts together constitute one arrangement.

Note 2: If the commercial effect of your individual rights and/or obligations in a group or series cannot be understood without reference to the group or series as a whole, this would tend to indicate that all of your rights and/or obligations in the group or series together constitute one arrangement.

General rules

230-60 When financial benefit provided or received under financial arrangement

Financial benefit provided under financial arrangement

- (1) You are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have (or to have had) an obligation to provide a *financial benefit under a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you have (or had) an obligation to provide the financial benefit in relation to the arrangement; and

---

---

- (b) the financial benefit would not otherwise be treated as one that you have (or had) an obligation to provide under the arrangement; and
- (c) the financial benefit plays an integral role in determining:
  - (i) whether you make a gain or loss from the arrangement; or
  - (ii) the amount of such a gain or loss.

Paragraph (a) applies even if the entity to which you provide the financial benefit is not a party to the arrangement.

Note: This means that the financial benefits you provide to acquire the financial arrangement (whether to the issuer, a previous holder or a third party) are taken to be financial benefits you provide under the arrangement. The financial benefits you provide may include, for example, fees paid or the forgoing of rights to receive a financial benefit.

Financial benefit received under financial arrangement

- (2) You are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have (or to have had) a right to receive a *financial benefit under a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you have (or had) a right to receive the financial benefit in relation to the arrangement; and
  - (b) the financial benefit would not otherwise be treated as one that you have (or had) a right to receive under the arrangement; and
  - (c) the financial benefit plays an integral role in determining:
    - (i) whether you make a gain or loss from the arrangement; or
    - (ii) the amount of such a gain or loss.

Paragraph (a) applies even if the entity that provides the financial benefit is not a party to the arrangement.

Note: The financial benefits you receive may include, for example, the waiving of an obligation you have to provide a financial benefit.

---

230-65 Amount of financial benefit relating to more than one financial arrangement etc.

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) a *financial benefit plays the integral role mentioned in paragraph 230-60(1)(c) or (2)(c) in relation to a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) either or both of the following apply:
    - (i) the financial benefit plays that role in relation to one or more other financial arrangements;
    - (ii) the financial benefit is provided or received for one or more other things that are not financial arrangements.
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, determine the amount of the *financial benefit that plays that role in relation to a particular *financial arrangement by apportioning the actual amount of the financial benefit, on a reasonable basis, between:
  - (a) that financial arrangement; and
  - (b) each other financial arrangement (if any) in relation to which the benefit plays that role; and
  - (c) each other thing (if any) mentioned in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii).

230-70 Apportionment when financial benefit received or right ceases

- (1) Apply subsection (2) in working out whether you make, or will make, a gain or loss (and the amount of the gain or loss) at a time when:
  - (a) you receive a particular *financial benefit under a *financial arrangement; or
  - (b) one of your rights under a financial arrangement *ceases.The gain or loss is to be calculated in nominal (and not *present value) terms.
- (2) You must have regard to the extent to which the *financial benefits that you have provided, or are to provide, under the *financial arrangement are reasonably attributable, at the time mentioned in subsection (1), to the benefit or right referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b).

---

---

- (3) Any attribution made under subsection (2) must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles that properly take into account:
- (a) the nature of the rights and obligations under the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) the risks associated with each *financial benefit, right and obligation under the arrangement; and
  - (c) the time value of money.
- (4) Despite subsection (2), no *financial benefit that you have provided, or are to provide, under the *financial arrangement is to be attributed to the benefit or right referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b) if:
- (a) you are working out the amount of a gain or loss for the purposes of Subdivision 230-B; and
  - (b) the gain or loss is not an overall gain or loss from the arrangement (within the meaning of that Subdivision) at the time when you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (c) the benefit or right referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b) is an amount that represents, or is a right to an amount that represents:
    - (i) interest; or
    - (ii) a *return paid or provided on a *debt interest; or
    - (iii) something that is in the nature of interest; or
    - (iv) something that could reasonably be regarded as being a substitute for interest; or
    - (v) something prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph.

Note 1: An example of something in the nature of interest is a discount on a security.

Note 2: An example of something that could reasonably be regarded as being a substitute for interest is a lump sum payment received instead of payments of interest.

---

---

230-75 Apportionment when financial benefit provided or obligation ceases

- (1) Apply subsection (2) in working out whether you make, or will make, a gain or loss (and the amount of the gain or loss) at a time when:
- (a) you provide a particular *financial benefit under the *financial arrangement; or
  - (b) one of your obligations under a financial arrangement *ceases.

The gain or loss is to be calculated in nominal (and not *present value) terms.

- (2) You must have regard to the extent to which the *financial benefits that you have received, or are to receive, under the *financial arrangement are reasonably attributable, at the time mentioned in subsection (1), to the benefit or obligation referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b).
- (3) Any attribution made under subsection (2) must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles that properly take into account:
- (a) the nature of the rights and obligations under the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) the risks associated with each *financial benefit, right and obligation under the arrangement; and
  - (c) the time value of money.
- (4) Despite subsection (2), no *financial benefit that you have received, or are to receive, under the *financial arrangement is to be attributed to the benefit or obligation referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b) if:
- (a) you are working out the amount of a gain or loss for the purposes of Subdivision 230-B; and
  - (b) the gain or loss is not an overall gain or loss from the arrangement (within the meaning of that Subdivision) at the time when you start to have the arrangement; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (c) the benefit or obligation referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or (b) is an amount that represents, or is an obligation to provide an amount that represents:
- (i) interest; or
  - (ii) a *return paid or provided on a *debt interest; or
  - (iii) something that is in the nature of interest; or
  - (iv) something that could reasonably be regarded as being a substitute for interest; or
  - (v) something prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph.

Note 1: An example of something in the nature of interest is a discount on a security.

Note 2: An example of something that could reasonably be regarded as being a substitute for interest is a lump sum payment made instead of payments of interest.

230-80 Consistency in working out gains or losses (integrity measure)

Object of section

- (1) The object of this section is to stop you obtaining an inappropriate tax benefit from not working out your gains and losses in a consistent manner.

Consistent treatment for particular financial arrangement

- (2) If:
- (a) this Division provides that a particular method applies to gains or losses you make from a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) that method allows you to choose the particular manner in which you apply that method;
- you must use that manner consistently for the arrangement for all income years.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Consistent treatment for financial arrangements of essentially the same nature

- (3) If:
- (a) this Division provides that a particular method applies to gains or losses you make from 2 or more *financial arrangements; and
  - (b) that method allows you to choose the particular manner in which you apply that method;
- you must use that same manner consistently for all of those financial arrangements that are essentially of the same nature.

230-85 Rights and obligations include contingent rights and obligations

To avoid doubt:

- (a) a right is treated as a right for the purposes of this Division even it is subject to a contingency; and
- (b) an obligation is treated as an obligation for the purposes of this Division even if it is subject to a contingency.

Guide to Subdivision 230-B

230-90 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision applies the accruals method to determine the amount and timing of gains and losses from a financial arrangement if they are sufficiently certain for such accrual to be done.

This Subdivision applies the realisation method to determine the amount and timing of gains and losses if they are not sufficiently certain to be dealt with under the accruals method.

---

If the accruals method is applied to a gain or loss on the basis of an estimate of a financial benefit and the benefit when received or provided is more or less than the estimate, a balancing adjustment is made to correct for the underestimate or overestimate.

If the accruals method is being applied to gains and losses from the arrangement and there is a material change to the arrangement, or the circumstances in which it operates, a reassessment is made of whether the accruals method or the realisation method should apply to gains and losses from the arrangement.

A change in circumstances may also cause a re-estimation of gains and losses that the accruals method is being applied to.

Objects of Subdivision

230-95 Objects of this Subdivision

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to properly recognise gains and losses from *financial arrangements by allocating them to appropriate periods of time; and
- (b) to reduce compliance costs by reflecting commercial accounting concepts where appropriate; and
- (c) to minimise tax deferral.

When accruals method or realisation method applies

230-100 When accruals method or realisation method applies

When accruals method applies and when realisation method applies

- (1) This section tells you when to apply the accruals method and when to apply the realisation method if this Subdivision applies to gains and losses from a *financial arrangement.

---

Accruals method—sufficiently certain overall gain or loss at start time

- (2) The accruals method provided for in this Subdivision applies to a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement if:
- (a) the gain or loss is an overall gain or loss from the arrangement; and
  - (b) the gain or loss is sufficiently certain at the time when you start to have the arrangement.

Note: Subsection 230-105(1) tells you when you have a sufficiently certain overall gain or loss.

Accruals method—sufficiently certain particular gain or loss

- (3) The accruals method provided for in this Subdivision also applies to a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement if:
- (a) the gain or loss arises from a *financial benefit that you are to receive or are to provide under the arrangement; and
  - (b) the gain or loss:
    - (i) is sufficiently certain at the time when you start to have the arrangement and before you are to receive or provide the benefit; or
    - (ii) becomes sufficiently certain after the time when you start to have the arrangement and before you are to receive or provide the benefit; and
  - (c) the benefit has not already been taken into account in applying:
    - (i) the accruals method provided for in this Subdivision; or
    - (ii) the realisation method provided for in this Subdivision; to another gain or loss from the arrangement.

This subsection has effect subject to subsection (4).

Note: Subsection 230-110(1) tells you when you have a sufficiently certain gain or loss at a particular time.

- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply to a gain or loss that you make from a *financial arrangement if:
- (a) you are:
    - (i) an individual; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 230-105

---

- (ii) an entity (other than an individual) that satisfies subsection 230-455(2), (3) or (4) for the income year in which you start to have the arrangement; and
- (b) the arrangement is a *qualifying security; and
- (c) you have not made an election under subsection 230-455(7).

Realisation method—gain or loss not sufficiently certain

- (5) The realisation method provided for in this Subdivision applies to a gain or loss that you make from a *financial arrangement if the accruals method provided for in this Subdivision does not apply to that gain or loss.

Note: Section 230-180 tells you how to apply the realisation method to the gain or loss.

230-105 Sufficiently certain overall gain or loss

- (1) You have a sufficiently certain overall gain or loss from a *financial arrangement at the time when you start to have the arrangement only if it is sufficiently certain at that time that you will make an overall gain or loss from the arrangement of:
  - (a) a particular amount; or
  - (b) at least a particular amount.

The amount of the gain or loss is the amount referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).

Note: Sections 230-70 and 230-75 (about apportionment of financial benefits) only apply in working out whether you make, or will make, a gain or loss (and the amount of the gain or loss) when particular events happen. They do not apply in working out, at the time when you start to have a financial arrangement, whether it is sufficiently certain that you will make an overall gain or loss from the arrangement.

- (2) In applying subsection (1), you must:
  - (a) assume that you will continue to have the *financial arrangement for the rest of its life; and
  - (b) have regard to the extent of the risk that a *financial benefit that you are not sufficiently certain to provide or receive under the arrangement may reduce the amount of the gain or loss.

---

---

230-110 Sufficiently certain gain or loss from particular event

(1) You have a sufficiently certain gain or loss from a *financial arrangement at a particular time if it is sufficiently certain at that time that you will make a gain or loss from the arrangement of:

- (a) a particular amount; or
- (b) at least a particular amount;

when one of the following occurs:

- (c) you receive a particular *financial benefit under the arrangement or one of your rights under the arrangement *ceases;
- (d) you provide a particular financial benefit under the arrangement or one of your obligations under the arrangement ceases.

The amount of the gain or loss is the amount referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).

(2) In applying subsection (1) to work out whether you have a sufficiently certain gain or loss at a particular time:

- (a) have regard to the extent of the risk that a *financial benefit that you are not sufficiently certain to provide or receive under the arrangement may reduce the amount of the gain or loss; and
- (b) disregard any financial benefit that has already been taken into account in working out the amount of a sufficiently certain overall gain or loss from the *financial arrangement under subsection 230-105(1) at the time when you started to have the arrangement; and
- (c) disregard any financial benefit (or that part of any financial benefit) that has already been taken into account in working out the amount of a sufficiently certain gain or loss from the *financial arrangement under subsection (1).

Note: Sections 230-70 and 230-75 allow you to apportion financial benefits provided and financial benefits received in working out the amount of a gain or loss.

230-115 Sufficiently certain financial benefits

- (1) In deciding for the purposes of this Subdivision whether it is sufficiently certain at a particular time that you will make a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement, have regard only to:
- (a) *financial benefits that you are sufficiently certain to receive; and
  - (b) financial benefits that you are sufficiently certain to provide.

Note: The particular time may be the time at which you start to have the arrangement.

- (2) A *financial benefit that you are to receive or provide is to be treated as one that you are sufficiently certain to receive or to provide only if:
- (a) it is reasonably expected that you will receive or provide the financial benefit (assuming that you will continue to have the *financial arrangement for the rest of its life); and
  - (b) at least some of the amount or value of the benefit is, at that time, fixed or determinable with reasonable accuracy.
- (3) In applying subsection (2) to the *financial benefit:
- (a) you must have regard to:
    - (i) the terms and conditions of the *financial arrangement; and
    - (ii) accepted pricing and valuation techniques; and
    - (iii) the economic or commercial substance and effect of the arrangement; and
    - (iv) the contingencies that attach to the other financial benefits that are to be provided or received under the arrangement; and
  - (b) you must treat the financial benefit as if it were not contingent if it is appropriate to do so having regard to the contingencies that attach to the other financial benefits that are to be received or provided under the arrangement.
- (4) In applying paragraph (2)(b) at a particular time (the reference time) to a *financial benefit that depends on a variable that is based on:
- (a) an interest rate; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) a rate that solely or primarily reflects the time value of money; or
  - (c) a rate that solely or primarily reflects a consumer price index; or
  - (d) a rate that solely or primarily reflects an index prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph;
you must assume that that variable will continue to have the value it has at the reference time.
- (5) Despite subsection (4), in applying paragraph (2)(b) at a particular time to a *financial benefit that depends on a rate of change to a variable that is based on:
- (a) a rate that solely or primarily reflects a consumer price index; or
  - (b) a rate that solely or primarily reflects an index prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph;
you must assume that the rate of change to that variable will continue to be the rate of change that is current at that time.
- (6) If subsection (4) or (5) applies to a gain or loss and you are determining the amount of the gain or loss at a particular time, you must also assume that that variable will continue to have the value that it has at that time.
- (7) Subsections (4) and (5) do not limit paragraph (2)(b).
- (8) If all of the *financial benefits provided and received under the *financial arrangement are denominated in a particular foreign currency, those financial benefits are not to be translated into your *applicable functional currency for the purposes of applying subsection (2) to the arrangement.
- (9) To avoid doubt:
- (a) a *financial benefit that you have already provided at a particular time is taken to be one that it is, at that time, a financial benefit that you are sufficiently certain to provide; and
  - (b) a financial benefit that you have already received at a particular time is taken to be one that it is, at that time, a financial benefit that you are sufficiently certain to receive.

230-120 Financial arrangements with notional principal

- (1) This section applies to a *financial arrangement that you have if, in substance or effect, and having regard to the pricing, terms and conditions of the arrangement:
- (a) the arrangement consists of these things:
    - (i) a leg, the *financial benefits to be provided or received in respect of which are calculated by reference to, or are reasonably related to, a notional principal;
    - (ii) another leg, the financial benefits to be provided or received in respect of which also are calculated by reference to, or are reasonably related to, a notional principal;
    - (iii) if the arrangement includes one or more other things—those things; and
  - (b) when you start to have the arrangement, the value of the notional principal in relation to one leg is equal to the value of the notional principal in relation to the other leg; and
  - (c) all or part of the notional principal in relation to each leg is provided or received at a time, regardless of whether that time is different in relation to each leg.

Example: A swap contract.

- (2) To avoid doubt, the *financial benefits mentioned in subparagraphs (1)(a)(i) and (ii), and the notional principal in relation to each leg, need not actually be provided or received.
- (3) In applying this Subdivision to the *financial arrangement:
- (a) work out the *financial benefits from the arrangement as follows:
    - (i) work out the financial benefits from each thing of which the arrangement consists separately from the financial benefits from each other thing of which the arrangement consists;
    - (ii) ensure that results under subparagraph (i) are consistent with the timing and amount of financial benefits to be actually provided or received under the arrangement; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) work out your gains and losses from the arrangement as follows:
  - (i) work out the gains and losses from each thing of which the arrangement consists separately from the gains and losses from each other thing of which the arrangement consists;
  - (ii) treat the gains and losses mentioned in subparagraph (i) for all of those things as your gains and losses from the arrangement; and
- (c) in working out a gain or loss from a thing for the purposes of subparagraph (b)(i), and, if the accruals method applies to the gain or loss, how it is to be spread and allocated:
  - (i) if the thing is a leg—take into account the amount of the notional principal at a time and in a manner that properly reflects the way in which the financial benefits in respect of that leg are calculated; and
  - (ii) if the thing is not a leg—take into account an amount relevant to the thing at a time and in a manner that properly reflects the way in which the financial benefits in respect of that thing are calculated.

The accruals method

230-125 Overview of the accruals method

If the accruals method applies to a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement:

- (a) you use section 230-130 to work out the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread; and
- (b) you use section 230-135 to work out how to allocate the gain or loss to particular intervals within the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread; and
- (c) if an interval to which part of the gain or loss is allocated straddles 2 income years, you use section 230-170 to work out how to allocate that part of the gain or loss allocated between those 2 income years.

---

230-130 Applying accruals method to work out period over which gain or loss is to be spread

Period over which overall gain or loss is to be spread

- (1) If you have a sufficiently certain overall gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection 230-105(1), the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread is the period that:
  - (a) starts when you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (b) ends when you will cease to have the arrangement.In applying paragraph (b), you must assume that you will continue to have the arrangement for the rest of its life.
- (2) However, if you have sufficiently certain gains or losses from the arrangement that:
  - (a) can be spread under subsection (3); and
  - (b) when considered together, represent adequately the overall gain or loss mentioned in subsection (1);you may spread those gains or losses in accordance with subsection (3) instead of spreading the overall gain or loss in accordance with subsection (1).

Period over which particular gain or loss is to be spread

- (3) If you have a sufficiently certain gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection 230-110(1), the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread is the period to which the gain or loss relates. Have regard to the pricing, terms and conditions of the arrangement in working out the period to which the gain or loss relates. This subsection has effect subject to subsections (4) and (5).
- (4) The start of the period over which a gain or loss to which subsection (3) applies is to be spread must:
  - (a) not start earlier than the time when you start to have the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) not start earlier than the start of the income year during which it becomes sufficiently certain that you will make the gain or loss.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) The end of the period over which a gain or loss to which subsection (3) applies is to be spread must:
- (a) not end later than the time when you will cease to have the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) not end later than the end of the income year during which:
    - (i) the *financial benefit that gives rise to the gain or loss is to be received or provided; or
    - (ii) the right or obligation whose *ceasing gives rise to the gain or loss is to cease.

230-135 How gain or loss is spread

How to spread gain or loss

- (1) This section tells you how to spread a gain or loss to which the accruals method applies.

Compounding accruals or approximation

- (2) The gain or loss is to be spread using:
- (a) compounding accruals; or
  - (b) a method whose results approximate those obtained using the method referred to in paragraph (a) (having regard to the length of the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread).
- (3) The following subsections of this section clarify the way in which the gain or loss is to be spread in accordance with paragraph (2)(a).

Intervals to which parts of gain or loss allocated

- (4) The intervals to which parts of the gain or loss are allocated must:
- (a) not exceed 12 months; and
  - (b) all be of the same length.

Paragraph (b) does not apply to the first and last intervals. These may be shorter than the other intervals.

---

---

Fixing of amount and rate for interval

- (5) For each interval:
  - (a) determine a rate of return; and
  - (b) determine an amount to which you apply the rate of return.
- (6) For the purposes of paragraph (5)(b), in determining the amount to which you apply the rate of return for an interval, have regard to:
  - (a) the amount or value; and
  - (b) the timing;of *financial benefits that are to be taken into account in working out the amount of the gain or loss, and were provided or received by you during the interval.

Assumption of continuing to hold arrangement for rest of its life

- (7) The gain or loss is to be spread assuming that you will continue to have the *financial arrangement for the rest of its life.

Regard to be had to financial benefits provided or received in interval

- (8) In allocating the gain or loss to intervals, have regard to the *financial benefits to be provided or received in each of those intervals.

230-140 Method of spreading gain or loss—effective interest method

- (1) This section clarifies that the method mentioned in subsection (2) of spreading gains and losses is a method covered by paragraph 230-135(2)(b) (methods approximating compounding accruals).
- (2) The method is the effective interest method mentioned in *accounting standard AASB 139 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this subsection).
- (3) However, this section applies to a particular *financial arrangement you have only if:
  - (a) in a case where there is a discount or premium under the arrangement—when you start to have the arrangement, the

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

annually compounded rate of return applicable to the discount or premium does not exceed 1%; and

- (b) when you start to have the arrangement, neither the maximum life of the arrangement (as determined under the terms and conditions of the arrangement) nor the expected life of the arrangement exceeds:
    - (i) unless subparagraph (ii) applies—30 years; or
    - (ii) if the regulations prescribe a different period for the purposes of this subparagraph—that period; and
  - (c) each *financial benefit that you have an obligation to provide or a right to receive under the arrangement, and that gives rise to a gain or loss from the arrangement (other than a gain or loss that is attributable to any discount or premium):
    - (i) relates to a period not exceeding 12 months; and
    - (ii) will be provided or received in the period to which it relates; and
- Note: Different financial benefits may relate to different periods.
- (d) you prepare a financial report for the year in which you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (e) that financial report is:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(b); and
  - (f) all gains and losses from the arrangement to which the accrual method applies are spread in a way that is consistent with that financial report.

- (4) For the purposes of paragraph (3)(a), assume that you will continue to have the arrangement for the rest of its expected life.

230-145 Application of effective interest method where differing income and accounting years

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for a year (the first year); and
  - (b) you prepare a financial report for the subsequent year (the second year); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-145

---

- (c) your income year starts in the first year and ends in the second year; and
  - (d) both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year are:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(b); and
  - (e) the auditor's reports are unqualified for both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year.
- (2) For the purposes of paragraph 230-140(3)(d), treat yourself as having prepared a financial report for the income year in which you start to have the arrangement.
- (3) Work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the income year as follows:
- (a) firstly, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the first year in accordance with paragraph 230-140(3)(f) (treating the first year as an income year);
  - (b) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (a) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (c) next, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the second year in accordance with paragraph 230-140(3)(f) (treating the second year as an income year);
  - (d) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (c) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (e) next:
    - (i) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both gains—add them together to work out the gain from the arrangement for the income year; or
    - (ii) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both losses—add them together to work out the loss from the arrangement for the income year; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (iii) if one of the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) is a loss and the other is a gain—subtract the loss from the gain. If the result is positive, this is the gain from the arrangement for the income year. If the result is negative, this is the loss from the arrangement for the income year.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(b) and (d), work out how much of the gain or loss is attributable to the income year by:
  - (a) using a methodology that is reasonable; and
  - (b) using the same methodology for the first and second years.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(a), treat a methodology that attributes the gain or loss on a pro-rata basis as not being reasonable.

230-150 Election for portfolio treatment of fees

- (1) You may make an election for an income year under this section if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for the income year in accordance with:
    - (i) the *accounting standards; or
    - (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards made under a *foreign law that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a foreign law; and
  - (b) the financial report is audited in accordance with:
    - (i) the *auditing standards; or
    - (ii) if the auditing standards do not apply to the auditing of the financial report—comparable auditing standards made under a foreign law.
- (2) An election under this section is irrevocable.

230-155 Election for portfolio treatment of fees where differing income and accounting years

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for a year (the first year); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) you prepare a financial report for the subsequent year (the second year); and
  - (c) your income year starts in the first year and ends in the second year; and
  - (d) both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year are:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-150(1)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-150(1)(b); and
  - (e) the auditor's reports are unqualified for both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year.
- (2) Treat yourself as eligible to make an election for the income year under subsection 230-150(1).
- (3) Work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the income year as follows:
- (a) firstly, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the first year in accordance with subsections 230-160(3) and (4) or 230-165(3) and (4) (treating the first year as an income year);
  - (b) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (a) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (c) next, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the second year in accordance with subsections 230-160(3) and (4) or 230-165(3) and (4) (treating the second year as an income year);
  - (d) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (c) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (e) next:
    - (i) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both gains—add them together to work out the gain from the arrangement for the income year; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both losses—add them together to work out the loss from the arrangement for the income year; or
  - (iii) if one of the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) is a loss and the other is a gain—subtract the loss from the gain. If the result is positive, this is the gain from the arrangement for the income year. If the result is negative, this is the loss from the arrangement for the income year.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(b) and (d), work out how much of the gain or loss is attributable to the income year by:
- (a) using a methodology that is reasonable; and
  - (b) using the same methodology for the first and second years.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(a), treat a methodology that attributes the gain or loss on a pro-rata basis as not being reasonable.

230-160 Portfolio treatment of fees

- (1) This section applies in relation to a *financial arrangement if:
- (a) you have made an election under section 230-150 in an income year; and
  - (b) you start to have the financial arrangement in that income year or a later income year; and
  - (c) the financial arrangement is part of a portfolio of similar financial arrangements; and
  - (d) a gain or loss to which subsection 230-130(3) applies arises in part from fees in respect of the *financial arrangement; and
  - (e) the fees play an integral role in determining the amount of the gain or loss; and
  - (f) the net amount of the fees is not expected to be significant relative to an overall gain or loss from the arrangement.
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, split the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (1)(d) as follows:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) to the extent that it arises from the fees, treat it as a gain or loss from the *financial arrangement (the fees gain or loss) to which subsection 230-130(3) applies;
- (b) to the extent that it does not arise from the fees, treat it as a separate gain or loss from the financial arrangement to which subsection 230-130(3) applies.

Note: The separate gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (b) may itself be split under subsection 230-165(2) (premium/discount gain or loss).

Determination of period for fees gain or loss

- (3) The period over which the fees gain or loss is to be spread is the period that you determine to be the expected life of the portfolio, if:
  - (a) the basis on which you determine the period accords with the spreading of the fees gain or loss for the purposes of the profit or loss statement of the financial report mentioned in paragraph 230-150(1)(a); and
  - (b) the basis on which you determine the period is set and recorded before any fees in respect of the *financial arrangement fall due; and
  - (c) the period can be justified objectively; and
  - (d) the period is reasonable in the circumstances.

Spreading the fees gain or loss

- (4) The method by which the fees gain or loss is to be spread is the method that you determine, if:
  - (a) the basis on which you determine the method accords with the spreading of the fees gain or loss for the purposes of the profit or loss statement of the financial report mentioned in paragraph 230-150(1)(a); and
  - (b) the method is determined before any fees in respect of the *financial arrangement fall due; and
  - (c) the method can be justified objectively; and
  - (d) the method is reasonable in the circumstances.
- (5) To avoid doubt, subsections (3) and (4) apply despite sections 230-130 and 230-135.

230-165 Portfolio treatment of premiums and discounts for acquiring portfolio

- (1) This section applies in relation to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you have made an election under section 230-150 in an income year; and
  - (b) you start to have the financial arrangement in that income year or a later income year; and
  - (c) the financial arrangement is part of a portfolio of similar financial arrangements; and
  - (d) a gain or loss to which subsection 230-130(3) applies arises in part from a premium or discount in starting to have the portfolio; and
  - (e) the gain or loss is not expected to be significant relative to the amount of the gain or loss on the portfolio.
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, split the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (1)(d) as follows:
  - (a) to the extent that it arises from the premium or discount, treat it as a gain or loss from the *financial arrangement (the premium/discount gain or loss) to which subsection 230-130(3) applies;
  - (b) to the extent that it does not arise from the premium or discount, treat it as a separate gain or loss from the financial arrangement to which subsection 230-130(3) applies.

Note: The separate gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (b) may itself be split under subsection 230-160(2) (portfolio fees gain or loss).

Determination of period for premium/discount gain or loss

- (3) The period over which the premium/discount gain or loss is to be spread is the period that you determine to be the expected life of the portfolio, if:
  - (a) the basis on which you determine the period accords with the spreading of the premium/discount gain or loss for the purposes of the profit or loss statement of the financial report mentioned in paragraph 230-150(1)(a); and

Section 230-170

---

- (b) the basis on which you determine the period is set and recorded before you start to have the *financial arrangement; and
- (c) the period can be justified objectively; and
- (d) the period is reasonable in the circumstances.

Spreading the premium/discount gain or loss

- (4) The method by which the premium/discount gain or loss is to be spread is the method that you determine, if:
  - (a) the basis on which you determine the method accords with the spreading of the premium/discount gain or loss for the purposes of the profit or loss statement of the financial report mentioned in paragraph 230-150(1)(a); and
  - (b) the method is determined before you start to have the *financial arrangement; and
  - (c) the method can be justified objectively; and
  - (d) the method is reasonable in the circumstances.
- (5) To avoid doubt, subsections (3) and (4) apply despite sections 230-130 and 230-135.

230-170 Allocating gain or loss to income years

- (1) You are taken, for the purposes of section 230-15, to make, for an income year, a gain or loss equal to a part of a gain or loss if:
  - (a) that part of the gain or loss is allocated to an interval under section 230-135; and
  - (b) that interval falls wholly within that income year.
- (2) If:
  - (a) a part of a gain or loss is allocated to an interval under section 230-135; and
  - (b) that interval straddles 2 income years;you are taken, for purposes of section 230-15, to make a gain or loss equal to so much of that part of the gain or loss as is allocated between those income years on a reasonable basis.
- (3) If:

---

- (a) a *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group has a *financial arrangement; and
- (b) a subsidiary member of the group ceases to be a member of the group at a particular time (the leaving time); and
- (c) immediately after the leaving time, the head company no longer has the arrangement because the subsidiary member ceased to be a member of the group;

an income year of the group is taken, for the purposes of applying this section to the group and the arrangement, to end at the leaving time.

230-175 Running balancing adjustments

Overestimate of financial benefit to be received

- (1) You are taken for the purposes of this Division to make a loss from a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) a provision of this Subdivision has applied on the basis that you were sufficiently certain, at a particular time, to receive a *financial benefit of, or of at least, a particular amount under the arrangement; and
  - (b) when you receive the benefit (or the time comes for you to receive the benefit), the amount you receive (or are to receive) is nil or is less than the amount estimated.

The amount of the loss is equal to the difference between the amount estimated and the amount you receive (or are to receive). You are taken to have made the loss for the income year in which you receive the benefit (or in which the time comes for you to receive the benefit).

Underestimate of financial benefit to be received

- (2) You are taken for the purposes of this Division to make a gain from a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) a provision of this Subdivision has applied on the basis that you were sufficiently certain at a particular time to receive a *financial benefit of, or of at least, a particular amount under the arrangement; and

---

- (b) when you receive the benefit, or the time comes for you to receive the benefit, the amount you receive, or are to receive, is more than the amount estimated.

The amount of the gain is equal to the difference between the amount estimated and the amount you receive or are to receive. You are taken to have made that gain in the income year in which you receive the benefit or in which the time comes for you to receive the benefit.

Overestimate of financial benefit to be provided

- (3) You are taken for the purposes of this Division to make a gain from a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) a provision of this Subdivision has applied on the basis that you were sufficiently certain at a particular time to provide a *financial benefit of, or of at least, a particular amount under the arrangement; and
  - (b) when you provide the benefit, or the time comes for you to provide the benefit, the amount you provide, or are to provide, is nil or is less than the amount estimated.

The amount of the gain is equal to the difference between the amount estimated and the amount you provide or are to provide. You are taken to have made that gain in the income year in which you provide the benefit or in which the time comes for you to provide the benefit.

Underestimate of financial benefit to be provided

- (4) You are taken for the purposes of this Division to make a loss from a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) a provision of this Subdivision has applied on the basis that you were sufficiently certain at a particular time to provide a *financial benefit of, or of at least, a particular amount under the arrangement; and
  - (b) when you provide the benefit, or the time comes for you to provide the benefit, the amount you are to provide is more than the estimated amount referred to in paragraph (a).

The amount of the loss is equal to the difference between the amount estimated and the amount you are to provide. You are taken to have made that loss in the income year in which you provide the benefit or in which the time comes for you to provide the benefit.

Realisation method

230-180 Realisation method

- (1) If a gain or loss is to be taken into account using the realisation method, you are taken, for the purposes of section 230-15, to make the gain or loss for the income year in which the gain or loss occurs.

Note: Sections 230-70 and 230-75 allow you to apportion financial benefits provided and financial benefits received in working out the amount of the gain or loss.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement is taken to occur at the time at which the last of the *financial benefits taken into account in determining the amount of the gain or loss:
- (a) is provided; or
  - (b) if the financial benefit is not provided at the time when it is due to be provided under the arrangement and it is reasonable to expect that the financial benefit will be provided—is due to be provided.

This subsection has effect subject to subsection (3).

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), you make a loss from a *financial arrangement from writing off, as a bad debt, a right to a *financial benefit (or a part of a financial benefit) if:
- (a) the financial benefit was taken into account in working out the amount of a gain from the arrangement and the gain has been included in your assessable income under this Division; or
  - (b) the right is one in respect of money that you lent in the ordinary course of your *business of lending money; or
  - (c) the right is one that you bought in the ordinary course of your business of lending money.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-185

---

- (4) The loss referred to in subsection (3) occurs when you write off the right to the *financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit) as a bad debt.
- (5) The amount of the loss referred to in subsection (3) is:
  - (a) if paragraph (3)(a) applies—so much of the gain referred to in that paragraph as is reasonably attributable to the *financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit); or
  - (b) if paragraph (3)(b) applies—the amount of the financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit); or
  - (c) if paragraph (3)(c) applies—the amount of the financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit) but only up to the value of the financial benefit you provided to acquire the right to the financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit).
- (6) For the purposes of this Act, a deduction for the loss referred to in subsection (3) is to be treated as a deduction of a bad debt.

Note: Various provisions in this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 restrict the availability of deductions for bad debts and make provision in relation to the recoupment of amounts in relation to bad debts that have been written off. These provisions are set out in subsection 25-35(5).

Reassessment and re-estimation

230-185 Reassessment

- (1) You must make a fresh assessment of which gains and losses from a *financial arrangement the accruals method should apply to, and which gains and losses from that arrangement the realisation method should apply to, if:
  - (a) the accruals method, or the realisation method, provided for in this Subdivision applies to gains and losses from the arrangement; and
  - (b) there is a material change to:
    - (i) the terms and conditions of the arrangement; or
    - (ii) circumstances that affect the arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), the following changes are material changes to the terms and conditions of, or circumstances that affect, the *financial arrangement:
- (a) a change to the terms or conditions of the arrangement in a way that alters the essential nature of the arrangement (for example, by altering it from a *debt interest to an *equity interest or from an equity interest to a debt interest);
  - (b) a change to the terms or conditions of the arrangement in a way that materially affects the contingencies on which significant obligations and rights under the arrangement are dependent (for example, by introducing such a contingency or removing such a contingency);
  - (c) a change in circumstances that makes something that:
    - (i) materially affects significant obligations and rights under the arrangement; and
    - (ii) was previously dependent on a contingency; no longer dependent on a contingency (because, for example, only one of a number of previously possible contingencies is realised);
  - (d) a change to:
    - (i) the terms on which credit is to be provided to an entity that is not a party to the arrangement; or
    - (ii) the credit rating of an entity that is not a party to the arrangement;if a significant obligation or right under the arrangement is dependent on that credit being provided or that rating being maintained;
  - (e) if the arrangement is, or includes, a financial asset or financial liability and you prepare your financial reports in accordance with:
    - (i) the *accounting standards; or
    - (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards made under a *foreign law that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a foreign law;a change to the terms or conditions of, or circumstances that affect, the arrangement that are sufficient for the financial asset or financial liability to be treated as impaired for the purposes of those standards.

- (3) You do not need to make a reassessment under this section merely because of a change in the fair value of the *financial arrangement.

230-190 Re-estimation

When re-estimation necessary

- (1) You re-estimate a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection (5) if:
- (a) the accruals method applies to the gain or loss; and
  - (b) circumstances arise that materially affect:
    - (i) the amount or value; or
    - (ii) the timing;of *financial benefits that were taken into account in working out the amount of the gain or loss; and
  - (c) the circumstances do not give rise to a re-estimation under section 230-200; and
  - (d) in a case where the gain or loss is spread using the method referred to in paragraph 230-135(2)(b) in accordance with section 230-140 (effective interest method)—the maximum life of the arrangement (as determined under the terms and conditions of the arrangement) is more than 12 months.
- (2) If subsection (1) applies, you must re-estimate the gain or loss:
- (a) unless paragraph (b) applies—as soon as reasonably practicable after you become aware of the circumstances referred to in paragraph (1)(b); or
  - (b) if paragraph (1)(d) is satisfied and the terms and conditions of the *financial arrangement provide for reset dates to occur no more than 12 months apart—at the relevant reset date.
- (3) Without limiting subsection (1), the following are circumstances of the kind referred to in paragraph (1)(b):
- (a) a material change in market conditions that are relevant to the amount or value of the *financial benefits to be received or provided under the *financial arrangement;

---

---

- (b) cash flows that were previously estimated becoming known and the difference between the cash flows that become known and the cash flows that were previously estimates is not insignificant;
  - (c) a right to, or a part of a right to, a financial benefit under the arrangement is written off as a bad debt;
  - (d) you have made a reassessment under section 230-185 in relation to gains or losses under the arrangement and you have determined on the reassessment under that section that the accruals method should continue to apply to those gains or losses.
- (4) You do not re-estimate the gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection (5) merely because of a change in the credit rating, or the creditworthiness, of a party or parties to the arrangement.

Nature of re-estimation

- (5) Making a re-estimation in relation to a gain or loss under this subsection involves:
- (a) a fresh determination of the amount of the gain or loss; and
  - (b) a reapplication of the accruals method to the redetermined gain or loss to make a fresh allocation of the part of the redetermined gain or loss that has not already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made to intervals ending after the re-estimation is made.

Basis for re-estimation

- (6) You may make the fresh allocation of the gain or loss under subsection (5) on these bases:
- (a) if you satisfy subsection (7) in relation to the *financial arrangement—by maintaining the rate of return being used and adjusting the amount to which you apply the rate of return to the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the maintained rate of return;
  - (b) in any case—by adjusting the rate of return and maintaining the amount to which the adjusted rate of return is to be applied.

---

---

Section 230-195

---

The object to be achieved by both bases is to allow you to bring the remainder of the gain or loss based on the new estimates properly to account over the remainder of the period over which you spread the gain or loss.

Note: The amount referred to in paragraph (b) is the amount to which the previous rate of return was being applied immediately before the re-estimation.

- (7) You satisfy this subsection in relation to a *financial arrangement if every re-estimation you make under subsection (5) in relation to a gain or loss from the arrangement is made in accordance with:
  - (a) financial reports of the kind referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) that are audited as referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(b) (regardless of whether Subdivision 230-F (reliance on financial reports method) are to apply to a particular financial arrangement); and
  - (b) *accounting standard AASB 139 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph).
- (8) The following subsections apply if the re-estimation arises because of an impairment (within the meaning of the *accounting standards) of:
  - (a) the *financial arrangement; or
  - (b) a financial asset or financial liability that forms part of the arrangement.
- (9) Despite paragraph (6)(a), you must make the fresh allocation in accordance with paragraph (6)(b).
- (10) To the extent that the impairment results in you making a loss for an income year under section 230-15, you cannot deduct that loss for the income year.

230-195 Balancing adjustment if rate of return maintained on re-estimation

- (1) If you make a fresh allocation of the gain or loss on the basis referred to in paragraph 230-190(6)(a), you must make the following balancing adjustment:

---

---

- (a) if you re-estimate a gain and the amount to which you apply the rate of return increases—you make a gain from the *financial arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the increase;
  - (b) if you re-estimate a gain and the amount to which you apply the rate of return decreases—you make a loss from the arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the decrease;
  - (c) if you re-estimate a loss and the amount to which you apply the rate of return increases—you make a loss from the arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the increase;
  - (d) if you re-estimate a loss and the amount to which you apply the rate of return decreases—you make a gain from the arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the decrease.
- (2) Subsection (3) applies if:
- (a) the re-estimation is made wholly or partly on the basis that you have written off, as a bad debt, a right to receive a *financial benefit (or a part of a financial benefit); and
  - (b) the right:
    - (i) is not one in respect of money that you lent in the ordinary course of your *business of lending money; and
    - (ii) is not one that you bought in the ordinary course of your business of lending money.
- (3) The balancing adjustment to be made under paragraph (1)(b), to the extent that it relates to the writing off of the bad debt, must not exceed so much of the gain in relation to the *financial arrangement as:
- (a) has been assessed under this Division; and
  - (b) is reasonably attributable to the *financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit).
- (4) Subsection (5) applies if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 230-200

---

- (a) the re-estimation is made wholly or partly on the basis that you have written off, as a bad debt, a right to receive a *financial benefit; and
  - (b) the right is one that you bought in the ordinary course of your *business of lending money.
- (5) The balancing adjustment to be made under paragraph (1)(b), to the extent that it relates to the writing off of the bad debt, must not exceed the value of the *financial benefit you provided to acquire the right to the financial benefit (or the part of the financial benefit).
- (6) For the purposes of this Act, a deduction for the balancing adjustment referred to in subsection (3) is to be treated as a deduction of a bad debt.

Note: Various provisions in this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 restrict the availability of deductions for bad debts and make provision in relation to the recoupment of amounts in relation to bad debts that have been written off. These provisions are set out in subsection 25-35(5).

230-200 Re-estimation if balancing adjustment on partial disposal

Re-estimation if balancing adjustment on partial disposal

- (1) You also re-estimate a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection (2) if:
- (a) the accruals method applies to the gain or loss; and
  - (b) a balancing adjustment is made in relation to the arrangement under Subdivision 230-G because you transfer to another entity:
    - (i) a proportionate share of all of your rights and/or obligations under the arrangement; or
    - (ii) a right or obligation that you have under the arrangement to a specifically identified *financial benefit; or
    - (iii) a proportionate share of a right or obligation that you have under the arrangement to a specifically identified financial benefit.

---

---

You must re-estimate the gain or loss as soon as reasonably practicable after the transfer occurs.

Nature of re-estimation

- (2) Making a re-estimation in relation to a gain or loss under this subsection involves:
- (a) a fresh determination of the amount of the gain or loss disregarding:
    - (i) *financial benefits; and
    - (ii) amounts of the gain or loss that have already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made;to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the proportionate share, or the right or obligation, referred to in paragraph (1)(b); and
  - (b) a reapplication of the accruals method to the redetermined gain or loss to make a fresh allocation of the part of that gain or loss that has not already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made to intervals ending after the re-estimation is made.

In applying paragraph (a), disregard subsections 230-70(4) and 230-75(4).

Basis for re-estimation

- (3) You make the fresh allocation of the gain or loss under subsection (2) by maintaining the rate of return being used and adjusting the amount to which you apply the rate of return to the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the maintained rate of return. The object to be achieved by the fresh allocation is to allow you to bring the redetermined gain or loss properly to account over the remainder of the period over which you spread the gain or loss.

Subdivision 230-C—Fair value method

Table of sections

230-205 Objects of this Subdivision

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-205

---

- 230-210 Fair value election
- 230-215 Fair value election where differing income and accounting years
- 230-220 Financial arrangements to which fair value election applies
- 230-225 Financial arrangements to which election does not apply
- 230-230 Applying fair value method to gains and losses
- 230-235 Splitting financial arrangements into 2 financial arrangements
- 230-240 When election ceases to apply
- 230-245 Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

230-205 Objects of this Subdivision

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to allow you to align the tax treatment of gains and losses from *financial arrangements with the accounting treatment that applies where assets and liabilities are classified or designated as at fair value through profit or loss; and
- (b) to facilitate efficient price-making; and
- (c) to achieve the above objects without allowing you to obtain an inappropriate tax benefit.

230-210 Fair value election

Election

- (1) You may make a fair value election under this section if you are eligible under subsection (2) to make the election for the income year in which you make the election.

Eligibility to make fair value election for an income year

- (2) You are eligible to make a fair value election for an income year if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for that income year in accordance with:
    - (i) the *accounting standards; or
    - (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards made under a *foreign law that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a foreign law; and
  - (b) the financial report is audited in accordance with:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the *auditing standards; or
- (ii) if the auditing standards do not apply to the auditing of the financial report—comparable auditing standards made under a foreign law.

Note: Section 230-500 allows regulations to be made specifying particular foreign accounting and auditing standards as ones that are to be treated as comparable with Australian accounting and auditing standards for the purposes of this Division.

Election irrevocable

- (3) A *fair value election is irrevocable.

Note: The election may cease to have effect, or cease to apply to a particular financial arrangement, under section 230-240.

230-215 Fair value election where differing income and accounting years

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for a year (the first year); and
  - (b) you prepare a financial report for the subsequent year (the second year); and
  - (c) your income year starts in the first year and ends in the second year; and
  - (d) both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year are:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-210(2)(b); and
  - (e) the auditor's reports are unqualified for both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year.
- (2) Treat yourself as eligible to make an election for the income year under subsection 230-210(2).
- (3) Work out the gain or loss you make from the *financial arrangement for the income year as follows:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 230-220

---

- (a) firstly, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the first year in accordance with section 230-230 (treating the first year as an income year);
  - (b) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (a) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (c) next, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the second year in accordance with section 230-230 (treating the second year as an income year);
  - (d) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (c) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (e) next:
    - (i) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both gains—add them together to work out the gain from the arrangement for the income year; or
    - (ii) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both losses—add them together to work out the loss from the arrangement for the income year; or
    - (iii) if one of the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) is a loss and the other is a gain—subtract the loss from the gain. If the result is positive, this is the gain from the arrangement for the income year. If the result is negative, this is the loss from the arrangement for the income year.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(b) and (d), work out how much of the gain or loss is attributable to the income year by:
- (a) using a methodology that is reasonable; and
  - (b) using the same methodology for the first and second years.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(a), treat a methodology that attributes the gain or loss on a pro-rata basis as not being reasonable.

230-220 Financial arrangements to which fair value election applies

- (1) A *fair value election applies in relation to *financial arrangements that:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) are *Division 230 financial arrangements; and
- (b) are recognised in financial reports of the kind referred to in paragraph 230-210(2)(a) that are audited, or required to be audited, as referred to in paragraph 230-210(2)(b); and
- (c) are assets or liabilities that you are required (whether or not as a result of a choice you make) by:
  - (i) the *accounting standards; or
  - (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law;
to classify or designate, in the financial reports, as at fair value through profit or loss; and
- (d) you start to have in the income year in which you make the election or in a later income year.

This subsection has effect subject to section 230-225.

- (2) If, but for this subsection, paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) would not be satisfied in relation to a *financial arrangement because the arrangement is an intra-group transaction for the purposes of:
  - (a) *accounting standard AASB 127 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph); or
  - (b) if that standard does not apply to the preparation of the financial report—a comparable accounting standard that applies to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law;

paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the arrangement.

Note: Financial arrangements between members of a consolidated group or MEC group are not covered by this subsection because the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1) operates to treat them as not being financial arrangements for the purposes of this Division.

- (3) If:
  - (a) the *financial arrangement would not be a financial arrangement if the following provisions were disregarded:
    - (i) Division 9A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (which deals with offshore banking units);

---

Section 230-225

---

- (ii) Part IIIB of that Act (which deals with Australian branches of foreign banks etc.); and
  - (b) paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) would be satisfied in relation to the financial arrangement if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities; and
  - (c) the *fair value election is made by:
    - (i) if section 121EB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies—the OBU mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section); or
    - (ii) if section 160ZZW of that Act applies—the bank mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section);
- paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the arrangement.

230-225 Financial arrangements to which election does not apply

- (1) A *fair value election does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the arrangement is an *equity interest; and
  - (b) you are the issuer of the equity interest.
- (2) A *fair value election does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you are:
    - (i) an individual; or
    - (ii) an entity (other than an individual) that satisfies subsection 230-455(2), (3) or (4) for the income year in which you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (b) the arrangement is a *qualifying security; and
  - (c) you have not made an election under subsection 230-455(7).
- (3) A *fair value election does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the election is made by the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
  - (b) the election specifies that the election is not to apply to financial arrangements in relation to *life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group; and

---

---

- (c) the arrangement is one that relates to the life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group.
- (4) A *fair value election does not apply to a *financial arrangement if the arrangement is associated with a business of a kind specified in regulations made for the purposes of this subsection.

230-230 Applying fair value method to gains and losses

- (1) If a *fair value election applies to your *financial arrangement, the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for an income year is:
  - (a) the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-210(2)(a) require you to recognise in profit or loss for the income year from the asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-220(1)(c); or
  - (b) if subsection 230-220(2) applies to the arrangement—the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-220(1)(c) would have required you to recognise in profit or loss for the year from the asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-220(1)(c) if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph 230-220(2)(b); or
  - (c) if subsection 230-220(3) applies to the arrangement—the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-220(1)(c) would have required you to recognise in profit or loss for the year from the asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-220(1)(c) if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities.

Note: Subsection 230-40(7) provides that an election under Subdivision 230-E (hedging financial arrangements method) or Subdivision 230-F (method of relying on financial reports) may override a fair value election.

- (2) Subsection (3) applies if:
  - (a) a *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group has a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) a *fair value election applies to the arrangement; and
  - (c) a subsidiary member of the group ceases to be a member of the group at a particular time (the leaving time); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-235

---

- (d) immediately after the leaving time, the head company no longer has the arrangement because the subsidiary member ceased to be a member of the group.
- (3) The gain or loss the group makes from the arrangement for the income year in which the leaving time occurs is taken to be the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-210(2)(a) would require the group to recognise as at fair value through profit or loss for the income year from the asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-220(1)(c) if:
  - (a) the circumstances that existed in relation to the arrangement (including its value) immediately before the leaving time had continued to exist until the end of the income year; and
  - (b) any circumstances that arise in relation to the financial arrangement after the leaving time were disregarded.

230-235 Splitting financial arrangements into 2 financial arrangements

- (1) If:
  - (a) a *financial arrangement is constituted only in part by an asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-220(1)(c); and
  - (b) a *fair value election would apply to the arrangement if it were constituted solely by that asset or liability;the provisions of this Division (other than this section) apply to the arrangement as if it were instead 2 separate financial arrangements.
- (2) The 2 separate *financial arrangements are:
  - (a) one consisting of the part referred to in paragraph (1)(a); and
  - (b) one consisting of the remaining part.

230-240 When election ceases to apply

- (1) A *fair value election ceases to have effect from the start of an income year if you cease to be eligible under subsection 230-210(2) to make the fair value election for that income year.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not prevent you from making a new *fair value election at a later time if you become, at that later time, eligible under subsection 230-210(2) to make a fair value election for an income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note: The new election will only apply to financial arrangements you start to have after the start of the income year in which the new election is made.

- (3) A *fair value election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement from the start of an income year if the arrangement ceases to satisfy a requirement of paragraph 230-220(1)(b) or (c) during that income year.
- (4) If the election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection (3), the election cannot subsequently reapply to that arrangement (even if the requirements of paragraphs 230-220(1)(b) and (c) are satisfied once more in relation to the arrangement).

230-245 Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

- (1) You must make balancing adjustments under subsection (2) if a *fair value election ceases to have effect under subsection 230-240(1).
- (2) The balancing adjustments under this subsection are the balancing adjustments you would make under Subdivision 230-G for each of the *financial arrangements to which the election applied if you disposed of the arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to have effect.
- (3) You must make a balancing adjustment under subsection (4) if a *fair value election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection 230-240(3).
- (4) The balancing adjustment under this subsection is the balancing adjustment you would make under Subdivision 230-G if you disposed of the *financial arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to apply to the arrangement.
- (5) If a balancing adjustment is made under subsection (2) or (4) in relation to a *financial arrangement, you are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have reacquired the arrangement at its fair value immediately after the election ceased to have effect or ceased to apply to the arrangement.

Subdivision 230-D—Foreign exchange retranslation method

Table of sections

230-250	Objects of this Subdivision
230-255	Foreign exchange retranslation election
230-260	Foreign exchange retranslation election where differing income and accounting years
230-265	Financial arrangements to which general election applies
230-270	Financial arrangements to which general election does not apply

230-285	When election ceases to apply
230-290	Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

230-250 Objects of this Subdivision

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to allow you to align the tax treatment of gains and losses from foreign exchange rate changes with the accounting treatment of profits and losses from such changes; and
- (b) to achieve this without allowing you to obtain an inappropriate tax benefit.

230-255 Foreign exchange retranslation election

General election

- (1) You may make a foreign exchange retranslation election under this subsection if you are eligible under subsection (2) to make the election for the income year in which you make the election.

Eligibility to make election

- (2) You are eligible to make a *foreign exchange retranslation election for an income year if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for that income year in accordance with:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) the *accounting standards; or
- (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards made under a *foreign law that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a foreign law; and
- (b) the financial report is audited in accordance with:
  - (i) the *auditing standards; or
  - (ii) if the auditing standards do not apply to the auditing of the financial report—comparable auditing standards made under a foreign law.

Note: Section 230-500 allows regulations to be made specifying particular foreign accounting and auditing standards as ones that are to be treated as comparable with Australian accounting and auditing standards for the purposes of this Division.

Election in relation to qualifying forex accounts

- (3) You may make a foreign exchange retranslation election under this subsection in relation to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the arrangement is a *qualifying forex account; and
  - (b) you have not made a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection (1) that applies to the account.

You may make the election even if you start to have the arrangement before you make the election.

Financial arrangements to which election in relation to qualifying forex accounts applies

- (4) The election under subsection (3) applies to the *financial arrangement:
  - (a) from the time when you start to have the arrangement if the election is made before you start to have the arrangement; or
  - (b) from the start of the income year in which the election is made if you make the election after you start to have the arrangement.

Election irrevocable

- (5) A *foreign exchange retranslation election is irrevocable.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Note: The election may cease to apply under section 230-285.

230-260 Foreign exchange retranslation election where differing income and accounting years

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for a year (the first year); and
  - (b) you prepare a financial report for the subsequent year (the second year); and
  - (c) your income year starts in the first year and ends in the second year; and
  - (d) both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year are:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-255(2)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-255(2)(b); and
  - (e) the auditor's reports are unqualified for both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year.
- (2) Treat yourself as eligible to make an election for the income year under subsection 230-255(2).
- (3) Work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the income year as follows:
  - (a) firstly, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the first year in accordance with section 230-280 (treating the first year as an income year);
  - (b) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (a) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (c) next, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the second year in accordance with section 230-280 (treating the second year as an income year);
  - (d) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (c) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (e) next:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both gains—add them together to work out the gain from the arrangement for the income year; or
  - (ii) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both losses—add them together to work out the loss from the arrangement for the income year; or
  - (iii) if one of the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) is a loss and the other is a gain—subtract the loss from the gain. If the result is positive, this is the gain from the arrangement for the income year. If the result is negative, this is the loss from the arrangement for the income year.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(b) and (d), work out how much of the gain or loss is attributable to the income year by:
- (a) using a methodology that is reasonable; and
  - (b) using the same methodology for the first and second years.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(a), treat a methodology that attributes the gain or loss on a pro-rata basis as not being reasonable.

230-265 Financial arrangements to which general election applies

- (1) A *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) applies to each of your *financial arrangements:
- (a) that are *Division 230 financial arrangements; and
  - (b) that are recognised in financial reports of a kind referred to in paragraph 230-255(2)(a) that are audited, or required to be audited, as referred to in paragraph 230-255(2)(b); and
  - (c) in relation to which you are required by:
    - (i) *accounting standard AASB 121 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph); or
    - (ii) if that standard does not apply to the preparation of the financial report—a comparable accounting standard that applies to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-265

---

to recognise, in the financial reports, amounts in profit or loss (if any) that are attributable to changes in currency exchange rates; and

- (d) that you start to have in the income year in which you make the election or in a later income year.

This subsection has effect subject to section 230-270.

Note: The election also has consequences under Subdivision 775-F for arrangements that are not Division 230 financial arrangements.

- (2) If, but for this subsection, paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) would not be satisfied in relation to a *financial arrangement because the arrangement is an intra-group transaction for the purposes of:
- (a) *accounting standard AASB 127 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph); or
  - (b) if that standard does not apply to the preparation of the financial report—a comparable accounting standard that applies to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law;

paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the arrangement.

Note: Financial arrangements between members of a consolidated group or MEC group are not covered by this subsection because the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1) operates to treat them as not being financial arrangements for the purposes of this Division.

- (3) If:
- (a) the *financial arrangement would not be a financial arrangement if the following provisions were disregarded:
    - (i) Division 9A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (which deals with offshore banking units);
    - (ii) Part IIIB of that Act (which deals with Australian branches of foreign banks etc.); and
  - (b) paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) would be satisfied in relation to the financial arrangement if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities; and
  - (c) the *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) is made by:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (i) if section 121EB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies—the OBU mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section); or
- (ii) if section 160ZZW of that Act applies—the bank mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section);

paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the arrangement.

230-270 Financial arrangements to which general election does not apply

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) does not apply to a *financial arrangement if the arrangement is a financial arrangement under section 230-50 (equity interests etc.).
- (2) For the purposes of this Division, a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you are:
    - (i) an individual; or
    - (ii) an entity (other than an individual) that satisfies subsection 230-455(2), (3) or (4) for the income year in which you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (b) the arrangement is a *qualifying security; and
  - (c) you have not made an election under subsection 230-455(7).
- (3) A *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the election is made by the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
  - (b) the election specifies that the election is not to apply to financial arrangements in relation to *life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group; and
  - (c) the arrangement is one that relates to the life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-275

---

- (4) A *foreign exchange retranslation election does not apply to a *financial arrangement if the arrangement is associated with a business of a kind specified in regulations made for the purposes of this subsection.

230-275 Balancing adjustment for election in relation to qualifying forex accounts

- (1) If a *hedging financial arrangement that you have does not (apart from this section) meet the requirements of sections 230-355 to 230-365, treat it as meeting those requirements if the Commissioner makes a determination under subsection (2) in relation to the arrangement.
- (2) The Commissioner may make the determination if the Commissioner considers that this is appropriate, having regard to:
- (a) the respects in which the arrangement does not meet those requirements; and
  - (b) the extent to which it does not meet those requirements; and
  - (c) the reasons why it does not meet those requirements; and
  - (d) if the Commissioner is considering whether to impose conditions under subsection (3)—the likelihood that you will comply with those conditions; and
  - (e) the objects of this Subdivision.
- (3) The balancing adjustment under this subsection is the balancing adjustment you would make under Subdivision 230-G if you ceased to have the arrangement for its fair value at the time when the election started to apply to the arrangement (but only to the extent to which the balancing adjustment is reasonably attributable to a *currency exchange rate effect).

230-280 Applying foreign exchange retranslation method to gains and losses

General election

- (1) You make a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement for an income year if:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) applies to the arrangement; and
- (b) any of the following subparagraphs apply:
  - (i) the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(1)(c) requires you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year;
  - (ii) if subsection 230-265(2) applies to the arrangement—the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(1)(c) would have required you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(2)(b);
  - (iii) if subsection 230-265(3) applies to the arrangement—the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(1)(c) would have required you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss for the year that is attributable to currency exchange rates mentioned in paragraph 230-265(1)(c) if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities.

The amount of the gain or loss is the amount the standard requires, or would have required, you to recognise.

Note: See subsection 230-40(6).

Election in relation to qualifying forex accounts

- (2) You make a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement for an income year if:
  - (a) a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(3) applies to the arrangement; and
  - (b) the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(1)(c):
    - (i) requires you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year; or
    - (ii) would require you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year if that standard applied to the arrangement;

or

- (iii) would require you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(2)(b); or
- (iv) would require you to recognise a particular amount in profit or loss in relation to that arrangement for that income year if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(2)(b) and if that standard applied to the arrangement.

The amount of the gain or loss is the amount the standard requires, or would require, you to recognise.

Subsidiary leaving group

- (3) Subsection (4) applies if:
  - (a) a *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group has a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) a *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) or (3) applies to the arrangement; and
  - (c) a subsidiary member of the group ceases to be a member of the group at a particular time (the leaving time); and
  - (d) immediately after the leaving time, the head company no longer has the arrangement because the subsidiary member ceased to be a member of the group.
- (4) The gain or loss the group makes from the *financial arrangement for the income year in which the leaving time occurs is taken to be the gain or loss that the standard referred to in paragraph 230-265(1)(c) would require the group to recognise in profit or loss in relation to the arrangement for that income year if:
  - (a) the circumstances that existed in relation to the arrangement (including its value) immediately before the leaving time had continued to exist until the end of the income year; and
  - (b) any circumstances that arise in relation to the arrangement after the leaving time were disregarded.

230-285 When election ceases to apply

General election

- (1) A *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) ceases to have effect from the start of an income year if you cease to be eligible under subsection 230-255(2) to make a foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) for that income year.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not prevent you from making a new *foreign exchange retranslation election at a later time if you become, at that later time, eligible under subsection 230-255(2), to make a foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) for that income year.

Note: The new election will only apply to financial arrangements you start to have after the start of the income year in which the new election is made.

- (3) A *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(1) ceases to apply to a *financial arrangement from the start of an income year if the arrangement ceases to satisfy a requirement of paragraph 230-265(1)(b) or (c) during that income year.
- (4) If the election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection (3), the election cannot subsequently reapply to that arrangement (even if the requirements of paragraphs 230-265(1)(b) and (c) are satisfied once more in relation to the arrangement).

Election in relation to qualifying forex accounts

- (5) A *foreign exchange retranslation election under subsection 230-255(3) ceases to apply to a *financial arrangement from the start of an income year if the arrangement ceases to satisfy a requirement of subsection 230-255(3) during that income year.
- (6) If the election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection (5), the election cannot subsequently reapply to that arrangement (even if the requirements of subsection 230-255(3) are satisfied once more in relation to the arrangement).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

230-290 Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

- (1) You must make balancing adjustments under subsection (2) if a *foreign currency retranslation election ceases to have effect under subsection 230-285(1).
- (2) The balancing adjustments under this subsection are the balancing adjustments you would make under Subdivision 230-G for each of the *financial arrangements to which the election applied if you disposed of the arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to have effect (but only to the extent to which the balancing adjustment is reasonably attributable to a *currency exchange rate effect).
- (3) You must make a balancing adjustment under this section if a *foreign currency retranslation election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection 230-285(3) or (5).
- (4) The balancing adjustment under this subsection is the balancing adjustment you would make under Subdivision 230-G if you disposed of the *financial arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to apply to the arrangement (but only to the extent to which the balancing adjustment is reasonably attributable to a *currency exchange rate effect).
- (5) If a balancing adjustment is made under subsection (2) or (4) in relation to a *financial arrangement, you are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have reacquired the arrangement at its fair value immediately after the election ceased to have effect or ceased to apply to the arrangement.

230-300 Applying hedging financial arrangement method to gains and losses

- (1) If you have a *hedging financial arrangement to which a *hedging financial arrangement election applies, the gain or loss you make for an income year from the arrangement is worked out under this section and section 230-310 instead of under Subdivision 230-B, 230-C, 230-D, 230-F or 230-G.

  - (c) you must have, at the time when you create, acquire or apply the arrangement, a record that sets out your risk management policies and practices;
  - (d) you must have in place, at the time when you create, acquire or apply the arrangement, internal risk management systems and controls that record the arrangement and the hedged item or items.
- (6) For the purposes of paragraph (5)(b), you must assume that:
- (a) all the gains from the *financial arrangement would be assessable income; and
  - (b) all the losses from the financial arrangement would be allowed to you as deductions.

230-360 Determining basis for allocating gain or loss

- (1) A requirement of this section is that you must determine the basis on which your gain or loss from the *hedging financial arrangement is to be allocated to an income year, or over 2 or more income years, for the purposes of this Division.

- (2) It is also a requirement of this section that the basis that you determine must:
- (a) fairly and reasonably correspond with the basis on which gains, losses or other amounts in relation to the *hedged item or items are recognised or allocated under this Act; and
  - (b) be objective; and
  - (c) be sufficiently precise and detailed that, when your gain, loss or other amount from the *hedged item or items is taken into account for the purposes of this Act, the following will be clear from the record made under section 230-355:
    - (i) the time at which the gain or loss from the *hedging financial arrangement is to be taken into account for the purposes of this Division;
    - (ii) the way in which that gain or loss will be dealt with under section 230-310.
- Note: Paragraph (a) refers to an amount in relation to the hedged item or items being recognised or allocated under this Act. This would include an amount being allowed as a deduction or an amount being included in assessable income. If the hedged item were an asset, an amount referable to a part of the cost of the asset might, for example, be allowed as a deduction for a particular income year.
- (3) To avoid doubt, the income years over which your gain or loss is to be allocated may include an income year that starts after you cease to have the *hedging financial arrangement.

230-365 Effectiveness of the hedge

The requirement of this section is that:

- (a) hedging the risk must be expected to be highly effective (within the meaning of the standards referred to in paragraph 230-315(2)(a)), for the period for which you expect to have the *hedging financial arrangement, in reducing your exposure to changes in the fair value of the *hedged item or items or cash flows attributable to your hedged risk; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) the fair value of the hedged item or items or cash flows relating to them and the fair value of the arrangement must be able to be reliably measured; and
- (c) you must assess the hedging of the risk by the arrangement:
  - (i) on a regular basis in accordance with the *accounting standards; and
  - (ii) at least once in each 12 month period;and your assessment must be that it will be highly effective (within the meaning of the standards referred to in paragraph 230-315(2)(a)) in reducing your exposure to changes in the fair value of the hedged item or items or cash flows attributable to the hedged risk throughout the remainder of the period for which you expect to have the arrangement.

230-370 When election ceases to apply

- (1) A *hedging financial arrangement election ceases to have effect from the start of an income year if you cease to be eligible under subsection 230-315(2) to make the election for that income year.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not prevent you from making a new *hedging financial arrangement election at a later time if you become, at that later time, eligible under subsection 230-315(2) to make an election for an income year.

Note: The new election will only apply to financial arrangements you start to have after the start of the income year in which the new election is made.

230-375 Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

- (1) This section applies if a *hedging financial arrangement election ceases to have effect under subsection 230-370(1).
- (2) You are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have:
  - (a) disposed of each *hedging financial arrangement to which the election applies for its fair value immediately before the election ceases to have effect; and
  - (b) reacquired the arrangement at its fair value immediately after the election ceases to have effect.

---

Section 230-380

---

- (3) To avoid doubt, this Subdivision applies, for the purposes of working out the consequences of the disposal referred to in paragraph (2)(a), as if the *hedging financial arrangement were one to which the *hedging financial arrangement election applied at the time of the disposal.

230-380 Where requirements not met

Commissioner may determine that requirement met

- (1) If a *hedging financial arrangement that you have would not meet the requirements of sections 230-355 to 230-365, it nevertheless meets the requirements if the Commissioner considers this appropriate having regard to:
- (a) the respects in which it would not do so; and
  - (b) the extent to which it would not do so; and
  - (c) the reasons why it would not do so; and
  - (d) if the Commissioner is considering whether to impose conditions under subsection (2)—the likelihood that you will comply with those conditions; and
  - (e) the objects of this Subdivision.

Commissioner may impose additional record keeping requirements

- (2) The Commissioner may make a determination under subsection (1) conditional on your keeping records in addition to those required by section 230-355.
- (3) A determination under subsection (1) ceases to have effect if you breach a condition imposed under subsection (2).
- (4) Subsection (3) ceases to apply to you if the Commissioner determines that that subsection ceases to apply to you. The determination takes effect from the date specified in the determination.
- (5) In deciding whether to make the determination under subsection (4), the Commissioner must have regard to:
- (a) your record keeping practices; and
  - (b) your compliance history; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (c) any changes that have been made to:
  - (i) your accounting systems and controls; and
  - (ii) your internal governance processes;to ensure that breaches of the kind referred to in subsection (3) do not happen again; and
- (d) any other relevant matter.

Commissioner may determine matter under section 230-360

- (6) If:
  - (a) the Commissioner makes a determination under subsection (1) in relation to a *hedging financial arrangement; and
  - (b) either or both of the following applies:
    - (i) you fail to determine a matter in relation to the arrangement under section 230-360;
    - (ii) you determine a matter in relation to the arrangement under section 230-360 but the determination does not satisfy the requirements of subsection 230-360(2);the Commissioner may determine that matter and the Commissioner's determination has effect as if you had made the determination and recorded it under that section.

230-385 You may be excluded from this Subdivision for deliberate failures to comply with requirements

When section applies

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you start to have a *hedging financial arrangement to which your *hedging financial arrangement election applies; and
  - (b) you do not meet a requirement of section 230-355 or 230-360 in relation to the arrangement; and
  - (c) you deliberately fail to meet that requirement in order to have this Subdivision not apply to the arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Hedging financial arrangement election ceases to apply

- (2) The *hedging financial arrangement election does not apply to a *hedging financial arrangement you start to have after you fail to meet the requirement referred to in paragraph (1)(b).

Commissioner may determine that hedging financial arrangement is to reapply

- (3) Subsection (2) ceases to apply to you if the Commissioner determines that that subsection ceases to apply to you. The determination takes effect from the date specified in the determination.
- (4) The Commissioner may make the determination under subsection (3) only if satisfied that you are unlikely to deliberately fail again to meet a requirement of section 230-355 or 230-360 in order to have this Subdivision not apply to a *hedging financial arrangement.
- (5) In deciding whether to make the determination under subsection (3), the Commissioner must have regard to:
- (a) your record keeping practices; and
  - (b) your compliance history; and
  - (c) any changes that have been made to:
    - (i) your accounting systems and controls; and
    - (ii) your internal governance processes;to ensure that failures of the kind referred to in paragraph (1)(c) do not happen again; and
  - (d) any other relevant matter.
- (6) If the Commissioner makes a determination under subsection (3), the *hedging financial arrangement election applies to a *hedging financial arrangement only if you start to have the arrangement after the determination takes effect.

Commissioner may still exercise powers under section 230-380

- (7) This section does not prevent the Commissioner from exercising the Commissioner's powers under section 230-380 in relation to the *hedging financial arrangement referred to in paragraph (1)(a).

Subdivision 230-F—Reliance on financial reports

Table of sections

230-390	Objects of this Subdivision
230-395	Election to rely on financial reports
230-400	Financial reports election where differing income and accounting years
230-405	Commissioner discretion to waive requirements in paragraphs 230-395(2)(c) and (e)
230-410	Financial arrangements to which the election applies
230-415	Financial arrangements not covered by election
230-420	Effect of election to rely on financial reports
230-425	When election ceases to apply
230-430	Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

230-390 Objects of this Subdivision

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to reduce administration and compliance costs by allowing you to align the tax treatment of your gains and losses from a *financial arrangement with the accounting treatment that applies to the arrangement; and
- (b) to achieve those objects without your obtaining inappropriate tax benefits.

230-395 Election to rely on financial reports

Election

- (1) You may make an election to rely on financial reports if you are eligible under subsection (2) to make the election for the income year in which you make the election.

Eligibility to make election

- (2) You are eligible to make an election to rely on financial reports for an income year if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for that income year in accordance with:
    - (i) the *accounting standards; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards made under a *foreign law that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a foreign law; and
- (b) the financial report is audited in accordance with:
  - (i) the *auditing standards; or
  - (ii) if the auditing standards do not apply to the auditing of the financial report—comparable auditing standards made under a foreign law; and
- (c) your auditor has not qualified the auditor’s report on your financial report for that income year or any of the last 4 financial years in a respect that is relevant to the taxation treatment of *financial arrangements; and
- (d) your accounting systems and controls and your internal governance processes are reliable; and
- (e) no report of an audit or review conducted in the income year, or any of the preceding 4 income years, has included an adverse assessment of your accounting systems in a respect that is relevant to the taxation treatment of financial arrangements.

Note 1: Paragraph (b)—section 230-500 allows regulations to be made specifying particular foreign accounting and auditing standards as ones that are to be treated as comparable with Australian accounting and auditing standards for the purposes of this Division.

Note 2: For the purposes of paragraphs (c) and (e), a qualification or assessment may be relevant to the taxation treatment of financial arrangements even though it does not deal with the amount or timing of recognition of gains or losses (but relates, for example, to the reliability of the accounting systems through which information about financial arrangements is recorded).

- (3) Paragraph (2)(e) does not apply to a report of:
  - (a) an internal audit or review that you conduct; or
  - (b) an audit or review of a kind prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph.

Election irrevocable

- (4) An election under subsection (1) is irrevocable.

Note: The election may cease to apply under section 230-425.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

230-400 Financial reports election where differing income and accounting years

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) you prepare a financial report for a year (the first year); and
  - (b) you prepare a financial report for the subsequent year (the second year); and
  - (c) your income year starts in the first year and ends in the second year; and
  - (d) both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year are:
    - (i) prepared in accordance with paragraph 230-395(2)(a); and
    - (ii) audited in accordance with paragraph 230-395(2)(b); and
  - (e) the auditor's reports are unqualified for both the financial report for the first year and the financial report for the second year.
- (2) Treat yourself as eligible to make an election for the income year under subsection 230-395(2).
- (3) Work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the income year as follows:
  - (a) firstly, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the first year in accordance with section 230-420 (treating the first year as an income year);
  - (b) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (a) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (c) next, work out the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for the second year in accordance with section 230-420 (treating the second year as an income year);
  - (d) next, work out how much of the gain or loss mentioned in paragraph (c) is attributable to the income year in accordance with subsection (4);
  - (e) next:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 230-405

---

- (i) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both gains—add them together to work out the gain from the arrangement for the income year; or
  - (ii) if the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) are both losses—add them together to work out the loss from the arrangement for the income year; or
  - (iii) if one of the amounts worked out under paragraphs (b) and (d) is a loss and the other is a gain—subtract the loss from the gain. If the result is positive, this is the gain from the arrangement for the income year. If the result is negative, this is the loss from the arrangement for the income year.
- (4) For the purposes of paragraphs (3)(b) and (d), work out how much of the gain or loss is attributable to the income year by:
- (a) using a methodology that is reasonable; and
  - (b) using the same methodology for the first and second years.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(a), treat a methodology that attributes the gain or loss on a pro-rata basis as not being reasonable.

230-405 Commissioner discretion to waive requirements in paragraphs 230-395(2)(c) and (e)

- (1) Paragraph 230-395(2)(c) or (e) does not apply in relation to your *election to rely on financial reports for a particular income year or income years if the Commissioner determines that the paragraph does not apply to the election for that income year or those income years.
- (2) In deciding whether to make the determination under subsection (1), the Commissioner must have regard to:
- (a) the reasons for the non-compliance with the standards concerned; and
  - (b) the remedial action (if any) that you have undertaken to ensure that non-compliance with those standards does not occur in future (such as changes to your accounting systems and controls or to your internal governance structures); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) if you, or your activities, are subject to regulatory oversight or review—any opinions expressed by the regulator about the adequacy of remedial action of the kind referred to in paragraph (b); and
- (d) any other relevant matter.

230-410 Financial arrangements to which the election applies

- (1) An *election to rely on financial reports applies in relation to a *financial arrangement that you have if:
  - (a) the arrangement is a *Division 230 financial arrangement; and
  - (b) you start to have the arrangement in the income year in which you make the election or in a later income year; and
  - (c) the arrangement is recognised in financial reports of the kind referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) that are audited as referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(b); and
  - (d) if the arrangement is a financial arrangement under section 230-50—the arrangement is an asset or liability that you are required (whether or not as a result of a choice you make) by:
    - (i) the *accounting standards; or
    - (ii) if those standards do not apply to the preparation of the financial report—comparable accounting standards that apply to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law;to classify or designate, in the financial reports, as at fair value through profit or loss; and
  - (e) it is reasonably expected that the following is, or will be, the same:
    - (i) the amount of the overall gain or loss you make from the arrangement (as determined in accordance with the financial reports);
    - (ii) the amount of the overall gain or loss you make from the arrangement (as determined in accordance with the provisions of this Division if the election under subsection (1) did not apply to the arrangement); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 230-410

---

- (f) the differences between the results of the following methods would reasonably be expected not to be substantial:
  - (i) the method used in your financial reports to work out the amounts of the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for each income year;
  - (ii) the method that would be applied by this Division to work out the amounts of those gains or losses if the election did not apply to the arrangement.

This subsection has effect subject to section 230-415.

- (2) In applying paragraph (1)(f) at the time when you start to have the *financial arrangement, disregard any differences between the results of the methods referred to in subparagraphs (1)(f)(i) and (ii) that are attributable solely to the provision for the possible impairment of debts required by the standards referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a).
- (3) Subsections (4), (5) and (6) apply if, but for this subsection, paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) would not be satisfied in relation to a *financial arrangement because the arrangement is an intra-group transaction for the purposes of:
  - (a) *accounting standard AASB 127 (or another accounting standard prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this paragraph); or
  - (b) if that standard does not apply to the preparation of the financial report—a comparable accounting standard that applies to the preparation of the financial report under a *foreign law.

Note: Financial arrangements between members of a consolidated group or MEC group are not covered by this subsection because the single entity rule in subsection 701-1(1) operates to treat them as not being financial arrangements for the purposes of this Division.

- (4) Paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the *financial arrangement.
- (5) Paragraph (1)(e) applies as if the reference in subparagraph (1)(e)(i) to the amount of the overall gain or loss you make from the *financial arrangement (as determined in accordance with the financial reports) were a reference to the amount of that overall gain or loss (as would be determined in accordance with the financial reports if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph (3)(b)).

---

- (6) Paragraph (1)(f) applies as if the reference in subparagraph (1)(f)(i) to the method used in your financial reports to work out the amounts of the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for each income year were a reference to the method that would be used in your financial reports to work out those amounts if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph (3)(b).
- (7) For the purposes of applying subparagraphs (1)(e)(ii) and (f)(ii) to a *financial arrangement, assume that you had made any election that:
  - (a) you could make under Subdivision 230-C or 230-D; and
  - (b) could apply to the arrangement.
- (8) If:
  - (a) the *financial arrangement would not be a financial arrangement if the following provisions were disregarded:
    - (i) Division 9A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (which deals with offshore banking units);
    - (ii) Part IIIB of that Act (which deals with Australian branches of foreign banks etc.); and
  - (b) paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) would be satisfied in relation to the financial arrangement if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities; and
  - (c) the *election to rely on financial reports is made by:
    - (i) if section 121EB of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies—the OBU mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section); or
    - (ii) if section 160ZZW of that Act applies—the bank mentioned in that section (disregarding the operation of that section);paragraphs (1)(c) and (d) are taken to be satisfied in relation to the arrangement.

230-415 Financial arrangements not covered by election

- (1) An *election to rely on financial reports does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the arrangement is an *equity interest; and
  - (b) you are the issuer of the equity interest.
- (2) An *election to rely on financial reports does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) you are:
    - (i) an individual; or
    - (ii) an entity (other than an individual) that satisfies subsection 230-455(2), (3) or (4) for the income year in which you start to have the arrangement; and
  - (b) the arrangement is a *qualifying security; and
  - (c) you have not made an election under subsection 230-455(7).
- (3) An *election to rely on financial reports does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the election is made by the *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group; and
  - (b) the election specifies that the election is not to apply to financial arrangements in relation to *life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group; and
  - (c) the arrangement is one that relates to the life insurance business carried on by a member of the consolidated group or MEC group.
- (4) An *election to rely on financial reports does not apply to a *financial arrangement if the arrangement is associated with a business of a kind specified in regulations made for the purposes of this subsection.

230-420 Effect of election to rely on financial reports

- (1) If an *election to rely on financial reports applies to a *financial arrangement, the gain or loss you make from the arrangement for an income year is:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) require you to recognise in profit or loss from that arrangement for that income year; or
- (b) if subsection 230-410(3) applies to the arrangement—the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) would have required you to recognise in profit or loss from that arrangement for that income year if the arrangement had not been an intra-group transaction for the purposes of the standard referred to in paragraph 230-410(3)(b); or
- (c) if subsection 230-410(8) applies to the arrangement—the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-410(1)(d) would have required you to recognise in profit or loss for the year from the asset or liability mentioned in paragraph 230-410(1)(d) if the arrangement had been between 2 separate entities.

Note: Subsection 230-40(7) provides that this Subdivision does not apply to a gain or loss from a financial arrangement to the extent to which Subdivision 230-E (hedging financial arrangements method) applies to the arrangement.

- (2) Subsection (3) applies if:
  - (a) a *head company of a *consolidated group or *MEC group has a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) an *election to rely on financial reports applies to the arrangement; and
  - (c) a subsidiary member of the group ceases to be a member of the group at a particular time (the leaving time); and
  - (d) immediately after the leaving time, the subsidiary member has the arrangement.
- (3) The gain or loss the group makes from the *financial arrangement for the income year in which the leaving time occurs is taken to be the gain or loss that the standards referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) would require the group to recognise in profit or loss from the arrangement for that income year if:
  - (a) the circumstances that existed in relation to the arrangement (including its value) immediately before the leaving time had continued to exist until the end of the income year; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) any circumstances that arise in relation to the arrangement after the leaving time were disregarded.

230-425 When election ceases to apply

- (1) An election under subsection 230-395(1) ceases to have effect from the start of an income year if you cease to be eligible to make an *election to rely on financial reports for that income year.
- (2) Subsection (1) does not prevent you from making a new election under subsection 230-395(1) at a later time if you become, at that later time, eligible to make an *election to rely on financial reports for an income year.

Note: The new election will only apply to financial arrangements you start to have after the start of the income year in which the new election is made.

- (3) An election under subsection 230-395(1) ceases to apply to a *financial arrangement from the start of an income year if the arrangement ceases to satisfy a requirement of paragraph 230-410(1)(c), (d), (e) or (f) during that income year.
- (4) If the election ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection (3), the election cannot subsequently apply to that arrangement (even if the requirements of paragraphs 230-410(1)(c), (d), (e) and (f) are satisfied once more in relation to the arrangement).

230-430 Balancing adjustment if election ceases to apply

- (1) You must make balancing adjustments under subsection (2) if an election under subsection 230-395(1) ceases to have effect under subsection 230-425(1).
- (2) The balancing adjustments under this subsection are the balancing adjustments you would make under Subdivision 230-G in relation to each of the *financial arrangements to which the election applied if you disposed of the arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to have effect.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) You must make balancing adjustments under subsection (5) if an election under subsection 230-395(1) ceases to apply to a particular *financial arrangement under subsection 230-425(3).
- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply to a *financial arrangement if:
  - (a) the arrangement is not one that you are required (whether or not as a result of a choice you make) by the standards referred to in paragraph 230-395(2)(a) to classify or designate, in your financial reports, as at fair value through profit or loss; and
  - (b) the election under subsection 230-395(1) ceases to apply to the arrangement because the arrangement fails to satisfy the requirements of paragraph 230-410(1)(e) or (f); and
  - (c) the arrangement ceases to satisfy the requirements of that paragraph because the arrangement becomes impaired for the purposes of those standards.
- (5) The balancing adjustment under this subsection is the balancing adjustment you would make under Subdivision 230-G if you disposed of the *financial arrangement for its fair value when the election ceases to apply to the arrangement.
- (6) If a balancing adjustment is made under subsection (2) or (5) in relation to a *financial arrangement, you are taken, for the purposes of this Division, to have reacquired the arrangement at its fair value immediately after the election ceased to have effect or ceased to apply to the arrangement.

230-435 When balancing adjustment made

When balancing adjustment made

- (1) A balancing adjustment is made under this Subdivision if:
  - (a) you transfer to another entity all of your rights and/or obligations under a *financial arrangement; or
  - (b) all of your rights and/or obligations under a financial arrangement otherwise cease; or
  - (c) you transfer to another entity:
    - (i) a proportionate share of all of your rights and/or obligations under a financial arrangement; or
    - (ii) a right or obligation that you have under a financial arrangement to a specifically identified *financial benefit; or

230-445 Balancing adjustment

Complete cessation or transfer

- (1) Use the following method statement to make the balancing adjustment if paragraph 230-435(1)(a), (b) or (d) applies:

Method statement for balancing adjustment

Step 1. Add up the following:

- (a) the total of all the *financial benefits you have received under the *financial arrangement;

Note: This would include financial benefits you receive in relation to the transfer or cessation (see paragraph 230-60(2)(c)).

- (b) the total of the amounts that have been allowed to you as deductions, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, for losses from the arrangement;

- (c) the total of the other amounts that would have been allowed to you as deductions, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, for losses from the arrangement if all your losses from the arrangement were allowable as deductions;

Note: The losses from the arrangement here include losses made in gaining or producing exempt income or non-assessable non-exempt income.

- (d) the total of the amounts that will be allowed to you as deductions after the transfer or cessation because of a balancing adjustment under subitems 104(12) to (18) of the Tax Laws Amendment (Taxation of Financial Arrangements) Act 2009 to the extent to which those amounts are attributable to the arrangement;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (e) the total of the amounts that will be allowed to you as deductions after the transfer or cessation because of sections 230-160 and 230-165 to the extent to which those amounts are attributable to the arrangement.

Step 2. Add up the following:

- (a) the total of all the *financial benefits you have provided under the *financial arrangement;

Note: This would include financial benefits you provide in relation to the transfer or cessation (see paragraph 230-60(1)(c)).

- (b) the total of the amounts that have been included in your assessable income, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, as gains from the arrangement;

- (c) the total of the other amounts that would have been included in your assessable income, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, as gains from the arrangement if all your gains from the arrangement were assessable;

Note: The gains from the arrangement here include amounts of exempt income or non-assessable non-exempt income.

- (d) the total of the amounts that will be included in your assessable income after the transfer or cessation because of a balancing adjustment under subitems 104(12) to (18) of the Tax Laws Amendment (Taxation of Financial Arrangements) Act 2009 to the extent to which those amounts are attributable to the arrangement.

---

---

- (e) the total of the amounts that will be included in your assessable income after the transfer or cessation because of sections 230-160 and 230-165 to the extent to which those amounts are attributable to the arrangement.

Step 3. Compare the amount obtained under step 1 (the step 1 amount) with the amount obtained under step 2 (the step 2 amount). If the step 1 amount exceeds the step 2 amount, an amount equal to the excess is taken, as a balancing adjustment, to be a gain you make from the *financial arrangement for the purposes of this Division. If the step 2 amount exceeds the step 1 amount, an amount equal to the excess is taken, as a balancing adjustment, to be a loss that you make from the arrangement. If the step 1 amount and the step 2 amount are equal, no balancing adjustment is made.

Proportionate transfer of all rights and/or obligations under financial arrangement

- (2) If subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(i) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement in subsection (1) but reduce:
- (a) the amounts referred to in step 1; and
  - (b) the amounts referred to in step 2;
- by applying the proportion referred to in subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(i) to them.

Transfer of specifically identified right or obligation under financial arrangement

- (3) If subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(ii) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement in subsection (1) as if the references to:
- (a) the amounts referred to in step 1; and
  - (b) the amounts referred to in step 2;

---

were references to those amounts to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the right or obligation referred to in subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(ii).

Proportionate transfer of specifically identified right or obligation under financial arrangement

- (4) If subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(iii) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement:
- (a) as if the references to:
    - (i) the amounts referred to in step 1; and
    - (ii) the amounts referred to in step 2;were references to those amounts to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the right or obligation referred to in subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(iii); and
  - (b) by reducing those amounts by applying the proportion referred to in subparagraph 230-435(1)(c)(iii) to them.

Attribution must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles

- (5) Any attribution made under subsection (3) or paragraph (4)(a) must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles that properly take into account:
- (a) the nature of the rights and obligations under the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) the risks associated with each *financial benefit, right and obligation under the arrangement; and
  - (c) the time value of money.

Income year for which gain or loss is made

- (6) The gain or loss you are taken to make under subsection (1), (2), (3) or (4) is a gain or loss for the income year in which the event referred to in subsection 230-435(1) occurs.

Treatment of bad debts in relation to financial arrangements

- (7) For the purposes of applying paragraph (b) of step 1 of the method statement in subsection (1) to a *financial arrangement, a bad debt

230-485 Effect of change of residence—rules for particular methods

- (1) The object of this section is to deal with your gains and losses for an income year in which you change residence by:
  - (a) allocating the gains and losses to your periods of Australian and foreign residence in that income year; and
  - (b) determining the assessability of the gains and the deductibility of the losses according to:
    - (i) your residency in each period; and
    - (ii) the sources of the gains and the connection of the losses with your assessable income.

- (2) This section applies if:
  - (a) you are a foreign resident for part of an income year (the foreign residency period) and an Australian resident for the other part of the income year (the Australian residency period); and
  - (b) section 230-490 does not apply in respect of the change of residence.

Note: See section 230-490 if you change residence, and after the change the gains and losses you make from the arrangement are not assessable or deductible under this Division.

Realisation method

- (3) Subsection (4) applies if:
  - (a) you have a *financial arrangement at the time (the residence change time):
    - (i) you cease to be an Australian resident; or
    - (ii) you become an Australian resident; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) you apply the realisation method to determine the amount of a gain or loss you make from the arrangement.
- (4) You are taken for the purposes of this Division:
  - (a) to have disposed of the arrangement just before the residence change time for its fair value just before that time; and
  - (b) to have acquired the arrangement again at the residence change time for its fair value at that time.

Accruals and hedging financial arrangement methods

- (5) Subsection (6) applies if:
  - (a) assuming that you disregarded this section and subsection 230-40(2), you would apply the accruals or hedging financial arrangement method to determine the amount of:
    - (i) a gain included in your assessable income under section 230-15 for the income year; or
    - (ii) a loss you can deduct under section 230-15 for the income year; and
  - (b) subsection (4) does not apply in relation to any gain or loss under the arrangement.
- (6) Apply that method by apportioning the gain or loss on a reasonable basis between those periods so as to work out:
  - (a) a gain or loss from the arrangement for the foreign residency period; and
  - (b) a gain or loss from the arrangement for the Australian residency period.

Fair value, foreign exchange retranslation and financial reports methods

- (7) Subsection (8) applies if:
  - (a) assuming that you disregarded this section and subsection 230-40(2), you would apply the fair value or foreign exchange retranslation method or the method of relying on your financial reports to determine the amount of:
    - (i) a gain included in your assessable income under section 230-15 for the income year; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) a loss you can deduct under section 230-15 for the income year; and
  - (b) subsection (4) does not apply in relation to any gain or loss under the arrangement.
- (8) Apply that method to work out:
- (a) a gain or loss from the arrangement for the foreign residency period; and
  - (b) a gain or loss from the arrangement for the Australian residency period.

230-490 Effect of change of residence—disposal and reacquisition etc. after ceasing to be Australian resident where no further recognised gains or losses from arrangement

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) you cease to be an Australian resident at a particular time (the residence change time); and
  - (b) you have a *financial arrangement at the residence change time; and
  - (c) at the residence change time you expect that any gains and losses you make from the arrangement after that time will not be assessable or deductible under this Division.
- (2) You are taken for the purposes of this Division:
- (a) to have disposed of the arrangement just before that time for its fair value just before that time; and
  - (b) to have acquired the arrangement again at the residence change time for its fair value at that time.

230-495 Effect of change of accounting standards

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) one of these methods apply to take account of a gain or loss you make from a *financial arrangement:
    - (i) the fair value method provided for in Subdivision 230-C; or
    - (ii) the foreign exchange retranslation method provided for in Subdivision 230-D; or

Section 230-500

- (iii) the method of relying on your financial reports provided for in Subdivision 230-F; and
  - (b) there is a change in, or in the application of, the relevant standards (as mentioned in section 230-230 (fair value method), 230-280 (foreign exchange retranslation method) or 230-420 (method of relying on financial reports)) that apply in relation to the arrangement; and
  - (c) that change applies to a particular income year and later years; and
  - (d) as a result of the change, those standards require you to recognise in your statement of financial position an amount (the equity amount), in order to avoid the need to increase or decrease gains or losses recognised in profit or loss from the financial arrangement in respect of previous income years.
- (2) If the equity amount is positive, include in your assessable income for the particular income year mentioned in paragraph (1)(c) so much of it as relates to the *financial arrangement mentioned in paragraph (1)(a).
- (3) If the equity amount is negative, you are entitled to a deduction for the particular income year mentioned in paragraph (1)(c) equal to so much of it as relates to the *financial arrangement mentioned in paragraph (1)(a).

230-500 Comparable foreign accounting and auditing standards

The regulations may:

- (a) specify that particular standards that apply under a *foreign law are to be taken for the purposes of this Division to be comparable to the *accounting standards; and
- (b) specify that particular standards that apply under a foreign law are to be taken for the purposes of this Division to be comparable to the *auditing standards.

230-505 Financial arrangement as consideration for provision or acquisition of a thing

- (1) This section applies if you start or cease to have a *Division 230 financial arrangement as consideration for the provision or acquisition of a thing.
- (2) Work out the *market value of the thing at the time at which you (in fact) provide or acquire it. For the purposes of applying this Act to you, treat the amount:
  - (a) you obtain for providing the thing; or
  - (b) you provide for acquiring the thing;as being that market value.

Note 1: The amount may be relevant, for example, for the purposes of applying the provisions of this Act dealing with capital gains, capital allowances or trading stock to the thing.

Note 2: This subsection does not affect the financial benefits received or provided under the financial arrangement from you starting or ceasing to have it (except in the circumstances described in Note 3). However:

- (a) the market value of the thing will be, or form part of, those financial benefits for the purposes of section 230-445; and
- (b) in the case of a non arm's length transaction, the amount of those financial benefits may be affected by section 230-510.

Note 3: If the thing is itself a Division 230 financial arrangement and subsection (3) does not apply, this subsection will determine the financial benefits received or provided under the financial arrangement from you starting or ceasing to have it.

- (3) Subsection (2) does not apply if:
  - (a) you start or cease to have the *financial arrangement as mentioned in subsection (1) under an arrangement (the starting or ceasing arrangement); and
  - (b) the thing is itself a *Division 230 financial arrangement; and
  - (c) the starting or ceasing arrangement is not itself a Division 230 financial arrangement.

Example: An arrangement for exchanging a share subject to Subdivision 230-C for another share subject to Subdivision 230-C, where the arrangement itself is not a Division 230 financial arrangement.

- (4) For the purposes of this section:
- (a) treat yourself as providing a thing to another entity if:
    - (i) you have provided, or are to provide, the thing to the other entity; or
    - (ii) you cease to have, have ceased to have or are to cease to have, the thing; or
    - (iii) the other entity starts to have, has started having or is to start to have, the thing; and
  - (b) treat yourself as acquiring a thing if:
    - (i) another entity has provided, or is to provide, the thing to you; or
    - (ii) another entity ceases to have, has ceased to have or is to cease to have, the thing; or
    - (iii) you start to have, have started to have or are to start to have, the thing.
- (5) For the purposes of this section, treat part of a *Division 230 financial arrangement as a Division 230 financial arrangement.
- (6) Without limiting subsection (1), the thing provided, or the thing acquired, need not be a tangible thing and may take the form of services, conferring a right, incurring an obligation or extinguishing or varying a right or obligation.
- (7) To avoid doubt, this section applies even if your starting or ceasing to have the *financial arrangement mentioned in subsection (1) is only part of the consideration for the provision or acquisition of the thing.
- (8) For the purposes of this section, treat your starting or ceasing to have the *financial arrangement mentioned in subsection (1) as consideration for the provision or acquisition of the thing if that starting or ceasing is, in substance or effect, done for the provision or acquisition of the thing.

Example: Starting to have a financial arrangement in satisfaction of an obligation, where the obligation itself was incurred as consideration for the thing.

  - (b) if the balancing adjustment was made because of paragraph 230-435(1)(b) or (d) (cessations without transfer)—the arrangement is not a *debt interest or loan.

Non-arm's length transaction resulting in you starting to have the arrangement

- (2) Subsection (3) applies if the parties to the dealing that resulted in you starting to have the arrangement were not dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.
- (3) For the purposes of this Division:
- (a) disregard the amount of the *financial benefit (if any) that you provided or received in relation to you starting to have the arrangement; and
  - (b) instead, treat yourself as having provided or received a financial benefit in relation to you starting to have the arrangement that is equal to the amount of the financial benefit that you would have provided or received if the parties to the dealing mentioned in subsection (2) were dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.

Non-arm's length transaction resulting in change of an amount of a financial benefit that you provided or received under the financial arrangement

- (4) Subsection (5) applies if the parties to a dealing that resulted in a change of an amount of a *financial benefit that you provide or receive under the *financial arrangement were not dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.

Section 230-515

---

- (5) For the purposes of this Division:
- (a) disregard the amount of the *financial benefit (if any) that you provide or receive under the *financial arrangement as a result of the dealing; and
  - (b) instead, treat yourself as providing or receiving a financial benefit under the financial arrangement as a result of the dealing that is equal to the amount of the financial benefit that you would have provided or received if the parties to the dealing were dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.

Non-arm's length transaction resulting in balancing adjustment

- (6) Subsection (7) applies if the parties to the dealing that resulted in the balancing adjustment mentioned in subsection (1) being made were not dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.
- (7) For the purposes of this Division:
- (a) disregard the amount of the *financial benefit (if any) that you provide or receive in relation to the balancing adjustment; and
  - (b) instead, treat yourself as providing or receiving a financial benefit in relation to the balancing adjustment that is equal to the amount of the financial benefit that you would have provided or received if the parties to the dealing mentioned in subsection (6) were dealing at *arm's length in relation to the dealing.

230-515 Arm's length dealings in relation to financial arrangement—adjustment to gain or loss in certain situations

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) disregarding this Division, a provision mentioned in subsection (2) makes an adjustment to an amount (including a nil amount) (the relevant amount); and
  - (b) the relevant amount is relevant in determining the amount of a gain or loss you make from a *Division 230 financial arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

  - (f) section 775-40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.
- (3) In determining the amount of the gain or loss, treat the relevant amount as having been adjusted by the provision mentioned in subsection (2).
- (4) However, if the circumstances that give rise to the adjustment result in section 230-510 having the effect of altering the amount of the gain or loss, do not treat the relevant amount as having been adjusted under subsection (3) to the extent of that alteration.

230-520 Disregard gains or losses covered by value shifting regime

- (1) Disregard a gain or loss under this Division from a *financial arrangement to the extent that it is attributable to:
  - (a) a shifting of value that has consequences under Division 723; or
  - (b) a *value shift that has consequences under Division 725; or
  - (c) an *indirect value shift that has consequences under Division 727; or
  - (d) a shifting of value that has consequences analogous to those under Division 723, 725 or 727 under a repealed provision of this Act or of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

Division 240—Arrangements treated as a sale and loan

Table of Subdivisions

Guide to Division 240

- 240-A Application and scope of Division
- 240-B The notional sale and notional loan
- 240-C Amounts to be included in notional seller's assessable income
- 240-D Deductions allowable to notional buyer
- 240-E Notional interest and arrangement payments
- 240-F The end of the arrangement
- 240-G Adjustments if total amount assessed to notional seller differs from amount of finance charge
- 240-H Application of Division 16E to certain arrangements
- 240-I Provisions applying to hire purchase agreements

Guide to Division 240

240-1 What this Division is about

For income tax purposes, some arrangements (such as hire purchase agreements) are recharacterised as a sale of property, combined with a loan, by the notional seller to the notional buyer, to finance the purchase price.

240-3 How the recharacterisation affects the notional seller

Effect of notional sale

- (1) The consideration for the notional sale is either the price stated as the cost or value of the property or its arm's length value. If the notional seller is disposing of the property as trading stock, the normal consequences of disposing of trading stock follow. In particular, the notional seller will be assessed on the sale price.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) Where the property is not trading stock the notional seller's assessable income will include any profit made by the notional seller on the notional sale or on the sale of the property after a notional re-acquisition.

Effect of notional loan

- (3) The notional seller's assessable income will include notional interest over the period of the loan.

Other effects

- (4) These effects displace the income tax consequences that would otherwise arise from the arrangement. For example, the actual payments to the notional seller are not included in its assessable income. Also, the notional seller loses the right to deduct amounts under Division 40 (about capital allowances).

240-7 How the recharacterisation affects the notional buyer

Effect of notional purchase

- (1) The cost of the acquisition is either the price stated as the cost or value of the property or its arm's length value. If the notional buyer is acquiring the property as trading stock, the normal consequences of acquiring trading stock follow. In particular, the notional buyer can usually deduct the purchase price.
- (2) If the property is not trading stock, the notional buyer may be able to deduct amounts for the expenditure under Division 40 (about capital allowances).

Effect of notional loan

- (3) The notional buyer may be able to deduct notional interest payments over the period of the loan.

Other effects

- (4) These effects displace the income tax consequences that would otherwise arise from the arrangement. For example, the notional buyer cannot deduct the actual payments to the notional seller.

240-20 Notional sale of property by notional seller and notional acquisition of property by notional buyer
240-25 Notional loan by notional seller to notional buyer

Operative provisions

240-17 Who is the notional seller and the notional buyer?

- (1) An entity is the notional seller if it is a party to the *arrangement and:
- (a) actually owns the property; or
  - (b) is the owner of the property because of a previous operation of this Division.
- (2) An entity is the notional buyer if it is a party to the *arrangement and, under the arrangement, has the *right to use the property.

Example: If the arrangement is a hire purchase agreement, the finance provider will be the notional seller and the hirer will be the notional buyer.

240-20 Notional sale of property by notional seller and notional acquisition of property by notional buyer

- (1) The *notional seller is taken to have disposed of the property by way of sale to the *notional buyer, and the notional buyer is taken to have acquired it, at the start of the *arrangement.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

240-25 Notional loan by notional seller to notional buyer

- (1) On entering into the *arrangement, the *notional seller is taken to have made a loan (the notional loan) to the *notional buyer.
- (2) The notional loan is for a period:
  - (a) starting at the start of the *arrangement; and
  - (b) ending on the day on which the arrangement is to cease to have effect or, if the arrangement is of indefinite duration, on the day on which it would be reasonable to conclude, having regard to the terms and conditions of the arrangement, that the arrangement will cease to have effect.
- (3) The notional loan is of an amount (the notional loan principal) equal to the consideration for the sale of the property less any amount paid, or credited by the *notional seller as having been paid, by the *notional buyer to the notional seller, at or before the start of the *arrangement, for the cost of the property.

Note: Section 240-80 affects the amount of the notional loan principal where the arrangement is an extension or renewal of another arrangement.

- (4) The notional loan is subject to payment of a charge (the finance charge).
- (5) The consideration for the sale of the property by the *notional seller, and the cost of the acquisition of the property by the *notional buyer, are each taken to have been:
  - (a) if an amount is stated to be the cost or value of the property for the purposes of the *arrangement and the notional seller and the notional buyer were dealing with each other at *arm's length in connection with the arrangement—the amount so stated; or
  - (b) otherwise—the amount that could reasonably have been expected to have been paid by the notional buyer for the purchase of the property if:
    - (i) the notional seller had actually sold the property to the notional buyer at the start of the arrangement; and
    - (ii) the notional seller and the notional buyer were dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the sale.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (6) The *notional loan principal is taken to be repaid, and the *finance charge is taken to be paid, by the making of the payments under the *arrangement.

Guide to Subdivision 240-C

240-30 What this Subdivision is about

- (a) amounts (notional interest) on account of the finance charge for the notional loan that the notional seller is taken to have made to the notional buyer; and
- (b) any profit made by the notional seller:
  - (i) on the notional sale of the property to the notional buyer; or
  - (ii) on a sale of the property after any notional re-acquisition of the property by the notional seller.

240-35 Amounts to be included in notional seller's assessable income

Notional interest

- (1) The *notional seller's assessable income of an income year includes the *notional interest for *arrangement payment periods, and parts of arrangement payment periods, in the income year.

Profit on notional sale

- (2) If the property is not *trading stock of the *notional seller and the consideration for the notional sale of the property exceeds the cost of the acquisition of the property by the notional seller, the excess is included in the notional seller's assessable income of the income year of the notional sale.

Profit on actual sale after notional re-acquisition

- (3) If:
  - (a) the *notional seller is taken under this Division to have re-acquired the property from the *notional buyer; and
  - (b) the notional seller afterwards sells the property; and
  - (c) the consideration for the sale exceeds the cost of the re-acquisition;the excess is included in the notional seller's assessable income of the income year in which the sale occurred.

240-40 Arrangement payments not to be included in notional seller's assessable income

- (1) The *arrangement payments that the *notional seller receives, or is entitled to receive, under the *arrangement:
  - (a) are not to be included in the *notional seller's assessable income of any income year; but
  - (b) are not taken to be *exempt income of the notional seller.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) However, those *arrangement payments are taken into account in calculating *notional interest that is included in the *notional seller's assessable income under section 240-35.
- (3) A loss or outgoing incurred by the *notional seller in deriving any such *arrangement payments is not taken to be a loss or outgoing incurred by the notional seller in relation to gaining or producing *exempt income.

Subdivision 240-D—Deductions allowable to notional buyer

Guide to Subdivision 240-D

240-45 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides that the notional buyer may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to deductions for the notional interest for the notional loan that the notional seller is taken to have made to the notional buyer.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 240-50 Extent to which deductions are allowable to notional buyer
- 240-55 Arrangement payments not to be deductions

Operative provisions

240-50 Extent to which deductions are allowable to notional buyer

- (1) The *notional buyer is only entitled to deduct *notional interest for an income year to the extent that the notional buyer would, apart from this Division, have been entitled to deduct *arrangement payments for that income year if no part of those payments were capital in nature.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 240-55

---

- (2) The *notional buyer is entitled to deduct *notional interest for *arrangement payment periods, and parts of arrangement payment periods, in the income year.

240-55 Arrangement payments not to be deductions

The *notional buyer is not entitled to deduct *arrangement payments that the *notional buyer makes under the *arrangement, but those payments are taken into account in calculating *notional interest that may be deducted under section 240-50.

Subdivision 240-E—Notional interest and arrangement payments

Table of sections

Operative provisions

240-60	Notional interest
240-65	Arrangement payments
240-70	Arrangement payment periods

Operative provisions

240-60 Notional interest

- (1) The **notional interest* for an *arrangement payment period is worked out as follows:

Calculating *notional interest

- Step 1. Add the *notional interest from previous *arrangement payment periods to the *notional loan principal.
- Step 2. Subtract any *arrangement payments that have already been made or that are due but that have not been made. The result is the outstanding notional loan principal as at the start of the *arrangement payment period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 3. Work out the implicit interest rate. It is the rate of compound interest for the *arrangement payment period at which the *notional loan principal equals the sum of:
- (a) the present value of the *arrangement payments payable by the *notional buyer under the *arrangement; and
  - (b) the present value of any *termination amounts.
- Step 4. Multiply the outstanding *notional loan principal by the implicit interest rate. The result is the notional interest for the *arrangement payment period.

- (2) If only part of an *arrangement payment period occurs during an income year, the *notional interest for that part of the arrangement payment period is so much of the notional interest for that arrangement payment period as may appropriately be related to that income year in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.
- (3) In calculating the implicit interest rate, if any of the relevant amounts are not known at the start of the *arrangement, a reasonable estimate of the amount is to be made and is to be used for the purposes of calculating the implicit interest rate for each income year of the *notional seller.
- (4) If a reasonable estimate cannot be made at that time, an estimate of the amount is to be made at the end of each income year of the *notional seller for the purposes of calculating the implicit interest rate for each income year of the notional seller.

240-65 Arrangement payments

An arrangement payment is an amount that the *notional buyer is required to pay under the *arrangement but does not include:

- (a) an amount in the nature of a penalty payable for failure to make a payment on time; or
- (b) a *termination amount.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 240-70

---

240-70 Arrangement payment periods

- (1) An **arrangement payment period* is a period for which a payment under the **arrangement* is allocated or expressed to be payable.
- (2) However, if a period exceeds 6 months, the period is not an **arrangement payment period* but each of the following parts of the period is a separate arrangement payment period:
  - (a) the part of the period beginning at the start of that period and ending 6 months later;
  - (b) each part of the period:
    - (i) beginning immediately after a part of the period that is an arrangement payment period under paragraph (a) or under a previous application of this paragraph; and
    - (ii) ending 6 months after the start of that later part or at the end of the period, whichever first occurs.

Operative provisions

240-75	When is the end of the arrangement?
240-78	Termination amounts
240-80	What happens if the arrangement is extended or renewed
240-85	What happens if an amount is paid by or on behalf of the notional buyer to acquire the property
240-90	What happens if the notional buyer ceases to have the right to use the property

Operative provisions

240-75 When is the end of the arrangement?

- (1) If the **arrangement* is stated to cease to have effect at a particular time, it is taken for the purposes of this Division to end (even if it is extended or renewed) at the earlier of:
  - (a) that time; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the time at which the arrangement ceases to have effect (whether because the arrangement is terminated or for any other reason).

Note: Section 240-80 deals with extensions and renewals.

- (2) An *arrangement is taken to have ended if it is extended or renewed.
- (3) If the *arrangement is of indefinite duration, it ends at the time at which the arrangement ceases to have effect even if the *arrangement is renewed.

Note: Section 240-80 deals with extensions and renewals.

- (4) An *arrangement is taken to have ended if it is reasonable to conclude, having regard to the terms and conditions of the *arrangement, that the arrangement has ceased to have effect.
- (5) An *arrangement is also taken to have ended if the property has been lost or destroyed.

240-78 Termination amounts

A termination amount is an amount payable because an *arrangement ends and includes:

- (a) if, at the end of the arrangement, the *notional buyer acquires the property from the *notional seller—an amount payable to the notional seller for the acquisition; or
- (b) if, at the end of the arrangement, the property is lost or destroyed—any amounts paid to the notional seller (whether by the notional buyer or another entity) as a result of the loss or destruction of the property; or
- (c) otherwise—the value of the property at the end of the arrangement.

240-80 What happens if the arrangement is extended or renewed

- (1) This section sets out what happens if, after the end of the *arrangement, the *notional buyer and *notional seller extend or renew the *arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 240-85

---

- (2) This Division applies as if the original *arrangement has ended and the extended arrangement or renewed arrangement is a separate arrangement (the new arrangement).
- (3) There is not, however, taken to be any disposal or acquisition as a result of the original arrangement ending or of the new arrangement starting and the *notional buyer does not cease to own the property.
- (4) Also, the *notional loan principal for the new loan is:
  - (a) if the *arrangement as extended or renewed states an amount as the cost or value of the property for the purposes of the extension or renewal and the *notional seller and the *notional buyer were dealing with each other at *arm's length in connection with the extension or renewal—the amount so stated; or
  - (b) otherwise—the amount that could reasonably have been expected to have been paid by the notional buyer for the purchase of the property if:
    - (i) the notional seller had actually sold the property to the notional buyer when the arrangement was extended or renewed; and
    - (ii) the notional seller and notional buyer were dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the sale.
- (5) Subdivision 240-G applies to the *notional loan for the original arrangement. For that purpose, the *notional loan principal for the new arrangement is taken to be a *termination amount paid to the *notional seller under the original arrangement.

240-85 What happens if an amount is paid by or on behalf of the notional buyer to acquire the property

If, at or after the end of the *arrangement, an amount is paid to the *notional seller by, or on behalf of, the *notional buyer to acquire the property, the following provisions have effect:

- (a) the amount paid is not included in the notional seller's assessable income;
- (b) the notional buyer cannot deduct the payment;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the notional buyer is taken to continue to own the property;
- (d) the transfer to the notional buyer of legal title to the property is not taken to be a disposal of the property by the notional seller.

240-90 What happens if the notional buyer ceases to have the right to use the property

- (1) This section applies if, at the end of the *arrangement:
  - (a) the arrangement is not extended or renewed in the way mentioned in subsection 240-80(1); and
  - (b) no amount is paid to the *notional seller by, or on behalf of, the *notional buyer to acquire the property; and
  - (c) the property is not lost or destroyed.
- (2) The property is taken to have been disposed of by the *notional buyer by way of sale back to the *notional seller, and to have been acquired by the *notional seller, at the end of the *arrangement.
- (3) The consideration for the sale of the property by the *notional buyer, and the cost of the acquisition of the property by the *notional seller, are each taken to be equal to the *market value of the property at the end of the *arrangement.
- (4) Subsection (5) applies where the property is a *car and if it:
  - (a) had been bought from the *notional seller, when this Division first applied to an *arrangement in respect of the car, by the *notional buyer for a price equal to the *notional loan principal; and
  - (b) had been first used by the notional buyer for any purpose in the *financial year in which that time occurred;the cost of the car, for the purpose of working out its decline in value for that person under Division 40, would have been limited by section 40-230.
- (5) Where an associate of the *notional buyer acquires the *car, the *cost of the car for the purposes of the application of Division 40 to the associate is taken to be whichever is the lesser of:
  - (a) the sum of:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 240-100

---

- (i) the amount that would have been the *adjustable value of the car at that time for the purposes of the application of that Division to the notional buyer if the notional buyer were not taken under this Division to have disposed of the car; and
  - (ii) any amount that is included in the notional buyer's assessable income under section 40-285 because the notional buyer is taken to have disposed of the car; or
- (b) the cost of the acquisition of the car by the associate.

Subdivision 240-G—Adjustments if total amount assessed to notional seller differs from amount of finance charge

Guide to Subdivision 240-G

240-100 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides for adjustments if the sum of the amounts included in the notional seller's assessable income are greater or less than the finance charge, worked out at the end of the arrangement, for the notional loan.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 240-105 Adjustments for notional seller
- 240-110 Adjustments for notional buyer

Operative provisions

240-105 Adjustments for notional seller

- (1) This section applies at the end of the *arrangement.
- (2) If the sum of:
  - (a) all amounts (other than *termination amounts) that were paid or payable to the *notional seller under the *arrangement; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) any termination amounts paid or payable to the notional seller;

exceeds the amount worked out using the formula in subsection (4), the excess is included in the notional seller's assessable income of the income year in which the arrangement ends.

Note: Subsection 240-80(5) provides that the amount of a notional loan that is taken to be made by an extended or renewed arrangement is a termination amount paid under the previous arrangement.

(3) If the amount worked out using the formula in subsection (4) exceeds:

- (a) all amounts (other than *termination amounts) that were paid or payable to the *notional seller under the *arrangement; and
- (b) any termination amounts paid or payable to the notional seller;

the notional seller is entitled to deduct the excess in the income year in which the arrangement ends.

Note: Subsection 240-80(5) provides that the amount of a notional loan that is taken to be made by an extended or renewed arrangement is a termination amount paid under the previous arrangement.

(4) The formula for the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) is:

*Notional loan principal + Assessed notional interest
where:

assessed notional interest means the *notional interest that has been or is to be included in the *notional seller's assessable income of any income year.

240-110 Adjustments for notional buyer

(1) If:

- (a) an amount is included in the *notional seller's assessable income of an income year under subsection 240-105(2); or
- (b) an amount would have been so included if the notional seller had been subject to tax on assessable income;

the *notional buyer is entitled to deduct a corresponding amount in the notional buyer's income year.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) If:
  - (a) the *notional seller is entitled to deduct an amount for an income year under subsection 240-105(3); or
  - (b) the notional seller would have been so entitled if the *notional seller had been subject to tax on assessable income; a corresponding amount is included in the notional buyer's assessable income for the notional buyer's income year.
- (3) The *notional buyer is entitled to a deduction, and is required to include an amount in his or her assessable income only to the extent (if any) that the notional buyer would, apart from this Division, have been entitled to deduct *arrangement payments if no part of those payments were capital in nature.

Subdivision H—Application of Division 16E to certain arrangements

240-112 Division 16E applies to certain arrangements

- (1) Division 16E of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies in relation to an arrangement (the assignment arrangement) between the notional seller and another person (the holder) to transfer the right to payments (the Division 240 payments) under an arrangement that is treated as a sale and loan by this Division (the sale and loan arrangement).
- (2) In applying Division 16E, the following assumptions are to be made:
  - (a) the assignment arrangement is the qualifying security;
  - (b) the notional seller is the issuer;
  - (c) the qualifying security is issued when the assignment arrangement is entered into;
  - (d) the issue price is consideration provided to the notional seller under the assignment arrangement;
  - (e) the Division 240 payments are payments made by the notional seller under the assignment arrangement;
  - (f) no part of the payments represent periodic interest.

---

---

- (3) This Subdivision does not apply if the assignment arrangement gives rise to a termination of the sale and loan arrangement for the purposes of this Division.
- (4) To avoid doubt, Division 6A of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 does not apply to an assignment arrangement to which this Subdivision applies.

240-115 Another person, or no person taken to own property in certain cases

- (1) This section sets out special modifications of the effect of this Division that apply in relation to a *hire purchase agreement unless:
  - (a) the notional buyer would have been the owner or the *quasi-owner of the property if the *arrangement had been a sale of the property; and
  - (b) it is reasonably likely that the right, obligation or contingent obligation to acquire the property will be exercised by, or in respect of, the notional buyer.

Note: An example of a contingent obligation is a put option.
- (2) The modifications also apply if the *notional buyer:
  - (a) disposes of his or her interest in the property; or
  - (b) enters into a lease covered by Division 42A of Schedule 2E to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 under which he or she leases the property to another person.

- (3) For the purpose of the *capital allowance provisions, if, apart from the operation of this Division, an entity other than the *notional seller would own the property that is the subject of an agreement covered by this section, that entity is taken to be the owner of the property.
- (4) For the purpose of the *capital allowance provisions, if, apart from the operation of this Division, the *notional seller would own the property that is the subject of an agreement covered by this section, no entity is taken to be the owner of the property.

243-A	Circumstances in which Division operates
243-B	Working out the excessive deductions
243-C	Amounts included in assessable income and deductions
243-D	Special provisions

Guide to Division 243

243-10 What this Division is about

This Division tells you when you must include an additional amount in your assessable income at the termination of a limited recourse debt arrangement. It also tells you what the additional amount is.

Basically, the Division applies where the capital allowance deductions that have been obtained for expenditure that is funded by the debt and the deductions are excessive having regard to the amount of the debt that was repaid.

The reason for the adjustment is to ensure that, where you have not been fully at risk in relation to an amount of expenditure, you do not get a net deduction if you fail to pay that amount.

- 243-25 When is a debt arrangement terminated?
243-30 What is the financed property and the debt property?

Operative provisions

243-15 When does this Division apply?

- (1) This Division applies if:
- (a) *limited recourse debt has been used to wholly or partly finance or refinance expenditure; and
  - (b) at the time that the debt *arrangement is terminated, the debt has not been paid in full by the debtor; and
  - (c) the debtor can deduct an amount as a *capital allowance for the income year in which the termination occurs, or has deducted or can deduct an amount for an earlier income year, in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property.

Note: This Division does not apply to certain limited recourse debts that are used to refinance limited recourse debt to which this Division has applied (see subsection 243-50(4)).

- (2) However, unless the net *capital allowance deductions have been excessive having regard to the amount of the debt that remains unpaid (see section 243-35), no amount is included in the debtor's assessable income under this Division although future deductions may be reduced.
- (3) In working out if the debt has been paid in full, and in working out the unpaid amount of the debt, the following amounts are to be treated as if they were not payments in respect of the debt:
- (a) any reduction in the debt as a result of the *financed property being surrendered or returned to the creditor at the termination of the debt;
  - (b) any payment to reduce the debt that is funded directly or indirectly by *non-arm's length limited recourse debt or by proceeds from the disposal of the debtor's interest in the financed property.

However, any amounts accrued that are interest, *notional interest or in the nature of interest are taken not to be unpaid.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) In working out if the debt has been paid in full, and in working out the unpaid amount of the debt, payments are to be attributed first to the payment of any accrued amounts that are interest, *notional interest or in the nature of interest.
- (5) A *notional loan is taken to be debt that has been used to wholly or partly finance or refinance expenditure.

Note: Notional loans arise under Division 240.

243-20 What is limited recourse debt?

- (1) A limited recourse debt is an obligation imposed by law on an entity (the debtor) to pay an amount to another entity (the creditor) where the rights of the creditor as against the debtor in the event of default in payment of the debt or of interest are limited wholly or predominantly to any or all of the following:
  - (a) rights (including the right to money payable) in relation to any or all of the following:
    - (i) the *debt property or the use of the debt property;
    - (ii) goods produced, supplied, carried, transmitted or delivered, or services provided, by means of the debt property;
    - (iii) the loss or disposal of the whole or a part of the debt property or of the debtor's interest in the debt property;
  - (b) rights in respect of a mortgage or other security over the debt property or other property;
  - (c) rights that arise out of any *arrangement relating to the financial obligations of an end-user of the *financed property towards the debtor, and are financial obligations in relation to the financed property.
- (2) An obligation imposed by law on an entity (the debtor) to pay an amount to another entity (the creditor) is also a limited recourse debt if it is reasonable to conclude that the rights of the creditor as against the debtor in the event of default in payment of the debt or of interest are capable of being limited in the way mentioned in subsection (1). In reaching this conclusion, have regard to:
  - (a) the assets of the debtor (other than assets that are indemnities or guarantees provided in relation to the debt);

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 243-20

---

- (b) any *arrangement to which the debtor is a party;
  - (c) whether all of the assets of the debtor would be available for the purpose of the discharge of the debt (other than assets that are security for other debts of the debtor or any other entity);
  - (d) whether the debtor and creditor are dealing at *arm's length in relation to the debt.
- (3) An obligation imposed by law on an entity (the debtor) to pay an amount to another entity (the creditor) is also a limited recourse debt if there is no *debt property and it is reasonable to conclude that the rights of the creditor as against the debtor in the event of default in payment of the debt or of interest are capable of being limited. In reaching this conclusion, have regard to:
- (a) the assets of the debtor (other than assets that are indemnities or guarantees provided in relation to the debt);
  - (b) any *arrangement to which the debtor is a party;
  - (c) whether all of the assets of the debtor would be available for the purpose of the discharge of the debt (other than assets that are security for other debts of the debtor or any other entity);
  - (d) whether the debtor and creditor are dealing at *arm's length in relation to the debt.
- (4) A *notional loan under a *hire purchase agreement is also a limited recourse debt.
- Note: Notional loans arise under Division 240.
- (5) However, an obligation that is covered by subsection (1) is not a limited recourse debt if the creditor's recourse is not in practice limited due to the creditor's rights in respect of a mortgage or other security over property of the debtor (other than the financed property) the value of which exceeds, or is likely to exceed, the amount of the debt.
- (6) Also, an obligation that is covered by subsection (1), (2) or (3) is not a limited recourse debt if, having regard to all relevant circumstances, it would be unreasonable for the obligation to be treated as limited recourse debt.

---

---

- (7) A *limited recourse debt is a non-arm's length limited recourse debt if the debtor and creditor do not deal with each other at arm's length in relation to the debt.

243-25 When is a debt arrangement terminated?

- (1) A debt arrangement is taken to have terminated if:
- (a) it is actually terminated; or
  - (b) the debtor's obligation to repay the debt is waived, novated or otherwise varied so as to reduce, transfer or extinguish the debt; or
  - (c) an agreement is entered into to waive, novate or otherwise vary the debtor's obligation to repay the debt so as to reduce, transfer or extinguish the debt; or
  - (d) the creditor ceases to have an entitlement to recover the debt from the debtor (other than as a result of an arm's length assignment of some or all of the creditor's rights under the debt arrangement); or
  - (e) the debtor ceases to be the owner or the *quasi-owner of some or all of the *debt property because that property is surrendered to the creditor because of the debtor's failure to pay the whole or a part of the debt; or
  - (f) the debtor ceases to be the owner of a beneficial interest in some or all of the debt property because the interest is surrendered to the creditor because of the debtor's failure to pay the whole or a part of the debt; or
  - (g) the debt becomes a bad debt.
- (2) However, a debt arrangement that is a *notional loan is not taken to have terminated merely because it has been renewed or extended.
- Note: Notional loans arise under Division 240. Under that Division, they are taken to have ended if they are renewed or extended.
- (3) Where a debt is terminated under paragraph (1)(b) or (c) as a result of the debt being reduced, the remaining debt is taken to be a new debt to which section 243-15 applies.

243-30 What is the financed property and the debt property?

(1) Property is the financed property if the expenditure referred to in paragraph 243-15(1)(a) is on the property, is on the acquisition of the property, results in the creation of the property or is otherwise connected with the property.

(2) If the debt agreement is a *notional loan, the property that is the subject of the agreement is the financed property.

Note: Notional loans arise under Division 240.

(3) Property is the debt property if:

(a) it is the *financed property; or

(b) the property is provided as security for the debt.

- (2) This is how to work out the total net *capital allowance deductions:

Working out the total net capital allowance deductions

- Step 1. Add up all of the debtor's *capital allowance deductions in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property (including deductions because of balancing adjustments) for the income year in which the termination occurs or an earlier income year.
- Step 2. Deduct from that any amount that is included in the assessable income of the debtor of any income year by virtue of a provision of this Act (other than this Division) as a result of the disposal of the *financed property the effect of which is to reverse a deduction covered by Step 1.
- Step 3. Deduct from the result an amount equal to the sum of any amounts included in the entity's assessable income as a result of an earlier application of this Division to the debt.
- Step 4. Add to the result an amount equal to the sum of any deductions to which the entity is entitled under section 243-45 (repayments of the original debt after termination) or 243-50 (repayments of the replacement debt) because of payments in respect of the debt.

- (3) The reference in step 2 of the method statement in subsection (2) to an amount that is included in the assessable income of a taxpayer as a result of the disposal of the *financed property includes a reference to an amount that is included under section 26AG of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as a result of the disposal of the financed property.

Note: Division 20 deals with amounts included to reverse the effect of past deductions.

- (4) This is how to work out the total net capital allowance deductions that would otherwise be allowable taking into account the amount of the debt that is unpaid:

Working out the total net capital allowance deductions that would otherwise be allowable

Work out the amount that would be worked out under subsection (2) if the deductions and the amounts included in assessable income had been calculated using the following assumptions:

- (1) The original expenditure in respect of which deductions were calculated was reduced by the amount of the debt that was unpaid by the debtor when the debt was terminated. (In calculating the amount unpaid the following are to be disregarded:
  - (a) any reduction in the amount as a result of the *financed property being surrendered or returned to the creditor at the termination of the debt;
  - (b) any reduction in the amount to the extent that it is funded directly or indirectly by *non-arm's length limited recourse debt or by the consideration for the disposal of the debtor's interest in the financed property.)
- (2) Deductions for income years after the income year in which the termination occurred were also taken into account.
- (3) The original expenditure in respect of which deductions were calculated was increased by any amount that is paid by the debtor as consideration for another person assuming a liability under the debt. (This assumption does not apply to the extent that the consideration is funded directly or indirectly by *non-arm's length limited recourse debt or by the consideration for the disposal of the debtor's interest in the *financed property.)
- (4) Step 2 were omitted from subsection (2).

243-57	Effect of Division on later capital allowance balancing adjustments
243-58	Adjustment where debt only partially used for expenditure

Operative provisions

243-40 Amount included in debtor's assessable income

The debtor's assessable income for the income year in which the termination occurs is to include the excess referred to in subsection 243-35(1).

Note: Section 243-60 applies in relation to certain partnership debts.

243-45 Deduction for later payments in respect of debt

- (1) This section applies if:
  - (a) an amount was included in the debtor's assessable income under section 243-40 or a deduction was reduced under section 243-55; and
  - (b) the debtor makes a payment to the creditor, after the termination of the debt arrangement, in respect of the debt (other than an amount to the extent to which it is a payment of interest, of *notional interest or in the nature of interest).
- (2) This is how to work out the amount of the deduction:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Working out the amount of the deduction

- Step 1. Work out the amount that would be worked out under subsection 243-35(2) if the debt were terminated immediately before the payment.
- Step 2. Work out the amount that would have been worked out under subsection 243-35(4) at that time if the payment had been taken into account.
- Step 3. The amount of the deduction is the amount (if any) by which the amount worked out under Step 2 exceeds the amount worked out under Step 1.

- (3) The amount can be deducted for the income year in which the payment is made.

Limit on deductions

- (4) The total amounts deducted under this section in respect of a debt, and under section 243-50 in respect of a replacement debt, cannot exceed the sum of:
- (a) any amounts included in the debtor's assessable income under this Division in respect of the original debt; and
  - (b) any amount by which deductions in respect of the original debt were reduced under section 243-55.

243-50 Deduction for payments for replacement debt

Payments where debt refinanced

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) an amount was included in the debtor's assessable income under section 243-40 or a deduction was reduced under section 243-55; and
  - (b) an amount funded by a *non-arm's length limited recourse debt (the replacement debt) was disregarded in calculations under subsection 243-35(4); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the debtor makes a payment, after the termination of the original debt arrangement, in respect of the replacement debt (other than to the extent to which it is a payment of interest, of *notional interest or in the nature of interest).
- (2) This is how to work out the amount of the deduction:

Working out the amount of the deduction

- Step 1. Work out the amount that would be worked out under subsection 243-35(2) if the replacement debt were terminated immediately before the payment.
- Step 2. Work out the amount that would have been worked out under subsection 243-35(4) at that time if the payment had been made in respect of the original debt and it had been taken into account.
- Step 3. The amount of the deduction is the amount (if any) by which the amount worked out under Step 2 exceeds the amount worked out under Step 1.

- (3) The amount can be deducted for the income year in which the payment is made.

Division not to apply to termination of replacement debt

- (4) This Division does not apply to termination of the replacement debt referred to in paragraph (1)(b).

Limit on deductions

- (5) The total amounts deducted under section 243-45 in respect of the original debt, or under this section in respect of the replacement debt, cannot exceed the sum of:
- (a) any amounts included in the debtor's assessable income under this Division in respect of the original debt; and
  - (b) any amount by which deductions in respect of the original debt were reduced under section 243-55.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

243-55 Effect of Division on later capital allowance deductions

- (1) This section applies where this Division (other than section 243-65) has applied in relation to a debt and the debtor is entitled to a *capital allowance deduction in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property in relation to a time or period after the termination of the debt.
- (2) The *capital allowance deduction is reduced if the amount that would have been worked out under subsection 243-35(2) would have exceeded the amount worked out under subsection 243-35(4) if the following assumptions were applied in both subsections:

Assumptions to be applied

- (1) That the debt was terminated at the time, or at the end of the period, referred to in subsection (1) of this section.
- (2) That the amount unpaid at the time, or at the end of the period, is reduced by any amounts paid under a replacement debt.
- (3) The debtor's *capital allowance deductions in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property were increased by the amount of the capital allowance deduction referred to in subsection (1) of this section.

- (3) The deduction is to be reduced by the amount of the excess.

243-57 Effect of Division on later capital allowance balancing adjustments

- (1) This section applies where this Division (other than section 243-65) has applied in relation to a debt and an amount is later included in the assessable income of an entity by virtue of a provision of this Act (other than this Division) as a result of the disposal of the *financed property the effect of which is to reverse a deduction covered by Step 1 in subsection 243-35(2).
- (2) Any amount that would be included in the debtor's assessable income is reduced if the amount that would have been worked out under subsection 243-35(4) would have exceeded the amount worked out under subsection 243-35(2) if the following assumptions were applied in both subsections:

---

Assumptions to be applied

- (1) That the debt was terminated at the time of the disposal of the *financed property, referred to in subsection (1) of this section.
- (2) The amount in Step 2 in subsection 243-35(2) were increased by the amount that would otherwise be included in the debtor's assessable income.
- (3) The amount worked out under subsection 243-35(4) were reduced by any amount by which:
  - (a) the amount arising as a result of the disposal that is taken into account for the purposes of the provision mentioned in subsection (1);exceeds:
  - (b) the unpaid amount of the debt immediately before the time of the disposal of the *financed property, referred to in subsection (1).

(3) The amount is to be reduced by the amount of the excess.

243-58 Adjustment where debt only partially used for expenditure

If the debt is only partially used to finance the expenditure, or the property, in respect of which the *capital allowance deductions referred to in Step 1 in subsection 243-35(2) are allowed, the amount of any deduction, any reduction in a deduction or any amount included in assessable income is to be so much as is reasonable taking into account the proportion of the debt that is used for that purpose.

Subdivision 243-D—Special provisions

Table of sections

Operative provisions

243-60	Application of Division to partnerships
243-65	Application where partner reduces liability
243-70	Application of Division to companies ceasing to be 100% subsidiary
243-75	Application of Division where debt forgiveness rules also apply

Operative provisions

243-60 Application of Division to partnerships

This Division applies to a partnership in respect of the partnership's debts and in respect of debts of a partner, and references to a debtor include a reference to a partnership.

243-65 Application where partner reduces liability

- (1) This section applies to a debt in relation to a partner in a partnership if:
  - (a) in connection with an *arrangement, the partner's liability to pay the debt is reduced or eliminated and the partner's interest in the partnership ceases or is varied or transferred; and
  - (b) an excess would have been worked out under subsection 243-35(1) if, at the time when the debt is reduced or eliminated, the debt had been terminated and remained unpaid and this section had not applied.
- (2) If this section applies to a debt in relation to a partner in a partnership, an amount is to be included in his or her assessable income.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (3) This is how to work out the amount to be included:

Working out the amount included

- Step 1. Work out which income years the partner was a member of the partnership and the partnership was entitled to a *capital allowance deduction in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property (including deductions because of balancing adjustments).
- Step 2. For each of those income years, work out the proportion of net income of the partnership or the partnership loss (as the case requires) that was included in the assessable income of the partner or which the partner could deduct.
- Step 3. For each of those income years, multiply the *capital allowance deductions in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property (including deductions because of balancing adjustments) of the partnership by the corresponding proportion worked out under Step 2. Sum all of the amounts.
- Step 4. Divide the sum by the total of the *capital allowance deductions in respect of the expenditure or the *financed property (including deductions because of balancing adjustments) of the partnership for all of those income years.
- Step 5. Work out the amount that would have been included in the partnership's assessable income under section 243-40 if the debt had been terminated and remained unpaid and this section had not applied.
- Step 6. Multiply the amount worked out in Step 5 by the factor worked out in Step 4. The result is the amount to be included in the partner's assessable income.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

243-70 Application of Division to companies ceasing to be 100% subsidiary

- (1) This section applies to a company if:
  - (a) the company ceases to be a *100% subsidiary in relation to at least one other company; and
  - (b) at that time, the company is the debtor for a *limited recourse debt that has not been paid in full by the company; and
  - (c) the creditor's rights under the debt are transferred or assigned to another entity.
- (2) If this section applies, this Division applies as if the debt were terminated, and refinanced with *non-arm's length limited recourse debt, at the time the company ceased to be a *100% subsidiary of that other company.

243-75 Application of Division where debt forgiveness rules also apply

- (1) This section is to remove doubt about how this Division and Schedule 2C to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 apply where both apply to the same debt.
- (2) Where both apply:
  - (a) this Division is to be applied first and is to be applied disregarding any operation of that Schedule; and
  - (b) any amounts included in assessable income under this Division are taken into account under paragraph 245-85(1)(a) of that Schedule.

Division 247—Capital protected borrowings

Guide to Division 247

247-1 What this Division is about

Capital protection provided under a relevant capital protected borrowing to the extent that it is not provided by an explicit put option is treated (for the borrower) as if it were a put option.

An amount attributable to capital protection under any relevant capital protected borrowing is treated (for the borrower) as a payment for a put option.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

247-5	Object of Division
247-10	What capital protected borrowing and capital protection are
247-15	Application of this Division
247-20	Treating capital protection as a put option
247-25	Number of put options
247-30	Exercise or expiry of option

Operative provisions

247-5 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to ensure that amounts for *capital protection under all relevant *capital protected borrowings are treated (for the borrower) under this Act as a payment for a put option.

247-10 What capital protected borrowing and capital protection are

- (1) An *arrangement under which a *borrowing is made, or credit is provided, is a capital protected borrowing if the borrower is wholly or partly protected against a fall in the *market value of a thing (the protected thing) to the extent that:

Section 247-15

- (a) the borrower uses the amount borrowed or credit provided to acquire the protected thing; or
  - (b) the borrower uses the protected thing as security for the borrowing or provision of credit.
- (2) That protection is called capital protection.

247-15 Application of this Division

- (1) This Division applies to a *capital protected borrowing only if the protected thing is a beneficial interest in:
  - (a) a *share, a unit in a unit trust or a stapled security; or
  - (b) an entity that holds a beneficial interest in a share, unit in a unit trust or stapled security either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities.
- (2) This Division applies only to borrowers under *capital protected borrowings.
- (3) This Division does not apply to a *capital protected borrowing under which a *share or stapled security is acquired under an *employee share scheme.
- (4) This Division does not apply to a *capital protected borrowing entered into before 1 July 2007 (except to the extent that it is extended on or after that day) unless the *share, unit in a unit trust or stapled security is listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange.
- (5) This Division does not apply to a *capital protected borrowing entered into on or after 1 July 2007 if:
  - (a) the protected thing is a beneficial interest in:
    - (i) a *share, unit or stapled security that is not listed for quotation in the official list of an *approved stock exchange; or
    - (ii) an entity that holds a beneficial interest in a share, unit in a unit trust or stapled security either directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed entities, that is not so listed; and

---

- (b) one of these conditions is satisfied:
- (i) for a non-listed share—the company is not a *widely held company;
  - (ii) for a non-listed unit—the trust is not a widely held unit trust as defined in section 272-105 in Schedule 2F to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936;
  - (iii) for a non-listed stapled security—any company involved is not a widely held company and any trust involved is not such a widely held unit trust.

247-20 Treating capital protection as a put option

- (1) This section applies to a borrower if:
- (a) the borrower has an excess using the method statement in subsection (3) for a *capital protected borrowing entered into on or after 1 July 2007; or
  - (b) the borrower has an amount that is reasonably attributable to the *capital protection as mentioned in subsection (2) for a capital protected borrowing, or an extension of a capital protected borrowing, entered into at or after 9.30 am, by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory, on 16 April 2003 and before 1 July 2007.
- (2) For paragraph (1)(b), the amount that is reasonably attributable to the *capital protection is worked out under Division 247 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.
- (3) This is the method statement.

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the total amount incurred by the borrower under or in respect of the *capital protected borrowing for the income year, ignoring amounts that are not in substance for *capital protection or interest.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- Step 2. Work out the total interest that would have been incurred for the income year on a *borrowing or provision of credit of the same amount as under the *capital protected borrowing at the rate applicable under subsection (4) or (5).
- Step 3. If the step 1 amount exceeds the step 2 amount, the excess is reasonably attributable to the *capital protection for the income year.

Example: Amounts that would be ignored under step 1 include amounts that are in substance the repayment of a loan or credit, the payment of an application fee or brokerage commission and the payment of stamp duty or other tax.

- (4) If the *capital protected borrowing is at a fixed rate for all or part of the term of the *borrowing, use the Reserve Bank of Australia's Indicator Rate for Personal Unsecured Loans—Variable Rate (the benchmark rate) at the time the first of the amounts referred to in step 1 of the method statement in subsection (3) was incurred during the term of the borrowing or the relevant part of the term.
- (5) If the *capital protected borrowing is at a variable rate for all or part of the term of the *borrowing, use the average of the benchmark rates published by the Reserve Bank of Australia during the term of the borrowing or the relevant part of the term.
- (6) If this section applies to a borrower, this Act applies as if:
- (a) the borrower's excess from the method statement in subsection (3); or
  - (b) the amount that is reasonably attributable to *capital protection as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b);
- (reduced by any amount the borrower incurred under or in respect of the *capital protected borrowing for an explicit put option) were incurred only for a put option granted by the lender or by another entity under the *arrangement.

247-25 Number of put options

- (1) If a *capital protected borrowing specifies more than one occasion on which the *capital protection can be invoked, this Act applies as if there were a separate put option for each of those occasions. So much of the amount to which subsection 247-20(6) applies as is reasonably attributable to each option is taken to have been incurred for that option.

---

- (2) However, if a borrower may invoke the *capital protection under a *capital protected borrowing at any time up to the end of a period, or only at the end of a period, for which there is capital protection, this Act applies as if there were a single put option for that period.

247-30 Exercise or expiry of option

- (1) If the *capital protection under a *capital protected borrowing is invoked:
- (a) the borrower is taken to have exercised the put option; and
  - (b) any interest in a *share, unit in a unit trust or stapled security that is acquired by the lender or another entity under the *arrangement as a result of that capital protection being invoked is taken to have been disposed of by the borrower as a result of the exercise of the option.
- (2) If the *capital protection under a *capital protected borrowing is not invoked on or before the last occasion on which it could have been, the put option is taken to have expired.

Note: If a borrower under a capital protected borrowing holds the protected things on capital account, the exercise or expiry of the put option may give rise to a capital gain or capital loss: see sections 104-25 (CGT event C2) and 134-1 (exercise of options).

Division 250—Assets put to tax preferred use

Table of Subdivisions

	Guide to Division 250
250-A	Objects
250-B	When this Division applies to you and an asset
250-C	Denial of, or reduction in, capital allowance deductions
250-D	Deemed loan treatment of financial benefits provided for tax preferred use
250-E	Taxation of deemed loan
250-F	Treatment of asset when Division ceases to apply to the asset
250-G	Objections against determinations and decisions by the Commissioner

Guide to Division 250

250-1 What this Division is about

This Division denies or reduces certain capital allowance deductions that would otherwise be available to you in relation to an asset if the asset is put to a tax preferred use in certain circumstances.

If the capital allowance deductions are denied or reduced, certain financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset are assessed only to the extent of a notional gain component. This component is worked out on the basis of treating the arrangements under which the asset is put to a tax preferred use, and financial benefits are provided in relation to that tax preferred use, as a loan. Subdivision 250-E then applies to determine the amounts that are to be assessed.

- (1) This Division does not apply to you and an asset that is being *put to a tax preferred use under a particular *arrangement if:
- (a) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset does not exceed:
    - (i) 5 years if the asset is real property and the tax preferred use of the asset is a lease; or
    - (ii) 3 years in any other case; or
  - (b) at the start of the arrangement period, the total of the nominal values of all the *financial benefits that have been, will be or can reasonably be expected to be, provided to you (or a *connected entity):
    - (i) by *members of the tax preferred sector; and
    - (ii) in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset or any other asset that is being, or is to be, put to a tax preferred use under the arrangement;
does not exceed:
      - (iii) $50 million if the asset is real property and the tax preferred use of the asset is a lease; or
      - (iv) $30 million in any other case; or
  - (c) at the start of the arrangement period, the total of the values of all the assets that are put to a tax preferred use under the arrangement does not exceed:
    - (i) $40 million if the asset is real property and the tax preferred use of the asset is a lease; or
    - (ii) $20 million in any other case.

This subsection has effect subject to section 250-35.

- (2) The amounts referred to in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) are indexed annually.

Note: Subdivision 960-M shows you how to index amounts.

250-35 Exceptions to section 250-30

Debt interests

- (1) Section 250-30 does not apply if the *arrangement (either alone or together with any arrangement in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset or the provision of *financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset) is a *debt interest.
- (2) In applying subsection (1), disregard subsection 974-130(4).

Member of tax preferred sector having certain rights in relation to the asset

- (3) Section 250-30 does not apply if:
  - (a) a *member of the tax preferred sector has:
    - (i) a right, obligation or contingent obligation to purchase or acquire the asset or a legal or equitable interest in the asset; or
    - (ii) a right to require the transfer of the asset or a legal or equitable interest in the asset; or
    - (iii) a residual or reversionary interest in the asset that will arise or become exercisable at or after the end of the *arrangement period; and
  - (b) the consideration for the purchase, acquisition or transfer of the right, obligation or interest is not fixed as the *market value of the asset at the time of the purchase, acquisition or transfer.

To avoid doubt, this subsection does not apply to the asset merely because your interest in the asset is one that ceases to exist after the passage of a particular period of time.

Member of tax preferred sector providing financing

- (4) Section 250-30 does not apply if a *member of the tax preferred sector provides financing, or support for financing, in relation to your interest in the asset (including by way of a loan, a guarantee, an indemnity, a security, hedging or undertaking to provide *financial benefits in the event of the termination of an *arrangement).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 250-35

---

Finance leases, non-cancellable operating leases, service concessions and similar arrangements

- (5) Section 250-30 does not apply if an *arrangement in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset, or the provision of *financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset, is or involves:

- (a) a finance lease; or
- (b) a non-cancellable operating lease; or
- (c) a service concession or similar arrangement;

that generally accepted accounting principles, as in force at the start of the *arrangement period, require to be included as an asset or a liability in your balance sheet.

Financial benefits irregular, not based on comparable market-based rates or not reflecting value of tax preferred use of asset

- (6) Section 250-30 does not apply if the *financial benefits that have been, or are to be provided, to you (or a *connected entity) by *members of the tax preferred sector in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset:

- (a) are not provided on a regular periodic basis (and at least annually); or
- (b) are not based on comparable market-based rates; or
- (c) do not reflect the value of the tax preferred use of the asset.

Special rules if tax preferred use is a lease or hire of the asset

- (7) If the *tax preferred use of the asset is a lease or hire of the asset (or the use of the asset under a lease or hire arrangement), section 250-30 does not apply if:
- (a) the asset is so specialised that the *end user could not carry out one or more of its functions effectively without the asset; and
  - (b) you would be unlikely to be able to re-lease, re-hire or resell the asset to another person who is not a *member of the tax preferred end user group.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: For particular arrangements that are treated as leases, see section 250-80.

Special rules if tax preferred use is not a lease or hire of the asset

- (8) If the *tax preferred use of the asset is not the lease or hire of the asset (or the use of the asset under a lease or hire arrangement), section 250-30 does not apply if:
- (a) a *member of the tax preferred sector has a right, if particular circumstances occur, to manage, or to assume control over, the asset (other than temporarily for the purpose of ensuring public health or safety, protecting the environment or continuing the supply of an essential service); or
  - (b) the asset is so specialised that it is unlikely that it could effectively be put to any use other than the tax preferred use; or
  - (c) neither you (nor a *connected entity) has effective day to day control and physical possession of the asset.

Note: For particular arrangements that are treated as leases, see section 250-80.

250-40 Fourth exclusion—sum of present values of financial benefits less than amount otherwise assessable

- (1) This Division does not apply to you and an asset that is being *put to a tax preferred use under a particular *arrangement if, when that *tax preferred use of the asset starts, the Division 250 assessable amount is less than the alternative assessable amount.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the Division 250 assessable amount is the sum of the present values of all the amounts that would be likely to be included in your assessable income under this Division in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset if this Division applied to you and the asset.
- (3) This is how to work out the alternative assessable amount for the purposes of subsection (1):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Method statement

- Step 1. Add up the present values of the amounts that would be included in your assessable income in relation to the *financial benefits *provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset during the *arrangement period if this Division did not apply to you and the asset.
- Step 2. Add up the present values of the amounts that you would be able to deduct in relation to the asset, or expenditure in relation to the asset, under Division 40 or Division 43 in relation to the *arrangement period if this Division did not apply to you and the asset.
- Step 3. Deduct the amount obtained in Step 2 from the amount obtained in Step 1. The result is the alternative assessable amount.

- (4) To avoid doubt, the amounts referred to in subsections (2) and (3) are all the amounts that would be likely to be included in your assessable income, or deducted, for all the income years during the whole, or a part, of which the asset is *put to the tax preferred use.
- (5) The point in time to be used in determining, for the purposes of this section:
- (a) the present value of an amount that is included in your assessable income for an income year; or
  - (b) the present value of an amount that you would be able to deduct for an income year;
- is the end of the income year.

250-45 Fifth exclusion—Commissioner determination

This Division does not apply to you and an asset at a particular time if:

- (a) you request the Commissioner to make a determination under this subsection; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the Commissioner determines that it is unreasonable that the Division should apply to you and the asset at that time, having regard to:
  - (i) the circumstances because of which this Division would apply to you and the asset; and
  - (ii) any other relevant circumstances.

Tax preferred use of asset

250-50 *End user of an asset

- (1) An entity (other than you) is an end user of an asset if the entity (or a *connected entity):
  - (a) uses, or effectively controls the use of, the asset; or
  - (b) will use, or effectively control the use of, the asset; or
  - (c) is able to use, or effectively control the use of, the asset; or
  - (d) will be able to use, or effectively control the use of, the asset.
- (2) The control referred to in subsection (1) may be direct or indirect.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), disregard any temporary control of the asset that is for the purpose of ensuring public health or safety, protecting the environment or continuing the supply of an essential service.
- (4) To avoid doubt, an entity is taken to be an end user of an asset if the entity (or a *connected entity) holds rights as a lessee under a lease of the asset.

Note: For particular arrangements that are treated as leases, see section 250-80.

250-55 *Tax preferred end user

An *end user of an asset is a tax preferred end user if:

- (a) the end user (or a *connected entity) is a *tax preferred entity;
or
- (b) the end user is an entity that is a foreign resident.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

250-60 Tax preferred use of an asset

- (1) An asset is put to a tax preferred use at a particular time if:
- (a) an *end user (or a *connected entity) holds, at that time, rights as lessee under a lease of the asset; and
  - (b) either or both of the following subparagraphs is satisfied at that time:
    - (i) the asset is, or is to be, used by or on behalf of an end user who is a *tax preferred end user because of paragraph 250-55(a) (tax preferred entity);
    - (ii) the asset is, or is to be, used wholly or principally outside Australia and an end user of the asset is a tax preferred end user because of paragraph 250-55(b) (non-resident).

If this subsection applies, the tax preferred use of the asset is the lease referred to in paragraph (a).

Note: For particular arrangements that are treated as leases, see section 250-80.

- (2) An asset is also put to a tax preferred use at a particular time if:
- (a) at that time the asset is, or is to be, used (whether or not by you) wholly or partly in connection with:
    - (i) the production, supply, carriage, transmission or delivery of goods; or
    - (ii) the provision of services or facilities; and
  - (b) either or both of the following subparagraphs is satisfied at that time:
    - (i) some or all of the goods, services or facilities are, or are to be, produced for or supplied, carried, transmitted or delivered to or for an *end user who is a *tax preferred end user because of paragraph 250-55(a) (tax preferred entity) but is not an *exempt foreign government agency;
    - (ii) the asset is, or is to be, used wholly or principally outside Australia and an end user of the asset is a tax preferred end user because of paragraph 250-55(b) (foreign resident).

---

---

If this subsection applies, the tax preferred use of the asset is the production, supply, carriage, transmission, delivery or provision referred to in paragraph (a).

- (3) To avoid doubt, the facilities referred to in subsection (2) include:
- (a) hospital or medical facilities; or
  - (b) prison facilities; or
  - (c) educational facilities; or
  - (d) *land transport facilities; or
  - (e) other transport facilities; or
  - (f) the supply of water, gas or electricity; or
  - (g) housing or accommodation; or
  - (h) premises from which to operate a *business or other undertaking.
- (4) If the asset is being *put to a tax preferred use:
- (a) the members of the tax preferred end user group are:
    - (i) the *tax preferred end user; and
    - (ii) the *connected entities of the tax preferred end user; and
  - (b) the members of the tax preferred sector are:
    - (i) the tax preferred end user (and connected entities); and
    - (ii) any *tax preferred entity (or a connected entity); and
    - (iii) any entity that is a foreign resident.

250-65 Arrangement period for tax preferred use

Start of the arrangement period

- (1) The arrangement period for a particular *tax preferred use of an asset starts when that tax preferred use of the asset starts.

End of the arrangement period

- (2) Subject to subsection (3), the arrangement period for a particular *tax preferred use of an asset is taken to end on the day that is the date on which the tax preferred use of the asset may reasonably be expected, or is likely, to end.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 250-70

---

- (3) The arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends when this Division ceases to apply to you and the asset if that happens before the day referred to in subsection (2).
- (4) In determining when a particular *tax preferred use of an asset is likely to end:
  - (a) regard must be had to:
    - (i) the terms of, and any other circumstances relating to, any *arrangement dealing with that tax preferred use of the asset; and
    - (ii) the terms of, and any other circumstances relating to, any arrangement dealing with the *provision of *financial benefits in relation to that tax preferred use of the asset; and
  - (b) it must be assumed that any right that an entity has to renew or extend such an arrangement will not be exercised (unless it is reasonable to assume that the right will be exercised because of the commercial consequences for the entity (or a *connected entity) of not exercising the right).

Tax preferred uses of asset by entity and connected entity

- (5) For the purposes of this section:
  - (a) the *tax preferred use of an asset by an entity; and
  - (b) the tax preferred use of the asset by a *connected entity of that entity;are taken to constitute a single tax preferred use of the asset.

250-70 New tax preferred use at end of arrangement period if tax preferred use continues

If:

- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset because the asset is *put to a tax preferred use; and
- (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends on a particular date (the termination date); and
- (c) the asset continues to be put to the tax preferred use after the termination date;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

the tax preferred use of the asset after the termination date is taken to be a separate and distinct tax preferred use of the asset from the tax preferred use of the asset before the termination date.

Note: This means, among other things, that there is a new arrangement period for the tax preferred use after the termination date and that the arrangement is retested under section 250-15 against circumstances as they stand immediately after the termination date.

250-75 What constitutes a separate asset for the purposes of this Division

- (1) This Division applies to:
  - (a) an improvement to land; or
  - (b) a fixture on land;whether the improvement or fixture is removable or not, as if it were an asset separate from the land.
- (2) Whether a particular composite item is itself an asset or whether its components are separate assets is a question of fact and degree which can only be determined in the light of all the circumstances of the particular case.

Example 1: A car is made up of many separate components, but usually the car is an asset rather than each component.

Example 2: A floating restaurant consists of many separate components (like the ship itself, stoves, fridges, furniture, crockery and cutlery), but usually these components are treated as separate assets.
- (3) This Division applies to a renewal or extension of an asset that is a right as if the renewal or extension were a continuation of the original right.
- (4) This Division applies to an asset (the underlying asset) in which:
  - (a) you have an interest; and
  - (b) one or more other entities also have an interest;as if your interest in the underlying asset were itself the underlying asset.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

250-80 Treatment of particular arrangements in the same way as leases

This Division applies to an *arrangement that:

- (a) in substance or effect, depends on the use of a specific asset that is:
  - (i) real property; or
  - (ii) goods or a personal chattel (other than money or a money equivalent); and
- (b) gives a right to control the use of the asset (other than temporarily for the purpose of ensuring public health or safety, protecting the environment or continuing the supply of an essential service); and
- (c) is not a lease;

in the same way as it applies to a lease.

Note: Even if this section applies to treat an arrangement in relation to an asset as a lease, the requirements in section 250-50 still need to be satisfied before an entity can be an end user of the asset.

Financial benefits in relation to tax preferred use

250-85 Financial benefits in relation to tax preferred use of an asset

- (1) For the purposes of this Division, the *financial benefits provided in relation to a tax preferred use of an asset include (but are not limited to):
  - (a) a financial benefit provided in relation to:
    - (i) bringing the asset into a state, condition or location in which it can be *put to the tax preferred use; or
    - (ii) the start of the *tax preferred use of the asset; and
  - (b) a financial benefit provided in relation to the end of the tax preferred use of the asset; and
  - (c) a financial benefit provided in relation to the termination or expiration of an *arrangement that deals with:
    - (i) the tax preferred use of the asset; or
    - (ii) the provision of financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset; and

---

---

- (d) a financial benefit provided in relation to the purchase or acquisition of the asset by, or transfer of the asset to, the *tax preferred end user (or a *connected entity).
- (2) Without limiting paragraph (1)(b), if the asset has a *guaranteed residual value:
- (a) the amount of the guaranteed residual value is taken to be a *financial benefit provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset; and
- (b) that financial benefit is taken to be provided when the relevant payment is made in relation to the guaranteed residual value.
- (3) The asset has a guaranteed residual value if there is an *arrangement that provides to the effect that if:
- (a) on or after the end of the *arrangement period, you (or a *connected entity) sell or otherwise dispose of the asset to any person; and
- (b) you (or a connected entity) receives in respect of the sale or disposal:
- (i) no consideration; or
- (ii) consideration that is less than an amount (the guaranteed amount) specified in, or ascertainable under, the provision;
- a *member of the tax preferred sector will pay to you (or a connected entity), or to someone else for your benefit (or for the benefit of a connected entity), an amount equal to:
- (c) the guaranteed amount if subparagraph (b)(i) applies; or
- (d) the amount by which the guaranteed amount exceeds the consideration if subparagraph (b)(ii) applies.
- The amount of the guaranteed residual value is taken to be the guaranteed amount.
- (4) If:
- (a) an asset is *put to a tax preferred use; and
- (b) an entity is an *end user of the asset because the entity manages the asset or the use to which the asset is put; any *financial benefit that the entity (or a *connected entity) provides that is calculated by reference to the receipts, revenue or income generated by the use of the asset is also taken to be a financial benefit provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset.

Section 250-85

- (5) For the purposes of this Division (other than this subsection), a *financial benefit provided by a *member of the tax preferred sector is taken not to be provided in relation to the tax preferred use of an asset to the extent to which the financial benefit merely passes on, or represents:
- (a) financial benefits provided in relation to the use of the asset;
or
  - (b) something derived from the use of the asset;
- by someone who is not a member of the tax preferred sector.
- (6) For the purposes of this Division, disregard a *financial benefit *provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset to the extent to which it consists solely of routine maintenance of the asset.
- (7) For the purposes of this Division, if a *financial benefit is provided in relation to the use of a number of assets, a separate financial benefit of an amount or value that is reasonably attributable to each asset is taken to be provided in relation to each asset.
- (8) To avoid doubt, a *financial benefit may be provided in relation to a tax preferred use of an asset even though it is provided before the *tax preferred use of the asset starts.
- (9) For the purposes of this Division:
- (a) a *financial benefit that is not an amount:
    - (i) is taken to become due and payable when the entity providing the financial benefit becomes liable to provide the financial benefit; and
    - (ii) is taken to be paid when it is provided; and
  - (b) a financial benefit that is paid without becoming due and payable is taken to have become due and payable on the day on which it was paid.

250-90 Financial benefit provided directly or indirectly

For the purposes of this Division, a person (the provider) is taken to provide a *financial benefit to a person (the recipient) in relation to a *tax preferred use of an asset whether the financial benefit is provided to the recipient:

- (a) directly; or
- (b) indirectly (including indirectly through an entity that is not a *connected entity of the recipient and is not a connected entity of the provider).

250-95 Expected financial benefits in relation to an asset put to tax preferred use

For the purposes this Division, the expected financial benefits at a particular time in relation to an asset that is *put to a tax preferred use are the *financial benefits that, at that time:

- (a) have been; or
- (b) will, assuming normal operating conditions, be; or
- (c) can, assuming normal operating conditions, reasonably be expected to be;

*provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset by a *member of the tax preferred sector to someone who is not a member of the tax preferred sector.

Note: Paragraphs 250-85(1)(b), (c) and (d) provide for certain benefits provided in relation to the end of the tax preferred use of the asset or in relation to the purchase, disposal or transfer of the asset to be treated as financial benefits provided in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset.

250-100 Present value of financial benefit that has already been provided

For the purposes of this Division, the present value of a *financial benefit at a particular time is the nominal amount or value of the financial benefit if the financial benefit has been provided before that time.

Discount rate to be used in working out present values

250-105 Discount rate to be used in working out present values

- (1) For the purposes of section 250-40, the discount rate to be used in working out the present value of a future amount is:
  - (a) the average, expressed as a decimal fraction, of the assessed secondary market yields in respect of 10-year non-rebate Treasury bonds published by the Reserve Bank during the *financial year in which the relevant *arrangement period starts; or
  - (b) if no assessed secondary market yield in respect of bonds of that kind was published by the Reserve Bank during the year—the decimal fraction determined by the Treasurer for the purposes of the definition of long-term bond rate in section 2 of the Petroleum Resource Rent Tax Assessment Act 1987 in relation to the financial year in which the relevant arrangement period starts.
- (2) For the purposes of section 250-135 and Subdivisions 250-C and 250-D, the discount rate to be used in working out the present value of a future amount is a rate that reflects a constant periodic rate of return (worked out on a compounding basis) on the investment in:
  - (a) the asset referred to in subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) if that subparagraph applies; or
  - (b) the expenditure referred to in paragraph 250-15(d)(ii) if that subparagraph applies;that is implicit in the *arrangements under which the asset is *put to a tax preferred use and *financial benefits are *provided in relation to that tax preferred use.

Predominant economic interest

250-110 Predominant economic interest

You lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time only if one or more of the following sections apply to you and the asset at that time:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) section 250-115 (limited recourse debt test);
- (b) section 250-120 (right to acquire asset test);
- (c) section 250-125 (effectively non-cancellable, long term arrangement test);
- (d) section 250-135 (level of expected financial benefits test).

250-115 Limited recourse debt test

- (1) You lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if more than the allowable percentage of the cost of your acquiring or constructing the asset is financed (directly or indirectly) by a *limited recourse debt or debts.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1):
  - (a) the amount of a *limited recourse debt is to be reduced by the value of any *debt property (other than the *financed property) that is provided as security for the debt; and
  - (b) if the limited recourse debt finances the acquisition or construction of 2 or more assets, only the amount of the debt that is reasonably attributable to the asset referred to in subsection (1) is to be taken into account.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), the allowable percentage is:
  - (a) 80% if the asset is taken to be *put to a tax preferred use because of subparagraph 250-60(1)(b)(i) or (2)(b)(i) (end use by *tax preferred entities); or
  - (b) 55% if the asset is taken to be put to a tax preferred use because of subparagraph 250-60(1)(b)(ii) or (2)(b)(ii) (end use by foreign residents).
- (4) This section does not apply to the asset if:
  - (a) you are a *corporate tax entity; and
  - (b) the *tax preferred use of the asset is not the lease or hire of the asset (and is not the use of the asset under a lease or hire arrangement); and
  - (c) the asset is *put to the tax preferred use wholly or principally in Australia; and
  - (d) no *member of the tax preferred sector provides financing, or support for financing, in relation to your interest in the asset (including by way of a loan, a guarantee, an indemnity, a security, hedging or undertaking to provide *financial benefits in the event of the termination of an *arrangement).

- (5) Paragraph (4)(b) does not apply if:
- (a) the asset is real property (or an interest in real property); and
  - (b) the *tax preferred use of the asset is a lease; and
  - (c) the space within the property that is occupied by tenants who are *members of the tax preferred sector is less than half of the total space within the property that is either occupied by tenants or available to be occupied by tenants.
- (6) This section also does not apply to the asset if:
- (a) you hold the asset as a trustee; and
  - (b) the asset is real property (or an interest in real property); and
  - (c) the *tax preferred use of the asset is a lease; and
  - (d) the space within the property that is occupied by tenants who are *members of the tax preferred sector is less than half of the total space within the property that is either occupied by tenants or available to be occupied by tenants; and
  - (e) the asset is *put to the tax preferred use wholly or principally in Australia; and
  - (f) no member of the tax preferred sector provides financing, or support for financing, in relation to your interest in the asset (including by way of a loan, a guarantee, an indemnity, a security, hedging or undertaking to provide *financial benefits in the event of the termination of an *arrangement).

250-120 Right to acquire asset test

- (1) You lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if, at that time:
- (a) the asset is to be transferred to a *member of the tax preferred sector after the end of the *arrangement period; and
  - (b) the consideration for the transfer is not fixed as the *market value of the asset at the time of the transfer.
- (2) You also lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if, at that time:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (a) a *member of the tax preferred end user group has, or will have:
  - (i) a right, obligation or contingent obligation to purchase or acquire the asset or a legal or equitable interest in the asset; or
  - (ii) a right to require the transfer of the asset or a legal or equitable interest in the asset; and
- (b) the consideration for the purchase, acquisition or transfer is not fixed as the *market value of the asset at the time of the purchase, acquisition or transfer.

To avoid doubt, this section does not apply to the asset merely because your interest in the asset is one that ceases to exist after the passage of a particular period of time.

250-125 Effectively non-cancellable, long term arrangement test

- (1) You lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if:
  - (a) any *arrangement that relates to:
    - (i) the *tax preferred use of the asset; or
    - (ii) the *financial benefits to be *provided by the *members of the tax preferred sector in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset;is *effectively non-cancellable (see section 250-130); and
  - (b) the *arrangement period for the tax preferred use of the asset is:
    - (i) greater than 30 years; or
    - (ii) if the arrangement period is less than or equal to 30 years—75% or more of that part of the asset's *effective life that remains when the tax preferred use of the asset starts.
- (2) Disregard section 40-102 in working out the asset's *effective life for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(b)(ii).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

250-130 Meaning of effectively non-cancellable arrangement

- (1) An *arrangement that relates to *financial benefits to be *provided by a *member of the tax preferred sector in relation to the tax preferred use of an asset is effectively non-cancellable if:
  - (a) the arrangement can be cancelled only with:
    - (i) your permission; or
    - (ii) the permission of a *connected entity of yours; or
    - (iii) an agent or entity acting on your behalf (or on behalf of a connected entity of yours); or
  - (b) the arrangement can be cancelled without the permission of an entity referred to in paragraph (a) but, if the arrangement were cancelled, the member of the tax preferred sector or another member of the tax preferred sector:
    - (i) would be required to enter into a new arrangement for the *provision of financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset; or
    - (ii) would incur a penalty and the magnitude of the penalty would be such as to discourage cancellation.
- (2) For these purposes, if a *member of the tax preferred sector defaults under an *arrangement and the arrangement is cancelled, the arrangement is to be taken to have been cancelled without the permission of an entity referred to in paragraph (1)(a).

250-135 Level of expected financial benefits test

Effective guarantee or indemnity for value of asset

- (1) You lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if the asset has a *guaranteed residual value at that time.

Likely financial benefits exceeding 70% limit

- (2) You also lack a predominant economic interest in an asset at a particular time if, at that time:
  - (a) the *arrangement under which the asset is *put to the tax preferred use (either alone or together with any other arrangement in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset or the *provision of *financial benefits in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset) is a *debt interest; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) the sum of the present values of the *expected financial benefits that *members of the tax preferred sector have provided, or are or are reasonably likely to provide, to you (or a *connected entity) in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset exceeds 70% of:
- (i) the *market value of the asset if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
  - (ii) so much of the market value of the asset as is attributable to the expenditure referred to subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) if that subparagraph applies.

250-140 When to retest predominant economic interest under section 250-135

Purpose for applying section

- (1) This section applies for the purposes of working out whether this Division applies to you and to an asset that is *put to a tax preferred use.

No need to keep retesting if section 250-135 does not apply at start of tax preferred use of asset

- (2) If section 250-135 does not apply to you and the asset at the time when the *tax preferred use of the asset starts, that section is taken, subject to subsection (4), to continue not to apply to you and the asset.

Note: This subsection means that if section 250-135 does not apply to the arrangement when the tax preferred use of the asset starts, the arrangement does not need to be retested against section 250-135 until a change of the kind referred to in subsection (4) occurs.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 250-140

---

No need to keep retesting if section 250-135 does not apply when you do something to increase value of expected financial benefits

- (3) If:
- (a) you (or a *connected entity), or a *member of the tax preferred sector, do something, or omit to do something, at a particular time that increases the value of the *expected financial benefits in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset; and
  - (b) section 250-135 does not apply to the asset at that time;
- that section is taken, subject to subsection (4), to continue not to apply to you and the asset.

Note: This subsection means that if the arrangement is retested against section 250-135 at a particular time and section 250-135 does not apply to the arrangement on that retesting, the arrangement does not need to be again retested against section 250-135 until a change of the kind referred to in subsection (4) occurs.

Retesting when you do something to increase the value of expected financial benefits

- (4) Subsection (2) or (3) ceases to apply to you and the asset if you (or a *connected entity), or a *member of the tax preferred sector, do something, or omit to do something, that increases the value of the *expected financial benefits in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset.

Certain financial benefits ignored when retesting

- (5) For the purposes of reapplying section 250-135 to the asset, disregard *financial benefits provided before subsection (2) or (3) of this section ceased to apply to the asset.

Note: If:

- (a) subsection (2) or (3) ceases to apply to the asset at a particular time under this subsection; and
- (b) the asset is retested at that time against section 250-135; and
- (c) on the retesting, that section is found to apply to the asset at that time; subsection (3) will start to apply to the asset again from that time because paragraph (3)(b) will have been satisfied.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Clarification that retesting only required if you do something to increase value of expected benefits

- (6) To avoid doubt, subsection (2) or (3) does not cease to apply merely because the value of the *expected financial benefits in relation to the asset increase because of something other than action taken, or an omission made, by you (or a *connected entity) or a *member of the tax preferred sector.

Note: This subsection means that retesting under subsection (4) is not triggered by an increase in the value of expected financial benefits that happens because of external circumstances (circumstances external to activities and omissions of yours, your connected entities and members of the tax preferred sector).

Subdivision 250-C—Denial of, or reduction in, capital allowance deductions

Table of sections

250-145	Denial of capital allowance deductions
250-150	Apportionment rule

250-145 Denial of capital allowance deductions

- (1) If this Division applies to you and an asset at a particular time, any condition that needs to be satisfied for you to be able to deduct an amount under a *capital allowance provision in relation to:
- (a) a decline in the value of the asset; or
  - (b) expenditure in relation to the asset;
- is taken not to be satisfied at that time.
- (2) This section has effect subject to section 250-150.

250-150 Apportionment rule

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset that is *put to a tax preferred use; and
  - (b) it is reasonable to expect that, during the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset, particular *financial benefits will be provided to you (or a *connected entity); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 250-150

---

- (c) it is reasonable to expect that those financial benefits:
  - (i) will be provided in relation to a use of the asset that is not that tax preferred use and is not a private use; or
  - (ii) will be *provided in relation to that tax preferred use of the asset but will not be attributable, directly or indirectly, to financial benefits that are provided by *members of the tax preferred sector; and
- (d) the amount or value of those financial benefits is known or can reasonably be estimated; and
- (e) you choose to have this section apply to the asset.

In applying paragraph (c), disregard financial benefits that are provided under an *arrangement that is a *debt interest.

- (2) A choice under paragraph (1)(e) in relation to an asset:
  - (a) must be made before the due date for you to lodge your *income tax return for the income year in which the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset starts; and
  - (b) must be made for the whole of the arrangement period for the tax preferred use of the asset; and
  - (c) must extend to all assets that are, or are to be, *put to a tax preferred use under the *arrangement under which the asset is put to that use; and
  - (d) is irrevocable.

The choice may extend to an asset referred to in paragraph (c) even if it is likely that paragraphs (1)(b) and (c) will not apply to that asset.

- (3) If this section applies, section 250-145 applies to you and the asset only to the extent of the *disallowed capital allowance percentage.
- (4) Subject to subsection (6), the disallowed capital allowance percentage is the following ratio (expressed as a percentage):

$$\frac{\text{Sum of present values of financial benefits that are subject to deemed loan treatment}}{\text{Market value of asset}}$$

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (5) The Commissioner may, before the due date for you to lodge your *income tax return for the income year to which the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset starts, approve an alternative method for working out the *disallowed capital allowance percentage for you and the asset.
- (6) If the Commissioner approves an alternative method under subsection (5), the disallowed capital allowance percentage is the percentage worked out in accordance with that alternative method.

Subdivision 250-D—Deemed loan treatment of financial benefits provided for tax preferred use

Table of sections

250-155	Arrangement treated as loan
250-160	Financial benefits that are subject to deemed loan treatment
250-180	End value of asset
250-185	Financial benefits subject to deemed loan treatment not assessed

250-155 Arrangement treated as loan

Loan with characteristics provided for in this section taken to exist

- (1) If this Division applies to you and an asset at a particular time in an income year, a *financial arrangement in the form of a loan (with the characteristics provided for in this section) is taken to exist at that time for the purposes of working out your taxable income for that income year.

Note: See Subdivision 250-E for the taxation treatment of the financial arrangement.

Lender

- (2) You are taken to be the lender in relation to the loan.

Amount lent and unpaid at the start of the arrangement period

- (3) The amount worked out under subsection (4) is taken to be the amount that you have lent, and that the borrower has not repaid, at the start of the *arrangement period.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (4) The amount is worked out by taking:
- (a) the amount that, at the start of the *arrangement period, is:
    - (i) the *adjustable value of the asset if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
    - (ii) the amount worked out under subsection (5) if subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) applies; or
  - (b) if section 250-150 applies—the amount that, at the start of the arrangement period, is the *disallowed capital allowance percentage of:
    - (i) the adjustable value of the asset if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
    - (ii) the amount worked out under subsection (5) if subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) applies; and deducting the sum of all *financial benefits that are *subject to deemed loan treatment and that have become due and payable before the start of the arrangement period.
- (5) If subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) applies, the amount worked out under this subsection for the purposes of subsection (4) is:

Item	If the expenditure referred to in that subparagraph is ...	the amount is ...
1	capital expenditure under Division 40	the amount of the capital expenditure in respect of which a deduction has not been allowed (disregarding this Division) under the relevant Subdivision of Division 40
2	capital expenditure under Division 43	the *undeducted construction expenditure in relation to the capital expenditure

Amounts paid to you by borrower under the loan

- (6) Any *financial benefit that:
- (a) a person provides; and
  - (b) is *subject to deemed loan treatment;
- is taken to be an amount that the borrower pays you under the loan.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note 1: Section 250-160 tells you which financial benefits are subject to the deemed loan treatment.

Note 2: These benefits may be ones that are provided either to you or to a connected entity.

Period of the loan

- (7) The *arrangement period is taken to be the period of the loan.

Applying Subdivision 250-E to the loan

- (8) For the purposes of applying Subdivision 250-E to the loan:
- (a) you are taken to have an overall gain from the loan and that overall gain is taken to be sufficiently certain at the time when you start to have the loan; and
  - (b) the amount of that overall gain is taken to be the sum of the *financial benefits that are *subject to the deemed loan treatment less the amount worked out under subsection (4); and
  - (c) you are taken:
    - (i) to start to have the loan at the start of the *arrangement period; and
    - (ii) to cease to have the loan at the end of the arrangement period; and
  - (d) any right that you (or a connected entity) have to a financial benefit that is subject to deemed loan treatment is taken to be a right that you have under the loan; and
  - (e) if a *connected entity transfers to another person a right to a financial benefit subject to deemed loan treatment:
    - (i) you are taken to transfer the right to that other person; and
    - (ii) any consideration that the connected entity receives in relation to the transfer is taken to be consideration that you receive in relation to the transfer; and
  - (f) if a right that a connected entity has to a financial benefit subject to deemed loan treatment ceases and the connected entity receives consideration in relation to that cessation—you are taken to receive that consideration in relation to the cessation; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

---

- (g) you are taken to start to have the loan, or to cease to have the loan, as consideration for something if you start to have the rights to the financial benefits that are subject to deemed loan treatment, or cease to have those rights, as consideration for that thing; and
  - (h) in applying sections 250-265 to 250-275:
    - (i) the amount that you are taken, under subsections (3), (4) and (5), to have lent are the only financial benefits that you provide under the loan; and
    - (ii) the financial benefits you have received under the loan are taken to include financial benefits that are subject to deemed loan treatment that a person is, at the end of the arrangement period, liable to provide to you.
- (9) If, under subsection 250-160(2), a particular percentage of a reasonable estimate of the *end value of the asset was taken to be a *financial benefit that is *subject to the deemed loan treatment, subsection 250-275(1) applies to the loan at the end of the *arrangement period as if you had received under the loan a financial benefit equal to the relevant percentage of the end value of the asset.

250-160 Financial benefits that are *subject to deemed loan treatment

General rule

- (1) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), a *financial benefit is subject to deemed loan treatment if:
- (a) the financial benefit:
    - (i) has been; or
    - (ii) will, assuming normal operating conditions, be; or
    - (iii) can, assuming normal operating conditions, reasonably be expected to be;provided to you (or a *connected entity); and
  - (b) the financial benefit has been, will be or can reasonably be expected to be *provided directly or indirectly by a *member of the tax preferred sector in relation to the *tax preferred use of the asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (c) the right to receive, or the obligation to provide, the financial benefit is *cash settleable; and
- (d) the financial benefit has not been, will not be or can be expected not to be provided by one of your connected entities.

Note: Paragraph (d) stops a financial benefit passing between you and any of your connected entities from being counted twice.

End value also taken to be financial benefit subject to deemed loan treatment

- (2) The relevant percentage of a reasonable estimate of the *end value of the asset is also taken to be a *financial benefit that is subject to deemed loan treatment if:
  - (a) the asset is not to be purchased or acquired by, or transferred to, a *member of the tax preferred sector at the end of the *arrangement period under a legally enforceable *arrangement; or
  - (b) the asset:
    - (i) is, or is to become, a *privatised asset; or
    - (ii) would be, or would become, a privatised asset if it were a *depreciating asset; or
    - (iii) would be a privatised asset if the asset were a depreciating asset and paragraphs 58-5(2)(a) and 58-5(4)(a) were not limited to acquisitions of depreciating assets that occurred on or after 1 July 2001.

The relevant percentage is the *disallowed capital allowance percentage if section 250-150 applies. Otherwise it is 100%.

Note: See section 250-180 for how to work out the end value of the asset.

Financial benefits only subject to deemed loan treatment to the extent to which they represent a return on investment

- (3) The *financial benefit is subject to deemed loan treatment only to the extent to which it reasonably represents a return of, or on, an investment in the asset (as distinct, for example, from representing consideration for the provision of services or the recovery of production costs), having regard to:
  - (a) the *market value of the asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 250-180

---

- (b) the discount rate applicable under subsection 250-105(2); and
- (c) your costs in relation to funding your interest in the asset;
and
- (d) any other relevant matter.

The regulations may provide rules to be applied in determining the extent to which a financial benefit reasonably represents a return of or on an investment in the asset.

Only financial benefits provided after Division starts applying to you and the asset

- (4) If the *tax preferred use of the asset starts before this Division starts applying to you and the asset, only *financial benefits provided after this Division starts applying to you and the asset are subject to deemed loan treatment.

250-180 End value of asset

- (1) The end value of an asset is worked out in accordance with this section.
- (2) If the asset has a *guaranteed residual value, the end value of the asset is:
  - (a) the amount of the guaranteed residual amount if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
  - (b) so much of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) as is attributable to the expenditure referred to in subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) if that subparagraph applies.
- (3) If the asset does not have a *guaranteed residual value and is a *depreciating asset, the end value of the asset is:
  - (a) if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies—the amount that would have been the *adjustable value of the asset at the end of the *arrangement period if:
    - (i) this Division had not applied to you and the asset; and
    - (ii) the decline in the asset's value were worked out on the basis of the asset's *effective life and using the *prime cost method; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) if subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) applies—so much of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) as is attributable to the expenditure referred to in that subparagraph.
- (4) Disregard section 40-102 in working out the asset's *effective life for the purposes of subparagraph (3)(a)(ii).
- (5) If neither subsection (2) nor subsection (3) applies and an estimate of the value of the asset is recognised for accounting purposes, the end value of the asset is:
  - (a) the value of the relevant asset at the end of the *arrangement period that would be recognised for accounting purposes if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
  - (b) so much of the value of referred to in paragraph (a) as is attributable to the expenditure referred to subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) if that subparagraph applies.

The end value must not, however, exceed the amount worked out under subsections 250-155(4) and (5) (amount taken to have been lent).

- (6) If none of subsections (2), (3) and (5) apply to the asset, the end value of the asset is:
  - (a) a reasonable estimate of the *market value of the asset at the end of the *arrangement period if subparagraph 250-15(d)(i) applies; or
  - (b) so much of the estimate referred to in paragraph (a) as is attributable to the expenditure referred to in subparagraph 250-15(d)(ii) if that subparagraph applies.

The end value must not, however, exceed the amount worked out under subsections 250-155(4) and (5) (amount taken to have been lent).

250-185 Financial benefits subject to deemed loan treatment not assessed

A *financial benefit is not included in your assessable income if the financial benefit:

- (a) is *provided to you in relation to the tax preferred use of the asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

(b) is provided directly or indirectly by a *member of the tax preferred sector; and

(c) is *subject to deemed loan treatment.

The financial benefit is not assessable income and is not *exempt income.

Guide to Subdivision 250-E

250-190 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision is about the tax treatment of gains and losses from the financial arrangement that you are taken to have under section 250-155.

You recognise gains and losses from the financial arrangement, as appropriate, over the life of the financial arrangement and ignore distinctions between income and capital. You use a compounding accruals method to recognise the gain or loss.

A change in circumstances may cause a re-estimation of gains and losses that the accruals method is being applied to.

A balancing adjustment is made if you transfer particular rights or obligations or particular rights or obligations cease.

Application and objects of Subdivision

250-195 Application of Subdivision

This Subdivision applies for the purposes of working out the amount of the gain or loss that is to be included in your assessable income or allowed as a deduction in relation to the *financial arrangement that is taken to exist under section 250-155.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

250-200 Objects of this Subdivision

The objects of this Subdivision are:

- (a) to properly recognise gains and losses from the *financial arrangement by allocating them to appropriate periods of time; and
- (b) to minimise tax deferral.

Tax treatment of gains and losses from financial arrangements

250-205 Gains are assessable and losses deductible

Gains

- (1) Your assessable income includes a gain you make from the *financial arrangement.

Losses

- (2) You can deduct a loss you make from the *financial arrangement, but only to the extent that:
  - (a) you make it in gaining or producing your assessable income; or
  - (b) you necessarily make it in carrying on a *business for the purpose of gaining or producing your assessable income.

250-210 Gain or loss to be taken into account only once under this Act

Purpose of this section

- (1) The purpose of this section is to ensure that your gains that are assessable under this Subdivision, and your losses that are deductible under this Subdivision, are taken into account only once under this Act in working out your taxable income.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Gain or loss

- (2) If a gain or loss is, or is to be, included in your assessable income or allowable as a deduction to you for an income year under this Subdivision, the gain or loss is not to be (to any extent):
- (a) included in your assessable income; or
  - (b) allowable as a deduction to you;
- under any other provisions of this Act for the same or any other income year.

Associated financial benefits

- (3) If the amount or value of a *financial benefit is taken into account in working out whether you make, or the amount of, a gain or loss that is, or is to be, included in your assessable income or allowable as a deduction for you for an income year under this Subdivision, the benefit is not to be (to any extent):
- (a) included in your assessable income; or
  - (b) allowable as a deduction to you;
- under any other provision of this Act for the same or any other income year.

Method to be applied to take account of gain or loss

250-215 Methods for taking gain or loss into account

The methods that can be applied to take account of a gain or loss you make from the *financial arrangement you have are:

- (a) the accruals method provided for in sections 250-235 to 250-255; or
- (b) a balancing adjustment provided for in sections 250-265 to 250-275.

A gain or loss is not taken into account under the method referred to in paragraph (a) to the extent to which the gain or loss is taken into account under sections 250-265 to 250-275.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

General rules

250-220 Consistency in working out gains or losses (integrity measure)

Object of section

- (1) The object of this section is to stop you obtaining an inappropriate tax benefit from not working out your gains and losses in a consistent manner.

Consistent treatment for particular financial arrangement

- (2) If:
  - (a) this Subdivision provides that a particular method applies to gains or losses you make from the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) that method allows you to choose the particular manner in which you apply that method;you must use that manner consistently for the arrangement for all income years.

Consistent treatment for financial arrangements of essentially the same nature

- (3) If:
  - (a) this Subdivision provides that a particular method applies to gains or losses you make from 2 or more *financial arrangements; and
  - (b) that method allows you to choose the particular manner in which you apply that method;you must use that same manner consistently for all of those financial arrangements that are essentially of the same nature.

- (a) a right is treated as a right for the purposes of this Division even it is subject to a contingency; and
- (b) an obligation is treated as an obligation for the purpose of this Division even if it is subject to a contingency.

The accruals method

250-230 Application of accruals method

The accruals method provided for in sections 250-235 to 250-255 applies to a gain or loss you make from the *financial arrangement if:

- (a) the gain or loss is an overall gain or loss from the arrangement; and
- (b) the gain or loss is sufficiently certain at the time when you start to have the arrangement.

250-235 Overview of the accruals method

If the accruals method applies to a gain or loss you make from the *financial arrangement:

- (a) you use section 250-240 to work out the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread; and
- (b) you use section 250-245 to work out how to allocate the gain or loss to particular intervals within the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread; and
- (c) if an interval to which part of the gain or loss is allocated straddles 2 income years, you use section 250-250 to work out how to allocate that part of the gain or loss allocated between those 2 income years.

250-240 Applying accruals method to work out period over which gain or loss is to be spread

If you have a sufficiently certain overall gain or loss from the *financial arrangement, the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread is the period that:

- (a) starts when you start to have the arrangement; and
- (b) ends when you will cease to have the arrangement.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

In applying paragraph (b), you must assume that you will continue to have the arrangement for the rest of its life.

250-245 How gain or loss is spread

How to spread gain or loss

- (1) This section tells you how to spread a gain or loss to which the accruals method applies.

Compounding accruals or approximation

- (2) The gain or loss is to be spread using:
  - (a) compounding accruals (with the intervals to which parts of the gain or loss are allocated complying with subsection (3));
or
  - (b) a method whose results approximate those obtained using the method referred to in paragraph (a) (having regard to the length of the period over which the gain or loss is to be spread).

Intervals to which parts of gain or loss allocated

- (3) The intervals to which parts of the gain or loss are allocated must:
  - (a) not exceed 12 months; and
  - (b) all be of the same length.

Paragraph (b) does not apply to the first and last intervals. These may be shorter than the other intervals.

Assumption of continuing hold arrangement for the rest of its life

- (4) The gain or loss is to be spread assuming that you will continue to have the *financial arrangement for the rest of its life.

250-250 Allocating gain or loss to income years

- (1) You are taken, for the purposes of section 250-205, to make, for an income year, a gain or loss equal to a part of a gain or loss if:
  - (a) that part of the gain or loss is allocated to an interval under section 250-245; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) that interval falls wholly within that income year.
- (2) If:
  - (a) a part of a gain or loss is allocated to an interval under section 250-245; and
  - (b) that interval straddles 2 income years;you are taken, for purposes of section 250-205, to make a gain or loss equal to so much of that part of the gain or loss as is allocated between those income years on a reasonable basis.
- (3) If:
  - (a) a *consolidated group or *MEC group has a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) a subsidiary member of the group ceases to be a member of the group at a particular time (the exit time); and
  - (c) immediately after the exit time, the subsidiary member has the financial arrangement;an income year of the group is taken, for the purposes of applying this section to the group and the financial arrangement, to end at the exit time.

250-255 When to re-estimate

When re-estimation necessary

- (1) You re-estimate a gain or loss from the *financial arrangement under subsection (4) if circumstances arise that materially affect:
  - (a) the amount or value; or
  - (b) the timing;of *financial benefits that were taken into account in working out the amount of the gain or loss. You must re-estimate the gain or loss as soon as reasonably practicable after you become aware of the circumstances referred to in paragraph (b).
- (2) Without limiting subsection (1), the following are circumstances of the kind referred to in paragraph (1)(b):
  - (a) a material change in market conditions that are relevant to the amount or value of the *financial benefits to be received or provided under the *financial arrangement;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) cash flows that were previously estimated becoming known and the difference between the cash flows that become known and the cash flows that were previously estimated is not insignificant;
  - (c) a right to, or a part of a right to, a financial benefit under the arrangement is written off as a bad debt.
- (3) You do not re-estimate a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection (4) merely because of any one or more of the following:
- (a) a change in the credit rating, or the creditworthiness, of a party or parties to the financial arrangement;
  - (b) the impairment (within the meaning of the *accounting standards) of the arrangement or a debt that forms part of the arrangement.

Nature of re-estimation

- (4) Making a re-estimation in relation to a gain or loss under this subsection involves:
- (a) a fresh determination of the amount of the gain or loss; and
  - (b) a reapplication of the accruals method to the redetermined gain or loss to make a fresh allocation of the part of the redetermined gain or loss that has not already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made to intervals ending after the re-estimation is made.

Basis for re-estimation

- (5) You may make the fresh allocation of the gain or loss under subsection (4) on either of the following bases:
- (a) by maintaining the rate of return being used and adjusting the amount to which you apply the rate of return to the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the maintained rate of return;
  - (b) adjusting the rate of return and maintaining the amount to which you apply the rate of return.

The object to be achieved by both bases is allow you to bring the remainder of the gain or loss based on the new estimates properly to account over the remainder of the period over which you spread the gain or loss.

---

- (6) If you adopt a particular basis under subsection (5) for a gain or loss from the *financial arrangement, you must use the same basis for all the re-estimations you make under this section in relation to your gains and losses from all your financial arrangements.

Balancing adjustment if rate of return maintained

- (7) If you make a fresh allocation of the gain or loss on the basis referred to in paragraph (5)(a), you must make the following balancing adjustment:
- (a) if you re-estimate a gain and the amount to which you apply the rate of return increases—you make a gain from the *financial arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the increase;
  - (b) if you re-estimate a gain and the amount to which you apply the rate of return decreases—you make a loss from the arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the decrease;
  - (c) if you re-estimate a loss and the amount to which you apply the rate of return increases—you make a loss from the arrangement, for the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the increase;
  - (d) if you re-estimate a loss and the amount to which you apply the rate of return decreases—you make a gain from the arrangement, the income year in which you make the re-estimation, equal to the amount of the decrease.

250-260 Re-estimation if balancing adjustment on partial disposal

Re-estimation if balancing adjustment on partial disposal

- (1) You also re-estimate a gain or loss from a *financial arrangement under subsection (2) if a balancing adjustment is made in relation to the financial arrangement under sections 250-265 to 250-275 because you transfer to another person:
- (a) a proportionate share of all of your rights and/or obligations under a *financial arrangement; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) a right or obligation that you have under a financial arrangement to a specifically identified *financial benefit; or
- (c) a proportionate share of a right or obligation that you have under a financial arrangement to a specifically identified financial benefit.

You must re-estimate the gain or loss as soon as reasonably practicable after the transfer occurs.

Nature of re-estimation

- (2) Making a re-estimation in relation to a gain or loss under this subsection involves:
  - (a) a fresh determination of the amount of the gain or loss disregarding:
    - (i) *financial benefits; and
    - (ii) amounts of the gain or loss that have already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made;to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the proportionate share, or the right or obligation, referred to in paragraph (1)(b); and
  - (b) a reapplication of the accruals method to the redetermined gain or loss to make a fresh allocation of the part of that gain or loss that has not already been allocated to intervals ending before the re-estimation is made to intervals ending after the re-estimation is made.

Basis for re-estimation

- (3) You make the fresh allocation of the gain or loss under subsection (2) by maintaining the rate of return being used and adjusting the amount to which you apply the rate of return to the present value of the estimated future cash flows discounted at the maintained rate of return. The object to be achieved by the fresh allocation is allow you to bring the remainder of the redetermined gain or loss properly to account over the remainder of the period over which you spread the gain or loss.

Balancing adjustment

250-265 When balancing adjustment made

When balancing adjustment made

- (1) A balancing adjustment is made under section 250-275 if:
  - (a) you transfer to another person all of your rights and/or obligations under the *financial arrangement; or
  - (b) all of your rights and/or obligations under the financial arrangement otherwise substantially cease; or
  - (c) you transfer to another person:
    - (i) a proportionate share of all of your rights and/or obligations under the financial arrangement; or
    - (ii) a right or obligation that you have under the financial arrangement to a specifically identified *financial benefit; or
    - (iii) a proportionate share of a right or obligation that you have under the financial arrangement to a specifically identified financial benefit.

Modifications for arrangements that are assets

- (2) The following modifications are made if the *financial arrangement is an asset of yours at the time the event referred to in subsection (1) occurs:
  - (a) paragraphs (1)(a) and (c) do not apply unless the effect of the transfer is to transfer to the other person substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the interest transferred;
  - (b) for the purposes of applying section 250-275 to the arrangement, you are treated as transferring a right under the arrangement to another person if:
    - (i) you retain the right but assume a new obligation; and
    - (ii) your assumption of the new obligation has the same effect, in substance, as transferring the right to another person; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

---

- (iii) the new obligation arises only to the extent to which the right to *financial benefits under the financial arrangement is satisfied; and
- (iv) you cannot sell or pledge the right (other than as security in relation to the new obligation); and
- (v) you must, under the new obligation, provide financial benefits you receive in relation to the right to the person to whom you owe the new obligation without delay.

250-270 Exception for subsidiary member leaving consolidated group

A balancing adjustment is not made under section 250-275 in relation to a subsidiary member of a *consolidated group or a *MEC group that has the *financial arrangement ceasing to be a member of the group.

250-275 Balancing adjustment

Complete cessation or transfer

- (1) Use the following method statement to make the balancing adjustment if paragraph 250-265(1)(a) or (b) applies:

Method statement for balancing adjustment

Step 1. Add up the following:

- (a) the total of all the *financial benefits provided to you under the *financial arrangement;
- (b) the amount or value of any other consideration you receive in relation to the transfer or cessation referred to in subsection 250-265(1);
- (c) the total of the amounts that have been allowed to you as deductions, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, for losses from the arrangement;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) the total of the other amounts that would have been allowed to you as deductions, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, for losses from the arrangement if all your losses from the arrangement were allowable as deductions.

Step 2. Add up the following:

- (a) the total of all the *financial benefits you have provided under the *financial arrangement;
- (b) the amount or value of any other consideration you provide in relation to the transfer or cessation referred to in subsection 250-265(1);
- (c) the total of the amounts that have been included in your assessable income, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, as gains from the arrangement;
- (d) the total of the other amounts that would have been included in your assessable income, because of circumstances that have occurred before the transfer or cessation, as gains from the arrangement if all your gains from the arrangement were assessable.

Step 3. Compare the amount obtained under Step 1 (the Step 1 amount) with the amount obtained under Step 2 (the Step 2 amount). If the Step 1 amount exceeds the Step 2 amount, an amount equal to the excess is taken, as a balancing adjustment, to be a gain you make from the *financial arrangement for the purposes of this Subdivision. If the Step 2 amount exceeds the Step 1 amount, an amount equal to the excess is taken, as a balancing adjustment, to be a loss that you make from the arrangement. If the Step 1 amount and the Step 2 amount are equal, no balancing adjustment is made.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Proportionate transfer of all rights and/or obligations under financial arrangement

- (2) If subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(i) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement in subsection (1) but reduce:
- (a) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 1; and
  - (b) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 2;
- by applying the proportion referred to in subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(i) to them.

Transfer of specifically identified right or obligation under financial arrangement

- (3) If subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(ii) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement in subsection (1) as if the references to:
- (a) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 1; and
  - (b) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 2;
- were references to those amounts to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the right or obligation referred to in subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(ii).

Proportionate transfer of specifically identified right or obligation under financial arrangement

- (4) If subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(iii) applies, you make the balancing adjustment by applying the method statement:
- (a) as if the references to:
    - (i) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 1; and
    - (ii) the amounts referred to in paragraphs (a), (c) and (d) in step 2;

---

were references to those amounts to the extent to which they are reasonably attributable to the right or obligation referred to in subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(iii); and

- (b) by reducing those amounts by applying the proportion referred to in subparagraph 250-265(1)(c)(iii) to them.

Attribution must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles

- (5) Any attribution made under subsection (3) or paragraph (4)(a) must reflect appropriate and commercially accepted valuation principles that properly take into account:
  - (a) the nature of the rights and obligations under the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) the risks associated with each *financial benefit, right and obligation under the arrangement; and
  - (c) the time value of money.

Income year for which gain or loss is made

- (6) The gain or loss you are taken to make under subsection (1), (2), (3) or (4) is a gain or loss for the income year in which the event referred to in subsection 250-265(1) occurs.

Other provisions

250-280 Financial arrangement received or provided as consideration

- (1) If:
  - (a) this Subdivision applies in relation to your gains and losses from the *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) you start to have the financial arrangement (or a part of the financial arrangement) as consideration (or as part of the consideration) for:
    - (i) something (the thing provided) that you provided, or are to provide, to someone else; or
    - (ii) something (the thing acquired) that someone else has provided, or is to provide, to you; and

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

(c) the thing provided or the thing acquired is not money; the amount of the benefit (or that part of the benefit) that you obtained for the thing provided, or gave for the thing acquired, is taken, for the purposes of applying this Act to you, to be the *market value of the financial arrangement (or that part of the financial arrangement) at the time when you start to have the financial arrangement.

Note 1: This amount may be relevant, for example, for the purposes of applying the provisions of this Act dealing with capital gains, capital allowances or trading stock to the thing provided or the thing acquired.

Note 2: The market value is to be used instead of the nominal value of the financial benefits to be provided under the financial arrangement.

(2) If subsection (1) applies, you are taken to have received, or provided, as consideration for starting to have the *financial arrangement (or the part of the financial arrangement), *financial benefits whose value is equal to the market value of the financial arrangement (or that part of the financial arrangement) at the time when you started to have the financial arrangement.

(3) If, but for this subsection:

- (a) subsection (2) would apply to your starting to have a *financial arrangement; and
- (b) subsection (1) or (4) would also apply to your starting to have the financial arrangement;

subsection (2) applies to your starting to have the financial arrangement and subsection (1) or (4) does not.

(4) If:

- (a) this Subdivision applies in relation to your gains and losses from the *financial arrangement; and
- (b) you cease to have the financial arrangement (or a part of the financial arrangement) as consideration (or as part of the consideration) for:
  - (i) something (the thing acquired) that someone else provides, or is to provide, to you; or
  - (ii) something (the thing provided) that you provided, or are to provide, to someone else; and
- (c) the thing acquired or the thing provided is not money;

the amount of the benefit (or that part of the benefit) that you provided for the thing acquired, or obtained for the thing provided, is taken, for the purposes of applying this Act to you, to be the *market value of the financial arrangement (or that part of the financial arrangement) at the time when you cease to have the financial arrangement (or that part of the financial arrangement).

Note 1: This amount may be relevant, for example, for the purposes of applying the provisions of this Act dealing with capital gains, capital allowances or trading stock to the thing acquired or the thing provided.

Note 2: The market value is to be used instead of the nominal value of the financial benefits to be provided under the financial arrangement.

- (5) If subsection (4) applies, you are taken to have provided, or received, as consideration for ceasing to have the *financial arrangement (or the part of the financial arrangement), *financial benefits whose value is equal to the market value of the financial arrangement (or that part of the financial arrangement) at the time when you ceased to have the financial arrangement.
- (6) If, but for this subsection:
- (a) subsection (5) would apply to your ceasing to have a *financial arrangement; and
  - (b) subsection (1) or (4) would also apply to your ceasing to have the financial arrangement;
- subsection (5) applies to your ceasing to have the financial arrangement and subsection (1) or (4) does not.
- (7) Without limiting subsections (1) and (4), the thing provided, or the thing acquired, need not be a tangible thing and may take the form of services, conferring a right, incurring an obligation or extinguishing or varying a right or obligation.

250-285 Treatment of asset after Division ceases to apply to the asset

- (1) For the purposes of Division 40, if:
- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset; and
  - (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends at a particular time; and
  - (c) the asset would have had an *adjustable value at that time, for the purposes of Division 40, if this Division had never applied to the asset;

the adjustable value of the asset, immediately after the end of the arrangement period, is taken to be equal to the amount worked out using the following method statement:

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out whether section 250-150 applies.
- Step 2. If section 250-150 does not apply, the amount is the *end value of the asset at the end of the arrangement period.
- Step 3. If section 250-150 does apply, the amount is worked out by:
- (a) multiplying the *end value of the asset at the end of the *arrangement period by the *disallowed capital percentage; and
  - (b) then multiplying the adjustable value of the asset at the end of the arrangement period (worked out under section 40-85) by 100% minus the disallowed capital percentage); and
  - (c) then adding the amount obtained under paragraph (a) and the amount obtained under paragraph (b).

- (2) If:
- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends; and
- (c) a net amount is included in your assessable income in relation to the *financial benefits that are *subject to the deemed loan treatment (taking into account the adjustments under Subdivision 250-E in relation to the financial benefits that are subject to the deemed loan treatment);

the *cost base, and the *reduced cost base, of the asset are each taken to be reduced at the end of the arrangement period by an amount equal to the difference between:

- (d) the total amounts or values of the financial benefits that were subject to deemed loan treatment; and
- (e) the net amount referred to in paragraph (c).

Note: See subsection (6) in relation to the application of paragraph (d).

(3) If:

- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset; and
- (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends; and
- (c) a net amount is allowed to you as a deduction in relation to the *financial benefits that are *subject to the deemed loan treatment (taking into account the adjustments under Subdivision 250-E in relation to the financial benefits that are subject to the deemed loan treatment);

the *cost base, and the *reduced cost base, of the asset are each taken to be reduced at the end of the arrangement period by an amount equal to the sum of:

- (d) the total amounts or values of the financial benefits that were subject to deemed loan treatment; and
- (e) the net amount referred to in paragraph (c).

Note: See subsection (6) in relation to the application of paragraph (d).

(4) If:

- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset; and deemed loan treatment (taking into account the adjustments under Subdivision 250-E in relation to the financial benefits that are subject to the deemed loan treatment);

then, in determining the profit or loss on the sale of the asset, a deduction equal to the difference between the following is taken to have been allowed for expenditure by you in connection with the asset:

- (d) the total amounts or values of the financial benefits that were subject to deemed loan treatment; and
- (e) the net amount referred to in paragraph (c).

Note: See subsection (6) in relation to the application of paragraph (d).

(5) If:

- (a) this Division applies to you and an asset; and
- (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends; and
- (c) a net amount is allowed to you as a deduction in relation to the *financial benefits that are *subject to the deemed loan treatment (taking into account the adjustments under Subdivision 250-E in relation to the financial benefits that are subject to the deemed loan treatment);

then, in determining the profit or loss on the sale of the asset, a deduction equal to the sum of the following is taken to have been allowed for expenditure by you in connection with the asset:

- (d) the total amounts or values of the financial benefits that were subject to deemed loan treatment; and
- (e) the net amount referred to in paragraph (c).

Note: See subsection (6) in relation to the application of paragraph (d).

(6) In applying paragraphs (2)(d), (3)(d), (4)(d) and (5)(d), disregard subsection 250-160(2) (reasonable estimate of end value treated as financial benefit subject to deemed loan treatment).

- (b) the *arrangement period for the *tax preferred use of the asset ends because a particular event happens; and
  - (c) the event would have been a *balancing adjustment event for the asset for the purposes of Subdivision 40-D if this Division had not applied to you and the asset when the event happened.
- (2) A balancing adjustment is made under Subdivision 40-D as if:
- (a) the event were a *balancing adjustment event for the asset; and
  - (b) the *adjustable value of the asset, just before the event happened, were the adjustable value worked out under subsection 250-285(1); and

Operative provisions

253-5 Payment of entitlement under financial claims scheme treated as payment from ADI

- (1) This Act applies to you as if an amount paid to you, or applied for your benefit, to meet your entitlement under Division 2AA (Financial claims scheme for account-holders with insolvent ADIs) of Part II of the Banking Act 1959 connected with an account with an *ADI had been paid to you by the ADI under the terms and conditions of the agreement for keeping the account.

Note: This section has effect subject to more detailed provisions about:

- (a) entitlements relating to retirement savings accounts (see section 306-25); and
  - (b) entitlements relating to farm management deposits (see Subdivision 393-D in Schedule 2G to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936).
- (2) To avoid doubt, subsection (1) does not affect the operation of Part 2-5 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Note: Division 21 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 contains special provisions about how Part 2-5 in that Schedule operates in relation to the meeting of entitlements under Division 2AA of Part II of the Banking Act 1959.

253-10 Disposal of rights against ADI to APRA and meeting of financial claims scheme entitlement have no CGT effects

Disregard a *capital gain or *capital loss you make:

- (a) because of the operation of section 16AI of the Banking Act 1959; or
- (b) because your entitlement under Subdivision C of Division 2AA of Part II of that Act is met.

Note: Section 16AI of the Banking Act 1959 reduces the right of an account-holder who has a protected account with a declared ADI to be paid an amount by the ADI, by the account-holder's entitlement under Subdivision C of Division 2AA of Part II of that Act to be paid an amount by APRA in connection with the account.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

253-15 Cost base of financial claims scheme entitlement and any remaining part of account that gave rise to entitlement

- (1) This section applies if an entitlement arises under Division 2AA (Financial claims scheme for account-holders with insolvent ADIs) of Part II of the Banking Act 1959 in connection with an account-holder's account with an *ADI.
- (2) The *cost base and *reduced cost base of the *CGT asset consisting of the entitlement are each the amount of the entitlement.
- (3) The *cost base of the *CGT asset representing the part (if any) of the account-holder's right to be paid an amount by the *ADI in connection with the account that remains after the reduction of that right by section 16AI of the Banking Act 1959 (by the amount of the entitlement) is the difference (if any) between:
  - (a) the cost base of the right as it was immediately before the reduction; and
  - (b) the amount of the entitlement.The *reduced cost base is worked out similarly.
- (4) This section has effect despite:
  - (a) Division 110 (Cost base and reduced cost base); and
  - (b) subsections 112-30(2), (3), (4) and (5) (which are about apportioning a *cost base if a *CGT event happens to only part of a *CGT asset).

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

280-5 Overview

- (1) There are 3 phases in the tax treatment of superannuation, as follows:
  - (a) the contributions phase;
  - (b) the investment phase;
  - (c) the benefits phase.
- (2) In the contributions phase, contributions are made to a superannuation plan in respect of a member of the plan.
- (3) In the investment phase, these contributions are invested by the superannuation provider.
- (4) In the benefits phase, these contributions, plus earnings from investing them, are usually paid as benefits to the member when he or she retires after reaching preservation age. In the event of death, the benefits are usually paid to the member's dependants.
- (5) There is also a regulatory scheme outside this Act that is relevant to the taxation treatment of superannuation. For example, other Acts set out prudential and operating standards for superannuation providers.

Contributions phase

280-10 Contributions phase—deductibility

Contributions that can be deducted

- (1) Employers can usually deduct contributions they make in respect of their employees. Individuals can usually deduct contributions they make in respect of themselves if less than 10% of their total assessable income (plus reportable fringe benefits) for the income year is attributable to employment or similar activities.

Other contributions cannot be deducted

- (2) Other contributions cannot be deducted. These include personal contributions made by individuals whose employment income is 10% or more of their total income, and contributions made by others in respect of them (such as contributions by a spouse or family member, or Government co-contributions).

---

280-15 Contributions phase—limits on superannuation tax concessions

- (1) There is a limit to contributions that can be made in respect of an individual in a year that receive favourable tax treatment. This limit takes the form of a tax on excessive contributions, and neutralises the favourable tax treatment arising from the excessive contributions.
- (2) If concessional contributions exceed an indexed cap, the individual concerned is taxed on the excess. This tax liability can be met by releasing money from his or her superannuation interests.
- (3) If non-concessional contributions (including any excess for the purposes of the first cap) exceed a second indexed cap, the individual is taxed on the excess. The second cap is equivalent to three times the first cap. The payment of this tax liability must be accompanied by releasing money equivalent to the liability from his or her superannuation interests.

Investment phase

280-20 Investment phase

- (1) Contributions that can be deducted are assessable income of the superannuation provider. Contributions that cannot be deducted are not assessable income of the superannuation provider. (There are some exceptions.)
- (2) Earnings on the investment of amounts in a superannuation plan are assessable income of the superannuation provider.
- (3) The superannuation provider's taxable income is generally taxed at the concessional rate of 15%.
- (4) However, superannuation providers pay no tax on earnings from the assets that support the payment of benefits in the form of income streams, once the income streams have commenced.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Benefits phase

280-25 Benefits phase—different types of superannuation benefit

Superannuation benefits can be drawn down as lump sums, income streams (such as pensions or annuities), or combinations of both. Different tax treatment may apply depending on whether a lump sum or income stream is paid.

280-30 Benefits phase—taxation varies with age of recipient and type of benefit

- (1) The taxation of superannuation benefits depends primarily on the age of the member.
- (2) If the member is aged 60 or over, superannuation benefits (both lump sums and income streams) are tax free if the benefits have already been subject to tax in the fund (that is, where the benefits comprise a taxed element). This covers the great majority of superannuation members.
- (3) Where a superannuation benefit contains an amount that has not been subject to tax in the fund (an untaxed element), this element is subject to tax for those aged 60 or over, though at concessional rates. This is relevant generally to those people (for example, public servants), who are members of a superannuation fund established by the Australian Government or a state government.
- (4) If the member is less than 60, superannuation benefits may receive concessional taxation treatment, though the treatment is less concessional than for those aged 60 and over.
- (5) Superannuation benefits may also include a “tax free component”; this component of the benefit is always paid tax free.
- (6) Additional tax concessions may apply when superannuation benefits are paid after a member’s death.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

280-35 Benefits phase—roll-overs

A member can “roll over” their superannuation benefits from one complying superannuation plan to another, or between different interests in the same plan. This is usually done to keep the benefits invested in the superannuation system, or to convert a lump sum to a superannuation income stream. No tax is generally payable until the benefits are finally drawn down.

The regulatory scheme outside this Act

280-40 Other relevant legislative schemes

- (1) The Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 and the Retirement Savings Accounts Act 1997 regulate the prudential and operating standards for superannuation providers. Concessional tax treatment is generally available only if providers comply with these standards.
- (2) Other legislative schemes relevant to superannuation include the following:
  - (a) the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992, which requires that employers provide a minimum level of superannuation contributions for each of their eligible employees;
  - (b) the Superannuation (Government Co-contribution for Low Income Earners) Act 2003, which provides for Government co-contributions to low income earners’ superannuation;
  - (c) the Small Superannuation Accounts Act 1995, which provides a facility to accept payments of superannuation guarantee shortfalls;
  - (d) the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999, which provides for the payment of unclaimed superannuation money, and the maintenance of a register of lost members.

Division 285—General concepts relating to superannuation

285-5 Transfers of property

- (1) Any of the following payments covered by this Part can be or include a transfer of property:
  - (a) a contribution;
  - (b) a *superannuation lump sum.
- (2) The amount of the payment is or includes the *market value of the property.
- (3) The *market value is reduced by the value of any consideration given for the transfer of the property.

Note: Other provisions of this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 may reduce, increase or deny the deduction in certain circumstances. For example, see sections 85-25 and 86-75 of this Act.

- (2) However, the conditions in sections 290-70, 290-75 and 290-80 must also be satisfied for you to deduct the contribution.
- (3) You can deduct the contribution only for the income year in which you made the contribution.
- (4) You cannot deduct the contribution if it is an amount paid by you, as mentioned in regulations under the Family Law Act 1975, to a regulated superannuation fund (within the meaning of that Act), or to an *RSA, to be held for the benefit of your *non-member spouse in satisfaction of his or her entitlement in respect of the *superannuation interest concerned.

290-65 Application to employees etc.

Section 290-70

---

Subdivision applies as if the individual were an employee of the entity.

- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision:
- (a) in relation to a contribution by a partnership in respect of an employee of the partnership—treat the employee as an employee of the partnership; and
  - (b) in relation to a contribution by a partner in a partnership in respect of an employee of the partnership—treat the employee as an employee of the partner.

Conditions for deducting an employer contribution

290-70 Employment activity conditions

To deduct the contribution, the employee must be:

- (aa) your employee (within the expanded meaning of employee given by section 12 of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992); or
- (a) engaged in producing your assessable income; or
- (b) an Australian resident who is engaged in your business.

290-75 Complying fund conditions

- (1) If the contribution was made to a *superannuation fund, at least one of these conditions must be satisfied:
- (a) the fund was a *complying superannuation fund for the income year of the fund in which you made the contribution;
  - (b) at the time you made the contribution, you had reasonable grounds to believe that the fund was a complying superannuation fund for that income year;
  - (c) at or before the time you made the contribution, you obtained a written statement (given by or on behalf of the trustee of the fund) that the fund:
    - (i) was a resident regulated superannuation fund (within the meaning of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993); and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (ii) was not subject to a direction under section 63 of that Act (which prevents a fund from accepting employer contributions).
- (2) However, the condition in paragraph (1)(b) or (c) cannot be satisfied if, when the contribution was made:
- (a) you were:
    - (i) the trustee or the manager of the fund; or
    - (ii) an *associate of the trustee or the manager of the fund; and
  - (b) you had reasonable grounds to believe that:
    - (i) the fund was not a resident regulated superannuation fund (within the meaning of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993); or
    - (ii) the fund was operating in contravention of a regulatory provision (within the meaning of section 38A of that Act).
- (3) For the purposes of subparagraph (2)(b)(ii), a contravention of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 or regulations made under it is to be ignored unless the contravention is:
- (a) an offence; or
  - (b) a contravention of a civil penalty provision of that Act or those regulations.
- (4) For the purposes of subparagraph (2)(b)(ii), it is sufficient if a contravention is established on the balance of probabilities.

290-80 Age related conditions

- (1) To deduct the contribution, either:
- (a) you must have made the contribution on or before the day that is 28 days after the end of the month in which the employee turns 75; or
  - (b) you must have been required to make the contribution by an industrial award, determination or notional agreement preserving State awards (within the meaning of the Fair Work (Transitional Provisions and Consequential Amendments) Act 2009) that is in force under an *Australian law.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (2) If only paragraph (1)(b) applies, you can deduct only the amount of the contribution that is required by the industrial award, determination or notional agreement preserving State awards.

Note: An industrial agreement, such as an enterprise agreement within the meaning of the Fair Work Act 2009, or a similar agreement made under a State law, is not an award or determination.

- (3) For the purposes of this section, a reference to a determination does not include a reference to a workplace determination made under the Fair Work Act 2009 or the Workplace Relations Act 1996.

Other employment-connected deductions

290-85 Contributions for former employees etc.

- (1) Section 290-60 applies as modified by this section if a contribution you make in respect of another person:
- (a) reduces your charge percentage under sections 22 or 23 of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 in respect of the other person because of section 15B of that Act; or
  - (b) is a one-off payment in lieu of salary or wages that relate to a period of service during which the other person was your employee; or
  - (c) is a payment in lieu of salary or wages that relate to a period of service during which the other person was your employee, and is made within 2 months after the person stopped being your employee.
- (1A) Section 290-60 also applies as modified by this section if:
- (a) you make a contribution in respect of another person at a time; and
  - (b) the other person had been employed by a company or other entity before that time; and
  - (c) section 290-90 would apply in relation to the contribution if the other person were employed by the company or entity at that time; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) the contribution:
  - (i) reduces the company's or entity's charge percentage under section 22 or 23 of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 in respect of the other person because of section 15B of that Act; or
  - (ii) is a one-off payment in lieu of salary or wages that relate to a period of service during which the other person was the company's or entity's employee; or
  - (iii) is a payment in lieu of salary or wages that relate to a period of service during which the other person was the company's or entity's employee, and is made within 2 months after the person stopped being the company's or entity's employee.
- (2) Treat the other person as your employee for the purposes of subsection 290-60(1).
- (3) Despite subsection 290-60(2):
  - (a) if subsection (1) applies—the condition in section 290-70 must be satisfied at the most recent time when the other person was your employee (apart from subsection (2) of this section); or
  - (b) if subsection (1A) applies:
    - (i) the condition in section 290-70 need not be satisfied; and
    - (ii) instead, the condition in subsection 290-90(4) must be satisfied at the most recent time when the other person was the company's or entity's employee.

290-90 Controlling interest deductions

- (1) Section 290-60 applies as modified by this section if you make a contribution in respect of another person at a time, and at that time:
  - (a) the other person is an employee of a company in which you have a controlling interest; or
  - (b) you are connected to the other person in the circumstances set out in subsection (5); or
  - (c) you are a company connected to the other person in the circumstances described in subsection (6).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 290-90

---

- (2) Treat the other person as your employee at that time for the purposes of subsection 290-60(1).

Note 1: A deduction may be denied by section 85-25 if the employee is your associate.

Note 2: Section 86-60 (read together with section 86-75) limits the extent to which superannuation contributions by personal service entities are deductions.

- (3) Despite subsection 290-60(2), for you to deduct the contribution the condition in subsection (4) needs to be satisfied instead of the condition in section 290-70.

- (4) The other person must be:

- (aa) an employee (within the expanded meaning of employee given by section 12 of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992) of the other person's employer; or
- (a) engaged in producing the assessable income of the other person's employer; or
- (b) an Australian resident engaged in the business of the other person's employer.

- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(b), the circumstances are:

- (a) you are the beneficial owner of shares in a company of which the other person is an employee, but you do not have a controlling interest in the company; and
- (b) you are at *arm's length with the other person in relation to the contribution; and
- (c) neither the other person, nor a *relative of the other person:
  - (i) has set apart an amount as a fund, or has made a contribution to a fund, for the purpose of providing *superannuation benefits for you or a relative of yours; or
  - (ii) has made an *arrangement under which the other person or relative will or may do so.

Company controlling interest deductions

- (6) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c), the circumstances are:

- (a) the other person is an employee of an entity that has a controlling interest in the company; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) an entity that has a controlling interest in the company also has a controlling interest in a company of which the other person is an employee.

290-95 Amounts offset against superannuation guarantee charge

You cannot deduct a contribution under this Act if you elect under subsection 23A(1) of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 that the contribution be offset against your liability to pay superannuation guarantee charge.

Note: You cannot deduct a charge imposed by the Superannuation Guarantee Charge Act 1992: see section 26-95.

Returned contributions

290-100 Returned contributions assessable

- (1) Your assessable income includes a payment, or the value of a benefit, you receive in the income year so far as it reasonably represents the direct or indirect return of:
- (a) a contribution for which you or another entity have deducted or can deduct an amount for any income year; or
  - (b) earnings on a contribution of that kind.

Note: An example of an indirect return of a contribution is if the fund to which it was made transfers to another fund assets that include the contribution, and the other fund returns the contribution to the person who made it.

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply if you receive the payment, or the value of the benefit, as a *superannuation benefit.

- (2) In any other case, you must have made the contribution on or before the day that is 28 days after the end of the month in which you turn 75.

290-170 Notice of intent to deduct conditions

Deductibility of contributions

- (1) To deduct the contribution, or a part of the contribution:
- (a) you must give to the trustee of the fund or the *RSA provider a valid notice, in the *approved form, of your intention to claim the deduction; and
  - (b) the notice must be given before:
    - (i) if you have lodged your *income tax return for the income year in which the contribution was made on a day before the end of the next income year—the end of that day; or
    - (ii) otherwise—the end of the next income year; and
  - (c) the trustee or provider must have given you an acknowledgment of receipt of the notice.

Validity of notices

- (2) The notice is not valid if at least one of these conditions is satisfied:
- (a) the notice is not in respect of the contribution;
  - (b) the notice includes all or a part of an amount covered by a previous notice;
  - (c) when you gave the notice:
    - (i) you were not a member of the fund or the holder of the *RSA; or
    - (ii) the trustee or *RSA provider no longer holds the contribution; or
    - (iii) the trustee or RSA provider has begun to pay a *superannuation income stream based in whole or part on the contribution;
  - (d) before you gave the notice:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (i) you had made a contributions-splitting application (within the meaning given by the regulations) in relation to the contribution; and
- (ii) the trustee or RSA provider had not rejected the application.

Acknowledgment of notice

- (3) The trustee or provider must, without delay, give you an acknowledgment of a valid notice, subject to subsection (4).
- (4) The trustee or provider may refuse to give you an acknowledgment of receipt of a valid notice if the *value of the *superannuation interest into which the contribution is made, at the end of the day on which the trustee or *RSA provider received the notice, is less than the tax that would be payable in respect of your contribution (or part of the contribution) if the trustee or provider were to acknowledge receipt of the notice.

290-175 Deduction limited by amount specified in notice

You cannot deduct more for the contribution (or a part of the contribution) than the amount stated in the notice.

290-180 Notice may be varied but not revoked or withdrawn

- (1) You cannot revoke or withdraw a valid notice in relation to the contribution (or a part of the contribution).
- (2) You can vary a valid notice, but only so as to reduce the amount stated in relation to the contribution (including to nil). You do so by giving notice to the trustee or the *RSA provider in the *approved form.
- (3) However, you cannot vary a valid notice after:
  - (a) if you have lodged your *income tax return for the income year in which the contribution was made on a day before the end of the next income year—the end of that day; or
  - (b) otherwise—the end of the next income year.
- (3A) The variation is not effective if, when you make it:

- (a) you were not a member of the fund or the holder of the *RSA; or
  - (b) the trustee or *RSA provider no longer holds the contribution; or
  - (c) the trustee or RSA provider has begun to pay a *superannuation income stream based in whole or part on the contribution.
- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply to a variation if:
- (a) you claimed a deduction for the contribution (or a part of the contribution); and
  - (b) the deduction is not allowable (in whole or in part); and
  - (c) the variation reduces the amount stated in relation to the contribution by the amount not allowable as a deduction.

Note: The amount of the tax is set out in that Act.

292-85 Your excess non-concessional contributions for a financial year

- (1) You have excess non-concessional contributions for a *financial year if the amount of your *non-concessional contributions for the year exceeds your *non-concessional contributions cap for the year. The amount of the excess non-concessional contributions is the amount of the excess.

  - (c) a previous operation of subsection (4) does not determine your non-concessional contributions cap for the first year.
- (4) Work out your non-concessional contributions cap for the first year and for the following 2 *financial years (the second year and third year) as follows:
- (a) your cap for the first year is 3 times the amount mentioned in subsection (2) for the first year;
  - (b) your cap for the second year is:
    - (i) if your *non-concessional contributions for the first year fall short of your cap for the first year (worked out under paragraph (a))—the shortfall; or
    - (ii) otherwise—nil;
  - (c) your cap for the third year is:
    - (i) if your *non-concessional contributions for the second year fall short of your cap for the second year (worked out under paragraph (b))—the shortfall; or
    - (ii) otherwise—nil.

292-90 Your non-concessional contributions for a financial year

  - (b) the entity makes a payment to you within 2 years after the CGT event; and
  - (c) the contribution is equal to all or part of your stakeholder's participation percentage (within the meaning of subsection 152-125(2)) of the *capital proceeds from the CGT event (but not exceeding the amount of the payment mentioned in paragraph (b)); and

Reductions and increases

- (2) If a contribution covered by section 292-100 is made in respect of you at a time, reduce your CGT cap amount just after that time:
- (a) if the contribution falls short of your *CGT cap amount at that time—by the amount of the contribution; or
  - (b) otherwise—to nil.
- (3) At the start of each *financial year after the 2007-2008 financial year, increase your CGT cap amount by the amount (if any) by which the index amount for that financial year exceeds the index amount for the previous financial year.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), the index amount for the 2007-2008 *financial year is $1,000,000. The index amount is then indexed annually.

Operative provisions

292-305 Amendments within 4 years of the original assessment

- (1) The Commissioner may amend an *excess contributions tax assessment for a person for a *financial year at any time during the period of 4 years after the *original excess contributions tax assessment day for the person for that year.
- (2) The original excess contributions tax assessment day for a person for a *financial year is the day on which the Commissioner gives the first *excess contributions tax assessment to the person for the financial year.

292-310 Amended assessments are treated as excess contributions tax assessments

- (1) Once an amended *excess contributions tax assessment for a person for a *financial year is made, it is taken to be an excess contributions tax assessment for the person for the year.
- (2) If the Commissioner amends a person's *excess contributions tax assessment, the Commissioner must give the person notice in writing of the amendment as soon as practicable after making the amendment.
- (3) The notice may be included in a notice of any other assessment under this Act.

292-315 Later amendments—on request

The Commissioner may amend an *excess contributions tax assessment for a person for a *financial year after the end of the period of 4 years after the *original excess contributions tax assessment day for the person for the year if, within that 4 year period:

- (a) the person applies for the amendment in the *approved form; and
- (b) the person gives the Commissioner all the information necessary for making the amendment.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

292-320 Later amendments—fraud or evasion

- (1) If:
- (a) a person (or a *superannuation provider covered under subsection (2)) does not make a full and true disclosure to the Commissioner of the information necessary for an *excess contributions tax assessment for the person for a *financial year; and
  - (b) in making the assessment, the Commissioner makes an under-assessment; and
  - (c) the Commissioner is of the opinion that the under-assessment is due to fraud or evasion;
- the Commissioner may amend the assessment at any time.
- (2) A *superannuation provider is covered under this subsection if any of the following conditions are satisfied:
- (a) contributions have been made to a *superannuation plan of the provider on behalf of the person in the *financial year;
  - (b) an amount is included in the person's *concessional contributions for the financial year under subsection 292-25(3) because the superannuation provider allocated it to the person;
  - (c) *notional taxed contributions are included in the person's concessional contributions for the financial year under section 292-165 because of the person's *defined benefit interest in a superannuation plan of the provider.

292-325 Further amendment of an amended particular

- If:
- (a) an *excess contributions tax assessment has been amended (the earlier amendment) in any particular; and
  - (b) the Commissioner is of the opinion that it would be just to further amend the assessment in that particular;
- the Commissioner may do so within a period of 4 years after the earlier amendment.

---

---

292-330 Amendment on review etc.

Nothing in this Subdivision prevents the amendment of an *excess contributions tax assessment:

- (a) to give effect to a decision on a review or appeal; or
- (b) as a result of an objection or pending an appeal or review.

Note: A person may make a complaint to the Superannuation Complaints Tribunal under section 15CA of the Superannuation (Resolution of Complaints) Act 1993 if the person is dissatisfied with a statement given to the Commissioner by a superannuation provider under section 390-5 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

295-10 How to work out the tax payable by superannuation entities

- (1) Use this method for *superannuation funds, *approved deposit funds and *pooled superannuation trusts:

Method statement

- Step 1. For a *superannuation fund, work out the *no-TFN contributions income. Apply the applicable rates as set out in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 to that income.
- Step 2. Work out the entity's assessable income and deductions taking account of the special rules in this Division. The special rules modify some provisions of this Act. They also include amounts in assessable income, allow deductions and exempt amounts from income tax.
- Step 3. Work out the entity's taxable income as if its trustee:
- (a) were an Australian resident (except where paragraph (b) applies); or
  - (b) for a *non-complying superannuation fund that is a *foreign superannuation fund for the income year—were not an Australian resident.
- Step 4. Work out the *low tax component and *non-arm's length component of the taxable income of a *complying superannuation fund, *complying approved deposit fund or *pooled superannuation trust.

(2) Use this method for *RSA providers:

Method statement

- Step 1. Work out the entity's *no-TFN contributions income. Apply the applicable rates as set out in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 to that income.
- Step 2. Work out the entity's assessable income and deductions taking account of the special rules in this Division.
- Step 3. Work out the *RSA component and *standard component of the entity's taxable income.
- Step 4. If the entity is also an *FHSA provider, work out the *FHSA component of the entity's taxable income.
- Step 5. Apply the applicable rates as set out in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986 to the components. The *RSA component and the *FHSA component are taxed at a concessional rate.
- Step 6. Subtract the entity's *tax offsets from the sum of the entity's step 1 and step 5 amounts.

295-15 Division does not impose a tax on property of a State

This Division does not impose a tax on property of any kind belonging to a State (within the meaning of section 114 of the Constitution).

295-20 Exempting laws ineffective

A *Commonwealth law (other than this Act) does not have the effect of exempting the trustee of an entity to which this Division applies from the liability to pay tax unless it does so expressly.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 295-25

295-25 Assessments on basis of anticipated SIS Act notice

- (1) The Commissioner may make an assessment for a fund or trust that is not a *complying superannuation fund, *complying approved deposit fund or *pooled superannuation trust for the income year as if it were such an entity if the Commissioner considers it likely that a notice will be given under section 40 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 having the effect that it will become such an entity.
- (2) However, the grounds for making an assessment under subsection (1) are taken never to have existed if:
  - (a) the Commissioner becomes satisfied that the notice will not be given; or
  - (b) *APRA does not receive the documents referred to in subsection 36(1) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 about the fund or trust before the end of 12 months after the assessment is made.

295-30 Effect of revocation etc. of SIS Act notices

This Division has effect as if a notice given under section 342 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (about pre-1 July 88 funding credits) or under regulations made for the purposes of that section had never been given if:

- (a) the notice is revoked; or
- (b) the decision to give the notice is set aside.

295-90 CGT rules for pre-30 June 1988 assets

- (1) This section applies to the trustee of:
- (a) a *complying superannuation fund; or
  - (b) a *complying approved deposit fund; or
  - (c) a *pooled superannuation trust.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (2) Parts 3-1 and 3-3 (about capital gains and losses) apply to a *CGT asset that:
- (a) the trustee or a former trustee owned at the end of 30 June 1988; and
  - (b) the trustee owned at the commencement of this section; as if the trustee had *acquired the asset on 30 June 1988.

- (3) Subsection (2) does not affect how to work out the asset's *cost base or *reduced cost base.

Note: See Subdivision 295-B of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 for rules about cost base.

- (4) Subsection 104-30(5) applies to an option granted by the trustee as if the reference in that subsection to 20 September 1985 were a reference to 1 July 1988.

295-95 Deductions related to contributions

- (1) Provisions of this Act about deducting amounts apply to these entities as if all contributions made to them were included in their assessable income:
- (a) *complying superannuation funds;
  - (b) *non-complying superannuation funds that are *Australian superannuation funds;
  - (c) *complying approved deposit funds;
  - (d) *non-complying approved deposit funds;
  - (e) *RSA providers.

Note 1: This means that the entities can deduct amounts incurred in obtaining the contributions.

Note 2: Examples of contributions that are not assessable are:

- contributions which the contributor cannot deduct;
- contributions excluded from assessable income under Subdivision 295-D.

- (2) A *superannuation fund is an Australian superannuation fund at a time, and for the income year in which that time occurs, if:
- (a) the fund was established in Australia, or any asset of the fund is situated in Australia at that time; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 295-100

---

- (b) at that time, the central management and control of the fund is ordinarily in Australia; and
  - (c) at that time either the fund had no member covered by subsection (3) (an active member) or at least 50% of:
    - (i) the total *market value of the fund's assets attributable to *superannuation interests held by active members; or
    - (ii) the sum of the amounts that would be payable to or in respect of active members if they voluntarily ceased to be members; is attributable to superannuation interests held by active members who are Australian residents.
- (3) A member is covered by this subsection at a time if the member is:
- (a) a contributor to the fund at that time; or
  - (b) an individual on whose behalf contributions have been made, other than an individual:
    - (i) who is a foreign resident; and
    - (ii) who is not a contributor at that time; and
    - (iii) for whom contributions made to the fund on the individual's behalf after the individual became a foreign resident are only payments in respect of a time when the individual was an Australian resident.
- (4) To avoid doubt, the central management and control of a *superannuation fund is ordinarily in Australia at a time even if that central management and control is temporarily outside Australia for a period of not more than 2 years.

295-100 Deductions for investing in PSTs and life policies

- (1) Provisions of this Act about deducting amounts apply to *complying superannuation funds and *complying approved deposit funds as if *ordinary income and *statutory income received from these investments were included in their assessable income:
- (a) units in a *pooled superannuation trust;
  - (b) *life insurance policies issued by a *life insurance company;
  - (c) an interest in a trust whose assets consist only of life insurance policies issued by a life insurance company.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Note: Income from these investments is not assessable: see for example sections 295-105 and 118-350.

- (2) A *complying superannuation fund cannot deduct an amount (otherwise than under section 295-465) for fees or charges incurred for:
- (a) *complying superannuation/FHSA life insurance policies; or
  - (b) *exempt life insurance policies; or
  - (c) units in a *pooled superannuation trust that are *segregated current pension assets of the fund.

295-105 Distributions to PST unitholders

The assessable income of a *complying superannuation fund, *complying approved deposit fund or *pooled superannuation trust does not include amounts *derived by the entity because it holds units in a *pooled superannuation trust.

Note: These entities will not be subject to any tax liability when they dispose of the units: see subsection 295-85(2) and section 118-350.

295-165 Exception—spouse contributions

- (1) Item 1 of the table in section 295-160 does not include in assessable income a contribution made by an individual to a *complying superannuation fund or an *RSA:
- (a) to provide *superannuation benefits for the individual's *spouse (regardless whether the benefits are payable to the individual's spouse's *SIS dependants if the individual's spouse dies before or after becoming entitled to receive the benefits); and

Section 295-170

- (2) Paragraph (1)(a) does not apply to *superannuation benefits for a *spouse living permanently separately and apart from the individual.

295-170 Exception—Government co-contributions and contributions for a child

- (1) Item 1 of the table in section 295-160 does not include in assessable income a contribution:
- (a) that is a Government co-contribution made under the Superannuation (Government Co-contribution for Low Income Earners) Act 2003; or
  - (b) for the benefit of a person under 18 that is not made by or on behalf of the person's employer.
- (2) Item 4 of the table in section 295-160 does not include in assessable income a payment to the extent to which it represents a Government co-contribution or co-contributions made under the Superannuation (Government Co-contribution for Low Income Earners) Act 2003.

- (b) a *Government FHSA contribution.

295-173 Exception—trustee contributions

Item 1 of the table in section 295-160 does not include in assessable income a contribution made by an entity that, when the contribution was made, was:

295-175 Exception—payments by a member spouse

Contributions are not included in assessable income under section 295-160 if they are an amount paid by a member spouse, as mentioned in regulations under the Family Law Act 1975, to a regulated superannuation fund (within the meaning of that Act), or to an *RSA provider, to be held for the benefit of the *non-member spouse in satisfaction of the non-member spouse's entitlement in respect of the *superannuation interest concerned.

295-180 Exception—choice to exclude certain contributions

- (1) Item 1 of the table in section 295-160 does not include an amount in the assessable income of a *public sector superannuation scheme for an income year to the extent that the trustee chooses that it not be included.
- (2) The entity that made the contributions must consent to the choice.
Note: Making this choice effectively shifts the liability for tax on the contributions to the recipient of the benefit. The benefit is treated as an element untaxed in the fund: see Subdivision 301-C.
- (3) However, the choice cannot be made for an income year for an amount that exceeds the sum of amounts covered by notices given by the trustee under section 307-285 for *superannuation benefits paid in the income year.
- (4) A choice under this section cannot be revoked or withdrawn.

Personal contributions and roll-over amounts

295-190 Personal contributions and roll-over amounts

- (1) The assessable income of an entity includes amounts as set out in this table.

Note: For an explanation of the acronyms used, see section 295-35.

Personal contributions and roll-over amounts included in assessable income
Item	Assessable income of this entity:	Includes:
1	CSF *RSA provider	A contribution covered by a valid and acknowledged notice under section 290-170
2	CSF CADF N-CADF *RSA provider	A *roll-over superannuation benefit that an individual is taken to receive under section 307-15 to the extent that: (a) it consists of an *element untaxed in the fund; and (b) is not an *excess untaxed roll-over amount for that individual
3	CSF CADF *RSA provider	The *taxable component of a directed termination payment (within the meaning of section 82-10F of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 )

- (1A) Item 2 of the table in subsection (1) does not apply to a *roll-over superannuation benefit that is a *departing Australia superannuation payment made under section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.
- (2) A contribution referred to in item 1 is included in the income year in which it is received if the notice is received by the *superannuation provider by the day the provider lodges its *income tax return for that income year.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (3) Otherwise it is included in the income year in which the notice is received.
- (4) A payment referred to in item 2 or 3 is included in the income year in which it is received by the *superannuation provider.

295-195 Exclusion of personal contributions

Variation notice received before return lodged

- (1) A contribution is not included in the assessable income of a *complying superannuation fund or *RSA provider to the extent that it has been reduced by a notice under section 290-180 if the notice is received by the *superannuation provider before it has lodged its *income tax return for the income year in which the contribution was made.

Variation notice received after return lodged

- (2) A contribution is not included in the assessable income of a *complying superannuation fund or *RSA provider for the income year in which the contribution was made to the extent that it has been reduced by a notice under section 290-180 if:
  - (a) the notice is received by the *superannuation provider after it has lodged its *income tax return for the income year; and
  - (b) the provider exercises the option mentioned in subsection (3).
- (3) An amount referred to in subsection (2) may, at the option of the provider, be excluded from the assessable income of the fund or *RSA provider for the income year referred to in subsection (2) if excluding it would result in a greater reduction in tax for that year than the reduction that would occur for the income year in which the notice is received if a deduction were allowed under item 2 of the table in subsection 295-490(1).

Note: The exclusion is an alternative to the fund deducting the amount under item 2 of the table in subsection 295-490(1).

Transfers from foreign funds

295-200 Transfers from foreign superannuation funds

- (1) The assessable income of a fund that is an *Australian superannuation fund for the income year includes an amount transferred to the fund from a fund that was a *foreign superannuation fund for the income year in relation to a member of the foreign fund to the extent that the amount transferred exceeds amounts vested in the member at the time of the transfer.
- (2) The assessable income of a fund that is a *complying superannuation fund for the income year includes so much of an amount transferred to the fund from a fund that was a *foreign superannuation fund for the income year as is specified in a choice made by a former member of the foreign fund under section 305-80.
- (3) The amount is included in the income year in which the transfer happens.
- (4) This section also applies to an amount transferred from a scheme for the payment of benefits in the nature of superannuation upon retirement or death that:
  - (a) is not, and never has been, an *Australian superannuation fund or a *foreign superannuation fund; and
  - (b) was not established in Australia; and
  - (c) is not centrally managed or controlled in Australia.

Application of tables to RSA providers

295-205 Application of tables to RSA providers

The tables in this Subdivision apply to *RSA providers only to the extent that amounts are paid to *RSAs they provide.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Former constitutionally protected funds

295-210 Former constitutionally protected funds

- (1) This section applies to a *complying superannuation fund for an income year if the fund ceased to be a *constitutionally protected fund during the year or at the end of the previous year.
- (2) The assessable income of the fund for the income year includes the sum of the *roll-over superannuation benefits to the extent that they consist of the *element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component that would be included in that assessable income if all contributions and earnings accumulated in the fund when the fund ceased to be a *constitutionally protected fund:
  - (a) had been paid out of the fund immediately before it ceased to be a constitutionally protected fund; and
  - (b) were paid to the fund as roll-over superannuation benefits immediately after that time.

Subdivision 295-D—Contributions excluded

Table of sections

295-260	Transfer of liability to investment vehicle
295-265	Application of pre-1 July 88 funding credits
295-270	Anticipated funding credits

295-260 Transfer of liability to investment vehicle

- (1) The *superannuation provider in relation to a *complying superannuation fund or a *complying approved deposit fund (the transferor) may reduce the amount that would otherwise be included in the fund's assessable income for an income year under Subdivision 295-C by agreement with another entity (the transferee) in which it holds investments.

What the transferee must be

- (2) The transferee must be a *life insurance company or a *pooled superannuation trust.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 295-260

---

Note: Amounts transferred are included in the transferee's assessable income: see section 295-320 (for PSTs) and paragraph 320-15(1)(i) (for life insurance companies).

Agreement requirements

- (3) The transferor may make one agreement only for an income year with a particular transferee.
- (4) An agreement:
  - (a) must be in writing, and must be signed by or for the transferor and transferee; and
  - (b) must be made by the day the transferor lodges its *income tax return for its income year to which the agreement relates; and
  - (c) cannot be revoked.

Limits on transfer

- (5) The total amount covered by the agreements cannot exceed the amount that would otherwise be included in the transferor's assessable income under Subdivision 295-C for that income year.
- (6) The amount covered by an agreement with a particular transferee cannot exceed this amount:

$$\frac{\text{Greatest equity value}}{\text{Transferor's low tax component tax rate}}$$

where:

greatest equity value is the greatest of these amounts during the transferor's income year:

- (a) if the transferee is a *pooled superannuation trust—the *market value of the transferor's investment in units in the trust;
- (b) if not—the market value of the transferor's investment in:
  - (i) *life insurance policies issued by the transferee; or
  - (ii) a trust whose assets consist only of life insurance policies issued by the transferee.

---

transferor's low tax component tax rate is the rate of tax imposed on the *low tax component of the fund's taxable income for the income year.

295-265 Application of pre-1 July 88 funding credits

Choice to reduce contributions included in assessable income

- (1) The *superannuation provider in relation to a *complying superannuation fund can choose to reduce the amount of contributions that would otherwise be included in the fund's assessable income for an income year under item 1 of the table in section 295-160 if it has pre-1 July 88 funding credits available for the income year.

When funding credits are available

- (2) Use this method to work out whether a fund has pre-1 July 88 funding credits available for an income year:

Method statement

Step 1. Identify the amount of pre-1 July 88 funding credits unused at the end of the previous income year.

Step 2. Index that amount.

Note: Subdivision 960-M shows you how to index amounts.

Step 3. Add any pre-1 July 88 funding credits transferred to the fund in the income year under regulations made for the purposes of subsection 342(7) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993.

Step 4. Deduct from the step 3 amount:

- (a) pre-1 July 88 funding credits transferred from the fund in the income year under regulations made for the purposes of subsection 342(7) of that Act; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (b) amounts specified in a notice given to the *superannuation provider in relation to the fund under subsection 342(6) of that Act for the income year.

Step 5. The result is the pre-1 July 88 funding credits available to the fund for the income year.

That amount, reduced by any amount specified in a choice made under subsection (1) for the income year, is the amount of pre-1 July 88 funding credits unused at the end of the income year.

Note 1: Regulations under subsection 342(7) of the SIS Act allow APRA to approve transfers of pre-1 July 88 funding credits between funds.

Note 2: Subsection 342(6) of that Act covers the situation where the fund's rules are changed to produce a reduction in pre-1 July 88 funding credits and the trustee notifies APRA of the change.

- (3) If a notice is given to the *superannuation provider in relation to the fund under subsection 342(2) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 granting the trustee a pre-1 July 88 funding credit, this section applies as if the pre-1 July 88 funding credit had arisen at the beginning of the income year in which 1 July 1988 occurred.
- (4) However, if a notice is given to the *superannuation provider in relation to the fund under subsection 342(4) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 for the income year, the fund has no pre-1 July 88 funding credits.

Note: Subsection 342(4) of that Act covers the situation where the fund's rules are changed to produce a reduction in pre-1 July 88 funding credits and the provider fails to notify APRA of the change.

Limit on choice

- (5) The total amount covered by the choice cannot exceed the pre-1 July 88 funding credits available to the fund for the income year.
- (6) The total amount covered by the choice also cannot exceed the amount of contributions that would otherwise be included in the fund's assessable income for the income year under item 1 of the table in section 295-160 that are used to fund liabilities that accrued before 1 July 1988.

- (7) The regulations may prescribe either or both of the following:
  - (a) the manner in which the *superannuation provider in relation to a *superannuation fund is to work out the amount applicable to the fund under subsection (6) for an income year;
  - (b) methods (other than the method specified in subsection (6)) of working out how the provider of a superannuation fund can apply pre-1 July 88 funding credits.
- (8) Methods prescribed under paragraph (7)(b) may be applicable to particular *superannuation funds or to a class or classes of superannuation funds.

295-270 Anticipated funding credits

- (1) Subsection (2) has effect if the *superannuation provider in relation to a *complying superannuation fund expects a notice to be given under subsection 342(2) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 or under regulations made for the purposes of subsection 342(7) of that Act to the effect that pre-1 July 88 funding credits of a particular amount will be available to the fund for the income year.
- (2) Section 295-265 applies to the fund as if pre-1 July 88 funding credits of the anticipated amount were available to the fund for the income year (in addition to any other pre-1 July 88 funding credits available to the fund for the year).
- (3) However, section 295-265 applies to the fund for the income year as if pre-1 July 88 funding credits of the anticipated amount were not available to the fund for the income year if:
  - (a) it becomes clear that the expected notice will not be given or that the specified amount of pre-1 July 88 funding credits will not be available; or
  - (b) *APRA does not receive the things referred to in subsection 342(3) of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act

- (ii) the time the things are required to be given by the regulations.

Subdivision 295-F—Exempt income

Table of sections

295-385	Income from assets set aside to meet current pension liabilities
295-390	Income from other assets used to meet current pension liabilities
295-395	Meaning of segregated non-current assets
295-400	Income of a PST attributable to current pension liabilities
295-405	Other exempt income
295-410	Amount credited to RSA

295-385 Income from assets set aside to meet current pension liabilities

- (1) The *ordinary income and *statutory income of a *complying superannuation fund for an income year is exempt from income tax to the extent that:
- (a) it would otherwise be assessable income; and
  - (b) it is from *segregated current pension assets.

Exception

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to:
- (a) *non-arm's length income; or
  - (b) amounts included in assessable income under Subdivision 295-C.

Meaning of segregated current pension assets

- (3) Assets of a *complying superannuation fund are segregated current pension assets at a time if:
- (a) the assets are invested, held in reserve or otherwise dealt with at that time solely to enable the fund to discharge all or part of its liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits that are payable by the fund at that time; and
  - (b) the trustee of the fund obtains an *actuary's certificate before the date for lodgment of the fund's *income tax return for the income year to the effect that the assets and the earnings that the actuary expects will be made from them would provide

---

Section 295-390

---

the amount required to discharge in full those liabilities, or that part of those liabilities, as they fall due.

- (4) Assets of a *complying superannuation fund are also segregated current pension assets of the fund at a time if the assets are invested, held in reserve or otherwise being dealt with at that time for the sole purpose of enabling the fund to discharge all or part of its liabilities (contingent or not), as they become due, in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits:
  - (a) that are payable by the fund at that time; and
  - (b) prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this section.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not apply unless, at all times during the income year, the liabilities of the fund (contingent or not) to pay *superannuation income stream benefits payable by the fund were liabilities in respect of superannuation income stream benefits that are prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this section.
- (6) However, assets of a *complying superannuation fund that are supporting a *superannuation income stream benefit that is prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this section are not segregated current pension assets to the extent that the *market value of the assets exceeds the account balance supporting the benefit.

295-390 Income from other assets used to meet current pension liabilities

- (1) A proportion of the *ordinary income and *statutory income of a *complying superannuation fund that would otherwise be assessable income is exempt from income tax under this section. The proportion is worked out under subsection (3).

Exception

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to:
  - (a) *non-arm's length income; or
  - (b) amounts included in assessable income under Subdivision 295-C; or
  - (c) income *derived from *segregated non-current assets; or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (d) income that is exempt from income tax under section 295-385.

Formula

- (3) The proportion is:

$$\frac{\text{Average value of current pension liabilities}}{\text{Average value of superannuation liabilities}}$$

where:

average value of current pension liabilities is the average value for the income year of the fund's current liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits that are payable by the fund in that year. This does not include liabilities for which *segregated current pension assets are held.

average value of superannuation liabilities is the average value for the income year of the fund's current and future liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation benefits in respect of which contributions have, or were liable to have, been made. This does not include liabilities for which *segregated current pension assets or *segregated non-current assets are held.

Actuary's certificate

- (4) The value of particular liabilities of the fund at a particular time is the amount of the fund's assets, together with future contributions in respect of the benefits concerned and expected earnings on the assets and contributions after that time, that would provide the amount required to discharge those liabilities as they fall due. This must be specified in an *actuary's certificate obtained by the trustee of the fund before the date for lodgment of the fund's *income tax return for the income year.
- (5) The expected earnings are worked out at the rate the actuary expects will be the rate of the fund's earnings on its assets (except *segregated current pension assets or *segregated non-current assets).

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 295-395

---

Superannuation liabilities where no current certificate

- (6) The superannuation liabilities do not have to be valued by an actuary for the income year if the fund has no *segregated current pension assets or *segregated non-current assets for the income year. Instead, the value can be worked out using this formula:

$$\frac{\text{Last value of superannuation liabilities}}{\text{Last value of assets}} \times \text{Current value of assets}$$

where:

current value of assets is the value of all of the fund's assets at a time in the income year, as specified in an *actuary's certificate obtained by the trustee of the fund before the date for lodgment of the fund's *income tax return for the income year.

last value of assets is the most recent value of all of the fund's assets specified in an *actuary's certificate.

last value of superannuation liabilities is the value, at the time of that most recent valuation, of the fund's superannuation liabilities specified in an *actuary's certificate.

Note: This allows a fund to avoid the expense of an actuarial valuation of its superannuation liabilities, except in those years that a valuation is required by the SIS Act in order for the fund to continue to be complying.

- (7) Subsections (4), (5) and (6) do not apply in working out the amounts to be used in the formula in subsection (3) if, at all times during the income year, the liabilities of the fund in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits payable at those times were liabilities in respect of superannuation income stream benefits that are prescribed by the regulations for the purposes of this subsection.

295-395 Meaning of *segregated non-current assets

- (1) Assets of a *complying superannuation fund are segregated non-current assets at a time in an income year if:
- (a) the assets are invested, held in reserve or otherwise dealt with at that time solely to enable the fund to discharge all or part of its current and future liabilities (contingent or not) to pay benefits in respect of which contributions have, or were liable to have, been made; and

---

- (b) the trustee of the fund obtains an *actuary's certificate before the date for lodgment of the fund's *income tax return for the income year to the effect that the amount of the assets, together with any future contributions, and the earnings that the actuary expects will be made from them will provide the amount required to discharge in full those liabilities, or that part of those liabilities, as they fall due.
- (2) The liabilities referred to in paragraph (1)(a) do not include liabilities (contingent or not) in respect of *superannuation income stream benefits payable by the fund at that time.

295-400 Income of a PST attributable to current pension liabilities

- (1) This proportion of the *ordinary income and *statutory income that would otherwise be assessable income of a *pooled superannuation trust is *exempt income:

$$\frac{\text{Average number of units in the trust during the income year that are *segregated current pension assets of unitholders that are *complying superannuation funds}}{\text{Average number of units in the trust during the income year}}$$

Exceptions

- (2) Subsection (1) does not apply to:
- (a) *non-arm's length income; or
  - (b) amounts included in assessable income under item 1 of the table in section 295-320.

Alternative exemption

- (3) However, the trustee of the *pooled superannuation trust can choose that a different amount be *exempt income of the trust under this section if a percentage of the assessable income of the trust would have been exempt income under section 295-385 or

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 295-405

---

295-390 if it had been *derived instead by the unitholders in the trust in proportion to their holdings.

- (4) That percentage of the trust's *ordinary income and *statutory income is then *exempt income.

295-405 Other exempt income

The *ordinary income or *statutory income of an entity is exempt from income tax as set out in this table.

Note: For an explanation of the acronyms used, see section 295-35.

*Exempt income
Item	For this entity:	This is exempt:
1	CSF N-CSF CADF N-CADF	A grant of financial assistance under Part 23 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993
2	*RSA provider	Amount credited to the *RSA where a pension (within the meaning of the Retirement Savings Accounts Act 1997 ) was paid from the RSA for all of the period in the income year that the RSA existed
3	*RSA provider	Part of an amount credited to the *RSA (worked out under section 295-410) where a pension (within the meaning of the Retirement Savings Accounts Act 1997 ) was paid from the RSA for part of the period in the income year that the RSA existed

For item 3 of the table in section 295-405, the part of the amount credited to the *RSA that is *exempt income is worked out by:

- (a) multiplying the amount by the number of days in the income year for which the pension (within the meaning of the Retirement Savings Accounts Act 1997) was paid; and
- (b) dividing the result by the number of days in the income year that the RSA existed.

Note 1: The fund can deduct amounts in relation to these benefits under either section 295-465 or 295-470, but not both.

Note 2: The taxable component of the superannuation lump sums will contain an element untaxed in the fund: see section 307-290.

295-465 Complying funds—deductions for insurance premiums

- (1) A *complying superannuation fund can deduct the proportions specified in this table of premiums it pays for insurance policies that are (wholly or partly) for current or contingent liabilities of the fund to provide benefits referred to in section 295-460 for its members. It can deduct the amounts for the income year in which the premiums are paid.

---

Deductions of *complying superannuation funds

---

Item      The fund can deduct this amount:

---

1	30% of the premium for a *whole of life policy if all individuals whose lives are insured are members of the fund
2	10% of the premium for an *endowment policy if all individuals whose lives are insured are members of the fund
3	30% of the part of an insurance policy premium (for a policy that is not a *whole of life policy or an *endowment policy) that is specified in the policy as being for a distinct part of the policy, if that part would have been a whole of life policy had it been a separate policy
4	10% of the part of an insurance policy premium (for a policy that is not a *whole of life policy or an *endowment policy) that is specified in the policy as being for a distinct part of the policy, if that part would have been an endowment policy had it been a separate policy
5	The part of a premium that is specified in the policy as being wholly for the liability to provide benefits referred to in section 295-460
6	So much of other insurance policy premiums as are attributable to the liability to provide benefits referred to in section 295-460

---

---

Note: If the fund receives a rebate or refund of an insurance premium, the amount may be included in its assessable income: see table item 4 in section 295-320.

- (2) A *complying superannuation fund can also deduct the amount it could reasonably be expected to pay in an *arm's length transaction to obtain an insurance policy to cover it for that part of its current or contingent liabilities to provide benefits referred to in section 295-460 for which it does not have insurance coverage. It can deduct the amount for the income year when it has the liability.

Actuary's certificate

- (3) The trustee must obtain an *actuary's certificate before the date for lodgment of the fund's *income tax return for the income year in order to deduct an amount referred to in item 6 of the table or in subsection (2).

Choice not to deduct amounts under this section

- (4) The trustee may choose not to deduct amounts under this section for an income year and to deduct instead (under section 295-470) amounts based on the fund's future liability to pay the benefits.
- (5) The choice applies also to future income years unless the Commissioner decides that it should not.

295-470 Complying funds—deductions for future liability to pay benefits

- (1) A *complying superannuation fund can deduct an amount under this section for an income year if:
- (a) the trustee of the fund makes a choice under subsection 295-465(4) and the choice applies to the income year; and
  - (b) the trustee pays:
    - (i) a benefit referred to in paragraph 295-460(a) or (b) for the income year in consequence of the termination of a member's employment; or
    - (ii) a benefit referred to in paragraph 295-460(c).
- (2) The amount the fund can deduct is:

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

$$\text{Benefit amount} \times \frac{\text{Future service days}}{\text{Total service days}}$$

where:

benefit amount is:

- (a) for a benefit that is a *superannuation lump sum—the amount of the lump sum; or
- (b) for a benefit that is a *superannuation income stream—the *value of the *superannuation interest supporting the income stream; or
- (c) for a benefit referred to in paragraph 295-460(c)—the total of the amounts paid during the income year.

future service days is the number of days in the period starting when:

- (a) the termination happened; or
- (b) for a benefit referred to in paragraph 295-460(c)—the member became unable to engage in *gainful employment; and ending on the member's *last retirement day.

total service days is the sum of future service days and the number of days in:

- (a) for a benefit that is a *superannuation lump sum—the *service period for the superannuation lump sum; or
  - (b) for another benefit—the period ending on the first day of the period to which the first payment of the benefit relates and starting on the earliest of:
    - (i) the day on which the member joined the relevant *superannuation fund; and
    - (ii) the first day of the period of employment to which the benefit relates (including a qualifying period before the member could join the fund and any period when the member was not a member of the fund); and
    - (iii) the day applicable under subsection (3).
- (3) The applicable day is the first day of the *service period for a *superannuation lump sum that is a *roll-over superannuation benefit if all or part of the *value of the other benefit is attributable to the roll-over superannuation benefit.

295-475 RSA providers—deductions for insurance premiums

An *RSA provider can deduct premiums it pays for insurance policies that are wholly for its liability to provide benefits referred to in section 295-460 for its *RSA holders. It can deduct the amounts for the income year in which the premiums are paid.

Note: If the RSA provider receives a rebate or refund of an insurance premium, the amount may be included in its assessable income: see table item 5 in section 295-320.

295-480 Meaning of whole of life policy and *endowment policy

- (1) A whole of life policy is an insurance policy:
  - (a) that includes an investment component; and

  - (c) where the sum insured (and any bonuses) are payable on:
    - (i) the death of the individual insured; or
    - (ii) the earlier of the death of the individual insured and the individual attaining the age specified in the policy (being at least the age of 85).

- (2) An endowment policy is an insurance policy:

Increased amount of superannuation lump sum death benefits

295-485 Deductions for increased amount of superannuation lump sum death benefit

- (1) An entity that is a *complying superannuation fund, or a *complying approved deposit fund, and has been since 1 July 1988 (or since it came into existence if that was later) can deduct an amount under this section if:
- (a) it pays a *superannuation lump sum because of the death of a person to the trustee of the deceased's estate or an individual who was a *spouse, former spouse or *child of the deceased at the time of death or payment; and
  - (b) it increases the lump sum by an amount, or does not reduce the lump sum by an amount (the tax saving amount) so that the amount of the lump sum is the amount that the fund could have paid if no tax were payable on amounts included in assessable income under Subdivision 295-C.

Note: Paragraph (1)(b) has effect as if the reference to amounts included in assessable income under Subdivision 295-C included a reference to amounts included in assessable income under former section 274 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936: see section 295-485 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

- (2) The fund can deduct the amount in the income year in which the lump sum is paid.
- (3) The amount the fund can deduct is:

$$\frac{\text{Tax saving amount}}{\text{Low tax component rate}}$$

where:

low tax component rate is the rate of tax imposed on the *low tax component of the fund's taxable income for the income year.

Note: The deduction is designed to compensate the fund for the tax payable on the contributions that are used to fund the lump sum.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) The amount the fund can deduct for a *superannuation lump sum paid because of the death of a person to the trustee of the deceased's estate is so much of the subsection (3) amount as is appropriate having regard to the extent to which individuals referred to in paragraph (1)(a) can reasonably be expected to benefit from the estate.

295-545	Components of taxable income—complying superannuation funds, complying ADFs and PSTs
295-550	Meaning of non-arm's length income
295-555	Components of taxable income—RSA providers

295-545 Components of taxable income—complying superannuation funds, complying ADFs and PSTs

- (1) The taxable income of these entities is split into a *non-arm's length component and a *low tax component:
- (a) *complying superannuation funds;
  - (b) *complying approved deposit funds;
  - (c) *pooled superannuation trusts.

Note: A concessional rate applies to the low tax component, while the non-arm's length component is taxed at the highest marginal rate. The rates are set out in the Income Tax Rates Act 1986.

- (2) The non-arm's length component for an income year is the entity's *non-arm's length income for that year less any deductions to the extent that they are attributable to that income.
- (3) The low tax component is any remaining part of the entity's taxable income for the income year.

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

295-550 Meaning of *non-arm's length income

- (1) An amount of *ordinary income or *statutory income is non-arm's length income of a *complying superannuation fund, a *complying approved deposit fund or a *pooled superannuation trust (other than an amount to which subsection (2) applies or an amount *derived by the entity in the capacity of beneficiary of a trust) if:
  - (a) it is derived from a *scheme the parties to which were not dealing with each other at *arm's length in relation to the scheme; and
  - (b) that amount is more than the amount that the entity might have been expected to derive if those parties had been dealing with each other at arm's length in relation to the scheme.
- (2) An amount of *ordinary income or *statutory income is also non-arm's length income of the entity if it is:
  - (a) a *dividend paid to the entity by a *private company; or
  - (b) ordinary income or statutory income that is reasonably attributable to such a dividend;unless the amount is consistent with an *arm's length dealing.
- (3) In deciding whether an amount is consistent with an *arm's length dealing under subsection (2), have regard to:
  - (a) the value of *shares in the company that are assets of the entity; and
  - (b) the cost to the entity of the shares on which the *dividend was paid; and
  - (c) the rate of that dividend; and
  - (d) whether the company has paid a dividend on other shares in the company and, if so, the rate of that dividend; and
  - (e) whether the company has issued any shares to the entity in satisfaction of a dividend paid by the company (or part of it) and, if so, the circumstances of the issue; and
  - (f) any other relevant matters.
- (4) Income *derived by the entity as a beneficiary of a trust, other than because of holding a fixed entitlement to the income, is non-arm's length income of the entity.

- (5) Other income *derived by the entity as a beneficiary of a trust through holding a fixed entitlement to the income of the trust is non-arm's length income of the entity if:
- (a) the entity acquired the entitlement under a *scheme, or the income was derived under a scheme, the parties to which were not dealing with each other at *arm's length; and
  - (b) the amount of the income is more than the amount that the entity might have been expected to derive if those parties had been dealing with each other at arm's length.
- (6) This section:
- (a) applies to a *non-share equity interest in the same way as it applies to a *share; and
  - (b) applies to an *equity holder in a company in the same way as it applies to a shareholder in the company; and
  - (c) applies to a *non-share dividend in the same way as it applies to a *dividend.

295-555 Components of taxable income—RSA providers

- (1) The taxable income of an *RSA provider is split into:
- (a) an *RSA component; and
  - (b) if the RSA provider is also an *FHSA provider—an *FHSA component; and
  - (c) a *standard component.

Note: The RSA component and the FHSA component (if applicable) are taxed at the same concessional rate that applies to the low tax component of complying superannuation funds, complying approved deposit funds and pooled superannuation trusts (see section 23 of the Income Tax Rates Act 1986). The standard component is taxed at the standard company rate.

- Step 1. Add these amounts included in the provider's assessable income for the income year:
- (a) amounts included under Subdivision 295-C; and
  - (b) other amounts credited during the year to *RSAs that it provides.
- Step 2. Subtract from the step 1 amount amounts paid from those *RSAs (except benefits for the RSA holders or tax).
- Step 3. The result is the RSA component.

- (3) However, if the sum of the *RSA component and the *FHSA component (if any) is more than the *RSA provider's taxable income:
- (a) the provider's taxable income is equal to that sum; and
  - (b) this Act applies to the provider as if it had a *tax loss for the income year of an amount that would have been that loss if the RSA component and the FHSA component (if any) were not *ordinary income or *statutory income.
- (4) The standard component is the remaining part (if any) of the *RSA provider's taxable income for the income year after subtracting the *RSA component and the *FHSA component (if any).

Division 306—Roll-overs etc.

Guide to Division 306

306-1 What this Division is about

This Division sets out the tax treatment of payments made from one superannuation plan to another superannuation plan, and of similar payments.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

306-5	Effect of a roll-over superannuation benefit
306-10	Roll-over superannuation benefit
306-15	Tax on excess untaxed roll-over amounts
306-20	Effect of payment to government of unclaimed superannuation money
306-25	Payments connected with financial claims scheme to RSAs

Operative provisions

306-5 Effect of a roll-over superannuation benefit

A *roll-over superannuation benefit that you are taken to receive under section 307-15 is not assessable income and is not *exempt income.

Note: Roll-over superannuation benefits are paid into a complying superannuation plan or are used to purchase a superannuation annuity on your behalf. However, you are taken to receive the benefit under subsection 307-15(1).

306-10 *Roll-over superannuation benefit

A *superannuation benefit is a roll-over superannuation benefit if:

- (a) the benefit is a *superannuation lump sum and a *superannuation member benefit; and

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 306-15

---

- (b) the benefit is not a superannuation benefit of a kind specified in the regulations; and
- (c) the benefit satisfies any of the following conditions:
  - (i) it is paid from a *complying superannuation plan;
  - (ii) it is an *unclaimed money payment;
  - (iii) it arises from the commutation of a *superannuation annuity; and
- (d) the benefit satisfies any of the following conditions:
  - (i) it is paid to a complying superannuation plan;
  - (ii) it is paid to an entity to purchase a superannuation annuity from the entity.

Note 1: A superannuation benefit may be paid from one superannuation plan of a superannuation provider to another superannuation plan of the same provider.

Note 2: For the treatment of amounts transferred within a superannuation plan, see subsection 307-5(8).

306-15 Tax on *excess untaxed roll-over amounts

- (1) This section applies to a *superannuation benefit if:
  - (a) it is a *roll-over superannuation benefit that is paid into a *superannuation plan; and
  - (b) you are taken to receive the benefit under section 307-15; and
  - (c) the benefit consists of, or includes, an amount that is an *element untaxed in the fund; and
  - (d) the amount mentioned in paragraph (c) exceeds your *untaxed plan cap amount (see section 307-350), for the superannuation plan from which the benefit is paid, just before you are taken to receive the benefit.

Note: To work out your untaxed plan cap amount in relation to an unclaimed money payment from the Commissioner, see subsection 307-350(2B).

- (1A) However, this section does not apply to a *roll-over superannuation benefit that is transferred from one *superannuation interest in a *superannuation plan to another superannuation interest in the same plan.

Note 1: A superannuation benefit may be paid from one superannuation plan of a superannuation provider to another superannuation plan of the same provider. Such a benefit may be a roll-over superannuation benefit: see section 306-10.

Note 2: For the treatment of amounts transferred within the same superannuation plan, see subsection 307-5(8).

- (2) The excess untaxed roll-over amount is the amount of the excess mentioned in paragraph (1)(d).
- (3) You are liable to pay income tax on the *excess untaxed roll-over amount at the rate declared by the Parliament in respect of such amounts.

Note 1: The tax is imposed in the Superannuation (Excess Untaxed Roll-over Amounts Tax) Act 2007, and the amount of tax is set out in that Act.

Note 2: See the Taxation Administration Act 1953 for provisions dealing with the payment of the tax.

306-20 Effect of payment to government of unclaimed superannuation money

An *unclaimed money payment that you are taken to receive under section 307-15 because it is paid in accordance with the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 to the Commissioner or a State or Territory authority (within the meaning of that Act) is not assessable income and is not *exempt income.

306-25 Payments connected with financial claims scheme to RSAs

- (1) This section applies if:
- (a) a person is the holder of an *RSA (the old RSA) of which an *ADI is the *RSA provider; and
  - (b) an entitlement of the person arises under Division 2AA (Financial claims scheme for account-holders with insolvent ADIs) of Part II of the Banking Act 1959 in connection with the old RSA; and
  - (c) either:
    - (i) the entitlement, so far as it relates to the old RSA, is met wholly or partly by the making of a payment to another RSA (the new RSA) that the person is the holder of (whether or not the new RSA was established under section 16AH of the Banking Act 1959); or

- (ii) a liquidator of the ADI pays a distribution from the liquidation of the ADI, so far as the distribution is attributable to the old RSA, to another RSA (also the new RSA) that the person is the holder of (whether or not the new RSA was established under section 16AR of the Banking Act 1959).

(2) This Part (except this section), and the other provisions of this Act (except this section) so far as they relate to this Part, apply in relation to the payment to the new RSA as if:

- (a) the payment were made from the old RSA to the new RSA; and
- (b) the entity that made the payment (rather than the *ADI) were the *RSA provider of the old RSA.

Note: The effects of this include:

- (a) the payment is a superannuation member benefit of the person (because of sections 307-5 and 307-15); and
- (b) the payment is a superannuation lump sum under Subdivision 307-B (unless regulations prevent this); and
- (c) the payment is a roll-over superannuation benefit under section 306-10 (unless regulations prevent this); and
- (d) reporting obligations (such as those in section 390-10 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953) apply to the entity that made the payment as if it were the RSA provider of the old RSA.

(3) However, for the purposes of section 307-125, determine the *value of the *superannuation interest, and the amount of each of the *tax free component and the *taxable component of the interest:

- (a) when the entitlement arose; or
- (b) if a *superannuation income stream benefit had been paid from the old RSA before that time—at the time the relevant *superannuation income stream commenced.

(4) Subsection (3) has effect despite:

- (a) subsection 307-125(3) (as it applies because of subsection (2) of this section); and

- (b) paragraph 307-125(3)(a) of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.

307-1 What this Division is about

This Division defines concepts used in Divisions 301 to 306, such as superannuation benefit, and the tax free component and taxable component of such benefits. To work out those components, it is often necessary to work out the corresponding components of the superannuation interest from which the benefit is paid (see Subdivision 307-D).

This Division also defines the element taxed in the fund and the element untaxed in the fund of superannuation benefits, which are relevant to superannuation benefits paid from untaxed funds etc. (see Subdivision 307-D).

Subdivision 307-F defines the concessional limits used in Division 301 known as the low rate cap amount and untaxed plan cap amount.

  - (c) if the benefit is a *superannuation co-contribution benefit payment—section 307-135; or
  - (d) if the benefit is a *contributions-splitting superannuation benefit—section 307-140; or
  - (e) if the benefit is a payment under subsection 17(2) or section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999—section 307-142.
- (3) Those components may be modified under sections 307-145 (which deals with certain disability benefits) and 307-150 (which deals with certain *elements untaxed in fund).

307-125 Proportioning rule

- (1) The object of this section is to ensure that the *tax free component and *taxable component of a *superannuation benefit are calculated by:
  - (a) first, determining the proportions of the *value of the *superannuation interest that those components represent; and
  - (b) next, applying those proportions to the benefit.
- (2) The *superannuation benefit is taken to be paid in a way such that each of those components of the benefit bears the same proportion to the amount of the benefit that the corresponding component of the *superannuation interest bears to the *value of the superannuation interest.

Example: The amount of a superannuation lump sum is $100. Just before the benefit is paid, the value of the superannuation interest was $1000 (of which $200 was the tax free component and $800 was the taxable component). For the lump sum, the tax free component is $20 and the taxable component is $80.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), determine the *value of the *superannuation interest, and the amount of each of those components of the interest, at whichever of the following times is applicable:
  - (a) if the *superannuation benefit is a *superannuation income stream benefit—when the relevant *superannuation income stream commenced;
  - (b) if the superannuation benefit is a *superannuation lump sum—just before the benefit is paid;
  - (c) despite paragraphs (a) and (b), if the superannuation benefit arises from the commutation of a superannuation income stream—when the relevant *superannuation income stream commenced.
- (4) Subsection (2) does not apply to a *superannuation benefit if any of the following applies:
  - (a) the regulations specify an alternative method for determining those components of the benefit;

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

Section 307-130

---

- (b) a determination under subsection (5) specifies an alternative method for determining those components of the benefit;
  - (c) the Commissioner consents in writing to the use of another method for determining those components of the benefit.
- If so, use that method to determine those components of the benefit.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (4)(b), the Commissioner may determine, by legislative instrument, one or more alternative methods for determining those components of a *superannuation benefit.
  - (6) If the *superannuation benefit is an *unclaimed money payment or a *small superannuation account payment, for the purposes of this section:
    - (a) treat the benefit as a superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation interest; and
    - (b) treat the amount of the benefit as the *value of that superannuation interest just before the time the benefit is paid.

307-130 Superannuation guarantee payment consists entirely of taxable component

The components of a *superannuation benefit that is a *superannuation guarantee payment are as follows:

- (a) the *tax free component is nil;
- (b) the *taxable component is the amount of the benefit.

307-135 Superannuation co-contribution benefit payment consists entirely of tax free component

The components of a *superannuation benefit that is a *superannuation co-contribution benefit payment are as follows:

- (a) the *tax free component is the amount of the benefit;
- (b) the *taxable component is nil.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

307-140 Contributions-splitting superannuation benefit consists entirely of taxable component

The components of a *superannuation benefit that is a *contributions-splitting superannuation benefit are as follows:

- (a) the *tax free component is nil;
- (b) the *taxable component is the amount of the benefit.

307-142 Components of certain unclaimed money payments

Preliminary

- (1) This section explains how to work out the *tax free component, and the *taxable component, of a *superannuation benefit that is a payment by the Commissioner under subsection 17(2) or section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of a person.

Tax free component

- (2) Work out the *tax free component as follows:

Method statement

Step 1. Work out the amount (the unclaimed amount) (or amounts), set out in column 1 of the table in subsection (3), to which the *superannuation benefit is attributable.

Note: A payment made under subsection 17(2) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 is attributable to a single unclaimed amount set out in item 1 or 2 of the table.

A payment under section 20H of that Act may be attributable to more than one unclaimed amount.

Step 2. Assume that the unclaimed amount (or each unclaimed amount), instead of being paid to the Commissioner, had been paid to the person as the payment (the claimed equivalent) set out in column 2 of the table.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 307-142

Step 3. The *tax free component of the *superannuation benefit consists of so much of the superannuation benefit as is attributable to the amount set out in column 3 of the table for the claimed equivalent (or as is attributable to the amounts set out in that column for the claimed equivalents).

(3) This is the table mentioned in subsection (2):

Tax free component
Item	Column 1 Unclaimed amount	Column 2 Claimed equivalent	Column 3 Tax free component of claimed equivalent
1	an amount paid, on or after 1 July 2007, to the Commissioner under subsection 17(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person	a *superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation plan	the *tax free component of that superannuation benefit
2	an amount paid, before 1 July 2007, to the Commissioner under subsection 17(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person	an eligible termination payment (within the meaning of subsection 27A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 , as in force just before 1 July 2007)	the total of the components, of that eligible termination payment, referred to in subsection 307-225(2) of this Act

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Tax free component
Item	Column 1	Column 2	Column 3
	Unclaimed amount	Claimed equivalent	Tax free component of claimed equivalent
3	an amount paid to the Commissioner under subsection 20F(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999 in respect of the person (other than an amount referred to in section 65AA of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 )	a *superannuation benefit paid from a *superannuation plan	the *tax free component of that superannuation benefit

Note 1: Section 65AA of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 requires certain shortfall components to be treated as amounts paid to the Commissioner under subsection 20F(1) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

The effect of excluding such shortfall components from item 3 of the table in this subsection is that the taxable component includes so much of the superannuation benefit as is attributable to such a shortfall component.

Note 2: The table in this subsection does not cover interest paid by the Commissioner under subsection 20H(2A) of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

The effect of this is that the taxable component includes so much of the superannuation benefit as is attributable to such interest.

Taxable component

- (4) The *taxable component is so much (if any) of the *superannuation benefit as is not the *tax free component.

307-145 Modification for disability benefits

- (1) Work out the tax free component of the *superannuation benefit under subsection (2) if the benefit is a *superannuation lump sum and a *disability superannuation benefit.

Note: This section does not apply to an unclaimed money payment.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

Section 307-150

---

- (2) The tax free component is the sum of:
- (a) the *tax free component of the benefit worked out apart from this section; and
  - (b) the amount worked out under subsection (3).

However, the tax free component cannot exceed the amount of the benefit.

- (3) Work out the amount by applying the following formula:

$$\text{Amount of benefit} \times \frac{\text{Days to retirement}}{\text{Service days} + \text{Days to retirement}}$$

where:

days to retirement is the number of days from the day on which the person stopped being capable of being *gainfully employed to his or her *last retirement day.

service days is the number of days in the *service period for the lump sum.

- (4) The balance of the *superannuation benefit is the taxable component of the benefit.

307-150 Modification in respect of superannuation lump sum with element untaxed in fund

- (1) This section applies to a *superannuation lump sum if:
- (a) it is not a *roll-over superannuation benefit; or
  - (b) it is a roll-over superannuation benefit that includes an *element untaxed in the fund, all or part of which will be included in the assessable income of the *superannuation provider in relation to the *superannuation fund into which the benefit is paid.
- (2) However, this section applies to the *superannuation lump sum only to the extent that it is attributable to a *superannuation interest that existed just before 1 July 2007.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

---

- (3) If the *superannuation lump sum includes an *element untaxed in the fund:
- (a) increase the *tax free component of the benefit by the amount that is the lesser of these amounts:
    - (i) the amount worked out under subsection (4); and
    - (ii) the amount of the element untaxed in the fund (apart from this section); and
  - (b) reduce the element untaxed in the fund by the lesser of those amounts.
- (4) Work out the amount by applying the following formula:

$$\text{Original tax free component and untaxed element} \times \frac{\text{Number of days in the *service period for the lump sum that occurred before 1 July 1983}}{\text{Number of days in the *service period for the lump sum}}$$

where:

original tax free component and untaxed element is the sum of:

- (a) the *tax free component of the *superannuation benefit (apart from this section); and
  - (b) the *element untaxed in the fund of the superannuation benefit (apart from this section).
- (5) If the benefit is in part attributable to a *crystallised pre-July 83 amount, in working out the *tax free component of the *superannuation benefit (apart from this section) for the purposes of subsection (4), disregard the amount of the benefit that is attributable to the *crystallised segment of the *superannuation interest from which the benefit is paid.

Section 307-200

---

307-220 What is the contributions segment?

307-225 What is the crystallised segment?

307-200 Regulations relating to meaning of superannuation interests

- (1) In the circumstances specified in the regulations, treat a superannuation interest as two or more superannuation interests in the way specified in the regulations.
- (2) In the circumstances specified in the regulations, treat 2 or more superannuation interests as one superannuation interest in the way specified in the regulations.
- (3) Regulations for the purposes of this section may specify a way of treating a *superannuation interest in relation to one or more of the following aspects of the interest:
  - (a) the *tax free component (and the *contributions segment and *crystallised segment relating to that component);
  - (b) the *taxable component;
  - (c) the *element taxed in the fund of the taxable component;
  - (d) the *element untaxed in the fund of the taxable component.
- (4) Regulations for the purposes of subsection (1) may specify a way of allocating an amount relating to a *superannuation interest treated as two or more superannuation interests in accordance with those regulations to those interests.
- (5) Subsections (3) and (4) do not limit the regulations that may be made for the purposes of this section.

307-205 Value of superannuation interest

The value of a *superannuation interest at a particular time is:

- (a) if the regulations specify a method for determining the value of the superannuation interest—that value; or
- (b) otherwise—the total amount of all the *superannuation lump sums that could be payable from the interest at that time.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

307-210 Tax free component of superannuation interest

The tax free component of a *superannuation interest is so much of the *value of the interest as consists of:

- (a) the *contributions segment of the interest; and
- (b) the *crystallised segment of the interest.

Note: If superannuation benefits have been paid from the superannuation interest, the amount of the tax free component of the interest will be reduced by the tax free components of those superannuation benefits: see section 307-125.

307-215 Taxable component of superannuation interest

The taxable component of a *superannuation interest is the *value of the interest less the *tax free component of the interest.

307-220 What is the contributions segment?

- (1) The contributions segment of a *superannuation interest is so much of the *value of the interest as consists of contributions made after 30 June 2007, to the extent that they have not been and will not be included in the assessable income of the *superannuation provider in relation to the *superannuation plan in which the interest is held.
- (2) For the purposes of this section:
  - (a) in determining whether contributions are included in the contributions segment under subsection (1):
    - (i) disregard the *taxable component of a *roll-over superannuation benefit paid into the interest; and
    - (ii) for a *superannuation plan that is a *constitutionally protected fund—treat the superannuation plan as if it were not a constitutionally protected fund; and
  - (b) disregard section 295-180 and Subdivision 295-D.
- (3) For the purposes of subparagraph (2)(a)(i), treat the *excess untaxed roll-over amount (if any) of the *roll-over superannuation benefit as part of the *tax free component of the benefit instead of the *taxable component of the benefit.

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (4) Subparagraph (2)(a)(i) does not apply to a *roll-over superannuation benefit that is a *departing Australia superannuation payment made under section 20H of the Superannuation (Unclaimed Money and Lost Members) Act 1999.

Note 1: The whole departing Australia superannuation payment is included in the contributions segment of the superannuation interest, as none of the payment has been or will be included in the superannuation provider's assessable income.

Note 2: Including the whole payment in that segment, and thus the tax free component, of the superannuation interest ensures that the amount of the payment, which is taxed by the Superannuation (Departing Australia Superannuation Payments Tax) Act 2007, does not attract more tax when paid as a superannuation benefit from the interest.

307-225 What is the crystallised segment?

- (1) To work out the crystallised segment of a *superannuation interest, first assume that:
- (a) an eligible termination payment had been made in respect of the holder of the interest just before 1 July 2007; and
  - (b) the amount of the eligible termination payment had been equal to the *value of the interest at that time.
- (2) The crystallised segment of the *superannuation interest is so much of the *value of the interest as consists of the total of the following components of the eligible termination payment:
- (a) the concessional component;
  - (b) the post-June 1994 invalidity component;
  - (c) the undeducted contributions;
  - (d) the CGT exempt component;
  - (e) the pre-July 83 component.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(e), disregard the *value of the interest just before 1 July 2007 to the extent that it would consist, apart from this subsection, of the *element untaxed in the fund of the *taxable component of a *superannuation benefit constituted by the eligible termination payment.
- (4) In this section, the following terms have the same meaning as in subsection 27A(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 (as in force just before 1 July 2007):

---

*To find definitions of asterisked terms, see the Dictionary, starting at section 995-1.

- (a) concessional component;
- (b) post-June 1994 invalidity component;
- (c) undeducted contributions;
- (d) CGT exempt component;
- (e) pre-July 83 component;
- (f) eligible termination payment.
