- (1) Sections 159J and 159L apply in relation to an indexing year of income as if each indexable amount were replaced by the amount calculated using the formula:

Previous indexable amount \times Indexation factor
where:

Previous indexable amount is the indexable amount concerned for the previous year of income.

Indexation factor is the indexation factor for the indexing year of income.

- (2) Where, apart from this subsection, an amount calculated under subsection (1) would be an amount of dollars and cents:
 - (a) if the number of cents is less than 50—the amount shall be rounded down to the nearest whole dollar; and
 - (b) in any other case—the amount shall be rounded up to the nearest whole dollar.

Section 159HA

- (3) The indexation factor for an indexing year of income is the number (calculated to 3 decimal places) ascertained by dividing the sum of the index numbers for the quarters of the 12 month period ending on 31 March immediately before the indexing year of income by the sum of the index numbers for the quarters of the preceding 12 month period ending on 31 March.
- (4) If the factor ascertained under subsection (3) in relation to an indexing year of income would, if it were calculated to 4 decimal places, end with a number greater than 4, the factor ascertained under that subsection in relation to that indexing year of income shall be taken to be the factor calculated to 3 decimal places and increased by 0.001.
- (5) Subject to subsection (6), if at any time, whether before or after the commencement of this section, the Australian Statistician has published or publishes an index number in respect of a quarter in substitution for an index number previously published by the Australian Statistician in respect of that quarter, the publication of the later index number shall be disregarded for the purposes of this section.
- (6) If at any time, whether before or after the commencement of this section, the Australian Statistician has changed or changes the reference base for the Consumer Price Index, then, for the purposes of the application of this section after the change took place or takes place, regard shall be had only to the index numbers published in terms of the new reference base.
- (6A) If the indexation factor for an indexing year of income is less than 1.000, sections 159J and 159L apply in relation to the indexing year of income as if each indexable amount were the same as the previous indexable amount (as defined in subsection (1)). This subsection has effect despite subsection (1).
- (7) In this section:
indexable amount means:
 - (a) an amount specified in subsection 159J(1B) or (2) (other than the amounts specified in column 3 of the table in subsection 159J(2) in respect of a dependant included in class 3 or 4); or
 - (b) the amounts specified in subsection 159L(2); or
 - (c) the amount specified in:

or, if any such amount has been altered under this section in relation to the 2008-09 year of income or a later year of income, the altered amount.

indexation factor means the indexation factor ascertained under subsection (3).

indexing year of income means the year of income commencing on 1 July 2008 or a later year of income.

159J Rebates for dependants

- (1) Where, during the year of income, a taxpayer contributes to the maintenance of a person (in this section referred to as a dependant) specified in column 2 of the table set out in subsection (2) and that person is a resident, the taxpayer is entitled, in his assessment in respect of income of that year of income, to a rebate of tax ascertained in accordance with this section.
- (1A) A taxpayer is not entitled in his assessment in respect of income of a year of income after the year of income that ends on 30 June 1976 to a rebate under this section in respect of a person by reason that the person is included in class 3 or class 4 in the table set out in subsection (2).
- (1AA) A taxpayer is not entitled, in his or her assessment in respect of a year of income, to a rebate under this section in respect of a dependant included in class 1 or 2 in the table in subsection (2), if, during the whole of that year of income:
 - (a) the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse while being the taxpayer's partner as defined in the A New Tax System (Family Assistance) Act 1999, was eligible for family tax benefit at the Part B rate within the meaning of that Act; and

Part III Liability to taxation

Division 17 Rebates

Section 159J

(b) clause 31 of Schedule 1 to that Act did not apply to the Part B rate.

(1AB) A taxpayer is not entitled, in his or her assessment in respect of a year of income, to a rebate under this section in respect of a dependant included in class 1, 2, 5 or 6 in the table in subsection (2) if the taxpayer's taxable income for the year is more than $150,000.

(1B) Where, but for subsection (1A), a taxpayer would be entitled in his assessment in respect of income of a year of income to a rebate under this section in respect of a dependant included in class 3 or 4 in the table in subsection (2), the entitlement of the taxpayer to a rebate under this section in that assessment in respect of any dependant included in class 2 of that table shall be calculated as if the the reference in that table to $1,711 were a reference to $2,051.

(2) Subject to this section, the amount of the rebate allowable in the assessment of the taxpayer in respect of a dependant under this section is the relevant amount specified in column 3 of the following table:

Column 1 Class	Column 2 Dependant	Column 3 Amounts of Rebate
1	Spouse of the taxpayer	$2,100
2	Child-housekeeper	$1,711
3	Child less than 21 years of age (not being a student)	In respect of 1 such child—$376 In respect of each other such child—$282
4	Student	$376
5	Invalid relative	$770
6	Parent of the taxpayer or of the taxpayer's spouse	$1,540

(3) Where:

(a) the taxpayer contributes to the maintenance of a dependant during part only of the year of income;

(aa) a dependant is a resident during part only of the year of income;

- (b) during the whole or part of the year of income, 2 or more persons contribute to the maintenance of a person who is a dependant in relation to 1 or more of the persons so contributing;
- (c) a dependant, being the spouse of the taxpayer, is the spouse of the taxpayer during part only of the year of income;
- (d) a dependant, being a child-housekeeper, is wholly engaged in keeping house for the taxpayer during part only of the year of income; or
- (e) a dependant, being a child included in class 3 in the table in subsection (2), a student or an invalid relative, is such a dependant during part only of the year of income;

the rebate allowable to the taxpayer in respect of that dependant shall be such part of the relevant amount specified in column 3 of that table as, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is reasonable in the circumstances.

(3AA) If:

- (a) but for this subsection, a taxpayer would be entitled, in his or her assessment in respect of a year of income, to a rebate under this section in respect of a dependant included in class 1 or 2 in the table in subsection (2); and
- (b) during part only of that year of income:
 - (i) the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse while being the taxpayer's partner as defined in the A New Tax System (Family Assistance) Act 1999, was eligible for family tax benefit at the Part B rate within the meaning of that Act; and
 - (ii) clause 31 of Schedule 1 to that Act did not apply in respect of the Part B rate;

then:

- (c) the taxpayer has no entitlement to a rebate under this section in respect of that dependant for that part of the year of income; and
- (d) the rebate allowable to the taxpayer in respect of that dependant for the remainder of that year of income is, subject to the operation of subsection (3AB), such part of the relevant rebate amount specified in column 3 of the table in subsection (2) as, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is reasonable in the circumstances.

(3AB) If:

- (a) but for this subsection, a taxpayer would be entitled, in his or her assessment in respect of a year of income, to a rebate under this section in respect of a dependant included in class 1 or 2 of the table in subsection (2); and
- (b) during the whole or a part of the year of income concerned:
 - (i) the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse while being the taxpayer's partner as defined in the A New Tax System (Family Assistance) Act 1999, was eligible for family tax benefit at the Part B rate within the meaning of that Act; and
 - (ii) clause 31 of Schedule 1 to that Act applied in respect of that Part B rate because the taxpayer, or the taxpayer's spouse, had a shared care percentage for an FTB child (within the meaning of that Act);

the rebate allowable to the taxpayer for the year of income, or that part of the year of income, (the shared care period) is to be worked out using the formula:

where:

A is the standard rate in respect of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's spouse worked out under clause 31 of Schedule 1 to the A New Tax System (Family Assistance) Act 1999.

applicable rebate amount is the amount of rebate that would have been allowable under this section in respect of the shared care period but for the application of this subsection.

B is the rate that would be the standard rate in respect of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's spouse under clause 30 of Schedule 1 to that Act had clause 31 of that Schedule not applied and had the FTB child in respect of whom the standard rate was determined under clause 31 been the only FTB child of the taxpayer or the taxpayer's spouse, as the case requires.

- (3A) In the application of the definition of resident in subsection 6(1) for the purposes of this section, a dependant included in class 1, 2, 3 or 4, and a child of the taxpayer being a dependant included in class 5, in the table in subsection (2) shall be deemed to have a domicile in Australia at all times when the taxpayer has a domicile in Australia.

- (4) The amount of the rebate otherwise allowable under this section in respect of a dependant shall be reduced by $1 for every $4 by which the separate net income derived by the dependant in the year of income exceeds $282.
- (5) Where, during the whole or a part of the year of income, the taxpayer and a person of a kind specified in column 2 of the table in subsection (2) resided together and that person has a separate net income in that year, then, for the purposes of this section, the taxpayer shall be regarded, unless the contrary is established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner, as having contributed to the maintenance of that person during the whole or that part of the year of income, as the case may be.
- (5A) Subject to subsection (5B), where, but for this subsection, a taxpayer would, by reason that he or she contributed to the maintenance of 2 or more dependants included in class 1 in the table in subsection (2) during the whole or a part of the year of income, be entitled in his or her assessment in respect of income of the year of income to more than one rebate under this section, the taxpayer shall be regarded as having contributed to the maintenance of only one of those dependants during the whole or that part of the year of income, as the case may be, being the dependant in respect of whom the lesser, or least, of the rebates would, but for this subsection, be allowable to the taxpayer under this section in respect of those dependants.
- (5B) Where subsection (5A) applies but the Commissioner is of the opinion that, because of special circumstances, it would be reasonable to regard the taxpayer as having contributed during the whole or a part of the year of income to the maintenance of a dependant included in class 1 in the table in subsection (2), other than the dependant in respect of whom a rebate is allowable under this section by virtue of the operation of subsection (5A), the taxpayer shall be regarded as having contributed to the maintenance of that other dependant only and the rebate allowable to the taxpayer under this section in respect of that other dependant shall be such amount, not exceeding the relevant amount specified in column 3 of the table in subsection (2), as is, in the opinion of the Commissioner, reasonable in the circumstances.

(5C) Where:

- (a) during the whole or a part of the year of income, a taxpayer contributed to the maintenance of 2 or more dependants included in class 1 in the table in subsection (2); and
- (b) by virtue of the operation of subsection (4), a rebate is not allowable to the taxpayer under this section in respect of one of those dependants;

the taxpayer shall be regarded as not having contributed to the maintenance of any of those dependants during the whole or that part of the year of income, unless the Commissioner is of the opinion that, because of special circumstances, it would be unreasonable to do so, in which case the rebate (if any) allowable under this section in the assessment of the taxpayer in respect of income of the year of income in respect of a dependant included in class 1 in that table shall be such amount, not exceeding the relevant amount specified in column 3 of that table, as is, in the opinion of the Commissioner, reasonable in the circumstances.

(5D) Where, by reason that, during the whole or a part of the year of income, a taxpayer contributes to the maintenance of a dependant included in class 1 in the table in subsection (2), the taxpayer is entitled, or would, but for subsection (4) be entitled, in his or her assessment in respect of income of the year of income, to a rebate under this section, a child of the taxpayer shall be deemed not to have been engaged in keeping house for the taxpayer during the whole or that part of the year of income, as the case may be.

(6) In this section:

 - (b) a capital loss being incurred by the taxpayer during a year of income the whole or part of which would not have been, or might reasonably be expected not to have been, incurred by the taxpayer during the year of income if the scheme had not been entered into or carried out where:

Section 177C

- (i) the incurring of the capital loss by the taxpayer is attributable to the making of a choice under Subdivision 126-B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 or an agreement under Subdivision 170-B of that Act; and
 - (ii) the scheme consisted solely of the making of the agreement or election.
- (3) For the purposes of subparagraph (2)(a)(i), (b)(i), (c)(i) or (d)(i) or (2A)(a)(i) or (b)(i):
 - (a) the non-inclusion of an amount in the assessable income of a taxpayer; or
 - (b) the allowance of a deduction to a taxpayer; or
 - (c) the incurring of a capital loss by a taxpayer; oris taken to be attributable to the making of a declaration, election, agreement or selection, the giving of a notice or the exercise of an option where, if the declaration, election, agreement, selection, notice or option had not been made, given or exercised, as the case may be:

 - (d) the amount would have been included in that assessable income; or
 - (e) the deduction would not have been allowable; or
 - (f) the capital loss would not have been incurred; or
 - (g) the foreign income tax offset would not have been allowable.
- (4) To avoid doubt, paragraph (1)(a) applies to a scheme if:
 - (a) an amount of income is not included in the assessable income of the taxpayer of a year of income; and
 - (b) an amount would have been included, or might reasonably be expected to have been included, in the assessable income if the scheme had not been entered into or carried out; and
 - (c) instead, the taxpayer or any other taxpayer makes a discount capital gain (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997) for that or any other year of income.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not limit the generality of any other provision of this Part.

177CA Withholding tax avoidance

- (1) This section applies in relation to a particular amount if a taxpayer is not liable to pay withholding tax on an amount where that taxpayer would have, or could reasonably be expected to have, been liable to pay withholding tax on the amount if a scheme had not been entered into or carried out.
- (2) For the purposes of this Part, if this section applies in relation to an amount, the taxpayer is taken to have obtained a tax benefit in connection with the scheme of an amount equal to the amount mentioned in subsection (1).

177D Schemes to which Part applies

This Part applies to any scheme that has been or is entered into after 27 May 1981, and to any scheme that has been or is carried out or commenced to be carried out after that date (other than a scheme that was entered into on or before that date), whether the scheme has been or is entered into or carried out in Australia or outside Australia or partly in Australia and partly outside Australia, where:

- (a) a taxpayer (in this section referred to as the relevant taxpayer) has obtained, or would but for section 177F obtain, a tax benefit in connection with the scheme; and
- (b) having regard to:
 - (i) the manner in which the scheme was entered into or carried out;
 - (ii) the form and substance of the scheme;
 - (iii) the time at which the scheme was entered into and the length of the period during which the scheme was carried out;
 - (iv) the result in relation to the operation of this Act that, but for this Part, would be achieved by the scheme;
 - (v) any change in the financial position of the relevant taxpayer that has resulted, will result, or may reasonably be expected to result, from the scheme;
 - (vi) any change in the financial position of any person who has, or has had, any connection (whether of a business, family or other nature) with the relevant taxpayer, being a change that has resulted, will result or may reasonably be expected to result, from the scheme;

- (vii) any other consequence for the relevant taxpayer, or for any person referred to in subparagraph (vi), of the scheme having been entered into or carried out; and
- (viii) the nature of any connection (whether of a business, family or other nature) between the relevant taxpayer and any person referred to in subparagraph (vi);

it would be concluded that the person, or one of the persons, who entered into or carried out the scheme or any part of the scheme did so for the purpose of enabling the relevant taxpayer to obtain a tax benefit in connection with the scheme or of enabling the relevant taxpayer and another taxpayer or other taxpayers each to obtain a tax benefit in connection with the scheme (whether or not that person who entered into or carried out the scheme or any part of the scheme is the relevant taxpayer or is the other taxpayer or one of the other taxpayers).

Note: Section 960-255 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 may be relevant to determining family relationships for the purposes of subparagraphs (b)(vi) and (viii).

 - (ii) a scheme having substantially the effect of a scheme by way of or in the nature of a dividend stripping; any property of the company is disposed of;
 - (b) in the opinion of the Commissioner, the disposal of that property represents, in whole or in part, a distribution (whether to a shareholder or another person) of profits of the company (whether of the accounting period in which the disposal occurred or of any earlier or later accounting period);
 - (c) if, immediately before the scheme was entered into, the company had paid a dividend out of profits of an amount equal to the amount determined by the Commissioner to be the amount of profits the distribution of which is, in his opinion, represented by the disposal of the property referred to in paragraph (a), an amount (in this subsection referred to as the notional amount) would have been included, or might reasonably be expected to have been included, by reason of the payment of that dividend, in the assessable income of a taxpayer of a year of income; and

- (d) the scheme has been or is entered into after 27 May 1981, whether in Australia or outside Australia;

the following provisions have effect:

- (e) the scheme shall be taken to be a scheme to which this Part applies;
- (f) for the purposes of section 177F, the taxpayer shall be taken to have obtained a tax benefit in connection with the scheme that is referable to the notional amount not being included in the assessable income of the taxpayer of the year of income; and
- (g) the amount of that tax benefit shall be taken to be the notional amount.
- (2) Without limiting the generality of subsection (1), a reference in that subsection to the disposal of property of a company shall be read as including a reference to:
- (a) the payment of a dividend by the company;
- (b) the making of a loan by the company (whether or not it is intended or likely that the loan will be repaid);
- (c) a bailment of property by the company; and
- (d) any transaction having the effect, directly or indirectly, of diminishing the value of any property of the company.
- (2A) This section:
- (a) applies to a non-share equity interest in the same way as it applies to a share; and
- (b) applies to an equity holder in the same way as it applies to a shareholder; and

- (3) In this section, property includes a chose in action and also includes any estate, interest, right or power, whether at law or in equity, in or over property.

177EA Creation of franking debit or cancellation of franking credits

- (1) In this section, unless the contrary intention appears:

relevant circumstances has a meaning affected by subsection (17).

relevant taxpayer has the meaning given by subsection (3).

scheme for a disposition, in relation to membership interests or an interest in membership interests, has a meaning affected by subsection (14).

- (2) An expression used in this section that is defined in the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 has the same meaning as in that Act, except to the extent that its meaning is extended by subsection (16), (18) or (19), or affected by subsection (15).

Application of section

- (3) This section applies if:

- (a) there is a scheme for a disposition of membership interests, or an interest in membership interests, in a corporate tax entity; and
- (b) either:
 - (i) a frankable distribution has been paid, or is payable or expected to be payable, to a person in respect of the membership interests; or
 - (ii) a frankable distribution has flowed indirectly, or flows indirectly or is expected to flow indirectly, to a person in respect of the interest in membership interests, as the case may be; and
- (c) the distribution was, or is expected to be, a franked distribution or a distribution franked with an exempting credit; and
- (d) except for this section, the person (the relevant taxpayer) would receive, or could reasonably be expected to receive, imputation benefits as a result of the distribution; and
- (e) having regard to the relevant circumstances of the scheme, it would be concluded that the person, or one of the persons, who entered into or carried out the scheme or any part of the scheme did so for a purpose (whether or not the dominant purpose but not including an incidental purpose) of enabling the relevant taxpayer to obtain an imputation benefit.

Bare acquisition of membership interests or interest in membership interests

- (4) It is not to be concluded for the purposes of paragraph (3)(e) that a person entered into or carried out a scheme for a purpose mentioned in that paragraph merely because the person acquired membership interests, or an interest in membership interests, in the entity.

Commissioner to determine franking debit or deny franking credit

- (5) The Commissioner may make, in writing, either of the following determinations:
- (a) if the corporate tax entity is a party to the scheme, a determination that a franking debit or exempting debit of the entity arises in respect of each distribution made to the relevant taxpayer or that flows indirectly to the relevant taxpayer;
 - (b) a determination that no imputation benefit is to arise in respect of a distribution or a specified part of a distribution that is made, or that flows indirectly, to the relevant taxpayer.

A determination does not form part of an assessment.

Notice of determination

- (6) If the Commissioner makes a determination under subsection (5), the Commissioner must:
- (a) in respect of a determination made under paragraph (5)(a)—serve notice in writing of the determination on the corporate tax entity; or
 - (b) in respect of a determination made under paragraph (5)(b)—serve notice in writing of the determination on the relevant taxpayer.

The notice may be included in a notice of assessment.

Publication in national newspaper of determination in relation to listed public company denying imputation benefit

- (7) If the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph (5)(b), in respect of a distribution made by a listed public company, the Commissioner is taken to have served notice in writing of the determination on the relevant taxpayer if the

Commissioner causes the notice to be published in a daily newspaper that circulates generally in each State, the Australian Capital Territory and the Northern Territory. The notice is taken to have been served on the day on which the publication takes place.

Evidence of determination

- (8) The production of:
- (a) a notice of a determination; or
 - (b) a document signed by the Commissioner, a Second Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner purporting to be a copy of a determination;
- is conclusive evidence:

 - (d) except in proceedings under Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953 on an appeal or review relating to the determination, that the determination is correct.

Objections

- (9) If a taxpayer to whom a determination relates is dissatisfied with the determination, the taxpayer may object against it in the manner set out in Part IVC of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Effect of determination of franking debit or exempting debit

- (10) If the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph (5)(a):
- (a) on the day on which notice in writing of the determination is served on the entity, a franking debit or exempting debit of the corporate tax entity arises in respect of the distribution; and
 - (b) the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit is such amount as is stated in the Commissioner's determination, being an amount that:
 - (i) the Commissioner considers reasonable in the circumstances; and
 - (ii) does not exceed the amount of the franking debit or exempting debit of the entity arising under item 1 of the table in section 205-30 of the Income Tax Assessment 1997 or item 2 of the table in section 208-120 of that Act in respect of the distribution.

Effect of determination that no imputation benefit is to arise

- (11) If the Commissioner makes a determination under paragraph (5)(b), the determination has effect according to its terms.

Application of section to non-share dividends

- (12) This section:
- (a) applies to a non-share equity interest in the same way as it applies to a membership interest; and
 - (b) applies to an equity holder in the same way as it applies to a member; and
 - (c) applies to a non-share dividend in the same way as it applies to a distribution.

Meaning of interest in membership interests

- (13) A person has an interest in membership interests if:
- (a) the person has any legal or equitable interest in the membership interests; or
 - (b) the person is a partner in a partnership and:
 - (i) the assets of the partnership include, or will include, the membership interests; or
 - (ii) the partnership derives, or will derive, income indirectly through interposed companies, trusts or partnerships, from distributions made on the membership interests; or
 - (c) the person is a beneficiary of a trust (including a potential beneficiary of a discretionary trust) and:
 - (i) the membership interests form, or will form, part of the trust estate; or

Section 177EA

- (b) entering into any contract, arrangement, transaction or dealing that changes or otherwise affects the legal or equitable ownership of the membership interests or interest in membership interests;
 - (c) creating, varying or revoking a trust in relation to the membership interests or interest in membership interests;
 - (d) creating, altering or extinguishing a right, power or liability attaching to, or otherwise relating to, the membership interests or interest in membership interests;

 - (f) the membership interests or interest in membership interests beginning to be included, or ceasing to be included, in any of the insurance funds of a life assurance company.
- (15) In determining whether a distribution flows indirectly to a person, assume that the following provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 had not been enacted:
- (a) section 295-385 (about income from assets set aside to meet current pension liabilities), section 295-390 (about income from other assets used to meet current pension liabilities) and 295-400 (about income of a PST attributable to current pension liabilities); or
 - (b) paragraph 320-37(1)(a) (about segregated exempt assets) or paragraph 320-37(1)(d) (about income bonds, funeral policies and scholarship plans).

When imputation benefit is received

- (16) A taxpayer to whom a distribution flows indirectly receives an imputation benefit as a result of the distribution if:
- (a) the taxpayer is entitled to a tax offset under Division 207 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 as a result of the distribution; or
 - (b) where the taxpayer is a corporate tax entity—a franking credit would arise in the franking account of the taxpayer as a result of the distribution.

Note: Where the distribution is made directly to the taxpayer, see subsection 204-30(6) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 for a definition of imputation benefit.

Meaning of relevant circumstances of scheme

- (17) The relevant circumstances of a scheme include the following:
- (a) the extent and duration of the risks of loss, and the opportunities for profit or gain, from holding membership interests, or having interests in membership interests, in the corporate tax entity that are respectively borne by or accrue to the parties to the scheme, and whether there has been any change in those risks and opportunities for the relevant taxpayer or any other party to the scheme (for example, a change resulting from the making of any contract, the granting of any option or the entering into of any arrangement with respect to any membership interests, or interests in membership interests, in the corporate tax entity);
 - (b) whether the relevant taxpayer would, in the year of income in which the distribution is made, or if the distribution flows indirectly to the relevant taxpayer, in the year in which the distribution flows indirectly to the relevant taxpayer, derive a greater benefit from franking credits than other entities who hold membership interests, or have interests in membership interests, in the corporate tax entity;
 - (c) whether, apart from the scheme, the corporate tax entity would have retained the franking credits or exempting credits or would have used the franking credits or exempting credits to pay a franked distribution to another entity referred to in paragraph (b);
 - (d) whether, apart from the scheme, a franked distribution would have flowed indirectly to another entity referred to in paragraph (b);
 - (e) if the scheme involves the issue of a non-share equity interest to which section 215-10 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 applies—whether the corporate tax entity has issued, or is likely to issue, equity interests in the corporate tax entity:
 - (i) that are similar, from a commercial point of view, to the non-share equity interest; and
 - (ii) distributions in respect of which are frankable;
 - (f) whether any consideration paid or given by or on behalf of, or received by or on behalf of, the relevant taxpayer in

Section 177EA

 - (a) identify the liability to which the estimate relates; and
 - (b) specify the day as at which the estimate is made; and
 - (c) set out the amount of the estimate; and
 - (d) state that the amount of the estimate is due and payable; and
 - (e) state that if the person or the person's trustee gives the Commissioner a statutory declaration substantiating the actual unpaid amount of the liability to which the estimate relates, the estimate will be reduced accordingly; and
 - (ea) state that the estimate will be revoked if the person or the person's trustee gives the Commissioner a statutory declaration to the effect that, during the period concerned, the person did not:
 - (i) make any deductions for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4; or
 - (ii) withhold any amounts under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953; or
 - (iii) receive any payments that gave rise to a liability under Division 13 in that Schedule; or
 - (iv) provide any non-cash benefits that gave rise to a liability under Division 14 in that Schedule;as the case requires; and
 - (eb) state that a statutory declaration mentioned in paragraph (e) or (ea) must comply with section 222AGF; and
 - (f) state the effect of section 222AGF.
- (3) To avoid doubt, a single notice may relate to 2 or more estimates, but must comply with subsection (2) in relation to each of them.

222AGC Reducing amount of estimate

- (1) If:
- (a) the Commissioner makes an estimate; and
 - (b) the person liable or the person's trustee gives the Commissioner a statutory declaration that complies with section 222AGF; and
 - (c) the declaration is to the effect that a specified amount is the unpaid amount of the liability to which the estimate relates; and
 - (d) the specified amount is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate;
- the amount of the estimate is reduced by the amount by which the unpaid amount of the estimate (immediately before the reduction) exceeds the specified amount.

Note 1: The effect of subsection (1) is to reduce the unpaid amount of the estimate to the specified amount.

Note 2: Sections 222AHD, 222AIC and 222AIG also provide for the automatic reduction of an estimate.

- (2) The Commissioner may at any time reduce the amount of an estimate, but is not obliged to consider whether or not to do so.
- (3) If the Commissioner reduces under subsection (2) the amount of an estimate, he or she must send to the person liable or to the person's trustee a written notice that:
- (a) identifies the liability to which the estimate relates; and
 - (b) sets out the reduced amount of the estimate.
- The reduction takes effect when the notice is sent.

222AGD Revoking estimate

- (1) This subsection revokes an estimate if:
- (a) the person liable or the person's trustee gives the Commissioner a statutory declaration that complies with section 222AGF; and
 - (b) the declaration is to the effect that, during the period concerned, the person did not:
 - (i) make any deductions for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4; or

Section 222AGE

- (ii) withhold any amounts under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953; or
 - (iii) receive any payments that gave rise to a liability under Division 13 in that Schedule; or
 - (iv) provide any non-cash benefits that gave rise to a liability under Division 14 in that Schedule;
- as the case requires.

Note: Sections 222AHD, 222AIC and 222AIG also provide for the automatic revocation of an estimate.

- (2) The Commissioner may at any time revoke an estimate, but is not obliged to consider whether or not to do so.
- (3) If the Commissioner revokes an estimate under subsection (2), he or she must send to the person liable or to the person's trustee a written notice that:
 - (a) identifies the liability to which the estimate relates; and
 - (b) states that the estimate has been revoked.

The revocation takes effect when the notice is sent.

222AGE Matters for Commissioner to consider under sections 222AGC and 222AGD

In exercising a power under subsection 222AGC(2) or 222AGD(2), the Commissioner is to have regard to the following:

- (a) an estimate is of the unpaid amount of a liability as at a particular time;
- (b) the purpose of reducing the amount of the estimate is to bring it closer to the unpaid amount of the underlying liability as at that time, and so bring the unpaid amount of the estimate closer to the unpaid amount of the underlying liability as at the time of the reduction;
- (c) reductions in the unpaid amount of the underlying liability that happen after the time as at which the estimate was made are dealt with by section 222AHA and so should not be taken into account in exercising such a power;
- (d) the effects of Subdivision F.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

222AGF Requirements for statutory declaration under section 222AGC or 222AGD

- (1) This section sets out the requirements for a statutory declaration for the purposes of section 222AGC or 222AGD.
- (2) The declaration must be a statutory declaration made under the Statutory Declarations Act 1959.
- (3) It must be given to the Commissioner within 7 days, or a longer period allowed by the Commissioner, after the Commissioner sends notice of the estimate to the person liable or to the person's trustee.
- (4) The declaration must:
 - (a) specify:
 - (i) the total of the amounts of the deductions that the person made for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4 during the period concerned; or
 - (ii) the total of the amounts withheld under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the period concerned; or
 - (iii) the total of the amounts of the payments received during the period concerned that gave rise to a liability under Division 13 in that Schedule and the total of the amounts of those liabilities; or
 - (iv) the total of the values of the non-cash benefits, or the amounts of the dividends, interest or royalties, provided during the period concerned that gave rise to a liability under Division 14 in that Schedule and the total of the amounts of those liabilities;as the case requires; or
 - (b) state to the effect that during the period concerned, the person did not:
 - (i) make any deductions for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4; or
 - (ii) withhold any amounts under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953; or
 - (iii) receive any payments that gave rise to a liability under Division 13 in that Schedule; or

- (iv) provide any non-cash benefits that gave rise to a liability under Division 14 in that Schedule; as the case requires.
- (5) For each amount (if any) paid or applied for the purpose of complying with a remittance provision, the declaration must specify the amount and the day on which it was so paid, applied or spent.
- (6) The declaration must specify, as the unpaid amount of the liability to which the estimate relates, the difference between:
 - (a) the total (if any) specified under paragraph (4)(a); and
 - (b) the total of the amounts (if any) specified under subsection (5).
- (7) The declaration must be made by:
 - (a) if the person is a company that has directors, a secretary or both—a director or secretary; or
 - (b) if the person is an individual—the person; or
 - (c) if the person is a government body—a prescribed person; or
 - (d) if the person consists of 2 or more persons including one or more individuals and is neither a company nor a government body—that individual or one of those individuals; or
 - (e) in any case—the person’s trustee.

222AGG Further estimate after previous estimate revoked or discharged

- (1) While an estimate is in force, the Commissioner cannot make under section 222AGA another estimate relating to the same liability.
- (2) An estimate is in force if the Commissioner has given notice of it to the person liable or to the person’s trustee and:
 - (a) the estimate has not been revoked; and
 - (b) the person’s liability to pay the estimate has not been discharged.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AHA

Subdivision C—Recovering unpaid amount of estimate

222AHA Nature of liability created by notice

- (1) If the Commissioner makes an estimate and sends notice of it to the person liable or to the person's trustee, the person must pay to the Commissioner the amount of the estimate. This liability is called a liability to pay an estimate.
- (2) A liability to pay an estimate is separate and distinct from the liability to which the estimate relates. It is separate and distinct for all purposes. For example, the Commissioner may take proceedings to recover the unpaid amount of the estimate, proceedings to recover the unpaid amount of the liability to which the estimate relates, or both.
- (3) However, the following are parallel liabilities:
 - (a) a liability to pay an estimate;
 - (b) the liability to which the estimate relates;
 - (c) liability under a judgment, so far as it is based on a liability referred to in paragraph (a) or (b).
- (4) This means that if, at a particular time:
 - (a) an amount is paid or applied towards discharging one of the parallel liabilities; or
 - (b) because of section 222AOH or 222APG, one of the parallel liabilities is discharged to the extent of a particular amount;each of the others that is in existence at that time is discharged to the extent of the same amount. However, this section does not discharge a liability to a greater extent than the amount of the liability.

222AHB Refund if estimate exceeds underlying liability

- (1) If:
 - (a) an amount is paid or applied towards discharging a liability to pay an estimate; and
 - (b) the amount exceeds the unpaid amount of the underlying liability as at the time (the liability time) immediately before the payment or application;the Commissioner must either refund the excess or:

- (c) apply the excess against any liability of the person to the Commonwealth that arises under or because of an Act of which the Commissioner has the general administration; and
 - (d) refund so much of the excess as is not applied under paragraph (c).
- (2) If the Commissioner refunds or applies an amount under subsection (1), he or she must also reduce the amount of the estimate by the amount by which the unpaid amount of the estimate as at the liability time exceeded the unpaid amount of the underlying liability at that time.

222AHC Defences in recovery proceedings

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of proceedings, in so far as they relate to the recovery of the unpaid amount of an estimate.
- (2) The Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner is not entitled to recover if the person liable or the person's trustee files an affidavit that complies with section 222AHE and verifies facts sufficient to prove that the underlying liability never existed or has been discharged in full.
- (3) If the person liable or the person's trustee files an affidavit that complies with section 222AHE and verifies facts sufficient to prove that the unpaid amount of the underlying liability is a specified amount that is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate, the court is to enter judgment in favour of the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner for the specified amount.
- (4) The court is to make whatever orders are necessary because of subsection (2) or (3).
- (5) If a judgment under subsection (3) is in effect, the Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner is not entitled to recover the balance of the estimate (in the same or different proceedings or otherwise).
- (6) However, the judgment does not prevent the Commissioner or a Deputy Commissioner from recovering (in the same or different proceedings or otherwise) the amount (if any) by which the unpaid amount of the underlying liability exceeds the amount specified in the affidavit.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AHD

- (7) Except as provided in subsection (2) or (3), it is not a defence that:
- (a) the underlying liability never existed or has been discharged in full; or
 - (b) the unpaid amount of the underlying liability is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate.

222AHD Effect of affidavit on estimate

- (1) This subsection revokes an estimate if subsection 222AHC(2) prevents recovery of the unpaid amount because an affidavit verifies facts sufficient to prove that the underlying liability never existed.
- (2) If subsection 222AHC(2) prevents recovery of the unpaid amount of an estimate because an affidavit verifies facts sufficient to prove that the underlying liability has been discharged in full, the amount of the estimate is reduced by the unpaid amount of the estimate (immediately before the reduction).

Note: The effect of subsection (2) is to reduce to a nil amount the unpaid amount of the estimate.

- (3) While a judgment for an amount is in effect under subsection 222AHC(3), the amount of the estimate is reduced by the amount by which the unpaid amount of the estimate (immediately before the reduction) exceeds the first-mentioned amount.

Note: The effect of subsection (3) is to reduce the unpaid amount of the estimate to the amount of the judgment.

222AHE Requirements for affidavit under section 222AHC

- (1) An affidavit for the purposes of section 222AHC must comply with this section.
- (2) The affidavit must be filed with the court, and a copy served on the Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner, as the case requires, within 14 days after the first day on which the person liable or the person's trustee takes a procedural step as a party to the proceedings (for example, entering an appearance, filing a notice of intention to defend, or applying to set aside judgment entered in default of appearance).
- (3) However, the court may extend the period for compliance with subsection (2).

- (4) The facts that the affidavit must verify include:
- (a) the total of the deductions made for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4, as the case requires, during the relevant period, or the fact that no deductions were so made;
 - (b) what has been done to comply with Division 1AAA, 3B or 4 in relation to the deductions (if any) so made;
 - (c) the sum of all amounts withheld under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were withheld during the period;
 - (ca) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 13 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;
 - (d) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 14 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;
 - (e) what has been done to comply with Division 16 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 in relation to the amounts withheld (if any) and the amounts so paid (if any);
 - (f) without limiting paragraphs (b) and (e), what has been done to discharge the liability to which the estimate relates.
- (5) The affidavit must be sworn by:
- (a) if the person is a company that has directors, a secretary or both—a director or secretary; or
 - (b) if the person is an individual—the person; or
 - (c) if the person is a government body—a prescribed person; or
 - (d) if the person consists of 2 or more persons including one or more individuals and is neither a company nor a government body—that individual or one of those individuals; or
 - (e) in any case—the person's trustee.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AIA

Subdivision D—Insolvency proceedings

222AIA Effect on statutory demand if estimate reduced or revoked

- (1) If:
 - (a) the Commissioner serves on a company a statutory demand relating to the company's liability to pay the unpaid amount of an estimate; and
 - (b) the amount of the estimate is later reduced or the estimate is later revoked;then:
 - (c) this subsection changes the statutory demand accordingly; and
 - (d) the demand is taken to have had effect (as so changed) from the time when it was served on the company.
- (2) This subsection sets aside the statutory demand if subsection (1) reduces below the statutory minimum the amount of the debt, or the total of the amounts of the debts, to which the demand relates.

222AIB Defences on winding up application

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of:
 - (a) an application under section 234, 459P, 462 or 464 of the Corporations Act 2001; or
 - (b) an application for leave to make an application under section 459P of the Corporations Act 2001.
- (2) The court is not to presume, merely because the company has failed to comply with a statutory demand, that the company is insolvent if:
 - (a) the demand relates only to a liability in respect of an estimate and the sworn amount of the liability to which the estimate relates is less than the statutory minimum; or
 - (b) the demand relates only to liabilities in respect of 2 or more estimates and the total of the sworn amounts of the liabilities to which the estimates relate is less than the statutory minimum; or
 - (c) the demand relates to:
 - (i) one or more liabilities in respect of one or more estimates; and

- (ii) one or more liabilities none of which is a liability in respect of an estimate; and the total of:
 - (iii) the sworn amount of the liability to which the estimate relates, or the total of the sworn amounts of the liabilities to which the estimates relate, as the case may be; and
 - (iv) the amount of the liability, or the total of the liabilities, referred to in subparagraph (ii);is less than the statutory minimum.
- (3) The sworn amount of a liability to which an estimate relates is:
 - (a) if the company has filed an affidavit that complies with section 222AID and verifies facts sufficient to prove that the liability never existed or has been discharged in full—a nil amount; or
 - (b) if the company has filed an affidavit that complies with section 222AID and verifies facts sufficient to prove that the unpaid amount of the liability is a specified amount that is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate—the specified amount; or
 - (c) otherwise—the unpaid amount of the estimate.
- (4) Except as provided in subsection (2), the company is not entitled to oppose the application on the ground that:
 - (a) a liability to which an estimate relates never existed or has been discharged in full; or
 - (b) the unpaid amount of such a liability is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate.

222AIC Effect of affidavit on estimate

If the unpaid amount of an estimate exceeds the amount that is the sworn amount of the underlying liability for the purposes of section 222AIB because of an affidavit filed for the purposes of that section, the amount of the estimate is reduced by the excess.

Note: The effect is to reduce the unpaid amount of the estimate to the sworn amount of the underlying liability.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AID

222AID Requirements for affidavit under section 222AIB

- (1) An affidavit for the purposes of section 222AIB must comply with this section.
- (2) The affidavit must be filed with the court, and a copy served on the applicant, within 14 days after notice of the application was served on the company.
- (3) However, the court may extend the period for compliance with subsection (2).
- (4) The facts that the affidavit must verify in relation to a liability to which an estimate relates include:
 - (a) the deductions made for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4, as the case requires, during the relevant period, or the fact that no deductions were so made;
 - (b) what has been done to comply with Division 1AAA, 3B or 4 in relation to the deductions (if any) so made;
 - (c) the sum of all amounts withheld under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were withheld during the period;
 - (ca) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 13 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;
 - (d) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 14 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;
 - (e) what has been done to comply with Division 16 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 in relation to the amounts withheld (if any) and the amounts so paid (if any);
 - (f) without limiting paragraphs (b) and (e), what has been done to discharge the liability to which the estimate relates.
- (5) The affidavit must be sworn by a director, secretary or trustee of the company.

222AIE Defences under section 222AIB not available on application to set aside statutory demand

A court is not to set aside or vary a statutory demand on a ground referred to in subsection 222AIB(4).

222AIF Estimate provable in bankruptcy or winding up

- (1) A liability to pay the unpaid amount of an estimate is provable in a bankruptcy or winding up of the person liable, even if the estimate was made after the date of the bankruptcy, or after the relevant date within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001, as the case may be.
- (2) However, the liability is so provable only in so far as the underlying liability would be so provable if the unpaid amount of it were the same as the unpaid amount of the estimate.

Note: Subsection (2) prevents proof of an estimate if the underlying liability could not be proved because, for example, of when it arose.
- (3) Subsections (1) and (2) do not apply if the underlying liability has already been admitted to proof and the proof has not been set aside.
- (4) If the liability in respect of the estimate has been admitted to proof at a particular amount (the admitted amount), the underlying liability is provable only in so far as the unpaid amount of it exceeds the admitted amount.
- (5) In so far as a liability is provable because of this section, it is taken for the purposes of the Bankruptcy Act 1966 to be provable in bankruptcy under that Act.

222AIG Rejection of proof of debt relating to estimate

- (1) This section applies if the Commissioner lodges a proof of debt relating to the unpaid amount of an estimate.
- (2) The trustee of the person liable may reject the proof in whole on the ground that the underlying liability never existed or has been discharged in full, but may only do so if the trustee has given the Commissioner a statutory declaration that complies with section 222AIH and verifies facts sufficient to prove that ground.

Part VI Collection and recovery of tax

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AIG

- (3) The trustee may reject the proof in part on the ground that the unpaid amount of the estimate exceeds the unpaid amount of the underlying liability, but may only do so if the trustee has given the Commissioner a statutory declaration that complies with section 222AIH and verifies facts sufficient to prove that the unpaid amount of the underlying liability is a specified amount that is less than the unpaid amount of the estimate.
- (4) If the Commissioner appeals from, or applies for review of, the trustee's decision, nothing in subsection (2) or (3) prevents evidence being adduced to contradict statements in the declaration.
- (5) This subsection revokes the estimate if:
- (a) the trustee rejects the proof under subsection (2) on the ground that the underlying liability never existed; and
 - (b) the Commissioner does not appeal from, or apply for review of, the trustee's decision, or the result of all appeals from, and applications for review of, the decision being finally determined or otherwise disposed of is that the proof is rejected in whole on that ground.
- (6) If:
- (a) the trustee:
 - (i) rejects the proof under subsection (2) on the ground that the underlying liability has been discharged in full; or
 - (ii) rejects the proof under subsection (3); and
 - (b) the Commissioner does not appeal from, or apply for review of, the trustee's decision;
- the amount of the estimate is reduced by so much of the unpaid amount of the estimate (immediately before the reduction) as is rejected.
- Note: The effect of subsection (6) is to reduce the unpaid amount of the estimate to nil if the proof is rejected in whole, and otherwise to the amount admitted to proof.
- (7) If:
- (a) the trustee rejects the proof under subsection (2) or (3); and
 - (b) the Commissioner appeals from, or applies for review of, the trustee's decision and the result of all appeals from, and applications for review of, the decision being finally determined or otherwise disposed of is that the proof:

- (i) is rejected in whole on the ground that the underlying liability has been discharged in full; or
 - (ii) is rejected in part;
- the amount of the estimate is reduced by so much of the unpaid amount of the estimate (immediately before the reduction) as is rejected.

Note: The effect of subsection (7) is to reduce the unpaid amount of the estimate to nil if the proof is rejected in whole, and otherwise to the amount admitted to proof.

222AIH Requirements for statutory declaration under section 222AIG

- (1) A statutory declaration for the purposes of section 222AIG must comply with this section.
- (2) The declaration must be a statutory declaration made under the Statutory Declarations Act 1959.
- (3) The facts that the declaration must verify include:
 - (a) the total of the deductions made for the purposes of Division 1AA, 2, 3A, 3B or 4, as the case requires, during the relevant period, or the fact that no deductions were so made;
 - (b) what has been done to comply with Division 1AAA, 3B or 4 in relation to the deductions (if any) so made;
 - (c) the sum of all amounts withheld under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were withheld during the period;
 - (ca) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 13 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;
 - (d) the sum of all amounts required to be paid under Division 14 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 during the relevant period, or the fact that no amounts were so paid during the period;

 - (b) if the person liable is an individual—the person; or
 - (c) if the person liable is a government body—a prescribed person; or
 - (d) if the person liable consists of 2 or more persons including one or more individuals and is neither a company nor a government body—that individual or one of those individuals; or

222AII Provisions altering effect of Corporations Act

This Subdivision has effect despite any provision of the Corporations Act 2001.

Subdivision E—Late payment of estimate

222AJA Liability to the general interest charge

- (1) This section applies if a liability to pay an estimate remains undischarged at the end of 7 days after the Commissioner sends notice of the estimate to the person liable or to the person's trustee, unless the person liable is the Commonwealth.
- (2) The unpaid amount of the estimate, as at the end of the 7 days, continues to be payable and is called the principal amount.
- (3) The person is also liable to pay the general interest charge on the unpaid amount of the estimate for each day in the period that:
 - (a) started at the beginning of the day by which the underlying liability was due to be paid; and

- (b) finishes at the end of the last day on which, at the end of the day, any of the following remains unpaid:
 - (i) the estimate;
 - (ii) general interest charge on any of the estimate.

Note: The general interest charge is worked out under Part IIA of the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

222AJB Effect of paying the general interest charge

- (1) If a person is liable to pay the general interest charge under subsection 222AJA(3) in relation to an estimate, the following are parallel liabilities:
 - (a) the person's liability to the general interest charge;
 - (b) a liability of the person to pay a general interest charge, under a corresponding provision of Division 1AAA, 3B or 4 of this Part, or Subdivision 16-B in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953, as the case requires, because the underlying liability remained undischarged;
 - (c) liability under a judgment, so far as it is based on a liability referred to in paragraph (a) or (b);
 - (d) a liability of the person to pay interest carried by a judgment debt, to the extent that the judgment debt is based on the liability to pay the estimate or on the liability to pay the general interest charge under subsection 222AJA(3) on an unpaid amount of the estimate.
- (2) This means that if, at a particular time, an amount is paid or applied towards discharging one of the parallel liabilities, each of the others that is in existence at that time is discharged to the extent of the same amount. However, this section does not discharge a liability to a greater extent than the amount of the liability.
- (3) If, because a judgment debt carries interest, section 8AAH of the Taxation Administration Act 1953 reduces the amount of a general interest charge payable as mentioned in paragraph (1)(b), the amount of the reduction is taken for the purposes of subsection (2) to have been applied towards discharging the person's liability to the charge.

Division 8 Prompt recovery, through estimates and payment agreements, of certain amounts not remitted

Section 222AKA

Subdivision F—Effect on liabilities under this and other Divisions if estimate reduced or revoked

222AKA Liabilities adjusted with effect from when they arose

- (1) If the amount of an estimate is reduced, or an estimate is revoked, section 222AHA, Subdivision E and Division 9 have effect, and are taken always to have had effect, as if:
 - (a) the original amount of the estimate had been the reduced amount, not the amount set out under paragraph 222AGB(2)(c); or
 - (b) the estimate had never been made;as the case may be.
- (2) If because of subsection (1) an amount is taken to have been overpaid by a person, the Commissioner must either refund it or:
 - (a) apply it against any liability of the person to the Commonwealth that arises under or because of an Act of which the Commissioner has the general administration; and
 - (b) refund so much of it as is not applied under paragraph (a).
- (3) If the amount of an estimate is reduced again, or an estimate is revoked after its amount has been reduced on one or more occasions, subsections (1) and (2) apply again accordingly.

222AKB Reduction or revocation does not prejudice Commissioner's rights in relation to underlying liability

Reduction of the amount of an estimate, or revocation of an estimate, does not affect the Commissioner's rights or remedies in relation to the underlying liability, except so far as this Division expressly provides.

If an agreement so provides, the specified provisions are called special conditions.
- (4) The amounts specified in an agreement are due and payable on the specified days.
- (5) However, if:
- (a) a specified amount is not paid on or before the specified day;
or
 - (b) the person contravenes a special condition;

Division 9—Penalties for directors of non-remitting companies

Subdivision A—Object and interpretation

222ANA Object and outline

- (1) The purpose of this Division is to ensure that a company either meets its obligations under Division 8 of this Act, or under Subdivision 16-B in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953, or goes promptly into voluntary administration under Part 5.3A of the Corporations Act 2001 or into liquidation.
- (2) The Division imposes a duty on the directors to cause the company to do so. The duty is enforced by penalties. - (1) Except so far as the contrary intention appears, an expression has the same meaning in this Division as in Division 8.
- (2) A deduction purporting to be made for the purposes of a Division is taken to be made for the purposes of that Division.
- (3) A person purporting to withhold an amount under Division 12 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 is taken to have withheld the amount under that Division.

- (b) if that transfer was taken to have been made because of subsection 345(1)—the actual transfer referred to in that subsection; or
- (c) if that transfer was taken to have been made because of subsection 345(2)—the actual transfer referred to in paragraph 345(2)(d); or
- (d) if that transfer was taken to have been made because of subsection 345(5)—the actual transfer referred to in paragraph 345(5)(b); or

344 References to transfer of property or services

- (1) A reference in this Subdivision to the transfer of property or services to a trust includes a reference to the transfer of property or services by way of the creation of the trust.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, where an entity acquires property that did not previously exist, the property is taken to have existed immediately before the acquisition and to have been acquired from the entity who created the property.
- (3) For the purposes of this Subdivision, property or services are to be taken to have been transferred to an entity if the property or services have been applied for the benefit of, or in accordance with the directions of, the entity.
- (4) Without limiting the generality of subsection (3), a reference in that subsection to the application of property or services for the benefit of an entity includes a reference to the application of property or services in the discharge, in whole or in part, of a debt due by the entity.
- (5) A reference in this Subdivision to a transfer of property or services to an entity includes a reference to a transfer made before the commencement of this Subdivision.
- (6) A reference in this Subdivision to the transfer of property or services to a trust does not include a reference to a transfer made by the trustee of the estate of a deceased person under:

Section 345

- (a) the terms of the deceased person's will or codicil; or
- (b) an order of a court that varied or modified the provisions of a deceased person's will or codicil;

unless:

- (c) the transfer was made in or as a result of the exercise (by the trustee or any other person) of a power of appointment or any other discretion; or
- (d) under subsection 345(1), the property or services are taken to have been transferred by an entity other than the trustee, instead of by the trustee; or
- (e) under subsection 345(5), the Commissioner treats the property or services as having been (to any extent) transferred by an entity other than the trustee, instead of by the trustee.

345 Deemed transfers of property or services

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, where an entity (in this subsection called the prime entity) causes another entity to actually transfer property or services to a trust, the prime entity (instead of the other entity) is to be taken to have transferred the property or services to the trust.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, where:
 - (a) the trustee of a trust issues units in the trust to an entity (in this subsection called the first entity) in the first entity's capacity as a manager, underwriter or dealer in relation to the marketing or placement of the units; and
 - (b) in the course of the marketing or placement of the units, the units are disposed of by the first entity to another entity (in this subsection called the second entity); and
 - (c) at a particular time (in this subsection called the second entity's transfer time), the second entity transfers property or services to the first entity as consideration for the acquisition of the units; and

- (d) the first entity has actually transferred, or actually transfers, property or services (in this subsection called the original property or services) to the trust for the sole purpose of acquiring the units;
the second entity is taken to have transferred the original property or services (instead of the first entity) at the second entity's transfer time.
- (3) A reference in subsection (2) to a unit in a trust is a reference to an interest (however described) in any of the income or property of the trust.
- (4) Subsections (1) and (2) do not limit the operation of subsection (5).
- (5) Where, under a scheme:
- (a) an entity (in this subsection called the scheme entity) actually transfers property or services to another entity; and
 - (b) property or services are actually transferred to a trust at a particular time otherwise than by the scheme entity;
- the Commissioner may, for the purposes of this Subdivision, treat the property or services mentioned in paragraph (b) as having been transferred by the scheme entity (instead of by any other entity) to the trust at that time.
- (6) Where:
- (a) apart from subsections (8), (10) and (11), a partnership transfers property or services to a trust at a particular time (in this subsection called the transfer time); and
 - (b) at a later time (in this subsection called the cessation time), the partnership ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act;
- then, for the purpose of determining whether an entity that was a partner in the partnership immediately before the cessation time is an eligible transferor in relation to the trust at a time after the cessation time, each such partner is to be taken to have transferred the original property or services to the trust at the transfer time.
- (7) Nothing in subsection (6) affects the application of this Subdivision to the transfer made by the partnership concerned.
- (8) For the purposes of this Subdivision, if:
- (a) apart from this subsection and subsections (6), (10) and (11), a discretionary trust (in this subsection called the transferor trust) transfers property or services (in this subsection called the original property or services) to another trust (in this subsection called the transferee trust) at a particular time (in this subsection called the transfer time); and

Section 345

- (b) at a later time (in this subsection called the cessation time), the transferor trust commences to be wound up or ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act; and
- (c) apart from this subsection and subsections (6), (10) and (11), one or more other entities transferred property or services to the transferor trust at or before the transfer time; each of those other entities is to be taken to have transferred the original property or services to the transferee trust at the transfer time.

- (9) Nothing in subsection (8) affects the application of this Subdivision to the transfer mentioned in paragraph (8)(a).
- (10) For the purposes of this Subdivision, where:
 - (a) any of the following subparagraphs applies:
 - (i) any of the following events occurs in relation to a company (which company is in this subsection called the transferor):
 - (A) the company passes a resolution for its winding-up;
 - (B) an order is made for the winding-up of the company;
 - (C) any similar event;
 - (ii) a partnership (in this subsection also called the transferor) ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act;
 - (iii) either of the following sub-subparagraphs applies in relation to the trustee of a trust (in this subsection also called the transferor):
 - (A) the trust commences to be wound-up;
 - (B) the trust estate ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act; and
 - (b) an actual transfer of property or services is made to a trust (in this subsection called the transferee) as a consequence of the transferor being wound-up or ceasing to exist;
the transferor is taken to have transferred to the transferee the property or services concerned.

(11) Where:

- (a) the following subparagraphs apply to an entity (in this subsection called the defunct entity):
 - (i) the defunct entity is a company, partnership or trust;
 - (ii) the defunct entity transferred property or services (in this subsection called the original property or services) to a trust (including a transfer that was taken to have been made because of another application or applications of this subsection) at a particular time (in this subsection called the transfer time);
 - (iii) if the defunct entity is a company—the company passes a resolution for its winding-up, an order is made for the winding-up of the company or a similar event occurs;
 - (iv) if the defunct entity is a partnership—the partnership ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act;
 - (v) if the defunct entity is a trust—the trust commences to be wound up or ceases to exist for the purposes of this Act; and
- (b) the Commissioner is satisfied that an entity (in this subsection called the successor entity) has benefited or is capable (whether by the exercise of a power of appointment or otherwise) of benefiting (either directly or indirectly through one or more interposed companies, partnerships or trusts) as a result of a transfer of property or services made by the defunct entity or a transfer of property or services made as a consequence of the defunct entity being wound up or ceasing to exist; and
- (c) the Commissioner is of the opinion that it is appropriate to apply this subsection to the successor entity;

then, for the purpose of determining whether the successor entity is an eligible transferor in relation to the trust referred to in subparagraph (a)(ii) at a time after the transfer time, the successor entity is to be taken to have transferred the original property or services to that trust.

346 Circumstances in which a transfer of property or services is an eligible business transaction

An underlying transfer of property or services to a trust is an eligible business transaction if, and only if, at or about the time of the transfer, identical or similar property or services were transferred by the transferor in the ordinary course of business to ordinary clients or customers under arm's length transactions in similar circumstances and subject to identical or similar terms and conditions as those that applied in relation to the underlying transfer of the property or services concerned.

347 Eligible transferor in relation to a discretionary trust

(1) An entity (in this section called the transferor entity) is an eligible transferor in relation to a discretionary trust at a particular time (in this section called the test time) if the trust is not a public unit trust at the test time and:

(a) all of the following subparagraphs apply:

- (i) the transferor entity transferred property or services to the trust at a time (in this subparagraph called the transfer time) at or after the IP time and before the test time;
- (ii) if the underlying transfer was made in the course of carrying on a business—the underlying transfer was not an eligible business transaction;
- (iii) if the underlying transfer was made under an arm's length transaction otherwise than in the course of carrying on a business—the transferor entity was in a position, at any time after the transfer time and before the test time, to control the trust; or

(b) all of the following subparagraphs apply:

- (i) the transferor entity transferred property or services to the trust at any time before the IP time;
- (ii) the underlying transfer was not an eligible business transaction;
- (iii) at any time after the IP time and before the test time, the entity was in a position to control the trust;

and, at the test time, the transferor entity is an Australian entity or a CFE.

(2) For the purposes of this section, an entity is taken to be in a position to control a trust if, and only if:

- (a) a group in relation to the entity had the power by means of the exercise by the group of any power of appointment or revocation or otherwise, to obtain, with or without the - consent of any other entity, the beneficial enjoyment of the corpus or income of the trust; or

- (b) a group in relation to the entity was able in any manner whatsoever, whether directly or indirectly, to control the application of the corpus or income of the trust; or
 - (c) a group in relation to the entity was capable under a scheme of gaining the enjoyment or the control referred to in paragraph (a) or (b); or
 - (d) a trustee of the trust was accustomed or under an obligation (whether formally or informally) or might reasonably be expected to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of a group in relation to the entity; or
 - (e) a group in relation to the entity was able to remove or appoint the trustee, or any of the trustees, of the trust.

- (1) An entity is an eligible transferor in relation to a non-discretionary trust or a public unit trust at a particular time (in this section called the test time) if:
- (a) the transferor entity transferred property or services to the trust at or after the IP time and before the test time; and
 - (b) the underlying transfer was made for no consideration or for a consideration less than the arm's length amount in relation to the underlying transfer; and

- (c) it is not the case that the sole purpose of the underlying transfer was the acquisition of units in the trust where the parties to the underlying transfer were at arm's length with each other in relation to the underlying transfer and the trust was a public unit trust at the test time;
and, at the test time, the transferor entity is an Australian entity or a CFE.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the arm's length amount in relation to a transfer of property or services to a trust is the amount that the trustee could reasonably be expected to have been required to pay to obtain the property or services concerned from the transferor under a transaction where the parties were dealing with each other at arm's length in relation to the transaction.

 - (b) the indirect control interests in the company or trust that the lower entity holds at that time; and
 - (c) the direct control interests in the company or trust held at that time by associates of the lower entity; and
 - (d) the indirect control interests in the company or trust held at that time by associates of the lower entity.
- (2) In calculating the associate-inclusive control interest that the lower entity holds in the company or trust:
 - (a) an indirect control interest of the lower entity is not to be counted under paragraph (1)(b) to the extent to which it is calculated by reference to:
 - (i) a direct control interest in the company or trust that is taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); or
 - (ii) an indirect control interest in the company or trust that is taken into account under paragraph (1)(d); and
 - (b) an indirect control interest of an associate of the lower entity is not to be counted under paragraph (1)(d) to the extent to which it is calculated by reference to:
 - (i) a direct control interest in the company or trust that is taken into account under paragraph (1)(a) or (c); or
 - (ii) an indirect control interest in the company or trust that is taken into account under paragraph (1)(b) or (d).

Section 349

- (3) If, apart from this subsection, both of the following things would be counted in calculating the associate-inclusive control interest that the lower entity holds in the company or trust:
- (a) the holding of a direct control interest by the lower entity or any other entity;
 - (b) an entitlement to acquire that direct control interest;
- only one of those things is to be taken into account.
- (4) For the purpose of determining any of the following matters:

- if, apart from this subsection, an entity, or each of 2 or more entities, would hold a direct control interest, or control tracing interest, in another entity (in this subsection called the higher entity) equal to 100%:
- (f) only one of those entities is to be taken to hold a direct control interest, or control tracing interest, as the case may be, in the higher entity equal to 100%; and
 - (g) no other entity (whether or not the entity would, apart from this subsection hold a direct control interest, or control tracing interest, of 100%) is to be taken to hold any direct control interest, or control tracing interest, as the case may be, in the higher entity.
- (5) For the purpose of calculating the aggregate of the associate-inclusive control interests that a group of entities holds in a company or trust:

- (a) if a particular direct control interest or indirect control interest that an entity holds in another entity would be counted more than once because the entity is an associate of one or more other entities in the group, that interest is to be counted only once; and
 - (b) if both of the following things would, but for this subsection, be counted in calculating the aggregate of the associate-inclusive control interests that a group of entities holds in a company or trust:
 - (i) the holding of a direct control interest by an entity;

Division 3 Control interests, attribution interests, attributable taxpayers and attribution percentages

Section 350

- (3) For the purposes of the application of subsection (1) to a company, the percentage that an entity holds, or is entitled to acquire, at a particular time (in this subsection called the test time) in a statutory accounting period of the company, of the total rights to distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders on winding-up is to be worked out by:

 - (ii) the property of the partnership as at the end of the accounting period; and
 - (d) assuming that the percentage that the partner holds, or that the partner is entitled to acquire, at the test time was the same at all other times during the accounting period; and
 - (e) ascertaining the percentage concerned:
 - (i) at the end of the accounting period instead of at the test time; and
 - (ii) on that assumption.

368 Direct attribution account interest in a trust

- (1) A beneficiary in a trust holds a direct attribution account interest in the trust at a particular time equal to:
 - (a) the percentage of the income of the trust represented by the share of the income to which the beneficiary is entitled, or that the beneficiary is entitled to acquire; or
 - (b) the percentage of the corpus of the trust represented by the share of the corpus to which the beneficiary is entitled, or that the beneficiary is entitled to acquire;or, if those percentages differ, the greater of those percentages.
- (2) For the purposes of the application of subsection (1) to a trust:
 - (a) the percentage of the income of the trust represented by the share of the income to which the beneficiary is entitled, or that the beneficiary is entitled to acquire; or
 - (b) the percentage of the corpus of the trust represented by the share of the corpus to which the beneficiary is entitled, or that the beneficiary is entitled to acquire;at a particular time (in this subsection called the test time) in an accounting period of the trust, is to be worked out by:
 - (c) ascertaining whichever of the following is applicable:
 - (i) the income of the trust for the accounting period;

Section 369

- (ii) the corpus of the trust as at the end of the accounting period; and
- (d) assuming that the share to which the entity is entitled, or that the entity is entitled to acquire, at the test time was the same at all other times during the accounting period; and
- (e) ascertaining the percentage concerned:
 - (i) at the end of the accounting period instead of at the test time; and
 - (ii) on that assumption.
- (3) Each entity that is an eligible transferor in relation to a trust at a particular time holds a direct attribution account interest in the trust at that time equal to:
 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—100%; or
 - (b) if, because there are 2 or more eligible transferors in relation to the trust, the Commissioner reduces an attribution percentage under subsection 362(3) or (4) or subsection 362(5) applies—such lower percentage as the Commissioner considers reasonable in the circumstances.
- (4) An entity that holds a direct attribution account interest in a trust at a particular time because of subsection (3) is not taken to hold any direct attribution account interest in the trust at that particular time because of subsection (1).

369 Indirect attribution account interest in an entity

- (1) The indirect attribution account interest that an entity (in this section called the bottom entity) holds in another entity (in this section called the top entity) is calculated in accordance with this section.
- (2) An interposed entity is not to be taken into account in calculating the indirect attribution account interest unless the entity is an attribution account entity.
- (3) If there is only one entity interposed between the bottom entity and the top entity, the indirect attribution account interest is calculated by multiplying the direct attribution account interest that the bottom entity holds in the interposed entity by the direct attribution account interest that the interposed entity holds in the top entity.

- (4) If there are 2 entities interposed between the bottom entity and the top entity, the indirect attribution account interest is calculated:
- (a) by multiplying the direct attribution account interest that the bottom entity holds in the first interposed entity by the direct attribution account interest that the first interposed entity holds in the second interposed entity; and
 - (b) by multiplying the result of the calculation in paragraph (a) by the direct attribution account interest that the second interposed entity holds in the top entity.
- (5) If there are 3 or more entities interposed between the bottom entity and the top entity, the indirect attribution account interest is calculated:
- (a) by multiplying the direct attribution account interest that the bottom entity holds in the first interposed entity by the direct attribution account interest that the first interposed entity holds in the second interposed entity; and
 - (b) by multiplying the result of the multiplication referred to in paragraph (a) by the direct attribution account interest that the second interposed entity holds in the third interposed entity;
- and so on, ending with a multiplication by the direct attribution account interest that the last interposed entity holds in the top entity.
- (6) For the purposes of this section, an entity (in this subsection called the second entity) is interposed between 2 other entities (in this subsection called the first entity and the third entity respectively) if, and only if:
- (a) the first entity has a direct attribution account interest in the second entity; and
 - (b) the second entity has a direct attribution account interest in the third entity.

370 Attribution surplus

An attribution surplus for an attribution account entity in relation to a taxpayer exists at a particular time if the entity's total attribution credits arising before that time in relation to the taxpayer exceed its total attribution debits arising before that time in relation to the taxpayer.

371 Attribution credit

- (1) An attribution credit arises for an attribution account entity (in this section called the eligible entity) in relation to a taxpayer if:
- (a) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 456 in respect of the attributable income of the eligible entity for a statutory accounting period; or
 - (aa) both the following conditions apply:
 - (i) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 456 in respect of the attributable income of another attribution account entity (the other entity) for a statutory accounting period of the other entity;
 - (ii) that amount was calculated by reference to another amount (the Part XI amount) that under Part XI was included in the attributable income of the other entity because the other entity had an interest in the eligible entity; or
 - (ab) each of the following conditions applies:
 - (i) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 456 in respect of the attributable income of another attribution account entity (the other entity) for a statutory accounting period of the other entity;
 - (ii) the amount so included was calculated by reference to another amount that under Part XI was included in the attributable income of the other entity because the other entity had an interest in another attribution account entity (the interposed entity);
 - (iii) the other amount referred to in subparagraph (ii) of this paragraph was calculated by reference to an amount (the section 576 amount) that under section 576 was included in the notional income of the interposed entity because the interposed entity had an interest in the eligible entity; or
 - (b) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 457 as a result of a change of residence by the eligible entity; or
 - (d) an attribution account payment that requires an attribution debit for another entity in relation to the taxpayer is made to the eligible entity.

- (2) Subject to subsections (2A), (2B), (3) and (4), the amount of the attribution credit is equal to the amount included in assessable income or to the amount of the attribution debit, as the case may be.
- (2A) If an attribution credit arises under paragraph (1)(aa) for an eligible entity, the amount of the attribution credit is to be worked out using the formula:

In the formula:

FIF income means the amount of the foreign investment fund income included, in relation to the eligible entity, under Part XI in the notional assessable income of the other entity for the statutory accounting period of the other entity referred to in paragraph (1)(aa).

Section 456 amount means the amount included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 456 in respect of the statutory accounting period referred to in paragraph (1)(aa) of the other entity.

Notional assessable income means the notional assessable income of the other entity under Part X for the statutory accounting period referred to in paragraph (1)(aa).

- (2B) If an attribution credit arises under paragraph (1)(ab) for an eligible entity, the amount of the attribution credit is to be worked out using the formula:

For the purposes of this subsection:

FIF income means the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{FIF income of the eligible entity} \times \text{Section 529 amount}}{\text{Notional income of the interposed entity}}$$

FIF income of the eligible entity means the amount of the foreign investment fund income included, in relation to the eligible entity, under section 576 in the notional income of the interposed entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(ii) for the notional accounting period of the interposed entity that ends during the statutory accounting period of the other entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(i).

Section 529 amount means the amount included in the notional assessable income of the other entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(i) under section 529 in respect of the statutory accounting period referred to in that subparagraph because of an interest that that other entity holds in the interposed entity.

Notional income of the interposed entity means the notional income of the interposed entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(ii) under Part XI for the notional accounting period of that entity that ends during the statutory accounting period of the other entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(ii).

Section 456 amount means the amount included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 456 in respect of the statutory accounting period referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(i) of the other entity referred to in that subparagraph.

Notional assessable income means the notional assessable income of the other entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(i) under Part X for the statutory accounting period referred to in that subparagraph.

- (2C) If subsection (2A) applies to a taxpayer in respect of one or more eligible entities in respect of a particular section 456 amount, the amount of the attribution credit arising under paragraph (1)(a) for the other entity referred to in paragraph (1)(aa) is reduced by the attribution credit or the sum of the attribution credits that, except for subsection (2D), would arise for the eligible entity or eligible entities under subsection (2A).
- (2D) If subsection (2B) applies to a taxpayer in respect of one or more eligible entities in respect of a particular amount included in the notional income of the interposed entity referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(ii), the amount of the attribution credit arising under paragraph (1)(aa) for the interposed entity is to be reduced by the attribution credit or the sum of the attribution credits arising for the eligible entity or eligible entities under subsection (2B).

(4) Where:

- (a) the attribution credit arises under paragraph (1)(d) in relation to an attribution account payment consisting of a non-portfolio dividend paid to the eligible entity, where the eligible entity is a company; and
- (b) the eligible entity is or will be liable to pay an amount of foreign tax on the attribution account payment or on amounts that include the attribution account payment;

then the amount of the attribution credit is reduced by the amount calculated using the formula:

Attribution account percentage \times Foreign tax

where:

Attribution account percentage means the taxpayer's attribution account percentage for the attribution account entity.

Foreign tax means the amount of foreign tax, to the extent that it is attributable to the attribution account payment.

(5) The attribution credit arises:

- (a) in a paragraph (1)(a) case where subsection 319(6) does not apply to the statutory accounting period referred to in that paragraph—at the end of the statutory accounting period; or
- (aaa) in a paragraph (1)(a) case where subsection 319(6) applies to the statutory accounting period referred to in that paragraph—at the beginning of the statutory accounting period; or
- (ab) in a paragraph (1)(ab) case—at the end of the notional accounting period of the eligible entity that gave rise to the section 576 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(ab)(iii); or
- (b) in a paragraph (1)(b) case—subject to subsection (8), at the time of the change of residence referred to in that paragraph; or
- (d) in a paragraph (1)(d) case—when the attribution account payment referred to in that paragraph is made.

Section 371

- (6) Where, apart from this subsection, an attribution credit would arise in relation to an attribution account entity for an Australian partnership or an Australian trust in respect of an amount included in the assessable income of the partnership or trust of a year of income under section 456 or 457, then, subject to subsection (7):
- (a) the attribution credit does not arise for the partnership or trust; and
 - (b) an attribution credit arises in relation to the attribution account entity for:
 - (i) any taxpayer for whom, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment would arise in circumstances referred to in paragraphs 460(2)(a) and (b) or paragraphs 460(3)(a) and (b); and
 - (ii) any taxpayer where, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment would arise for the trustee of a trust in which the taxpayer is a beneficiary, in respect of an amount assessable to the trustee under section 98 in respect of the taxpayer's share of the net income of the trust, in circumstances referred to in paragraph 460(4)(a); and
 - (iii) any taxpayer in the capacity of trustee of a trust, where, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment would arise for the taxpayer in respect of an amount assessable to the taxpayer under section 99 or 99A, in circumstances referred to in paragraph 460(4)(a); and
 - (c) the amount of the attribution credit referred to in paragraph (b) equals the amount of the tax detriment, as reduced by any application of section 460; and
 - (d) the attribution credit referred to in paragraph (b) arises at the time when the attribution credit referred to in paragraph (a) would, but for this subsection, have arisen.
- (7) Subsection (6) does not apply to an Australian trust that is, in relation to the year of income referred to in that subsection:
- (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of Division 6B of Part III; or
 - (b) a public trading trust within the meaning of Division 6C of that Part; or
 - (c) a complying superannuation fund, a non-complying superannuation fund, a complying approved deposit fund, a non-complying approved deposit fund or a pooled superannuation trust.

- (8) If:
- (a) a company ceases to be resident in an unlisted country and becomes a resident of a listed country; and
 - (b) an amount (in this subsection called the section 457 amount) is included in a taxpayer's assessable income under section 457 as a result of the change of residence; and
 - (c) a particular part (in this subsection called the eligible part) of the section 457 amount is attributable to a hypothetical disposal of a particular asset of the company at the residence change time; and
 - (d) it might reasonably be expected that, if and when the company actually disposes of the asset, so much of the gain derived by the company on the actual disposal of the asset that accrued before the residence change time will be subject to tax in the listed country;

the taxpayer may elect to defer the timing of so much of the paragraph (1)(b) attribution credit as is attributable to the eligible part from the time of the change of residence referred to in that paragraph until immediately before the payment by the company of a dividend out of the gain derived by the company on the actual disposal of the asset.

- (9) An election for the purposes of subsection (8):
- (b) is irrevocable; and
 - (c) has no effect unless it is made:
 - (i) within 6 months after the end of the later of the following years of income:
 - (A) the year of income in which the residence change time took place;
 - (B) the year of income in which this subsection commenced; or
 - (ii) within such further period as the Commissioner allows.

372 Attribution debit

- (1) An attribution debit arises for an attribution account entity (in this section called the eligible entity) in relation to a taxpayer if:

Section 373

- (a) the eligible entity makes an attribution account payment to the taxpayer or to another attribution account entity; and
 - (b) immediately before the eligible entity makes the attribution account payment, there is an attribution surplus for the eligible entity in relation to the taxpayer.
- (2) Subject to subsection (4), the amount of the debit is the lesser of:
- (a) the attribution surplus; and
 - (b) whichever of the following is applicable:
 - (i) if the attribution account payment is made to the taxpayer—the attribution account payment;
 - (ii) in any other case—the taxpayer’s attribution account percentage (for the attribution account entity to which the payment is made) of the attribution account payment.
- (4) Where:
- (a) the attribution account payment is made to an attribution account entity that is a trust; and
 - (b) the attribution surplus, for the eligible entity, is in relation to the taxpayer in the capacity of trustee of the trust (because it is a surplus that resulted from an attribution credit or credits that arose under subparagraph 371(6)(b)(iii));
- then the amount of the attribution debit is the lesser of:
- (c) the attribution surplus; and
 - (d) any amount assessable to the taxpayer under section 99 or 99A in relation to the net income of the trust of the year of income in which the attribution account payment is made.
- (5) The attribution debit arises when the attribution account payment is made.

373 Grossed-up amount of an attribution debit

The grossed-up amount in relation to an attribution debit is:

- (a) where subparagraph 372(2)(b)(i) applied in relation to the debit—the amount of the debit; or
- (b) where subparagraph 372(2)(b)(ii) applied in relation to the debit—the amount of the debit, divided by the attribution account percentage referred to in that subparagraph.

Division 7—Calculation of attributable income of CFC

Subdivision A—Basic principles

381 Separate attributable income for each attributable taxpayer

Where, at the end of a statutory accounting period (in this Division called the eligible period) of a company:

- (a) the company is a CFC; and
- (b) there are one or more attributable taxpayers in relation to the company;

the attributable income of the company (in this Division called the eligible CFC) for the eligible period is calculated separately for each such attributable taxpayer (in this Division called the eligible taxpayer) in accordance with this Division.

382 Attributable income is taxable income calculated on certain assumptions

- (1) The attributable income is the amount that would be the eligible CFC's taxable income for the eligible period if certain assumptions were made.
- (2) For the purposes of describing those assumptions, amounts of assessable income, allowable deductions and exempt income that are to be taken into account in calculating the taxable income are referred to respectively as notional assessable income, notional allowable deductions and notional exempt income.

383 Basic assumptions

The assumptions are:

- (a) that the eligible CFC is a taxpayer and a resident, within the meaning of section 6, during the whole of the eligible period; and
- (b) that the eligible period is a year of income, being the year of income of the eligible taxpayer in which the eligible period ends; and

Section 384

- (c) that this Act is modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E; and
- (d) whichever of the assumptions in section 384 or 385 applies.

384 Additional assumption for unlisted country CFC

- (1) Where the eligible CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period, it is to be assumed:
 - (a) that the only amounts of notional assessable income are those to which subsection (2) applies; and
 - (b) that all other income is notional exempt income.
- (2) The amounts of notional assessable income are:
 - (a) where the eligible CFC does not pass the active income test for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer—amounts that would be included in its notional assessable income for the eligible period under this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E if the only income or other amounts derived by it during the eligible period, and any earlier statutory accounting period, were adjusted tainted income (within the meaning of section 386); and
 - (b) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under section 102AAZD of this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E; and
 - (c) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Division 6 of Part III of this Act as so modified; and
 - (ca) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Part XI as so modified; and
 - (d) amounts that would be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Division 5 of Part III of this Act, as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E of this Division, in relation to any partnership if its net income included only:
 - (i) where the eligible CFC does not pass the active income test for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer—amounts that would be included if the partnership derived only adjusted tainted income (within the meaning of section 386); and

- (ii) amounts included under section 102AAZD of this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E of this Division; and
- (iii) amounts included under Division 6 of Part III of this Act as so modified; and
- (iv) amounts included under Part XI as so modified.

385 Additional assumption for listed country CFC

- (1) Where the eligible CFC is a resident of a listed country at the end of the eligible period, it is to be assumed:
 - (a) that the only amounts of notional assessable income are those to which subsection (2) applies; and
 - (b) that all other income is notional exempt income.
- (2) Subject to subsection (4), the amounts of notional assessable income are:
 - (a) amounts that would be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E if the only income or other amounts derived during the eligible period, and any earlier statutory accounting period, by the eligible CFC were:
 - (i) where the eligible CFC does not pass the active income test for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer—adjusted tainted income (within the meaning of section 386) that is eligible designated concession income in relation to the listed country or any other listed country; and
 - (ii) income or other amounts, of a kind specified in the regulations, that:
 - (A) are not eligible designated concession income of the eligible CFC in relation to the listed country or any other listed country; and
 - (B) are not treated as derived from sources in the listed country for the purposes of the tax law of the listed country; and
 - (C) pass the test set out in subsection (2A); and
 - (b) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under section 102AAZD

Section 385

of this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E; and

- (c) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Division 6 of Part III of this Act as so modified, where either of the following conditions (but not necessarily the same condition) is satisfied in relation to the listed country and each other listed country:
 - (i) the amounts are not subject to tax in that listed country in a tax accounting period ending before the end of the eligible period or commencing during the eligible period;
 - (ii) the amounts are subject to tax in that listed country in such a tax accounting period and are designated concession income in relation to the listed country; and
- (ca) amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Part XI as so modified; and
- (d) amounts that would be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under Division 5 of Part III of this Act, as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E of this Division, in relation to any partnership if its net income included only:
 - (i) where the eligible CFC does not pass the active income test for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer—amounts that would be included if the partnership derived only adjusted tainted income (within the meaning of section 386) that is eligible designated concession income in relation to the listed country or any other listed country; and
 - (ii) amounts that would be included if the partnership derived only income or other amounts, of a kind specified in the regulations, that:
 - (A) are not eligible designated concession income of the partnership in relation to the listed country or any other listed country; and
 - (B) are not treated as derived from sources in the listed country for the purposes of the tax law of the listed country; and
 - (C) pass the test set out in subsection (2A); and

- (iii) amounts included under section 102AAZD of this Act as modified in accordance with Subdivisions B to E of this Division; and
 - (iv) amounts included under Division 6 of Part III of this Act as so modified, where either of the following conditions (but not necessarily the same condition) is satisfied in relation to the listed country and each other listed country:
 - (A) the amounts are not subject to tax in that listed country in a tax accounting period ending before the end of the eligible period or commencing during the eligible period;
 - (B) the amounts are subject to tax in that listed country in such a tax accounting period and are designated concession income in relation to the listed country; and
 - (v) amounts included under Part XI as so modified.
- (2A) For the purposes of sub-subparagraphs (2)(a)(ii)(C) and (2)(d)(ii)(C), income or other amounts pass the test set out in this subsection if both:
- (a) the income or other amounts are adjusted tainted income (within the meaning of section 386); and
 - (b) the income or other amounts are not subject to tax in the listed country or in any other listed country in a tax accounting period ending before the end of the eligible period or commencing during the eligible period.
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (2)(c) or (d), a reference in that paragraph to an amount being not subject to tax or subject to tax, as the case may be, includes a reference to another amount included in the net income of a partnership or trust, to which the first-mentioned amount is attributable, being not subject to tax or subject to tax.
- (4) Where the sum of the amounts to which paragraphs (2)(a) and (ca) would otherwise apply does not exceed the lesser of:
- (a) $50,000; and
 - (b) 5% of the gross turnover of the eligible CFC for the eligible period;
- then that paragraph does not apply to those amounts.

Section 386

- (5) In determining for the purposes of paragraph (4)(b) the gross turnover of the eligible CFC for the eligible period, section 434 has effect as if:
- (a) subparagraph 434(1)(a)(i) were omitted; and
 - (b) the words “, but not including amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436” were omitted from paragraphs 434(1)(b), (c) and (d); and
 - (c) the words “(other than an exclusion of amounts shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436)” were omitted from subsection 434(2).

386 Adjusted tainted income

- (1) The references in sections 384, 385 and 457 to adjusted tainted income are references to amounts that would be passive income, tainted sales income or tainted services income if certain modifications were made to the provisions of Division 8.
- (2) The modifications are:
- (a) that paragraphs 446(1)(k), (m) and (n) are replaced with the following:
 - “(k) amounts derived from the disposal of tainted assets;
 - (m) amounts derived from the disposal of tainted commodity investments;
 - (n) amounts derived that are attributable to currency exchange rate fluctuations, except where under section 439 the amounts would, if they were currency exchange gains, relate to an active income transaction;”;and
 - (b) that paragraph 446(1)(k) as so replaced does not apply to an amount derived from the disposal of a tainted asset in the circumstances referred to in paragraphs 450(2)(a) to (c) or (5)(a) to (c); and
 - (c) that paragraph 446(1)(n) as so replaced does not apply to an amount derived where, if it were a currency exchange gain, paragraphs 450(3)(a) and (b) would apply to it; and
 - (d) that the reference in subsection 450(7) to net gains that accrued to the company in respect of the disposal of tainted assets is replaced with a reference to amounts derived by the company from the disposal of tainted assets.

387 Reduction of attributable income because of interim dividends

(1) Where:

- (a) during the eligible period, the eligible CFC pays a dividend to the eligible taxpayer or to another entity; and
- (b) if the dividend is paid to the eligible taxpayer—the whole or part of the dividend is included in the assessable income of the eligible taxpayer of a year of income; and
- (d) the whole or part of the grossed-up assessable component of the dividend may reasonably be regarded as having been paid out of the attributable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period;

then, for the purposes of this Part, the attributable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer is reduced by an amount equal to the whole or the part of the grossed-up assessable component of the dividend.

(2) In this section:

grossed-up assessable component, in relation to a dividend the whole or part of which is included in the assessable income of the eligible taxpayer, means the amount of the whole or the part divided by the eligible taxpayer's attribution percentage for the eligible CFC at the time of payment of the dividend.

Subdivision B—General modifications of Australian tax law

388 Double tax agreements to be disregarded

In calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the International Tax Agreements Act 1953 is to be disregarded, except for the purpose of references in this Act to that Act.

389 Certain provisions to be disregarded in calculating attributable income

For the purpose of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions are to be disregarded:

- (a) except for the purposes of a reference in any other provision of this Part—sections 23AH, 23AI, 23AK and 128D, subsection 136AF(1A), Division 15 of Part III (other than subsection 148(1)) and sections 456, 457, 459A, 461 and 605;

- (b) except for the purposes of a reference in Division 6AAA of Part III or in any other provision of this Part—Part 3-6 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
- (c) Division 820 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

389A Other provisions to be disregarded in calculating attributable income

For the purpose of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions are to be disregarded:

- (a) Division 974 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997; and
- (b) any provision of this Act to the extent to which the operation of the provision depends on an expression whose meaning is given by Division 974 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

390 Elections to be made by eligible taxpayer

- (1) For the purpose of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, any declaration, election, choice or selection that may be made, any notice that may be given or any option that may be exercised, under this Act by the eligible CFC apart from this section is not to be made, given or exercised by the eligible CFC but instead may be made, given or exercised by the eligible taxpayer.
- (2) The eligible taxpayer may make the declaration, election or selection, give the notice or exercise the option in the eligible taxpayer's return of income of the year of income in which the eligible period ends or within such further period after the lodgment of the return as the Commissioner allows.
- (3) Subsection (1) does not apply to an election under the CGT roll-over provisions.

392 Notional assessable amounts are to be pre-tax

- (1) An amount included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC is an amount before the payment of any foreign tax or Australian tax in respect of the amount.

393 Notional allowable deduction for taxes paid

- (1) Foreign tax or Australian tax paid by the eligible CFC in respect of amounts included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period, whether paid before, during or after that period, is a notional allowable deduction from the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period.
- (4) Where a person pays an amount of tax that the person is liable to pay under subsection 148(3) of this Act, in its application apart from this Part, in respect of premiums paid or credited to the eligible CFC, then, for the purposes of subsection (1), the amount is taken to be Australian tax paid by the eligible CFC in respect of the premiums.

394 Notional allowable deduction for eligible finance share dividends, widely distributed finance share dividends and transitional finance share dividends

Where:

- (a) the eligible CFC pays an eligible finance share dividend, a widely distributed finance share dividend or a transitional finance share dividend during or after the eligible period; and
- (b) if, on the assumption that the dividend were instead a payment of the interest, referred to in paragraph 327(d) or 327A(3)(b) or subsection 327B(2), as the case requires, to which it may reasonably be regarded as equivalent, an amount (in this section called the interest equivalent) of that interest accruing during the eligible period would be a notional allowable deduction for the eligible period;

then the interest equivalent is a notional allowable deduction for the eligible period.

395 Expenditure incurred to produce income or profits in later statutory accounting periods

In determining whether expenditure incurred by the eligible CFC during the eligible period for the purpose of gaining or producing income or profits in a later statutory accounting period is a notional allowable deduction under a particular provision, it is to be assumed that:

- (a) there will be a requirement under this Division to calculate the attributable income of the eligible CFC for that later statutory accounting period; and
- (b) for that purpose, the eligible CFC will always be a resident of the listed country or unlisted country, as the case may be.

396 Modified application of sections 25A and 52

- (1) For the purpose of applying this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in calculating the attributable income of an eligible CFC, sections 25A and 52 of this Act and sections 15-15 and 25-40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 do not apply in respect of the disposal of a non-taxable Australian asset of the eligible CFC.
- (2) A reference in subsection (1) to a non-taxable Australian asset is a reference to a CGT asset other than one that has the necessary connection with Australia (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997).
- (3) The residency assumption is to be ignored in determining whether an asset is a taxable Australian asset for the purposes of this section.

397 Modified application of trading stock provisions

When applying this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC:

- (a) Subdivision B of Division 2 of Part III of this Act has effect as if the value of any article of trading stock to be taken into account at the beginning or end of a year of income were its cost price; and
- (b) Division 70 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 has effect as if the value of any item of trading stock to be taken into account at the beginning or end of an income year were its cost.

398 Modified application of depreciation provisions

- (1) Where property has been held by the eligible CFC in a non-attributable income period in relation to the application of a depreciation provision to the property (in relation to the eligible CFC and the eligible taxpayer) prior to the eligible period, subsection (2) applies.
- (2) Such amount as the Commissioner considers appropriate to take account of the holding of the property as mentioned in subsection (1) is, under the depreciation provision:
 - (a) a notional allowable deduction to the eligible CFC; or
 - (b) included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC;as the case requires, for the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer, in substitution for any amount that would otherwise be so included or allowable.
- (3) For the purpose of exercising his or her power under subsection (2) to determine a notional allowable deduction in relation to:
 - (a) former sections 54 to 62 of this Act; or
 - (b) the former Division 42 (Depreciation) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (other than Subdivisions 42-L and 42-M); or
 - (c) Division 40 of that Act (other than Subdivision 40-E);the Commissioner must assume that the property was used by the eligible CFC during any non-attributable income period wholly and exclusively for the purpose of producing notional assessable income.

398A Application of Division 3A of Part III

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), Division 3A of Part III applies in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC.
- (2) Section 82R does not apply, subject to subsection (3), to outgoings during the eligible period under a convertible note if:
 - (a) the note was issued by the eligible CFC (whether or not the company concerned was a CFC at the time):

Section 399

- (i) before 1 July 1990; or
 - (ii) on or after 1 July 1990 and before 1 July 1992, where:
 - (A) the terms of the issue of the note were publicly announced by the eligible CFC before 1 July 1990; or
 - (B) the eligible CFC was, under a contract entered into before 1 July 1990, obliged to issue the note; and
 - (b) at the end of each statutory accounting period of the eligible CFC preceding the eligible period and ending after 30 June 1990, the eligible taxpayer was an attributable taxpayer in relation to the eligible CFC; and
 - (c) the eligible period begins before 1 July 2000.
- (3) If:
- (a) the terms of a note to which subsection (2) would, apart from this subsection, apply are varied (otherwise than because of a compromise or arrangement approved by a court); and
 - (b) the Commissioner considers that the variation is substantial enough to represent a new loan;
- subsection (2) does not apply to outgoings under the note after the time at which the variation takes place.

399 Modifications of net income of partnerships and trusts

- (1) If, in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, it is necessary to determine the net income of a partnership or trust under section 90 or 95, it is to be assumed that:
 - (a) the modifications of this Act in this Division (other than excluded modifications) apply to the partnership or the trust in the same way as they apply to the eligible CFC (except where a provision modified only applies to companies); and
 - (b) for the purpose of applying those modifications, the partnership or trust is taken to be a resident of the same listed or unlisted country as the eligible CFC; and
 - (c) the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 is further modified by disregarding section 855-50; and
 - (d) for the purposes of applying Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in accordance with the preceding paragraphs, the trust is a resident trust for CGT purposes.

(2) In this section:

excluded modifications means modifications made by sections 404 and 411 to 418 (inclusive).

399A Modified application of bad debt etc. provisions

(1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period:

- (b) section 63D of this Act is to be disregarded; and
- (c) subsection (2) of this section has effect.

(2) Where:

- (a) apart from this subsection, an amount would be a notional allowable deduction to the eligible CFC under section 8-1 or 25-35 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in respect of the writing off of a debt as bad; and
- (b) the debt was created or acquired in the ordinary course of a money-lending business of the eligible CFC that carries on that business; and
- (c) assuming that income:
 - (i) that has been derived by the eligible CFC in respect of the debt; or
 - (ii) that would have been reasonably likely to have been derived by the eligible CFC in respect of the debt if it had not become bad;

were instead derived by the eligible CFC during periods to which it may reasonably be attributed, there would be a part or parts (which part or the total of which parts is in this subsection called the notional exempt income period) of the period (in this subsection called the eligible debt holding period) beginning when the debt was so created or acquired, and ending when it was written off, in respect of which some or all of that income would not be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for any statutory accounting period;

then only a proportion of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) is a notional allowable deduction, being the proportion calculated using the following formula:

where:

Eligible debt holding period means the number of days in the eligible debt holding period.

Notional exempt income period means the number of days in the notional exempt income period.

Eligible debt term means:

- (d) where the debt was acquired from a person other than an associate—the number of days in the eligible debt holding period; or
 - (e) in any other case—the number of days in the period beginning on the day on which the debt was created (whether by the eligible CFC or another person) and ending at the end of the day on which it was written off.
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2):
- (a) where a debt that is written off was acquired from another person, the creation and any previous acquisition of the debt is to be disregarded, other than for the purposes of paragraph (2)(e); and
 - (b) if, on the assumption in paragraph (2)(c), income would be derived by the eligible CFC during a period before the first statutory accounting period of the eligible CFC beginning on or after 1 July 1990, then, in spite of anything in that paragraph, that income is taken not to be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for any statutory accounting period; and
 - (c) it is to be assumed that, for any statutory accounting period for which there is no requirement to calculate the attributable income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible taxpayer, there is such a requirement.
- (4) Where a part of a debt is written off as bad, the preceding provisions of this section apply as if the part were an entire debt that is written off as bad.
- (5) This section has the same effect in relation to an allowable deduction under section 63E in respect of the whole or part of a debt that is extinguished as it has in relation to an allowable deduction under section 8-1 or 25-35 of the Income Tax

Assessment Act 1997 in respect of the whole or part of a debt that is written off as bad.

400 Modified application of Division 13 of Part III

In calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC:

- (a) for the purposes of section 136AC, the eligible CFC is to be treated as a resident or a non-resident, within the meaning of that section, without regard to the residency assumption; and
- (aa) for the purposes of Division 13 of Part III, an agreement is not an international agreement if, at all times when the agreement was in force, all of the parties to the agreement were CFCs and were residents of the same listed country; and
- (b) section 136AF applies as if:
 - (i) the reference in subsection 136AF(1) to the application of section 136AD in relation to a taxpayer were a reference both to:
 - (A) the application of that section in relation to any CFC in calculating its attributable income or in relation to any trust estate in calculating its attributable income under Division 6AAA of Part III; and
 - (B) the actual application of that section in relation to any taxpayer in calculating the taxable income of the taxpayer apart from this Part; and
 - (ii) the references in paragraphs 136AF(1)(a) and (b) to assessable income or allowable deductions in relation to the relevant taxpayer were references to notional assessable income or notional allowable deductions in relation to the eligible CFC.

401 Reduction of capital proceeds where attributed income not distributed

- (1) Where:
 - (a) it is necessary, for the purposes of applying a provision of this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible taxpayer, to take into account the capital proceeds from a CGT event happening in relation to a CGT asset, being an interest in an attribution account entity (in this section called the disposal entity); and

Section 401

- (b) immediately before the CGT event takes place, either or both of the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) there is an attribution surplus for the disposal entity in relation to the eligible taxpayer;
 - (ii) there is an attribution surplus for one or more other attribution account entities in relation to the eligible taxpayer, where each such entity is one in which the eligible taxpayer has an indirect attribution account interest held through the disposal entity;

then:

- (c) for the purpose of calculating the attributable income, the capital proceeds that, apart from this section, would be taken into account under the provision referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the CGT event is, subject to subsection (3), taken to be reduced by the grossed-up amount of the attribution surplus, or the sum of the grossed-up amounts of the attribution surpluses, as the case requires; and
 - (d) for the purposes of this Act, attribution debits and credits arise in accordance with subsection (5).
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c):
- (a) a reference to the grossed-up amount of an attribution surplus is a reference to the amount of the surplus divided by the eligible taxpayer's attribution account percentage for the eligible CFC; and
 - (b) where the CGT event causes the eligible taxpayer's attribution account percentage for an attribution account entity in relation to which there is an attribution surplus to be reduced by a proportion, then only that proportion of the attribution surplus is, subject to this subsection, to be taken into account under that paragraph; and
 - (c) where there is only one attribution surplus referred to in that paragraph and (after any application of paragraph (b) of this subsection) its grossed-up amount exceeds the capital proceeds from the CGT event, then the surplus is only to be taken into account to the extent that its grossed-up amount equals those capital proceeds; and
 - (d) where there are 2 or more attribution surpluses referred to in paragraph (1)(c) and (after any application of paragraph (b) of this subsection) the sum of their grossed-up amounts exceeds the capital proceeds from the CGT event, then:

- (i) if the taxpayer makes an election that for the purposes of this paragraph, a part of each surplus (after any application of paragraph (b)) such that the sum of the grossed-up amounts of the parts to which the election relates equals those capital proceeds—only the part to which the election relates of each surplus is to be taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); or
- (ii) if subparagraph (i) does not apply—only a proportion of each surplus (after any application of paragraph (b)) is to be taken into account under paragraph (1)(c), being the proportion calculated using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of capital proceeds}}{\text{Total grossed-up surplus}}$$

where:

total grossed-up surplus means the sum of the grossed-up amounts of the attribution surpluses (after any application of paragraph (b)).

- (4) An election for the purposes of paragraph (3)(d) must be made on or before the date of lodgment of the eligible taxpayer's return of income for the year of income in which the eligible period ends or within such further period after the lodgment of the return as the Commissioner allows.
- (5) For the purposes of this Act:
 - (a) an attribution debit is taken to arise at the time of the disposal under section 372, in relation to the eligible taxpayer, for each attribution account entity (in this section called a surplus entity) in relation to which there is an attribution surplus to which paragraph (1)(c) applies; and
 - (b) the amount of the attribution debit is equal to so much of the surplus as is taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); and
 - (c) there is no grossed-up amount in relation to the attribution debit under section 373; and
 - (d) an attribution credit equal to the debit is taken to arise, at the time of the disposal or of the CGT event, under section 371 for the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible taxpayer.
- (6A) In determining, for the purposes of this section, whether there was an attribution surplus immediately before a CGT event, and the amount of such a surplus, also take into account any attribution credit that later arises because the CGT event caused section 104-175 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (as it notionally applies to the CGT event entity under this Division) to operate.

(7) In this section:

interest, in relation to an attribution account entity, means:

- (a) if the entity is a company—an interest in shares in the company, or an entitlement to acquire such an interest; or
- (b) if the entity is a partnership—an interest of a partner in the profits or property of the partnership, or an entitlement of a partner to acquire such an interest; or
- (c) if the entity is a trust—an entitlement of a beneficiary to a share of the income or corpus of the trust, or an entitlement of a beneficiary to acquire such an entitlement.

402 Additional notional exempt income—unlisted or listed country CFC

- (1) This section applies where the eligible CFC is a resident of either a listed country or an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period.
- (2) Each of the following is notional exempt income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible period:
 - (a) income or other amounts derived by the eligible CFC in the eligible period that are included in the assessable income of the eligible CFC of any year of income for the purposes of this Act apart from this Part, other than amounts that are so included under section 143 (where the proviso to that section does not apply);
 - (b) so much of a frankable distribution, paid to the eligible CFC in the eligible period, as is either the franked part of the distribution, or the part of the distribution that has been franked with an exempting credit;
 - (e) a premium paid or credited to the eligible CFC in the eligible period, where, because of the application of subsection 148(1) for the purposes of this Act apart from this Part, the premium is not, for those purposes, allowable as a deduction to the person referred to in subparagraph 148(1)(a)(i) and is not included in the assessable income of the eligible CFC.

(2A) If:

- (a) an amount would, apart from this subsection, be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period under paragraph 384(2)(ca) or 385(2)(ca); and
- (b) at the end of the eligible period the CFC was authorised under the law of its place of residence to carry on life insurance business; and
- (c) at the end of that period the gross value of the CFC's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business was 50% or more of the gross value of all of the CFC's assets; and
- (d) during the eligible period a FIF within the meaning of Part XI managed funds of the CFC that were maintained by the CFC in a manner similar to the manner in which companies carrying on life insurance business in Australia maintain statutory funds under Part 4 of the Life Insurance Act 1995; and
- (e) the FIF was principally engaged during the eligible period in the management of funds of other persons by the investing of those funds at the discretion of the FIF;

then, so much of the amount referred to in paragraph (a) as relates to the FIF is notional exempt income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible period.

(2B) A reference in paragraph (2A)(c) to the gross value of an asset of the CFC at the end of the eligible period is a reference to that value as shown in a balance-sheet of the CFC that was prepared as at the end of that period.

(2C) If, at the end of the eligible period, any of the CFC's assets (the relevant assets) are for use partly in carrying on life insurance business and partly for other purposes, a reference in paragraph (2A)(c) to the gross value at the end of that period of the CFC's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business is a reference to so much only of the gross value at the end of that period of the relevant assets as is proportionate to the extent to which they are for use at the end of that period in carrying on life insurance business.

(3) If:

- (a) an attribution account entity makes an attribution account payment to the eligible CFC in the eligible period; and

Section 403

(b) apart from this subsection, the whole or part of the attribution account payment would be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible taxpayer for the eligible period; and

(c) on the making of the attribution account payment, an attribution debit arises for the attribution account entity in relation to the eligible taxpayer;

then so much (if any) of the whole or the part of the attribution account payment as does not exceed the grossed-up amount of the attribution debit is notional exempt income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period.

(4) If:

(a) a FIF attribution account entity makes a FIF attribution account payment to the eligible CFC in the eligible period; and

(b) apart from this subsection, the whole or part of the FIF attribution account payment would be included in the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible taxpayer for the eligible period; and so much (if any) of the whole or the part of the FIF attribution account payment as does not exceed the grossed-up amount of the FIF attribution debit is notional exempt income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period.

(c) on the making of the FIF attribution account payment, a FIF attribution debit arises for the FIF attribution account entity in relation to the eligible taxpayer;

403 Additional notional exempt income—unlisted country CFC

If the eligible CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period, the notional exempt income of the eligible CFC in relation to the eligible period includes income or profits derived by the eligible CFC in the eligible period in or in connection with carrying on business in a listed country at or through a permanent establishment of the eligible CFC in that listed country, where the income or profits are not eligible designated concession income in relation to any listed country in relation to the eligible period.

404 Additional notional exempt income—listed or section 404 country CFC

Where the eligible CFC is a resident of a listed country or a section 404 country at the end of the eligible period, a dividend paid to it in the eligible period by a company that is a resident of a listed country or a section 404 country is notional exempt income.

Subdivision C—Modifications relating to Australian capital gains tax

405 Interpretation

- (1) In this Subdivision:

commencing day has the meaning given by section 406.

commencing day asset has the meaning given by section 406.

- (3) Some provisions of this Subdivision say that a payment can include giving property. To the extent that one does, use the market value of the property in working out the amount of the payment.

406 Meaning of commencing day and commencing day asset

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the eligible CFC's commencing day is the later of:
- (a) the last day of the most recent period during which there was not an attributable taxpayer with an attribution percentage (greater than nil) in relation to the eligible CFC; and
 - (b) 30 June 1990.

Example: If a taxpayer became an attributable taxpayer with an attribution percentage (greater than nil) in relation to the eligible CFC at 3 pm on 20 October 2004 and there were no other such attributable taxpayers at that time, the commencing day is 20 October 2004.

- (2) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, a commencing day asset of the eligible CFC is a CGT asset (other than one that is taxable Australian property) owned by the eligible CFC at the end of its commencing day.

Section 408

- (3) In determining whether a CGT asset is taxable Australian property, disregard the residency assumption.

408 Certain capital gains and losses disregarded

If a CFC makes a capital gain or capital loss from a CGT event that is not disregarded under Subdivision 855-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, or would have made a capital gain from the event apart from indexation, disregard the CGT event in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC.

408A Certain events before commencing day ignored

For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of an eligible CFC, if the eligible CFC's commencing day is after 30 June 1995, Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 do not apply to CGT events involving the eligible CFC before the end of the commencing day.

409 Losses before 30 June 1990 to be disregarded

For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, capital losses incurred before the end of 30 June 1990 are disregarded.

410 General modifications—CGT

For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 apply as if these provisions were disregarded:

- (a) section 116-85 (about section 47A of this Act applying to a rolled-over asset);
- (b) section 116-95 (about a company changing residence from an unlisted country);
- (c) section 118-12 (about assets used to produce exempt income etc.);
- (d) section 855-45 (about an individual or company becoming an Australian resident);
- (e) section 855-55 (about a CFC becoming an Australian resident);

- (f) Subdivision 170-B (about transfer of net capital losses within company groups).

411 Commencing day assets taken to have been acquired on commencing day

- (1) Subject to this section, for the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, a commencing day asset of the eligible CFC is taken to have been acquired, for the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about CGT), by it on its commencing day.
- (3) Subsection (1) does not apply for the purposes of determining the cost base to the eligible CFC of an asset.

412 Cost base of commencing day asset

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions have effect.
- (2) The first element of the cost base of each commencing day asset of the eligible CFC is the greater of the asset's market value (at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day) and the asset's cost base (on that day).
- (3) The first element of the reduced cost base of each commencing day asset of the eligible CFC is the lesser of the asset's market value (at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day) and the asset's cost base (on that day).

413 Adjustment of cost base as at commencing day—return of capital

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions have effect.
- (2) Where:
- (a) commencing day assets of the eligible CFC consist of shares in a company; and
 - (b) at any time during the period commencing at the time when the eligible CFC acquired the shares and ending at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day, the company paid an amount that was not a dividend to the eligible CFC in respect of the shares;

the cost base to the eligible CFC of the shares as at the eligible CFC's commencing day is to be reduced by that amount.

(3) Where:

- (a) a commencing day asset of the eligible CFC consists of an interest or unit in a trust; and
- (b) at any time during the period commencing at the time when the eligible CFC acquired the interest or unit and ending at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day, the trustee of the trust paid an amount to the eligible CFC in respect of the interest or unit, being an amount that would not have been notional assessable income of the eligible CFC;

the cost base to the eligible CFC of the interest or unit as at the eligible CFC's commencing day is to be reduced by so much of the amount as is not attributable to a deduction allowed under Division 43 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 or former Division 10C or 10D of Part III of this Act.

(4) The payment referred to in subsection (2) or (3) can include giving property: see subsection 405(3).

414 Exercise of rights

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions have effect.
- (2) Despite section 130-40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the modifications in subsections (3) and (4) of this section apply if the eligible CFC exercises rights or options as mentioned in that section to acquire:
 - (a) shares in a company, or options to acquire shares in a company; or
 - (b) units in a unit trust, or options to acquire units in a unit trust; and those rights or options are commencing day assets of the eligible CFC.
- (3) The first element of the cost base of the shares, units or options is the sum of:
 - (a) the amount paid to exercise the rights or options; and

- (b) the greater of the market value of the rights or options (at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day) and the cost base of the rights or options (on that day).
- (4) The first element of the reduced cost base of the shares, units or options is the sum of:
 - (a) the amount paid to exercise the rights or options; and
 - (b) the lesser of the market value of the rights or options (at the end of the eligible CFC's commencing day) and the cost base of the rights or options (on that day).
- (5) The payment referred to in subsection (3) or (4) can include giving property: see subsection 405(3).
- (6) For indexation purposes, the amount referred to in paragraph (3)(b) is taken to have been incurred on the eligible CFC's commencing day.

418 Options

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, the following provisions have effect.
- (2) Subsection 104-30(5) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 applies to an option granted by the eligible CFC as if the reference in that subsection to 20 September 1985 were a reference to the day after the eligible CFC's commencing day.
- (3) Section 134-1 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997 does not apply to an option granted to the eligible CFC.

418A Effect of change of residence from Australia to listed or unlisted country

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, where:
 - (a) disregarding the residency assumption, at any time (in this section called the residence-change time) during the eligible period or an earlier statutory accounting period beginning on or after the day following the eligible CFC's commencing day, the eligible CFC ceased to be a resident within the meaning of section 6 and became a resident of a listed country or an unlisted country; and

(b) the eligible CFC owned a CGT asset at the residence-change time; and

(c) a CGT event happens in relation to the asset during the eligible period;

then sections 411 to 414 (inclusive) apply, in addition to any application apart from this section but subject to subsection (2) of this section, to the asset as if:

(d) any reference in those sections to a commencing day asset were a reference to the asset; and

(e) any reference in those sections relating to the eligible CFC's commencing day or the day following the eligible CFC's commencing day were a reference relating respectively to the residence-change time or a time immediately after the residence-change time; and

(f) if section 104-160 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (CGT event I1) applied to the change of residence for the purposes of the application of this Act apart from this Part:

(i) section 412 applies as if subsections 412(2) and (3) referred only to the market value of the asset concerned; and

(ii) section 414 applies as if paragraphs 414(3)(b) and (4)(b) referred only to the market value of the asset concerned.

(2) Where the asset is a commencing day asset, sections 411 to 414 (inclusive) do not apply, in spite of anything contained in those sections, to the asset except in accordance with subsection (1) of this section.

419 Modified application of Subdivision 126-B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997

(1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, Subdivision 126-B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 has effect as if the table in subsection 126-50(5) of that Act were omitted and the following table were substituted:

Additional requirements
Item	The originating CFC's residency status	The recipient company's residency status	This requirement must be satisfied
1	A resident of a listed country at the time of the trigger event	Either: (a) a resident of that listed country at that time; or (b) an Australian resident at that time	It does not matter what the roll-over asset is
2	A resident of a listed country at the time of the trigger event	A resident of a particular unlisted country at that time	The asset must have been used (just before that time) in connection with a permanent establishment of the originating CFC in any unlisted country at or through which the originating CFC carried on business just before that time
3	A resident of an unlisted country at the time of the trigger event	Either: (a) a resident of an unlisted country at that time; or (b) an Australian resident at that time	It does not matter what the roll-over asset is

- (2) The residency assumption is ignored for the purpose of applying the table in subsection (1).

421 Elections under CGT roll-over provisions

- (1) Subject to this section, for the purpose of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period, any election or choice that may be made, by the eligible CFC, or by the eligible CFC and another entity, apart from this section, under any of the CGT roll-over provisions:

Section 421

- (a) on or before the date of lodgment of a particular return of income; or
 - (b) within such further period as the Commissioner allows;
- is to be made instead:
- (c) if there is only one attributable taxpayer in relation to the eligible CFC at the end of the eligible period—on or before the date of lodgment of the taxpayer's return of income of the year of income in which the end of the eligible period occurs; or
 - (d) if there are 2 or more attributable taxpayers in relation to the eligible CFC at the end of the eligible period:
 - (i) if the taxpayers' returns of income of the year of income in which the end of the eligible period occurs are lodged on different dates—on or before the later or latest of those dates; or
 - (ii) if the taxpayers' returns of income of the year of income in which the end of the eligible period occurs are lodged on the same date—on or before that date; or
 - (e) in any case—within such further period as the Commissioner allows.
- (1A) For the purposes of applying subsection (1) to an eligible CFC in relation to an eligible period, if:
- (a) an entity (the designated entity) is the only attributable taxpayer in relation to the eligible CFC at the end of the eligible period; and
 - (b) the designated entity's attribution percentage in relation to the company is 100% at the end of the eligible period;
- then, instead of the election or choice being given by the eligible CFC, or by the eligible CFC and another entity (which other entity may be the designated entity), the election or choice may be given by:
- (c) the designated entity; or
 - (d) if the designated entity is not the same as the other entity—the designated entity and the other entity;
- as the case requires.
- (2) Except in accordance with subsection (3), subsection (1) does not apply to an election or choice in respect of the disposal of an asset if the disposal is, or apart from an election or choice in accordance with subsection 438(3A) would be, taken into account in determining under Division 8 whether the eligible CFC passes the active income test in relation to the eligible period.

- (3) If an election or choice is made under a CGT roll-over provision in accordance with subsection 438(3A), that election or choice also has effect as if it were made under the CGT roll-over provision in accordance with subsection (1) of this section.

422 Adjustment of capital proceeds where change of residence by eligible CFC from unlisted to listed country

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, in relation to the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer, the following provisions have effect.
- (2) This section sets out what happens if:
 - (a) the eligible CFC ceases at a time (the residency change time), during the eligible period or an earlier statutory accounting period, to be a resident of an unlisted country and becomes a resident of a listed country; and
 - (b) subsection 457(3) does not apply to the change of residence; and
 - (c) because of the change in its residency status, an amount is included in the eligible taxpayer's assessable income under section 457 (including because of paragraph 58(1)(d) of the Taxation Laws Amendment (Foreign Income) Act 1990); and
 - (d) a CGT event happens during the eligible period in relation to a CGT asset (the CFC asset) that the eligible CFC owned since the residency change time.
- (3) If the conditions in subsection (4) are satisfied, the capital proceeds from the CGT event are reduced by the amount worked out under subsection (5). If the conditions in subsection (6) are satisfied, those capital proceeds are increased by the amount worked out under subsection (7).

Reduction of capital proceeds

- (4) If all the eligible CFC's assets were disposed of at the residency change time for their market values in the circumstances mentioned in subparagraph 457(2)(a)(ii):

Section 422

- (a) distributable profits of the eligible CFC of a particular amount (the distributable profit amount) would be created, or its distributable profits would be increased by an amount (also the distributable profit amount); and
 - (b) the eligible CFC would have made a profit (the CFC asset profit) on the disposal of the CFC asset.
- (5) The capital proceeds are reduced by:
- $$\text{Distributable profit amount} \times \frac{\text{CFC asset profit}}{\text{Total asset profits}}$$

where:

total asset profits is the sum of the profits that the eligible CFC would have made if all its assets were disposed of at the residency change time for their market values (ignoring disposals that would not result in a profit).

Increase in capital proceeds

- (6) If all the eligible CFC's assets were disposed of at the residency change time for their market values in the circumstances mentioned in subparagraph 457(2)(a)(ii):
- (a) the distributable profits of the eligible CFC would be reduced by an amount (the distributable profit reduction amount); and
 - (b) the eligible CFC would have made a loss (the CFC asset loss) on the disposal of the CFC asset.
- (7) The capital proceeds are increased by:
- $$\text{Distributable profit reduction amount} \times \frac{\text{CFC asset profit}}{\text{Total asset profits}}$$

where:

total asset losses is the sum of the losses that the eligible CFC would have made if all its assets were disposed of at the residency change time for their market values (ignoring disposals that would not result in a loss).

423 Adjustment of capital proceeds where section 47A applies to rolled-over assets

- (1) For the purposes of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, in relation to the eligible period in relation to the eligible taxpayer, the following provision has effect.
- (2) The capital proceeds from a CGT event that happens in relation to a CGT asset of the eligible CFC during the eligible period are reduced if:
 - (a) either:
 - (i) because of Division 17 of former Part IIIA of this Act, that Part did not apply to the disposal of the asset to the eligible CFC by another CFC during the eligible period or an earlier statutory accounting period; or
 - (ii) there was a roll-over under Division 122, 124 or 126 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (except under Subdivision 124-J, 124-K or 124-L of that Act) for a CGT event (the earlier CGT event) that happened during that period in relation to the asset and involving the eligible CFC and another CFC; and
 - (b) the eligible taxpayer was an attributable taxpayer in relation to both CFC's at the time of the disposal or the earlier CGT event; and
 - (c) the other CFC is taken, under section 47A of this Act, to have paid the eligible CFC a dividend in relation to the disposal or the earlier CGT event; and
 - (d) an amount is included in the attributable taxpayer's assessable income in respect of the dividend under section 456 of this Act.
- (3) The reduction is the lesser of:
 - (a) the amount of the dividend; and
 - (b) the amount of any capital gain that:
 - (i) apart from Division 17 of former Part IIIA of this Act, would have accrued to the other CFC in respect of the disposal if the consideration in respect of the disposal had been the market value of the asset at the time of the disposal; or

- (ii) the other CFC would have made from the earlier CGT event apart from the roll-over if the capital proceeds from that event had been the market value of the asset at the time of that event.

Subdivision D—Modifications relating to losses

425 Sometimes-exempt income etc.

- (1) Where an amount is not included in the eligible CFC's notional assessable income for a statutory accounting period (being the eligible period or an earlier period) in relation to the eligible taxpayer because:
 - (a) the eligible CFC passes the active income test for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer; or
 - (b) subsection 385 (4) applies;then the amount is sometimes-exempt income of the eligible CFC for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer.
- (2) Where an amount would, disregarding section 431, only be a notional allowable deduction of the eligible CFC for a statutory accounting period (being the eligible period or an earlier period) in relation to the eligible taxpayer if the eligible CFC's sometimes-exempt income for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer were instead notional assessable income, then the amount is a sometimes-exempt deduction of the eligible CFC for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer.
- (3) Where the eligible CFC's sometimes-exempt deductions for a statutory accounting period (being the eligible period or an earlier period) in relation to the eligible taxpayer exceed its sometimes-exempt income for the period in relation to the taxpayer, the excess is a (sometimes-exempt income) loss of the eligible CFC for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer.
- (4) Where an eligible CFC's sometimes-exempt income for a statutory accounting period (being the eligible period or an earlier period) in relation to the eligible taxpayer exceeds its sometimes-exempt deductions for the period in relation to the taxpayer, the excess is a (sometimes-exempt income) gain of the eligible CFC for the period in relation to the eligible taxpayer.

426 Creation of loss

For the purposes of this Subdivision, if:

- (a) the amount of the eligible CFC's notional allowable deductions (other than under section 431) for a statutory accounting period (being the eligible period or an earlier period) are applied as follows:
 - (i) they are applied first against any notional assessable income of the eligible CFC class for the period;
 - (ii) any excess is then applied against any (sometimes-exempt income) gain for the period; and
- (b) there is any amount remaining;

then the amount remaining is a loss of the eligible CFC for the period.

427 Certain provisions to be disregarded

For the purposes of applying this Act and the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in calculating the attributable income of an eligible CFC, disregard the following:

- (b) Division 36, section 165-120 and Subdivisions 170-A, 709-D and 719-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (except for the purpose of a reference to any of those provisions in any other provision of this Act, as applied in accordance with this Division);
- (ba) Subdivisions 165-CC and 165-CD of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

428 Subdivision to apply as if there were always a requirement to calculate attributable income

For the purposes of applying this Subdivision in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC for the eligible period, it is to be assumed that, for any earlier statutory accounting period (when the eligible CFC existed) for which there was no requirement to calculate its attributable income in relation to the eligible taxpayer, there were such a requirement (except for the purpose of applying section 398).

429 Notional allowable deduction for (sometimes-exempt income) loss

The amount of any (sometimes-exempt income) loss of the eligible CFC for the eligible period class is a notional allowable deduction for the period from the notional assessable income of the eligible CFC.

431 Deduction etc. for previous period loss

- (1) Where there are one or more losses of the eligible CFC of any statutory accounting period before the eligible period, the losses, to the extent they have not been previously taken into account under this section in respect of any such period, are to be taken into account in accordance with this section.
- (2) The losses are to be taken into account as follows:
 - (a) they are to be applied first against any (sometimes-exempt income) gain for the eligible period, to the extent that the gain has not already been applied under section 426 in determining whether there is a loss for the eligible period;
 - (b) any excess is then a notional allowable deduction for the eligible period, but only to the extent that the deduction does not exceed the amount of the notional assessable income for the period as reduced by notional allowable deductions other than under this section;
 - (c) where there are 2 or more losses, they are to be taken into account in the order in which they arose.
- (3) A loss for a statutory accounting period is only to be taken into account under subsection (2) if the eligible CFC was a CFC at the end of that statutory accounting period and each following statutory accounting period before the eligible period.
- (4) A loss for a statutory accounting period is to be taken into account under subsection (2) only if:
 - (a) where the eligible CFC is a resident of a listed country at the end of the eligible period:
 - (i) the eligible CFC is a resident of a listed country at the end of that statutory accounting period; and
 - (ii) if there are any statutory accounting periods (the intervening periods) occurring between that statutory accounting period and the eligible period—the eligible CFC was a resident of a listed country at the end of each of the intervening periods; or

- (b) where the eligible CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period:
 - (i) the eligible CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of that statutory accounting period; and
 - (ii) if there are any statutory accounting periods (also the intervening periods) occurring between that statutory accounting period and the eligible period—the eligible CFC was a resident of an unlisted country at the end of each of the intervening periods.

(4A) If:

- (a) at the end of both the eligible period and of a prior statutory accounting period, the eligible CFC was a resident of the same country; and
- (b) the country was either:
 - (i) a listed country at the end of the eligible period and an unlisted country at the end of that statutory accounting period; or
 - (ii) an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period and a listed country at the end of that statutory accounting period;

subsection (4) does not prevent a loss for that statutory accounting period, or an earlier statutory accounting period, from being taken into account under subsection (2).

(4B) If:

- (a) the eligible CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of the eligible period; and
- (b) that country emerged from the dissolution of another country; and
- (c) the other country was in existence at the end of a prior statutory accounting period; and
- (d) at the end of that statutory accounting period, the CFC was a resident of the other country; and
- (e) the other country was a listed country at the end of that statutory accounting period;

Section 431A

subsection (4) does not prevent a loss for that statutory accounting period, or an earlier statutory accounting period, from being taken into account under subsection (2).

(4D) If:

- (a) as a result of the operation of subsection (4), a loss of a CFC for a statutory accounting period was not taken into account under subsection (2) in calculating the attributable income of the CFC for a later statutory accounting period (the second statutory accounting period); and
- (b) the eligible period is later than the second statutory accounting period;

then, despite anything in subsection (4), (4A) or (4B), the loss is not to be taken into account under subsection (2) in calculating the attributable income of the CFC for the eligible period.

- (5) A loss for a statutory accounting period is not to be taken into account under subsection (2) if, assuming that it were a tax loss (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997) of the eligible CFC, it would not be taken into account or allowed as a deduction in relation to the eligible period.

Subdivision E—Modifications relating to application of Part XI

431A Exemption of attributable taxpayer from Part XI

- (1) For the purpose of applying this Act in calculating the attributable income of the eligible CFC, section 494 is to be disregarded and the following provisions have effect.
- (2) If:
 - (a) an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to the eligible CFC from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF would, apart from this subsection, be included in the eligible CFC's notional assessable income of the eligible period; and
 - (b) the statutory accounting period of the CFC coincides with that notional accounting period of the FIF; and

(c) section 456 applies to the eligible taxpayer at the end of the statutory accounting period of the FIF; section 529 does not apply to the eligible CFC in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF referred to in paragraph (a).

(3) If:

- (a) an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to the eligible CFC from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF would, apart from this subsection, be included in the eligible CFC's notional assessable income of the eligible period; and
- (b) each of 2 or more statutory accounting periods of the FIF occurs partly within that notional accounting period of the FIF; and
- (c) section 456 applies to the eligible taxpayer at the end of each of those statutory accounting periods of the FIF;
section 529 does not apply to the eligible CFC in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF referred to in paragraph (a).

Division 8—Active income test

Subdivision A—Basic conditions for passing the active income test

432 Active income test

- (1) Subject to sections 437 and 453, for the purposes of this Part, a company is taken to pass the active income test in relation to a statutory accounting period if, and only if:
 - (a) the company was in existence at the end of the statutory accounting period; and
 - (b) there was no time during the statutory accounting period when the company was in existence when the company was neither a resident of a particular listed country nor of a particular unlisted country; and
 - (c) the company has kept accounts for the statutory accounting period and:
 - (i) the accounts are prepared in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles; and
 - (ii) the accounts give a true and fair view of the financial position of the company; and
 - (d) the company has complied with the substantiation requirements set out in section 451 in relation to the statutory accounting period; and
 - (e) at all times during the statutory accounting period when the company was in existence and was a resident of a particular listed country, or of a particular unlisted country, the company carried on business in that country at or through a permanent establishment of the company in that country; and
 - (f) the tainted income ratio of the company for the statutory accounting period is less than 0.05.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, if a company was dormant, within the meaning of Part VI of the Companies Act 1981, throughout a particular period (in this subsection called the dormant period) commencing on the day on which the company was incorporated, the company is to be taken not to have been in existence during the dormant period.

Subdivision B—Tainted income ratio

433 Tainted income ratio

- (1) For the purposes of this Part, if a company is a resident of a particular listed country or a particular unlisted country at the end of a statutory accounting period, the tainted income ratio of the company for the statutory accounting period is calculated using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Gross tainted turnover}}{\text{Gross turnover}}$$

where:

Gross tainted turnover means the gross tainted turnover of the company of the statutory accounting period.

Gross turnover means the gross turnover of the company of the statutory accounting period.

- (3) For the purposes of this Part, the tainted income ratio of a company for a statutory accounting period is taken to be less than 0.05 if both the numerator and the denominator in the applicable fraction are 0.
- (4) For the purposes of this Part, the tainted income ratio of a company for a statutory accounting period is to be calculated in the currency in which the profit and loss accounts and the balance-sheet of the company for the statutory accounting period are prepared.

434 Gross turnover

- (1) Subject to section 437, for the purposes of this Part, the gross turnover of a company of a statutory accounting period is the sum of:
- (a) the amount that is shown in the recognised accounts of the company for the statutory accounting period as the gross revenue derived by the company, but not including:
 - (i) amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436; or
 - (ii) amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as revenue in respect of the disposal of assets (other than trading stock or commodity futures contracts,

Section 434

- commodity forward contracts or rights or options in respect of such contracts); or
- (iii) amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as revenue from disposing of commodity futures contracts, commodity forward contracts or rights or options in respect of such contracts; or
 - (iv) amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as revenue from currency exchange rate fluctuations; and
- (b) the amount that is shown in the recognised accounts of the company for the statutory accounting period as the amount (if any) by which the sum of the gains derived by the company in the statutory accounting period in respect of the disposal of assets (other than trading stock or commodity futures contracts, commodity forward contracts or rights or options in respect of such contracts) exceeds the losses incurred by the company in the statutory accounting period in respect of the disposal of such assets, but not including amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436; and
- (c) the amount that is shown in the recognised accounts of the company for the statutory accounting period as the amount (if any) by which the gains derived by the company in the statutory accounting period from disposing of commodity futures contracts, commodity forward contracts or rights or options in respect of such contracts exceeds the losses incurred by the company in the statutory accounting period from disposing of commodity futures contracts, commodity forward contracts or rights or options in respect of such contracts, but not including amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436; and
- (d) the amount that is shown in the recognised accounts of the company for the statutory accounting period as the amount (if any) by which the sum of the gains derived by the company in the statutory accounting period from currency exchange rate fluctuations exceeds the losses incurred by the company in the statutory accounting period from currency exchange rate fluctuations, but not including amounts that are shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436.

- (1A) In working out the gross turnover of a company of a statutory accounting period, assume that the amounts shown in the company's recognised accounts, as mentioned in paragraphs (1)(b) and (c), for that period had been worked out by also including:
- (a) as gains derived by the company in that period—capital gains the company would have made; and
 - (b) as losses incurred by the company in that period—capital losses the company would have made;
- in that period because of CGT event J1, if the assumptions in paragraphs 383(a) to (c) had applied.

Note 1: CGT event J1 is about companies ceasing to be related after a roll-over.

Note 2: Basically, the effect of the assumptions in paragraphs 383(a) to (c) is that the company concerned is taken to be a taxpayer and a resident and CGT event J1 may therefore be taken to have happened.

- (2) Subject only to sections 437, 438 and 440, for the purposes of this section, where a company has prepared recognised accounts for a statutory accounting period in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles, then, in determining whether a particular amount shown in those accounts is covered by an expression used in subsection (1) (other than an exclusion of amounts shown in those recognised accounts as amounts covered by section 436), the expression concerned is taken to have the same meaning that it has under those accounting principles.
- (3) If the Commissioner considers that:
- (a) the consideration for the supply or acquisition of one or more items of property would have been taken into account in working out an amount described in any of the paragraphs of subsection (1) as being that shown in the recognised accounts of the company for the statutory accounting period; and
 - (b) assuming the company were an eligible CFC whose attributable income for the statutory accounting period were being calculated, the Commissioner would make a determination under section 136AD in relation to the supply or acquisition of the items; and
 - (c) as a result of the determination, the consideration for the supply or acquisition would have been different; and

Section 435

- (d) if that different consideration had instead been taken into account in working out the amount shown in the recognised accounts, the amount shown in the recognised accounts would also have been different;

then the different amount is substituted for the amount shown in the recognised accounts.

435 Gross tainted turnover

For the purposes of this Part, the gross tainted turnover of a company of a statutory accounting period is so much of the gross turnover of the company of the statutory accounting period as consists of:

- (a) passive income of the company of the statutory accounting period; or
- (b) tainted sales income of the company of the statutory accounting period; or
- (c) tainted services income of the company of the statutory accounting period.

436 Amounts excluded from active income test

- (1) For the purposes of the application of this Part to a company, the following amounts are, in accordance with subparagraph 434(1)(a)(i) and paragraphs 434(1)(b), (c) and (d), excluded from the active income test:

- (a) income or profits derived by the company that are included in the assessable income of the company of any year of income other than under section 143 (where the proviso to that section does not apply);
- (b) income or profits derived by the company during a statutory accounting period where all of the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the income or profits are derived by the company in carrying on a business at or through a permanent establishment of the company in a listed country (other than a listed country of which the company is a resident);
 - (ii) the income or profits are not eligible designated concession income in relation to any listed country in relation to the statutory accounting period;

- (iii) the income or profits are subject to tax in a listed country in a tax accounting period:
 - (A) ending before the end of the statutory accounting period; or
 - (B) commencing during the statutory accounting period;
 - (c) an amount that, if the company were a resident within the meaning of section 6, would, or would apart from paragraphs 99B(2)(d) and (e), have been included in the assessable income of the company under Division 6 of Part III;
 - (d) so much of a frankable distribution as is either the franked part of the distribution, or the part of the distribution that has been franked with an exempting credit;
 - (e) a non-portfolio dividend paid to the company by a company that is a resident of a listed country or unlisted country;
 - (g) a premium paid or credited to the company where, because of the application of subsection 148(1), the premium is not allowable as a deduction to the person referred to in subparagraph 148(1)(a)(i) and is not included in the assessable income of the company.
- (2) Where:
- (a) the company receives an attribution account payment, being a dividend, from another entity; and
 - (b) the whole or part (in this subsection called the eligible amount) of the attribution account payment is not excluded from the active income test, in relation to the company in relation to the statutory accounting period, under subsection (1); and
 - (c) on the making of the attribution account payment by the other entity, an attribution debit arises for that entity in relation to a taxpayer;

then, for the purposes of this Part, so much of the eligible amount as does not exceed the grossed-up amount of the attribution debit is, in accordance with subparagraph 434(1)(a)(i), excluded (in addition to any other amount that is excluded under subsection (1)) from the active income test in relation to the company in relation to the taxpayer.

Subdivision C—Treatment of partnership income

437 Treatment of partnership income

- (1) For each partnership in which a company is a partner at any time during a statutory accounting period, the following modifications apply for the purposes of determining the effect of that partnership on the question whether the company is taken to pass the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period:
- (a) the partnership is to be treated as an entity separate from the company;
 - (b) in spite of anything in section 432, the company is not taken to pass the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period unless:
 - (i) the partnership has kept accounts for the statutory accounting period and:
 - (A) the accounts are prepared in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles; and
 - (B) the accounts give a true and fair view of the financial position of the partnership; and
 - (ii) the partnership has complied with the substantiation requirements set out in section 452 in relation to the statutory accounting period;
 - (c) for the purposes of this Division, the notional gross tainted turnover of the partnership of the statutory accounting period, or the notional gross turnover of the partnership of the statutory accounting period, is the amount that would be the gross tainted turnover, or the gross turnover, as the case requires, of the partnership of the statutory accounting period if:
 - (i) except for the purposes of determining the associates of the partnership—the partnership were a company; and
 - (ii) a reference in this Division to the recognised accounts of the partnership were a reference to the accounts referred to in paragraph (b) of this subsection that are prepared by the partnership for the statutory accounting period; and

- (iii) the partnership were a resident of the same particular listed country or particular unlisted country, of which the company was a resident;
- (d) the gross tainted turnover of the company of the statutory accounting period is to be increased by the amount calculated using the formula:
Notional gross
tainted turnover \times Partner's interest of partnership

where:

Notional gross tainted turnover of partnership means the notional gross tainted turnover of the partnership for the statutory accounting period.

Partner's interest means the company's percentage interest in the profits of the partnership for the statutory accounting period.

- (e) the gross turnover of the company of the statutory accounting period is to be increased by the amount calculated using the formula:
Notional gross turnover \times Partner's interest of partnership

where:

Notional gross turnover of partnership means the notional gross turnover of the partnership for the statutory accounting period.

Partner's interest means the company's percentage interest in the profits of the partnership for the statutory accounting period.

(2) If:

- (a) a company is a partner in one or more partnerships at any time during a statutory accounting period; and
- (b) apart from this subsection, paragraph 432(1)(e) does not apply in relation to the company in relation to the statutory accounting period; and
- (c) at all times during the statutory accounting period when:
 - (i) a particular one of those partnerships was in existence; and

Section 438

- (ii) the company was in existence and was a resident of a particular listed country, or of a particular unlisted country;

the partnership carried on business in that country at or through a permanent establishment of the partnership in that country;

subsection 432(1) has effect as if paragraph 432(1)(e) had applied in relation to the company in relation to the statutory accounting period.

Subdivision D—General interpretive provisions

438 Roll-overs—asset disposals

- (1) This section applies in determining the application of paragraph 434(1)(b) and section 445 in relation to a non-taxable Australian asset of a company.
- (2) If a CGT roll-over provision applies to:
 - (a) the disposal of the asset by an entity (in this section called the transferor) to the company (in this section called the transferee); or
 - (b) the disposal of the asset by the company (in this section also called the transferor) to another entity (in this section also called the transferee);

the following provisions have effect:

- (c) the transferee is taken to have paid, as consideration to acquire the asset, the sum of:
 - (i) the consideration (if any) paid or payable by the transferor to acquire the asset; and
 - (ii) the expenditure (if any) incurred by the transferor in making capital improvements to the asset; and
 - (d) the transferor is not taken to have:
 - (i) derived any gains; or
 - (ii) incurred any loss;in respect of the disposal of the asset.
- (2A) If:
- (a) a CGT roll-over provision applies to the disposal of the asset (in this subsection called the original asset) by the company; and

- (b) the disposal is not to another entity; and
 - (c) the company acquires another asset (in this subsection called the replacement asset) that is referred to in the CGT roll-over provision as being by way of replacement of, substitution for, or consideration for the disposal of, the original asset (whether or not exactly those expressions are used);
- the following provisions have effect:
- (d) the company is not taken to have:

 - (ii) the expenditure (if any) incurred by the company in making improvements to the original asset.
- (2B) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (2A), if an asset is disposed of by being cancelled, redeemed or consolidated into another asset, the disposal is taken not to be to another entity.
- (3) For the purposes of this section, in determining whether a CGT roll-over provision applies to the disposal of an asset, Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 have the effect they would have if:
- (a) the company had failed the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period concerned; and
 - (b) those Parts were being applied to calculate the attributable income of the company for the statutory accounting period in relation to any taxpayer.
- (3A) For the purposes of applying Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in relation to a statutory accounting period as mentioned in paragraph (3)(b), any election or choice that may be made by the company, or by the company and another entity, apart from this section under any of the CGT roll-over provisions:
- (a) on or before the date of lodgment of a particular return of income; or
 - (b) within such period as the Commissioner allows;
- is to be made instead:

Section 438

- (c) if there is only one attributable taxpayer in relation to the company at the end of the statutory accounting period—on or before the date of lodgment of the taxpayer's return of income of the year of income in which the end of the statutory accounting period occurs; or
 - (d) if there are 2 or more attributable taxpayers in relation to the company at the end of the statutory accounting period:
 - (i) if the taxpayers' returns of income of the year of income in which the end of the statutory accounting period occurs are lodged on different dates—on or before the later or latest of those dates; or

- (d) the designated entity; or
 - (e) if the designated entity is not the same as the other entity—the designated entity and the other entity;
- as the case requires.
- (4) A reference in this section to a non-taxable Australian asset of a company is a reference to an asset of the company that is a CGT asset that is not taxable Australian property.

439 When currency exchange gains or losses relate to active income transactions

- (1) For the purposes of this Part, a currency exchange gain, or a currency exchange loss, of a company for a statutory accounting period is to be taken to relate to an active income transaction if, and only if:
- (a) the gain or loss was realised under any of the following transactions:
 - (i) a transaction that:
 - (A) gives rise to income, gains or a loss of the company; and
 - (B) is not taken into account in determining the passive income, tainted sales income or tainted services income of the company;
 - (ii) a transaction for the purchase of goods from an entity that, at the time the gain or loss was realised, was not an associate of the company;
 - (iii) a transaction for the purchase of a unit of property where:
 - (A) if the company were a resident within the meaning of section 6, depreciation would be allowable to the company under the former section 54 of this Act or the former Division 42 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, or the company could deduct an amount for the decline in value of a depreciating asset under Division 40 of that Act, in respect of any year of income; and
 - (B) the unit of property is for use by the company exclusively or principally for the purpose of producing income other than passive income, tainted sales income or tainted services income;
 - (iv) if the company is an AFI subsidiary that carried on financial intermediary business at the time the gain or loss was realised—a transaction under which money was lent to the company;
 - (v) a transaction that was entered into by the company for the sole purpose of eliminating or reducing the risk of adverse financial consequences that might result for the company, under a transaction covered by any of the preceding subparagraphs, from currency exchange rate fluctuations; or

Section 440

(b) both of the following subparagraphs apply:

(i) the gain or loss was realised in the course of carrying on a business of currency dealing;

(ii) the gain or loss was realised under a transaction and, at the time the gain or loss was realised, no other party to the transaction was:

(A) an associate of the company; or

(B) a Part X Australian resident.

(2) In determining whether an amount is passive income for the purposes of this section, paragraph 446(1)(n) is to be disregarded.

440 Asset disposals—revaluations and arm's length amounts

In determining, for the purposes of this Part, whether a company passes the active income test, the following provisions apply in relation to an asset of the company (other than trading stock):

(a) the effect of an asset revaluation is to be disregarded;

(b) subject to section 438, if:

(i) any consideration paid or payable by the company in respect of the acquisition of the asset; or

(ii) any consideration paid or payable to the company in respect of the disposal of the asset; or

(iii) any expenditure incurred by the company in making capital improvements to the asset; or

(iv) any other amount payable to or by the company that is relevant to determining the revenue, gains or losses concerned; is not equal to the amount (in this paragraph called the arm's length amount) that the parties to the transaction concerned could have been reasonably expected to have paid if the parties had been acting at arm's length in relation to the transaction—the amount of the consideration or expenditure is to be taken to be equal to the arm's length amount.

441 Hire-purchase and other property financing transactions

- (1) For the purposes of this Part, in determining whether a company passes the active income test:
 - (a) a hire-purchase transaction or any other transaction for the financing of the acquisition of property is to be treated as a loan of money; and
 - (b) income derived under the transaction is to be treated as interest.
- (2) Nothing in subsection (1) limits the generality of the expressions “interest”, “loan” or “payment in the nature of interest”.

442 Assumption of rights of lender under a loan

In determining whether a company passes the active income test, if the company assumes the rights of a lender under a loan, this Part has effect, after that assumption, as if:

- (a) the company had provided the loan to the borrower; and
- (b) in a case where that assumption was made in the course of carrying on a particular business—interest, or a payment in the nature of interest, derived by the company from the loan had been derived from a loan made in the course of carrying on that business.

443 Net tainted commodity gains

For the purposes of this Part:

- (a) net tainted commodity gains are to be taken to have accrued to a company in a statutory accounting period if, and only if, the sum of the tainted commodity gains of the company for the statutory accounting period exceeds the sum of the tainted commodity losses of the company for the statutory accounting period; and

- (b) the amount of the net tainted currency exchange gains is equal to the amount of the excess.

445 Net gains—disposal of tainted assets

- (1) For the purposes of this Part:

(a) net gains are to be taken to have accrued to a company in a statutory accounting period in relation to the disposal of tainted assets owned by the company if, and only if, the sum of the gains of the company in relation to the disposal of tainted assets during the statutory accounting period exceeds the sum of the losses (if any) of the company in relation to the disposal of tainted assets during the statutory accounting period; and

- (b) the amount of the net gains is equal to the amount of the excess.

- (2) In paragraph (1)(a):

gains includes capital gains the company would have made in the statutory accounting period because of CGT event J1, if the assumptions in paragraphs 383(a) to (c) applied.

losses includes capital losses the company would have made in the statutory accounting period because of CGT event J1, if the assumptions in paragraphs 383(a) to (c) applied.

Note 1: CGT event J1 is about companies ceasing to be related after a roll-over.

Note 2: Basically, the effect of the assumptions in paragraphs 383(a) to (c) is that the company concerned is taken to be a taxpayer and a resident and CGT event J1 may therefore be taken to have happened.

where:

maximum event retention means the amount that, at the end of the statutory accounting period, the company has determined is the maximum that would be payable to the owners of policies as a result of the happening of any one event. 453 Active income test—substantiation requirements for attributable taxpayer

- (1) Where:
- (a) the Commissioner has reason to believe that:
 - (i) a taxpayer is an attributable taxpayer in relation to a company, being a CFC, at the end of a statutory accounting period of the CFC; and
 - (ii) the application of a provision of this Division to the company may be relevant to the assessment of the taxpayer; and
 - (b) any of the following subparagraphs applies:
 - (i) the taxpayer has claimed (whether in a return of income or otherwise) that the company has passed the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period;
 - (ii) the taxpayer's return of income of any year of income has been prepared on the basis that the company has passed the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period;
 - (iii) the Commissioner has reason to believe that the company has passed the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period;
- the Commissioner may, by notice in writing served on the taxpayer (in this section called the Commissioner's notice), request the taxpayer:
- (c) to obtain from the company, in accordance with a request made in a notice given to the company under subsection 451(2), copies of such documents as are specified in the Commissioner's notice; and
 - (d) if any of those copies are not in the English language—to make translations of those copies; and
 - (e) to produce to the Commissioner, within the period and in the manner specified in the Commissioner's notice:
 - (i) in all cases—those copies; and
 - (ii) if paragraph (d) applies—those translations.
- (2) The period specified in the Commissioner's notice must end:
- (a) later than 90 days after the date of service of the notice; and

- (b) before the end of the retention period in relation to the statutory accounting period.
- (3) Upon written application made by the taxpayer within the period specified in the Commissioner's notice, the Commissioner may, by notice in writing served on the taxpayer, extend the period specified in the Commissioner's notice.
- (4) Where:
 - (a) an application under subsection (3) is made before the end of the period specified in the Commissioner's notice; and
 - (b) at the end of the period, the Commissioner has not notified the taxpayer of the Commissioner's decision on the application;the following provisions have effect:
 - (c) if the Commissioner's decision is not notified to the taxpayer before the end of the retention period in relation to the statutory accounting period concerned—the Commissioner is taken to have extended the period under subsection (3) to the end of the retention period;
 - (d) if the Commissioner's decision is notified to the taxpayer before the end of the retention period in relation to the statutory accounting period concerned—the Commissioner is taken to have extended the period under subsection (3) to the end of the day (in this subsection called the decision day) on which the Commissioner's decision is notified to the taxpayer;
 - (e) if the Commissioner decides to extend the period—subject to subsection (5), the extended period must end after the decision day.
- (5) The period as extended under subsection (3) must end before the end of the retention period in relation to the statutory accounting period.
- (6) A reference in this section to the period specified in the Commissioner's notice is a reference to the period as extended under subsection (3).

- (8) If the taxpayer refuses or fails to comply with the notice, then, for the purposes of the application of this Part (other than this Division) to the taxpayer, the company is taken not to have passed the active income test in relation to the statutory accounting period concerned.

Section 454

454 Assessment on assumption—retention of accounts etc. and compliance with information notices

(1) Where:

- (a) a statutory accounting period of a company has ended; and
- (b) the retention period in relation to the statutory accounting period has not ended;

an assessment may be made of a taxpayer on the assumption that, after the assessment is made, the following requirements will be complied with in relation to the statutory accounting period:

- (c) the requirements set out in paragraphs 451(1)(c) and (d) that are applicable to the company;
- (d) the requirements set out in paragraphs 452(1)(c) and (d) that are applicable to a partnership in which the company was a partner at any time during the statutory accounting period.

(2) Where:

- (a) the assessment is made; and
- (b) after the making of the assessment, the Commissioner becomes aware that the requirements were not complied with in relation to the statutory accounting period;

then, in spite of anything in section 170, the Commissioner may amend the assessment at any time for the purpose of ensuring that the assessment is made as if subsection (1) of this section were disregarded.

455 Amendment of assessments

Where:

- (a) an assessment has been made in relation to a year of income; and
- (b) a provision of this Subdivision that is relevant to the assessment is dependent on a circumstance that occurs or may occur after the end of the year of income;

section 170 does not prevent the amendment of the assessment at any time for the purpose of giving effect to this Act in relation to the occurrence of that circumstance after the end of the year of income.

Division 9—Attribution of attributable income and other amounts

456 Assessability in respect of CFC's attributable income

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), where a CFC has attributable income for a statutory accounting period in respect of an attributable taxpayer, the taxpayer's attribution percentage of the attributable income is included in the assessable income of the taxpayer of the year of income in which the end of the statutory accounting period occurs.
- (2) Where section 457 applies in relation to the attributable taxpayer in relation to one or more changes of residence by the CFC during the statutory accounting period, then only so much of the attributable income of the CFC as relates to:
 - (a) where the CFC is a resident of an unlisted country at the end of the period:
 - (i) any part of the period when the CFC was a resident of a listed country; or
 - (ii) the part of the period, since the change of residence or last change of residence, as the case requires, when the CFC was a resident of the unlisted country; or
 - (b) where the CFC is a resident of a listed country at the end of the period—any part of the period when the CFC was a resident of the listed country or any other listed country;is to be taken into account under subsection (1).

456A Reduction of section 456 assessability where item subject to foreign accruals tax

- (1) Where:
 - (a) apart from this section, an amount (in this section called the otherwise assessable section 456 amount) is included in the assessable income of a year of income of an attributable taxpayer in relation to a CFC under section 456, in relation to the attributable income of the CFC of a statutory accounting period; and
 - (b) an attribution tracing interest of the attributable taxpayer, or of an interposed entity, in a CFE was taken into account in calculating the attributable taxpayer's attribution percentage for the CFC; and

- (c) foreign tax is payable by the CFE under an accruals tax law of a listed country in respect of an amount that is calculated by reference to an item of net income or net profit of the CFC, where the amount is taxed in the listed country:
- (i) at that country's normal company tax rate; and
 - (ii) in a tax accounting period commencing or ending:
 - (A) in the year of income of the attributable taxpayer; or
 - (B) in the statutory accounting period of the CFC;
- and
- (d) the item constitutes the whole or part (which whole or part is in this section called the foreign accruals-taxed attributable income) of the attributable income of the CFC of the statutory accounting period;

then the otherwise assessable section 456 amount is reduced by the amount calculated using the formula:

$$\text{Indirect attribution interests via CFE} \times \frac{\text{Foreign accruals-taxed attributable income}}{\text{Foreign accruals-taxed attributable income}}$$

where:

Indirect attribution interests via CFE means the total of the attributable taxpayer's indirect attribution interests in the CFC that are held through the CFE.

Foreign accruals-taxed attributable income means the amount of the foreign accruals-taxed attributable income.

(2) Where:

- (a) apart from this subsection, subsection (1) would reduce the otherwise assessable section 456 amount of the attributable taxpayer in relation to the CFC in a case where foreign tax is payable by 2 or more CFEs under accruals tax laws; and
- (b) any indirect attribution interest referred to in the formula component Indirect attribution interests via CFE in subsection (1) is held through any 2 or more of the CFEs; then that indirect attribution interest is only to be taken into account once in applying the subsection.

Section 457

- (3) Where, because of any of subsections 362(2) to (5), the amount that would otherwise be the attribution percentage of the attributable taxpayer for the CFC is reduced, then the Commissioner may, for the purposes of this section, make such consequential reduction as the Commissioner considers reasonable in the circumstances to any indirect attribution interest in the CFC held by the attributable taxpayer.

457 Assessability where CFC changes residence from unlisted country to listed country or to Australia

- (1) Where at any time (in this section called the residence-change time) a company that:
- (a) is a CFC; and
 - (b) has an attributable taxpayer;
- ceases to be resident in an unlisted country and becomes:
- (c) a resident of a listed country; or
 - (d) a Part X Australian resident;
- then the attributable taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which the residence-change time occurs includes the amount calculated under subsection (2).
- (2) The amount is calculated using the formula:

Attribution percent \times Adjusted distributable profits

where:

Attribution percent means the attributable taxpayer's attribution percentage, at the residence-change time, in relation to the CFC.

Adjusted distributable profits means:

- (a) if paragraph (1)(c) applies—the amount that would be the CFC's distributable profits at the residence-change time if:
 - (i) the CFC's income were its adjusted tainted income (excluding any non-portfolio dividends) derived during the period beginning on the first day of the statutory accounting period in which the residence-change time occurred and ending immediately before the time at which the residence-change time occurs; and
 - (ii) the CFC's only other income were an amount that the CFC would have derived had it disposed of all of its

- tainted assets immediately before the residence-change time for a consideration equal to their market value; and
- (iii) the CFC's only expenses were expenses related to income covered by subparagraphs (i) and (ii); or
- (b) if paragraph (1)(d) applies—the amount that would be the CFC's distributable profits at the residence-change time if:
- (i) the CFC's only income were its adjusted tainted income (excluding any non-portfolio dividends) derived during the period beginning on the first day of the statutory accounting period in which the residence-change time occurred and ending immediately before the time at which the residence-change time occurs; and
 - (ii) the CFC's only expenses were expenses related to income covered by subparagraph (i).
- (3) If:
- (a) at the residence-change time, regulations made for the purposes of section 320 come into effect; and
 - (b) a result of those regulations coming into effect is that the company:
 - (i) ceases to be a resident of an unlisted country; and
 - (ii) becomes a resident of a listed country;at the residence-change time;
- then no amount is to be included in the attributable taxpayer's assessable income under subsection (1) in relation to that change of residence.

459A Assessability where CFC or CFT has interest in certain attributable taxpayers

- (1) Where:
- (a) an amount (in this subsection called the section 456 to 459A amount) is included in the assessable income of an Australian partnership or of an Australian trust of a year of income under section 456 or 457 or under this section (apart from subsection (2)); and
 - (b) a CFC or CFT has an individual interest in the net income of the Australian partnership, or a present entitlement to a share of the net income of the Australian trust, being an interest or entitlement held either directly or indirectly through interposed Australian partnerships, CFPs or Australian trusts (or any combination thereof); and

- (c) a taxpayer is an attributable taxpayer in relation to the CFC or CFT:
 - (i) where the section 456 to 459A amount is included in assessable income under section 456—at the end of the statutory accounting period referred to in that section; or
 - (ii) where the amount is included under section 457—at the residence-change time referred to in that section; or
 - (v) where the amount is included under this section—at the time referred to in whichever subparagraph of this paragraph applied for the purposes of so including the amount;

then, subject to subsection (2), the assessable income of the attributable taxpayer of the year of income includes an amount calculated using the formula:

$AP \times \text{Interest/Entitlement} \times \text{Section 456 to 459A amount}$

where:

AP [Attribution Percentage] means the taxpayer's attribution percentage, at the time referred to in paragraph (c), for the CFC or CFT.

Interest/Entitlement means the percentage of the net income of the Australian partnership or Australian trust represented by the sum of the direct and indirect interests or present entitlements of the CFC or CFT.

Section 456 to 459A amount means the section 456 to 459A amount.

(2) Where:

- (a) apart from this subsection, an amount (in this subsection called the subsection (1) amount) is included under subsection (1) in the assessable income of an attributable taxpayer in relation to a CFT; and
- (b) the following conditions are satisfied in respect of one or more other amounts (each of which is in this subsection called an assessed attributable amount):
 - (i) each is:
 - (A) apart from this subsection, included in the assessable income of a taxpayer (whether or not the attributable taxpayer), other than a trust or partnership; or

- (B) assessed to a trustee under section 98, 99 or 99A;
- (ii) each is attributable directly through the CFT, or indirectly through the CFT and any interposed partnerships or trusts (or any combination thereof), to the section 456 to 459A amount referred to in subsection (1);

then the subsection (1) amount is reduced to the extent that the Commissioner considers it represents an assessed attributable amount or assessed attributable amounts.

- (3) A reference in subsection (1) to an Australian trust or in subsection (2) to a trust does not include a reference respectively to an Australian trust or a trust that is, in relation to the year of income concerned:
 - (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of Division 6B of Part III; or
 - (b) a public trading trust within the meaning of Division 6C of that Part; or
 - (c) a complying superannuation fund, a non-complying superannuation fund, a complying approved deposit fund, a non-complying approved deposit fund or a pooled superannuation trust.

460 Only resident partners, beneficiaries etc. liable to be assessed as a result of attribution

- (1) This section applies where an amount is included under section 456, 457, or 459A in the assessable income of an Australian partnership or an Australian trust of a year of income, except where the Australian trust is, in relation to the year of income:
 - (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of Division 6B of Part III; or
 - (b) a public trading trust within the meaning of Division 6C of that Part; or
 - (c) a complying superannuation fund, a non-complying superannuation fund, a complying approved deposit fund, a non-complying approved deposit fund or a pooled superannuation trust.

Section 460

(2) Where:

- (a) as a result of the amount being so included, there is, apart from this subsection, a tax detriment for:
 - (i) a partner in the Australian partnership; or
 - (ii) a partner in another partnership (in this subsection called the ultimate partnership), where the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the partner and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust; and
- (b) the partner is not, in respect of his or her interest in the net income or partnership loss of the Australian partnership or the ultimate partnership, in the capacity of trustee of a trust; and
- (c) the tax detriment would be reduced by an amount if it were recalculated on the assumption that section 92 applied only to so much of the partner's interest in the net income or partnership loss of the Australian partnership or the ultimate partnership as is attributable to periods when the partner was a Part X Australian resident;

then, for the purposes of this Act, the tax detriment is taken to be reduced by that amount.

(3) Where:

- (a) as a result of the amount being included as mentioned in subsection (1), there is, apart from this subsection, a tax detriment for:
 - (i) a beneficiary in the Australian trust; or
 - (ii) a beneficiary in another trust (in this subsection called the ultimate trust), where the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the beneficiary and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust; and
- (b) the beneficiary is not a partnership and is not, in respect of his or her share of the net income of the Australian trust or the ultimate trust, in the capacity of trustee of another trust; and

- (c) the tax detriment would be reduced by an amount if it were recalculated on the assumption that sections 97, 98A and 100 applied only to so much of the beneficiary's share of the net income of the Australian trust or the ultimate trust as is attributable to periods when the beneficiary was a Part X Australian resident;

then, for the purposes of this Act, the tax detriment is taken to be reduced by that amount.

(4) Where:

- (a) as a result of the amount being included as mentioned in subsection (1), there is, apart from this subsection, a tax detriment for:
- (i) the trustee of the Australian trust; or
 - (ii) the trustee of another trust (in this subsection called the ultimate trust), where the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the trustee and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust; and
- (b) the tax detriment would be reduced by an amount if it were recalculated on the assumption that:
- (i) section 98 applied only to so much of a beneficiary's share of the net income of the Australian trust or the ultimate trust as is attributable to periods when the beneficiary was a Part X Australian resident; and
 - (ii) sections 99 and 99A applied only to the Australian trust or the ultimate trust if it were a resident trust estate within the meaning of Division 6 of Part III;

then, for the purposes of this Act, the tax detriment is taken to be reduced by that amount.

460A Effect of reducing section CGT event J1 amount

- (1) This section applies in either of the following cases:
- (a) one or more schemes or arrangements have the effect of reducing the attribution percentage of an attributable taxpayer in relation to a company that is a CFC, and are intended by the attributable taxpayer or an associate of the attributable taxpayer to have that effect;
 - (b) a company ceases to be a CFC in relation to a particular taxpayer.

Part X Attribution of income in respect of controlled foreign companies

Division 9 Attribution of attributable income and other amounts

Section 460A

- (2) Work out the amount (if any) included under this Division in the taxpayer's assessable income because of CGT event J1 (as it notionally happens to the company under Division 7) as though the reduction or cessation had not happened.

Note: CGT event J1 is about companies ceasing to be related after a roll-over.

Division 10—Post-attribution asset disposals

461 Reduction of capital proceeds where attributed income not distributed

(1) Where:

- (a) it is necessary, for the purposes of applying a provision of this Act in the assessment of a taxpayer for a year of income, to take into account the capital proceeds from a CGT event happening in relation to a CGT asset, being an interest in an attribution account entity (in this section called the disposal entity); and
- (b) immediately before the CGT event takes place, either or both of the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) there is an attribution surplus for the disposal entity in relation to the taxpayer;
 - (ii) there is an attribution surplus for one or more other attribution account entities in relation to the taxpayer, where each such entity is one in which the taxpayer has an indirect attribution account interest held through the disposal entity;

then, for the purposes of this Act:

- (c) the capital proceeds that, apart from this section, would be taken into account under the provision referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the CGT event is, subject to subsection (3), taken to be reduced by the amount of the attribution surplus, or the sum of the attribution surpluses, as the case requires; and
- (d) an attribution debit is taken to arise at the time of the CGT event under section 372, in relation to the taxpayer, for each attribution account entity (in this section called a surplus entity) in relation to which there is an attribution surplus to which paragraph (1)(c) applies; and
- (e) the amount of the attribution debit is equal to so much of the surplus as is taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); and
- (f) there is no grossed-up amount in relation to the attribution debit under section 373.

Section 461

- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c):
- (a) where the CGT event causes the taxpayer's attribution account percentage for a surplus entity to be reduced by a proportion, then only that proportion of the attribution surplus for the entity is, subject to this subsection, to be taken into account under that paragraph; and
 - (b) where there is only one attribution surplus referred to in that paragraph and (after any application of paragraph (a) of this subsection) it exceeds the capital proceeds from the CGT event, then only so much of the surplus as does not exceed those capital proceeds is to be taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); and
 - (c) where there are 2 or more attribution surpluses referred to in paragraph (1)(c) and (after any application of paragraph (a) of this subsection) their sum exceeds the capital proceeds from the CGT event, then:
 - (i) if the taxpayer makes an election that for the purposes of this paragraph, a part of each surplus (after any application of paragraph (a)) such that the sum of the amounts to which the election relates equals those capital proceeds—only the part to which the election relates of each surplus is to be taken into account under paragraph (1)(c); or
 - (ii) if subparagraph (i) does not apply—only a proportion of each surplus (after any application of paragraph (a)) is to be taken into account under paragraph (1)(c), being the proportion calculated using the formula:
$$\frac{\text{Amount of capital proceeds}}{\text{Total surplus}}$$
where:
total surplus means the sum of the attribution surpluses (after any application of paragraph (a)).
- (4) An election for the purposes of paragraph (3)(c) must be made on or before the date of lodgment of the taxpayer's return of income for the year of income referred to in paragraph (1)(a) or within such further period after the lodgment of the return as the Commissioner allows.

- (4A) In determining, for the purposes of this section, whether there was an attribution surplus immediately before a CGT event, and the amount of such a surplus, also take into account any attribution credit that later arises because the CGT event caused section 104-175 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (as it notionally applies to the CGT event entity under Division 7) to operate.
- (5) In this section:
- interest*, in relation to an attribution account entity, means:
- (a) if the entity is a company—an interest in shares in the company, or an entitlement to acquire such an interest; or
 - (b) if the entity is a partnership—an interest of a partner in the profits or property of the partnership, or an entitlement of a partner to acquire such an interest; or
 - (c) if the entity is a trust—an entitlement of a beneficiary to a share of the income or corpus of the trust, or an entitlement of a beneficiary to acquire such an entitlement.

Part XI—Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 1—Preliminary

Subdivision A—Application of Part

469 Taxpayers to be taxed on share of income of certain foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

- (1) This Part applies to a taxpayer who has an interest or interests in what is referred to in this Part as a foreign investment fund (FIF). That expression refers to certain non-resident companies and non-resident trusts.
- (2) This Part also applies to a taxpayer who has an interest in a foreign life assurance policy (FLP). That expression refers to certain life assurance policies issued by a non-resident. A taxpayer is regarded as having an interest in a FLP if, and only if, the taxpayer has the legal title to the FLP.
- (3) The object of this Part is to include in a taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income an amount (foreign investment fund income) that represents income attributable to an interest or interests in a FIF or a FLP held by the taxpayer during the accounting period (notional accounting period) of the FIF or FLP that ends in that year of income.
- (4) The provision of this Act (the operative provision) that includes foreign investment fund income in a taxpayer's assessable income is section 529, which is contained in Division 16.
- (5) The operative provision does not apply, or its application is affected, in certain circumstances which are set out in:
 - (a) Divisions 2 to 15 of this Part; and
 - (b) section 768-965 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.
- (6) Division 18 contains the provisions for determining whether any foreign investment fund income accrued from a FIF or a FLP to a taxpayer in respect of a notional accounting period.

There are 3 methods provided for making a determination in respect of a FIF. These are called:

- (a) the market value method;
- (b) the deemed rate of return method;
- (c) the calculation method.

The method available to the taxpayer in respect of a particular notional accounting period of a FIF generally depends on the level of detailed information that the taxpayer has about the FIF's income and on the method used by the taxpayer to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued from that FIF in previous notional accounting periods.

There are 2 methods provided for making a determination in respect of a FLP. These are called:

- (d) the deemed rate of return method;
 - (e) the cash surrender value method.
- (7) Division 19 provides for the keeping of accounts to avoid double taxation in respect of interests in FIFs or FLPs.
 - (9) Division 21 contains provisions that apply in certain circumstances if an interest in a FIF or a FLP is disposed of.
 - (10) Division 22 provides for the keeping of records relating to interests in FIFs and FLPs.

Subdivision C—Key concepts

480 Outline of Subdivision

This Subdivision explains the meanings of certain key concepts as they are used for the purposes of this Part. For those purposes it is necessary to determine:

- (b) what is meant by an interest in a FIF or a FLP (section 483); and
- (c) the taxpayers to whose interests in FIFs or FLPs this Part applies (section 485); and

- (1) An entity is a FIF at a particular time if at that time the entity is:
 - (a) a foreign company; or
 - (b) a foreign trust.
- (2) A company is a foreign company at a particular time if at that time the company is not a Part XI Australian resident.
- (3) A trust is a foreign trust at a particular time if:
 - (a) at that time the trust is neither an Australian trust nor a resident superannuation entity; and
 - (b) the trust did not result from:
 - (i) a will, a codicil or an order of a court that varied or modified the provisions of a will or a codicil; or
 - (ii) an intestacy or an order of a court that varied or modified the application, in relation to the estate of a deceased person, of the provisions of the law relating to the distribution of the estates of persons who die intestate.

482 What is a FLP

- (1) A reference in this Part to a FLP or to a foreign life assurance policy in relation to a taxpayer in relation to a year of income is a reference to a life assurance policy issued by an entity that was not a resident of Australia at any time in that year of income but does not include a policy issued in Australia if the entity that issued the policy was, when the policy was issued, authorised under the Life Insurance Act 1995 to carry on life insurance business in Australia.

Section 482

(2) In subsection (1):

life assurance policy means a policy insuring payment of money:

- (a) on death (other than death by accident or expressly named sickness only); or
- (b) on the happening of any contingency dependent on the termination or continuance of human life (either with or without provision for a benefit under a continuous disability insurance contract within the meaning of the Life Insurance Act 1995); and includes:

- (c) an instrument evidencing a contract that is subject to payment of premiums or instalments of premiums for a term dependent on the termination or continuance of human life; or but does not include:

 - (A) for which the human life concerned is expected to continue; or
 - (B) within which the human life concerned is expected to terminate; or
 - (ii) that was issued before 1 July 1992 but cannot be cancelled, surrendered or redeemed on or after that day and whose terms have not been altered in a material respect on or after that day; or
- (f) a contract between a non-resident and a resident:
 - (i) under which the non-resident reinsures the resident against the whole or a part of the liability of the resident under a policy (the relevant policy) issued by the resident; and

- (ii) in respect of which the premium, or each of the instalments of premium, is calculated solely by reference to the period:
 - (A) for which the human life to which the relevant policy applies is expected to continue; or
 - (B) within which the human life to which the relevant policy applies is expected to terminate.

484 Bare trustee's interest to be attributed to beneficiary

- (1) If an interest in a FIF or a FLP is held by a person as trustee for another person who is absolutely entitled to the interest as against the trustee, this Part applies as if the interest were held by the other person and any acts of the trustee were acts of the other person.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), if a person holds an interest in a FIF or a FLP as trustee for another person, the other person is not taken not to be absolutely entitled to the interest as against the trustee merely because the other person is under a legal disability.

485 Taxpayers to whose interests in FIFs and FLPs this Part applies

 - (b) that year of income is the 1992-93 year of income or a later year of income; and
 - (c) the taxpayer was a Part XI Australian resident at any time in that year of income;then, subject to subsection (5), the operative provision applies to the taxpayer in relation to the FLP in respect of that notional accounting period.
- (5) The operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to a FLP in respect of the 1992-93 year of income if the taxpayer did not have any interest or interests in the FLP at the end of that year of income.
- (6) Without affecting the circumstances in which, apart from this subsection, a taxpayer would be taken to be a Part XI Australian resident at a time in a year of income, a taxpayer in the capacity of a trustee of a trust that is an Australian trust or a resident superannuation entity at a time in a year of income is taken for the purposes of subsection (3) or (4) to have been a Part XI Australian resident at that time.

- (1) If:
- (a) disregarding subsection 94D(6):
 - (i) at the end of a year of income, a taxpayer has an interest in a FIF that is a corporate limited partnership for the purposes of Division 5A of Part III in relation to the year of income; and
 - (ii) the interest consists of a share in the FIF; and

Note: The share will be an interest in the partnership that is treated by Division 5A of Part III as a share.

- (b) the entity satisfies the requirements of paragraphs 830-10(1)(a) to (d) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in relation to the year of income;

the taxpayer may elect that subsection (5) of this section applies in relation to the interest in the FIF.

Actual companies

- (2) If:
- (a) at the end of a year of income, a taxpayer has an interest in a FIF that consists of one or more shares in the FIF; and
 - (b) the interest is not one to which paragraph (1)(a) applies; and
 - (c) the entity satisfies the requirements of paragraphs 830-15(1)(a) to (c) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in relation to the year of income;

the taxpayer may elect that subsection (5) of this section applies in relation to the interest in the FIF.

Section 485AA

Time limit for making election

- (3) A taxpayer must make an election under this section:
- (a) on or before the day on which the taxpayer lodges its return of income for the year of income; or
 - (b) within a further time allowed by the Commissioner.

When election is in force

- (4) If the taxpayer makes the election, it is in force during the year of income and all later years of income.

Effect of election on interest in FIF etc.

- (5) While the election is in force, the operative provision, and any other provision of this Part relevant to the operation of that provision, does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to the interest in the FIF consisting of the share or shares or any option, convertible note, or other instrument, that confers an entitlement to acquire the share or shares.

Note: The election will also have the effect under Division 830 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 of making the company or limited partnership a foreign hybrid in relation to the taxpayer's interest in the FIF.

Effect of election on other interests in FIF

- (6) However, subsection (5) does not have effect so far as that interest in the FIF is relevant for the purpose of the application of this Part in relation to the taxpayer, or any other taxpayer, in relation to any other interest in the FIF.

Note: For example, in applying section 580 to work out other taxpayers' shares of the calculated profit of the FIF, the interest would not be disregarded.

Election irrevocable

- (7) The election is irrevocable.

485A Applying operative provision in working out net income of partnership or trust estate

- (1) For the purpose of working out the net income of a partnership or of a trust estate, the operative provision applies as mentioned in section 485, subject to the following provision.
- (2) The requirement in the definition of net income in sections 90 and 95 for assessable income to be calculated as if the partnership or trust estate concerned were a taxpayer who is a resident is, in applying the operative provision, to be taken to be a requirement to calculate that assessable income as if the taxpayer were a Part XI Australian resident.

486 Notional accounting period of a FIF

- (1) This section sets out what is a notional accounting period of a FIF for the purposes of the application of this Part to a taxpayer in relation to the FIF.
- (2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, each period that is a year of income of the taxpayer is a notional accounting period of the FIF.
- (3) If the accounts of a FIF are made out for periods not exceeding 12 months, the taxpayer may elect that the notional accounting periods of that FIF are to be the respective periods in respect of which the accounts of the FIF are made out.
- (4) An election made under subsection (3) is irrevocable so long as the taxpayer continues to have an interest in the FIF.
- (5) Subject to subsection (6), if an election is made under subsection (3):
 - (a) the first period (the first period) in respect of which the accounts of the FIF are made out that begins during the year of income of the taxpayer in which the election is made, and all later such periods, are notional accounting periods of the FIF; and
 - (b) the period starting at the beginning of that year of income and ending immediately before the beginning of the first period is a notional accounting period of the FIF.

Section 487

- (6) If, after the making of an election under subsection (3), any accounts of the FIF are made out for a period exceeding 12 months:
- (a) neither that period, nor any succeeding period exceeding 12 months for which accounts of the FIF are made out, is a notional accounting period of the FIF; and
 - (b) the period:
 - (i) beginning at the end of the last period in respect of which accounts of the FIF were made out for a period not exceeding 12 months; and
 - (ii) ending at the end of the taxpayer's year of income in which that last period ends; is a notional accounting period of the FIF; and
 - (c) all later years of income of the taxpayer are notional accounting periods of the FIF.
- (7) Despite the preceding provisions of this section, the first notional accounting period of a FIF is the period that:
- (a) in the case of a foreign company:
 - (i) if the company was incorporated or established or otherwise came into existence before 1 January 1993—began on that day; or
 - (ii) if the company was incorporated or established or otherwise came into existence on or after that day—began on the day of incorporation or establishment; or
 - (b) in the case of a foreign trust:
 - (i) if the trust was in existence immediately before 1 January 1993—began on that day; or
 - (ii) if the trust came into existence on or after that day—began on the day on which the trust came into existence;
- and ended on the next day that is the last day of a notional accounting period of the FIF under whichever of the preceding provisions of this section is applicable.

487 Notional accounting period of a FLP

- (1) This section sets out what is a notional accounting period of a FLP for the purposes of the application of this Part to a taxpayer in relation to the FLP.

- (2) Subject to this section, each period of 12 months ending on 30 June is a notional accounting period of a FLP.
- (3) If cash surrender values for interests in a FLP are available on a day (a relevant day) during the same month (being one of the 12 months of the calendar year) in each calendar year (whether or not cash surrender values for such interests are also available at other times), the taxpayer may elect that the notional accounting periods of the FLP are to be the periods ascertained under the following provisions of this section.
- (4) An election made under subsection (3) is irrevocable so long as the taxpayer continues to have an interest in the FLP.
- (5) Subject to subsection (6), if an election is made under subsection (3):
 - (a) the period (the first elective period) beginning immediately after the end of the month in which the last relevant day before the election occurred and ending at the end of the month in which the next relevant day occurs is a notional accounting period of the FLP; and
 - (b) each later period beginning after the end of the month in which a relevant day occurs and ending at the end of the month in which the next relevant day occurs is a notional accounting period of the FLP; and
 - (c) the period beginning on 1 July immediately preceding the first elective period and ending immediately before the beginning of the first elective period is a notional accounting period of the FLP.
- (6) If, after the making of an election under subsection (3), a cash surrender value is not available for the taxpayer's interest in a FLP in respect of a relevant day:
 - (a) neither the period of 12 months ending on that day nor any following period of 12 months ending on a relevant day is a notional accounting period of the FLP; and
 - (b) the period of 12 months beginning on 1 July immediately preceding the period of 12 months first mentioned in paragraph (a) is a notional accounting period of the FLP; and
 - (c) all later periods of 12 months beginning on 1 July are notional accounting periods of the FLP.

Section 488

- (7) Despite the preceding provisions of this section, the first notional accounting period of a FLP is the period that:
 - (a) if the FLP was in existence before 1 January 1993—began on that day; or
 - (b) if the FLP came into existence on or after that day—began on the day on which the FLP came into existence;and ended on the next day that is the last day of a notional accounting period of the FLP under whichever of the preceding provisions of this section is applicable.
- (8) If the taxpayer disposes of the taxpayer's interest or all of the taxpayer's interest in a FLP, the notional accounting period of the FLP during which the disposal took place ends immediately after the disposal took place.

Subdivision D—The disposal and acquisition of interests

488 What is a disposal or acquisition of an interest in a FIF or a FLP

- (1) Some of the provisions of this Part refer to an interest in a FIF or a FLP having been disposed of or acquired and this section determines what is such a disposal or acquisition for the purposes of those provisions.
- (2) Subject to this section, if a change has occurred in the ownership of an interest in a FIF or a FLP, the change is taken to have effected a disposal of the interest by the person who owned it immediately before the change and an acquisition of the interest by the person who owned it immediately after the change.
- (3) A change in the legal ownership of an interest is not a change in the ownership of the interest for the purposes of this section unless there is also a change in the beneficial ownership of the interest.
- (4) A reference in subsection (2) to a change in the ownership of an interest is a reference to a change that has occurred in any way, including any of the following ways:
 - (a) by the execution of an instrument;
 - (b) by the entering into of a transaction;
 - (c) by the transmission of the interest by operation of law;
 - (d) by the doing of any other act or thing;
 - (e) by the occurrence of any event.

- (5) Without limiting the generality of subsection (4), a change is taken to have occurred in the ownership of an interest by:
 - (a) a declaration of trust in relation to the interest under which the beneficiary is absolutely entitled to the interest as against the trustee; or
 - (b) the release, discharge, satisfaction, surrender, forfeiture, expiry, abandonment or extinction, at law or in equity, of the interest; or
 - (c) the redemption or buy-back in whole or in part, or the cancellation, of the interest.
- (6) An issue to a person of an interest in a FIF or a FLP is an acquisition of the interest by the person.
- (7) None of the following is an acquisition or disposal of an interest in a FIF or a FLP:
 - (a) the conversion of a convertible note issued by a FIF into another interest in the FIF pursuant to a right conferred by the convertible note if no consideration is paid or payable in respect of the exercise of that right;
 - (b) the exercise of any other right in relation to an interest in a FIF or a FLP if no consideration is paid or payable in respect of the exercise of that right;
 - (c) the exchange of an interest in a FIF or a FLP for a different interest in the FIF or FLP of the same value.

489 Time of disposal or acquisition of interest

If an interest in a FIF or a FLP has been disposed of or acquired, the time of disposal or acquisition is:

- (a) if the interest was disposed of or acquired under a contract—the time of making of the contract; or
- (b) otherwise—the time of the change in the ownership of the interest that is or gave rise to the disposal or acquisition.

490 Consideration for disposal or acquisition

- (1) In the circumstances referred to in subsections (2) and (3) it is necessary for the purposes of this Part to make special provision for the calculation of the consideration in respect of the disposal or acquisition of an interest in a FIF or a FLP.

Section 491

- (2) If a person disposed of an interest in a FIF or a FLP and:
- (a) the person did not receive any consideration in respect of the disposal; or
 - (b) both of the following subparagraphs apply:
 - (i) the amount that, apart from this subsection, would be taken to be the consideration received by the person in respect of the disposal is greater or less than the market value of the interest at the time of the disposal;
 - (ii) the person, and the person to whom the interest was disposed of, were not dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the disposal;

the person is taken to have received as consideration in respect of the disposal an amount equal to the market value of the interest at the time of the disposal.

- (3) If a person acquired an interest in a FIF or a FLP and:
- (a) the person did not pay or give any consideration in respect of the acquisition; or
 - (b) both of the following subparagraphs apply:
 - (i) the amount that, apart from this subsection, would be taken to be the consideration paid or given by the person in respect of the acquisition was greater or less than the market value of the interest at the time of the acquisition;
 - (ii) the person, and the person from whom the person acquired the interest, were not dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the acquisition;

the person is taken to have paid or given as consideration in respect of the acquisition an amount equal to the market value of the interest at the time of the acquisition.

Subdivision E—Associates

491 Associates of an entity to be determined in accordance with section 318 as modified

- (1) For the purposes of this Part, the associates of an entity are to be determined in accordance with section 318 subject to the modifications made by subsection (2) of this section.

- (2) The modifications are as follows:
- (a) relative, in relation to a person, means:
 - (i) a spouse of the person other than a spouse who is legally married to the person but is living separately and apart from the person and has been so living for at least 12 months; or
 - (ia) a spouse of the person, other than a spouse within the meaning of paragraph (a) of the definition of spouse in subsection 995-1(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 who is living separately and apart from the person and has been so living for at least 12 months; or
 - (ii) a child of the person; or
 - (iii) if the person has not reached the age of 18 years:
 - (A) a parent of the person; or
 - (B) a brother or sister of the person;
 - (b) child, in relation to a person, means:
 - (i) a child of the person (other than a child excluded under subsection (3)); or

 - (c) trust does not include a public unit trust, a complying superannuation fund, a non-complying superannuation fund, a complying approved deposit fund, a non-complying approved deposit fund or a pooled superannuation trust;
 - (d) subsections 318(5) and (7) are to be disregarded;
 - (e) for the purposes of the application of paragraphs 318(6)(a) and (b) in relation to an entity, the references in those paragraphs to interposed companies, partnerships or trusts are taken to be references to any such companies, partnerships or trusts that are associates of the entity.
- Note: Section 960-255 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 may be relevant to determining relationships for the purposes of subparagraph (2)(a)(iii).
- (3) For the purposes of subparagraph (2)(b)(i), the following children are excluded under this subsection:
- (a) a step-child of the person; and
 - (b) someone who would be the step-child of the person except that the person is not legally married to the person's spouse.

Division 2—Exemption of attributable taxpayers for interests in certain FIFs

492 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from certain FIFs.

493 Exemption of attributable taxpayer in relation to certain trusts

If an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to a taxpayer from a foreign trust in respect of a notional accounting period of the trust would, apart from this section, be included in the taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income and:

- (a) the taxpayer is an attributable taxpayer for the purposes of Division 6AAA in relation to the year of income and in relation to a trust estate and the trust to which the trust estate relates is the same entity as the foreign trust; or
- (b) the foreign trust is a CFT and the taxpayer is an attributable taxpayer in relation to that CFT at any time during the year of income;

the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to the foreign trust in respect of the notional accounting period of the foreign trust that ends in the year of income.

494 Exemption of attributable taxpayer referred to in section 456

- (1) If:
 - (a) an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF would, apart from this subsection, be included in the taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income; and
 - (b) a statutory accounting period of a CFC coincides with that notional accounting period of the FIF; and
 - (c) section 456 applies to the taxpayer at the end of the statutory accounting period of the CFC; and

(d) the CFC is the same entity as the FIF;
the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF referred to in paragraph (a).

(2) If:

- (a) an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF would, apart from this subsection, be included in the taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income; and
- (b) each of 2 or more statutory accounting periods of a CFC occurs partly within that notional accounting period of the FIF; and
- (c) section 456 applies to the taxpayer at the end of each of those statutory accounting periods of the CFC; and
- (d) the CFC is the same entity as the FIF;

the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF referred to in paragraph (a).

Division 3—Exemption for interest in foreign company that is designated as engaging, or whose assets are principally for use, in certain activities

495 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from a foreign company that is taken by the application of one of the methods referred to in section 498 to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at the time determined under section 497.

496 Interpretation

- (1) In this Division:

eligible activities means business activities (including the provision of services) other than activities:

- (a) named in regulations made for the purposes of this section; or
 - (b) until regulations are so made—named in Schedule 4.
- (2) The inclusion in regulations referred to in paragraph (1)(a), or in Schedule 4, of references to banking, investment, life insurance business, general insurance business, and certain activities in connection with real property, as activities that are not eligible activities does not affect the exemptions provided for by Divisions 4, 5, 6 and 7.

497 Exemption

- (1) The operative provision does not apply to a taxpayer in relation to a foreign company in respect of a notional accounting period of the foreign company if the foreign company is taken by one of the methods referred to in section 498 to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at the time (the test time) applicable under subsection (2).

- (2) The test time is:
 - (a) if the taxpayer uses the stock exchange listing method referred to in section 499—the end of the notional accounting period; or
 - (b) if the taxpayer uses the balance-sheet method referred to in section 500:
 - (i) if the notional accounting period is a period in respect of which the accounts of the company are made out—the end of that period; or
 - (ii) if the notional accounting period is the taxpayer's year of income—the end of the last period in respect of which the accounts of the company were made out that ended before the end of that year of income.

498 How to determine whether a foreign company is taken to have been principally engaged in eligible activities

- (1) The question whether a foreign company is taken to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at the test time in relation to a notional accounting period is to be determined either:
 - (a) by ascertaining, by the stock exchange listing method applicable under section 499, the designation accorded to the company at the test time by an approved stock exchange or an international sectoral classification system; or
 - (b) by ascertaining, by the balance-sheet method applicable under section 500, the extent to which the company's assets were for use in eligible activities at the test time.
- (2) If both of those methods are capable of being applied, the question is to be determined in relation to a particular taxpayer by whichever method the taxpayer chooses.
- (3) If one only of those methods is capable of being applied, the question is to be determined by that method.
- (4) If neither of those methods is capable of being applied, section 497 does not exempt the taxpayer from the application of the operative provision in relation to the company in respect of the notional accounting period.

Section 499

499 Stock exchange listing method

- (1) The stock exchange listing method may be applied only if the taxpayer's interest or any of the taxpayer's interests in the foreign company at the test time in relation to a notional accounting period was included in a class of interests in the company that were quoted on the stock market of an approved stock exchange.
- (2) Subject to subsection (3), if the stock exchange listing method applies and at the test time:
 - (a) one of the following subparagraphs applies:
 - (i) the company was included by an approved stock exchange in a class of companies designated by the stock exchange as engaged in activities of a particular kind;
 - (ii) the company was included:
 - (A) by an international sectoral classification system named in regulations made for the purposes of this section; or
 - (B) until regulations are so made—by an international sectoral classification system named in Schedule 5; in a class of companies designated by the system as engaged in activities of a particular kind; and
 - (b) activities of the kind referred to in the designation by the stock exchange or the international sectoral classification system, as the case may be, are eligible activities; then, irrespective of the extent (if any) to which the company engages in activities that are not eligible activities, the company is taken, for the purposes of the application of section 497 in relation to the taxpayer, to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at that time.
- (3) If, at the test time:
 - (a) if subparagraph (2)(a)(i) applies and subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) does not apply:
 - (i) if there was only one approved stock exchange that included the company in a designated class of companies—that stock exchange; or

- (ii) if there were 2 or more approved stock exchanges that included the company in a designated class of companies—each of those stock exchanges; or
 - (b) if subparagraph (2)(a)(ii) applies and subparagraph (2)(a)(i) does not apply:
 - (i) if there was only one international sectoral classification system that included the company in a designated class of companies—that system; or
 - (ii) if there were 2 or more international sectoral classification systems that included the company in a designated class of companies—each of those systems; or
 - (c) if both subparagraphs (2)(a)(i) and (2)(a)(ii) apply—each approved stock exchange and each international sectoral classification system that included the company in a designated class of companies; included the company in a class of companies designated by the stock exchange or system as engaged in activities of an unclassified kind or of a kind designated as miscellaneous, the company is not taken under subsection (2) to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at that time.
- (4) For the purposes of subsection (3), the designation by an approved stock exchange or an international sectoral classification system of a class of companies as conglomerates or as multi-industry is not taken to be a designation of the companies as being engaged in activities of an unclassified kind or as being designated miscellaneous.

500 Balance-sheet method

- (1) The balance-sheet method involves determining the extent to which a foreign company's assets were for use in eligible activities by reference to a relevant balance-sheet of the company and, if appropriate, of its subsidiaries prepared as at the test time in relation to a notional accounting period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 3 Exemption for interest in foreign company that is designated as engaging, or whose assets are principally for use, in certain activities

Section 500

- (2) If, at the test time, the gross value of the foreign company's assets for use in eligible activities was 50% or more of the gross value of all of the company's assets, the company is taken, for the purposes of the application of section 497 in relation to the taxpayer, to have been principally engaged in eligible activities at that time.
- (3) If, at the test time, a company (the holding company) was the direct or indirect owner of 50% or more of the paid-up share capital of another company (the subsidiary company), the following paragraphs apply:
- (a) the gross value at the test time of the holding company's assets for use in eligible activities includes the amount worked out using the formula:
- $$\text{Gross value of subsidiary's eligible assets} \times \frac{\text{Interest in share capital}}{\text{Total share capital}}$$
- (b) the gross value at the test time of all the holding company's assets does not include the gross value of the shares in the subsidiary but includes the amount worked out using the formula:
- $$\text{Gross value of subsidiary's assets} \times \frac{\text{Interest in share capital}}{\text{Total share capital}}$$

In the formulas:

Gross value of subsidiary's eligible assets means the gross value at the test time of the subsidiary company's assets for use in one or more eligible activities.

Gross value of subsidiary's assets means the gross value at the test time of all the subsidiary company's assets.

Interest in share capital means the amount of the share capital of the subsidiary company that was owned by the holding company.

Total share capital means the total amount of the share capital of the subsidiary company.

- (4) Subsection (3) applies in relation to the subsidiary company whether the subsidiary company engages in eligible activities or activities that are not eligible activities, or both.

- (5) In subsection (3):
- (a) any reference to the holding company's assets does not include:
 - (i) in the case of the reference in paragraph (3)(a)—a reference to so much of the holding company's assets for use in eligible activities that comprise debts due or other amounts payable to the holding company by the subsidiary company, or by any company interposed between the holding company and the subsidiary company, as are related to the subsidiary company's assets whose gross value is included in the gross value of the holding company's assets for use in eligible activities; or
 - (ii) in the case of the reference in paragraph (3)(b)—a reference to so much of all the holding company's assets that comprise debts due or other amounts payable to the holding company by the subsidiary company, or by any company interposed between the holding company and the subsidiary company, as are related to the subsidiary company's assets whose gross value is included in the gross value of all the holding company's assets; and
 - (b) any reference to the subsidiary company's assets does not include a reference to:
 - (i) shares owned by the subsidiary company in another company that is a subsidiary of the holding company by virtue of Division 6 of Part 1.2 of the Corporations Act 2001; or
 - (ii) assets comprising debts or other amounts payable to the subsidiary company by:
 - (A) the holding company; or
 - (B) any company interposed between the subsidiary company and the holding company; or
 - (C) any other company that is a subsidiary of the holding company by virtue of Division 6 of Part 1.2 of the Corporations Act 2001.
- (6) For the purposes of subsection (3), the percentage of the paid-up share capital of the subsidiary company of which the holding company was the owner at the test time includes the percentage (if any) of that paid-up share capital of which the holding company

Division 3 Exemption for interest in foreign company that is designated as engaging, or whose assets are principally for use, in certain activities was the indirect owner at that time, as calculated in accordance with section 501.

- (7) Subsections (3) to (6) apply in relation to the ownership by a company of any of the paid-up share capital of another company whether the other company's place of incorporation or establishment is the same as, or different from, the former company's place of incorporation or establishment.
- (8) If a company had, at the test time, an interest, as a partner in a partnership, in any assets of the partnership:
 - (a) the gross value at that time of all of the company's assets does not include the value of the company's interest in the partnership as shown in the company's balance-sheet but includes the gross value of the company's interest in each of the partnership's assets; and
 - (b) the company's assets at that time that were for use in eligible activities are taken to have included the company's interests in the assets of the partnership that were for use in one or more eligible activities.
- (9) A reference in this section to the gross value of an asset of a company at the test time is a reference to that value as shown in a balance-sheet of the company that:
 - (a) was prepared in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles; and
 - (b) gives a true and fair view of the company's financial position as at that time.
- (10) For the purposes of this section, the gross value, at the test time, of an asset in which a company has an interest as a partner in a partnership is to be that value as shown in a balance-sheet of the partnership that:
 - (a) was prepared in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles; and
 - (b) gives a true and fair view of the partnership's financial position as at that time.
- (11) If, at the test time, any of the company's assets (the relevant assets) are for use partly in one or more eligible activities and partly for other purposes, a reference in this section to the gross value at that time of the company's assets for use in one or more eligible activities is a reference to so much only of the gross value at that time of the relevant assets as is proportionate to the extent to which they are for use at that time in one or more eligible activities.

- (12) If an amount that, under subsection (3) or (8), is to be included in:
- (a) the gross value, at the test time, of all the assets of a foreign company; or
 - (b) the gross value, at that time, of such of those assets as were for use at that time in one or more eligible activities;
- is not expressed in the currency in which the balance-sheet applicable under subsection (9) in relation to the foreign company is expressed, the amount to be so included is the equivalent amount expressed in that currency, being the equivalent amount obtained by reference to the appropriate rate of exchange between those 2 currencies in force at that time.
- (13) A reference in this section to an asset of a company being for use in an eligible activity is a reference to the asset being for use by the company in engaging in that activity either through its directors or employees in the performance of their duties as directors or employees or through another person pursuant to a contract or arrangement.

501 Indirect ownership of paid-up share capital of company

- (1) For the purposes of this section, a company has a direct ownership interest in another company at a particular time equal to the percentage of the paid-up share capital of the other company of which the first-mentioned company is the owner at that time.
- (2) The percentage of the paid-up share capital of a company (the bottom company) of which another company (the top company) is the indirect owner at a particular time (the indirect ownership interest) is calculated in accordance with this section.
- (3) If there is only one company interposed between the top company and the bottom company, the indirect ownership interest is calculated by multiplying the direct ownership interest that the top company holds in the interposed company by the direct ownership interest that the interposed company holds in the bottom company.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 3 Exemption for interest in foreign company that is designated as engaging, or whose assets are principally for use, in certain activities

Section 501

- (4) If there are 2 companies interposed between the top company and the bottom company, the indirect ownership interest is calculated:

 - (ii) the foreign company was authorised under the law of its place of residence to carry on banking business; and
 - (iii) the foreign company was principally engaged in the active carrying on of banking business;

the interest referred to in paragraph (a) is disregarded for the purposes of the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in relation to the foreign company in respect of that notional accounting period.

504 Exemption for interest in foreign holding company of foreign bank

If:

- (a) at the end of the notional accounting period of a foreign company (the holding company) that ended during a year of income:

Division 5—Exemption for interest in foreign company whose assets are principally for use in carrying on life insurance business

505 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from a foreign company that is taken by the application of the method in section 507 to have been principally engaged in life insurance business at the test time in relation to a notional accounting period. That method involves determining the extent to which the foreign company's assets were for use in carrying on life insurance business at that time by reference to a relevant balance-sheet of the company and, if appropriate, of its subsidiaries prepared at that time.

506 Exemption for interest in foreign life insurance company

- (1) The operative provision does not apply to a taxpayer in relation to a foreign company in respect of a notional accounting period of the foreign company if the foreign company is taken to have been principally engaged in carrying on life insurance business at the time (the test time) applicable under subsection (2).
- (2) The test time is:
 - (a) if the notional accounting period is a period in respect of which the accounts of the company are made out—the end of that period; or
 - (b) if the notional accounting period is the taxpayer's year of income—the end of the last period in respect of which the accounts of the company were made out that ended before the end of that year of income.

507 How to determine whether a foreign company was principally engaged in carrying on life insurance business

- (1) The question whether a foreign company is taken to have been principally engaged in carrying on life insurance business at the test time is to be determined as provided by this section.

- (2) If:
- (a) throughout the notional accounting period referred to in section 506 or the part of that period in which the taxpayer had an interest in a foreign company, the company was authorised under the law of its place of residence to carry on life insurance business; and
 - (b) at the test time, the gross value of the foreign company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business was 50% or more of the gross value of all of the company's assets;
- the company is taken, for the purposes of the application of section 506 in relation to the taxpayer, to have been principally engaged in carrying on life insurance business at that time.
- (3) If, at the test time, a company (the holding company) was the direct or indirect owner of 50% or more of the paid-up share capital of another company (the subsidiary company), the following paragraphs apply:
- (a) the gross value at the test time of the holding company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business includes the amount worked out using the formula:
$$\text{Gross value of subsidiary's eligible assets} \times \frac{\text{Interest in share capital}}{\text{Total share capital}}$$
 - (b) the gross value at the test time of all the holding company's assets:
 - (i) except as provided by subsection (11), does not include the gross value of the shares in the subsidiary company owned by the holding company; but
 - (ii) includes the amount worked out using the formula:
$$\text{Gross value of subsidiary's assets} \times \frac{\text{Interest in share capital}}{\text{Total share capital}}$$

In the formulas:

Gross value of subsidiary's eligible assets means the gross value at the test time of the subsidiary company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business.

Gross value of subsidiary's assets means the gross value at the test time of all the subsidiary company's assets.

Interest in share capital means the amount of the share capital of the subsidiary company that was owned by the holding company.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 5 Exemption for interest in foreign company whose assets are principally for use in carrying on life insurance business

Section 507

Total share capital means the total amount of the share capital of the subsidiary company.

- (4) Subsection (3) applies in relation to the subsidiary company whether the subsidiary company carries on life insurance business or not.
- (5) In subsection (3):
- (a) any reference to the holding company's assets does not include:
 - (i) in the case of the reference in paragraph (3)(a)—a reference to so much of the holding company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business that comprise debts due or other amounts payable to the holding company by the subsidiary company, or by any company interposed between the holding company and the subsidiary company, as are related to the subsidiary company's assets whose gross value is included in the gross value of the holding company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business; or
 - (ii) in the case of the reference in paragraph (3)(b)—a reference to so much of all the holding company's assets that comprise debts due or other amounts payable to the holding company by the subsidiary company, or by any company interposed between the holding company and the subsidiary company, as are related to the subsidiary company's assets whose gross value is included in the gross value of all the holding company's assets; and
 - (b) any reference to the subsidiary company's assets does not include a reference to:
 - (i) shares owned by the subsidiary company in another company that is a subsidiary of the holding company by virtue of Division 6 of Part 1.2 of the Corporations Act 2001; or
 - (ii) assets comprising debts or other amounts payable to the subsidiary company by:
 - (A) the holding company; or
 - (B) any company interposed between the subsidiary company and the holding company; or

- (C) any other company that is a subsidiary of the holding company by virtue of Division 6 of Part 1.2 of the Corporations Act 2001.
- (6) For the purposes of subsection (3), the percentage of the paid-up share capital of the subsidiary company of which the holding company was the owner at the test time includes the percentage (if any) of that paid-up share capital of which the holding company was the indirect owner at that time, as calculated in accordance with section 501.
- (7) Subsections (2) to (5) apply in relation to the ownership by a company of any of the paid-up share capital of another company whether the other company's place of incorporation or establishment is the same as, or different from, the former company's place of incorporation or establishment.
- (8) A reference in this section to the gross value of an asset of a company at the test time is a reference to that value as shown in a balance-sheet of the company that:
- (a) was prepared in accordance with commercially accepted accounting principles; and
 - (b) gives a true and fair view of the company's financial position as at that time.
- (9) If, at the test time, any of a company's assets (the relevant assets) are for use partly in carrying on life insurance business and partly for other purposes, a reference in this section to the gross value at that time of the company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business is a reference to so much only of the gross value at that time of the relevant assets as is proportionate to the extent to which they are for use at that time in carrying on life insurance business.
- (10) If an amount that, under subsection (3), is to be included in:
- (a) the gross value, at the test time, of all the assets of a foreign company; or
 - (b) the gross value, at that time, of such of those assets as were for use at that time in carrying on life insurance business;
- is not expressed in the currency in which the balance-sheet applicable under subsection (8) in relation to the foreign company is expressed, the amount to be so included is the equivalent amount

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 5 Exemption for interest in foreign company whose assets are principally for use in carrying on life insurance business expressed in that currency, being the equivalent amount obtained by reference to the appropriate rate of exchange between those 2 currencies in force at that time.

- (11) For the purposes of subsection (2), if, at the test time:
- (a) the foreign company referred to in that subsection owned shares in another company which was not a resident of Australia at that time and which at that time managed funds of the foreign company by investing those funds at the discretion of the other company; and
 - (b) the funds so managed were maintained by the foreign company in a manner similar to the manner in which companies carrying on life insurance business in Australia maintain statutory funds under Part 4 of the Life Insurance Act 1995;

the gross value of those shares at that time is to be included in the gross value of all the foreign company's assets, and in the gross value of the foreign company's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business, at that time.

507A Exemption for interest in foreign holding company of foreign life insurance company

Interest in holding company disregarded

- (1) If:

 - (b) the holding company requirements set out in subsection (2) are satisfied; and
 - (c) the subsidiary company requirements set out in subsection (3) are satisfied;

 - (b) throughout the notional accounting period, or the part of that period in which the taxpayer had the interest in the holding company, as the case may be, shares in the holding company that were included in the class mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) were widely held, and actively traded on a regular basis, on a stock market of an approved stock exchange.

Subsidiary company requirements

- (3) The subsidiary company requirements are that:
- (a) throughout the notional accounting period (the interest holding period), or the part (also the interest holding period) of that period in which the taxpayer had the interest in the holding company, as the case may be, one or more other foreign companies were wholly-owned subsidiaries of the holding company; and
 - (b) if there was only one such subsidiary, that subsidiary was:

- (6) For the purposes of subparagraph (3)(c)(ii), the question whether, at their test time, the principal activities of 2 or more subsidiaries, considered together, were the active carrying on of life insurance business is determined as follows:
 - (a) first, work out for each subsidiary (including by applying subsections 507(3) to (11) (inclusive) in the same way as they apply for the purpose of paragraph 507(2)(b)):
 - (i) the gross value, at its test time, of the subsidiary's assets for use in carrying on life insurance business; and

 - (b) secondly, work out:

- (ii) the sum of the gross values in subparagraph (a)(ii) for all of the subsidiaries; and
- (c) thirdly, if the sum in subparagraph (b)(i) is 50% or more of the sum in subparagraph (b)(ii), then, at their test time, the principal activities of all of the subsidiaries, considered together, were the active carrying on of life insurance business.

- (3) If:
 - (a) a taxpayer is the trustee of a fixed trust (an interposed fixed trust) at the end of a year of income; and
 - (b) one of the following subparagraphs (whether or not the same subparagraph) applies in relation to each of the fixed entitlements to shares of the income and capital of the trust at the end of the year of income:

- (i) it is a complying superannuation/FHSA asset;
- (ii) it is a segregated exempt asset;
- (iii) it is held by the trustee of a complying superannuation entity;
- (iv) it is held by the trustee of an interposed fixed trust within the meaning of this subsection or subsection (4);

the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to a FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF that ends in the year of income.

Fixed trusts with some fixed entitlements held by former complying superannuation entities

- (4) If a taxpayer is the trustee of a fixed trust (an interposed fixed trust) at the end of a year of income, where:
 - (a) some of the fixed entitlements to shares of the income and capital of the trust are held by the trustees of entities that:
 - (i) are not complying superannuation entities in relation to the year of income; but
 - (ii) acquired their fixed entitlements in previous years of income and were complying superannuation entities in relation to those years; and
 - (b) one of the following subparagraphs (whether or not the same subparagraph) applies in relation to each of the other fixed entitlements to shares of the income and capital of the trust at the end of the year of income:
 - (i) it is a complying superannuation/FHSA asset;
 - (ii) it is a segregated exempt asset;
 - (iii) it is held by the trustee of a complying superannuation entity;
 - (iv) it is held by the trustee of an interposed fixed trust within the meaning of this subsection or subsection (3); and
 - (c) the market value at the end of the year of income of the fixed entitlements to which paragraph (a) applies is not more than 5% of the market value at that time of all of the fixed entitlements to income and capital of the trust;

the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to a FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF that ends in the year of income.

- (5) In determining for the purposes of subparagraph (4)(a)(ii) whether an entity was a complying superannuation entity in relation to the year of income in which it acquired the fixed entitlements mentioned in that subparagraph, disregard any notice issued after the end of that year of income under section 40 of the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 to the effect that the entity was not a complying superannuation entity in relation to the year of income.

Division 12—Exemption for certain interests that are trading stock

520 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from FIFs to the extent that that income is attributable to interests in FIFs that consist of trading stock whose value to be taken into account at the end of the year of income under section 70-70 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 is its market value.

521 Exemption

If:

- (a) subsection 70-70(2) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 applies to a taxpayer in respect of a year of income; and
- (b) at any time during the notional accounting period of a FIF that ended in that year of income the taxpayer had an interest in the FIF that was trading stock;

that interest is disregarded for the purposes of the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in relation to the FIF in respect of that notional accounting period.

Division 13—Exemption for interest in foreign company principally engaged in several activities

522 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from a foreign company that engages in several activities.

523 Exemption

If:

- (a) at the end of the notional accounting period of a foreign company a taxpayer had an interest in the foreign company that consisted of shares included in a class of shares that were quoted on the stock market of an approved stock exchange; and
- (b) throughout that period, or the part of that period in which the taxpayer had that interest, as the case may be:
 - (i) shares in the foreign company that were included in that class were widely held, and actively traded on a regular basis, on a stock market of an approved stock exchange; and
 - (ii) the foreign company was engaged in the active carrying on of any 2 or more of the following activities:
 - (A) construction;
 - (B) development of real property through capital improvement;
 - (C) receipt of rental income from commercial real property owned by the company, being property in respect of which the management, maintenance and security services were principally provided by directors or employees of the company or by a wholly-owned subsidiary of the company that was principally engaged in carrying on the business of providing those services through directors or employees of that subsidiary;

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 13 Exemption for interest in foreign company principally engaged in several activities

Section 523A

- (D) provision of management services in respect of real property by directors or employees of the company;
 - (E) acting as agent in connection with the sale or purchase of commercial real property;
 - (F) general insurance business of a kind that the company was authorised under the law of its place of residence to carry on;
 - (G) life insurance business of a kind that the company was authorised under the law of its place of residence to carry on;
 - (H) eligible activities within the meaning of Division 3; and
- (c) having regard to all the activities in which the company engaged in that period or that part of that period, it would be concluded that any 2 or more of the activities referred to in subparagraph (b)(ii), taken together, were the activities in which the company was principally engaged throughout that period or that part of that period, as the case may be;
- then the taxpayer's interest is disregarded for the purposes of the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in relation to the foreign company in respect of the notional accounting period.

523A Exemption for interest in foreign holding company of foreign mixed activity company

Interest in holding company disregarded

- (1) If:
- (a) at the end of the notional accounting period of a foreign company (the holding company), the taxpayer had an interest in the holding company that consisted of shares included in a class of shares that were quoted on the stock market of an approved stock exchange; and
 - (b) the holding company requirement set out in subsection (2) is satisfied; and

- (c) the subsidiary company requirements set out in subsection (3) are satisfied;

the interest is disregarded for the purposes of the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in relation to the holding company in respect of that notional accounting period.

Holding company requirement

- (2) The holding company requirement is that throughout the notional accounting period, or the part of that period in which the taxpayer had the interest in the holding company, as the case may be, shares in the holding company that were included in the class mentioned in paragraph (1)(a) were widely held, and actively traded on a regular basis, on a stock market of an approved stock exchange.

Subsidiary company requirements

- (3) The subsidiary company requirements are that, throughout the notional accounting period, or the part of that period in which the taxpayer had the interest in the holding company, as the case may be:
- (a) one or more other foreign companies were wholly-owned subsidiaries of the holding company; and
 - (b) if there was only one such subsidiary—that subsidiary was principally engaged in the active carrying on of 2 or more of the activities mentioned in subparagraph 523(b)(ii); and
 - (c) if there were 2 or more such subsidiaries—the principal activities of all the subsidiaries, considered together, were the active carrying on of 2 or more activities mentioned in subparagraph 523(b)(ii).

Division 14—Exemption for interests in FIFs the value of which is not more than 10% of the value of all taxpayers' interests in FIFs

524 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from FIFs if the total value of the taxpayer's interests in those FIFs does not exceed 10% of the total value of all the taxpayer's interests in FIFs.

525 Exemption

(1) If:

- (a) at the end of the notional accounting period of a FIF, or the end of the notional accounting periods of FIFs, that ended in the year of income a taxpayer had an interest in that FIF or interests in those FIFs; and
- (b) apart from this Division the operative provision would apply to the taxpayer in relation to that FIF or those FIFs in respect of that notional accounting period or those notional accounting periods; and
- (c) the value or the sum of the values of the taxpayer's interest or interests in that FIF or those FIFs at the end of that year of income did not exceed 10% of the sum of the values of all the taxpayer's interests in FIFs at the end of that year of income (other than interests in relation to which the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in respect of notional accounting periods that ended in that year of income because of Division 2 or 11);

the operative provision does not apply to the taxpayer in relation to the FIF or FIFs referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the notional accounting period or notional accounting periods referred to in that paragraph.

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), the value at the end of the year of income of a person's interests in a FIF is taken to be:

- (a) the cost incurred by the person in acquiring the interest in the FIF; or
 - (b) the market value of the interest in the FIF at the end of the year of income;
- whichever is the greater amount.

Division 15—Exemption for certain interests of underwriting members of Lloyd's

526 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to exempt a taxpayer who is an underwriting member of Lloyd's from taxation in respect of foreign investment fund income that would otherwise be taken to accrue from a Premiums Trust Fund.

527 Exemption

The operative provision does not apply to a taxpayer who is an underwriting member of Lloyd's in relation to an interest in assets that form part of a Premiums Trust Fund, as referred to in section 83 of the Insurance Companies Act 1982 of the United Kingdom.

Division 16—Assessable income to include foreign investment fund income

528 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to include in a taxpayer's assessable income in certain circumstances foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer.

529 Foreign investment fund income to be included in assessable income

- (1) The circumstances in which this section applies to a taxpayer in relation to a FIF or FLP in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF or FLP are as set out in section 485.
- (2) If foreign investment fund income accrued to a taxpayer to whom this section applies from a FIF or a FLP in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF or FLP, the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which the notional accounting period ended includes:
 - (a) if the taxpayer was a resident throughout the whole of the notional accounting period—the foreign investment fund income; or
 - (b) if the taxpayer was a resident throughout a part or parts of the notional accounting period—so much of the foreign investment fund income as is worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Foreign investment fund income} \times \frac{\text{Number of days of residence}}{\text{Total number of days}}$$

In the formula in paragraph (b):

foreign investment fund income means the amount of the foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF or FLP in respect of the notional accounting period.

number of days of residence means the number of days in the notional accounting period throughout which the taxpayer was a resident.

Section 530

total number of days means the number of days in the notional accounting period.

530 Reduction of foreign investment fund income because of interim dividend or interim distribution of trust income

(1) If:

- (a) a FIF attribution account payment is made by a FIF or a FLP to a taxpayer during a notional accounting period of the FIF or FLP, as the case may be; and
- (b) under section 529 an amount of foreign investment fund income that is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from that FIF or FLP in respect of that period would be included in the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which that period ended; the amount to be included (the section 529 amount) under that section in that assessable income is reduced by so much of the payment as:

- (c) is included in that assessable income; or
- (ca) was included in the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income that immediately preceded the year of income referred to in paragraph (b); or
- (d) is a non-portfolio dividend (as defined in section 317) that is:
 - (i) non-assessable non-exempt income under section 23AJ; or
 - (ii) notional exempt income of the taxpayer under section 23AJ or 404; and does not exceed the section 529 amount.

(2) If:

- (a) an amount of foreign investment fund income that accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period of the FIF is included in the taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income; and
- (b) a residence-change time (within the meaning of section 457) in relation to a CFC occurs in that notional accounting period of the FIF; and
- (c) section 457 applies to the taxpayer in respect of the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which the residence-change time occurs; and

(d) the CFC is the same entity as the FIF;
the amount included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 457 is taken for the purposes of subsection (1) of this section to be a FIF attribution account payment made by the FIF to the taxpayer.

530A Reduction of foreign investment fund income because of employee share scheme shares or rights

(1A) If:

- (a) a taxpayer acquired a qualifying share or right under an employee share scheme and has not made an election under section 139E covering the share or right; and
- (b) for the whole of a notional accounting period of a FIF the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the taxpayer holds the share or right;
 - (ii) the share or right is an interest in the FIF;
 - (iii) the cessation time for the share or right has not occurred;

the foreign investment fund income of the taxpayer, to the extent that it relates to the share or right, for the notional accounting period is zero.

(1) If:

- (a) a taxpayer acquired a qualifying share or right under an employee share scheme and has not made an election under section 139E covering the share or right; and
- (b) there is a period (the reduction period) forming part of a notional accounting period of a FIF in respect of which the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the taxpayer holds the share or right;
 - (ii) the share or right is an interest in the FIF;
 - (iii) the cessation time for the share or right has not occurred;

the foreign investment fund income of the taxpayer for the notional accounting period is to be reduced by an amount equal to any increase in the market value of the share or right during the reduction period.

Section 530A

- (2) In the section, cessation time, market value, qualifying right and qualifying share have the same meanings as in Division 13A of Part III.
- (3) This section applies in relation to a stapled security or right to acquire a stapled security that is treated as a qualifying share or qualifying right because of Subdivision DB of Division 13A of Part III in the same way as it applies in relation to a share or right.
- (4) The cessation time for the stapled security or right is the cessation time provided for in that Division.

Division 17—Foreign Investment Fund losses resulting from application of market value method or cash surrender value method to be allowable deductions

531 Object of Division

The object of this Division is to allow foreign investment fund losses incurred by a taxpayer as a result of the application of the market value method in relation to a FIF, or the cash surrender value method in relation to a FLP, to be deducted from the taxpayer's assessable income.

532 Foreign investment fund loss from FIF under market value method to be allowable deduction

If:

- (a) a taxpayer incurs a foreign investment fund loss under section 541 from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period; and
- (b) a FIF attribution surplus for the FIF under section 604 exists in relation to the taxpayer at the end of that notional accounting period;

so much of that foreign investment fund loss as does not exceed that FIF attribution surplus is an allowable deduction from the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which that notional accounting period ended.

533 Foreign investment fund loss from FLP under cash surrender value method to be allowable deduction

If:

- (a) a taxpayer incurs a foreign investment fund loss under section 599 from a FLP in respect of a notional accounting period; and

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 17 Foreign Investment Fund losses resulting from application of market value method or cash surrender value method to be allowable deductions

Section 533A

(b) a FIF attribution surplus for the FLP under section 604 exists in relation to the taxpayer at the end of that notional accounting period;

so much of that foreign investment fund loss as does not exceed that FIF attribution surplus is an allowable deduction from the taxpayer's assessable income of the year of income in which that notional accounting period ended.

533A Foreign investment fund losses to be expressed in Australian currency

For the purposes of section 532 or 533, if the foreign investment fund loss mentioned in that subsection is not expressed in Australian currency, it is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of the notional accounting period.

Division 17A—Deduction for overseas superannuation transfers

533B Deduction for overseas superannuation transfers

If:

- (a) a taxpayer has an interest in a FIF that is a fund or scheme in relation to which Subdivision 305-B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 applies (see section 305-55 of that Act) (the paying fund); and
- (b) the paying fund transfers an amount to a complying superannuation fund in respect of the taxpayer; and
- (c) the taxpayer chooses under section 305-80 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 that the amount, or part of the amount, is to be treated as assessable income of the complying superannuation fund; and
- (d) immediately before the transfer happens, there is a FIF attribution surplus for the paying fund under section 604 in relation to the taxpayer;

then the taxpayer is entitled to a deduction, for the year of income in which the transfer happened, for the lesser of:

- (e) the FIF attribution surplus; and
- (f) the amount covered by the taxpayer's choice.

Division 18—How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Subdivision A—Preliminary

534 Object of Division

- (1) The object of this Division is to prescribe methods for determining whether any foreign investment fund income accrued from a particular FIF or FLP in respect of a notional accounting period to a taxpayer to whom the operative provision applies in relation to the FIF or FLP in respect of that period.
- (2) Subject to this Subdivision, there are 3 alternative methods for making a determination in relation to a FIF, as follows:
 - (a) the method set out in Subdivision B (the market value method);
 - (b) the method set out in Subdivision C (the deemed rate of return method);
 - (c) the method set out in Subdivision D (the calculation method).
- (3) Subject to this Subdivision, there are 2 alternative methods for making a determination in relation to a FLP, as follows:
 - (a) the method set out in Subdivision E (the deemed rate of return method);
 - (b) the method set out in Subdivision F (the cash surrender value method).

535 Methods applicable in relation to a FIF

- (1) Subject to this section, if it is practicable to apply the market value method in respect of the taxpayer's interest, or all of the taxpayer's interests in a particular class or classes, in a FIF in respect of the notional accounting period, the market value method is to be so applied.
 - (2) Subject to this section, if it is not practicable to apply the market value method in respect of the taxpayer's interest, or all of the taxpayer's interests in a particular class, in a FIF in respect of the notional accounting period, the deemed rate of return method is to be applied in respect of the interest or the interests in that class.

- (3) Subject to subsections (4) and (5), the taxpayer may elect to apply the calculation method in respect of all of the taxpayer's interests in a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period, and if such an election is made, the calculation method is to be so applied.
- (4) The taxpayer is not entitled to make an election under subsection (3) in relation to a FIF in relation to a notional accounting period (the current notional accounting period) if:
 - (a) the taxpayer has made an election under that subsection in relation to the FIF in relation to a previous notional accounting period ending after the day on which the Taxation Laws Amendment Act (No. 2) 1993 receives the Royal Assent; and
 - (b) the taxpayer has not made an election under that subsection in relation to the FIF in relation to every notional accounting period (if any) in respect of which the operative provision applied that has occurred after the previous notional accounting period and before the current notional accounting period.
- (4A) Subsection (4) does not prevent the taxpayer from making an election under subsection (3) in relation to a FIF in relation to a notional accounting period if the taxpayer also makes a choice under subsection 559A(1) in relation to the FIF in relation to the notional accounting period.
- (5) The taxpayer is not entitled to make an election under subsection (3) in relation to a FIF unless the taxpayer also makes an election in relation to the FIF under subsection 486(3).
- (6) This section has effect subject to section 577.

536 Methods applicable in relation to FLP

- (1) The deemed rate of return method is to be applied in respect of the taxpayer's interest in a FLP in respect of a notional accounting period unless, under the following provisions of this section, the cash surrender value method is to be applied in respect of that period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 536

- (2) Subject to subsection (3), the taxpayer may elect to apply the cash surrender value method in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the FLP in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant notional accounting period) if the deemed rate of return method has not already been applied in respect of that interest in respect of that period.
- (3) The taxpayer is not entitled to make an election under subsection (2) in relation to a FLP unless the taxpayer also makes an election in relation to a FLP under subsection 487(3).
- (4) If such an election is made, then, subject to the following provisions of this section, the cash surrender value method is to be applied in respect of the relevant notional accounting period and in respect of every later notional accounting period.
- (5) An election under subsection (2) is irrevocable.
- (6) If the cash surrender value method would, apart from this subsection, be required to be applied in respect of a notional accounting period but the taxpayer is unable to provide cash surrender values for the beginning and the end of that period, the cash surrender value is not to be applied in respect of that period or any later notional accounting period.
- (7) If the deemed rate of return method is to be applied in respect of a notional accounting period because of subsection (6) and the cash surrender value method has been applied in respect of one or more previous notional accounting periods, then subsections (8) and (9) have effect.
- (8) The application of the deemed rate of return method in respect of the first notional accounting period in respect of which it is to be applied because of subsection (6) (the notional accounting period concerned) is to be on the same basis as that on which it would have been applied if the cash surrender value method had not been applied in respect of any previous notional accounting period.
- (9) However, if:
 - (a) the FLP was issued after 3 November 1992; and
 - (b) the amount, or the sum of the amounts, of foreign investment fund income (the actual FIF income) that accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the notional accounting period or notional accounting periods in respect of which the cash surrender value method was applied is less than the amount, or the sum of the amounts, of foreign investment fund income (the notional FIF income) that would have so accrued if the deemed rate of return method had been applied in respect of that period or those periods;

the amount that, apart from this subsection, would have been the foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the notional accounting period concerned is increased by the amount worked out using the formula:

The notional FIF income - The actual FIF income.

Subdivision B—Market value method for FIFs

537 Procedure for determining foreign investment fund income by market value method

- (1) This Subdivision applies only if it is practicable to ascertain, as at the relevant times referred to in this Subdivision, the market value of the interest, or the market values of all the interests in a particular class or classes, of a person (the taxpayer) in a FIF. For the purposes of this Subdivision as so applying, a reference to an interest in a FIF is a reference to an interest of which it is practicable to ascertain the market value as at the relevant time.
- (2) Accordingly, this Subdivision sets out the procedure for determining by the market value method whether, in respect of the interest, or the interests in the class or classes concerned, any foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant period). There are 2 steps in this procedure, which are set out in sections 538 and 542, respectively.

538 Step 1—calculation of foreign investment fund amount

- (1) The first step in the procedure is to work out the foreign investment fund amount in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 538

- (2) This is done as follows:
- (a) first, determine the market value of the taxpayer's interest, or the sum of the market values of all the taxpayer's interests in the relevant class or classes, on the last day of the period;
 - (b) secondly, add the amount or value of each distribution (if any) in respect of the interest, or any of the interests, held on that day that was made by the FIF to the taxpayer during the period;
 - (c) thirdly, if the taxpayer had that interest or any of those interests on the day immediately before the first day of the period, deduct:
 - (i) if subparagraph (ii) does not apply—the market value of the interest or interests on that day; or
 - (ii) if the deemed rate of return method was applied, in respect of the taxpayer's interest or interests in the FIF, in respect of the notional accounting period immediately before the relevant period—the value, determined under section 551 in accordance with that method, of the group or groups of interests of the taxpayer in the FIF on that day;
 - (d) fourthly, if the taxpayer acquired that interest or any of those interests during the period, deduct the amount or value of the consideration paid or given by the taxpayer in respect of the acquisition;
 - (e) fifthly, if the taxpayer disposed of any interest or interests in the relevant class or classes during the period, add the amount or value of each distribution (if any) in respect of that interest or those interests made by the FIF to the taxpayer during the period.
- (3) Unless the taxpayer has made an election under subsection (4) in relation to the FIF, each amount resulting from the application of one of the paragraphs of subsection (2) is to be expressed in the currency used in determining the market value referred to in paragraph (2)(a).
- (4) The taxpayer may elect that each amount required to be calculated under any paragraph of subsection (2) is to be expressed in Australian currency at the exchange rate applicable:
- (a) in the case of paragraph (2)(a)—on the day referred to in that paragraph; and

- (b) in the case of paragraph (2)(b) or (e)—at the time of each distribution referred to in that paragraph; and
 - (c) in the case of paragraph (2)(c)—on the day when the taxpayer had the interests as mentioned in that paragraph; and
 - (d) in the case of paragraph (2)(d)—at the time when the consideration referred to in that paragraph is paid or given.
- (5) If the taxpayer makes the election:
- (a) it applies in relation to all of the taxpayer's interests in the FIF in relation to the relevant period and all later relevant periods; and
 - (b) it is irrevocable.

539 How market value is ascertained

- (1) For the purposes of the application of section 538 in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period, the market value of an interest in the FIF on a particular day (the relevant day) is to be determined in accordance with this section.
- (2) If the interest is included in a class of interests that were quoted on the relevant day on the stock market of an approved stock exchange, the market value of the interest on that day is the amount worked out on the basis of the quoted price of such an interest on that day on that stock market.
- (3) If:
 - (a) an interest in a company or trust is not included in a class of interests that were quoted on the relevant day on the stock market of an approved stock exchange; and
 - (b) the interest is included in a class of interests for which, at intervals of not more than 12 months:
 - (i) the company, or the trustee or manager of the trust, offered a buy-back or redemption price; or
 - (ii) an associate of the company, or of the trustee or manager, offered a purchase price; and
 - (c) there was on that day such a buy-back, redemption or purchase price, being a price that:
 - (i) was publicly available and was offered to all persons having interests in that class; and

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Section 539

(ii) was calculated by reference to the market values of the assets of the company or trust; and

(iii) represents an arm's length valuation of the interest on that day;

the market value of the interest on that day is the amount worked out on the basis of that price.

(4) If:

(a) the relevant period started on 1 January 1993; and

(b) the relevant day is 31 December 1992; and

(c) neither subsection (2) nor (3) applies to the class of interests in which the interest is included; and

(d) subsection (2) or (3) would apply to the class of interests in both of the following cases:

(i) if the relevant day were instead the last reporting day for the FIF before 1 January 1993;

(ii) if the relevant day were instead the next reporting day for the FIF on or after 1 January 1993, being a reporting day that is not more than 12 months after the one referred to in subparagraph (i);

the market value of the interest on the relevant day is the average of the 2 market values that would be applicable under paragraph (d) on the reporting days referred to in subparagraphs (d)(i) and (ii).

(5) A reference in this section to a quoted price on a particular day of a class of interests on the stock market of an approved stock exchange is, if the class of interests is quoted on that day on 2 or more such stock markets, taken to be a reference to the quoted price on that day of that class of interests on whichever of those stock markets is nominated by the taxpayer.

(6) If the taxpayer has nominated a particular stock market for the purposes of the application of this section in respect of the taxpayer's interest in a particular FIF, that stock market is taken to continue to be so nominated by the taxpayer unless and until it is no longer practicable to use that stock market for those purposes as, for example, if that stock market ceases to exist or the class of interests in the FIF in which the taxpayer's interest is included ceases to be quoted on that stock market.

- (7) A reference in subsection (4) to a reporting day for a FIF is a reference to a day on which:
- (a) in the case of a foreign company—the directors reported to the members on the financial position of the company; or
 - (b) in the case of a foreign trust—the trustee or manager of the trust reported to the holders of interests in the trust on the financial position of the trust.

540 Gross foreign investment fund income

If the foreign investment fund amount as worked out under section 538 is a positive amount, that amount is gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the relevant period.

541 Foreign investment fund loss

If the foreign investment fund amount as worked out under section 538 is a minus amount, that amount is a foreign investment fund loss incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the relevant period.

542 Step 2—Calculation of foreign investment fund income

- (1) The second step in the procedure is to work out under this section the amount of any foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period.
- (2) If:
- (a) there is, under section 540, any gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the relevant period; and
 - (b) that gross foreign investment fund income exceeds the total of any unapplied previous foreign investment fund losses incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of a notional accounting period or notional accounting periods before the relevant period;
- the following provisions have effect.
- (3) If no election is made under subsection 538(4) in relation to the FIF, the excess referred to in paragraph (2)(b) is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of the relevant period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 542

- (4) Foreign investment fund income equal to that corresponding amount is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the relevant period.
- (5) The reference in paragraph (2)(b) to an unapplied foreign investment fund loss incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of a notional accounting period before the relevant period is a reference to so much of the undeducted amount of a foreign investment fund loss under section 541 that was incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of any such notional accounting period as exceeds the sum of the amounts (if any) worked out under the following paragraphs in respect of each referable notional accounting period of the FIF:
 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply to the referable notional accounting period concerned—any amount that under section 540 was gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period; or
 - (b) if the operative provision did not apply to the taxpayer in respect of the referable notional accounting period concerned, or the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in respect of that period was affected, because of any of Divisions 2 to 9 and 11 to 15:
 - (i) any amount that under section 540 would have been gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period; or
 - (ii) any amount by which the amount that under section 540 was gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period would have been increased; or
 - (iii) any amount by which the amount that under section 541 was a foreign investment fund loss in relation to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period would have been reduced;

if the operative provision had applied to the taxpayer in respect of that period or the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in respect of that period had not been so affected, as the case may be.

- (6) In subsection (5):

undeducted amount, in relation to a foreign investment fund loss, means so much of that loss as has not been allowed, and is not allowable, as a deduction under section 532 from the taxpayer's assessable income of any year of income preceding the year of income in which the relevant period ends.

referable notional accounting period, in relation to a FIF, means a notional accounting period of the FIF that occurred after the notional accounting period in which the foreign investment fund loss was incurred and before the relevant period.

- (7) In calculating under subsection (5) the extent (if any) to which a foreign investment fund loss that was incurred by the taxpayer from a FIF in respect of a notional accounting period is an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss, an amount worked out under paragraph (5)(a) or subparagraph (5)(b)(i), (ii) or (iii) does not include any part of that amount that has been, or is to be, taken into account in calculating the extent to which a foreign investment fund loss under section 541 that was incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of a notional accounting period before the first-mentioned notional accounting period was an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss.
- (8) For the purposes of applying subsections (5), (6) and (7) in working out the amount of an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss, if any amount that is to be taken into account under any of those subsections in relation to a notional accounting period is not expressed in the same currency as the gross foreign investment fund income mentioned in paragraph (2)(a), the amount is to be converted to the corresponding amount in that currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of that notional accounting period.

Subdivision C—Deemed rate of return method for FIFs

Procedure to be followed

543 Procedure for determining foreign investment fund income from a FIF by deemed rate of return method

This Subdivision sets out in several steps the procedure for determining by the deemed rate of return method whether any foreign investment fund income accrued to a person (the taxpayer) from a particular FIF in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant period). In following the procedure it is necessary to determine the value of an interest in a FIF on a day called the relevant day, which has the meaning given by section 545, and then to apply a specified rate of return to that value.

544 Step 1—groups of interests

- (1) The first step in the procedure is to determine:
 - (a) whether the taxpayer had only one interest, or had 2 or more interests, in the FIF during the relevant period; and
 - (b) if the taxpayer had 2 or more such interests—whether any of the interests form a group or groups within the meaning of subsection (4) or (5).
- (2) Subject to subsection (6), if the taxpayer had only one interest in a FIF during the relevant period, the procedure applies in respect of the interest and so applies as if the interest were a group.
- (3) If the taxpayer had 2 or more interests in a FIF during the relevant period, the procedure:
 - (a) applies separately in respect of each interest (if any) that is not included in a group and so applies as if each such interest were a separate group; and
 - (b) if any of the interests form a group or groups—applies separately in respect of the group or each of the groups.
- (4) Interests in a FIF which are of the same class and which the taxpayer had throughout the relevant period form a group.

- (5) Subject to subsection (6), interests in a FIF which are of the same class and which the taxpayer had throughout the same part of the relevant period form a group.
- (6) Any interest in a FIF that the taxpayer ceased to have before the end of the relevant period is to be disregarded.

Determination of Opening Value

545 Step 2—determination of opening value of interests

The second step is to determine the value of the interests in the group or the respective values of the interests in each group as at the day (the relevant day) referred to in whichever of the following paragraphs applies:

- (a) if the taxpayer had the interests in the FIF at the beginning of the relevant period—the day immediately preceding the first day of the relevant period; or
- (b) if the interests in the FIF were acquired by the taxpayer during the relevant period—the day on which they were acquired.

550 If relevant period starts after 1 January 1993

If the interests in the group were acquired before the start of the relevant period and that period starts on a day later than 1 January 1993, the value of the interests on the relevant day is to be determined in accordance with section 551, 552 or 553, as the case requires.

551 Value of interests at start of relevant period (being later than 1 January 1993)—deemed rate of return method applied for previous period

If the deemed rate of return method was applied in respect of the notional accounting period that immediately preceded the relevant period, the value of the interests in the group on the relevant day is to be determined as follows:

- (a) first, ascertain the value, as previously determined under this Subdivision, of the interests in the group at the beginning of the immediately preceding period or, if any of the interests

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 552

were acquired after that time, at the date or dates of the acquisition of the interest or interests concerned;

- (b) secondly, add so much of the foreign investment fund income determined in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the immediately preceding period as was attributable to the interests in the group;
- (c) thirdly, deduct the amount or value of so much (if any) of any distributions made by the FIF to the taxpayer during the immediately preceding period as were attributable to the interests in the group.

552 Value of interests at start of relevant period (being later than 1 January 1993)—calculation method applied, or interests exempt, for previous period

- (1) If:
 - (a) the calculation method was applied in respect of the notional accounting period immediately preceding the relevant period; or
 - (b) the operative provision did not apply to the taxpayer in respect of that immediately preceding period, or the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in respect of that notional accounting period was affected, because of any of Divisions 2 to 15;the value of the interests in the group on the relevant day is to be determined in accordance with this section.
- (2) If the interests are included in a class of interests for which there were quoted prices on an approved stock exchange at any time during the immediately preceding period, the value of the interests in the group on the relevant day is the amount worked out on the basis of the quoted price for such an interest on the latest day during the immediately preceding period on which there was a quoted price for such an interest on such a stock exchange.
- (3) If it is not practicable to determine the value of the interests in a group on the relevant day under subsection (2), that value is taken to be the amount that would be that value if:
 - (a) this Part had been in force at all times since the interests were acquired; and

- (b) the value of each interest in the group at the date on which it was acquired was the consideration paid or given in respect of the acquisition by the taxpayer; and
- (c) subject to paragraph (b), the deemed rate of return method had been used to determine whether any foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of each notional accounting period of the FIF before the relevant period.

553 Value of interests at start of relevant period (being later than 1 January 1993)—market value method applied for previous period

If the market value method was applied in respect of the notional accounting period immediately preceding the relevant period, the value of the interests in the group on the relevant day is the value of the interests at the end of that immediately preceding period as determined in accordance with that method.

554 Value of interests at time of acquisition (after start of relevant period)

If the interests in the group were acquired by the taxpayer during the relevant period, the value of the interests on the relevant day is the consideration paid or given by the taxpayer in respect of the acquisition.

Application of Rate of Return to Opening Value

555 Step 3—determination of foreign investment fund amount

- (1) The third step is to determine, in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period, the foreign investment fund amount in respect of the taxpayer's interests in the group.
- (2) The foreign investment fund amount is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Opening value} \times \text{Deemed rate of return} \times \frac{\text{Number of days held}}{365}$$

For the purposes of this subsection:

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 556

Opening value means the value of the interests in the group on the relevant day.

Deemed rate of return, in relation to the relevant period, means:

- (a) if there is only one base interest rate in relation to the year of income in which the relevant period ends—that rate; or
 - (b) if there are 2 or more base interest rates in relation to that year of income—the weighted average of those rates;
- increased, in either case, by 4 percentage points.

Number of days held means the number of days in the relevant period in which the taxpayer had the interests in the group.

556 Step 4—conversion of foreign investment fund amount to Australian currency

- (1) If the taxpayer's interests in the FIF during the relevant period form one group only, the foreign investment fund amount determined in respect of the taxpayer's interests in the group is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of that period.
- (2) If the taxpayer's interests in the FIF during the relevant period form 2 or more groups, the sum of the foreign investment fund amounts respectively determined in respect of the taxpayer's interests in each of those groups is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of that period.

557 Foreign investment fund income

Foreign investment fund income equal to the corresponding amount calculated under subsection 556(1) or (2), as the case requires, is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the relevant period.

Subdivision D—Calculation method for FIFs

Procedure to be followed

557A Certain other provisions to be disregarded in applying this Subdivision

In applying this Subdivision, disregard:

- (a) Division 974 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997; and
- (b) the operation of any provision of this Act to the extent to which that operation depends on an expression whose meaning is given by Division 974 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

558 Procedure for determining foreign investment fund income by calculation method

- (1) This Subdivision sets out the procedure for determining by the calculation method whether any foreign investment fund income accrued to a person (the taxpayer) from a particular FIF in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant period).
- (2) The procedure is to be applied separately for each taxpayer.
- (3) The procedure involves:
 - (a) determining whether, for the purposes of the application of this Subdivision in relation to the taxpayer, there is any calculated profit or calculated loss in respect of the FIF in respect of the relevant period; and
 - (b) if there is such a calculated profit, determining the share of that calculated profit to which the taxpayer is entitled; and
 - (c) if there is such a calculated loss, taking the calculated loss into account in respect of later notional accounting periods as provided in section 572.

559 Determination of calculated profit or calculated loss of FIF

- (1) The first step in the procedure referred to in paragraph 558(3)(a) is to work out the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period.
- (2) The second step in that procedure is to work out the notional deductions from that notional income.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 559A

- (3) If the notional income exceeds the notional deductions, the excess is a calculated profit in respect of the FIF in respect of the relevant period.
- (4) If the notional income is less than the notional deductions, the difference is a calculated loss in respect of the FIF in respect of the relevant period.
- (5) All calculations for the purpose of determining whether there is a calculated profit or a calculated loss in respect of the FIF in respect of the relevant period are to be made in the currency in which the accounts of the FIF are made out.
- (6) If an amount that is to be included in the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period or is to be a notional deduction from that notional income is expressed in a currency other than the currency referred to in subsection (5), that amount is to be converted into the corresponding amount in the currency referred to in subsection (5) at such rate of exchange as is reasonable and appropriate.
- (7) After any calculated profit in respect of the FIF in respect of the relevant period is determined, the amount of that calculated profit is to be converted into the corresponding amount in Australian currency at the rate of exchange applicable at the end of the relevant period.

559A Choice to work out notional income and notional deductions under Part X

- (1) The taxpayer may choose to work out the notional income and notional deductions of the FIF in accordance with subsection (3) if:
 - (a) the FIF is a foreign company; and
 - (b) the taxpayer's attribution percentage in relation to the FIF is 10% or more at the end of the relevant period; and
 - (c) if the taxpayer has previously made a choice under this subsection in relation to the FIF in relation to a notional accounting period of the FIF—the taxpayer has made such a choice in relation to the FIF in relation to every notional accounting period of the FIF (if any) occurring between:
 - (i) the end of the notional accounting period of the FIF for which the taxpayer first made such a choice in relation to the FIF; and

- (ii) the start of the relevant period.
- (2) For the purposes of this section:
- (a) treat the FIF as a FIF that is a CFC; and
 - (b) treat the taxpayer as an attributable taxpayer in relation to the FIF throughout the relevant period; and
 - (c) treat the relevant period as the statutory accounting period of the FIF.

Main rule—work out notional income and notional deductions under Part X, etc.

- (3) For the purposes of working out the notional income and notional deductions of the FIF of the relevant period:
- (a) treat that notional income as the FIF's notional assessable income worked out under Part X for the relevant period; and
 - (b) treat those notional deductions as the FIF's notional allowable deductions worked out under Part X for the relevant period; and
 - (c) if the taxpayer is an AFI entity at a particular time in the relevant period—treat the FIF as an AFI subsidiary at that time.
- (4) In working out the FIF's notional allowable deductions for the purposes of paragraph (3)(b):
- (a) disregard sections 429 and 431 (which deal with losses); and
 - (b) instead, include notional deductions (if any) from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period worked out under section 572 (which deals with notional deductions for calculated losses for prior periods).
- (5) For the purposes of subsection (3), treat the FIF's commencing day mentioned in Subdivision C of Division 7 of Part X as the first day of the period over which, apart from this section, the profits or gains of a capital nature derived by the FIF during the relevant period would be determined.

Application of sections 575 to 579

- (6) For the purposes of subsection (3), apply sections 575 to 579 in relation to a taxpayer (the actual taxpayer), subject to the rules in subsections (7) and (8).

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 559A

- (7) If the actual taxpayer has made a choice under subsection (1) in relation to a FIF (the first-tier FIF), in working out the first-tier FIF's notional assessable income for the purposes of paragraph (3)(a):
- (a) disregard paragraphs 384(2)(ca) and 385(2)(ca) (which deal with amounts included in notional assessable income under Part XI); and
 - (b) instead, include in that notional assessable income the first-tier FIF's notional income worked out under section 576.
- (8) If the taxpayer mentioned in paragraphs (1)(b) and (3)(c) is the first-tier FIF mentioned in section 576 (because of the effect of section 576 on this section):
- (a) treat the references in those paragraphs to the taxpayer as references to the actual taxpayer (and not to the first-tier FIF); and
 - (b) if, as a result of paragraph (a), the actual taxpayer has made a choice under subsection (1) in relation to a FIF (the second-tier FIF)—in working out the second-tier FIF's notional assessable income for the purposes of paragraph (3)(a):
 - (i) disregard paragraphs 384(2)(ca) and 385(2)(ca) (which deal with amounts included in notional assessable income under Part XI); and
 - (ii) instead, include in that notional assessable income the second-tier FIF's notional income worked out under section 579.

Note: The actual taxpayer cannot make a choice under subsection (1) in relation to a third-tier FIF, because the calculation method is not available in respect of a third-tier FIF (see subparagraph 579(b)(ii)).

Definitions

- (9) In this section:

AFI entity has the same meaning as in section 326.

AFI subsidiary has the same meaning as in Part X (see section 326).

attributable taxpayer has the same meaning as in Part X (see section 361).

attribution percentage has the same meaning as in Part X (see section 362).

notional allowable deductions has the same meaning as in Part X (see section 382).

What is included in notional income

560 Notional income—general provision

- (1) The notional income of the FIF of the relevant period includes the gross income, and the profits or gains of a capital nature, derived by the FIF during that period.
- (2) For the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to the taxpayer in relation to a FIF, an amount (the excluded amount) is not to be taken into account in determining whether an amount is to be included in the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period, or in calculating an amount to be so included, to the extent (if any) to which the excluded amount:
 - (a) has been, or is to be, allowed as a notional deduction, or taken into account in the calculation of a notional deduction, from the notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period or a previous notional accounting period; or
 - (b) would have been, or would be, allowed as a notional deduction, or taken into account in the calculation of a notional deduction, from the notional income of the FIF in respect of a previous notional accounting period if the taxpayer had been required for the purposes of this Part to work out the notional deductions from that notional income.

561 Section 560 to be subject to following provisions

Section 560 is subject to sections 562 to 566, but those sections do not limit by implication the application of section 560 in circumstances to which those sections do not apply.

Section 562

562 Notional income—discounted securities

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), if the FIF was the holder of a qualifying security within the meaning of Division 16E of Part III during the relevant period, that Division applies, so far as it is capable of application, for the purpose of determining whether an amount is included in the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period in respect of that security as if the FIF were a taxpayer that is a resident and that period were the year of income in which that period ends.
- (2) If the accounting standards applicable during the relevant period in the country in which the FIF is incorporated or established require part of any discount or deferred interest in respect of the qualifying security to be treated in the accounts of the FIF as having been derived by the FIF during that period on an accruing basis, and an amount is shown in those accounts as having been so derived, the amount to be included in the notional income of the FIF of that period in respect of that security is the amount so shown in those accounts.

563 Notional income—interest in net income from partnership

- (1) If:
 - (a) the FIF was a partner in a partnership at the end of the accounting period of the partnership; and
 - (b) that accounting period of the partnership ends in the relevant period;the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period includes the interest of the FIF in any net income of the partnership of that accounting period.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1):
 - (a) a partnership has a net income in relation to an accounting period of the partnership if the amount that, if the partnership were a FIF and that accounting period were a notional accounting period, would be the notional income of the partnership of that accounting period under this section exceeds the notional deductions that would be allowable from that notional income; and
 - (b) the excess is taken to be the amount of that net income.

564 Notional income—exclusion of certain dividends and trust distributions

- (1) The notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period does not include any dividend or distribution paid to the FIF by another FIF unless the FIF's interest in the other FIF is covered by Division 8.
- (2) If the FIF's interest in the other FIF is covered by Division 8, the notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period does not include any dividend or distribution paid to the FIF by the other FIF to the extent of the grossed-up amount of a FIF attribution debit that arises in relation to the taxpayer as a result of the dividend or distribution.

565 Derivation of income, profits or gains

Income, profits or gains are taken to have been derived by a FIF although the income, profits or gains are not actually paid to the FIF but are reinvested, accumulated, capitalised, carried to a reserve, sinking fund or insurance fund (however designated), or are otherwise dealt with on behalf of the FIF or as the FIF directs.

566 Notional income to be pre-tax

An amount included in the notional income of a FIF is an amount before the payment of any foreign tax or Australian tax in respect of that amount.

What are notional deductions

567 Notional deductions—general provision

Subject to sections 568 to 574, any losses or outgoings of a revenue or capital nature incurred by the FIF during the relevant period, to the extent to which they relate to income, or to profits or gains of a revenue nature, are notional deductions from the notional income of the FIF of that period.

567A Notional deductions: net capital losses

- (1) Any net capital losses incurred by the FIF during the relevant period (other than losses taken into account under section 567) are

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 568

notional deductions from the notional income of the FIF of that period.

- (2) For the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to the taxpayer in relation to a FIF, an amount (the excluded amount) is not taken into account in determining whether an amount is a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period, or in calculating the amount of such a deduction, to the extent (if any) to which the excluded amount:
- (a) has been, or is to be, allowed as a notional deduction, or taken into account in the calculation of a notional deduction, from the notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period or a previous notional accounting period; or
 - (b) would have been, or would be, allowed as a notional deduction, or taken into account in the calculation of a notional deduction, from the notional income of the FIF in respect of a previous notional accounting period if the taxpayer had been required for the purposes of this Part to work out the notional deductions from that notional income.

568 Notional deductions—expenditure in acquiring trading stock

Without limiting the generality of section 567, expenditure incurred by the FIF during the relevant period in the acquisition of trading stock (not being securities within the meaning of the Corporations Act 2001) is, subject to section 574, a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of that period.

569 Notional deductions—exclusion of expenditure in acquiring securities or partnership interest

Expenditure incurred by the FIF during the relevant period in the acquisition of shares or interests in shares in a company, an interest in a trust, other securities, or an interest in a partnership, is not a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of that period.

570 Notional deductions—amortisation of expenditure in acquiring property

- (1) Subject to subsection (1A), if:

- (a) the accounts of the FIF in respect of the relevant period include an amount in respect of the amortisation of the expenditure incurred in the acquisition of:
 - (i) a depreciating asset within the meaning of Division 40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997; or
 - (ii) industrial property within the meaning of Division 10B of Part III of this Act; or
 - (iii) any other prescribed class of property; and
- (b) the amortisation is based on the effective life of the depreciating asset or industrial or other property; and
- (c) the accounts were prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and give a true and fair view of the financial position of the FIF;

the amount so included is, subject to section 574, a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period.

(1A) If:

- (a) the accounts of the FIF in respect of one or more accounting periods include an amount in respect of the amortisation of the expenditure incurred in the acquisition of a class of property prescribed for the purposes of subparagraph (1)(a)(iii); and
 - (b) the regulations prescribing the class also prescribe a percentage as the annual amortisation percentage in relation to the class, or a category of property included in the class;
- then subsection (1) must be applied, in relation to each notional accounting period that is appropriate, as if the accounts had amortised the expenditure in relation to the class or the category on the basis of the prescribed annual amortisation percentage.
- (2) Except as provided in subsection (1), no amount in respect of the amortisation of expenditure in the acquisition of any property is a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period.

571 Notional deductions—interest in partnership loss

(1) If:

- (a) the FIF was a partner in a partnership at the end of an accounting period of the partnership; and

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 572

- (b) that accounting period of the partnership ends in the relevant period;
- the interest of the FIF in a partnership loss of the partnership of that accounting period is, subject to section 574, a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1):
- (a) a partnership has a partnership loss in relation to an accounting period of the partnership if the amount of the deductions that, if the partnership were a FIF and that accounting period were a notional accounting period, would be notional deductions under this section from the notional income of the FIF of that period exceeds that notional income; and
- (b) the excess is taken to be the amount of that partnership loss.

572 Notional deductions—past calculated losses

- (1) If there was any calculated loss, or there were any calculated losses, in respect of the FIF under subsection 559(4) in respect of any notional accounting period or notional accounting periods of the FIF that preceded the relevant period (other than such a preceding notional accounting period that ended before the taxpayer first acquired an interest in the FIF), so much of that calculated loss or of those calculated losses as has not been allowed as a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of any of those preceding notional accounting periods is a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period.
- (2) If 2 or more calculated losses are notional deductions under subsection (1), the calculated losses are to be taken into account in the order in which they were incurred.

573 Notional deductions—taxes

An amount paid by the FIF in respect of Australian tax or foreign tax is a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period to the extent to which the tax or foreign tax relates to an amount or amounts included in that notional income.

574 Notional deductions—certain amounts to be excluded

- (1) The following expenditure incurred by the FIF during the relevant period is not a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of that period:
 - (a) expenditure incurred in the acquisition of:
 - (i) plant, articles, depreciating asset or industrial or other property referred to in paragraph 570(1)(a); or
 - (ii) land or buildings; or
 - (iii) goodwill; or
 - (iv) gold, silver or other precious metals; or
 - (v) any other capital asset;except to the extent that the expenditure is incidental to the acquisition;
 - (b) repayments of debts;
 - (c) any other prescribed expenditure.
- (2) For the purposes of the application of this Subdivision to the taxpayer in relation to a FIF, an amount is not to be a notional deduction from the notional income of the FIF of the relevant period to the extent (if any) to which the amount:
 - (a) has been, or is to be, taken into account in the calculation, in relation to the taxpayer, of an amount included, or to be included, in the notional income of the FIF in respect of the relevant period or in respect of a previous notional accounting period; or
 - (b) would have been, or would be, taken into account in the calculation, in relation to the taxpayer, of an amount that would have been, or would be, included in the notional income of the FIF in respect of a previous notional accounting period if the taxpayer had been required for the purposes of this Part to work out that notional income.

Procedure if FIF has interest in a second tier FIF or in a FLP

575 Application

- (1) Sections 576 to 579 apply if a FIF (the first tier FIF) had an interest in another FIF (the second tier FIF) or in a FLP during the whole or the part of the notional accounting period of the second tier FIF or of the FLP that ended in the relevant period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 576

- (2) For the purposes of the application of the sections referred to in subsection (1), it is to be assumed that:
- (a) the relevant period was a year of income; and
 - (b) the first tier FIF was a taxpayer that was a resident in relation to that year of income; and
 - (c) Divisions 2 to 7 and 9 to 15 were disregarded; and
 - (d) references in this Part to assessable income were references to notional income.

576 Notional income of FIF to include foreign investment fund income from second tier FIF or from FLP

The notional income of the first tier FIF in respect of the relevant period includes any amount of foreign investment fund income that would, on the assumptions referred to in subsection 575(2), be taken under this Part to have accrued to the first tier FIF from the second tier FIF or from the FLP in respect of the relevant period.

577 How to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued from second tier FIF or from FLP

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), in determining whether any foreign investment fund income would be taken to have accrued to the first tier FIF from the second tier FIF or from the FLP in respect of the relevant period:
- (a) any declaration, election, choice or selection that could be made, any notice that could be given, or any option that could be exercised, under this Act by the first tier FIF apart from this section is not to be made, given or exercised by the first tier FIF but instead may be made, given or exercised by the taxpayer; but
 - (b) if the first tier FIF is not a CFC—the taxpayer is not entitled to make an election under subsection 535(3), as that subsection applies because of paragraph (a), to use the calculation method in respect of the second tier FIF unless:
 - (i) the taxpayer has also made an election under subsection 535(3) to use that method in respect of the first tier FIF; and
 - (ii) the taxpayer also makes the election in relation to the second tier FIF under subsection 486(3) that the taxpayer is entitled to make because of paragraph (a) of this subsection.

(2) If:

- (a) a FIF that is a CFC had an interest in a FIF that is not a CFC (the first non-controlled FIF); and
- (b) the first non-controlled FIF had an interest in another FIF that is not a CFC (the second non-controlled FIF);

the taxpayer is taken not to have made an election under subsection 535(3), as that subsection applies because of paragraph (1) (a), to use the calculation method in respect of the second non-controlled FIF.

578 What happens if there is a calculated loss in respect of second tier FIF

If there was a calculated loss in respect of the second tier FIF under subsection 559(4) in respect of the second tier FIF's notional accounting period, that calculated loss is taken into account as provided in section 572 for the purpose of determining whether any amount of foreign investment fund income would be taken under this Part to accrue to the first tier FIF from the second tier FIF in subsequent notional accounting periods of the first tier FIF.

579 If second tier FIF has interest in a third tier FIF or in a FLP

If the taxpayer elects to use the calculation method in respect of the second tier FIF, and the second tier FIF had an interest in another FIF (the third tier FIF) or in a FLP during the whole or a part of the notional accounting period of the third tier FIF or of the FLP that ended in a notional accounting period of the second tier FIF, the following provisions have effect:

- (a) the notional income of the second tier FIF includes any amount of foreign investment fund income that would, if the assumptions referred to in subsection 575(2) applied to the second tier FIF, be taken under this Part to have accrued to the second tier FIF from the third tier FIF or from the FLP in respect of the second tier FIF's or the FLP's notional accounting period;

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 580

- (b) in calculating the foreign investment fund income referred to in paragraph (a):
 - (i) any declaration, election, selection or choice that could be made, any notice that could be given, or any option that could be exercised, under this Act by the second tier FIF or by the FLP apart from this subparagraph is not to be made, given or exercised by the second tier FIF or by the FLP but instead may be made, given or exercised by the taxpayer; and
 - (ii) the taxpayer is taken not to have made an election under subsection 535(3), as that subsection applies because of paragraph (a), to use the calculation method in respect of the third tier FIF.

How to determine taxpayer's share of calculated profit of foreign company

580 Procedure to be followed

- (1) The procedure for determining the share of the calculated profit of a foreign company in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled is to work out in accordance with this section:
 - (a) the part of the taxpayer's share of the calculated profit that is attributable to any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the company throughout the whole of the relevant period; and
 - (b) the part or parts of the taxpayer's share of the calculated profit that is or are attributable to any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the company throughout a particular part or particular parts of the relevant period;and to add up the amounts so worked out.
- (2) If the taxpayer had an interest or interests in the company throughout the whole of the relevant period, the part of the taxpayer's share of the calculated profit that is attributable to that interest or those interests is the amount worked out using the formula:
Calculated profit \times Attribution percentage
- (3) If the taxpayer had an interest or interests in the company throughout a particular part of the relevant period, the part of the taxpayer's share of the calculated profit that is attributable to that interest or those interests is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Calculated profit} \times \text{Attribution percentage} \times \frac{\text{Number of days held}}{\text{Total number of days}}$$

(4) In the formulas in this section:

Calculated profit means the calculated profit of the company in respect of the relevant period.

Attribution percentage means the attribution percentage applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the company at the end of the relevant period.

Number of days held means the number of days in the part of the relevant period throughout which the taxpayer had the interest or interests.

Total number of days means the number of days in the relevant period.

(4A) If:

- (a) because of the taxpayer's election under subsection 486(3), the relevant period ends at the same time as a period (the real accounting period) in respect of which the accounts of the company are made out; and
- (b) because of paragraph 486(5)(b) or subparagraph 486(7)(a)(i), the relevant period does not begin at the same time as the real accounting period;

then, for the purposes of this section:

- (c) the relevant period is taken to begin when the real accounting period does; and
 - (d) any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the company immediately before the time when the relevant period began (disregarding its extension under paragraph (c)) are taken to have been acquired by the taxpayer at that time.
- (5) A reference in this section to an interest that a taxpayer had in a foreign company throughout a particular part of the relevant period does not include a reference to such an interest that the taxpayer ceased to have before the end of that period.

Section 581

581 How to work out attribution percentage applicable to taxpayer in respect of interest or interests in foreign company

- (1) The attribution percentage applicable to the taxpayer in respect of the taxpayer's interest or interests in a foreign company at the end of the relevant period is the percentage that, because of that interest or those interests, as the case may be, the taxpayer had, or was entitled to acquire, at that time of:
 - (a) the total paid-up share capital of the company; or
 - (b) the total rights of shareholders to vote, or participate in any decision-making, concerning any of the following:
 - (i) the making of distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders;
 - (ii) the constituent document of the company;
 - (iii) any variation of the share capital of the company; or
 - (c) the total rights to distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders on winding-up; or
 - (d) the total rights to distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders, otherwise than on winding-up;or, if different percentages are applicable under the preceding paragraphs, the greater or greatest of those percentages.
- (2) If the percentage of total rights to vote or participate in decision-making differs as between differing types of decision-making, the highest of those percentages applies for the purposes of paragraph (1)(b).
- (3) For the purposes of subsection (1), the percentage that the taxpayer had, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period, because of an interest or interests in the company, of the total rights to distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders on winding-up, or of the total rights to distributions of capital or profits of the company to its shareholders otherwise than on winding-up, is to be worked out in either case by:
 - (a) ascertaining whichever of the following is applicable:
 - (i) the capital of the company as at the end of the relevant period;
 - (ii) the profits of the company for the relevant period; and
 - (b) assuming that the rights to such distributions that the taxpayer had, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of the interest or interests were the same at all other times during the relevant period; and

- (c) ascertaining the percentage concerned on that assumption.
- (4) If, apart from this subsection, the sum of the attribution percentages at the end of the relevant period in relation to the company of all the taxpayers to whom the operative provision applies in relation to the company in relation to the relevant period would exceed 100%, the attribution percentage of each taxpayer is the percentage worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Attribution percentage of the taxpayer concerned}}{\text{Sum of attribution percentages of all of the taxpayers to whom the operative provision applies}} \times 100\%$$

How to determine taxpayer's share of calculated profit of foreign trust

582 Procedure to be followed

- (1) The share of the calculated profit of a foreign trust in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled is to be worked out in accordance with this section.
- (2) If all of the income, profits or gains derived by the trust during the relevant period consisted of either or both of the following:
- (a) income, profits or gains to which beneficiaries of the trust were presently entitled; or
 - (b) income, profits or gains to which beneficiaries of the trust were not presently entitled but which were distributed to beneficiaries of the trust during the relevant period or within 2 months after the end of that period;

the share of the calculated profit of the trust in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Calculated profit} \times \text{Attribution percentage}$$

In the formula:

Calculated profit means the calculated profit of the trust of the relevant period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 582

Attribution percentage means the percentage of the total income, profits and gains derived by the trust during the relevant period to which the taxpayer was presently entitled or to which the taxpayer was not presently entitled but which was distributed to the taxpayer during the relevant period or within 2 months after the end of the relevant period.

- (3) If subsection (2) does not apply, the share of the calculated profit of the trust in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled is the amount determined by calculating:
- (a) the part of the share of the calculated profit to which the taxpayer is entitled that is attributable to any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the trust throughout the whole of the relevant period; and
 - (b) the part or parts of the share of the calculated profit to which the taxpayer is entitled that is or are attributable to any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the trust throughout a particular part or particular parts of the relevant period;
- and adding up the amounts so calculated.
- (4) The part of the share of the calculated profit of the trust in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled that is attributable to an interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the trust throughout the whole of the relevant period is the amount worked out using the formula:
- $$\text{Calculated profit} \times \text{Attribution percentage}$$
- (5) The part of the share of the calculated profit of the trust in respect of the relevant period to which the taxpayer is entitled that is attributable to an interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the trust throughout a particular part of the relevant period is the amount worked out using the formula:
- $$\text{Calculated profit} \times \text{Attribution percentage} \times \frac{\text{Number of days held}}{\text{Total number of days}}$$
- (6) For the purposes of the formulas in subsections (4) and (5):

Calculated profit means the calculated profit of the trust of the relevant period.

Attribution percentage means:

- (a) the percentage of the income of the trust represented by the share of the income to which the taxpayer was entitled, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of:
 - (i) the taxpayer's interest or interests in the trust; and
 - (ii) any interest or interests in the trust that the taxpayer was entitled to acquire; or
- (b) the percentage of the corpus of the trust represented by the share of the corpus to which the taxpayer was entitled, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of:
 - (i) the taxpayer's interest or interests in the trust; and
 - (ii) any interest or interests in the trust that the taxpayer was entitled to acquire;

or, if those percentages differ, the greater of those percentages.

Number of days held means the number of days in the part of the relevant period throughout which the taxpayer had the interest.

Total number of days means the number of days in the relevant period.

- (6A) If, apart from this subsection, the sum of the attribution percentages at the end of the relevant period in relation to the trust of all the taxpayers to whom the operative provision applies in relation to the trust in relation to the relevant period would exceed 100%, the attribution percentage of each taxpayer is the percentage worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Attribution percentage of the taxpayer concerned}}{\text{Sum of attribution percentages of all of the taxpayers to whom the operative provision applies}} \times 100\%$$

- (7) For the purposes of subsection (6):
- (a) the percentage of the income of the trust represented by the share of the income to which the taxpayer was entitled, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of the interest or interests referred to in subparagraph (a)(i) or (ii) of the definition of attribution percentage in that subsection; or

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 582

- (b) the percentage of the corpus of the trust represented by the share of the corpus to which the taxpayer was entitled, or was entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of the interest or interests referred to in subparagraph (b)(i) or (ii) of the definition of attribution percentage in that subsection;

is to be worked out by:

- (c) ascertaining whichever of the following is applicable:
 - (i) the income of the trust for the year of income;
 - (ii) the corpus of the trust as at the end of the year of income; and
- (d) assuming that the share to which the taxpayer is entitled, or became entitled to acquire, at the end of the relevant period because of the interest or interests was the same at all other times during the year of income; and
- (e) ascertaining the percentage concerned on that assumption.

(7A) If:

- (a) because of the taxpayer's election under subsection 486(3), the relevant period ends at the same time as a period (the real accounting period) in respect of which the accounts of the trust are made out; and
- (b) because of paragraph 486(5)(b) or subparagraph 486(7)(b)(i), the relevant period does not begin at the same time as the real accounting period;

then, for the purposes of this section:

- (c) the relevant period is taken to begin when the real accounting period does; and
- (d) any interest or interests that the taxpayer had in the trust immediately before the time when the relevant period began (disregarding its extension under paragraph (c)) are taken to have been acquired by the taxpayer at that time.

- (8) A reference in this section to income, profits or gains having been distributed to a taxpayer is a reference to an amount included in such income, profits or gains having been paid or credited to, or applied for the benefit of, the taxpayer.

- (9) A reference in this section to an interest that a taxpayer had in a foreign trust throughout a particular part of the relevant period does not include a reference to such an interest that the taxpayer ceased to have before the end of that period.

583 Foreign investment fund income

If the taxpayer is entitled to a share of the calculated profit of the FIF in respect of the relevant period, foreign investment fund income equal to the amount of that share is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period.

Subdivision E—Deemed rate of return method for FLPs

Procedure to be followed

584 Procedure for determining foreign investment fund income from FLP by deemed rate of return method

This Subdivision sets out in several steps the procedure for determining by the deemed rate of return method whether any foreign investment fund income accrued to a person (the taxpayer) from a particular FLP in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant period). In following the procedure it is necessary to determine the value of a FLP on a day called the relevant day, which has the meaning given by section 586, and then to apply a specified rate of return to that value.

585 Step 1—interests in a FLP

- (1) The first step in the procedure is to determine whether the taxpayer had only one interest, or had 2 or more interests, in the FLP during the relevant period.
- (2) If the taxpayer had 2 or more interests that were acquired at different times during the relevant period, the procedure applies separately in respect of each such interest.
- (3) The following provisions involve determining the value of the FLP at the relevant times referred to in those provisions.

Section 586

Determination of Opening Value

586 Step 2—determination of opening value

The second step is to determine the value of the FLP as at the day (the relevant day) referred to in whichever of the following paragraphs applies:

- (a) if the taxpayer had the interests in the FLP at the beginning of the relevant period—the day immediately preceding the first day of the relevant period; or
- (b) if the interests in the FLP were acquired by the taxpayer during the relevant period—the day on which they were acquired.

589 If relevant period starts after 1 January 1993

If the interests in the FLP were acquired before the start of the relevant period and that period starts on a day later than 1 January 1993, the value of the FLP on the relevant day is to be determined in accordance with section 590.

590 Value at start of relevant period (being later than 1 January 1993)

The value of the FLP on the relevant day is to be determined as follows:

- (a) first, ascertain the value, as previously determined under this Subdivision, of the FLP at the beginning of the notional accounting period that immediately preceded the relevant period;
- (b) secondly, add so much of the foreign investment fund income determined in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the immediately preceding period as was attributable to the FLP;
- (c) thirdly, add the amount of any premium or instalment of premium (excluding the first premium or an instalment of the first premium) paid by the taxpayer in respect of the FLP in the immediately preceding period;
- (d) fourthly, deduct the amount or value of any distributions made to the taxpayer during the immediately preceding period in relation to the FLP.

591 Value at time of acquisition (after start of relevant period)

If the interests in the FLP were acquired by the taxpayer during the relevant period, the value of the FLP on the relevant day is:

- (a) if the taxpayer had paid the whole of the consideration in respect of the acquisition—the amount of that consideration; or
- (b) otherwise—the amount of the first premium paid by the taxpayer in respect of the FLP.

Application of Rate of Return to Opening Value

592 Step 3—determination of foreign investment fund amount

- (1) The third step is to determine, in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period, the foreign investment fund amount in respect of the taxpayer's interest or interests in the FLP.
- (2) The foreign investment fund amount is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{Opening value} \times \text{Deemed rate of return} \times \frac{\text{Number of days held}}{365}$$

For the purposes of the formula:

Opening value means the value of the FLP on the relevant day.

Deemed rate of return, in relation to the relevant period, means:

- (a) if there is only one base rate in relation to the year of income in which the relevant period ends—that rate; or
 - (b) if there are 2 or more base interest rates in relation to that year of income—the weighted average of those rates;
- increased, in either case, by 4 percentage points.

Number of days held means the number of days in the relevant period in which the taxpayer had the interests in the FLP.

593 Step 4—conversion of foreign investment fund amount to Australian currency

The foreign investment fund amount determined in respect of the taxpayer's interests in a FLP during the relevant period is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of that period.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 594

594 Foreign investment fund income

Foreign investment fund income equal to the corresponding amount calculated under section 593 is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the relevant period.

Subdivision F—Cash surrender value method for FLPs

595 Procedure for determining foreign investment fund income by cash surrender value method

- (1) This Subdivision applies only if it is practicable to ascertain, as at the relevant time referred to in this Subdivision, the cash surrender value of the interest of a person (the taxpayer) in a FLP. For the purposes of this Subdivision as so applying, a reference to an interest in a FLP is a reference to an interest of which it is practicable to ascertain the cash surrender value as at the relevant time.
- (2) Accordingly, this Subdivision sets out the procedure for determining by the cash surrender value method whether, in respect of the interest, any foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of a notional accounting period (the relevant period). There are 2 steps in this procedure, which are set out in sections 596 and 600, respectively.

596 Step 1—calculation of foreign investment fund amount

- (1) The first step in the procedure is to work out the foreign investment fund amount in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period.
- (2) This is done as follows:
 - (a) first, determine the cash surrender value of the taxpayer's interest at the end of the period;
 - (b) secondly, add the amount or value of each distribution (if any) in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the FLP that was made by the FLP to the taxpayer during the period;

- (c) thirdly, if the taxpayer disposed of any interest in the FLP during the period, add:
 - (i) the amount or value of each distribution (if any) in respect of that interest made by the FLP to the taxpayer during the period; and
 - (ii) the amount or value of any consideration received or receivable by the taxpayer in respect of the disposal;
 - (d) fourthly, if the taxpayer had an interest in the FLP on the day immediately before the first day of the period, deduct:
 - (i) if subparagraph (ii) does not apply—the cash surrender value of the interest on that day; or
 - (ii) if the deemed rate of return method was applied, in respect of the taxpayer's interest in the FLP, in respect of the notional accounting period immediately before the relevant period—the value, determined under Subdivision E in accordance with that method, of the interest on that day;
 - (e) fifthly, if the taxpayer contributed to the interest in the FLP during the period, deduct the amount or value of the consideration paid or given by the taxpayer in respect of the contribution.
- (3) Each amount resulting from the application of one of the paragraphs of subsection (2) is to be expressed in the currency used in determining the cash surrender value referred to in paragraph (2)(a).

598 Gross foreign investment fund income

If the foreign investment fund amount as worked out under section 596 is a positive amount, that amount is gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the relevant period.

599 Foreign investment fund loss

If the foreign investment fund amount as worked out under section 596 is a minus amount, that amount is a foreign investment fund loss incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the relevant period.

Section 600

600 Step 2—Calculation of foreign investment fund income

- (1) The second step in the procedure is to work out under this section the amount of any foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer in respect of the relevant period.
- (2) If:
 - (a) there is, under section 598, any gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the relevant period; and
 - (b) that gross foreign investment fund income exceeds the total of any unapplied previous foreign investment fund losses that were incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of a notional accounting period or notional accounting periods before the relevant period;the following provisions have effect.
- (3) The excess referred to in paragraph (2)(b) is to be converted to the corresponding amount in Australian currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of the relevant period.
- (4) Foreign investment fund income equal to that corresponding amount is taken to have accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the relevant period.
- (5) The reference in paragraph (2)(b) to an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of a notional accounting period before the relevant period is a reference to so much of the undeducted amount of a foreign investment fund loss under section 599 that was incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of any such notional accounting period as exceeds the sum of the amounts (if any) worked out under the following paragraphs in respect of each referable notional accounting period of the FLP:
 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply to the referable notional accounting period concerned—any amount that under section 598 was gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that period; or
 - (b) if the operative provision did not apply to the taxpayer in respect of the referable notional accounting period concerned, or the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in respect of that period was affected, because of any of Divisions 2 to 9 and 11 to 15:

- (i) any amount that under section 598 would have been gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that period; or
- (ii) any amount by which the amount that under section 598 was gross foreign investment fund income in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that period would have been increased; or
- (iii) any amount by which the amount that under section 599 was a foreign investment fund loss in relation to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that period would have been reduced;

if the operative provision had applied to the taxpayer in respect of that period or the application of the operative provision to the taxpayer in respect of that period had not been affected, as the case may be.

- (6) In subsection (5):

undeducted amount, in relation to a foreign investment fund loss, means so much of that loss as has not been allowed, and is not allowable, as a deduction under section 533 from the taxpayer's assessable income of any year of income preceding the year of income in which the relevant period ends.

referable notional accounting period, in relation to a FLP, means a notional accounting period of the FLP that occurred after the notional accounting period in which the foreign investment fund loss was incurred and before the relevant period.

- (7) In calculating under subsection (5) the extent (if any) to which a foreign investment fund loss that was incurred by the taxpayer from a FLP in respect of a notional accounting period is an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss, an amount worked out under paragraph (5)(a) or subparagraph (5)(b)(i), (ii) or (iii) does not include any part of that amount that has been, or is to be, taken into account in calculating the extent to which a foreign investment fund loss under section 599 that was incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of a notional accounting period before the first-mentioned notional accounting period was an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss.

Part XI Foreign investment funds and foreign life assurance policies

Division 18 How to determine whether Foreign Investment Fund income accrued to a taxpayer from a FIF or a FLP

Section 600

- (8) For the purposes of applying subsections (5), (6) and (7) in working out the amount of an unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss, if any amount that is to be taken into account under any of those subsections in relation to a notional accounting period is not expressed in the same currency as the gross foreign investment fund income mentioned in paragraph (2)(a), the amount is to be converted to the corresponding amount in that currency in accordance with the rate of exchange applicable at the end of that notional accounting period.

Division 19—FIF attribution accounts

601 FIF attribution account entity

Each of the following is a FIF attribution account entity:

- (a) a company that is not a resident of Australia;
- (b) a partnership;
- (c) a trust;
- (d) a FLP.

602 FIF attribution account percentage

The FIF attribution account percentage of a taxpayer in relation to a FIF attribution account entity is the interest that the taxpayer has in the income or profits of the entity, whether directly, or indirectly through one or more interposed FIF attribution account entities.

603 FIF attribution account payments

- (1) Each of the following is a FIF attribution account payment:
 - (a) a dividend paid by a company to a shareholder;

 - (e) the whole or part of the net income of a trust of a year of income that is assessable to the trustee under section 99 or 99A;
 - (f) an amount of trust property that would be included in the assessable income of a beneficiary of a year of income under section 99B if:
 - (i) the beneficiary were a resident, within the meaning of section 6, at a time during the year of income; and
 - (ii) paragraph 99B(2)(c) were replaced by a paragraph referring to any FIF attribution account payment under paragraph (d) or (e) of this subsection;

Section 604

- (g) a payment made by the person who issued a FLP to a person who has an interest in the FLP;
 - (h) an amount that is included in assessable income under Division 82, 301, 302, 304 or 305 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, or Division 82 of the Income Tax (Transitional Provisions) Act 1997.
- (2) The FIF attribution account payment is taken to be made:
- (a) in a paragraph (1)(c) case—by the partnership to the partner; and
 - (b) in a paragraph (1)(d) or (f) case—by the trust to the beneficiary; and
 - (c) in a paragraph (e) case—by the trust to the trustee;
- and, in any such case, to be made at the end of the year of income.

604 FIF attribution surplus

A FIF attribution surplus for a FIF attribution account entity in relation to a taxpayer exists at a particular time if the entity's total FIF attribution credits arising before that time in relation to the taxpayer exceed its total FIF attribution debits arising before that time in relation to the taxpayer.

605 FIF attribution credit

- (1) A FIF attribution credit arises for a FIF attribution account entity (the eligible entity) in relation to a taxpayer if:
- (a) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 529 in respect of the foreign investment fund income of the eligible entity in respect of a notional accounting period of the eligible entity; or
 - (b) both of the following conditions apply:
 - (i) an amount is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 529 in respect of the foreign investment fund income of another FIF attribution account entity (the other entity) in respect of a notional accounting period of the other entity;
 - (ii) that amount was calculated by reference to another amount (the section 576 amount) that under section 576 was included in the notional income of the other entity because the other entity had an interest in the eligible entity; or

- (c) each of the following conditions applies:
- (i) the amount (the section 529 amount) is included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 529 in respect of another FIF attribution account entity (the first tier FIF) in respect of a notional accounting period of the first tier FIF;
 - (ii) that amount was calculated by reference to another amount (the section 576 amount) that under section 576 was included in the notional income of the first tier FIF because the first tier FIF had an interest in another FIF attribution account entity (the second tier FIF);
 - (iii) the section 576 amount was calculated by reference to an amount (the section 579 amount) that under section 579 was included in the notional income of the second tier FIF because the second tier FIF had an interest in the eligible entity; or
- (d) a FIF attribution account payment that requires a FIF attribution debit for another entity in relation to the taxpayer is made to the eligible entity.
- (2) Subject to the following provisions of this section, the amount of the FIF attribution credit is equal to the amount included in the assessable income or to the amount of the FIF attribution debit, as the case may be.
- (3) If a FIF attribution credit arises under paragraph (1)(b) for an eligible entity, the amount of the FIF attribution credit is to be worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{FIF income} \times \text{Section 529 amount}}{\text{Notional income}}$$

In the formula:

FIF income means the amount of the foreign investment income included, in relation to the eligible entity, in the foreign investment fund income of the other entity for the notional accounting period referred to in paragraph (1)(b) of the other entity.

Section 529 amount means the amount included in the taxpayer's assessable income under section 529 in respect of the notional accounting period referred to in paragraph (1)(b) of the other entity.

Notional income means the notional income of the other entity under this Part in respect of the notional accounting period referred to in paragraph (1)(b) of the other entity.

- (4) If a FIF attribution credit arises under paragraph (1)(c) for an eligible entity, the amount of the FIF attribution credit is to be worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{FIF income} \times \text{Section 529 amount}}{\text{Notional income of the first tier FIF}}$$

For the purposes of this subsection:

FIF income means the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Section 579 amount} \times \text{Section 576 amount}}{\text{Notional income of the second tier FIF}}$$

Section 579 amount means the section 579 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(iii).

Section 576 amount means the section 576 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(ii).

Notional income of the second tier FIF means the notional income of the second tier FIF referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(ii) under the calculation method for the notional accounting period of the first tier FIF referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(i).

Section 529 amount means the section 529 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(i).

Notional income of the first tier FIF means the notional income of the first tier FIF referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(i) under the calculation method for the notional accounting period referred to in that subparagraph.

- (5) If subsection (3) applies to a taxpayer in respect of one or more eligible entities in respect of a particular section 529 amount, the amount of the FIF attribution credit arising under paragraph (1)(a) for the other entity referred to in paragraph (1)(b) is reduced by the FIF attribution credit or the sum of the FIF attribution credits that, except for subsection (6), would arise to the eligible entity or eligible entities under subsection (3).

- (6) If subsection (4) applies to a taxpayer in respect of one or more eligible entities in respect of a particular amount included in the notional income of the second tier FIF referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(ii), the amount of the FIF attribution credit arising under paragraph (1)(b) for the second tier FIF is to be reduced by the FIF attribution credit or the sum of the FIF attribution credits arising for the eligible entity or eligible entities under subsection (4).
- (7) The FIF attribution credit arises:
- (a) in a paragraph (1)(a) case—at the end of the notional accounting period referred to in that paragraph; or
 - (b) in a paragraph (1)(b) case—at the end of the notional accounting period of the eligible entity that gave rise to the section 576 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(b)(ii); or
 - (c) in a paragraph (1)(c) case—at the end of the notional accounting period of the eligible entity that gave rise to the section 579 amount referred to in subparagraph (1)(c)(iii); or
 - (d) in a paragraph (1)(d) case—when the FIF attribution account payment referred to in that paragraph is made.
- (8) If, apart from this subsection, a FIF attribution credit would arise in relation to a FIF attribution account entity for an Australian partnership or an Australian trust in respect of an amount included in the assessable income of the partnership or trust of a year of income under section 529, then, subject to subsection (11):
- (a) the FIF attribution credit does not arise for the partnership or trust; and
 - (b) a FIF attribution credit arises in relation to the FIF attribution account entity for:
 - (i) any taxpayer for whom, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment would arise in circumstances set out in subsection (9); and
 - (ii) any taxpayer if, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment would arise for the trustee of a trust in which the taxpayer is a beneficiary, in respect of an amount assessable to the trustee under section 98 in respect of the taxpayer's share of the net income of the trust, in circumstances set out in subsection (10); and
 - (iii) any taxpayer in the capacity of trustee of a trust if, as a result of the amount being so included, a tax detriment

Section 605

- would arise for the taxpayer in respect of an amount assessable to the taxpayer under section 99 or 99A, in circumstances set out in subsection (10); and
- (c) the amount of the FIF attribution credit referred to in paragraph (b) equals the amount of the tax detriment; and
 - (d) the FIF attribution credit referred to in paragraph (b) arises at the time when the FIF attribution credit referred to in paragraph (a) would, apart from this subsection, have arisen.
- (9) The circumstances referred to in subparagraph (8)(b)(i) are:
- (a) the circumstances set out in the following subparagraphs:
 - (i) as a result of the amount being included as mentioned in subsection (1), there is a tax detriment for:
 - (A) a partner in the Australian partnership; or
 - (B) a partner in another partnership (the ultimate partnership), if the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the partner and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust; and
 - (ii) the partner is not, in respect of his or her interest in the net income or partnership loss of the Australian partnership or the ultimate partnership, in the capacity of trustee of a trust; or
 - (b) the circumstances set out in the following subparagraphs:
 - (i) as a result of the amount being included as mentioned in subsection (1), there is a tax detriment for:
 - (A) a beneficiary in the Australian trust; or
 - (B) a beneficiary in another trust (the ultimate trust), if the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the beneficiary and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust; and
 - (ii) the beneficiary is not a partnership and is not, in respect of his or her share of the net income of the Australian trust or the ultimate trust, in the capacity of trustee of another trust.

- (10) The circumstances referred to in subparagraph (8)(b)(ii) or (iii) are that, as a result of the amount being included as mentioned in subsection (1), there is a tax detriment for:
- (a) the trustee of the Australian trust; or
 - (b) the trustee of another trust (the ultimate trust), if the tax detriment occurred because there were one or more partnerships or trusts (but not companies) interposed between the trustee and the Australian partnership or the Australian trust.
- (11) Subsection (8) does not apply to an Australian trust that is, in relation to the year of income referred to in that subsection:
- (a) a corporate unit trust within the meaning of Division 6B of Part III; or
 - (b) a public trading trust within the meaning of Division 6C of that Part; or
 - (c) a complying superannuation fund, a non-complying superannuation fund, a complying approved deposit fund, a non-complying approved deposit fund or a pooled superannuation trust; or
 - (d) a resident public unit trust within the meaning of subsection 96A(4).

606 FIF attribution debit

- (1) A FIF attribution debit arises for a FIF attribution account entity (the eligible entity) in relation to a taxpayer if:
- (a) the eligible entity makes a FIF attribution account payment to the taxpayer or to a FIF attribution account entity; and
 - (b) immediately before the eligible entity makes the FIF attribution account payment, there is a FIF attribution surplus for the eligible entity in relation to the taxpayer.
- (2) The amount of the FIF attribution debit is the lesser of:
- (a) the FIF attribution surplus; and
 - (b) whichever of the following is applicable:
 - (i) if the attribution account payment is made to the taxpayer—the FIF attribution account payment;
 - (ii) in any other case—the taxpayer’s FIF attribution account percentage (for the FIF attribution account entity to which the payment is made) of the FIF attribution account payment; reduced by any attribution debit that arises under section 372 for the entity in relation to the taxpayer as a result of the making of the payment.

Section 607

- (3) The FIF attribution debit arises when the FIF attribution account payment is made.

607 Additional FIF attribution debit

- (1) A FIF attribution debit also arises for a FIF attribution account entity in relation to a taxpayer if the whole or a part of a foreign investment fund loss incurred by the taxpayer under section 541 or 599 in respect of a notional accounting period is an allowable deduction from the taxpayer's assessable income of a year of income.
- (2) The amount of the FIF attribution debit is the amount of the allowable deduction.
- (3) The FIF attribution debit arises at the end of the notional accounting period.

607AA Additional FIF attribution debit—deduction for overseas superannuation transfers

- (1) If a taxpayer is entitled to a deduction under section 533B, a FIF attribution debit also arises for a FIF attribution account entity (referred to in section 533B as the paying fund) in relation to the taxpayer.
- (2) The amount of the FIF attribution debit is the amount of the deduction.
- (3) The FIF attribution debit arises immediately after the time that the taxpayer becomes entitled to the deduction.

607A Grossed-up amount of a FIF attribution debit

The grossed-up amount in relation to a FIF attribution debit is:

- (a) where subparagraph 606(2)(b)(i) applied in relation to the debit—the amount of the debit; or

- (b) where subparagraph 606(2)(b)(ii) applied in relation to the debit—the amount of the debit, divided by the FIF attribution account percentage referred to in that subparagraph.

Division 21—Post-attribution asset disposals

613 Reduction of capital proceeds if FIF attributed income not distributed

- (1) If:
- (a) it is necessary, for the purposes of applying a provision of this Act in the assessment of a taxpayer for a year of income, to take into account the capital proceeds from a CGT event happening in relation to a CGT asset, being an interest in a FIF attribution account entity; and
 - (b) immediately before the CGT event takes place there is a FIF attribution surplus for the FIF attribution account entity in relation to the taxpayer;
- then, for the purposes of this Act:
- (c) the capital proceeds that, apart from this section, would be taken into account under the provision referred to in paragraph (a) in respect of the CGT event is taken to be reduced by so much of the amount of the FIF attribution surplus as does not exceed the capital proceeds; and
 - (d) a FIF attribution debit is taken to arise at the time of the CGT event under section 606, in relation to the taxpayer, for the FIF attribution account entity; and
 - (e) the amount of the FIF attribution debit is equal to so much of the surplus as is taken into account under paragraph (c).
- (3) For the purposes of paragraph (1)(c), if the CGT event causes the taxpayer's FIF attribution account percentage for the FIF attribution account entity to be reduced by a proportion, then only that proportion of the FIF attribution surplus for the entity is to be taken into account under that paragraph.

Division 22—Keeping of records

614 Application of Division

This Division applies to a taxpayer who:

- (a) had an interest or interests in a FIF at the end of a year of income ending on or after 1 January 1993; or
- (b) had an interest in a FLP at any time during a year of income ending on or after that date.

615 Records of acts, transactions etc.

The taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of:

- (a) the acts, transactions and other circumstances that resulted in the taxpayer having:
 - (i) the interest or interests in the FIF at the end of the year of income; or
 - (ii) the interest in the FLP during the year of income; and
- (b) except in the case of a taxpayer who, because of any of Divisions 2 to 15, is wholly exempt from taxation in respect of the interest or interests in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF or FLP that ended in the year of income—the basis of the calculation of the interest or the interests at that time.

Note: There is an administrative penalty if you do not keep or retain records as required by this Division: see section 288-25 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

616 Interest in FIF—if market value method was applied

If, in the case of an interest or interests in a FIF, the market value method was applied to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF that ended in the year of income, the taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of:

- (a) if any foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that notional accounting period—the basis of the calculation of:

Section 617

- (i) that foreign investment fund income; and
 - (ii) any unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss referred to in subsection 542(2); or
- (b) if any foreign investment fund loss was incurred by the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that notional accounting period—the basis of the calculation of that foreign investment fund loss.

617 Interest in FIF—if deemed rate of return method was applied

If, in the case of an interest or interests in a FIF, the deemed rate of return method was applied to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF that ended in the year of income, the taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of the basis of the calculation of the foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period.

618 Interest in FIF—if calculation method was applied

If, in the case of an interest or interests in a FIF, the calculation method was applied to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF that ended in the year of income, the taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of:

- (a) if there is a calculated profit in respect of the FIF in respect of that notional accounting period—the basis of the calculation of:
 - (i) that calculated profit; and
 - (ii) so much (if any) of any calculated loss or calculated losses in respect of a preceding notional accounting period or preceding notional accounting periods of the FIF as was taken into account under section 572 in determining that calculated profit; and
- (b) the basis of the calculation of any foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer from the FIF in respect of that period.

619 Interest in FLP

In the case of an interest in a FLP, the taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of:

- (a) if the cash surrender value method was applied to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the notional accounting period of the FLP that ended in the year of income:
 - (i) if any foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that notional accounting period—the basis of the calculation of:
 - (A) that foreign investment fund income; and
 - (B) any unapplied previous foreign investment fund loss referred to in subsection 600(2); or
 - (ii) if any foreign investment fund loss was incurred by the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that notional accounting period—the basis of the calculation of that foreign investment fund loss;
- (b) if the deemed rate of return method was applied to determine whether foreign investment fund income accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of the notional accounting period of the FLP that ended in the year of income—the basis of the calculation of the foreign investment fund income that accrued to the taxpayer from the FLP in respect of that period.

620 Interest in FIF or FLP—if exemption applied

If the taxpayer is wholly or partly exempt from taxation under this Part in respect of the interest or interests in a FIF or a FLP in respect of the notional accounting period of the FIF or FLP that ended in the year of income, the taxpayer must make and keep records in Australia containing particulars of the basis on which the exemption applied, including any acts, transactions, calculations and other circumstances relevant to the application of the exemption.

Section 621

621 Offence of failing to keep records

- (1) A person who contravenes section 615, 616, 617, 618, 619 or 620 is guilty of an offence punishable on conviction by a fine not exceeding 30 penalty units.

Note: See section 4AA of the Crimes Act 1914 for the current value of a penalty unit.

- (2) An offence under section 615, 616, 617, 618, 619 or 620 is an offence of strict liability.

Note: For strict liability, see section 6.1 of the Criminal Code.

622 Manner in which records required to be kept

A person who is required by this Division to make and keep records must:

- (a) make and keep the records in writing in the English language or so as to enable the records to be readily accessible and convertible into writing in the English language; and
- (b) make and keep the records so as to enable the person's liability under this Act to be readily ascertained.

623 If calculation method was applied—defence for failing to keep records if information unobtainable

In a prosecution of a person for an offence against section 618 for failing to keep a record containing particulars of the basis of a calculation, it is a defence if the person proves that the calculation was based on information that the person believed to be contained in the accounts (other than published accounts) of a FIF and that the person made all reasonable efforts to obtain particulars of the accounts or the relevant parts of the accounts but was unable to obtain them.

624 Treatment of partnerships

- (1) Subject to subsections (2) and (3), the following provisions apply to a partnership as if the partnership were a person:
- (a) sections 614 to 623;
- (b) subsections 262A(4) and (5), in so far as those subsections apply to records kept under or for the purposes of this Division;

- (c) Part III of the Taxation Administration Act 1953, in so far as that Part of that Act relates to the provisions covered by paragraph (a) or (b) of this subsection.
- (2) If, because of subsection (1), an offence is taken to have been committed by a partnership, that offence is taken to have been committed by each of the partners.
- (3) In a prosecution of a person for an offence because of subsection (2), it is a defence if the person proves that the person:
- (a) did not aid, abet, counsel or procure the act or omission because of which the offence was taken to have been committed; and
 - (b) was not in any way, by act or omission, directly or indirectly, knowingly concerned in, or party to, an act or omission because of which the offence is taken to have been committed.

Schedule 2C—Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245—Forgiveness of commercial debts

Guide to Division 245

245-1 What this Division is about

This Division applies if:

- (a) a debt or part of a debt ceases to be payable because the obligation to pay the debt or part is released or waived, or is otherwise extinguished (this is referred to as the forgiveness of the debt or part); and
- (b) there are amounts (reducible amounts) that would otherwise be taken into account in reducing the debtor's taxable income of the year of income in which the debt is forgiven or a later year of income.

The forgiven amount of the debt is treated as having been used to generate the reducible amounts and is accordingly applied to reduce them in a particular order.

If the debtor is a company that is included in a group of related companies, the forgiven amount of the debt may be treated as having been used to generate reducible amounts of one or more of the other companies.

245-2 Simplified outline of this Division

- (1) This Division applies to the forgiveness of the whole or a part of a commercial debt.

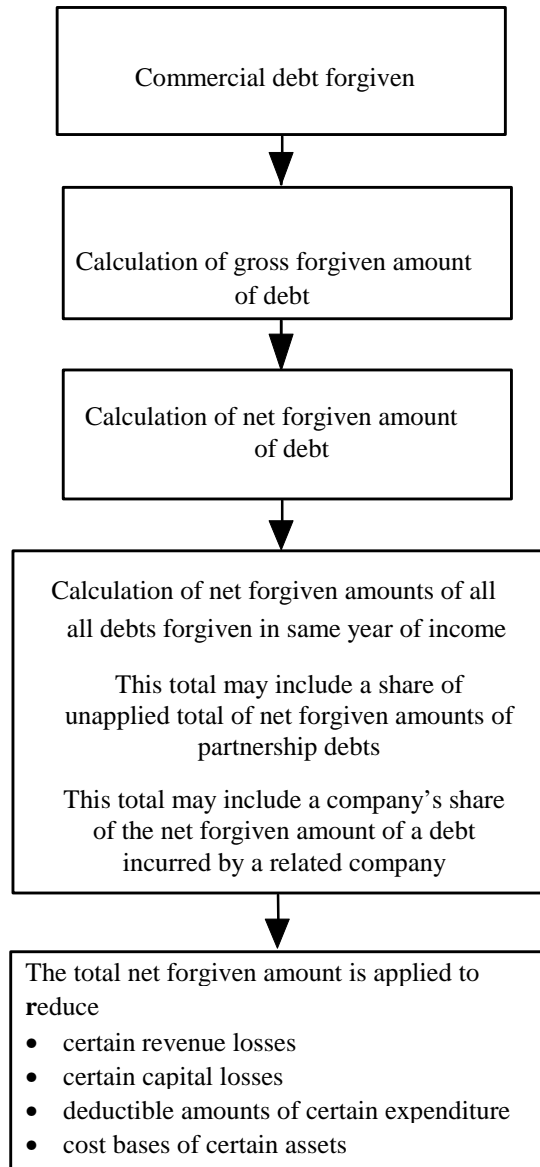

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-2

- (2) The forgiveness of a debt under an Act relating to bankruptcy, by will, or for reasons of natural love and affection, is not affected by the provisions of the Division.
- (3) Provision is made for the calculation of the gross forgiven amount in respect of each debt.
- (4) The gross forgiven amount may then be reduced by certain amounts that are taken into account in assessing the debtor's taxable income apart from this Division.
- (5) If the debt is owed between group companies, the gross forgiven amount may be further reduced in certain circumstances.
- (6) The amount remaining after all reductions to the gross forgiven amount is the net forgiven amount in respect of the debt.
- (7) The total net forgiven amount of all debts of a particular debtor that are forgiven in the same year of income (the forgiveness year of income) is to be applied in reduction of certain amounts that may otherwise be taken into account in assessing the debtor's taxable income.
- (8) The amounts to be reduced are certain revenue losses, net capital losses and other deductible amounts and the cost bases of certain assets.
- (9) Special rules apply in respect of debts of partnerships other than corporate limited partnerships.
- (10) Special rules apply in respect of debts of a company if the company is included in a group of related companies.

Subdivision 245-A—Debts to which this Division applies

Guide to Subdivision 245-A

245-5 What this Subdivision is about

The purpose of this Subdivision is to identify the debts to which this Division applies.

245-6 Map of this Subdivision

Operative provisions

245-10 Application of this Division

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), this Division applies to a forgiveness of a commercial debt but so applies only if the forgiveness occurs after the commencement day.
- (2) This Division does not apply to a forgiveness referred to in subsection (1) if the forgiveness occurs in accordance with the terms of an agreement or arrangement that:
 - (a) was entered into on or before the commencement day; and
 - (b) is evidenced in writing otherwise than by a document evidencing the agreement or transaction under which the debt arose.

245-15 What is a debt

- (1) Subject to this section, a debt is an enforceable obligation imposed by law on a person to pay an amount to another person.
- (2) If such an obligation is waived and the waiver constitutes a fringe benefit, the debt constituted by the obligation is to be disregarded for the purposes of this Division.
- (3) An amount that, apart from this subsection, would be an enforceable obligation referred to in subsection (1) is not to be regarded as a debt if the amount has been, or will be, included in the assessable income of any year of income of the person on whom the obligation is imposed.

245-20 Debt includes accrued interest

If there is, in respect of a debt, any interest or amount in the nature of interest that has accrued but has not been paid, the obligation to pay that interest or amount is not a separate debt but the first-mentioned debt includes the obligation to pay the interest or amount.

245-25 What constitutes a commercial debt

- (1) A debt is a commercial debt if subsection (2), (3) or (4) provides that the debt is a commercial debt.

Debt on which interest paid is an allowable deduction

- (2) Subject to subsection (4A), a debt is a commercial debt if the whole or any part of interest, or of an amount in the nature of interest, paid or payable in respect of the debt:
- (a) is or would be allowable as a deduction to the debtor; or
 - (b) would be so allowable apart from the operation of an exception provision.

Debt on which no interest is payable

- (3) A debt is a commercial debt if interest, or an amount in the nature of interest, is not payable in respect of the debt but, had interest or such an amount been payable, the whole or any part of the interest or amount:
- (a) would have been allowable as a deduction to the debtor; or
 - (b) would have been so allowable apart from the operation of an exception provision.
- (4) A non-equity share issued by a company is taken to be a commercial debt owed by the company to the shareholder.

Debt to Commonwealth not a commercial debt

- (4A) A debt owed to the Commonwealth that arose under a law relating to taxation is not a commercial debt.

Meaning of exception provision

- (5) In this section:

exception provision means a provision of this Act that has the effect of preventing a deduction that would otherwise be allowable, but does not include paragraphs 8-1(2)(a), (b) and (c) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (which prevent deductions for capital, private or domestic outgoings and for outgoings relating to exempt income).

245-26 Application to trustees

This Division applies to a person in the capacity of a trustee of a trust estate in respect of the trust estate's debts, and references in this Division to a debtor include a reference to a person in the capacity of a trustee of a trust estate in respect of the trust estate's debts.

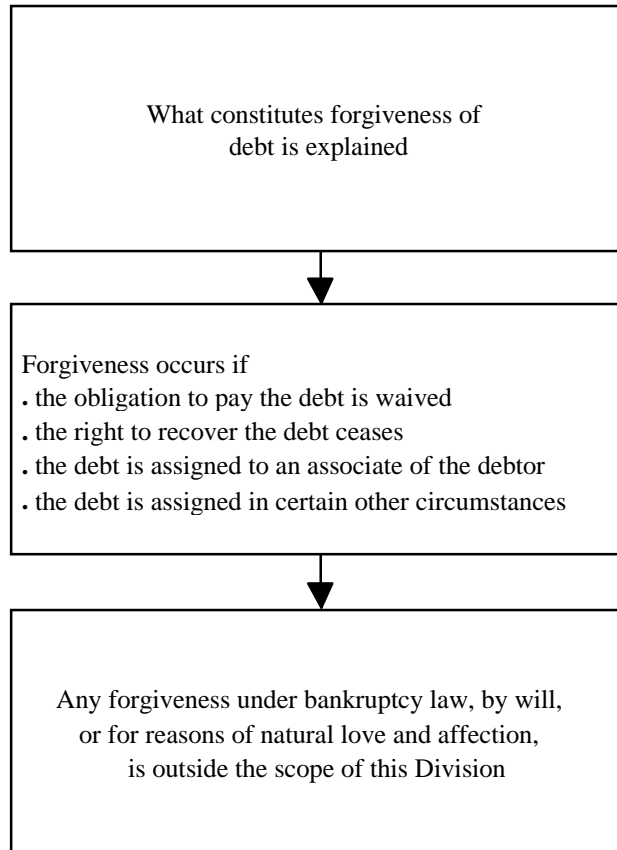

Subdivision 245-B—What constitutes forgiveness of a debt

245-30 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision explains the circumstances in which a debt is taken to have been forgiven for the purposes of this Division.
--

245-31 Map of this Subdivision

Operative provisions

245-35 What constitutes forgiveness of a debt

Obligation to pay debt forgiven

- (1) A debt is forgiven if the debtor's obligation to pay the debt is released or waived, or is otherwise extinguished.

Right to sue for debt ceases because of statute of limitations

- (2) A debt is forgiven if the period within which the creditor is entitled to sue for the recovery of the debt ends because of the operation of a statute of limitations without the debt having been paid.

Agreement to end obligation to pay debt with effect from a future time

- (3) If:
- (a) the debtor and creditor in relation to a debt enter into an agreement or arrangement (whether or not enforceable by legal proceedings); and
 - (b) under the agreement or arrangement the debtor's obligation to pay the whole or a part of the debt is to cease at a particular future time; and
 - (c) the cessation of the obligation is to occur without the debtor incurring any financial or other obligation (other than an obligation that, having regard to the debtor's circumstances, is of a nominal or insignificant amount or kind);

the debt or the part of the debt is taken to be forgiven when the agreement or arrangement is entered into. If, after the agreement or arrangement is entered into, the debt or the part of the debt is forgiven, the last-mentioned forgiveness is disregarded for the purposes of this Division.

Debt parking

- (4) If:
- (a) the creditor, in relation to a debt, assigns the right to receive payment of the debt to another person (the new creditor); and
 - (b) either:
 - (i) the new creditor is an associate of the debtor; or
 - (ii) the assignment occurred under an agreement or arrangement to which the new creditor and the debtor were parties; and
 - (c) the right to receive payment of the debt was not acquired by the new creditor in the ordinary course of trading on a securities market;

this Division has effect as if:

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-40

- (d) the debtor had, at the time of the assignment, been forgiven a debt (the notional debt) equal to the amount of the assigned debt; and
- (e) the net forgiven amount of the notional debt were equal to the amount that would have been the net forgiven amount of the assigned debt if that debt had been forgiven instead of being assigned.

Subscription for shares to enable debt to be paid

- (5) If:
 - (a) a person subscribes for shares in a company to enable the company to make a payment in or towards discharge of a debt owed by it to the person; and
 - (b) the company applies all or any of the money subscribed in or towards payment of the debt;then:
 - (c) so much of the debt as is paid out of the money so applied is taken to be forgiven; and
 - (d) the time of the forgiveness is taken to be the time when the money is so applied.

Definition

- (6) In this section:

securities market means a market, exchange or other place on which, or a facility by means of which, offers to sell, buy or exchange securities (within the meaning of Division 16E of Part III) are made or accepted.

245-40 Forgivenesses to which this Division does not apply

This Division does not apply to a forgiveness of a debt if:

- (a) the forgiveness is effected under an Act relating to bankruptcy; or
- (b) the forgiveness is effected by will; or
- (c) the debt is forgiven for reasons of natural love and affection.

Subdivision 245-C—Calculation of gross forgiven amount of a debt

Guide to Subdivision 245-C

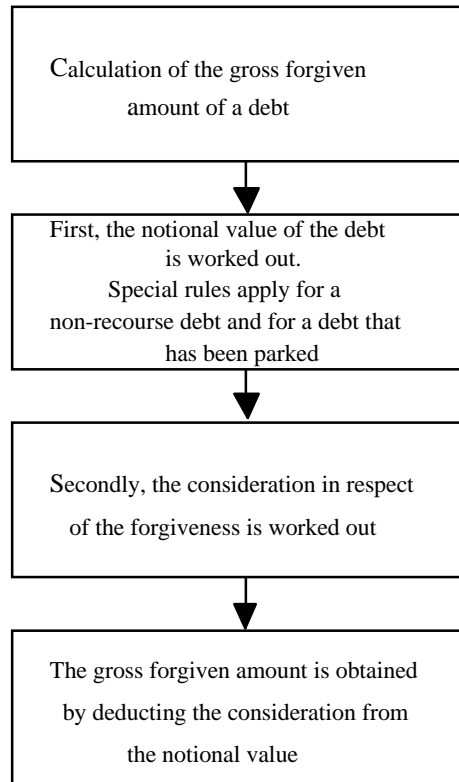

245-45 What this Subdivision is about

If a debt is forgiven, this Subdivision sets out the steps to be followed in calculating the gross forgiven amount of the debt.

245-46 Simplified outline of this Subdivision

- (a) The first step is to work out the notional value of a debt that has been forgiven
- The notional value of the debt is calculated as at the time when the debt was forgiven on the basis that the debt was an asset of the creditor at that time.
 - The notional value of the debt is worked out for the purpose of calculating the gross forgiven amount of the debt.
 - A special rule applies for the purpose of working out the notional value of a non-recourse debt.
 - Another special rule applies for the purpose of working out the notional value of a debt that has been parked.
- (b) The second step is to work out the consideration (if any) in respect of the forgiveness of the debt.
- (c) If no such consideration was paid or given, the gross forgiven amount of the debt is equal to the notional value of the debt.
- (d) If any such consideration was paid or given, the gross forgiven amount of the debt is obtained by deducting the consideration from the notional value of the debt.

245-47 Map of this Subdivision

Operative provisions

245-50 What constitutes a forgiven debt if consideration is given in respect of the forgiveness

If any consideration is paid or given in respect of the forgiveness of a debt, the debt that is forgiven is taken to be:

- (a) the obligation that existed before the forgiveness to pay so much of the debt as is expressed, or is taken, to be forgiven; and
- (b) the obligation that existed before the forgiveness to pay any part of the debt to which paragraph (a) does not apply but which ceases to be payable as a result of the payment or giving of the consideration.

245-55 Working out notional value of a debt other than a non-recourse debt

- (1) Subject to sections 245-60 and 245-61, the notional value of a debt at the time when it was forgiven is the lesser of the amount worked out under subsection (2) (the first applicable amount) and the amount worked out under subsection (3) (the second applicable amount).
- (2) The first applicable amount is the amount that would have been the value of the debt (considered as an asset of the creditor) at the time when it was forgiven if:
 - (a) except where subsection (4) applies in relation to the debt, at the time when the debt was incurred the debtor was able to pay all the debtor's debts (including the debt concerned) as and when they fell due; and
 - (b) the debtor's capacity to pay the debt at the time when it was forgiven was the same as the debtor's capacity to pay the debt at the time when it was incurred.
- (3) The second applicable amount is the sum of the following amounts:
 - (a) the amount that would have been the value of the debt (considered as an asset of the creditor) at the time when it was forgiven if:
 - (i) except where subsection (4) applies in relation to the debt, at the time when the debt was incurred the debtor was able to pay all the debtor's debts (including the debt concerned) as and when they fell due; and
 - (ii) the debtor's capacity to pay the debt at the time when it was forgiven was the same as the debtor's capacity to pay the debt at the time when it was incurred; and
 - (iii) no changes occurred, between the time when the debt was incurred and the time when the debt was forgiven, in any market variables; and
 - (b) the amount or the sum of the amounts of any deduction or deductions that:
 - (i) have been allowed or are allowable to the debtor as a result of the forgiveness of the debt; and

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-60

- (ii) are attributable to changes in market variables that occurred between the time when the debt was incurred and the time when the debt was forgiven.
- (4) Paragraph (2)(a) and subparagraph (3)(a)(i) do not apply in relation to a debt if:
 - (a) either:
 - (i) at the time when the debt was forgiven the creditor was a resident; or
 - (ii) the forgiveness of the debt was a CGT event involving a CGT asset that was taxable Australian property; and
 - (b) the debtor and the creditor were not dealing with each other at arm's length in respect of the incurring of the debt; and
 - (c) the debt was not a moneylending debt.
- (5) In this section:

market variables, in relation to a debt, means changes in rates of interest, and changes in the rates of exchange between currencies, that affect the value of the debt.

245-60 Special rule for working out notional value of a non-recourse debt

- (1) This section applies to a debt (the non-recourse debt) if the debt was incurred directly in respect of the financing of the cost of the acquisition, construction or development of property (but not including the manufacture of goods) by the debtor and the rights of the creditor as against the debtor in the event of default in the payment of the debt or the payment of interest are limited to all or any of the following:
 - (a) rights (including the right to moneys payable) in relation to all or any of the following:
 - (i) the property or the use of the property;
 - (ii) goods produced, supplied, carried, transmitted or delivered, or services provided, by means of the property;
 - (iii) the loss or disposal of the whole or a part of the property or of the debtor's interest in the property;
 - (b) rights in respect of a mortgage or other security over the property;

- (c) rights arising out of any arrangement relating to the financial obligations, in relation to the property, of the end-user of the property towards the debtor.
- (2) The notional value of a non-recourse debt at the time when it was forgiven is the lesser of the following:
 - (a) the amount of the non-recourse debt outstanding at that time;
 - (b) the market value at that time of the creditor's rights referred to in subsection (1) of this section.
- (3) In this section:

end-user, in relation to property, has the same meaning as in section 51AD.

245-61 Special rule for working out notional value of parked debt

If a debt that has been assigned as mentioned in subsection 245-35(4) is forgiven, the notional value of that debt is:

- (a) if the debt was not a moneylending debt and the creditor and the new creditor were not dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the assignment—the market value of the debt at the time of the assignment; or
- (b) in any other case—the sum of:
 - (i) the amount or value of the consideration (if any) that the debtor has paid or given, or is required to pay or give, to the creditor in respect of the assignment; and
 - (ii) the amount or value of the consideration (if any) paid or given by the new creditor in respect of the assignment.

245-65 The consideration in respect of forgiveness of a debt

- (1) Subject to subsection (2), the consideration in respect of the forgiveness of a debt (other than a debt to which subsection (3) or (4) applies) is:
 - (a) if the debtor has paid, or is required to pay, an amount or amounts of money as a result of, or in respect of, the forgiveness of the debt:
 - (i) if the debt is not a moneylending debt—that amount or the sum of those amounts; or
 - (ii) if the debt is a moneylending debt—the sum of the amount or amounts (if any) that the debtor has paid and

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-65

- the market value, at the time of the forgiveness, of the debtor's obligation to pay an amount or amounts; or
- (b) if the debtor has given, or is required to give, property other than money as a result of, or in respect of, the forgiveness of the debt—the market value of the property at the time of the forgiveness; or
 - (c) if the debtor has paid or given, or is required to pay or give, both an amount or amounts of money and property other than money as a result of, or in respect of, the forgiveness of the debt:
 - (i) if the debt is not a moneylending debt—the sum of that amount or those amounts and the market value of the property at the time of the forgiveness; or
 - (ii) if the debt is a moneylending debt—the sum of the amount or amounts (if any) that the debtor has paid, the market value, at the time of the forgiveness, of the property (if any) that the debtor has given and the market value, at the time of the forgiveness, of the debtor's obligation to pay any amount or amounts or to give any property.
- (2) Subject to subsection (2A), if a debt (other than a moneylending debt) to which subsection (1) applies is forgiven and:
- (a) there is no consideration in respect of the forgiveness; or
 - (b) the whole or a part of the consideration in respect of the forgiveness cannot be valued; or
 - (c) the amount that, apart from this paragraph, would be taken to be the amount or value of the consideration in respect of the forgiveness is greater or less than the market value of the debt at the time of the forgiveness and the debtor and creditor were not dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the forgiveness;
- the debtor is taken to have paid as consideration in respect of the forgiveness of the debt an amount equal to the market value of the debt at the time of the forgiveness.
- (2A) Subsection (2) does not apply in relation to a debt unless:
- (a) at the time when the debt was forgiven the creditor was a resident; or
 - (b) the forgiveness of the debt was a CGT event involving a CGT asset that was taxable Australian property.

- (3) In calculating for the purposes of paragraph 245-35(4)(e) the amount that would have been the net forgiven amount of an assigned debt referred to in that paragraph if that debt had been forgiven instead of being assigned:
- (a) if the debt is not a moneylending debt and the creditor and the new creditor were not dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the assignment—the consideration in respect of the forgiveness of the debt is taken to be the market value of the debt at the time of the assignment; or
 - (b) in any other case—the consideration in the respect of the forgiveness of the debt is taken to be the sum of:
 - (i) the amount or value of the consideration (if any) that the debtor has paid or given, or is required to pay or give, to the creditor in respect of the assignment; and
 - (ii) the amount or value of the consideration (if any) paid or given by the new creditor in respect of the assignment.
- (4) If a debt is forgiven by subscribing for shares in a company as mentioned in subsection 245-35(5), the consideration in respect of the forgiveness of the debt is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Amount applied}}{\text{Amount subscribed}} \times \text{Market value of shares subscribed for}$$

where:

amount applied means the amount applied by the company as mentioned in paragraph 245-35(5)(b).

amount subscribed means the amount subscribed as mentioned in paragraph 245-35(5)(a).

market value of shares subscribed for means the market value, of all the shares in the company that were subscribed for as mentioned in paragraph 245-35(5)(a), immediately after those shares were issued.

245-70 Money or other property applied for benefit of creditor

- (1) For the purposes of section 245-65:
- (a) money or property is taken to have been paid or given to a creditor if the money or property has been applied for the

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-75

benefit, or in accordance with the directions, of the creditor;
and

- (b) a debtor is taken to be required to pay money or give property to a creditor if the debtor is required to apply money or property for the benefit, or in accordance with the directions, of the creditor.
- (2) For the purposes of section 245-65, a reference in subsection (1) to the application of money or property for the benefit of a creditor includes, without limiting the generality of the expression, a reference to the application of money or property in the discharge, wholly or partly, of a debt due by the creditor.

245-75 Gross forgiven amount of a debt

- (1) Subject to subsection (3), if no consideration is paid or given, or taken to be paid or given, in respect of the forgiveness of the debt, the gross forgiven amount of the debt is an amount equal to the notional value of the debt at the time when the debt was forgiven.
- (2) Subject to subsection (3), if any consideration is paid or given, or taken to be paid or given, in respect of the forgiveness of the debt:
- (a) where the notional value of the debt at the time when the debt was forgiven exceeds the consideration—the gross forgiven amount of the debt is an amount equal to the excess; or
- (b) where the notional value of the debt at the time when the debt was forgiven is equal to or less than the consideration—there is no forgiven amount in respect of the debt and Subdivisions 245-D to 245-G do not apply in respect of the debt.
- (3) If 2 or more persons were liable (otherwise than as partners in a partnership) to pay a debt, whether their liability was joint or several, or joint and several, the gross forgiven amount of the debt in relation to the person, or each of the persons, in respect of whom the debt was a commercial debt is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Overall gross forgiven amount}}{\text{Number of commercial debtors}}$$

where:

overall gross forgiven amount means the amount that would be the gross forgiven amount of the debt if all the persons liable to pay the debt were treated as a single person and the debt was a commercial debt in respect of that person.

number of commercial debtors means the number of persons liable to pay the debt in respect of whom the debt was a commercial debt.

Subdivision 245-D—Calculation of net forgiven amount of a debt

Guide to Subdivision 245-D

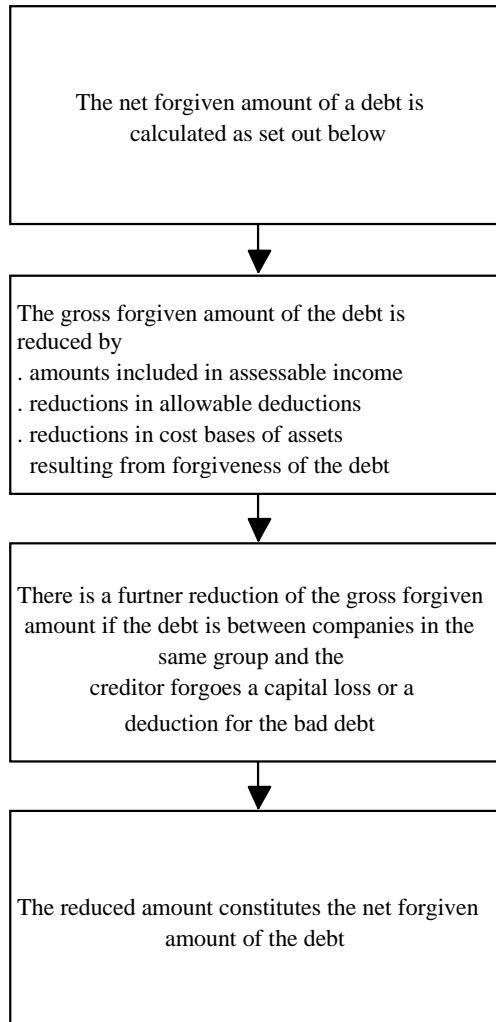

245-80 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides for the gross forgiven amount of a debt to be reduced in certain circumstances.

If the gross forgiven amount is not reduced under this Subdivision, the gross forgiven amount is also the net forgiven amount of the debt.

If the gross forgiven amount is reduced under this Subdivision, the amount remaining after the reduction is the net forgiven amount of the debt.

245-81 Map of this Subdivision

Operative provisions

245-85 Reduction of gross forgiven amount

- (1) The gross forgiven amount of a debt is reduced by the sum of any of the following amounts that apply in relation to the debtor:
- (a) any amount that, under a provision of this Act other than this Division, has been, or will be, included in the debtor's assessable income of any year of income as a result of the forgiveness of the debt; deductible expenditure means expenditure (other than excluded expenditure):

 - (a) that is of a kind referred to in the table of deductible expenditure and was incurred before the forgiveness year of income; and
 - (b) in respect of which a deduction would, apart from this Subdivision, be allowable to the debtor in respect of income of the forgiveness year of income or a later year of income if no event or circumstance (other than a recoupment of the expenditure in the forgiveness year of income) occurred that would affect the allowance of the deduction.

excluded expenditure has the meaning given by subsections (2), (3) and (4).

residual forgiven amount means the total net forgiven amount to the extent to which it has not been applied in making reductions of deductible revenue losses and deductible net capital losses.

table of deductible expenditure means the following table.

 - (b) the disposal occurred during the forgiveness year of income before the forgiveness of any debt owed by the debtor, being a forgiveness that resulted in a net forgiven amount; and

Schedule 2C Forgiveness of commercial debts

Division 245 Forgiveness of commercial debts

Section 245-145

- (c) no provision of this Act includes an amount in the debtor's assessable income, or allows a deduction to the debtor, as a result of the disposal.
- (3) Expenditure is excluded expenditure if the asset in respect of which the expenditure was incurred was disposed of by the debtor, or was lost or destroyed, on or before the commencement day.
- (4) Expenditure is excluded expenditure to the extent (if any) to which the expenditure was recouped on or before the commencement day.

245-145 Residual forgiven amount to be applied in reduction of deductible expenditures

The residual forgiven amount is to be applied, to the maximum extent possible, in reduction, in accordance with sections 245-150 and 245-155, of deductible expenditures (if any).

245-150 Allocation of residual forgiven amount in respect of deductible expenditures

- (1) The debtor may choose:
 - (a) the order in which deductible expenditures are to be subject to reduction; and
 - (b) the amount to be applied in reduction of each of those expenditures;provided that the residual forgiven amount is applied, to the maximum extent possible, in reduction of deductible expenditures.
- (2) If the debtor does not make a choice for the purposes of subsection (1), the Commissioner may make the choice on behalf of the debtor in a reasonable way.

245-155 How a reduction of a deductible expenditure is to be effected

- (1) The following paragraphs apply in respect of the reduction of any deductible expenditure if the deduction that would be allowable to the debtor, apart from this Subdivision, in respect of the deductible expenditure is a percentage, fraction or proportion of an amount (the base amount) that is worked out without regard to any amount or amounts previously allowed as a deduction or deductions in respect of the deductible expenditure:

- (a) any amount that is to be applied in reduction of the deductible expenditure is taken to reduce the base amount for the purpose of working out the deduction in respect of the forgiveness year of income and later years of income;
 - (b) the amount of the reduction is taken to have been a deduction allowed to the debtor in respect of the deductible expenditure before the forgiveness year of income for the purposes of the operation of any provision of this Act that includes an amount in the debtor's assessable income or allows a deduction to the debtor:
 - (i) because of the disposal, loss or destruction of the asset in respect of which the deductible expenditure was incurred; or
 - (ii) because of the recoupment of any of the expenditure; or
 - (iii) because use of the asset for a particular purpose has been otherwise terminated;
 - (iv) because a balancing adjustment event within the meaning of the former Division 42, or Division 40, of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 occurs for that asset;

as the case may be;
 - (c) the total amount of the deductions allowed or allowable otherwise than under paragraph (b) in respect of the deductible expenditure for all years of income (including years of income before the forgiveness year of income) must not exceed the base amount as reduced under paragraph (a).
- (2) If the deduction that would be allowable to the debtor, apart from this Subdivision, in respect of any deductible expenditure is a percentage, fraction or proportion of an amount that is worked out after taking into account any amount or amounts previously allowed as a deduction or deductions in respect of the deductible expenditure, any amount to be applied in reduction of the deductible expenditure is taken to have been a deduction allowed to the debtor in respect of the deductible expenditure before the forgiveness year of income.

245-160 Amount applied in reduction of deductible expenditure to be included in assessable income in certain circumstances

If:

- (a) an amount of deductible expenditure is recouped after the forgiveness year of income; and
- (b) as a result of the recoupment, this Act applies to disallow any deduction previously allowed to the debtor in respect of the expenditure;

an amount equal to the amount, or the sum of the amounts, applied under this Subdivision in reduction of the deductible expenditure is included in the debtor's assessable income of the year of income in which the expenditure is recouped.

Operative provisions relating to reduction of cost bases of assets

245-165 Definitions applicable to provisions reducing cost bases

- (1) In sections 245-165 to 245-190:

excluded asset has the meaning given by section 245-170.

reducible asset means a CGT asset (other than an excluded asset) of the debtor at the beginning of the forgiveness year of income.

relevant cost base, in relation to a CGT asset, means the cost base or the reduced cost base, of the asset.

residual forgiven amount means the total net forgiven amount to the extent to which it has not been applied in making reductions of deductible revenue losses, deductible net capital losses and deductible expenditures.

245-170 Excluded assets

The following CGT assets of a debtor are excluded assets:

- (a) a CGT asset acquired by the debtor before 20 September 1985;
- (b) a CGT asset that the debtor no longer owned at the end of the commencement day;
- (c) a personal use asset (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997);

- (d) a dwelling (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997) that was the debtor's main residence at any time before the forgiveness year of income;
- (e) goodwill;
- (f) a right covered by section 118-305 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (which exempts from CGT certain rights relating to a superannuation fund or approved deposit fund);
- (g) a CGT asset that, throughout the period before the forgiveness year when it was owned by the debtor, constituted trading stock of the debtor;
- (h) a CGT asset:
 - (i) the cost of which is deductible expenditure in relation to the debtor under section 245-140; and
 - (ii) a CGT event in relation to which would result in an amount being included in the debtor's assessable income, or in the debtor being able to deduct an amount; and
- (i) if the debtor is a non-resident at the beginning of the forgiveness year of income—an asset that is not a taxable Australian asset.

245-175 Residual forgiven amount to be applied in reduction of cost bases of assets

The residual forgiven amount is to be applied, to the maximum extent possible, in reduction, in accordance with sections 245-180 to 245-190, of the relevant cost bases of reducible assets (if any).

245-180 Allocation of residual forgiven amount among relevant cost bases of assets

- (1) Subject to section 245-185, the debtor may choose:
 - (a) the reducible assets whose relevant cost bases are to be subject to reduction; and
 - (b) the amount to be applied in reduction of the relevant cost base of each of those assets; provided that the residual forgiven amount is applied, to the maximum extent possible, in reduction of the relevant cost bases of reducible assets.

- (2) If the debtor does not make a choice for the purposes of subsection (1), the Commissioner may make the choice on behalf of the debtor in a reasonable way.

245-185 Relevant cost bases of investments in associated entities to be reduced last

- (1) If a debtor's reducible assets include investments in, or in relation to, entities that are associates of the debtor, the relevant cost bases of those investments are not subject to reduction under section 245-175 until the residual forgiven amount has been applied, to the maximum extent possible, in reduction of the relevant cost bases of reducible assets other than such investments.
- (2) In this section:

entity means a natural person, a partnership, a trustee of a trust or a company.

investment includes:

- (a) in respect of an entity that is a partnership—an interest as a partner in a partnership; and
- (b) in respect of an entity that is a trustee of a trust—a beneficial interest under the trust; and
- (c) in respect of an entity that is a company—a share in the company; and
- (d) in respect of any entity—a debt owed to the debtor by the entity.

245-190 How a reduction of the relevant cost bases of an asset is to be effected

- (1) Subject to subsection (3), if the debtor chooses to apply an amount in reduction of the relevant cost bases of a particular CGT asset, each relevant cost base of the asset, as at any time on or after the beginning of the forgiveness year of income, is taken to be reduced by that amount.
- (2) The reduction by a particular amount of each of the relevant cost bases of a particular CGT asset is, for the purpose of working out the amount by which the residual forgiven amount is applied in making the reduction, taken to be a reduction in that residual forgiven amount by the particular amount (and not by the sum of the amounts by which those cost bases are reduced).

- (3) The maximum amount by which each of the relevant cost bases of a CGT asset may be reduced is the amount that, apart from sections 245-175 to 245-185, would be the reduced cost base of the asset calculated as if a CGT event had happened to the asset:
- (a) subject to paragraph (b), on the first day of the forgiveness year of income; or
 - (b) if, after the beginning of that year of income, an event occurred that would cause the reduced cost base of the asset to be reduced—on the day on which the event occurred; and to have been so disposed of at its market value on the day concerned.

Operative provision relating to unapplied total net forgiven amount

245-195 No further consequences if there is any remaining unapplied total net forgiven amount

- (1) If any part of the total net forgiven amount remains after the application of that amount in making reductions under the preceding provisions of this Subdivision, the remaining part is disregarded.
- (2) This section has effect subject to section 245-215.

245-250 Companies under common ownership

For the purposes of this Division, the question whether 2 companies were under common ownership at a particular time is to be determined in the same way as that question would be determined under the definition of under common ownership in subsection 995-1(1) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

245-255 Controller of company

For the purposes of this Division, the question whether a taxpayer was a controller of a company at a particular time is to be determined in the same way as the question whether an entity is a controller (for CGT purposes) of a company is determined under section 140-20 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

 - (d) the terms of repayment of the debt;
 - (e) if the debt is not a moneylending debt and the debtor and the creditor were not dealing with each other at arm's length in respect of the incurring of the debt—the debtor's capacity at the time when the debt was incurred to pay the debt when it falls due;
 - (f) if the debtor's obligation to pay the debt is forgiven—the date of the forgiveness and the consideration (if any) in respect of the forgiveness.

Note: There is an administrative penalty if you do not keep or retain records as required by this section: see section 288-25 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953.

- (2) If a company and another company that are under common ownership cease to be under common ownership, each company must keep any records that are necessary to enable the following matters to be readily found out:
- (a) the date on which the companies ceased to be under common ownership;
 - (b) the identity of each person who was a controller of the company immediately before the companies ceased to be under common ownership;

 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—the end of 5 years after the debt was forgiven; or
 - (b) if the period (the assessment period) within which the Commissioner may, under section 170, amend an assessment in respect of the person's income of the year of income to which the records relate, or in which a transaction or act to which the records relate was completed, is extended under subsection 170(7):
 - (i) the end of the period of 5 years referred to in paragraph (a); or
 - (ii) the end of the assessment period as so extended;whichever is the later.
- (5) Subsection (4) does not require records in respect of a debt that has been wholly paid in cash to be retained after the debt was so paid.
- (6) Subject to subsection (7), each company referred to in subsection (2) that keeps any records relating to the company as required by subsection (2) must retain the records until the end of the second year of income after the year of income in which the company and the other company referred to in subsection (2) ceased to be under common ownership.
- (7) If a debt of one of the companies referred to in subsection (2) was forgiven at any time after the companies ceased to be under common ownership and before the end of the second year of income after the year of income in which the cessation occurred, each of the companies that keeps any records relating to the company as required by that subsection must retain the records until:
 - (a) if paragraph (b) does not apply—the end of 5 years after the debt was forgiven; or
 - (b) if the period (the assessment period) within which the Commissioner may, under section 170, amend an assessment in respect of the company's income of the year of income to which the records relate, or in which a transaction or act to which the records relate was completed, is extended under subsection 170(7):

- (i) the end of the period of 5 years referred to in paragraph (a); or
 - (ii) the end of the assessment period as so extended;
- whichever is the later.

(8A) Subsection (8) does not apply to the extent that the person has a reasonable excuse.

Note: A defendant bears an evidential burden in relation to the matters in subsection (8A), see subsection 13.3(3) of the Criminal Code.

(9) This section does not limit the application of any other provision of this Act relating to the keeping or retention of records.

Guide to Division 57

57-1 What this Division is about

This Division is about the income tax treatment of a taxpayer whose income ceases to be wholly exempt. Broadly, income, outgoings, gains and losses are attributed to the periods before and after the loss of full exemption.

Subdivision 57-A—Key concepts

57-5 Entities to which this Division applies

If:

- (a) at a particular time, all of the income of a taxpayer is wholly exempt from income tax; and
- (b) immediately after that time, the taxpayer's income becomes to any extent assessable income;

then:

- (c) the taxpayer is a transition taxpayer; and
- (d) the time when the taxpayer's income becomes to that extent assessable is the transition time; and
- (e) the year of income in which the transition time occurs is the transition year for the taxpayer.

Subdivision 57-B—Predecessors of the transition taxpayer

57-10 Activities of transition taxpayer's predecessor attributed to transition taxpayer

(1) If:

- (a) at the transition time, the transition taxpayer performs particular functions or carries on particular activities; and
- (b) during any period before the transition taxpayer first began to perform the functions or carry on the activities, an exempt government entity performed those same functions or carried on those same activities; and

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-15

- (c) at the end of the period, responsibility for performing the functions or carrying on the activities was transferred, either directly or through one or more other exempt government entities, to the transition taxpayer;

this Division applies as if, during that period, anything done by or to the exempt government entity in performing those functions or carrying on those activities had instead been done by or to the transition taxpayer.

Note: As a result of this provision, the transition taxpayer may for example be able to deduct after the transition time, under Division 40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 as modified by Subdivision 57-J of this Schedule, a portion of allowable capital expenditure incurred before the transition time by an exempt government entity whose functions were transferred to the transition taxpayer.

- (2) An exempt government entity is:
 - (a) the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory; or
 - (b) an STB, within the meaning of Division 1AB of Part III, that is exempt from tax under that Division.

Subdivision 57-C—Time when income derived

57-15 Time when income derived

- (1) To the extent that income derived by the transition taxpayer before the transition time is in respect of:
 - (a) services rendered; or
 - (b) goods provided; or
 - (c) the doing of any other thing;at or after the transition time, the income is treated for the purposes of this Act as having been derived at the time the services were rendered, the goods were provided or the thing was done, as the case requires.
- (2) To the extent that income derived by the transition taxpayer at or after the transition time is in respect of:
 - (a) services rendered; or
 - (b) goods provided; or
 - (c) the doing of any other thing;before the transition time, the income is treated for the purposes of this Act as having been derived before that time.

Subdivision 57-D—Time when losses and outgoings incurred

57-20 Time when losses and outgoings incurred

- (1) To the extent that a loss or outgoing (within the meaning of section 51 of this Act or section 8-1 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, as appropriate) incurred by the transition taxpayer before the transition time is in respect of:
 - (a) services rendered; or
 - (b) goods provided; or
 - (c) the doing of any other thing;at or after the transition time, the loss or outgoing is treated for the purposes of this Act as having been incurred at the time the services were rendered, the goods were provided or the thing was done, as the case requires.
- (2) To the extent that a loss or outgoing (within the meaning of section 51 of this Act or section 8-1 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, as appropriate) incurred by the transition taxpayer at or after the transition time is in respect of:
 - (a) services rendered; or
 - (b) goods provided; or
 - (c) the doing of any other thing;before the transition time, the loss or outgoing is treated for the purposes of this Act as having been incurred before that time.

Subdivision 57-E—Assets and liabilities

57-25 Deemed disposal and re-acquisition of assets

- (1) This section applies to:
 - (a) the disposal of an asset by the transition taxpayer after the transition time; and
 - (b) a CGT event that happens after the transition time in relation to an asset owned by the transition taxpayer;where the transition taxpayer owned the asset at all times from the transition time until the disposal or the CGT event.

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-25

Deemed disposal and re-purchase

- (2) Subject to subsection (5), in determining for the purposes of this Act (other than the excluded provisions mentioned in subsection (4)) whether an amount is included in, or allowable as a deduction from, the assessable income of the transition taxpayer in respect of the disposal, the transition taxpayer is taken:
- (a) to have sold, immediately before the transition time, each of its assets; and
 - (b) to have purchased each of its assets again at the transition time for consideration equal to the asset's adjusted market value at the transition time.
- (2A) For the purposes of Parts 3-1 and 3-3 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about CGT), in determining whether the transition taxpayer makes a capital gain or capital loss from a CGT event that happens after the transition time in relation to an asset referred to in subsection (1), the cost base and reduced cost base of the asset (at the transition time) is its adjusted market value at that time.
- (3) An asset's adjusted market value at the transition time is the asset's market value at that time:
- (a) reduced by any amount of income received or receivable by the transition taxpayer in respect of the asset at or after the transition time that:
 - (i) because of subsection 57-15(2); or
 - (ii) because all of the income of the transition taxpayer was wholly exempt from income tax before the transition time;is not included in the transition taxpayer's assessable income; and
 - (b) increased by any amount of income received or receivable by the transition taxpayer in respect of the asset before the transition time that:
 - (i) because of subsection 57-15(1); or
 - (ii) because the transition taxpayer's income ceased to be exempt from income tax at the transition time;is included in the transition taxpayer's assessable income.

Excluded provisions

- (4) For the purposes of subsection (2), the excluded provisions are:
- (e) Division 10B of Part III of this Act (about industrial property); and
 - (f) Division 10BA of Part III of this Act (about Australian films); and
 - (ga) Division 40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about capital allowances); and
 - (i) Division 43 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about deductions for capital works); and
 - (j) section 70-120 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about deducting capital costs of acquiring trees);
 - (la) Division 373 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about intellectual property).

Listed provisions not affected

- (5) If the transition taxpayer:
- (a) acquired an asset (whether before the transition time or otherwise) before the commencement of a provision listed in subsection (6); and
 - (b) after acquiring the asset, owned the asset at all times before the transition time;
- the deemed acquisition of the asset under subsection (2) does not affect the operation of the listed provision.

Listed provisions

- (6) The provisions are listed in the table below. Provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 are identified in normal text. The other provisions, in bold, are provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.

8	Subdivision 20-A, so far as it applies to an amount that may be an assessable recoupment because a deduction has been allowed or is allowable under section 775-30

- (6A) For the purposes of the application of subsection (5) to the transition taxpayer, a provision covered by item 7 or 8 of the table in subsection (6) is taken to have commenced at the start of the taxpayer's applicable commencement date (within the meaning of Division 775 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997).

Note: For applicable commencement date, see section 775-155 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

Avoidance of doubt—debt write-off

- (7) To avoid doubt, an effect of subsection (2) is that the sum of all allowable deductions (if any) in respect of the writing off as bad of the whole or part of a debt to which that subsection applies will not exceed the market value of the debt at the transition time.

Avoidance of doubt—disposal need not involve an alienation

- (8) To avoid doubt, an asset may be disposed of for the purposes of this section whether or not the disposal involves alienating the asset.

57-30 Deemed cessation and re-assumption of liabilities

- (1) Subject to subsection (3), for the purposes of determining a deduction allowable to, or an amount included in the assessable income of, the transition taxpayer after the transition time in respect of the satisfaction of a liability owed by the transition taxpayer immediately before the transition time, the transition taxpayer is taken:
 - (a) to have ceased immediately before the transition time to have any liabilities; and
 - (b) to have assumed each of its liabilities again at the transition time in return for consideration equal to the adjusted market value (see subsection (2)) at that time of the right or other asset, corresponding to the liability, that was held by the person to whom the liability was owed.
 - (2) The adjusted market value of the corresponding right or other asset is the market value of that right or asset at the transition time:
 - (a) reduced by any amount paid or that becomes payable by the transition taxpayer in respect of the liability at or after the transition time, where:
 - (i) because of subsection 57-20(2); or
 - (ii) because all of the transition taxpayer's income was wholly exempt from income tax before the transition time; the amount is not an allowable deduction; and
 - (b) increased by any amount paid or that became payable by the transition taxpayer in respect of the liability before the transition time, where:
 - (i) because of subsection 57-20(1); or
 - (ii) because the transition taxpayer's income ceased to be exempt from income tax at the transition time;
the amount is an allowable deduction.
 - (3) A provision listed in subsection (4) only applies to a liability of the transition taxpayer at the transition time if the liability first came into existence after the day on which Division 3B of Part III commenced.
 - (4) The provisions are listed in the table below. Provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 are identified in normal text. The

57-35 Interpretation

In this Subdivision:

asset means property, or a right, of any kind, and includes:

- (a) any legal or equitable estate or interest (whether present or future, vested or contingent, tangible or intangible, in real or personal property) of any kind; and
- (b) any chose in action; and
- (c) any right, interest or claim of any kind including rights, interests or claims in or in relation to property (whether arising under an instrument or otherwise, and whether liquidated or unliquidated, certain or contingent, accrued or accruing); and
- (e) a CGT asset; but does not include trading stock.

liability includes a duty or obligation of any kind (whether arising under an instrument or otherwise, and whether actual, contingent or prospective).

Subdivision 57-F—Superannuation deductions

57-40 Contributions under defined benefit superannuation schemes

- (1) This section applies to a deduction allowable apart from this Subdivision to the transition taxpayer under section 290-60 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 for a contribution made to a fund in relation to a person if:
 - (a) the person was an employee of the transition taxpayer at any time before or after the transition time; and
 - (b) the contribution was made under a defined benefit superannuation scheme (within the meaning of section 6A of the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992).

Deduction allowable only if sum of all deductions exceeds defined benefit threshold amount

- (2) The deduction is not allowable for a year of income if the sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income is less than or equal to the defined benefit threshold amount (see subsection (4)) for the year of income.

Amount of deduction not allowable

- (3) If the sum is greater than that amount, so much of the deduction as is worked out using the following formula is not allowable:

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-45

$$\frac{\text{Amount of deduction}}{\text{Sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income}} \times \text{Defined benefit threshold amount for the year of income}$$

Meaning of defined benefit threshold amount

- (4) The defined benefit threshold amount for a year of income is:
- (a) if the year of income is the transition year—the unfunded liability amount (see subsection (5)); or
 - (b) in any other case—that amount as reduced by the total amount of deductions to which this section applies, that, because of subsection (2) or (3), have not (disregarding section 57-55) been allowable to the transition taxpayer for all previous years of income.

Meaning of unfunded liability amount

- (5) The unfunded liability amount is the value, worked out as at the transition time in accordance with actuarial principles, of the liabilities of the transition taxpayer to provide superannuation benefits for, or for dependants of, employees of the transition taxpayer, where the liabilities:
- (a) had accrued as at the transition time; and
 - (b) were, according to actuarial principles, unfunded at that time; and
 - (c) were liabilities only under defined benefit superannuation schemes.

57-45 Deduction for surplus to meet defined benefit superannuation scheme liabilities

If:

- (a) at the transition time, according to a particular defined benefit superannuation scheme's accounts, an amount is available to meet liabilities of the transition taxpayer under the scheme to provide superannuation benefits for, or for dependants of, employees of the transition taxpayer; and
- (b) the amount exceeds the total value (as worked out according to actuarial principles) of the liabilities of that kind that have accrued as at the transition time; and

- (c) before the transition time, the transition taxpayer makes a written election that the excess is to be used solely to meet liabilities of that kind accruing after the transition time, and the excess is later used solely to meet such liabilities;
 the excess is an allowable deduction of the transition taxpayer for the transition year.

57-50 Contributions generally

- (1) This section applies to a deduction allowable apart from this Subdivision to the transition taxpayer under section 290-60 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 for a contribution made to a fund in relation to a person if the person was an employee of the transition taxpayer at any time before or after the transition time.

Deduction allowable only if sum of all deductions exceeds general superannuation threshold amount

- (2) The deduction is not allowable for a year of income if the sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income is less than or equal to the general superannuation threshold amount (see subsection (4)) for the year of income.

Amount of deduction not allowable

- (3) If the sum is greater than the general superannuation threshold amount, so much of the deduction as is worked out using the following formula is not allowable:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of deduction}}{\text{Sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income}} \times \text{General superannuation threshold amount}$$

Meaning of general superannuation threshold amount

- (4) The general superannuation threshold amount for a year of income is:
- (a) if the year of income is the transition year—the undischarged superannuation liability amount (see subsection (5)); or
 - (b) in any other case—the amount applicable under paragraph (a), reduced by the total amount of deductions to which this section applies that, because of subsection (2) or

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-50

(3), have not (disregarding section 57-55) been allowable to the transition taxpayer for all previous years of income.

Meaning of undischarged superannuation liability amount

(5) This is how to work out the transition taxpayer's undischarged superannuation liability amount:

- Step 1. For each person who was an employee of the transition taxpayer at any time before the transition time, take the sum of:
- (a) if the whole or any part of the person's period of employment with the transition taxpayer took place before the beginning of the superannuation guarantee period (see subsection (6)) and there were one or more required award etc. contribution amounts (see subsection (7)) in respect of any of that whole or part—that amount or those amounts; and
 - (b) if, for the whole or any part or parts of the superannuation guarantee period, there were one or more required award etc. contribution amounts that were greater than the required superannuation guarantee contribution amount or amounts (see subsection (8))—that greater amount or those greater amounts; and
 - (c) if, for the whole or any part or parts of the superannuation guarantee period, either there was no required award etc. contribution amount or there was such an amount but it was not greater than the required superannuation guarantee contribution amount—the required superannuation guarantee contribution amount for the whole or the part of the period, or the sum of the required superannuation guarantee contribution amounts for the parts of the period, as the case may be.

Step 2. Reduce the sum from Step 1 by the sum of amounts that the transition taxpayer actually contributed before the start of the transition year:

- (a) in payment of required award etc. contribution amounts or required superannuation guarantee contribution amounts for the employee that are included in the sum in Step 1; or
- (b) voluntarily to a superannuation fund for the purpose of providing superannuation benefits for the employee, or dependants of the employee; in respect of any period of employment of the employee with the transition taxpayer before the transition time.

Step 3. If the result after applying Step 2 for a particular employee is less than nil, it is nil instead.

Step 4. Add up the results for all of the employees. This final sum is the transition taxpayer's undischarged superannuation liability amount.

Meaning of superannuation guarantee period

- (6) The superannuation guarantee period is the period beginning on 1 July 1992 and ending at the transition time.

Meaning of required award etc. contribution amount

- (7) A required award etc. contribution amount is an amount required to be contributed to a superannuation fund by an employer for the benefit of an employee:
- (a) by an industrial award; or
 - (b) by an occupational superannuation arrangement; or
 - (c) by a law of the Commonwealth, a State or a Territory; or
 - (d) otherwise.

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-52

Meaning of required superannuation guarantee contribution amount

- (8) A required superannuation guarantee contribution amount is an amount that an employer would need to contribute in respect of a period so as not to have a superannuation guarantee shortfall under the Superannuation Guarantee (Administration) Act 1992 in respect of that period.

Note: The relevant periods for which shortfalls are or were calculated under that Act are quarters (from 1 July 1993 onwards) or half-years (from 1 July 1992 to 30 June 1993).

57-52 Section 57-50 does not apply if there is a surplus at transition time

Section 57-50 does not apply to a deduction of the kind mentioned in subsection 57-50(1) if:

- (a) at the transition time, according to the accounts of the fund concerned, an amount is available to meet liabilities of the transition taxpayer in relation to the fund to provide superannuation benefits for, or for dependants of, employees of the transition taxpayer; and
- (b) the amount exceeds the value (as worked out according to actuarial principles) of the liabilities of that kind that have accrued as at the transition time.

57-55 Deductions reduced under both sections 57-40 and 57-50

If the amount of a deduction otherwise allowable to the transition taxpayer in respect of a contribution to a fund is required to be reduced under both sections 57-40 and 57-50:

- (a) if the reduction is of a different amount—the amount is reduced only under that section that requires the greater reduction; or
- (b) if the reduction is of the same amount—the amount is reduced only under section 57-40.

Subdivision 57-G—Denial of certain deductions57-60 Effect of pre-transition time accrued leave entitlements

- (1) This section applies to a deduction otherwise allowable to the transition taxpayer for a year of income under subsection 51(1) of this Act or section 8-1 (about general deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in respect of long service leave payments or annual leave payments to a person who was an employee of the transition taxpayer at any time before or after the transition time.

Note: Subsection 51(3) of this Act or section 26-10 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (as appropriate) contains additional requirements for certain leave payments to be deductible.

Deduction allowable only if sum of all deductions exceeds leave threshold amount

- (2) The deduction is not allowable if the sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income is less than or equal to the leave threshold amount (see subsection (4)) for the year of income.

Amount of deduction not allowable

- (3) If the sum is greater than the leave threshold amount, so much of the deduction as is worked out using the following formula is not allowable:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of deduction}}{\text{Sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income}} \times \text{Leave threshold amount for the year of income}$$

Meaning of leave threshold amount

- (4) The leave threshold amount for a year of income is:
- (a) if the year of income is the transition year—the (pre-transition time service) leave amount (see subsection (5)) of the transition taxpayer; or
 - (b) in any other case—that amount as reduced by the total amount of deductions to which this section applies that, because of subsection (2) or (3), have not been allowable to the transition taxpayer for all previous years of income.

Meaning of (pre-transition time service) leave amount

- (5) The (pre-transition time service) leave amount of the transition taxpayer is the sum of the following amounts:
- (a) the amount that would be payable by the transition taxpayer in respect of annual leave and long service leave if, at the transition time, all employees of the transition taxpayer began to take all leave of that kind that they were eligible to take; and
 - (b) if the transition taxpayer elects, in accordance with subsection (6), that this paragraph applies—the amount that, according to actuarial principles, would need to be set aside at the transition time to meet all obligations of the transition taxpayer that might reasonably be expected to arise after that time to make annual leave payments and long service leave payments (other than in respect of leave taken into account under paragraph (a)) for periods of service of employees occurring before the transition time; and
 - (c) if paragraph (b) does not apply—the present value, at the transition time, of all annual leave payments and long service leave payments (other than in respect of leave taken into account under paragraph (a)) that the transition taxpayer would become liable to make after that time in respect of periods of service of employees occurring before that time if all such leave became eligible to be taken.

Election

- (6) The election mentioned in paragraph (5)(b) must be made in writing before:
- (a) the day by which the transition taxpayer's return of income for the transition year is due to be lodged; or
 - (b) such later day as the Commissioner allows.

57-65 Treatment of bad debts

- (1) This section applies to a deduction otherwise allowable to the transition taxpayer for a year of income under this Act for the writing off as bad of the whole or part of a debt owing to the transition taxpayer.

Deduction allowable only if sum of all deductions exceeds doubtful debt provision limit

- (2) The deduction is not allowable if the sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income is less than or equal to the doubtful debt provision limit (see subsection (4)) for the year of income.

Amount of deduction not allowable

- (3) If the sum is greater than that limit, so much of the deduction as is worked out using the following formula is not allowable:

$$\frac{\text{Amount of deduction}}{\text{Sum of all deductions of the transition taxpayer to which this section applies for the year of income}} \times \frac{\text{Doubtful debt provision limit for the year of income}}{\text{of income}}$$

Meaning of doubtful debt provision limit

- (4) The doubtful debt provision limit for a year of income is:
- if the year of income is the transition year—the pre-transition doubtful debt limit (see subsection (5)); or
 - in any other case—that limit as reduced by the total amount of deductions to which this section applies that, because of subsection (2) or (3), have not been allowable to the transition taxpayer for all previous years of income.

Meaning of pre-transition doubtful debt limit

- (5) The pre-transition doubtful debt limit is the total of the amounts that, under generally accepted accounting principles, would be the appropriate doubtful debt provisions in relation to all debts owed to the transition taxpayer as at the transition time.

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-70

Reduction of limit for excess recovery

- (6) If:
- (a) at the transition time, a debt is owed to the transition taxpayer; and
 - (b) the sum of:
 - (i) the amount (if any) that, under generally accepted accounting principles, would be the appropriate doubtful debt provision in relation to the debt as at the transition time; and
 - (ii) any amounts later recovered in respect of the debt; exceeds the amount of the debt;
- the pre-transition doubtful debt limit is reduced by the amount of the excess.

Reduction of limit if debt later disposed of

- (7) If:
- (a) at the transition time, a debt is owed to the transition taxpayer; and
 - (b) there is an amount (the debt provision amount) greater than nil that, under generally accepted accounting principles, would be the appropriate doubtful debt provision in relation to the debt as at the transition time; and
 - (c) after the transition time, the transition taxpayer disposes of the debt to another person;
- the pre-transition doubtful debt limit is reduced by:
- (d) if, after the transition time, the transition taxpayer wrote off part of the debt as bad—the excess (if any) of the debt provision amount over the amount or amounts so written off; or
 - (e) in any other case—the debt provision amount.

57-70 Treatment of superannuation lump sums and employment termination payments

- (1) This section applies to a deduction otherwise allowable to the transition taxpayer for a year of income under section 8-1 (about general deductions) or 25-50 (about pensions, gratuities or retiring allowances) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 for a superannuation lump sum or an employment termination payment for a person who was an employee of the transition taxpayer at any time before the transition time (regardless of whether the person was an employee at or after the transition time).

- (2) So much (if any) of the deduction as relates to a period of service of the employee before the transition time is not allowable.
- (3) This section does not apply to an early retirement scheme payment (within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997), or a genuine redundancy payment (within the meaning of that Act).

Subdivision 57-H—Domestic losses

57-75 Domestic losses

In applying section 36-15 or 36-17 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 (about how to deduct tax losses) to the transition taxpayer:

- (a) only exempt income derived at or after the transition time is taken into account as exempt income of the transition taxpayer; and
- (b) the transition taxpayer's deductions are taken into account only so far as they are in respect of:
 - (i) services rendered; or
 - (ii) goods provided; or
 - (iii) the doing of any other thing;
 at or after the transition time.

Subdivision 57-J—Capital allowances and certain other deductions

57-85 What are the modified deduction rules and corresponding deduction provisions?

- (1) A modified deduction rule is a provision listed in column 3 of an item in the table in subsection (3). Provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 are identified in normal text, while provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 are in bold.
- (2) The corresponding deduction provision (if any) for a modified deduction rule listed in column 3 of an item in the table in

Schedule 2D Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Division 57 Tax exempt entities that become taxable

Section 57-90

subsection (3) is the provision of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 listed in column 4 of the item.

(3) The table is as follows:

57-90 Post-transition deductions—assume that the transition taxpayer had never been exempt

In working out the transition taxpayer’s allowable deductions under a modified deduction rule for the transition year or a later year of income, assume that the modified deduction rule had applied at all times before the transition time as if the transition taxpayer’s income had never been exempt from income tax.

57-95 Amount of deduction not allowable for transition year

- (1) If, apart from this section, an amount would be an allowable deduction under a modified deduction rule for the transition year in respect of expenditure incurred before the transition time (whether or not during the transition year), only so much of the amount as is worked out using the following formula is so allowable:

$$\frac{\text{Number of whole days in transition year after transition time}}{\text{Post-expenditure part}} \times \text{Amount of deduction}$$

where:

post-expenditure part means:

- (a) if the expenditure was incurred before the transition year—the number of days in the transition year; or
 - (b) otherwise—the number of days in the period from the beginning of the day on which the expenditure is incurred until the end of the transition year.
- (2) This section does not apply to an amount to which paragraph 57-110(1)(b) (which deals with balancing adjustments) applies.

57-100 No elections etc. before transition time

In working out the transition taxpayer's allowable deductions under a modified deduction rule:

- (a) assume that the transition taxpayer did not, at any time, make any election or declaration, or give any notice, under the rule in relation to a year of income before the transition year; and
- (b) any election or declaration (other than one under subsection 124ZADA(1)) the transition taxpayer makes, or any notice the transition taxpayer gives, under the rule in relation to the transition year has no effect in so far as it relates to expenditure incurred before the transition time.

57-105 Special rules for mining and quarrying

Exploration and prospecting—assume no expenditure

- (1) In working out the transition taxpayer's allowable deductions under the former Subdivision 330-A or 330-C or Division 40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, assume that the transition taxpayer incurred no expenditure on exploration and prospecting before the transition time.

Assume that no excess deductions available

- (2) In working out the transition taxpayer's allowable deductions under the former Subdivision 330-A or 330-C of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, assume that, for each year of income before the transition year, the transition taxpayer's assessable income would have exceeded the total of the transition taxpayer's deductions for the year.

Note: This means that the transition taxpayer can have no excess deductions remaining from years of income before the transition year.

Subdivision 57-K—Balancing adjustments

57-110 Apportionment of balancing adjustments

- (1) If, apart from this subsection, a balancing adjustment provision (see subsection (2)) would:
 - (a) require an amount to be included in the transition taxpayer's assessable income for the transition year or a later year of income in respect of particular expenditure; or
 - (b) allow an amount as a deduction from the transition taxpayer's assessable income for the transition year or a later year of income in respect of particular expenditure;

then only so much of the amount as is worked out using the following formula is so included or allowable:

$$\frac{\text{Actual deductions}}{\text{Actual deductions} + \text{Notional deductions}} \times \text{Amount concerned}$$

where:

actual deductions is the sum of all deductions actually allowed or allowable to the transition taxpayer for the expenditure under the deduction rule to which the balancing adjustment provision relates (see subsection (2)).

notional deductions is the sum of all deductions for the expenditure that would have been allowable to the transition taxpayer under the deduction rule to which the balancing adjustment provision relates, if the transition taxpayer had never been wholly exempt from income tax.

- (2) Each balancing adjustment provision and its related deduction rule are shown in an item of the table. Provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 are shown in ordinary text, and provisions of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 are shown in bold.

Subdivision 57-L—Trading stock

57-115 Modification of trading stock provisions

- (1) For the purposes of applying Division 70 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 in relation to the transition year, the only trading stock of the transition taxpayer that is to be taken into account under section 70-35 of that Act as being on hand at the beginning of the transition year is such trading stock as was on hand at the transition time.
- (2) For the purpose of working out the value at which the trading stock is to be taken into account, the year of income preceding the transition year is taken to have ended immediately before the transition time.

Note: The value of trading stock on hand at the beginning of the transition year will, under section 70-40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, be the same as at the end of the preceding year of income.

- (3) If:
 - (a) the basis of valuation of the trading stock at the end of the transition year is cost; and
 - (b) the basis of valuation at the beginning of the transition year is different;then, for the purposes of the valuation at the end of the transition year, the cost of the trading stock for the purposes of Division 70 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 is taken to be equal to the value at which it was taken into account at the beginning of the transition year.

Subdivision 57-M—Imputation

57-120 Cancellation of franking surplus, credit or debit

Cancellation of surplus

- (1) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), if, immediately before the transition time, the transition taxpayer or a subsidiary (see section 57-125) of the transition taxpayer has a franking surplus, then the surplus is reduced to nil at the transition time.

Cancellation of credit/debit

- (2) Subject to subsections (3) and (4), if:
- (a) at any time after the transition time, there arises a franking credit or a franking debit of the transition taxpayer or of a subsidiary of the transition taxpayer; and
 - (b) the franking credit or franking debit is to any extent attributable to a period, or to an event taking place, before the transition time;
- the franking credit or franking debit is to that extent taken not to have arisen.

Cases where subsections (1) and (2) do not apply to the transition taxpayer

- (3) If:
- (a) one or more franking debits of the transition taxpayer arise after the transition time; and
 - (b) any of the debits is to an extent (the amount of which is the pre-transition time component of the debit) attributable to the period, or to an event taking place, before the transition time; and
 - (c) immediately before the transition time:
 - (i) there was a franking surplus of the transition taxpayer that was less than the total of the pre-transition time components of all of the debits; or
 - (ii) there was no franking surplus of the transition taxpayer;
- then:
- (d) in a case covered by subparagraph (c)(i)—subsection (1) does not apply to the surplus; and
 - (e) in any case—subsection (2) does not apply to the debits.

Cases where subsections (1) and (2) do not apply to a subsidiary

- (4) If:
- (a) one or more franking debits of a subsidiary of the transition taxpayer arise after the transition time; and
 - (b) any of the debits is to an extent (the amount of which is the pre-transition time component of the debit) attributable to the period, or to an event taking place, before the transition time; and

Guide to Division 42A

42A-1 What this Division is about

This Division provides for leases of luxury cars to be treated as notional sale and loan transactions.

The lessor under such a lease is taken to have notionally sold the car to the lessee and made a loan to the lessee to finance the cost of the notional acquisition of the car.

The lessor's assessable income of a year of income in which any part of the lease term falls is to include a proportion of the finance charge for the notional loan.

A proportion of the finance charge for the notional loan is allowable as a deduction to the lessee for a year of income to the extent that the lease payments made for the year of income would have been deductible.

As the lessee is taken to be the owner of the car, the lessee is the person entitled to any deductions for depreciation in accordance with the rules applying under this Act to the owners of luxury cars.

Subdivision 42A-A—Notional sale of car, and notional loan, to lessee

Guide to Subdivision 42A-A

42A-5 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision:

- (a) sets out the circumstances in which a leased car that is a luxury car is taken to be sold by the lessor to the lessee; and
- (b) provides that the lease is taken to constitute a loan by the lessor to the lessee to finance the cost of the acquisition of the car.

42A-15	Notional sale of car by lessor and notional acquisition of car by lessee
42A-20	Consideration for notional sale, cost of notional acquisition, and depreciated value, of car
42A-25	Notional loan by lessor to lessee

Operative provisions

42A-10 Application of this Division

- (1) This Division applies to a motor car:
 - (a) that is a leased car; and
 - (b) that is a luxury car; and
 - (c) that is not trading stock of the lessee; and

- (d) the lease of which was granted after 7.30 pm by legal time in the Australian Capital Territory on 20 August 1996.
- (2) If:
 - (a) a lease of a car was granted before the time referred to in paragraph (1)(d); and
 - (b) an extension of the lease was granted after that time, whether the extension took effect before or after that time; the extension is taken for the purposes of that paragraph to be a new lease granted after that time.
- (3) This Division has effect for the purposes of this Act (including, to avoid doubt, the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997) other than Division 11A of Part III.

42A-15 Notional sale of car by lessor and notional acquisition of car by lessee

- (1) The car is taken to have been disposed of by the lessor by way of sale to the lessee, and to have been acquired by the lessee, at the start of the lease term.
- (2) The lessee is taken to be the owner of the car until the lease term ends or the lease is terminated before that time, as the case may be.
- (3) However, the lessee ceases to be taken to be the owner of the car if:
 - (a) the lessee enters into, in respect of the car, an arrangement of a kind mentioned in paragraph (b) of the definition of lease in section 42A-115; and
 - (b) this Division applies to the car in respect of that arrangement.

42A-20 Consideration for notional sale, cost of notional acquisition, and depreciated value, of car

- (1) The consideration for the sale of the car by the lessor, and the cost of the acquisition of the car by the lessee, are each taken to have been:
 - (a) if the lease states an amount as the cost or value of the car for the purposes of the lease and the lessor and the lessee were dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the lease—the amount so stated; or

Section 42A-25

- (b) otherwise—the amount that could reasonably have been expected to have been paid by the lessee for the purchase of the car if:
 - (i) the lessor had actually sold the car to the lessee when the lease was granted; and
 - (ii) the lessor and lessee were dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the sale.
- (2) If:
 - (a) the lease is an arrangement of a kind referred to in paragraph (b) of the definition of lease in section 42A-115; and
 - (b) the lessee is an associate of the lessor;
the cost of the car for the purpose of calculating its depreciated value at the time (the acquisition time) when it is taken to have been acquired by the lessee is taken, for the purposes of the application of this Act to the lessee, to be the sum of:
 - (c) the amount that would have been the depreciated value of the car at the acquisition time for the purposes of the application of this Act to the lessor if the lessor were not taken under this Division to have disposed of the car; and
 - (d) any amount that is included in the lessor's assessable income under former subsection 59(2) because the lessor is taken to have disposed of the car.

42A-25 Notional loan by lessor to lessee

- (1) On the grant of the lease, the lessor is taken to have made a loan (the notional loan) to the lessee:
 - (a) for a period equal to the lease term; and
 - (b) of an amount (the notional loan principal) equal to the consideration for the sale of the car less any amount paid, or credited by the lessor as having been paid, by the lessee to the lessor, at or before the start of the lease term, for the cost of the car; and
 - (c) subject to payment of a charge (the finance charge).
- (2) The notional loan principal is taken to be repaid, and the finance charge is taken to be paid, by the making of the lease payments.

Subdivision 42A-B—Amounts to be included in lessor’s assessable income

Guide to Subdivision 42A-B

42A-30 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides for the inclusion in the lessor’s assessable income of:

- (a) amounts (accrual amounts) on account of the finance charge for the notional loan that the lessor is taken to have made to the lessee; and
- (b) any profit made by the lessor:
 - (i) on the notional sale of the car to the lessee; or
 - (ii) on a sale of the car after any notional re-acquisition of the car by the lessor.

Operative provisions

42A-35 Amounts to be included in lessor’s assessable income

Accrual amounts

- (1) The lessor’s assessable income of a year of income includes:
 - (a) if an accrual period for the notional loan that the lessor is taken under this Division to have made to the lessee occurs wholly during that year of income—the accrual amount for that accrual period; and
 - (b) if part of an accrual period for that notional loan occurs during that year of income—so much of the accrual amount for that accrual period as may appropriately be related to that year of income in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

Profit on notional sale

- (2) If the consideration for the sale of the car by the lessor that is taken under this Division to have been made exceeds the cost of the acquisition of the car by the lessor, the excess is included in the lessor's assessable income of the year of income in which the sale is taken to have occurred.

Profit on actual sale after notional re-acquisition

- (3) If:
- (a) the lessor is taken under this Division to have re-acquired the car from the lessee; and
 - (b) the lessor afterwards sells the car; and
 - (c) the consideration for the sale exceeds the cost of the re-acquisition;
- the excess is included in the lessor's assessable income of the year of income in which the sale occurred.

42A-40 Treatment of lease payments

- (1) The lease payments that the lessor receives, or is entitled to receive, under the lease:
- (a) are not to be included in the lessor's assessable income of any year of income; but
 - (b) are not taken to be exempt income of the lessor.
- (2) However, those lease payments are taken into account in calculating accrual amounts that are included in the lessor's assessable income under section 42A-35.
- (3) A loss or outgoing incurred by the lessor in deriving any such lease payments is not taken to be a loss or outgoing incurred by the lessor in relation to gaining or producing exempt income.

Subdivision 42A-C—Deductions allowable to lesseeGuide to Subdivision 42A-C*42A-45 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides that the lessee may, in certain circumstances, be entitled to deductions for the finance charge for the notional loan that the lessor is taken to have made to the lessee.

Table of sectionsOperative provisions

- 42A-50 Extent to which deductions are allowable to lessee
42A-55 Lease payments not to be allowable deductions

Operative provisions42A-50 Extent to which deductions are allowable to lessee

- (1) If an accrual period for the notional loan that the lessor is taken under this Division to have made to the lessee occurs wholly during a year of income of the lessee, the accrual amount for that accrual period is allowable as a deduction to the lessee for that year of income.
- (2) If part of an accrual period for that notional loan occurs during a year of income of the lessee, so much of the accrual amount for that accrual period as may appropriately be related to that year of income in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles is allowable as a deduction to the lessee for that year of income.
- (3) An accrual amount, or part of an accrual amount, for an accrual period is allowable as a deduction under subsection (1) or (2) to the lessee for a year of income of the lessee only to the extent that the lease payments made for that year of income would, apart from this Division, be allowable as deductions to the lessee for that year of income.

42A-55 Lease payments not to be allowable deductions

The lease payments that the lessee makes under the lease are not allowable as deductions to the lessee for any year of income, but they are taken into account in calculating accrual amounts that are allowable as deductions under section 42A-50.

Subdivision 42A-D—Adjustments if total amount assessed to lessor differs from amount of finance charge

Guide to Subdivision 42A-D

42A-60 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision provides for adjustments if the sum of the amounts included in the lessor's assessable income are greater or less than the finance charge, worked out at the end of the lease term, for the notional loan.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

42A-65	Adjustments for lessor

Operative provisions

42A-65 Adjustments for lessor

- (1) This section applies at the following times (adjustment times):
 - (a) the end of the lease term;
 - (b) if the lease is terminated before that time—when the termination takes place;
 - (c) if the lease term is extended—when the extension takes effect;
 - (d) if the lease is renewed—when the renewal takes effect.
 - (2) If the sum of all amounts (whether lease payments, a termination amount or any other payments) that were paid or payable to the lessor under the lease exceeds the amount worked out using the formula in subsection (4), the excess is included in the lessor's assessable income of the year of income in which the relevant adjustment time occurs.

Note: Subsection 42A-80(9) deems the amount of a notional loan that is taken to be made by an extended or renewed lease to be a termination amount paid under the previous lease.

- (3) If the amount worked out using the formula in subsection (4) exceeds the sum of all amounts (whether lease payments, a termination amount or any other payments) that were paid or payable to the lessor under the lease, the excess is allowable as a deduction to the lessor for the year of income in which the relevant adjustment time occurs.

Note: Subsection 42A-80(9) deems the amount of a notional loan that is taken to be made by an extended or renewed lease to be a termination amount paid under the previous lease.

- (4) The formula for the purposes of subsections (2) and (3) is:

Notional loan principal + Assessed accrual amounts

where:

notional loan principal means the notional loan principal for the notional loan that is taken under this Division to have been granted by the lessor to the lessee.

- (4) The notional loan that is taken under this Division to have been made because of the grant of the previous lease is taken to have been repaid and Subdivision 42A-D applies.

- (i) the lessor had actually sold the car to the lessee when the lease was extended or renewed; and
 - (ii) the lessor and lessee were dealing with each other at arm's length in connection with the sale.
- (8) In determining whether subsection (1) applies to the lessee, any period after the end of the lease term and before the extension or renewal is granted during which the lessee did not have the right to use the car is disregarded if the extension or renewal:
- (a) has effect from the time immediately after the end of that term; or
 - (b) would otherwise result in substantial continuity of the leasing of the car to the lessee.
- (9) The amount of the notional loan is taken, for the purposes of section 42A-65, to be a termination amount paid to the lessor under the previous lease.

42A-85 What happens if an amount is paid by or on behalf of the lessee to acquire the car

If, at the end of the lease term or any extension of that term, an amount is paid to the lessor by, or on behalf of, the lessee to acquire the car, the following provisions have effect:

 - (3) The consideration for the sale of the car by the lessee, and the cost of the acquisition of the car by the lessor, are each taken to have been:
 - (a) the amount worked out in accordance with subsection (6); or
 - (b) if it is not practicable to work out an amount in accordance with that subsection—the market value of the car at the end of the lease term.
 - (4) If the car is afterwards acquired by an associate of the lessee, the cost of the car for the purpose of calculating its depreciated value at the time of the acquisition for the purposes of the application of this Act to the associate is taken to be whichever is the lesser of:
 - (a) the sum of:
 - (i) the amount that would have been the depreciated value of the car at that time for the purposes of the application of this Act to the lessee if the lessee were not taken under this Division to have disposed of the car; and
 - (ii) any amount that is included in the lessee's assessable income under former subsection 59(2) or under Subdivision 40-D, or the former Subdivision 42F or 42G, of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 because the lessee is taken to have disposed of the car; or effect from the time immediately after the end of that term;

or

(b) the extension or renewal would otherwise result in substantial continuity of the leasing of the car to the lessee.

(6) For the purposes of paragraph (3)(a), the amount of the consideration for the sale, and of the cost of the acquisition, is the amount worked out using the formula:

Balance of notional loan – Payable amount + Refundable amount

where:

balance of notional loan means the sum of:

- (a) the outstanding notional loan principal at the end of the lease term; and
- (b) any amounts payable by the lessee for the notional loan that were not paid at or before that time; and
- (c) any amounts (other than the payable amount) payable by the lessee because of the expiry of the lease.

 - (ii) any amount that is included in the lessee's assessable income under former subsection 59(2), under the former Subdivision 42F or 42G of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 or under Subdivision 40-D of that Act because the lessee is taken under this Division to have disposed of the car; or
 - (b) the cost of the acquisition of the car by the associate.
- (5) For the purposes of paragraph (3)(a), the amount of the consideration for the sale, and of the cost of the acquisition, is the amount worked out using the formula:

where:

balance of notional loan means the sum of:

- (a) the outstanding notional loan principal at the termination of the lease; and
- (b) any amounts payable by the lessee for the notional loan that were not paid at or before that time; and
- (c) any amounts (other than the payable amount) payable by the lessee because of the termination of the lease.

266-45 The trust must meet non-fixed trust stake test

- (1) If the condition in section 266-40 is not met, the trust must satisfy the conditions in this section.

First condition

- (2) At all times during the test period:
 - (a) non-fixed trusts (other than family trusts) must have held fixed entitlements to a 50% or greater share of the income or a 50% or greater share of the capital of the trust; or
 - (b) both:
 - (i) a fixed trust or a company (which trust or company is the holding entity) must have held, directly or indirectly, all of the fixed entitlements to income and capital of the trust; and

Division 266 Income tax consequences for fixed trusts of abnormal trading or change in ownership

Section 266-45

- (ii) non-fixed trusts (other than family trusts) must have held fixed entitlements to a 50% or greater share of the income or a 50% or greater share of the capital of the holding entity.

Second condition

- (3) The persons holding fixed entitlements to shares of the income, and the persons holding fixed entitlements to shares of the capital, of:
 - (a) in a paragraph (2)(a) case—the trust; or
 - (b) in a paragraph (2)(b) case—the holding entity;at the beginning of the test period must have held those entitlements to those shares at all times during the test period.

Third condition

- (4) At the beginning of the test period:
 - (a) individuals must not have had more than a 50% stake in the income of the trust; or
 - (b) individuals must not have had more than a 50% stake in the capital of the trust.

Fourth condition

- (5) It must be the case that, for each non-fixed trust (other than an excepted trust) that, at any time in the test period, held directly or indirectly a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust:
 - (a) if this section is being applied for the purposes of section 266-25—section 267-20 would not have prevented the non-fixed trust from deducting the tax loss concerned if it, rather than the fixed trust, had incurred the loss; or
 - (b) if this section is being applied for the purposes of section 266-30—section 267-60 does not require the non-fixed trust to work out its net income and tax loss for the income year under Division 268; or
 - (c) if this section is being applied for the purposes of section 266-35—section 267-25, or section 267-65, as the case requires, would not have prevented the non-fixed trust from deducting the amount concerned if it, rather than the fixed trust, would otherwise be entitled to deduct the amount.

266-50 Deducting part of a tax loss

- (1) If section 266-25 prevents the fixed trust from deducting a tax loss, it can deduct the part of the tax loss that is attributable to a part of the loss year.
- (2) However, the trust can do this only if, assuming that that part of the loss year had been treated as the whole of the loss year for the purposes of sections 266-40 and 266-45, the trust would have been entitled to deduct the tax loss.

266-55 Information about non-fixed trusts with interests in fixed trust*Notice about non-resident non-fixed trust*

- (1) The Commissioner may give the trustee of a fixed trust a notice in accordance with section 266-60 if the requirements of subsections (2) to (5) of this section are met.

First requirement

- (2) In its return of income for an income year, the fixed trust:
 - (a) must have deducted a tax loss from an earlier income year; or
 - (b) must not have worked out its net income and tax loss for the income year under Division 268; or
 - (c) must have deducted an amount in relation to a debt; where it would not be allowed to deduct the tax loss or amount in respect of the debt, or would be required to work out its net income and tax loss under that Division, unless it met the conditions in section 266-45.

Second requirement

- (3) In order to determine whether it meets the conditions in section 266-45, the Commissioner must need information about a non-fixed trust mentioned in subsection 266-45(5).

Division 266 Income tax consequences for fixed trusts of abnormal trading or change in ownership

Section 266-60

Third requirement

- (4) When the Commissioner gives the notice:
- (a) a trustee of the non-fixed trust must be a non-resident; or
 - (b) the central management and control of the non-fixed trust must be outside Australia.

Fourth requirement

- (5) The Commissioner must give the notice before the later of:
- (a) 5 years after the end of the income year mentioned in subsection (2); and
 - (b) the end of the period during which the trustee of the fixed trust is required by section 262A to retain records in relation to that income year.

266-60 Notices where requirements of section 266-55 are met

Information required

- (1) The notice that the Commissioner may give if the requirements of subsections 266-55(2) to (5) are met must require the trustee to give the Commissioner specified information that is relevant to determining whether the requirements of subsection 266-45(5) are satisfied in relation to the non-fixed trust mentioned in subsections 266-55(3) and (4).

Trustee knowledge

- (2) The information need not be within the knowledge of the trustee at the time the notice is given.

Period for giving information

- (3) The notice must specify a period within which the trustee is to give the information. The period must not end earlier than 21 days after the day on which the Commissioner gives the notice.

Consequence of not giving the information

- (4) If the trustee does not give the information within the period or within such further period as the Commissioner allows, the fixed trust is taken not to meet, and never to have met, the conditions in section 266-45.

Application of Division 268

- (5) If, because of subsection (4), the fixed trust is required to work out under Division 268 its net income and tax loss for the income year mentioned in subsection 266-55(2), that Division is to be applied as if Subdivision 268-B required the income year to be divided into such periods as would result in the highest possible net income for the income year.

No offences or penalties

- (6) To avoid doubt, subsections (4) and (5) do not cause the trustee of the fixed trust to commit any offence or be liable to any penalty under Part 4-25 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 for deducting the amount concerned, or for not working out the trust's net income and tax loss under Division 268, in its return.

Note: Subdivisions 709-D and 719-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 also affect when a trust that used to be a member of a consolidated group or MEC group may deduct a debt that used to be owed to a member of the group and that the trust writes off as bad.

Condition for deducting amount

- (2) The trust cannot deduct the amount unless it meets either:
- the condition in subsection 266-125(1); or

To find out whether the trust passes the 50% stake test: see Subdivision 269-C.

To find out whether the trust passes the same business test: see Subdivision 269-F.

266-130 Deducting part of a tax loss

- (1) If section 266-110 prevents the trust from deducting a tax loss, it can deduct the part of the tax loss that is attributable to a part of the loss year.
- (2) However, the trust can do this only if, assuming that that part of the loss year had been treated as the whole of the loss year for the purposes of section 266-125, the trust would have been entitled to deduct the tax loss.
- (3) Also, the trust cannot deduct the part of the tax loss, or some of it, if section 266-135 (which deals with certain debt deductions) prevents it from doing so.

Section applies after sections 266-110 and 266-130

- (1) This section applies if, after applying sections 266-110 and 266-130, a trust can deduct in the income year the whole or part (the otherwise-deductible loss) of a tax loss from a loss year.

Trust must satisfy condition if debt deduction etc.

 - (i) under section 51 or 63, or under section 8-1 or 25-35 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, in respect of the writing off of the whole or part of a debt as bad; or

- (ii) under subsection 63E(3) or (4) in respect of a debt/equity swap relating to the whole or part of a debt; and
- (b) the trust could only deduct the amount in respect of the debt because it passed the same business test as mentioned in paragraph 266-125(2)(b); and
- (c) the Commissioner considers that the trust passed the same business test as mentioned in that paragraph for the purpose, or for purposes including the purpose, of being able to deduct the amount because of that paragraph;
- the trust cannot deduct the otherwise-deductible loss, or can only deduct the smaller amount mentioned in paragraph (a) of this section, unless it meets the condition in subsection (3).

Condition

- (3) The condition is that, at all times after the abnormal trading mentioned in paragraph 266-125(2)(b) and before the end of the income year, the trust must pass the same business test in relation to the time immediately before the abnormal trading.

Section 266-175

Subdivision 266-F—Information about family trusts with interests in other trusts

266-175 What this Subdivision is about

If a trust would only avoid the tax consequences of this Division because of interests held by a non-resident family trust, the Commissioner may require the trust to give certain information about the non-resident family trust. If it is not given, the trust does not avoid the tax consequences of this Division.

266-180 Information about family trusts with interests in other trusts

Notice about family trust

- (1) The Commissioner may give the trustee of a trust (the primary trust) a notice in accordance with section 266-185 if the requirements of subsections (2) to (5) of this section are met.

 - (a) must have deducted a tax loss from an earlier income year; or
 - (b) must not have worked out its net income and tax loss for the income year under Division 268; or
 - (c) must have deducted an amount in relation to a debt; where it would not be allowed to deduct the tax loss or amount in respect of the debt, or would be required to work out its net income and tax loss under that Division, if it did not meet a condition or conditions as mentioned in section 266-40, 266-45, 266-90, 266-125 or 266-165 (the conditions provision).

Second requirement

- (3) The Commissioner must be satisfied that the primary trust would not meet the condition or conditions if one or more trusts were not family trusts.

Third requirement

- (4) When the Commissioner gives the notice, for at least one of the family trusts:
 - (a) a trustee of the trust must be a non-resident; or
 - (b) the central management and control of the trust must be outside Australia.

Fourth requirement

- (5) The Commissioner must give the notice before the later of:
 - (a) 5 years after the end of the income year to which the return relates; and
 - (b) the end of the period during which the trustee of the primary trust is required by section 262A to retain records in relation to that income year.

266-185 Notices where requirements of section 266-180 are met

Information required

- (1) The notice that the Commissioner may give if the requirements of subsections 266-180(2) to (5) are met must require the trustee of the primary trust to give the Commissioner specified information about conferrals of present entitlements to, and distributions of, income and capital, since the start of the test period mentioned in the conditions provision, by all of the family trusts meeting the requirements of paragraph 266-180(4)(a) or (b).

Trustee knowledge

- (2) The information need not be within the knowledge of the trustee at the time the notice is given.

Period for giving information

- (3) The notice must specify a period within which the trustee is to give the information. The period must not end earlier than 21 days after the day on which the Commissioner gives the notice.

Schedule 2F Trust losses and other deductions

Division 266 Income tax consequences for fixed trusts of abnormal trading or change in ownership

Section 266-185

Consequence of not giving the information

- (4) If the trustee does not give the information within the period or within such further period as the Commissioner allows, the primary trust is taken not to meet, and never to have met, the condition or conditions in the conditions provision.
- (5) If, because of subsection (4), the fixed trust is required to work out under Division 268 its net income and tax loss for the income year mentioned in subsection 266-180(2), that Division is to be applied as if Subdivision 268-B required the income year to be divided into such periods as would result in the highest possible net income for the income year.

No offences or penalties

- (6) To avoid doubt, subsections (4) and (5) do not cause the trustee of the primary trust to commit any offence or be liable to any penalty under Part 4-25 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 for deducting the amount concerned, or for not working out the trust's net income and tax loss under Division 268, in the trust's return.

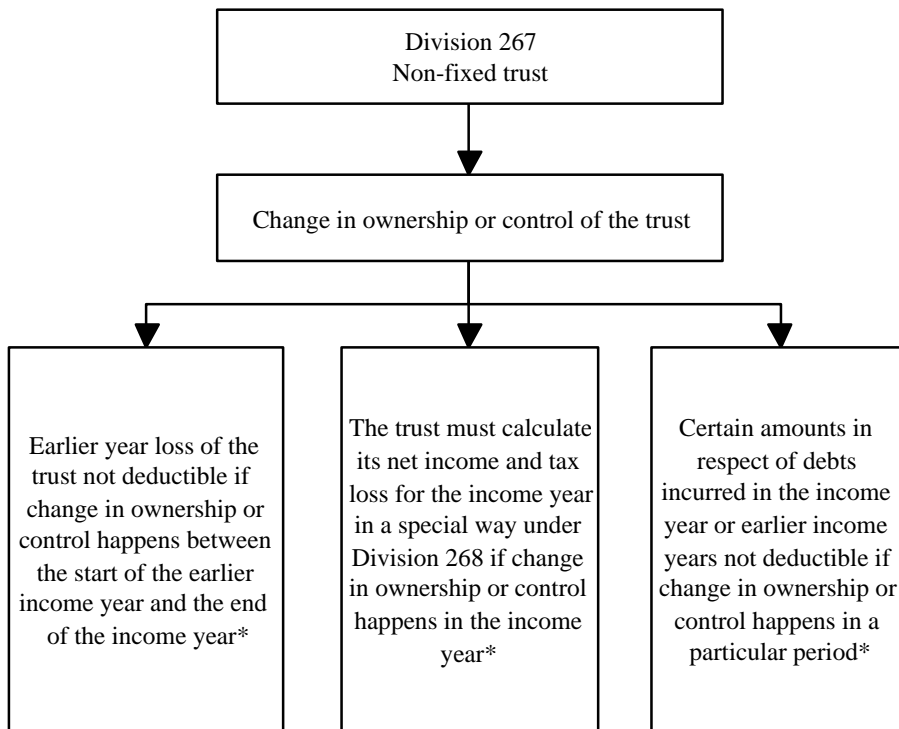

Division 267—Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Subdivision 267-A—Overview of this Division

267-5 What this Division is about

This Division is about the income tax consequences for a non-fixed trust if its ownership or control changes.

* Under Subdivision 267-D, if certain information is not provided by the trust, the change in ownership or control is deemed to have happened.

Division 267 Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Section 267-15

Subdivision 267-B—Deducting tax losses, and certain amounts in respect of debts, from earlier years

267-15 What this Subdivision is about

A non-fixed trust cannot deduct:

- a tax loss from a loss year; or
- certain amounts in respect of debts incurred in earlier income years;

unless:

- if applicable, it meets an ownership test based on income and capital distributions; and
- it did not fail that test in a previous year; and
- if applicable, it meets an ownership test based on fixed entitlements to income and capital; and
- its control has stayed the same.

267-20 Non-fixed trust may be denied tax loss deduction

Type of trust to which this Subdivision applies

- (1) This section applies to a trust that:
 - (a) can deduct in the income year a tax loss from a loss year; and
 - (b) was a non-fixed trust at any time in the period (the test period) from the beginning of the loss year until the end of the income year; and
 - (c) was not an excepted trust at all times in the test period.

To find out the meaning of non-fixed trust: see section 272-70.

To find out the meaning of excepted trust: see section 272-100.

Conditions for deducting tax loss

- (2) The trust cannot deduct the tax loss unless it meets:
- the condition in subsection 267-30(2) (if applicable); and
 - the condition in section 267-35; and
 - the condition in subsection 267-40(2) (if applicable); and
 - the condition in section 267-45.

267-25 Non-fixed trust may be denied debt deduction*Type of trust to which this section applies*

- (1) This section applies to a trust that:
- (a) can deduct in the income year an amount:
 - (i) under section 51 or 63, or under section 8-1 or 25-35 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, in respect of the writing off of the whole or part of a debt, incurred in an earlier income year, as bad; or
 - (ii) under subsection 63E(3) or (4) in respect of a debt/equity swap relating to the whole or part of a debt incurred in an earlier income year; and
 - (b) was a non-fixed trust at any time in the period (the test period) beginning on the day the debt was incurred and ending at the end of the income year; and
 - (c) was not an excepted trust at all times in the test period.

Note: Subdivisions 709-D and 719-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 also affect when a trust that used to be a member of a consolidated group or MEC group may deduct a debt that used to be owed to a member of the group and that the trust writes off as bad.

Condition for deducting amount

- (2) The trust cannot deduct the amount unless it meets:
- the condition in subsection 267-30(2) (if applicable); and
 - the condition in section 267-35; and

Schedule 2F Trust losses and other deductions

Division 267 Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Section 267-30

- the condition in subsection 267-40(2) (if applicable); and
- the condition in section 267-45.

267-30 If certain distributions are made, the trust must pass the pattern of distributions test

When trust must meet the condition

- (1) If either or both of the following happened, the trust must meet the condition in subsection (2):
 - (a) the trust distributed income:
 - (i) in the income year or within 2 months after its end; and
 - (ii) in at least one of the 6 earlier income years; or
 - (b) the trust distributed capital:
 - (i) in the income year or within 2 months after its end; and
 - (ii) in at least one of the 6 earlier income years.

The condition

- (2) The condition is that the trust must pass the pattern of distributions test for the income year.

To find out whether the trust passes the pattern of distributions test for the income year: see Subdivision 269-D.

267-35 The trust must not have previously failed to meet the condition in subsection 267-30(2)

The trust must not have been prevented from deducting the tax loss in an earlier income year because of a failure to meet the condition in subsection 267-30(2) or conditions that included that condition.

267-40 If there are individuals with more than a 50% stake in income or capital, more than a 50% stake in income or capital must be maintained*When trust must meet condition*

- (1) If at any time (the test time) in the test period, individuals (the threshold group) have more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust, the trust must meet the condition in subsection (2).

To find out whether individuals have more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust: see Subdivision 269-C.

Condition

- (2) The condition is that, during the period beginning at the test time and finishing at the end of the test period, the same individuals (who must be some or all of the threshold group) must have had more than a 50% stake in the income or the capital, respectively, of the trust.

Commissioner discretion

- (3) If:
- (a) after the test time, some or all of the threshold group cease to have a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust at a particular time; and
 - (b) having regard to the likely manner of exercise of any discretion of the trustee to distribute income or capital of the trust after the particular time and to any other relevant matter, the Commissioner considers it fair and reasonable that the individuals should be taken to have the stake at the particular time and at all later times in the test period;
- the individuals are taken to have that stake at the particular time and at all later times in the test period.

267-45 Group must not begin to control the trust

A group must not, during the test period, begin to control the trust directly or indirectly.

To find out what it means for a group to control the trust: see Subdivision 269-E.

Division 267 Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Section 267-50

267-50 Deducting part of a tax loss

- (1) If section 267-20 prevents a trust from deducting a tax loss because the trust does not meet the condition in section 267-40 or 267-45 or both conditions, it can deduct the part of the tax loss that is attributable to a part of the loss year.
- (2) However, the trust can do this only if, assuming that that part of the loss year had been treated as the whole of the loss year for the purposes of sections 267-40 and 267-45, the trust would have been entitled to deduct the tax loss.

Subdivision 267-C—Current year net income and tax loss, and certain debts incurred in current year

267-55 What this Subdivision is about

A non-fixed trust:

- must work out its net income and tax loss for the income year in a special way; or
- cannot deduct certain amounts in respect of debts incurred in the income year;

unless:

- if applicable, it meets an ownership test relating to fixed entitlements to shares of income and capital; and
- its control has stayed the same.

267-60 Trust may be required to work out its net income and tax loss in a special way

Type of trust to which this Subdivision applies

A trust that:

- (a) was a non-fixed trust at any time in the income year (the test period); and

(b) was not an excepted trust at all times in the test period; must work out its net income and tax loss for the income year under Division 268 (How to work out a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year), unless it meets:

- the condition in subsection 267-70(2) (if applicable); and
- the condition in section 267-75.

To find out the meaning of excepted trust: see section 272-100.

267-65 Non-fixed trust may be denied debt deduction

Type of trust to which this section applies

- (1) This section applies to a trust that:
- (a) can deduct in the income year (the test period) an amount:
 - (i) under section 51 or 63 in respect of the writing off of the whole or part of a debt, incurred in the income year, as bad; or
 - (ii) under subsection 63E(3) or (4) in respect of a debt/equity swap relating to the whole or part of a debt incurred in the income year; and
 - (b) was a non-fixed trust at any time in the test period; and
 - (c) was not an excepted trust at all times in the test period.

Note: Subdivisions 709-D and 719-I of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 also affect when a trust that used to be a member of a consolidated group or MEC group may deduct a debt that used to be owed to a member of the group and that the trust writes off as bad.

Condition for deducting amount

- (2) The trust cannot deduct the amount unless it meets
- the condition in subsection 267-70(2) (if applicable); and
 - the condition in section 267-75.

Division 267 Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Section 267-70

267-70 If there are individuals with more than a 50% stake in income or capital, more than a 50% stake in income or capital must be maintained

When trust must meet condition

- (1) If at any time (the test time) in the test period, individuals (the threshold group) have more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust, the trust must meet the condition in subsection (2).

To find out whether individuals have more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust: see Subdivision 268-C.

Condition

- (2) The condition is that, during the period beginning at the test time and finishing at the end of the test period, the same individuals (who must be some or all of the threshold group) must have more than a 50% stake in the income or the capital, respectively, of the trust.

Commissioner discretion

- (3) If:
 - (a) after the test time, some or all of the threshold group cease to have a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust at a particular time; and
 - (b) having regard to the likely manner of exercise of any discretion of the trustee to distribute income or capital of the trust after the particular time and to any other relevant matter, the Commissioner considers it fair and reasonable that the individuals should be taken to have the stake at the particular time and at all later times in the test period;the individuals are taken to have that stake at the particular time and at all later times in the test period.

267-75 Group must not begin to control trust

A group must not, during the test period, begin to control the trust directly or indirectly.

To find out what it means for a group to control the trust: see Subdivision 269-E.

Subdivision 267-D—Information about family trusts with interests in other trusts267-80 What this Subdivision is about

If a trust would only avoid the tax consequences of this Division because of interests held by a non-resident family trust, the Commissioner may require the trust to give certain information about the non-resident family trust. If it is not given, the trust does not avoid the tax consequences of this Division.

267-85 Information about family trusts with interests in other trusts*Notice about family trust*

- (1) The Commissioner may give the trustee of a trust (the primary trust) a notice in accordance with section 267-90 if the requirements of subsections (2) to (5) of this section are met.

First requirement

- (2) In its return of income for an income year, the primary trust:
- (a) must have deducted a tax loss from an earlier income year; or
 - (b) must not have worked out its net income and tax loss for the income year under Division 268; or
 - (c) must have deducted an amount in relation to a debt; where it would not be allowed to deduct the tax loss or amount in respect of the debt, or would be required to work out its net income and loss under that Division, if it did not meet a condition or conditions as mentioned in section 267-40 or 267-70 (the conditions provision).

Second requirement

- (3) The Commissioner must be satisfied that the primary trust would not meet the condition or conditions if one or more trusts were not family trusts.

Schedule 2F Trust losses and other deductions

Division 267 Income tax consequences for non-fixed trusts of change in ownership or control

Section 267-90

Third requirement

- (4) When the Commissioner gives the notice, for at least one of the family trusts:
 - (a) a trustee of the trust must be a non-resident; or
 - (b) the central management and control of the trust must be outside Australia.

Fourth requirement

- (5) The Commissioner must give the notice before the later of:
 - (a) 5 years after the end of the income year to which the return relates; and
 - (b) the end of the period during which the trustee of the primary trust is required by section 262A to retain records in relation to that income year.

267-90 Notices where requirements of section 267-85 are met

Information required

- (1) The notice that the Commissioner may give if the requirements of subsections 267-85(2) to (5) are met must require the trustee to give the Commissioner specified information about conferrals of present entitlements to, and distributions of, income and capital, since the start of the test period mentioned in the conditions provision, by all of the family trusts meeting the requirements of paragraph 267-85(4)(a) or (b).

Trustee knowledge

- (2) The information need not be within the knowledge of the trustee at the time the notice is given.

Period for giving information

- (3) The notice must specify a period within which the trustee is to give the information. The period must not end earlier than 21 days after the day on which the Commissioner gives the notice.

Consequence of not giving the information

- (4) If the trustee does not give the information within the period or within such further period as the Commissioner allows, the primary trust is taken not to meet, and never to have met, the condition or conditions in the conditions provision.

Application of Division 268

- (5) If, because of subsection (4), the fixed trust is required to work out under Division 268 its net income and tax loss for the income year mentioned in subsection 267-85(2), that Division is to be applied as if Subdivision 268-B required the income year to be divided into such periods as would result in the highest possible net income for the income year.

No offences or penalties

- (6) To avoid doubt, subsections (4) and (5) do not cause the trustee of the primary trust to commit any offence or be liable to any penalty under Part VII for deducting the amount concerned, or for not working out the trust's net income and tax loss under Division 268, in the trust's return.

Division 268—How to work out a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year

Subdivision 268-A—Overview of Division

268-5 What this Division is about

This Division requires a trust's net income and tax loss to be worked out in a special way. The income year is divided into periods as the basis for the calculation.

Subdivision 268-B—Dividing the income year into periods

268-10 Income year of fixed trust to be divided into periods—first case

- (1) If:
 - (a) a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year are required by section 266-30 to be worked out under this Division; and
 - (b) the trust did not meet the requirements of subsections 266-45(2) and (4);the income year is divided into periods as follows.
- (2) The first period starts at the start of the income year. Each later period starts immediately after the end of the previous period.
- (3) The last period ends at the end of the income year. Each period (except the last) ends at the latest time that would result in the trust passing the 50% stake test for the whole of the period.

268-15 Income year of fixed trust to be divided into periods—second case

- (1) If:
- (a) a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year are required by section 266-30 to be worked out under this Division; and
 - (b) the trust met the requirements of subsections 266-45(2) and (4);
- the income year is divided into periods as follows.
- (2) The first period starts at the start of the income year. Each later period starts immediately after the end of the previous period.
- (3) The last period ends at the end of the income year. Each period (except the last) ends at the earliest of:
- (a) the latest time that would result in the persons holding fixed entitlements to shares of the income or shares of the capital of:
 - (i) if the trust met the requirements of paragraph 266-45(2)(a)—the trust; or
 - (ii) if the trust met the requirements of paragraph 266-45(2)(b)—the holding entity mentioned in that paragraph; and the percentages of the shares that they hold, remaining the same during the whole of the period; and
 - (b) the times that, for all of the non-fixed trusts (other than excepted trusts) holding directly or indirectly a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust at any time during the income year, are the latest times that would result in individuals having more than a 50% stake in their income or capital; and
 - (c) the earliest time in the period when a group begins to control a non-fixed trust (other than an excepted trust) that holds directly or indirectly a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust at any time during the income year.

To find out when a group begins to control a trust: see Subdivision 269-E.

268-20 Income year of widely held unit trust to be divided into periods

- (1) If a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year are required by section 266-80, 266-115 or 266-155 to be worked out under this Division, the income year is divided into periods as follows.
- (2) The first period starts at the start of the income year. Each later period starts immediately after the end of the previous period.
- (3) The last period ends at the end of the income year. Each period (except the last) ends at the earliest time at which there is an abnormal trading in the trust's units, where the trust does not pass the 50% stake test in respect of the following times:
 - (a) the beginning of the period;
 - (b) immediately after the abnormal trading.
- (4) However, if the trust is a listed widely held trust, what would otherwise be 2 or more successive periods are treated as a single period if during all of them the trust passed the same business test in relation to the time immediately before the end of the first of the successive periods.

268-25 Income year of non-fixed trust to be divided into periods

- (1) If a trust's net income and tax loss for the income year are required by section 267-60 to be worked out under this Division, the income year is divided into periods as follows.
- (2) The first period starts at the start of the income year. Each later period starts immediately after the end of the previous period.
- (3) The last period ends at the end of the income year.
- (4) If the condition in subsection 267-70(2) applies but the trust does not meet the condition, each period (except the last) ends at the earlier of:
 - (a) the latest time, after the test time mentioned in that section, that would result in the same individuals having more than a 50% stake in the income or the capital, as the case requires, of the trust during the whole of the period; or
 - (b) the earliest time when a group begins to control the trust directly or indirectly.

- (5) If the condition in subsection 267-70(2) does not apply, or does apply and the trust meets the condition, each period (except the last) ends at the earliest time when a group begins to control the trust directly or indirectly.

Subdivision 268-C—Other steps in working out the net income and tax loss

268-30 Calculate the notional loss or net income for each period

- (1) A notional loss or notional net income of the trust must be worked out for each period into which the income year has been divided in accordance with Subdivision 268-B.
- (2) The trust has a notional loss for a period if the deductions attributed to the period under section 268-35 exceed the assessable income attributed to the period under section 268-40. The notional loss is the amount of the excess.

For a period during which the trust was in partnership, the notional loss is worked out under Subdivision 268-D.

- (3) On the other hand, if that assessable income exceeds those deductions, the trust has a notional net income for the period, equal to the excess.

For a period during which the trust was in partnership, the notional net income is worked out under Subdivision 268-D.

- (4) If the trust has a notional loss for none of the periods in the income year, this Subdivision has no further application, and the trust's net income for the income year is calculated in the usual way.

The usual way of working out net income is set out in section 95.

268-35 How to attribute deductions to periods

- (1) The trust's deductions for the income year are attributed to periods in the income year as follows.
- (2) The following deductions are attributed to each period in proportion to the length of the period:
- (aa) deductions for the decline in value of a depreciating asset;

See Division 40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

Section 268-35

- (c) deductions for expenditure, deductions for which are spread over 2 or more years, but not full year deductions (see subsection (5));
- (d) deductions for expenditure of capital monies in connection with an Australian film.

See section 124ZAFA.

- (3) All other deductions (except full year deductions) are attributed to periods as if each period were an income year.
- (4) Full year deductions are not attributed to any of the periods. They are brought in at a later stage of the process of calculating the trust's net income for the income year.
- (5) These are full year deductions:
 - (a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (b) deductions for bad debts under section 25-35 (about bad debts) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, or for losses on debt/equity swaps under section 63E;
 - (c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III applies to the trust in relation to the income year;
 - (d) deductions allowable under Division 30 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (e) deductions for payments of pensions, gratuities or retiring allowances under section 25-50 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (f) deductions for tax losses of earlier income years;

See Division 36 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.
 - (j) deductions for Farm Management Deposits.

See Schedule 2G to the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936.
- (6) However, a deduction for the balance of capital expenditure is not a full year deduction if the deduction results from the disposal, loss, lapse, termination of use or destruction of the property.

See Subdivision 40-D of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

268-40 How to attribute assessable income to periods

- (1) The trust's assessable income for the income year is attributed to periods in the income year as follows.
- (2) The following amounts are attributed to periods so far as they are reasonably attributable to those periods:
 - (a) amounts included in the trust's assessable income under section 97 (Beneficiary of a trust estate not under a legal disability); or
 - (b) amounts included in the trust's assessable income under section 98A (Non-resident beneficiaries assessable in respect of certain income).
- (3) The following items of assessable income are attributed to each period in proportion to the length of the period:
 - (a) insurance recoveries for loss of livestock or trees;

*See section 385-130 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.*
 - (b) amounts included in assessable income as a result of elections relating to the forced disposal of livestock;

*See Subdivision 385-E and section 385-160 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.*
 - (c) recoupment of mains electricity connection expenditure.

*See item 1.25 in section 20-30, which lists deductions for which recoupments are assessable under Subdivision 20-A, of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.*
- (4) An amount included in the trust's assessable income under section 385-185 (Election to defer including profit on second wool clip) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 is attributed to the period when the wool would ordinarily have been shorn.
- (5) An amount included in the trust's assessable income that is a dividend under:
 - (a) section 65 (Payments to associated persons); or
 - (c) section 109 (Excessive payments to shareholders and associates); or
 - (d) Division 7A of Part III (Distributions to entities connected with a private company); is attributed to the period when the amount was paid or credited, whichever occurred first.

Section 268-45

- (6) All other items of assessable income (except full year amounts) are attributed to periods as if each period were an income year.
- (7) Full year amounts are amounts referred to in paragraphs (2)(a) and (b), so far as they are not reasonably attributable to a period. They are brought in at a later stage of the process of calculating the trust's net income for the income year.

268-45 How to calculate the trust's net income for the income year

- (1) The trust's net income for the income year is worked out as follows.
- (2) Add up the notional net incomes (if any) worked out under section 268-30 or 268-70.
 - Note: A notional loss for a period is not taken into account, but counts towards the trust's tax loss for the income year.
- (3) Add the full year amounts referred to in subsection 268-40(7) (if any).
- (4) Subtract the trust's full-year deductions of these kinds:
 - (a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (b) deductions for bad debts under section 25-35 (about bad debts) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III applies to the trust in relation to the income year;unless they exceed the total of the notional net incomes and the full year amounts. (If they equal or exceed that total, the trust does not have a net income for the income year.)
- (5) If an amount remains, subtract from it the trust's other full year deductions, in the order shown in subsection 268-35(5), unless they exceed the amount remaining. (If they equal or exceed that amount, the trust does not have a net income for the income year.)
- (6) The amount (if any) remaining is the trust's net income for the income year.

268-60 How to work out the trust's section 36-10 tax loss for the income year

- (1) For the purposes of Division 36 (Tax losses of earlier income years) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, instead of working out the trust's tax loss for the year under section 36-10 of that Act, it is worked out as follows.
- (2) Total the notional losses.
- (3) Add the amount (if any) by which the trust's full year deductions of these kinds:
 - (a) deductions for bad debts under section 8-1 (about general deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (b) deductions for bad debts under section 25-35 (about bad debts) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997;
 - (c) deductions, so far as they are allowable under Division 8 (which is about deductions) of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 because Subdivision H (Period of deductibility of certain advance expenditure) of Division 3 of Part III applies to the trust in relation to the income year;
 exceed the total of:
 - (d) the notional net incomes (if any); and
 - (e) the full year amounts referred to in section 268-40 (if any).
- (4) If the trust derived exempt income, subtract its net exempt income as defined in section 36-20 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.
- (5) Any amount remaining is the trust's tax loss for the income year.

To find out how much of the tax loss can be deducted in later income years, see Division 266 or 267.

To find out how to deduct it, see section 36-15 or 36-17 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

Subdivision 268-D—Rules that supplement Subdivision 268-C if the trust is in partnership

268-70 How to calculate the trust's notional loss or net income for a period when the trust was a partner

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the trust was a partner in one or more partnerships.
- (2) The trust has a notional loss for the period if the total (the loss total) of:
 - (a) the deductions attributed to the period under section 268-35; and
 - (b) the trust's share of each notional loss (if any) of a partnership for the period;exceeds the total (the income total) of:
 - (c) the assessable income attributed to the period under section 268-40; and
 - (d) the trust's share of each notional net income (if any) of a partnership for the period.

The notional loss is the amount of the excess.

Note: A notional loss is taken into account in working out the trust's tax loss under section 268-60.

- (3) On the other hand, if the income total exceeds the loss total, the trust has a notional net income for the period, equal to the excess.

Note: A notional net income is taken into account in working out the trust's net income under section 268-45.

- (4) If the trust has a notional net income for all periods in the income year, this Subdivision has no further application, and the trust's net income for the income year is worked out in the usual way.

The usual way of working out net income is set out in section 95.

268-75 How to calculate the trust's share of a partnership's notional loss or notional net income for a period if both entities have the same income year

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the trust is a partner in a partnership that has an income year that starts and ends when the trust's income year starts and ends.

- (2) The partnership's notional loss or notional net income for the period is worked out in the same way as the notional loss or notional net income of a trust.
- (3) The trust's share is calculated by dividing:
 - (a) the trust's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of the income year;
 by:
 - (b) the amount of that net income or partnership loss;
 and expressing the result as a percentage.
- (4) However, if the partnership had neither a net income nor a partnership loss, the trust's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to the extent of the trust's interest in the partnership.

268-80 How to calculate the trust's share of a partnership's notional loss or notional net income for a period if the entities have different income years

- (1) This section applies if at any time during a period the trust is a partner in a partnership that has an income year that starts and ends at a different time from when the trust's income year starts and ends.
- (2) So much of the partnership's net income or partnership loss of an income year as was derived during the period is a notional net income or notional loss of the partnership for the period. (For the purposes of this subsection, the partnership's net income or partnership loss is calculated without taking account of the partnership's full year deductions for that income year.)

Note: The partnership's full year deductions are dealt with in section 268-85.
- (3) The trust's share is calculated by dividing:
 - (a) the trust's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of the income year;
 by:
 - (b) the amount of that net income or partnership loss;
 and expressing the result as a percentage.

268-85 Trust's full year deductions include a share of partnership's full year deductions

- (1) This section applies if at any time during the income year the trust is a partner in a partnership that has one or more full year deductions for the income year of the partnership that corresponds to the income year of the trust.
- (2) The partnership's full year deductions are treated as full year deductions of the trust, but only to the extent of the trust's share.
- (3) If the partnership's income year is the same as the trust's, the trust's share is calculated by dividing:
 - (a) the trust's interest in the partnership's net income or partnership loss of the income year;by:
 - (b) the amount of that net income or partnership loss;and expressing the result as a percentage.
- (4) However, if the partnership had neither a net income nor a partnership loss, the trust's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to the extent of the trust's interest in the partnership.
- (5) If the partnership's income year does not start and end at the same time as the trust's income year, the trust's share is a percentage that is fair and reasonable having regard to all relevant circumstances.

Division 269—Concepts and tests applied in Divisions 266 and 267

Subdivision 269-A—Overview of Division

269-5 What this Division is about

This Division explains the following concepts or tests that are used in preceding Divisions of this Schedule:

- abnormal trading;
- 50% stake test etc.;
- pattern of distributions test;
- control;
- same business test.

Subdivision 269-B—Abnormal trading

269-10 Trading

A trading in units in a unit trust occurs if there is an issue, redemption or transfer of, or other dealing in, the units.

269-15 Abnormal trading—general

- (1) There is an abnormal trading in units in a unit trust if there is a trading in the units that is abnormal having regard to all relevant factors, including:
 - (a) the timing of the trading, when compared to the normal timing for trading in its units; and
 - (b) the number of units traded, when compared to the normal number of units traded; and
 - (c) any connection between the trading and any other trading in units in the trust; and

Section 269-20

- (d) any connection between the trading and a tax loss or other deduction of the trust.
- (2) There may also be an abnormal trading under any of the following provisions.

269-20 Abnormal trading—suspected acquisition or merger

There is an abnormal trading in units in a unit trust if a trading occurs in its units that the trustee knows or reasonably suspects is part of an acquisition of the trust or merger of the trust with another trust.

269-25 Abnormal trading—5% of units in a single transaction

There is an abnormal trading in units in a unit trust (other than a wholesale widely held trust) if 5% or more of the units are traded in one transaction.

269-30 Abnormal trading—suspected 5% of units in a series of transactions

- (1) There is an abnormal trading in units in a unit trust (other than a wholesale widely held trust) if the trustee knows or reasonably suspects that a person, or a person and one or more associates of the person, have acquired or redeemed 5% or more of the units in 2 or more transactions and would not have done so if the trust did not have a tax loss or other deduction.
- (2) For the purposes of other provisions of this Schedule, the abnormal trading occurs at the time of the particular transaction that causes the 5% figure to be exceeded.

269-35 Abnormal trading—20% of units traded, issued or redeemed over 60 day period

- (1) There is an abnormal trading in units in a unit trust (other than a wholesale widely held trust) if more than 20% of the units on issue at the end of any 60 day period were traded during the period.
- (2) For the purposes of other provisions of this Schedule, the abnormal trading occurs at the end of the 60 day period.

269-40 Abnormal trading—50% stake not maintained

- (1) There is an abnormal trading in units in a wholesale widely held trust during a period if the trustee knows or reasonably suspects that the same persons did not hold more than 50% of its units at the beginning and end of the period.
- (2) For the purposes of other provisions of this Schedule, the abnormal trading occurs immediately before the end of the period.

269-45 Time at which trustee to have knowledge or suspicion

For the purposes of section 269-20, 269-30 or 269-40, the trustee must have the knowledge or reasonable suspicion mentioned in that section:

- (a) if the section is being applied in determining for the purposes of section 268-20 whether an abnormal trading occurred—at some time during the income year mentioned in that section; or
- (b) if it is being applied in determining for the purposes of any other provision whether an abnormal trading occurred during a period—at some time during the period.

269-47 Abnormal trading where holding trust

Holding trust and subsidiary trust

- (1) If a unit trust has fixed entitlements directly or indirectly to all of the income and capital of another unit trust:
 - (a) the first trust is a holding trust of the second; and
 - (b) the second is a subsidiary trust of the first.

Abnormal trading causing or ending holding-subsidiary relationship

- (2) The transaction that causes a trust to become, or to cease to be, a holding trust of a subsidiary trust (the bottom subsidiary trust) is an abnormal trading in units in the bottom subsidiary trust unless:
 - (a) the holding trust is itself a subsidiary trust of one or more holding trusts (each of which is a higher holding trust); and

- (b) immediately before and after the transaction, the bottom subsidiary trust is a subsidiary trust of one or more of the higher holding trusts.

Abnormal trading while holding-subsidiary relationship exists

- (3) While one or more trusts are holding trusts of the same subsidiary trust, there is an abnormal trading in units in the subsidiary trust if and only if, and at the time at which, there is an abnormal trading in units in the holding trust that is not itself a subsidiary trust of another holding trust.

269-49 No abnormal trading where proportionate issue of units

If the issue of units in a unit trust to existing unit holders does not cause each unit holder's proportion of the total fixed entitlements to shares of the income and capital of the trust to change, then, except for the purposes of section 269-20, the issue is disregarded in determining whether there has been an abnormal trading in units in the unit trust.

Subdivision 269-C—Passing the 50% stake test etc.

269-50 More than a 50% stake in income or capital

More than a 50% stake in income

- (1) If there are individuals who have (between them), directly or indirectly, and for their own benefit, fixed entitlements to a greater than 50% share of the income of a trust, those individuals have more than a 50% stake in the income of the trust.

More than a 50% stake in capital

- (2) If there are individuals who have (between them), directly or indirectly, and for their own benefit, fixed entitlements to a greater than 50% share of the capital of the trust, those individuals have more than a 50% stake in the capital of the trust.

269-55 Passing the 50% stake test

- (1) If, at all times during a period, or at 2 times:

- (a) the same individuals have more than a 50% stake in the income of a trust; and
 - (b) the same individuals (who may be different from those in paragraph (a)) have more than a 50% stake in the capital of the trust;
- the trust passes the 50% stake test for the period or in respect of the 2 times.
- (2) If a trust is a widely held unit trust it is taken to pass the 50% stake test for a period or in respect of 2 times if it is reasonable to assume that the requirements of paragraphs (1)(a) and (b) are satisfied in respect of the period or the 2 times.

Subdivision 269-D—Pattern of distributions test269-60 Pattern of distributions test

A trust passes the pattern of distributions test for an income year if, before the end of 2 months after the end of the income year:

- (a) the trust distributed directly or indirectly to the same individuals, for their own benefit, a greater than 50% share of all test year distributions of income (see subsection 269-65(1)); and
- (b) the trust distributed directly or indirectly to the same individuals (who may be different from those in paragraph (a)), for their own benefit, a greater than 50% share of all test year distributions of capital (see subsection 269-65(3)).

269-65 Test year distribution of income or capital*Test year distribution of income*

- (1) A test year distribution of income is the total of all distributions of income made by the trust in any of the following periods, provided the period does not start more than 6 years before the start of the income year:
- (a) the period from the start of the income year until 2 months after its end;

Section 269-70

- (b) if the trust distributed income before the trigger year (see subsection (2))—the income year, before the trigger year, that is closest to the trigger year;
- (c) if paragraph (b) does not apply and the trust distributed income in the trigger year—the trigger year;
- (d) if neither paragraph (b) nor paragraph (c) applies—the income year, closest to the trigger year, in which the trust distributed income;
- (e) each intervening income year (if any) between the one in paragraph (a) and the one in paragraph (b), (c) or (d).

Trigger year

- (2) If this Subdivision is being applied for the purposes of section 267-20, the trigger year is the loss year mentioned in that section. If it is being applied for the purposes of section 267-25, the trigger year is the year in which the debt mentioned in that section was incurred.

Test year distribution of capital

- (3) Subsection (1) applies in the same way to distributions of capital made by the trust, to determine what is a test year distribution of capital.

269-70 When individual receives different percentages

For the purposes of section 269-60, if the trust does not distribute to an individual the same percentage of income or capital for every test year distribution, the trust is taken to have distributed to the individual, for every test year distribution, the smallest percentage that it distributed to the individual for any of the test year distributions.

269-75 Incomplete distributions

For the purposes of section 269-60, if, before the end of 2 months after the end of the income year:

- (a) the trust has distributed directly or indirectly the whole or part of a test year distribution of income or test year distribution of capital to a company, partnership or trust (the entity); and

- (b) an amount (the undistributed amount) consisting of the whole or part of the income or capital so distributed to the entity satisfies the following requirements:
 - (i) the amount has not been distributed by the entity; and
 - (ii) an individual, directly or indirectly, and for his or her own benefit, has a fixed entitlement to a share of the amount;

the entity is taken to have distributed the share of the undistributed amount to the individual immediately before the end of 2 months after the end of the income year.

269-80 Where individual's death or breakdown of marriage or relationship

- (1) For the purposes of section 269-60, if:
 - (a) the trust distributes, directly or indirectly to an individual as mentioned in that section, income or capital that is included in a test year distribution; and
 - (b) a later distribution of income or capital is made that is included in the same or a different test year distribution; and
 - (c) either the individual dies before the later distribution is made or:
 - (i) before it is made, there is a breakdown in the marriage or relationship (see section 272-140) of the individual; and
 - (ii) after the breakdown, no distribution of income or capital of the trust, that is included in a test year distribution, is made directly or indirectly to the individual; and
 - (iii) it is reasonable to assume that the breakdown in the marriage or relationship is the reason for no such distribution being made;

then subsections (2) and (3) apply.
- (2) No income or capital distributed to the individual by the trust, directly or indirectly as mentioned in section 269-60, is to be included in any test year distribution.

Section 269-85

- (3) If:
- (a) the requirements of subsection (1) are met because the individual has died; and
 - (b) immediately before his or her death, the individual had directly or indirectly, and for his or her own benefit, a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust; and
 - (c) after the individual's death, the fixed entitlement is held by a person as trustee of the individual's estate or by a person who received it as a beneficiary of the estate;
- no income or capital distributed to the person as such a trustee or beneficiary, directly or indirectly as mentioned in section 269-60, is to be included in any test year distribution.

269-85 Arrangements to pass pattern of distributions test

- (1) The trust is taken for the purposes of section 269-60 not to have distributed, directly or indirectly to an individual, and for the individual's own benefit, a share of a test year distribution of income or capital of the trust if the condition in subsection (2) is met.
- (2) The condition is that an arrangement was entered into where:
 - (a) the arrangement in some way (directly or indirectly) related to, affected or depended for its operation on the share or its value; and
 - (b) the purpose, or one of the purposes, of the arrangement was to ensure that the trust would meet the condition in subsection 267-30(2).

Subdivision 269-E—Control a non-fixed trust

269-95 Control a non-fixed trust

Basic meaning

- (1) Subject to this section, a group (see subsection (5)) controls a non-fixed trust if:
 - (a) the group has the power, by means of the exercise of a power of appointment or revocation or otherwise, to obtain beneficial enjoyment (directly or indirectly) of the capital or income of the trust; or

- (b) the group is able (directly or indirectly) to control the application of the capital or income of the trust; or
- (c) the group is capable, under a scheme, of gaining the beneficial enjoyment in paragraph (a) or the control in paragraph (b); or
- (d) the trustee is accustomed, under an obligation or might reasonably be expected, to act in accordance with the directions, instructions or wishes of the group; or
- (e) the group is able to remove or appoint the trustee; or
- (f) the group acquires more than a 50% stake in the income or capital of the trust.

Replacement group after death etc.

- (2) The consequences set out in subsection (3) apply if:
 - (a) a group (the original group) ceases to control a non-fixed trust only because of the death, incapacitation or breakdown in the marriage or relationship of the individual comprising, or an individual included in, the group; and
 - (b) another group (the replacement group) begins to control the trust within the following period (whether or not any other group controlled the trust in the interim):
 - (i) one year after the death, incapacitation or breakdown in the marriage or relationship; or
 - (ii) such longer period as the Commissioner determines in relation to the death, incapacitation or breakdown in the marriage or relationship; and
 - (c) the replacement group consists of:
 - (i) if the individual who died or became incapacitated or whose marriage or relationship broke down comprised the original group—one or more individuals who are members of the individual's family (see section 272-95); or
 - (ii) in any other case—one or more such individuals together with all of the persons who were members of the original group, other than any individual who has died or become incapacitated or whose marriage or relationship has broken down; and

- (d) the replacement group began to control the trust only because of the death, incapacitation or breakdown in the marriage or relationship of the individual; and
- (e) disregarding any individual who died or became incapacitated or whose marriage or relationship broke down and the one or more individuals covered by paragraph (c)—the beneficiaries of the trust immediately before the original group ceased to control the trust are the beneficiaries of the trust immediately after the replacement group begins to control the trust.

Consequences of subsection (2)

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the consequences are that:
 - (a) the replacement group is taken to have controlled the trust from the time when the original group began to control it until the time when the replacement group actually began to control it; and
 - (b) the original group is taken not to have controlled the trust; and
 - (c) if:
 - (i) a person or persons (other than a replacement group) began to control the trust at some time during the period from the time the original group ceased to control the trust until the replacement group began to do so; and
 - (ii) the person or persons began to control the trust only because of the death, incapacitation or breakdown in the marriage or relationship of the individual; and
 - (iii) the control did not continue after the replacement group began to control the trust;the person or persons are taken not to have controlled the trust.

Deemed absence of control

- (4) If:
 - (a) at a particular time, a group controls a non-fixed trust; and
 - (b) the Commissioner, having regard to:
 - (i) the identity of the beneficiaries of the trust at any time before and at any time after the group began to control the trust; and

(ii) all other relevant circumstances; considers that it is reasonable that the group be taken not to control the trust at the particular time;
 the group is taken not to control the trust at the particular time.

Group

- (5) A group is:
- (a) a person; or
 - (b) a person and one or more associates; or
 - (c) 2 or more associates of a person.

Subdivision 269-F—Same business test269-100 Passing the same business testBasic meaning*

- (1) A listed widely held trust passes the same business test during a period (the same business test period) in relation to a time (the test time) if throughout the same business test period it carries on the same business as it carried on immediately before the test time.

Relevance of being a trust

- (2) The mere fact of being a trust does not mean that the trust cannot carry on a business.

First exception

- (3) However, the trust does not pass the same business test if, at any time during the same business test period, it derives assessable income from:
- (a) a business of a kind that it did not carry on before the test time; or
 - (b) a transaction of a kind that it had not entered into in the course of its business operations before the test time.

Second exception

- (4) The trust also does not pass the same business test if, before the test time, it:

Section 269-100

- (a) started to carry on a business it had not previously carried on;
or
- (b) in the course of its business operations, entered into a transaction of a kind that it had not previously entered into; and did so for the purpose, or for purposes including the purpose, of being taken to have carried on throughout the same business test period the same business as it carried on immediately before the test time.

Third exception

- (5) So far as the test is applied for the purpose of section 266-115 (Listed widely held trust may be required to work out its net income and tax loss in a special way) and section 268-20 (Widely held unit trust's income year to be divided into periods), the trust also does not pass the test if, at any time during the same business test period, it incurs expenditure:
 - (a) in carrying on a business of a kind that it did not carry on before the test time; or
 - (b) as a result of a transaction of a kind that it had not entered into in the course of its business operations before the test time.

Division 270—Schemes to take advantage of deductions

270-5 What this Division is about

A trust may be prevented from making any use of deductions, or full use of deductions in an income year, if a scheme to take advantage of the deductions exists.

270-10 Schemes to take advantage of deductions

Basic case

- (1) The consequences set out in section 270-15 result if:
- (a) a deduction is allowable to a trust for the income year; and
 - (b) under a scheme, the following happen (in any order):
 - (i) the trust derives an amount of assessable income (the scheme assessable income) in the income year; and
 - (ii) an outsider to the trust (see section 270-25) directly or indirectly provides a benefit (see section 270-20) to the trustee, to a beneficiary in the trust or to an associate of the trustee or of a beneficiary; and

Note: The benefit may constitute all or any of the scheme assessable income.

 - (iii) the trustee, a beneficiary in the trust or an associate of the trustee or of a beneficiary, directly or indirectly provides a benefit to the outsider to the trust or to an associate of the outsider (other than an associate covered by any of paragraphs 270-25(1)(a) to (f)); and

Note: The benefit may constitute all or any of the deduction.
 - (c) it is reasonable to conclude that:
 - (i) the trust derived the scheme assessable income; or
 - (ii) the outsider provided the benefit as mentioned in subparagraph (b)(ii); or
 - (iii) the trustee, beneficiary or associate provided the benefit as mentioned in subparagraph (b)(iii);

wholly or partly, but not merely incidentally, because the deduction would be allowable; and

Section 270-15

- (d) the trust is not an excepted trust under paragraph 272-100(b), (c) or (d).

Special case

- (2) If:
 - (a) under a scheme, a person who, before the scheme was entered into, was an outsider to a trust becomes:
 - (i) the trustee of the trust; or
 - (ii) a person with a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust; and
 - (b) if the person had not ceased to be an outsider to the trust, the requirements of subsection (1) would have been satisfied in relation to the scheme;the requirements of subsection (1) are taken to have been satisfied in relation to the scheme.

270-15 Tax consequences of schemes

If the requirements of subsection 270-10(1) are satisfied, the consequences are that:

- (a) to the extent (if any) that the deduction mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(a) relates exclusively, or may appropriately be related, to the scheme assessable income, the deduction is not allowable; and
- (b) if the net income of the trust is less than the scheme assessable income or there is no net income—the trust has a net income equal to, or the net income is increased so that it equals, the scheme assessable income; and
- (c) paragraph (b) and the scheme assessable income are disregarded in working out any tax loss incurred by the trust in the income year; and
- (d) if paragraph (b) applies and the deduction mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(a) is for a tax loss—paragraph (b) and the scheme assessable income are disregarded in working out any deduction in respect of the tax loss allowable after the income year.

270-20 Benefit

A benefit is:

- (a) money, a dividend or property (whether tangible or intangible); or
- (b) a right or entitlement (whether or not property); or
- (c) services; or
- (d) the extinguishment, forgiveness, release or waiver of a debt or other liability; or
- (e) the doing of anything that results in the derivation of assessable income; or
- (f) anything that, disregarding the preceding paragraphs, is a benefit or advantage.

270-25 Outsider to trust

Outsider to family trust

- (1) If the trust mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(a) is a family trust, an outsider to the trust is a person other than:
 - (a) the trustee of the trust; or
 - (b) a person with a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust; or
 - (c) the individual specified in the trust's family trust election; or
 - (d) a member of the individual's family; or
 - (da) a trust with the same individual specified in its family trust election; or
 - (e) a company, partnership or trust that made an interposed entity election to be included in the individual's family group, where the election was in force (including before it was made) when the scheme mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(b) commenced; or
 - (f) a fixed trust, company or partnership (an entity) where, at all times while the scheme mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(b) was being carried out:
 - (i) the individual specified in the trust's family trust election; or
 - (ii) one or more members of the individual's family; or

Schedule 2F Trust losses and other deductions

Division 270 Schemes to take advantage of deductions

Section 270-25

- (iii) the trustees of one or more family trusts, provided the individual is specified in the family trust election of each of those family trusts;
- or any combination of the above, had fixed entitlements, directly or indirectly, and for their own benefit, to all of the income and capital of the entity.

Outsider to non-family trust

- (2) If the trust mentioned in paragraph 270-10(1)(a) is not a family trust, an outsider to the trust is a person other than:
 - (a) the trustee of the trust; or
 - (b) a person with a fixed entitlement to a share of the income or capital of the trust.

Division 271—Family trust distribution tax271-5 What this Division is about

Basically, if:

- the trustee of a trust makes a family trust election; or
- a company, the partners in a partnership or the trustee of a trust makes an election to be included in a family group in relation to a family trust; and the company, partnership or trust concerned confers a present entitlement to, or distributes, income or capital other than upon or to a specified individual or members of his or her family group, a special tax is payable on the conferral or distribution.

If certain persons do not provide information about conferrals of present entitlements or distributions by non-residents connected with them, the persons may become liable to the special tax on their own conferrals or distributions.

If certain non-residents do not pay the special tax by the due date, other persons connected with them may also become liable to pay a special tax equal to the unpaid amount.

271-10 Family trust distribution tax

- (a) a person holds units in a unit trust; and
 - (b) the units are redeemable or further units are able to be issued; and
 - (c) if units in the unit trust are listed for quotation in the official list of an approved stock exchange—the units held by the person will be redeemed, or any further units will be issued, for the price at which other units of the same kind in the unit trust are offered for sale on the approved stock exchange at the time of the redemption or issue; and
 - (d) if the units are not listed as mentioned in paragraph (c)—the units held by the person will be redeemed, or any further units will be issued, for a price determined on the basis of the net asset value, according to Australian accounting principles, of the unit trust at the time of the redemption or issue;

then the mere fact that the units are redeemable, or that the further units are able to be issued, does not mean that the person's interest, as a unit holder, in the income or capital of the unit trust is defeasible.

Deemed fixed entitlement

- (3) If:
- (a) a beneficiary with an interest in a share of income that the trust derives from time to time, or of the capital of a trust, does not have a fixed entitlement to the share; and the partner has a fixed entitlement to that share of the income or capital.

Deemed fixed entitlement

- (2) If:
- (a) a partner does not have a fixed entitlement to a share of income that the partnership derives from time to time, or of the capital of a partnership, only because the partner's share of the income or capital is able to be varied; and
 - (b) the Commissioner considers that the partner should be treated as having the fixed entitlement, having regard to:
 - (i) the circumstances in which the share is able to be varied; and
 - (ii) the likelihood of the variation happening; and
 - (iii) the nature of the partnership;
- the partner has the fixed entitlement.

then:

- (d) subsection (4) or (5) does not apply in relation to the special company during the whole or the part of the special company period; and
- (e) the one or more persons are, as mentioned in paragraph (c), treated as having the fixed entitlement instead of the company.

Subdivision 393-A—Tax consequences of farm management deposits

Guide to Subdivision

393-5 What this Subdivision is about

This Subdivision allows you to deduct a farm management deposit if certain tests relating to your income etc. are met. The Subdivision assesses you when a deposit is repaid, but only to the extent that the repayment involves an amount previously deducted.

393-7 Definitions of terms

This Subdivision uses a number of terms relating to farm management deposits that are defined in Subdivisions 393-B and 393-C.

Table of sections

Operative provisions

- 393-10 Deduction for making farm management deposit
- 393-15 Assessability on repayment of deposit

Operative provisions

393-10 Deduction for making farm management deposit

- (1) If:
 - (a) you are the owner of a farm management deposit made in the year of income; and
 - (b) your taxable non-primary production income for the year of income is not more than $65,000; and
 - (c) you did not:
 - (i) become bankrupt during the year of income; or
 - (ii) cease to be a primary producer during the year of income for at least 120 days (whether or not falling entirely within the year of income);

you can deduct the amount of the deposit from your assessable income for the year of income. However, there is no entitlement to the deduction if you die during the year of income.

- Note 1: Because of subsections 393-50(1) and (2), this section will not apply if the making of the deposit arises because of the extension of the term of the deposit or because the deposit is being immediately reinvested as a farm management deposit with the same institution.
- Note 2: Because of subsection 393-50(5), this section will not apply if the making of the deposit arises by way of transfer of the deposit in accordance with a requirement of the agreement concerned as mentioned in subsection 393-40(5).
- Note 3: Because of paragraph 25B(3)(c) of the Loan (Income Equalization Deposits) Act 1976, this section will not apply if the making of the deposit arises by way of transfer of an IED scheme deposit to a farm management deposit.
- Note 4: Subdivision B contains other rules that affect the extent to which a deposit can be a farm management deposit.

Sum of deductions not to exceed taxable primary production income

- (2) The sum of the deductions that you would otherwise be entitled to under this section for farm management deposits made in the year of income must not exceed your taxable primary production income for the year of income.

Amounts to be deducted in order of deposits

- (3) If subsection (2) prevents you deducting in full amounts in respect of 2 or more deposits, you can deduct the amounts in the order in which the deposits were made until the limit imposed by that subsection is reached.

393-15 Assessability on repayment of deposit

Amount assessable if deposit fully repaid

- (1) If you are the owner of a farm management deposit that is repaid in full in the year of income, your assessable income for the year of income includes the unrecouped FMD deduction (see subsection (3)) in respect of the deposit immediately before the repayment.

- Note 1: Because of subsections 393-50(1) and (2), this section will not apply if the repayment arises because of the extension of the term of the

Schedule 2G Farm management deposits

Division 393 Farm management deposits

Section 393-15

deposit or because the deposit is immediately reinvested as a farm management deposit with the same institution.

Note 2: Because of subsection 393-50(5), this section will not apply if the repayment arises by way of transfer of the deposit in accordance with a requirement of the agreement concerned as mentioned in subsection 393-40(5).

Note 3: Subdivision B contains other rules that affect the extent to which a withdrawal is a repayment of a farm management deposit.

Amount assessable if deposit partly repaid

(2) If:

- (a) you are the owner of a farm management deposit of which part only is repaid in the year of income; and
- (b) the unrecouped FMD deduction (see subsection (3)) in respect of the deposit immediately before the repayment exceeds the amount (if any) of the deposit that remains immediately after the repayment;

the amount of the excess is included in your assessable income for the year of income.

Note 1: This provision ensures that, in a case where not all of a deposit was deductible, withdrawal of the non-deductible part can take place without the amount withdrawn being assessable. Once that part has been withdrawn, the remainder will be assessable when it is withdrawn, in order to recoup the deduction.

Note 2: Subdivision B contains rules that affect the extent to which a withdrawal is a repayment of a farm management deposit.

Unrecouped FMD deduction

(3) The unrecouped FMD deduction in respect of a farm management deposit at a particular time is:

- (a) if no part of the deposit has been repaid before that time—either:
 - (i) if subparagraph (ii) does not apply—the amount of the deduction under section 393-10 for making the deposit; or
 - (ii) if the deposit was made with a financial institution as a result of a request to which section 25B of the Loan (Income Equalization Deposits) Act 1976 applied—the amount worked out in accordance with paragraph (3)(d) of that section; or

- (b) if one or more parts of the deposit have been repaid before that time—the unrecouped FMD deduction in respect of the deposit immediately before the most recent such repayment, reduced by any amount included in the owner’s assessable income under this section as a result of that repayment.

Example: Assume a deposit of $3,000 is made, all of which is deductible. The deposit’s unrecouped FMD deduction immediately before a later repayment of $1,000 will be the amount of the deduction (i.e. $3,000—see subparagraph (3)(a)(i)). The deposit’s unrecouped FMD deduction immediately before a second repayment of an amount will be $2,000 (i.e. according to paragraph (3)(b), the unrecouped FMD deduction immediately before the first repayment ($3,000) reduced by the $1,000 included in assessable income as a result of the first repayment).

Deemed repayment because of death, bankruptcy etc.

- (4) If you are the owner of a farm management deposit that becomes repayable during the year of income in accordance with a requirement of the agreement concerned to the effect mentioned in subsection 393-40(3) (which covers death, bankruptcy and ceasing to be a primary producer), the deposit is taken for the purposes of this section to have been repaid at the time it became repayable, instead of when it is actually repaid.

Note 1: This will mean that it is assessable under this section in the year of income when the death etc. occurs, rather than in any later year in which it might be repaid.

Note 2: Under Part 2-5 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (about pay as you go withholding), a deduction may nevertheless be required to be made from the actual payment.

393-35 Requirements whose contravention causes a loss of farm management deposit status

- (1) This section sets out requirements, that must be contained in the agreement mentioned in subsection 393-30(2), whose contravention will, under section 393-45, result in the deposit, or some of the deposit, being taken not to be, and (if appropriate) never to have been, a farm management deposit.

Deposit to be made by or on behalf of only one person

Schedule 2G Farm management deposits

Division 393 Farm management deposits

Section 393-37

Charges etc. not to be created over deposit

- (9) A charge or other encumbrance must not be created over the deposit as security for an amount payable by the depositor or any other person to the financial institution or to any other person.

Mortgage offset accounts

- (10) Amounts that would otherwise accrue as interest or other earnings on the deposit must not reduce liabilities of the depositor to pay interest to the financial institution in respect of loans or other debts of the depositor.

Restriction on investment of interest

- (11) Interest or other earnings on the deposit must not be invested as a farm management deposit with the financial institution without having first been paid to the depositor.

393-37 Withdrawal of deposit within first 12 months

Partial withdrawal within first 12 months

- (1) If:
- (a) part of the deposit is withdrawn within the 12 months after the end of the applicable depositing day (see subsection (7)); and
 - (b) the withdrawal is not covered by subsection (3), (5) or (6);
- then the amount withdrawn is not, and is taken never to have been, part of a farm management deposit.

Note: If the withdrawal is covered by subsection (3), (5) or (6) then the normal rules in sections 393-10, 393-15 and 393-50 apply.

Deposit not to be reduced to less than $1,000 within first 12 months

- (2) If the amount of the deposit is reduced to less than $1,000 because of one or more withdrawals made within the 12 months after the end of the applicable depositing day that are not withdrawals covered by subsection (3), (5) or (6), then the deposit is not, and is taken never to have been, a farm management deposit.

Note: If any of the withdrawals are covered by subsection (3), (5) or (6), this subsection does not apply.

Withdrawal in exceptional circumstances

- (3) If the whole or a part of the deposit is withdrawn by, or on behalf of, the owner of the deposit in the following circumstances, the withdrawal is not a withdrawal to which subsections (1) and (2) apply:
- (a) the withdrawal is made in the year of income following the year of income in which the applicable depositing day occurs;
 - (b) at the time of the withdrawal, that owner is eligible for the issue of an exceptional circumstances certificate (within the meaning of subsection 8A(2) of the Farm Household Support Act 1992) that relates to a primary production business of that owner;
 - (c) by the end of 3 months after the end of the year of income in which the withdrawal is made, such an exceptional circumstances certificate is issued in respect of that owner;
 - (d) a declaration of exceptional circumstances (as referred to in paragraph 8(c) of the Rural Adjustment Act 1992) was not in force in relation to that primary production business when the deposit was made.
- (4) Any subsequent deposit that is made by, or on behalf of, that owner in the year of income in which the withdrawal referred to in subsection (3) is made is not, and is taken never to have been, a farm management deposit.

Withdrawal in the case of death, bankruptcy or loss of primary producer status

- (5) A repayment of a deposit that is required in accordance with subsection 393-40(3) (which covers death, bankruptcy and loss of primary producer status) is not a withdrawal to which subsections (1) and (2) apply.

Transfers to other financial institutions

- (6) A transfer of a deposit to another financial institution, in accordance with a requirement of the agreement concerned, as mentioned in subsection 393-40(5) is not a withdrawal to which subsections (1) and (2) apply.

Definition of applicable depositing day

- (7) The applicable depositing day is:
- (a) if none of the other paragraphs in this subsection applies—the day on which the deposit is made with the financial institution; or
 - (b) if the deposit is made with the financial institution as a result of a request to which section 25B of the Loan (Income Equalization Deposits) Act 1976 applied—the day on which the deposit under that Act, that was the subject of the request, was made; or
 - (c) if the deposit is made with the financial institution as a result of one or more transfers from other financial institutions in accordance with requirements of agreements as mentioned in subsection 393-40(5), and paragraph (d) does not apply—the day on which the deposit was made with the first of the financial institutions; or
 - (d) if the deposit is made with the financial institution as a result of a combination of a request as mentioned in paragraph (b) and one or more transfers as mentioned in paragraph (c)—the day applicable under paragraph (b).

393-40 Other requirements of agreement

- (1) This section sets out other requirements that must be contained in the agreement mentioned in subsection 393-30(2).

Deposit must be repaid where death, bankruptcy or loss of primary producer status

- (3) The deposit must be repaid if:
- (a) the owner dies or becomes bankrupt; or
 - (b) the owner ceases to be a primary producer for at least 120 days.

Repayment to be $1,000 or more

- (4) Except where the entire amount of the deposit is repaid, the amount of any repayment of the deposit must be $1,000 or more.

Transfer of deposit between financial institutions

- (5) The financial institution must, if requested in writing by the depositor to do so and if given any information or other assistance from the depositor necessary for the purpose, transfer the deposit by electronic means to another financial institution that agrees to accept the deposit as a farm management deposit.

Administration fees etc. not to be deducted from deposit

- (6) The financial institution must not deduct from the deposit (whether at the time it is made, while it is with the institution or at the time of its repayment) any administration fee or other amount required by the financial institution to be paid in respect of the deposit or otherwise.

393-45 Contraventions that deprive a deposit of its status as a farm management deposit

- (1) If, when it was accepted, the requirement set out in subsection 393-35(2), (3), (4), (5), (7) or (8) was contravened, the deposit is not a farm management deposit.
- (2) If, by accepting the deposit, the requirement set out in subsection 393-35(6) was contravened, so much of the deposit as caused that requirement to be contravened is not a farm management deposit.
- (3) If the requirement set out in subsection 393-35(9), (10) or (11) or section 393-37 is contravened at any time in relation to the deposit, it is not, and is taken never to have been, a farm management deposit.

393-50 Making and repaying etc. deposits*Reinvesting a deposit*

- (1) If a farm management deposit is immediately reinvested as a farm management deposit with the same financial institution, the reinvestment does not involve the repayment of the farm management deposit or the making of a farm management deposit.

Extending the term of a deposit

- (2) If the term of a farm management deposit is extended, the extension does not involve the repayment of the farm management deposit or the making of a farm management deposit (even if other terms such as those relating to interest payable are also varied).

Repay includes deal with as requested etc.

- (3) Subject to subsections (1) and (2), the expression repay a farm management deposit includes transfer or reinvest the deposit or otherwise deal with the deposit on behalf of or at the request of the depositor.

Effect of partial repayment

- (4) The expression farm management deposit means, if part of the deposit has been repaid, the balance of the deposit after the repayment.

Transferring a deposit to another financial institution

- (5) If a financial institution (the transferor) transfers a farm management deposit to another financial institution (the transferee) in accordance with a requirement of the agreement concerned as mentioned in subsection 393-40(5):
- (a) for the purposes of section 393-15, the transfer does not constitute a repayment of the deposit by the transferor; and Note: This means that the owner will not be assessed for income tax purposes on the amount transferred.
 - (b) for the purposes of section 393-10, the transfer does not constitute the making of a deposit with the transferee; and Note: This means that the transfer will not give rise to an income tax deduction.
 - (c) for the purposes of working out the unrecouped FMD deduction in applying section 393-15 in relation to any repayment of the whole or part of the deposit by the transferee, or by any other transferee resulting from any other application of this section, the transfer does not cause the deposit to be a different deposit.
Note: This ensures that the unrecouped FMD deduction (which determines how much income tax is assessed) in the event of a repayment will equal the deduction for the original deposit, less any amount assessed beforehand while the deposit was held by the original or any later financial institution.

393-52 Certain entities taken to be financial institutions for pre-1 July 2003 deposits and transfers

Scope

- (1) This section applies if the condition in subsection (2) or (3) is satisfied.
- (2) The condition in this subsection is satisfied if:
 - (a) a deposit (the eligible deposit) of money was made before 1 July 2003 with an entity (the non-complying entity) that was not a financial institution; and
 - (b) if the deposit was made after 17 June 2003:
 - (i) the deposit was made in accordance with an agreement of a particular kind; and
 - (ii) on 17 June 2003, the non-complying entity was offering to enter into agreements of that kind; and
 - (iii) the agreements mentioned in subparagraph (ii) described such a deposit as a farm management deposit; and
 - (c) the deposit was made in good faith.
- (3) The condition in this subsection is satisfied if:
 - (a) the depositor of a farm management deposit made a written request before 1 July 2003 to the financial institution with which the deposit was made to transfer the deposit to an entity (the non-complying entity); and
 - (b) the financial institution transferred the deposit to the non-complying entity within a reasonable period after the request; and
 - (c) the non-complying entity was not a financial institution when the deposit was transferred; and
 - (d) the condition in subsection (2) is not satisfied in relation to the deposit (the eligible deposit) arising from the transfer to the non-complying entity; and
 - (e) if the request was made after 17 June 2003:
 - (i) the eligible deposit was made in accordance with an agreement of a particular kind; and

Schedule 2G Farm management deposits

Division 393 Farm management deposits

Section 393-52

- (ii) on 17 June 2003, the non-complying entity was offering to enter into agreements of that kind; and
- (iii) the agreements mentioned in subparagraph (ii) described such a deposit as a farm management deposit; and
- (f) the request was made in good faith.

Non-complying entity taken to be financial institution

- (4) This Subdivision (other than this section) applies in relation to the eligible deposit as if the non-complying entity were a financial institution throughout the period:
- (a) beginning:
 - (i) if the condition in subsection (2) is satisfied—when the eligible deposit was made; or
 - (ii) if the condition in subsection (3) is satisfied—when the eligible deposit was transferred as mentioned in paragraph (3)(b); and
 - (b) ending:
 - (i) if the depositor makes, before the deadline mentioned in subsection (6), a written request to the non-complying entity to transfer the eligible deposit to a financial institution, and that transfer is made within a reasonable period after the request—at the time the transfer is made; or
 - (ii) if subparagraph (i) does not apply and the eligible deposit was repaid in full before that deadline—at the time the eligible deposit was repaid; or
 - (iii) in any other case—immediately before that deadline.

Deposit taken to be repaid in certain circumstances

- (5) If:
- (a) the depositor fails, before the deadline mentioned in subsection (6), to make a written request to the non-complying entity to transfer the eligible deposit to a financial institution; or
 - (b) if such a request is made—the non-complying entity fails to transfer the eligible deposit to that financial institution within a reasonable period after the request; the eligible deposit is taken for the purposes of section 393-15 to have been repaid immediately before that deadline (to the extent that it was not actually repaid before that deadline).

Note: This will mean that it is assessable under section 393-15 (as that section applies because of subsection (4)) in the year of income when the eligible deposit is taken to be repaid, rather than in any later year in which it might be actually repaid.

Deadline

- (6) The deadline is:
- (a) if the term of the eligible deposit:
 - (i) is longer than 12 months; and
 - (ii) ends after 1 July 2004;the earlier of:
 - (iii) the day on which the term of the eligible deposit ends; or
 - (iv) 1 July 2007; or
 - (b) in any other case—1 July 2004.

Deposit with non-complying entity and other deposit with a financial institution

- (7) Ignore subsection (4) in deciding, for the purposes of subsection 393-45(1), whether the requirement in subsection 393-35(7) has been contravened.

Step 3. If your non-primary production deductions are larger than (or equal to) your assessable non-primary production income, your taxable non-primary production income is nil.

Assessable non-primary production income

- (2) Your assessable non-primary production income for the year of income is the difference between:
- (a) your basic assessable income (see subsection 393-60(4)) for the year of income; and
 - (b) your assessable primary production income (see subsection 393-60(2)) for the year of income.

326-45 Direct method

- (1) The direct method of demutualisation is as follows:
- (a) all membership rights in the entity are extinguished;
 - (b) the entity becomes a company with a share capital;
 - (c) shares (ordinary shares) of only one class in the entity are issued within the limitation period to existing members in exchange for the membership rights referred to in paragraph (a);
 - (d) shares (also ordinary shares) of the same class in the entity may be issued within the limitation period to new members;
 - (e) if a listing resolution was passed by the members of the entity—the ordinary shares are listed within the limitation period.

Note: Other things may happen in connection with the implementation of the demutualisation.

- (2) The following diagram shows, where this demutualisation method is used, the issue of shares to members of the entity.

Direct method of demutualisation

326-50 Holding company method

- (1) The holding company method of demutualisation is as follows:
- (a) all membership rights in the entity are extinguished;
 - (b) the entity becomes a company with a share capital;
 - (c) shares of only one class in the entity are issued to a company (the holding company) within the limitation period;
 - (d) shares (ordinary shares) of only one class in the holding company are issued within the limitation period to existing members in exchange for the membership rights referred to in paragraph (a);
 - (e) shares (also ordinary shares) in the holding company of the same class may be issued within the limitation period to new members;
 - (f) if a listing resolution was passed by the entity—the ordinary shares are listed within the limitation period.

Note: Other things may happen in connection with the implementation of the demutualisation.

 - (c) shares (ordinary shares) of only one class in the entity are issued within the limitation period to existing members in exchange for the membership rights referred to in paragraph (a);
 - (d) shares (also ordinary shares) of the same class in the entity are also issued to a company (the holding company) within the limitation period;
 - (e) shares (also ordinary shares) of the same class in the entity may be issued within the limitation period to new members;
 - (f) shares (also ordinary shares) of only one class in the holding company are issued within the limitation period to existing members as a result of the extinguishment of the membership rights referred to in paragraph (a);

Division 326 Demutualisation

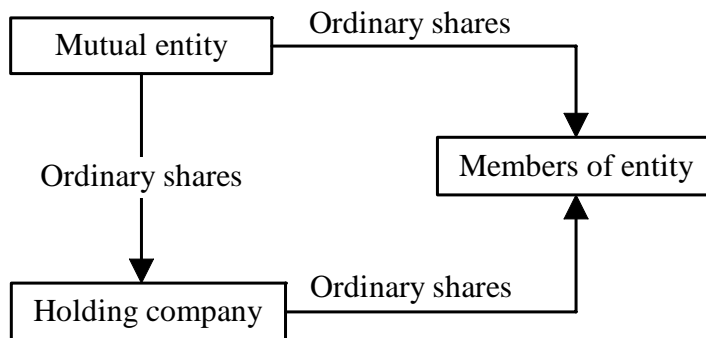

Section 326-55

- (g) shares (also ordinary shares) of the same class in the holding company may be issued within the limitation period to new members;

- (2) The following diagram shows the main events that occur where this demutualisation method is used.

Combined direct and holding company method of demutualisation

326-55 Distributing trust method

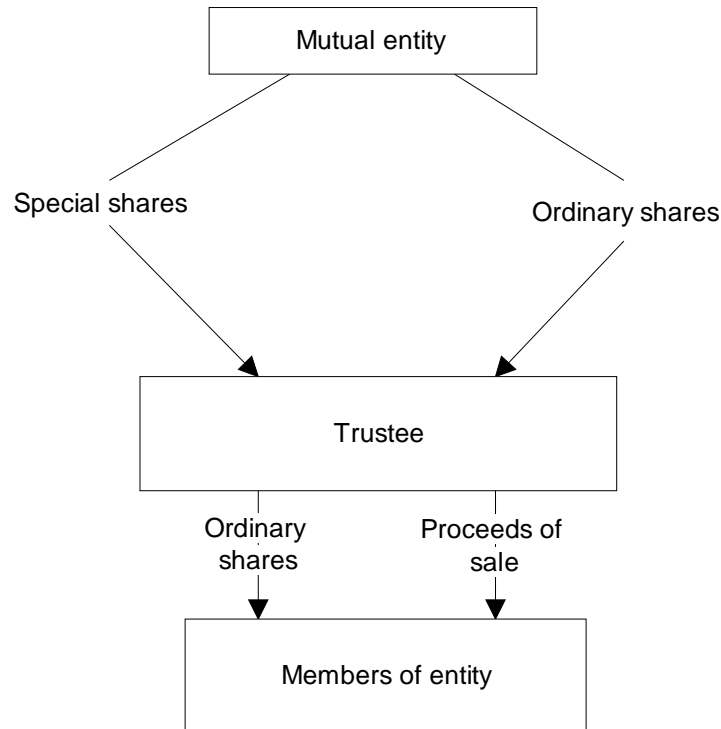

- (1) The distributing trust method of demutualisation is as follows:
 - (a) all membership rights in the mutual entity are extinguished;
 - (b) the entity becomes a company with a share capital;
 - (c) shares (special shares) carrying only voting rights in respect of the demutualised entity are issued within the limitation period to a trustee to hold for the benefit of the members;

- (d) the issue takes place before the issue of the ordinary shares mentioned in paragraphs (f) and (g);
- (e) after the issue of all the ordinary shares, the rights attaching to the special shares become the same as those attaching to the ordinary shares and the special shares are dealt with in accordance with paragraph (h) as if they were ordinary shares;
- (f) shares (ordinary shares) of only one class in the entity are, within the limitation period, issued to the trustee to hold on behalf of existing members in exchange for the membership rights referred to in paragraph (a) and, in accordance with the choice of each existing member, to transfer to the member the shares held on behalf of the member or to dispose of those shares on behalf of the member;
- (g) shares (also ordinary shares) of the same class in the entity may, within the limitation period, be issued to the trustee on behalf of new members and, in accordance with the choice of each new member, to transfer to the member the shares held on behalf of the member or to dispose of those shares on behalf of the member;
- (h) within the limitation period the trustee:
 - (i) sells the ordinary shares issued to the trustee and distributes the proceeds to the member; or
 - (ii) transfers the ordinary shares to the member;
- (i) if a listing resolution was passed by the entity—the ordinary shares are listed within the limitation period.

326-60 Continuity of beneficial interest test

- (1) This section sets out a test (the continuity of beneficial interest test) that must be satisfied before this Division applies to the demutualisation of a mutual entity.
- (2) The continuity of beneficial interest test is satisfied if:
 - (a) an opportunity is given to each existing member of the mutual entity:
 - (i) to take up shares in the demutualised entity or in a holding company to which shares in the demutualised entity are issued; or
 - (ii) to have shares in the demutualised entity issued to a trustee on behalf of the member; and

- (b) where the demutualisation is implemented by the method set out in section 326-45, 326-50 or 326-55—of the ordinary shares in the demutualised entity or holding company that are issued in connection with the demutualisation (the issued shares), the total number that are issued to existing members or to a trustee on behalf of existing members constitutes at least 90% of the issued shares; and
 - (ba) where the demutualisation is implemented by the method set out in section 326-52:
 - (i) of the ordinary shares in the demutualised entity that are issued to members other than the holding company in connection with the demutualisation (the issued entity shares), the total number that are issued to existing members constitutes at least 90% of the issued entity shares; and

 - (c) the accumulated surplus of the mutual entity is allocated or distributed in the form of shares, or cash from the sale of shares, to existing members in proportions that broadly accord with any one or more of the following:
 - (i) the respective amounts contributed by the members to the entity;
 - (ii) the respective values of the membership rights of the members;
 - (iii) the respective rights of the members on the winding up of the entity.
- (3) In this section:

accumulated surplus, in relation to a demutualised entity, means the net assets of the entity on the demutualisation resolution day.

326-75 Capital losses made from certain disposals to be disregarded

A capital loss that the disposer makes from a disposal to which section 326-80 or 326-100 applies is to be disregarded.

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-80

326-80 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share before demutualisation listing day where member did not acquire membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

- (a) the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share; and
 - (b) the disposer did not acquire membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
 - (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member; and
 - (d) the disposal occurs before the demutualisation listing day;
- then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the disposer is taken to have done the following:
- (e) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$

- (f) to have paid that amount on the demutualisation resolution day;
 - (g) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.
- (2) In the formula in paragraph (1)(e):

total number of shares means the total number of demutualisation shares issued.

326-85 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share on or after demutualisation listing day where member did not acquire membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

- (1) If:

- (a) the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share; and

- (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member; and
- (d) the disposal occurs on or after the demutualisation listing day;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the disposer is taken to have done the following:

- (e) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest the lesser of the following amounts:
 - (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$

- (ii) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Adjusted first day trading price of the demutualisation shares}}{\text{shares}} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{disposed of}}$$

- (f) to have paid the amount referred to in paragraph (e) on the demutualisation resolution day;
 - (g) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.
- (2) In the formula in subparagraph (1)(e)(i):

- (d) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest both of the following amounts:

- (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\left(\begin{array}{c} \text{Undeducted} \\ \text{membership} \\ \text{costs} \end{array} + \frac{\text{Adjusted market} \\ \text{value}}{\text{Number of members}} \right) \times \frac{\text{Share or interest} \\ \text{disposed of}}{\text{Number of} \\ \text{disposer's shares}}$$

- (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;

- (e) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;
 - (f) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(ii) when it was actually paid;

- (c) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest both of the following amounts:
 - (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:
$$\text{Undeducted membership costs} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{Number of disposer's shares}}$$
 - (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;
 - (d) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;
 - (e) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(ii) when it was actually paid;
 - (f) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.
- (2) In the formula in subparagraph (1)(c)(i):

number of disposer's shares means the number of demutualisation shares issued to the disposer or in which the disposer had an interest.

326-100 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation original share or a non-demutualisation bonus share, or an interest in such a share, before demutualisation listing day where member did not acquire membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

- (e) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Number of disposer's shares}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$

- (f) if the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share, the disposer is taken:
 - (i) to have paid the amount referred to in paragraph (e) on the demutualisation resolution day; and

 - (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member; and
 - (d) the disposal occurs on or after the demutualisation listing day;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the following paragraphs have effect:

- (e) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be the lesser of the following amounts:

- (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Number of disposer's shares}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$

- (ii) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\frac{\text{Adjusted first day trading price of the demutualisation shares}}{\text{shares}} \times \text{Number of disposer's shares}$$

- (b) the disposer acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
- (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the following paragraphs have effect:

- (d) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be the sum of the following amounts:

- (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;
 - (e) if the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share, the disposer is taken:

However, in making the determination the valuer is to disregard the franking surplus of that entity on that day.

Where membership rights acquired by disposal of rights in another entity

- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision but subject to subsection (3), the adjusted market value, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity, is the market value, as determined by a qualified valuer, of the other entity at the time immediately before the disposer disposed of membership rights in the other entity. However, in making the determination the valuer is to disregard the franking surplus of the other entity at that time.

Indexation of amount mentioned in subsection (2)

- (3) If the indexation factor (see section 326-235) of the amount worked out under subsection (2) is more than one, that amount is taken to be replaced by that amount as indexed under Subdivision 326-M.

326-125 Undeducted membership costs

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the undeducted membership costs, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who did not acquire membership rights in the demutualising entity by the disposal of membership rights in another mutual entity, are the sum of the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in acquiring and maintaining membership in the demutualising entity less any distributions that:
- (a) were made by the demutualising entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (b) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the undeducted membership costs, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by the disposal of membership rights in another mutual entity, are:
- (a) if the disposer was a pre-CGT member—the sum of the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in maintaining membership in the demutualising entity less any distributions that:
 - (i) were made by the demutualising entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (ii) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income; or
 - (b) if the disposer is a post-CGT member, the sum of:
 - (i) the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in acquiring and maintaining membership in the other entity; and
 - (ii) the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in maintaining membership in the demutualising entity;

less any distributions that:

- (iii) were made by the demutualising entity or the other entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (iv) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income.
- (3) If at any time 2 or more persons were joint members of a mutual entity, any costs incurred by any one or more of them in acquiring or maintaining the joint membership are taken to have been incurred by each of them.
- (4) Subject to subsection (5), the undeducted amount of a cost is the amount of the cost to the extent to which a deduction has not been allowed, and is not allowable, in respect of it.
- (5) If:
- (a) an amount of a cost referred to in subsection (1) or (2) was incurred before the demutualisation resolution day; and
 - (b) the indexation factor (see section 326-235) of the amount is more than one;
- a reference in this section to the undeducted amount of that cost is a reference to the undeducted amount as indexed under Subdivision 326-M.

326-130 Adjusted first day trading price of demutualisation shares

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the adjusted first day trading price of demutualisation shares is the amount worked out using the formula:

$$\text{First day trading price of demutualisation shares} = \frac{\text{Value of franking surplus}}{\text{Total number of demutualisation shares issued}}$$

- (2) In this section:

first day trading price of demutualisation shares means the price per share, as published by ASX Limited, at which the demutualisation shares were last traded, on the stock market operated by ASX Limited, on the demutualisation listing day.

value of franking surplus means the value, as determined by a qualified valuer, of the franking surplus of the demutualised entity on the demutualisation listing day.

326-135 Application of Subdivision

- (1) This Subdivision applies where a member (the disposer) of a mutual entity which, or a holding company of which, becomes a company that is not a listed public company disposes of an asset consisting of:
 - (a) a demutualisation share in that company that is not a listed public company or an interest in such a share; or

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-140

- (b) other shares (non-demutualisation bonus shares) in the same company, or an interest in such shares, where the shares are bonus equities mentioned in Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 and any of the demutualisation shares (whether or not disposed of at the time) are the original equities mentioned in that Subdivision.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, if any of the original equities mentioned in Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, is a demutualisation share, it is called a demutualisation original share.

326-140 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share where a member did not acquire membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

- (1) If:
- (a) the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share; and
 - (b) the disposer did not acquire membership rights in the demutualisation entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
 - (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member;
- then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the disposer is taken to have done the following:
- (d) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest the amount worked out by using the formula:
$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$
 - (e) to have paid that amount on the demutualisation resolution day;
 - (f) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.
- (2) In the formula in paragraph (1)(d):

total number of shares means the total number of demutualisation shares issued.

326-145 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share where member acquired membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

(1) If:

- (a) the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share; and
- (b) the disposer acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
- (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the disposer is taken to have done the following:

- (d) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest both of the following amounts:
 - (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:
$$\left(\begin{array}{c} \text{Undeducted} \\ \text{membership} \\ \text{costs} \end{array} + \frac{\text{Adjusted} \\ \text{market value}}{\text{Number of} \\ \text{members}} \right) \times \frac{\text{Share or interest} \\ \text{disposed of}}{\text{Number of} \\ \text{disposer's shares}}$$
 - (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;
- (e) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;
- (f) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(ii) when it was actually paid;
- (g) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.

(2) In the formula in subparagraph (1)(d)(i):

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-150

number of disposer's shares means the number of demutualisation shares issued to the disposer or in which the disposer had an interest.

number of members means the total number of members of the other mutual entity at the time of the disposal of the membership rights in that entity.

326-150 Disposal by post-CGT member of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share

(1) If:

(a) the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation share (other than a demutualisation original share) or an interest in such a share; and

(b) the disposer is a post-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the disposer is taken to have done the following:

(c) to have paid for the acquisition of the share or interest both of the following amounts:

(i) the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Undeducted membership costs} \times \frac{\text{Share or interest disposed of}}{\text{Number of disposer's shares}}$$

(ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;

(d) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;

(e) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(ii) when it was actually paid;

(f) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.

(2) In the formula in subparagraph (1)(c)(i):

number of disposer's shares means the number of demutualisation shares issued to the disposer or in which the disposer had an interest.

326-155 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation original share or a non-demutualisation bonus share, or an interest in such a share, where member did not acquire membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

- (1) If:
- (a) the disposal is a disposal of either:
 - (i) a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share; or
 - (ii) a non-demutualisation bonus share or an interest in such a share; and
 - (b) the disposer did not acquire membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
 - (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the following paragraphs apply:

- (d) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be the amount worked out by using the formula:

$$\text{Adjusted market value} \times \frac{\text{Number of disposer's shares}}{\text{Total number of shares}}$$

- (e) if the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share, the disposer is taken:
 - (i) to have paid the amount referred to in paragraph (d) on the demutualisation resolution day; and
 - (ii) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-160

(2) In the formula in paragraph (1)(d):

number of disposer's shares means the number of demutualisation original shares issued to the disposer or in which the disposer had an interest.

total number of shares means the total number of demutualisation shares issued.

326-160 Disposal by pre-CGT member of a demutualisation original share or a non-demutualisation bonus share, or an interest in such a share, where member acquired membership rights by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity

(1) If:

- (a) the disposal is a disposal of either:
 - (i) a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share; or
 - (ii) a non-demutualisation bonus share or an interest in such a share; and
- (b) the disposer acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity; and
- (c) the disposer is a pre-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the following paragraphs have effect:

- (d) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be both of the following amounts:
 - (i) the amount worked out by using the formula:
$$\text{Undeducted membership costs} + \frac{\text{Adjusted market value}}{\text{Number of members}}$$
 - (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition; and
- (e) if the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share, the disposer is taken to have done the following:

- (i) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;
- (ii) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (d)(ii) when it was actually paid;
- (iii) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.

(2) In the formula in subparagraph (1)(d)(i):

number of members means the total number of members of the other mutual entity at the time of the disposal of the membership rights in that entity.

326-165 Disposal by post-CGT member of a demutualisation original share or a non-demutualisation bonus share, or an interest in such a share

If:

- (a) the disposal is a disposal of either:
 - (i) a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share; or
 - (ii) a non-demutualisation bonus share or an interest in such a share; and
- (b) the disposer is a post-CGT member;

then, for the purpose of working out whether the disposer made a capital gain or capital loss from the disposal, the following paragraphs have effect:

- (c) for the purpose of applying Subdivision 130-A of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997, the amount paid for the acquisition of all the demutualisation original shares that is to be taken into account under that Division or Subdivision, as the case may be, is taken to be both of the following amounts:
 - (i) an amount equal to the undeducted membership costs;
 - (ii) any amount actually paid for the acquisition;
- (d) if the disposal is a disposal of a demutualisation original share or an interest in such a share, the disposer is taken to have done the following:

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-170

- (i) to have paid the amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(i) on the demutualisation resolution day;
- (ii) to have paid any amount referred to in subparagraph (c)(ii) when it was actually paid;
- (iii) to have acquired the share or interest on the demutualisation resolution day.

326-170 Various adjusted market values

Application

- (1) This section has effect for the purposes of this Subdivision.

Where membership rights not acquired by disposal of rights in another entity

- (2) The adjusted market value, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who did not acquire membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity, is the lesser of the issue day adjusted market value and the resolution day adjusted market value.

Where membership rights acquired by disposal of rights in another entity

- (3) The adjusted market value, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by disposing of membership rights in another mutual entity, is the disposal day adjusted market value.

Issue day adjusted market value

- (4) The issue day adjusted market value is the market value, as determined by a qualified valuer, of the demutualised entity on the day on which the demutualisation shares were issued. However, in making the determination the valuer is to disregard the franking surplus of the demutualised entity on that day.

Resolution day adjusted market value

- (5) The resolution day adjusted market value is the market value, as determined by a qualified valuer, of the demutualising entity on the demutualisation resolution day. However, in making the determination the valuer is to disregard the franking surplus of the demutualising entity on that day.

Disposal day adjusted market value

- (6) Subject to subsection (7), the disposal day adjusted market value is the market value, as determined by a qualified valuer, of the other entity at the time immediately before the disposer disposed of membership rights in the other entity. However, in making the determination the valuer is to disregard the franking surplus of the other entity at that time.

Indexation of amount mentioned in subsection (6)

- (7) If the indexation factor (see section 326-235) of the amount worked out under subsection (6) is more than one, that amount is taken to be replaced by that amount as indexed under Subdivision 326-M.

326-175 Undeducted membership costs

- (1) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the undeducted membership costs, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who did not acquire membership rights in the demutualising entity by the disposal of membership rights in another mutual entity, are the sum of the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in acquiring and maintaining membership in the demutualising entity less any distributions that:
- (a) were made by the demutualising entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (b) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income.
- (2) For the purposes of this Subdivision, the undeducted membership costs, when the expression is used in relation to a disposer who acquired membership rights in the demutualising entity by the disposal of membership rights in another mutual entity, are the sum of:
- (a) if the disposer was a pre-CGT member—the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in

Division 326 Demutualisation

Section 326-175

maintaining membership in the demutualising entity less any distributions that:

- (i) were made by the demutualising entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (ii) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income; or
- (b) if the disposer is a post-CGT member, the sum of:
- (i) the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in acquiring and maintaining membership in the other entity; and
 - (ii) the undeducted amounts of the costs that were incurred by the disposer in maintaining membership in the demutualising entity;
- less any distributions that:
- (iii) were made by the demutualising entity or the other entity to the disposer before any shares in the demutualised entity were issued; and
 - (iv) were not included in the disposer's assessable income of any year of income.

(3) If at any time 2 or more persons were joint members of a mutual entity, any costs incurred by any one or more of them in acquiring or maintaining the joint membership are taken to have been incurred by each of them.

(4) Subject to subsection (5), the undeducted amount of a cost is the amount of the cost to the extent to which a deduction has not been allowed, and is not allowable, in respect of it.

(5) If:

- (a) an amount of a cost referred to in subsection (1) or (2) was incurred before the demutualisation resolution day; and
- (b) the indexation factor (see section 326-235) of the amount is more than one;

a reference in this section to the undeducted amount of that cost is a reference to the undeducted amount as indexed under Subdivision 326-M.

- (3) If subsection (2) does not apply, the amount that is taken, under Subdivision 326-D or 326-E, to have been paid by the member for the acquisition of the share or interest is taken to be increased by the proportionate part of the amount of the capital gain or reduced by the proportionate part of the amount of the capital loss, as the case may be.

- (3) In the formula in paragraph (2)(a):
- cost of a share means the amount that would have been taken to have been paid by the member for the acquisition of a share in the demutualised entity under Subdivisions 326-D, 326-E and 326-F if the disposal had been the disposal of the shares to which the interest or the part of the interest in the trust related.

321-55	Deduction for increase in value of unearned premium reserve
321-60	How value of unearned premium reserve is worked out
321-65	Application

Operative provisions321-45 Assessable income to include gross premiums

The assessable income of a general insurance company for a year of income includes the gross premiums received or receivable by the company during the year of income in respect of general insurance policies.

321-50 Amount to be included in assessable income for reduction in value of unearned premium reserve

If the value, at the end of a year of income (the current year of income), of the unearned premium reserve of a general insurance company under general insurance policies is less than the value, at the end of the previous year of income, of that reserve, the company's assessable income of the current year of income includes an amount equal to the difference.

321-55 Deduction for increase in value of unearned premium reserve

If the value, at the end of a year of income (the current year of income), of the unearned premium reserve of a general insurance company under general insurance policies exceeds the value, at the end of the previous year of income, of that reserve, the company can deduct for the current year of income an amount equal to the excess.

321-60 How value of unearned premium reserve is worked out

The value of the unearned premium reserve, at the end of a year of income (the current year of income), of a general insurance company under general insurance policies issued in the course of carrying on insurance business is so much of the sum of the net premiums received or receivable by the company in relation to those policies as the company determines, based on proper and reasonable estimates, to relate to risks covered by the policies in respect of later years of income where:

apportionable issue costs means so much of the costs incurred by the company in connection with the issue of the relevant policies as relate to the gross premiums and, without limiting the generality of the above, includes the following:

- (a) commission and brokerage fees;
- (b) administration costs of processing insurance proposals and renewals;
- (c) administration costs of collecting premiums;
- (d) selling and underwriting costs;
- (e) fire brigade charges;
- (f) stamp duty;
- (g) other charges, levies and contributions imposed by governments or governmental authorities that directly relate to general insurance policies.

net premiums means:

- (a) the sum of:
 - (i) the gross premiums received or receivable by the company in relation to the relevant policies in the current year of income or an earlier year of income; and
 - (ii) any reinsurance commissions received or receivable by the company that relate to relevant reinsurance premiums;

less

- (b) the sum of:
 - (i) the apportionable issue costs; and
 - (ii) any relevant reinsurance premiums.

relevant reinsurance premiums means premiums paid by the company in the current year of income or an earlier year of income for the reinsurance of risks covered by the relevant policies, other than:

- (a) reinsurance premiums that the company cannot deduct because of the application of subsection 148(1); and
- (b) treaty non-proportional reinsurance premiums.

treaty non-proportional reinsurance premiums means reinsurance premiums that were paid in respect of a particular class of insurance business where, under the contract of reinsurance, the reinsurer agreed to pay, in respect of a loss incurred by the company that is covered by the relevant policy, some or all of the excess over an agreed amount.

- $$\frac{\text{Tainted amount of distribution}}{\text{Total amount of distribution}}$$
- where:
- tainted amount of distribution is the difference between the net tainted amount immediately before the distribution and the net tainted amount immediately after the distribution.
- Note: Certain distributions from tainted share capital accounts will be unfranked dividends for which no section 46 or 46A rebate is available.
- (5) In this item:
- net tainted amount, in relation to an account, means the lesser of:
- (a) the tainted amount;
 - (b) the lowest balance of the share capital account at any time after the commencement of this item.
- tainted share premium account, in relation to a company, means an account, whether or not called a share premium account:

Except as mentioned in items 2 and 3, the repeals and amendments made by Schedules 1 and 2 apply:

- (a) so far as they affect assessments—to assessments for the 2006-07 income year and all later income years; and
- (b) otherwise—to acts done or omitted to be done, or states of affairs existing, after the commencement of the repeals and amendments.

2 Application of Schedule 2 withholding tax amendments

The amendments made by items 337, 343 and 344 of Schedule 2 apply to income derived in the 2006-07 income year and later income years.

Table A

3 Application of TFN withholding tax amendments

- (1) The amendment made by item 949 of Schedule 2 applies to payments made on or after the day on which this Act receives the Royal Assent.
- (2) The repeal of Subdivision C of Division 3B of Part VI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 by item 163 of Schedule 1 to this Act, and the insertion of section 14-55 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 by item 955 of Schedule 2 to this Act, apply to the 2006-07 income year and later income years.
- (3) The insertion of sections 14-50, 14-60, 14-65, 14-75 and 14-85 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 by item 955 of Schedule 2 to this Act applies to tax payable in accordance with former section 221YHZR of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 as if:
 - (a) the tax were TFN withholding tax (payable under section 14-55 in that Schedule); and
 - (b) section 14-55 in that Schedule applied to the income year in respect of which the tax is payable.

4 Application of Schedule 3 and 4 amendments

The repeals and amendments made by Schedules 3 and 4 apply:

- (a) so far as they affect assessments—to assessments for the 2007-08 income year and all later income years; and
- (b) otherwise—to acts done or omitted to be done, or states of affairs existing, after the commencement of the amendments.

6 Object

The object of this Part is to ensure that, despite the repeals and amendments made by this Act, the full legal and administrative consequences of:

- (a) any act done or omitted to be done; or
- (b) any state of affairs existing; or
- (c) any period ending;

before such a repeal or amendment applies, can continue to arise and be carried out, directly or indirectly through an indefinite number of steps, even if some or all of those steps are taken after the repeal or amendment applies.

7 Making and amending assessments, and doing other things, in relation to past matters

Even though an Act is repealed or amended by this Act, the repeal or amendment is disregarded for the purpose of doing any of the following under any Act or legislative instrument (within the meaning of the Legislative Instruments Act 2003):

- (a) making or amending an assessment (including under a provision that is itself repealed or amended);
- (b) exercising any right or power, performing any obligation or duty or doing any other thing (including under a provision that is itself repealed or amended);

in relation to any act done or omitted to be done, any state of affairs existing, or any period ending, before the repeal or amendment applies.

Example 1: On 31 July 1999, Greg Ltd lodged its annual return under former section 160ARE of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936. The return stated that the company had a credit on its franking account and that no franking deficit tax was payable for the 1998-99 franking year. Under former section 160ARH of that Act, the Commissioner was taken to have made an assessment consistent with the return.

Following an audit undertaken after the repeal of Part IIIAA of that Act, the Commissioner concludes that Greg Ltd fraudulently overfranked dividends it paid during the 1998-99 franking year, and had a franking account deficit for that franking year. As a result, the Commissioner considers that franking deficit tax and a penalty by way of additional tax are payable.

The Commissioner can amend the assessment under former section 160ARN of that Act, because item 7 of this Schedule disregards the repeal of that section for the purposes of making an assessment in relation to the 1998-99 franking year. Item 7 will also disregard the repeal of Division 11 of former Part IIIAA to the extent necessary for the Commissioner to assess Greg Ltd's liability to a penalty by way of additional tax.

Despite the repeal of sections 160ARU and 160ARV, item 9 will ensure that the general interest charge will accrue on the unpaid franking deficit tax and penalty until they are paid.

Item 7 will also preserve Greg Ltd's right, under former section 160ART of that Act, to object against the Commissioner's amended assessment (including the penalty), since the objection is the exercise of a right in relation to a franking year that ended before the repeal of Part IIIAA.

Example 2: During the 1997-98 income year, Duffy Property Ltd withheld amounts from its employees' wages as required by former Divisions 1AAA and 2 of Part VI of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936. The company failed to notify the Commissioner of those amounts, and failed to remit them to the Commissioner.

Table A

Following an audit undertaken after the repeal of those Divisions, the Commissioner discovers that the withheld amounts have not been remitted. The company's records are incomplete and the Commissioner is unable to completely ascertain the extent of its liability for the withheld amounts. Under section 222AGA of that Act, the Commissioner makes an estimate of the liability.

Item 7 will disregard the repeal of section 220AAZA of that Act (which empowered the Commissioner to recover the amount of the estimate). Even though the estimate is made after the repeal, it relates to amounts withheld before the repeal.

8 Saving of provisions about effect of assessments

If a provision or part of a provision that is repealed or amended by this Act deals with the effect of an assessment, the repeal or amendment is disregarded in relation to assessments made, before or after the repeal or amendment applies, in relation to any act done or omitted to be done, any state of affairs existing, or any period ending, before the repeal or amendment applies.

9 Saving of provisions about general interest charge, failure to notify penalty or late reconciliation statement penalty

If:

- (a) a provision or part of a provision that is repealed or amended by this Act provides for the payment of:
 - (i) general interest charge, failure to notify penalty or late reconciliation statement penalty (all within the meaning of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936); or
 - (ii) interest under the Taxation (Interest on Overpayments and Early Payments) Act 1983; and
- (b) in a particular case, the period in respect of which the charge, penalty or interest is payable (whether under the provision or under the Taxation Administration Act 1953) has not begun, or has begun but not ended, when the provision is repealed or amended;

then, despite the repeal or amendment, the provision or part continues to apply in the particular case until the end of the period.

10 Repeals disregarded for the purposes of dependent provisions

If the operation of a provision (the subject provision) of any Act or legislative instrument (within the meaning of the Legislative Instruments Act 2003) made under any Act depends to any extent on an Act, or a provision of an Act, that is repealed by this Act, the repeal is disregarded so far as it affects the operation of the subject provision.

11 Schedule does not limit operation of section 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901

This Schedule does not limit the operation of section 8 of the Acts Interpretation Act 1901.

12 Continued operation of repealed section 215 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

If, just before the repeal of section 215 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 by Schedule 1 to this Act, that section applied to:

- (a) a liquidator of a company that was being wound up; or
- (b) a receiver for debenture holders who had taken possession of assets of a company; or
- (c) an agent for a non-resident who had been required by the agent's principal to wind up the business or realise the assets of the principal;

the section continues so to apply in spite of the repeal.

13 Continued operation of repealed sections 216 and 220 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936

If, just before the repeal of section 216 or 220 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 by Schedule 1 to this Act, that section applied to a deceased taxpayer, the section continues so to apply in spite of the repeal.

14 Resolutions to which section 221B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applies

If a resolution to which section 221B of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 applied was in force just before the repeal of that section by Schedule 1 to this Act, section 446-5 in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 (as inserted by item 970 of Schedule 2 to this Act) applies to the resolution after the repeal.

Table A

15 Extended operation of subsection 265-45(2) in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953

In addition to the operation that it has apart from this item, subsection 265-45(2) in Schedule 1 to the Taxation Administration Act 1953 also applies to an amount of a liability (within the meaning of that subsection) that a person pays after the repeal of section 259 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 by item 166 of Schedule 1 to this Act, if the liability arose before 1 July 2000.

- (c) the amendment is made for the purpose of giving effect to Schedule 2.

Tax Laws Amendment (2007 Measures No. 4) Act 2007 (No. 143, 2007)

Schedule 1

222 Application

Subject to items 223 and 224, the amendments made by this Schedule apply in relation to income years, statutory accounting periods and notional accounting periods starting on or after the first 1 July that occurs after the day on which this Act receives the Royal Assent.

223 Application and transitional rules for section 802-40 of the 1997 Act

- (1) The amendments made by items 179 to 181 apply in relation to income years starting one year later than the first income year (the transitional year) covered by item 222.
- (2) Section 802-40 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997 has effect in relation to the transitional year as if section 160AF of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936 had not been repealed.

224 Application rule for credits arising under the International Tax Agreements Act 1953

- (1) Despite the repeal of Division 19 of Part III of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1936, that Division continues to apply, after the commencement of this item, in relation to:
 - (a) a determination made by a person under the Division before the commencement of this item; or
 - (b) a credit to which the Division applied before the commencement of this item; as if the repeal had not happened.
- (2) The Commissioner may make determinations under that Division as it so continues to apply.

225 Object

The object of this Part is to ensure that, despite the repeals and amendments made by this Act, the full legal and administrative consequences of:

- (a) any act done or omitted to be done; or

Table A

- (b) any state of affairs existing; or
- (c) any period ending;

before such a repeal or amendment applies, can continue to arise and be carried out, directly or indirectly through an indefinite number of steps, even if some or all of those steps are taken after the repeal or amendment applies.

226 Making and amending assessments, and doing other things, in relation to past matters

Even though an Act is repealed or amended by this Act, the repeal or amendment is disregarded for the purpose of doing any of the following under any Act or legislative instrument (within the meaning of the Legislative Instruments Act 2003):

- (a) making or amending an assessment (including under a provision that is itself repealed or amended);
- (b) exercising any right or power, performing any obligation or duty or doing any other thing (including under a provision that is itself repealed or amended);

in relation to any act done or omitted to be done, any state of affairs existing, or any period ending, before the repeal or amendment applies.

Example: For the 2006-07 income year, Smart Investor Pty Ltd, an Australian resident private investment company, has assessable foreign income in the passive income class on which it has paid foreign tax for which it wishes to claim a foreign tax credit. The company also has a tax loss for the year from its Australian investments. When it lodges its tax return for the year it does not elect to claim a deduction for any of the tax loss under section 79DA of the ITAA 1936, because the Australian tax payable on its passive foreign income equals the foreign tax it has paid.

In 2009 the amount of foreign tax payable in respect of some foreign rental income it had included in its return for the 2006-07 year is reduced and Smart Investor receives a refund of the difference in foreign tax. Smart Investor Pty Ltd then applies to be able to make an election under section 79DA, that is, after the Tax Laws Amendment (2007 Measures No. 4) Act 2007 (which repeals section 79DA) receives Royal Assent. The Commissioner allows Smart Investor to submit an election to claim a deduction for so much of its 2006-07 tax loss as to reduce the amount of Australian tax payable on its 2006-07 assessable foreign income to the revised foreign tax paid, by the end of 2009.

Despite the repeal of section 79DA, item 226 allows the Commissioner to permit an election to be lodged after the return for 2006-07 has been lodged, and to amend Smart Investor's assessment for that year, because these actions relate to a thing done, and periods ending, before the repeal of section 79DA applies.

Schedule 4

51 Application

 - (b) the share is reasonably attributable to a part of the net income of another trust estate in respect of which the trustee of the other trust estate is assessed and liable to pay tax under that subsection; or
